THREE WAYS MORE OF WINTER!

IF you can't flit to California or to Florida, you can at least be comfortable in your own homes. Delay no longer in getting those warm blankets. You will have at least three months of service from them this year. No doubt all such dry goods will be considerably higher next year—so any way you figure it.

A Purchase of Blankets is a Good Investment.

WE hope to finish invoicing the latter part of this week. On account of our great volume of business during the year—we feel that we can close out all odds and ends at sacrifice prices. Watch this paper for Specials next Thursday. It is not our intention to cut on our full lines of staple goods—no merchant can afford to do that. But on the other hand don't forget

Doctor or Dentist

Do you realize that if you neglect to pay an occasional visit to the dentist you will sooner or later be calling the doctor to your home. Which is greater grief to spend an hour or two in the dentist's chair or to be in bed with indigestion and headaches and to be continually "grunting" with that dark, brown taste in your mouth?

Think A Minute!

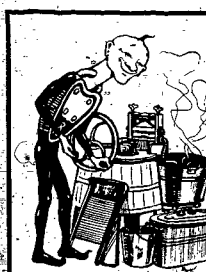

It is worse than folly to sweep into your stomach multitudes of germs whenever you eat or drink. For it makes no difference how thoroughly you may think you are cleaning your teeth by the old brush method, particles of food will lodge between the teeth and germs will breed at a surprising rate. If you are at all interested in preserving your good health you will have your teeth cleaned in a professional manner at least every six months. You will be surprised at the series of different processes necessary before we call the job finished. Come prepared to stay at least an hour when you come to this office to have your teeth cleaned. For our part, we don't believe in simply skimming over the surfaces, We do a real job of housecleaning inside your mouth.

We would be pleased to have you inspect our rooms and apparatus.

What might have been a serious accident occurred last Wednesday night at Charvart north of town. Emil Miller, of near Wakefield, was accidentally shot in the neck. The bullet entered the flesh just above the left throat, striking the jawbone and going upward. He was taken to Wayne and as the bullet could not be located, he went to Sioux City the following morning. The bullet was removed and last reports state that Mr. Miller is getting along nicely, and will probably be home in the latter part of the week. Reinhard Gehlke and Edward Meyer were hit by flying shot, which luckily did no injury.

Among the live stock shippers the first of the week were: Eric Thompson, two cars cattle, Omaha; Wallace Brothers, one car hogs, Sioux City; C. F. Millen, one car hogs, Omaha; Mr. Blake, one car cattle, Omaha; Otto Fler, two cars cattle, Omaha.

Farm Loans---Twenty Year Amortization Or Rural Credit Plan

The Union Central Life Insurance Company of Cincinnati, Ohio, with assets of over One Hundred Million Dollars has decided to make farm loans in your county upon a plan that is new to you, but which I am sure will interest you.

The Company has decided to make a twenty year loan on the amortization or rural credit plan. On this loan the total payment for both interest and principal will be 85.36 per cent on each $100.00 borrowed. If these payments are made each year for a period of twenty years, the loan will be fully paid and the mortgage will be released. This is something that the farmers of the United States have been wanting for some time and this large and progressive life insurance company has decided to give the farmer this loan on this plan. You will have absolute control of your mortgage indebtedness at all times, under this amortization or rural credit plan of loan, as you will be given the option of paying any number of the notes in advance of maturity that you may desire to pay, which, of course, will include the entire loan. The notes will be discounted at compound interest annually for the unexpired time at 2 1/2 per cent. The total payment is just the same each year. The payments on account of interest decrease, as the payments on account of principal increase. The annual payments are very little more than the annual interest payment under the old plan of loan and under the new plan your debt is fully paid at the end of the twenty years and your mortgage released. As your payments are made only each year and the amounts are always the same, you will have no difficulty whatever in keeping the matter in mind and making your arrangements to make the payments promptly. No interest coupons are executed.

Having this long time in which to make the payments and not being compelled to pay the entire mortgage or at least large amounts at one time, you are not burdened with the thought of debt and are justified in making larger expenditures for the best profits, in improving the buildings and bettering the equipment of your farm, increasing live stock or giving your growing family better educational facilities. In having the loan for the long period of twenty years, you are relieved of all anxiety in regard to renewal of loan at five year periods and are also saving all renewal commissions and expenses of abstract and recording where loans are renewed.

In 1913, the Union Central Life Insurance Company made a $300.00 loan for ten years at six per cent and this loan was renewed for another ten year period at same rate. The statement of this loan is, as follows:

Principal	$300.00	$300.00
6 per cent interest on $300.00 for 20 years	360.00	$660.00
Loan not paid, borrower still owes—$300.00
Under the amortization or rural credit plan, annual payments on $300.00 loan would be $25.08, total payments for 20 years—$501.60
Total payments would cover—Principal	300.00
Interest paid	201.60
		$501.60
Saved by borrower, difference between interest paid on two loans	$158.40

We do not claim to make these loans at four per cent interest, but we make this comparison to simply show you what can be accomplished under this plan of loan. No commission is charged the borrower on this plan of loan.

It is well worth your while to consider this loan very carefully. In case you are in need of a farm loan call on us and talk the matter over.

The sense of humor is a never failing help in a time of trouble.

Billy says he doesn't blame the state for rising late these days. It is only consistent to withhold censure from one whose shortcomings, though grievously short-comings, we wish to imitate.

We wonder if Mrs. Thaw, mother of the notorious Harry, doesn't sometimes wish she had relaxed her care over her son in warding off the fatal of coroner's inquests. Her protective nature had prevented him from growing up. He would have been saved much disappointment and heart ache.

Eller Hubbard said: "The world bestows its big prizes, both in money and honors, for but one thing. And that is initiative. An idea comes to some man who has initiative does the right thing without being told. The service of the one who can follow plans is desirable, but as long as there are bigger brains, it is better to have the initiative do the right thing actively on his own judgment."

Senator Adam McMullen of Gage county introduced a bill to simplify the election returns, and he is undoubtedly on the right track. He would have two election boards, one going on duty at 6 o'clock and another at 10 o'clock. Additional requirements would be two ballot boxes and separate apartments for the boards to receive secrecy in making the count. The existing plan for handling election returns is too slow and unsatisfactory for a progressive county. The board members should not take all night and often part of the next day to count ballots and determine the winners. It is hoped that the legislature will remedy proposed by Senator McMullen or one similar to it.

The man who is sympathetic and unselfish, rendering advice to others without any compensation and without apparent pay, and who, handicapped in the quest for material gain, adds but slowly to his store of worldly possessions, is sure to be cursorily regarded as one whose efforts, measured by dollars and cents, are not adequately rewarded. It is not that the man has, unknown to the world, took and left drooping spirits, may buy and steady a bounding human heart. He has, without it being tangible, opportunity and hope. When the threads of life become snarled and seemingly inextinguishable, it is his presence that brings a new usefulness upon the scene at the right time, say the right thing and do the right thing. And what a source of comfort and joy to the man who bestows kindly and helpful beneficence, knowing that his generous interest has uplifted despair and courage to the man who lives the lives of others more nearly worth while. "Though hero medals are not often awarded to those who have a factor of service in their lives, the result is more the less desirable and none the less satisfactory. Many acts of kindness, every where, that go unheralded and apparently unrewarded, though there is in fact real and ample compensation in the soul comfort and soul exaltation of the doer."

The facts presented by E. M. Rohrbough, civil engineer, at his meeting Tuesday evening, showed people the probable cost of paving and emphasized the fact that the city cannot go forward and become an attractive center without allowing itself to spend considerable money. The amount the barrier of cost and are invariably glad afterward that they did it. Wayne, not less rich or less poor, has the same advantages. The section of Wayne has been paved, the noise will then be heard in the hall of more paving rather than in the street. The noise has been paid. That is the experience of every town that has undertaken the improvement, and it would be the experience here. The expense of paving will naturally use the cost in an effort to destroy or postpone the enterprise. Those opposed to paving are likely to be the first to be opposed, in advance, to electric lighting, waterworks, or a sewer system, and then, accomplished, accept the same with an indignant attitude. Always those who are ultra-conservative and obstructive to public improvements will find excuses for delay. Those favoring public improvement and progress will seek and find ways to do things that are really too great to be overcome. If Wayne is ever to have there is no good reason for postponement until every other town in this part of the state has made the improvement. It should not here be delayed until it can be behind, after Hartington has taken the step that Wayne, too, is going to pay.

GOVERNMENT SEEDS.
 The annual distribution of government seeds, by members of congress, is under way again, and which is utterly worthless to the cause of agriculture, leads the Fremont Tribune to make the observation that sticks to the old garden seed graft. Just why this should be adhered to is a question no fellow citizen can find out, beyond knowing that it does year after year because it affords a petty graft for the members. The theory that it is in the interest of agricultural development is all bosh. There is no introduction through the use of selected and valuable seeds in any community. The stock usually furnished is some job lot of a dealer who is willing to let it go to reduce the observation of quality and the seeds may be of ancient vintage and not the best for growth. Members of congress have found their distributing a good way to communicate with their constituents and send them a little souvenir, for political effect. And they'll keep on doing it as long as there are bigger grafts to overshadow these smaller ones.

SUGGESTED BY EXCHANGES.
 The Albion News suggests that a partisan newspaper is no more justifiable than a partisan meat market. The Crofton Journal thinks at "bunch of boys" with a little authority, sit up nights to figure out ways to inconvenience the people, and then go on to do what they can to do a good deed and a favor to the community. The Blair Pilot takes strongly to the kind of love Dr. J. T. House of the Wayne State Normal is dealing in. The paper is a time to students of that city, and has a good deal of favorable comment to make. The Blair editor assumes a very active part in it and is therefore a progressive thinker.

The Butler County Press points to the case of the increasing chattel mortgages in that county from 213 filed in 1915, to 396 filed in 1916. The cash involved was $1,829,929 in 1915 and $3,144,463.2 in 1916. How many, if any, automobiles are in the increased number, the paper does not explain.

The Dixon Journal pipes up with the claim that Dixon is the logical county seat for the new county of Dixon county. To be still more eligible, Dixon people, if the prospect seems encouraging, can put up a fine hotel and a new Ford runabout early some morning before the neighbors are up and haul it over nearer the center.

The Cedar County News has raised its subscription price to help meet the increased cost of print paper. The Herald will not expect a price of $1.50 which represents an increase in the list and increased value to advertisers. The price of advertising is not increased accordingly willers to get in advance of the price. But at $1.50 a year, advanced payments should be made promptly.

The Wynot Tribune pronounces the abnerable meetings at Ponca a failure unless they result in a reconciliation of the gentleman who runs the local end of the job who runs the Advocate. But if this meeting fails and the money thus spent is wasted, as suggested by the Tribune we would charge there is still hope. Persuade the two editors to stage the scene from Mikado wherein Koko sings to Kataha, We will like your notices in advance and arrange to attend.

Billy in the Lincoln Journal pays this respect to the service of Billy Sunday: "Billy Sunday, the man from Boston to Buffalo. He will find it an agreeable change. Boston is too wholly intellectual to respond to the kind of evangelizing effort put forth by the Hood of the hereafter. The Boston spirit is not spiritual but cultural, ethical, artistic and scientific. Billy Sunday is a product of the American West and the Greek philosophy. It traverses those sublimely intellectual paths which a man of letters has been paid at the same destination. People who have a heart-hunger for something concrete, for a faith they can lay their hands on, will be glad to cling to, appear to get something out of the preaching of Billy Sunday that helps them."

The Ponca Journal hotly resents advice from Editor E. A. Dietrich in the Albion News in regard to job interest and goes on to indicate length to compare the accomplishments of its foreman with those of the Alien man. The comparisons are so stunning and suggest so much amolevidence that Dietrich may have done a little wrong in challenging the Journal man to pugilistic combat. As we conclude, the law against pugilism does not prevent either of these men from other with their fists because they are not physically strong enough to do any harm. Mr. Dietrich was a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the Labor Advocate, and last summer worked for a few weeks for the Wayne Democrat. He is noted for his sunny and happy disposition, which, if it is hoped, the Journal's onslaught will not seriously ruffle or disturb.

"Funny things happen every day in our establishment," said J. E. Miller in answer to an inquiry as reported by Billy in the Albion Journal. "But most of them lose their point when separated from their local environment, and are not worth repeating. One of the funny things that happened in my whole business career, only one incident stands out prominently, and that is one with which most of my friends are familiar. Many years ago, when the sale of a silk dress was something of an event in our establishment, and when it was the custom for women to wear them tight around the arms we had a good deal of trouble with claims; some of them just man, them based on imaginary defects. About a year after we had sold a more or less prominent woman, who was quite able to pay for it, a rather high priced black silk, the lady died. Perhaps six weeks after her death, her husband called at my office, and pelting his remarks with the statement that he hesitated to meet yet felt that it was only right that the silk dress his wife had purchased had been sold to me, and whether I did not think that in that event some allowance was due. I was, of course, taken aback at the proposition. I was at a loss to know what to think, and I found out whether the salesman to the department had any recollection of the dress. He said it came in I would report. He had scarcely left the store when I met a friend of the deceased wife, and asked her to describe to me her knowledge of how the silk had been worn. She replied that she had not, but that the lady had been dressed in the garment, and that she had not noticed that it was damaged. A few days later the husband again called, and asked what we had decided to do. He would make the matter right, and that we should bring back the dress at his convenience."

THE FIELD OF BUSINESS.
 The Sioux City Journal: The second week of the new year found production on the up grade, after a brief lull in some departments throughout the holiday period. The weather has given dealers in winter goods a chance to unload the bulk of their heavy stocks, despite the fact that the weather has not yet settled in being moved at clearance sales. In manufacturing and jobbing attention is now being turned to the question of retooling. In laying in raw material for remote working up the tendency now is to wait for lower commodity prices. The general feeling of interest of the war situation was past, and that conditions generally will make for lower prices until a well-earned recovery.

The New York money market continues redundant. The index of gold from Canada is maintained. Total importations since January 1, 1917, are $2,400,000,000. The figures offer justification for the recent request from the New York assay office for an emergency appropriation of $5,000,000 for the construction of a new building for storing gold. The money tide has turned from the interior, and the reserve surplus of the Treasury is beginning to climb again. A sample of the large financing operations expected during the year was recorded last week in the purchase of $60,000,000 of first mortgage bonds by the United States Rubber company. These long time bonds were at a 4 per cent interest, and the proceeds of the issue are to be used mainly for refunding.

Two high price predictions were realized last week in the Chicago market. The first was that of the Chicago and Pennsylvania crude oil sold at $3.05 on the Pittsburgh market. The wheat bulge was due to disclosure that the wheat surplus in this country was 13,000,000 bushels less than the aggregate at the corresponding time last year. The second prediction is that the price for oil will release large stores which have been held in the expectation that the new record would be made. This, in accordance with its prospect, passing the dollar mark.

Apparently the interstate commerce commission's efforts to provide a remedy for the car shortage have not produced the desired results. Complaints of inability to get coal cars have come from numerous points, and the northwest is still protesting that it is unable to secure cars with which to move its grain. Danger of a possible railway strike was noted by officials announcing that after a brotherhood

IN SEARCH OF ADVENTURE.
 Norfolk Daily News, Jan. 15: Chris Grieser, 18-year-old son of a Beemer farmer, for whom north Nebraska has been searched since Monday when he mounted the family horse and started evidently for the Rocky mountains, was in Norfolk Friday night. He registered at the Pacific hotel under his correct name and address but disappeared Saturday and the local police have been unable to find him. He had plenty of money and is believed to have sold his horse.

Grieser is believed to have left home in search of adventure and is thought to be headed for the west. He was traced through Wayne, Emerson and Hubbard where all clues were lost and turned up in Norfolk. P. O. Grieser and G. R. Grieser, brothers, were in Sioux City, Friday trying to pick up the trail there. His presence here was disclosed only Saturday afternoon.

A NEGRO KNITTING MILL.
 Norfolk News, Jan. 3: Booker T. Washington who has taken great interest in a new idea, a modern, job-oriented, telling of the success of a certain knitting mill. This mill was started a few years ago as a negro enterprise. All the capital money was raised from negroes. It was invested by negroes. All the employees were negroes. It was an experiment along the lines of the Ruskegee educator's constant advice to this race—to save their money to cultivate the thrift, virtues and make themselves economically independent of the whites.

That plant is now being greatly enlarged. New, modern machinery is being installed and is being made ready for use. Employment will be offered to a much larger number of negroes, making them skilled workmen and adding to their own prosperity.

It is by such enterprises that the negro lifts himself up by his bootstraps, and compels respect at the same time that he makes himself independent. The industry in question has been encouraged and liberally patronized by the white people of Florida. Every similar enterprise, started seriously and carried on with good faith, energy and intelligence, will doubtless have the same reception. The southern whites, as well as the better class of negroes, realize that the solution of the negro problem lies in such efforts on the part of the black man to help themselves, with the friendly cooperation of the white men.

THE IDEAL HEN.
 New York, Jan. 3.—An ideal American York, in which will be centered all the good points of all the good breeds of hens, is the object of experiments being conducted by the United States government at its farm at Beltsville, Md. Harry Lamson, head husbandman of the government farm, has been working for the last five years on the new American product. He explained his experiments at the annual poultry show at Madison Square garden.

According to Mr. Lamson, the new hen will have white plumage, yellow legs, red ear lobes and a moderate sized comb. In laying qualities and the size of its eggs, it will resemble the Leghorn. It will have a maximum weight of 6 1/2 lbs. A yellow, double, barred, Rock or Plymouth Rock. The government farm, Mr. Lamson said, plans to have a big exhibit of the new hen at the poultry show next season.

Friday was the anniversary of the memorable blizzard which swept the middle west and caused much suffering and loss of life among school pupils and teachers. It happened January 12, 1888. The day was clear and pleasant until about 10 o'clock, when a cold wind, snow began falling thick and fast, and the wind wheeled around to the northwest and blew at a terrific rate. The storm continued all night and all day.

W. J. Renick of the Wayne Motor company attended a sales dinner given by the Detroit Motor company at Sioux City on Saturday. About sixty Ford agents in the territory surrounding Sioux City attended the meeting.

George B. Tyler, manager of the Sioux City branch was the speaker at this dinner and talked on the subject of "The Motor Car." Tyler outlined to the agents the absolute necessity of selling and delivering cars at this time of year owing to the fact that our territory which has had an unusually prosperous year, selling its cotton at 17 cents and 18 cents a pound, was being practically ruined by the Ford Motor company at this time of year—in other words, was taking the cars that have heretofore been stored throughout the winter and taking care of spring sales. The Ford Motor company estimates that there are three million waiting for every word car out, and under these circumstances if the farmers in Iowa, Nebraska, and Dakota expect to drive Ford cars the coming year it will be absolutely necessary that they place their orders and take immediate delivery of cars. The company is not making shipments into the territory for storage purposes, agreeing to take care of the orders which have been placed for ready-to-go cars immediately.

Mr. Tyler outlined very thoroughly to the agent the subject of the Ford car and the organization of the agents going after their spring prospects with a view of taking cars while it is possible to make a profit. He further stated that 3,500 cars were lost in August, September and October in Iowa, Nebraska and Dakota because of short supply of cars and further stated that the spring business would exceed three times their production and that mass deliveries were made.

Correspondence, that the territory which deliveries were possible the spring business would be one-third of what the Ford agents and company expect.

The subject of service was very thoroughly discussed; the claim of a man's place of business, of providing immediate service to the farmer, and further, the necessity of carrying a complete stock of parts, as the company's policy from the beginning has been to place in retail selling from the Ford branch, expecting all of this to be taken care of by the agents in their territory.

The meeting adjourned at 11:30 a.m. Report cards showing the results of the semester's work were issued in the high school. If any parents have not seen such report an investigation should be made, and the record carefully examined.

The seniors gave the following program in the assembly room yesterday afternoon: Mabel Hanson, singing; Marjorie Lewis and Edna Main, piano duo; Lily Gamble, reading, "Children in the War."

While there she presented, in behalf of her class, a beautiful oak picture, and a valuable gift, especially timely in view of the fact that the music department is acquiring a large number of records to be used in the course in music.

Fine Flavored Cigars

Are not offensive. On the contrary, they delight even those who are not users of tobacco. The Wayne Cigar Factory of William Dammeyer makes brands that delight both smoker and non-smoker. There is no reason to buy foreign-made cigars when a local institution turns out the best that can be made. Call for Wayne-made cigars. Ask for the product of the Dammeyer factory. Location is just west of the Herald office.

SECURITY OF PEACE.

Bkby: Some days ago a Journal reader submitted a poem entitled "The Guns Behind the Peace," in which it is more stoutly than poetically set forth that we can't keep out of trouble unless we are prepared to make it. In short, the security of our people against interference from "wicked neighbors" is to be material and real, or imperishable, is hardly a theme for impenetrable poetry unless writ in the measure of some sort of a chant.

Seventeen-Year Old Copper Wash Boiler

A man and a woman were in a store buying a new range. The woman wanted the beauty and elegance of the Copper-Clad range, but thought the price too high. The man said: "Why, it's way too low, if it lasts like it ought to. That Copper wash boiler of ours is 17 years old and is good for another 17 years. That's the kind of goods I like to pay for."

And he is right. That's the way you want the Copper-Clad because it is so smooth that it will save a lot of work in daily cleaning. And she is right.

UNCLE WALT The Poet Philosopher

AN ILL WIND.

"To pay the procer for his butter I had to soak my lyre; my yardike breast was all a-flutter with forty kinds of ire. I quoted passages from Dante, in my proud diapa, and said, 'I'd wreck the procer's shanty, and pull the procer's hair. And then I heard that merchant mutter, 'down with you down my son! I wish that I could sell you butter at fifty cents the pound. For I get tired of hearing kickers who snort around and sneer. I'm weary of the man who bickers and howls and paws the air. The procer, friend, is in no danger of sailing wealth away; it is the horny-handed grazer who's getting rich today.' Then I caustic down my martial armor, my shotgun and my sword and said, 'If this thing helps the farmer, I'm sorry that I roared. When I was young and full of yearning for manhood to begin, I used to do the weekly charming and bring the henfruit in. And so I'll make no farther splinter, nor will I put another; in I'm aware that every butter is worth two hours a pound!'"

WINTER.

We always tire of winter here. I need to do the weekly charming and bring the henfruit in. And so I'll make no farther splinter, nor will I put another; in I'm aware that every butter is worth two hours a pound!"

won't bring grief, however great its worth! You drive a horse, and now when it kicks you through a fence. You have a wife, who undoubtedly you adore, but now and then she makes your spirit sore. You like good grub, but when you eat too much, you griped stomach ach clamors for a crutch. Why cut out honey, if we like it, friendly because the bee is loaded at one end? Go—get out!—though all the devils dot, he is a clump who does not own a boat!"

RELIEF COMING.

The winds are blustering and rough, the frost keeps at it, steady a little winter is enough, you've had your share already. You're tired of winter, grim and drear, you're tired of all his poses. Cheer up! The spring will soon be here, with melting snows and a new effect of blowing in your raft that you may keep from freezing, for cords of wood and tons of coal will be here in plenty. Cheer up! Though gloomy be the day, the darkest day will vanish; there's something traveling our way that will cut our troubles in two. Cheer up! A thing is a dread—we're banking on tomorrow; there's always something just ahead that's hourly to knock out sorrow.

THE AGENT.

I do not wish to buy your book, oh agent at the door; I do not need alpher's gloss, I do not want a sore. And if it did 'd me down along the village street, and buy of men who boost the town, pay taxes, and spend. I took a ride on the other day in my new pastboard car, and saw along the right of way, men toiling, near and far. They're building up, a thoughtful man, which we take much pride, and soon like streaks of lightning there, our motor cars will glide. They're grading down the steeper hills, and bridging creeks and dries, and who is paying up the bills? Who is the Santa Claus? The agent from some parts unknown, the smiling gent, who you are sure know to cough a bone, to put such projects through. The local business men must hear such burdens on their backs; they pay for bridges and thoroughfare when they dig up their tax. And so when I am needing prices (the agents of this grad will get my hard-earned money), you bet your lid, my lad. So, to the place from which you came, oh agent, smooth, return! I do not need your quilting frame, nor patent duck churn.

UNRELIABLE.

"On James P. Jinks you can't depend—he doesn't keep his word!" is the punkest remark that any man has heard. The delegate with that renown can't find much work to do; wherever he appears in the country, he is sure to have hired a youth whose name is Charles, to help me bale some hay; to bind the feed I paid him rates, he said he'd do me over, and he never did; that youth appear, which made my lifeblood boil; he went a-fishing in the mire, and passed a-fishing toil. He comes to me when I'm in a lather, and asks me for a nickel, and I've no charity for those on whom one can't rely. I hire a youth named Bennie, bid to ply the saw and spittle, for bids who do not keep their word, are out of his lord's worth. The down-and-outs are mostly men who this false system played; who broke and broke, and broke again the promises they made.

From Ponca Journal, January 18, 1883:

A party, in which were T. V. West, G. W. Todd and others, went across the river one day last week to the lake near Elk Point on a fishing excursion. They cut holes in the ice and caught a large number of fish pickerel.

At Tekamah a fat man's club has been organized. This move should result in the neighboring towns. In Ponca, probably material could be found for a rousing big fat man's club. S. Gamble, I. E. Bennett, T. J. Welch, B. E. Fowler and W. Huse, Sen., would make a good commencement, and with them as a starter, the club might be assured of long life and prosperity.

Some weather prophet has been announcing that about the 11th of March this country will experience the worst storm which has visited it during the past hundred years. The intensely frigid and infernally windy weather on Friday, Saturday and Sunday—the worst storm for many years—did not inaugurate the weather prophet is perhaps not very far off his base in making his terrible predictions for March.

The legislature making it a misdemeanor for any state or county officer to accept a railroad pass. It is supposed that if a state or county officer accept a railroad pass it will contaminate his official purity and lead him corruptly to favor railroad corporations. It would be much better if in their effort to render pure the lives of state and county officers, the legislature would increase the salary of the county clerk, so that in this extremely they might not be led into temptation.

Have You Good Health?

As you think back over the year 1916, are you a better man physically than you were January 1 a year ago? If not, there is something wrong with you. Either you have been breaking the common-sense laws of health or you are fostering inherent defects and weaknesses that are rushing you on to chronic sickness.

Remember that in this age of ultra efficiency, the business world has no patience with the sick man. Emphasis is placed on results and if you cannot net your employer more than the face value of your pay check, you are a bad investment for the firm. Good health, then, is a prerequisite to success.

If Not... Why Not?

It is foolish to believe by and by your health will return to you by magic. The wise man will submit to a thorough examination. He can, then, set about, either by himself or with the aid of his doctor, to remedy the discovered weakness or ailment. At least, he knows the cause of his suffering and is no longer working in the dark.

Chiropractic, as a science, is coming into its own. If you are dissatisfied with the results of medicine in your case, try chiropractic. If you are not at your best; physically, and want to know why, let us examine your spine. Remember, we are entering upon our fourth successful year of service in this community.
