HERMAN SIEMS TALKS ABOUT HOME GARDENS CLUB LADIES ARE PRESENT

Feasible Plan is Outlined in Detail by Newly-Elected Garden Supervisor.

Last evening at a meeting of the members of the board of education the representative of the Public Service club and the five women's clubs of the city comprise the garden committee recently appointed. Herman Siems was chosen to supervise the garden project, which is a gratifying outgrowth of the sentiment aroused by Prof. C. W. Pugsley's late visit to Wayne, outlined in detail the plan as he expects to work it out in Wayne.

Mr. Siems returned Tuesday from Lincoln, where he gleaned many valuable hints from a state conference for garden supervisors. He stated that between now and Friday evening, when a meeting is called at 6 o'clock at the city library, he will prepare a report on the location of the children, who will be likely to engage in gardening, such a record, Mr. Siems explained, will greatly facilitate the apportioning of the grounds to the neighborhood of the gardens they are expected to supervise.

Ten children will make up each group. In order to earn the school credit, each child will keep accurate account of the expense and income of his garden plot. Labor will be valued at ten cents per hour. The sentiment of the meeting seemed to be that the children should be encouraged to use the vegetables used in the home, although it was agreed that the value of everything taken from the garden should be estimated and credited to the child in his account book.

The purpose of the garden is to train the young gardeners in the idea that they are really producing needed commodities, and in this way contributing to the family income. The proposition of securing vacant lots for additional garden space was also discussed. The opinion prevailed that the grounds should be secured for little or no rental fees as gardeners would be glad to see gardens and flowers on tracts, hitherto covered only with weeds and rubbish.

The personnel of the garden committee: Monday club, Mrs. T. W. Moran, Mrs. O. R. Bowen; Mierva club, Mrs. C. H. Bright, Mrs. B. E. Reisinger; the Mrs. E. S. Blair, Mrs. J. T. Bressler; Shakespeare club, Miss Rachel Fairchild, a second member to be appointed; U. D. club, Mrs. J. H. Kemp, Mrs. E. W. Kintze; Public Service club, J. J. Ahern, W. L. Gaston; State Normal, Miss Elizabeth Bettscher, Prof. E. E. Lackey.

TAKES WATER

A dark cloud, often with flashes of lightning, heralds a downpour of water. Such preliminary exercises serve to warn people to get under cover or otherwise get ready. But during a rain, it is best to turn your back yard and dump itself into your cistern unmindful and unannounced as a proceeding altogether unique and unprecedented. The child's first experience with this tragic experience. It should be understood that the Herald resents being shot by a tank of water without previous declaration of intention. Simple notice is not too much to request. "The bathing season is not on nor is the May here. Rains will fall in time to satisfy every source of demand. Thus outpourings of water, friends or otherwise, should be withheld pending investigation or inquiry.

WIRELESS SYSTEMS ORDERED TAKEN DOWN

As a war measure the government has ordered all wireless telegraph plants operated by schools or private parties taken down and rendered useless. The schools have not received the instruction Monday. The school regrets that it cannot continue use of the apparatus, though appreciates the rule of government, instruction enforced by the government.

DIED OF DIPHTHERIA

Mrs. Mary Gamble received word Tuesday night from Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Baskerville, who live at St. Paul, that their oldest child, John, had died of diphtheria. The boy, who was about three and one-half years of age, had been ill for some time, yet he had not heard whether the other child in the family, a little daughter, has been stricken with the disease or not. Friends of Mrs. Baskerville are urged to call on her, as she will be saddened at the news of her great loss.

BIRTH RECORD

A daughter was born April 3, to Mrs. and Mr. William Brummond, three miles east of Wayne.

CHILD TAKES DEADLY POISON BY MISTAKE

Elvin, aged 21 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Smith, living six and one-half miles east of Wayne, gave his parents a terrible scare Monday afternoon by taking a jug which had been left with other jugs in the yard unknown to the family. Mrs. Smith promptly used an antidote and telephoned for a doctor and Mr. Smith who happened to be in town at the time. Mr. Smith and the doctor rushed to the farm and rendered necessary assistance. It is thought the child did not get any of the poison into his stomach. His tongue and face were considerably burned, however. The boy's condition is not serious, though he has been suffering from the burns caused by the acid.

THE JUNIOR PLAY TO BE GIVEN NEXT WEEK

The Junior class of the Normal will, on the evening of April 17, present to the public the famous play, "The Meeting Point," the time of great national crisis. It is well that our people should listen to a production of noble patriotism and splendidly prophetic in its message. The drama deals with Germany, a state of war with the Geomany, thoughtful men wondered whether we were in any sense one people, whether there is one man as the American pure and undiluted. The play reveals one man's dream of the new type of nation—America. It is not surprising that by decent folk in a Russian and a Jew—two nationalities have a love for Israel. The drama deals with America as the crucible into which all the peoples of the earth are to be thrown. It is a purpose of the play to produce in humanity a will to live or die for democracy. The hero is a young Jewish musician, the heroine a Russian princess who has sought America as a refuge from oppression. The other characters center about these two, all are tested by the American crucible and all are purified by the experience. The play, which will be the pleasure of attending the plays given at the Normal last year, know how thorough, artistic and uplifting amateur plays become when the young people are permitted to express their own touch of Miss Mack of the department of expression. A helpful experience will come to all who listen to "The Meeting Point" next Tuesday evening. The cast of characters follows: David Quixano, Ward Randolph; Mendel Quixano, A. W. Christensen; Baron Revenant, E. Hauge; Quincy Deventer, John H. Herring; Vera Revenant, Glennie Cooper; Baroness Revenant, Sarah Saunders; Fran Quixano, Emma Abner; Kathleen O'Reilly, Lillie Brockmann.

Safe Medicine for Children.

Is it safe? Is the first question to be considered when buying cough medicine for children. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has long been a favorite with mothers of young children as it contains no opium or other narcotic, and may be given to a child as confidently as to an adult. It is pleasant to take, too, which is of great importance when a medicine must be given to young children. This remedy is most effective in relieving coughs, colds and croup. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

From People You Know

Petaluma, Calif., April 10, 1917.
Editor:—I have just received your issue and I am sure that you will invite correspondents from any Wayne citizens who are traveling, asking them to write of things of interest that may concern the Wayne community. I have been in the winter in California and most of the time was spent at Long Beach. Since so many Wayne people have been there and heard so much of the weather in California, I cannot think of much that is new to write about, especially after reading Mrs. Key's excellent letter.

So I will leave you to your own articles and pictures and will say that is a great place to meet old friends and acquaintances. Everyone knows what a pleasure it is to see old friends and acquaintances. I will say that is a great place to meet old friends and acquaintances. I will say that is a great place to meet old friends and acquaintances.

PATRIOTIC SERMON AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday evening Rev. W. L. Gannon, preached his sermon at the Baptist church by the title, "The Patriot's Duty." "I can hardly refrain from speaking tonight on the national issues. We are facing a very grave situation. I am sure that you all will sympathize with me in this. I spoke from this platform as a patriot. I voted a protest against the plunging of a nation into the awful maelstrom of the world's war. But the die is cast. War has been declared. I am no longer a pacifist. With the rest of my countrymen, I am committed to the rest of congress, and in my limited capacity, I will do what I can for my country. I believe it is the duty of every man in Wayne to put his personal conviction in the hands of the divine. There must be level-headed, cool and deliberate. There is no occasion to get excited, and above all things else, we must be patriotic in our treatment of citizens of Germany."

room and that he had only spent $2 for fuel this winter. I will leave it to those from Wayne who need to know. I have found a warm as that or not.

We left Petaluma on the day after the picnic for San Francisco by the steamship "Harron." The steamer was in the harbor when we struck us and the steamer had a hard time fighting its way but we arrived at San Francisco at 4 o'clock only an hour late. On the way to Petaluma, in time to take supper with our son, Edwin, and family. This is a town of between 6,000 or 7,000 people and is a real live and interesting city. It is the chicken country and all the city is engaged in the chicken industry. There are incubator factories, brooder factories and hatcheries, where young chickens are sold by the thousands. There are a number of large shippers of eggs and poultry here. Outside the city limits the country is covered for miles with the chicken ranches. The average ranch is from one to ten acres, and has from 300 to 2,000 chickens. There are a few larger ranches. There is one ranch where a man keeps 30,000 hens. My son Edwin has 1,500 chickens, but 500 are young pullers and not laying yet. He gets 600 eggs a day and sells them for 27 cents a dozen. In the morning the chickens are fed a mash feed and a chopped green feed. In the evening straw is sown with wheat for them to scratch in as soon as they fly down from their roosts in the morning. The farmers send out to the farm twice a week empty egg cases and carry back the full ones, so there is no expense for delivery. The total exports of eggs and poultry from Petaluma for 1916 was man nature. I believe in their loyalty. They left their native land for America to preserve their neutrality and keep their hands off their adoption and until their country shall become a republic.

When the European war first began President Wilson warned Americans to preserve their neutrality and avoid heated discussions and reckless statements that might in any way conflict with the principle of neutrality, and I think it would be well to advise all patriotic citizens to be cautious and considerate of our German population. I have never seen a German citizen who has never been here. I have believed in their Americanism and I believe in it still.

THE FIELD OF BUSINESS.

St. Louis City Journal: Last week's formal declaration of the existence of a state of war between the United States and Germany found a condition of complete preparedness existing in financial, industrial, and commercial quarters. War had long been a virtual certainty that its effect upon the securities market was thoroughly understood. Realization or expectation brought no liquidation, of course, and there was some unsteadiness and weakness during the week, but in the main the citadel of business experienced no serious vibrations as a result of the war declaration, some of the selling was based on the obvious possibility of government price fixing—with consequent loss of profit to the manufacturer.

The war development sent the May wheat futures above the $2 mark for the first time in the present movement, but it remained for the government crop report on Saturday to account for a really spectacular ascension of wheat prices. The government report confirmed the most pessimistic reports concerning the winter crop. A price of $2.14 was recorded for the May option during the subsequent buying movement.

War financing is now the absorbing financial question. First estimates call for extraordinary expenditures for the army and navy departments aggregating $3,500,000,000. In a general way it is proposed to provide for the additional expenditures by bond issues and by new taxation. The amount of the bond issue and the terms of taxation are not yet determined. It is assumed that bonds to the amount of at least $5,000,000,000 bearing 3 or 3 1/2 per cent will be offered. New taxes on income, inheritance, and consumption on real estate, and a combination of these measures are expected to establish a new record. The total amount for the month will exceed $710,000,000. Another price increase affecting the price of employees of the United States Steel corporation was announced last week. All salaries and wages under $2,000 a year have been increased 10 per cent, adding about $25,000,000 to the payroll of the big steel concern, to whose employees a 34 1/2 per cent increase was granted last year.

Higher prices did not have a discouraging effect on the East's trade, according to the burden of reports. Bank deposits for the week aggregated $83,400,000.

BUGGY TIPS OVER AND HOSKINS MAN HURT

Hoskins, Neb., April 9.—Otto Rabenz suffered a fractured shoulder blade, a dislocated shoulder joint and injuries to the spine and his family narrowly escaped serious injuries Sunday morning while on their way to town to attend church when the team they were driving tipped the buggy over. Mrs. Rabenz and the children were thrown to the ground but escaped unhurt. Mr. Rabenz received his injuries when he was thrown to the ground. The family, who live about three miles from here, were coming down a long hill when they met a cow. The young colts took fright and before they could be stopped ran out into the embankment. Fortunately all the family were thrown clear of the buggy. The team ran home following the accident. The buggy was badly damaged.

MORAL LEADERSHIP.

Every American citizen must feel his pulses bound as he sees in the comment on President Wilson's message evidence that this nation has passed at one leap to the moral leadership of the world. From every country outside of Europe come words of commendation. The message is acclaimed as a world document that will live in all histories. One of the earliest of the expressions from England, from the London Star, still remains one of the best.

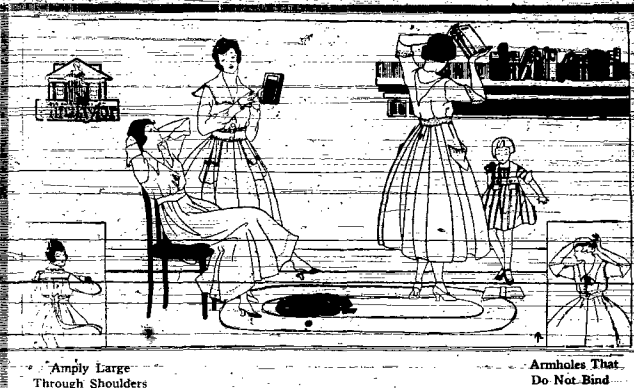

"A second Lincoln's a Lincoln inaugural. In these simple words our emotions find expression as we read the majestic closing words of President Wilson's message. We are not ashamed to say that these words are destined to echo through the ages and to be read by free men with grateful hearts. They fill our eyes with tears of pride and gratitude. Here and now the future of humanity is being shaped and moulded for all time."

HARTINGTON FACTORY.

Hartington Herald: The local ice cream factory is busy making preparations for getting the new machinery to commence operations next week.

During the season of 1916 the local factory shipped to outside points 1,000 gallons of ice cream for which they received about $8,000 and their sales to local dealers brought their total receipts for this product last season to $10,000. The business prospect for the coming season are bright and the proprietors, Messrs. Guelch & Lange, expect to do an increased business.

The proprietors report that the contemplated new factory, which they have been considering adding to their creamery and ice cream business, will materialize in July. At that time they expect to be able to produce soft-serve ice cream, fruit ices and at a price that will warrant them in installing the necessary equipment and entering the business.

WINTER WHEAT.
Nebraska Farmer: The condition of the winter wheat is a mighty story before giving the crop up as lost. Old settlers say the outlook is the worst they have ever known at this season of the year. Reports vary greatly according to location and extent of investigation. Clay county farmers seem to think the crop is more encouraging. Around Lincoln many fields are showing enough signs of life to indicate at least a half stand.

The question is what is best to do. Past experiences would suggest the wisdom of waiting as late as possible before giving the crop up as lost. What many seem to be a very thin stand now might very easily develop into quite a satisfactory yield. The weather during the next two or three weeks will have much to do with developments.

Those who think of sowing spring wheat cannot wait long—it should be sowed not later than the first week in April. The Omaha Grain Exchange had the following correspondence of farmers and allied interests and arranged to obtain spring wheat for seed to be furnished to farmers at $2.50 per bushel. Interested ones should get in touch with the Exchange at once.

Farmers who are content to await developments feel that they can sow barley as a supplemental crop. Others feel that the best time to sow is probably the better of the two because it may be sowed later and will mature at about the same time as the wheat. Those who grew bushels last year received a very satisfactory price for it—yields of forty and fifty bushels per acre were reported and the grain was sold at about $1 per bushel.

Probably the large majority look forward to planting corn in wheat fields that do not promise a satisfactory stand at present planting time. The greatest danger in this connection is that in the event of an early corn year the loss would be heavier. The prospective price for corn would justify growing as much as the farmer can tend. Of course, the growing of corn will necessitate sowing wheat in the cornfields in order that the change may be made back to wheat next year.

In this dilemma the individual farmer will doubtless know what is best to do. Local conditions may be a determining factor in many instances. If I were to advise it would be that it will undoubtedly pay to make the best of it. Give the fields a chance to show what the actual stand is. A rain within the next week or ten days might make a very great difference in fields that now seem to be hopelessly gone.

According to Ponca papers a couple of the church members are on the eve of severing diplomatic relations. One preacher published a statement which is virtually an ultimatum. It would appear that the church has accepted the ultimatum. Another church. Trouble is the result. A declaration of war may soon follow.

People should not be quick to doubt the loyalty of citizens of German birth. They came here through choice, know why they came and express no regret over having been born here. The old world is a trying time, but the people who came from Germany, and their loyalty should not be questioned without the ground.

The unprecedented task for marriage licenses in the city of St. Louis, in the court of domestic relations, to issue a warning to girls who marry in haste so that description for the army may be delayed. European monarchies have been following nearly three centuries of law and destruction. By these pledges they hope to stay the wrath of outraged subjects and save their monarchies. The Russian czar couldn't put over his program very sensibly abdicated. We believe the other tinsel gods are too late with presence of favor to fool the people and that they too will soon shed their crowns and themselves into obscurity. Avast royalty! Welcome democracy!

A history of the treatment of Belgium by the German nation reads like a chapter from a history book of the middle ages. Much as we naturally shrink from contemplation of war, the atrocities of the European struggle strengthens belief in the necessity and righteousness of the American cause in the fight for restoring peace and riding nations of autocratic forms of government. If the United States can be the means of saving the world from giving governments into the hands of the people, the effort for humanity and civilization will have been rewarded.

The cry of civilization against the atrocities of the European war is progressively shown by a cartoon in Monday's Wayne County Journal. The cartoon shows a man in a military uniform, representing the Belgian steamer, being lowered into the sea by a submarine. The man is holding a flag that says "My Country 'Tis of Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty." The submarine is labeled "The German U-Boat." The man is being lowered into the sea by a crane on the submarine. Quite as important to the nation as soldiers at the front are workmen on American farms to produce adequate crops and supply dependable foods. Only the sick or infirm should be allowed in idleness. Every healthy man and woman should be working on the farm who cannot serve their country in the army or navy can serve it on the farm, in the factory or in numberless other ways that will contribute to the national defense, independence and national security. Boys and girls should not be permitted to waste their summer vacations at pleasure resorts or elsewhere. They should be advised to work on the farm in other productive lines and thus taught to be self-sufficient. There is alarming scarcity of employes on American farms now, and it is necessary to secure recruits for an army by applying in supplying sufficient help to get the maximum from the soil, needed now more than ever.

WAR IS NO longer a question, no longer an alternative. It is a grim fact and must be met. The president has presented the case to congress and the country, and the legislature has declared a state of war. There is no choice, no escape. We must trust to the judgment of those charged with authority and responsibility and meet the crisis with courage and unanimity. America's future and the cause of civilization demand exercise of the keenest brains, the best skill and the most heroic and self-sacrificing heroism. It is not war against the German people. German people in America are as a rule among the best and most desirable citizens. It is not war against the German people in Germany. It is war against the German government, built on militarism, trampled on the rights of neutrals to the point of intolerance. If the German people of the Kaiser would abrogate and the people were allowed to govern, peace in the world would soon be restored. It is hoped such happy conditions would be the result of the meaning, much as we feel like shaking from thought of war, we must meet the inevitable with fortitude and uphold the American flag unsullied and unbarred.

Another Easter Sunday marking the anniversary of the resurrection of Christ has come and gone. Through the mist of 2000 years people have again returned to the plan of peace and love and good will. Recurrence of Easter, commemorating the resurrection, finds the world engaged principally in war. It finds the darkest pages of the world's history being written. It finds nations arrayed against nations in a terrible struggle. But hope springs from the fact that one country has stood firm and held its ground. It is not a year and will be advanced more than a hundred years in civilization by reason of its bitter and unrelenting resistance to other nations' wrongs. It is the only nation that has stood firm and held its ground. It is the only nation that has stood firm and held its ground. It is the only nation that has stood firm and held its ground.

It is no longer a question, no longer an alternative. It is a grim fact and must be met. of war. This dark as are the days of the world's history, the Easter period this year, there is hope that they will be dispelled by the refulgent rays of a more exalted civilization.

"WAR VS. STATE OF WAR"
St. Louis City Journal: There has been confusion as to the distinction between a "declaration of war" and a "declaration of the existence of a state of war." The latter declaration has seemed to be that a declaration of war would be stronger than a declaration of the existence of a state of war. The latter declaration has seemed to be that a declaration of war would be stronger than a declaration of the existence of a state of war.

The only difference between declaring war and declaring the existence of a state of war relates to the question of responsibility. When a nation declares war it cheerfully assumes responsibility for deciding the issue. A declaration of war upon Germany by the United States at this time would place the United States on record on the offensive. Recognition of an existing state of war, however, locates the responsibility for that condition with the other party. The latter course of government making the declaration on record as having been forced into war by the aggression of the other party in leaving to recognize a state of war rather than to declare war on Germany we have done what we could to win a place in history as having been forced into defensive war rather than having volunteered into an offensive war voluntarily.

Once a country is at war, whether it has gone on offensively or defensively, it is free to take any measures necessary to win the war. According to the Geneva Convention, the maximum a vigorous offense is the best defense. As the object in going to war is to defeat the enemy, the only question to be presented is as to how the war must be conducted in order to attain that end. If a country is to be content with measures short of war it should avoid either a declaration of war or a recognition of a state of war. If a country is to wage war measures of the most effective sort must follow naturally.

ROAD LEGISLATION.
 Nebraska Farmer: It looks now as if a bill will pass providing for the acceptance of federal aid for road building. If it does, it will inaugurate the creation of a state highway commission. Legislation that would make obligatory upon the counties the employment of county road engineers seems to have failed. It is not clear what the state will do in the future regarding state toll roads. This perhaps summarizes the important road legislation of state-wide interest considered in this session of the legislature.

The federal aid bill drew its principal opposition from those who do not believe in the acceptance of federal aid for road building. Some others felt that the acceptance of federal funds under the "Shackelford act" would mean paved or half-paved roads wherever the funds were used. These two obstacles were removed from the minds of the majority when government authorities indicated that there would be no arbitrary assumption of authority by them in carrying out the provisions of the act, and that half-surfaced roads would not necessarily be part of the program of road building under this act.

I have no hope to pick with those who opposed the passage of a bill that would comply with the provisions of the Shackelford act. Not only do I give them credit for honest motives, but I feel that their principal points of contention were at least reasonable. I have no objection to their own heads will be before us and I believe it is the duty of all forces to join hands in making the most of it. It is pleasing to note that the farmers and townpeople are getting together for concerted effort in the hope that they may make the best use of the money to be provided by the state and the government.

The money under this act can be spent only on post roads. As soon as this act is passed, the money will be received and the governor's signature we shall publish it.

PROPOSED METHODS OF RAISING U. S. ARMY

Washington, D. C., April 12.—The thought expressed in the bill of patriotic Americans since the bill was introduced in congress for the immediate raising of an army of 1,200,000 men naturally are: How is this to be raised? What citizens are subject to draft? How is this draft to be applied? What number of volunteers will be required?

Answers to these questions it may be stated that the first force to be raised in addition to existing regular army and national guard troops will be 400,000 men occupying a total of the universal service plan to be raised by selective draft of young men between the ages of 19 and 25 years; 200,000 recruits for the national guard by voluntary enlistment of men between the ages of 18 and 40; 160,000 recruits for the regular army by voluntary enlistment of men between the ages of 18 and 40.

This force of 920,000 in round numbers with the present regular army and national guard will give a total of 1,200,000.

Call One Hundred.
 To apply the selective draft to get the first increment of 500,000 under universal service there will be an enrollment, probably by the postoffice, of all young men between the ages of 19 and 25 years. It is estimated that 1,000,000 young men attain the age of 19 each year, so that the seven classes to be enrolled will be 7,000,000 young men, only 500,000 of whom or one in fourteen, will be called out.

There will be no draft applied to men over 25 years of age at present. The regular army from its present strength of 120,000 to its war strength of 280,000, and the national guard from its present strength of 160,000 to its war strength of 420,000.

Army of Officers.
 The army of 1,200,000 men is all planned to raise during the three months of the present fiscal year. It will strain the army facilities, due to the fact that the army is put this number under training. In the next fiscal year it is expected, will avail himself of the authority given to call out the second increment of 400,000 between the ages of 19 and 25 under the selective-draft plan, giving an army of 1,700,000.

The $2,000,000 appropriation that will be the first step in administration of the law when passed, divisional training areas will be established in strategic points about the country to meet the work of whipping the new army into shape will be taken up.

Registration of men from 10 to 25, made compulsory in the bill, will be made in the next fiscal year, probably will be made at postoffices, though this is yet to be finally decided. The army general staff has suggested that the following information with respect to each person registered should be obtained: Name, age, date and place of birth, nationality, date of self-naturalization, occupation, name and address of employer, name, education, residence and place of business or employment, married or single, number of dependents if any, and facts upon which claim is based.

WAR PREPARATIONS.
 Omaha Men whose daily lives require their presence in the Douglas county court house are making plans for organizing a company for war and to that end have already had several preliminary drills in the court house under the command of Capt. J. H. Hunter. It is believed that if a call for volunteers comes enough men employed in the Douglas county court house will be ready to respond to the call.

Freemasonry. Finding it almost impossible to find a suitable hour for drilling during business hours of the day, a number of men of this city are meeting three times a week at 8 o'clock in the morning at the Masonic temple, 121st and Broadway, through the streets, proceeding with the manual of arms as though an enemy were already threatening an invasion. Fremont already has one company under mobilization but it is expected to send a new company which is dubbed "The Early Risers."

Omaha—Fort Crook near here has been designated as one of the twelve mobilization centers for army troops and, according to Col. George K. Hunter, acting inspector of mobilization, the Fort Crook mobilization center will be equipped with wooden barracks to be erected at the fort to provide shelter for whatever contingents are sent there. There are 640 acres of Fort Crook available for mobilization purposes. The cost of wooden barracks is said to be about $100,000 to a regiment of 1000 men at a year strength each regiment. Four occupying army units, twenty-three acres. Col. Hunter strongly urges the erection of wooden barracks rather than tents.

Omaha—Army Ballrooms are making almost daily excursions now, weather permitting, and according to Capt. D. F. Chandler in charge of instruction to a score or more army officers, the work of training men to make halibut observations will be rushed with all possible speed because of the declaration of war. Advances from over the counter, halibut occupying army units, have been designated by the government to receive instructions, are not the only ones who are showing an interest in halibut observations. Many have become expert as halibut have written to Capt. Chandler relative to serving in a section of the aerial corps and it is believed within a short time a number of them will be enrolled in the Fort Crook school.

Omaha—Women who wish to do their bit for the soldiers but who cannot engage in active work at the front or in stimulating an enthusiasm for enlistment among the men, are being encouraged to take part in the work of the Red Cross, under whose direction the work is carried on. "Any woman with a few moments to spare, whether she is adept with the needle or not, may come in and make a few stitches for the good of the cause. As fast as we get a shipment of bandages we send them to headquarters in the east."

FAVORED LIVES.
 Chicago Tribune: Americans who have had favored lives will be asked to meet their obligations. There is a day of reckoning and it is coming. It asks the most from the most favored. Failure tarnishes most the most favored.

The British aristocracy surmounts most of its faults by the perfect willingness of its sacrifice. If the nation goes to war, the men of the British aristocracy go to war. It is a statement is a serious student of affairs and his opinion based upon recent investigation in England and I wish it to be read to you for what it is.

JUDGE GEORGE ALDEN IS HEARD AT NORMAL
 "The Needs of the Hour" was discussed by Judge George D. Alden, a member of the Massachusetts Bar, at the Normal auditorium Monday evening in an unusually interesting and inspiring way. Immediately after he was introduced by Prof. E. E. Lackey, he sat down at the piano and struck up "America," and the audience joined with him in singing the first two verses. His entire lecture was interspersed with witticisms and original verses, which were well written in youthful days, when he aspired to poetical fame. But if Judge Alden kept his listeners laughing most of the time, he also gave them plenty of food for thought. He asserted that ultra-individualism, bearing the fruits of selfishness, greed and greed, was in reality the cause of present world conditions. He argued that rank materialism must give place to a spirit of love and humanity, and in this he prophesied that the United States would lead.

As a result of his address Judge Alden played and sang the last two verses of America. Lost, a plain black rosary Saturday evening. Call Black 69. A121ad

Stove Putty

To Cover Cracks and Defects

Ever since cast stoves were first made, putty was used to close up cracks. This was necessary because cast iron is very brittle; you can't rivet it all and if you can't rivet it, it will break. Later, this cast iron was made in a shape that was the reason it became necessary to make malleable stoves. Malleable iron can't be broken, you can hammer it, twist it, pull it, bend it, still it won't break. It will break when you rivet it until you are blue in the face and it never cracks. This means malleable stoves are tight, tight as a drum. It was placed in the cracks and painted over. Nobody ever noticed it until after the war.

Between the asbestos and the range body and then see that it is really a range for ever and a day. In looking for this range, you will save detake to bolt it right, it snaps and is gone. So, bolts were loosely drawn; then putty was used to fill the cracks and painted over. Nobody ever noticed it until after the war.

Randolph Times: "Since potatoes are so high priced, will it pay to plant peels instead of large seed pieces? For this query which is repeated in several papers, the horticultural department of the college of agriculture replies that tests have shown that it is unprofitable to plant peels or small seed pieces because not enough extra food is supplied to give the plants good starts. Hence, a low yield results."

The Product of Experience

Not only is the Chevrolet car the product of years of experience, but what is more, it is a car that is within the reach of most people who are in a position to buy a car.

What has made possible this nominal cost when all other prices are soaring skyward at such an alarming pace? The organization of the Chevrolet Motor company has been so perfected that the buying, building, marketing, and service-rendering expenses have been reduced to the minimum. But at no point has quality been sacrificed to lower the cost to consumer. The whole thought of the managers of the Chevrolet company is to reduce operating expenses and at the same time maintain quality.

EMERSON MAN OFFENSES. Sioux City Journal, April 7: F. F. Gordon, principal of the high school at Emerson, Neb., on Wednesday addressed a patriotic meeting at Emerson, Neb., and urged the business men of Sioux City to refrain from heeding the call to arms if it declared. He urged them to follow the dictates of his conscience.

Nine-tenths of the men in the army and navy are victims of three habits, viz. women's suffrage, prohibition and the war. Mr. Gordon is alleged to have declared, and stated he should dislike to see any of the Emerson people attend the service on that account.

Mr. Gordon's address was not on the instant demand of Mr. Harper, apologized for his statements. Mr. Harper said:

Booth's naval recruiting officer received a letter yesterday from Mr. Harper, telling him of the incident at Emerson. All of the business houses and hundred and fifty citizens gathered at the hall where the meeting was held. It lasted for more than an hour.

THE WAYNE HOSPITAL

Home-Like and Cozy in all Details

Takes Care of all Kinds of Cases

PHONE 61

PHONE 61

HAVE you ever had occasion to visit several different hospitals and contrast the atmosphere of one with another? Did you notice that at one place doors were slammed, needed articles could never be found at important times and annoyances, trivial yet none the less provoking, were continually occurring?

At another hospital everything runs smoothly. Every reasonable request is granted. The individual tastes of patients are noted and respected. Meals are served on time. Why the difference?

IN ONE place service is hit and miss; things are just done, that's all. In the second, a system, worked out from a careful study of consistent demands, obtains. The public seldom stops to consider the time and effort expended to have everything just right. But good service is the only service that ever pays.

The Home Hospital

An Awful Comparison?

If you had a large fish on your hand which was eating you and you got relief by sucking the pus out of it, you would do it. But would you swallow the pus?

CERTAINLY NOT! WHY NOT?

Still you will continue to have abscess and discharging teeth in your mouth which throw off pus, which is every bit as harmful and dangerous to the system and swallow it. Why do you do this? Is it through ignorance or do you like the sensation?

HOW ABOUT IT? THINK ABOUT IT!

Shoes for the Workingman

What more convincing proof than the DAIRYMAN shoe, even at $4.50 is wise economy, than the fact that time and time again they have stood for a full year the hard wear given them by the working man? The DAIRYMAN shoe is especially adapted for use on the farm, because the leather is scientifically treated so that it is proof against the acids of the barnyard. Is it any wonder, then, that these shoes surpass all others in lasting qualities?

Ten Other Features That Are Distinctive Improvements

1. The automatic chain tightener keeps driving chain always tight.
2. The check spring, which makes action of check shaft quick and dropping of valves accurate.
3. Foot drop lever for planting head rows or dropping miscellaneous hills.
4. A foot rest, which is used to assist in raising the runners. A balancing spring permits them to be raised easily.
5. The tongue is adjustable for height of team, permitting runner frame to always run level. This insures accurate checking.

6. Substantial steel wheels with 7-8 in. oval spokes cast into the hubs.
7. A strong steel frame holds operating parts in correct alignment.
8. Two sprockets on axle and two on seed plate shaft provide 4 distances between hills for power drop and 4 distances for drilling.
9. The runner frame can be made to float. Thus the unevenness of the ground is followed by the runners; thereby planting the corn at a uniform depth.
10. The seed cans tilt forward so that the plates can be changed instantly and while the can is full of corn.

EDITORIAL COMMENT ON WAR DECLARATION

In the War in Earnest

On the 12th of April, the signing by the president of the resolution declaring the existence of a state of war, as passed by an overwhelming majority in both houses of congress, marks that we are in the business of a real war. It is not a mere declaration of hostilities, and it is in earnest.

It need hardly be repeated that all peace-loving citizens were for a long time hoping against hope that we might be kept out of the war to its end and nothing would have given more satisfaction than to have had that hope realized, but circumstances wholly beyond our control have been shaping themselves steadily to draw us into the maelstrom in defense of our rights and the rights of humanity.

It is really the troops of fate that President Wilson, after being elected on the strength of his record for maintaining the country at peace, should be destined to officiate as a proclaimer of war and it only goes to show again how short is the distance any of us can look ahead.

Being in the predicament that President Wilson, after being elected on the strength of his record for maintaining the country at peace, should be destined to officiate as a proclaimer of war and it only goes to show again how short is the distance any of us can look ahead.

But as matters rest now, we are in a war in which there is plenty of determination but no joy and no jingoism. The war is entered, more or less, with a heavy heart for the internal problems which it involves. Apparently the war is going to hasten internal reforms, whereas the usual effect of war is exactly the contrary. There is an unprecedented insistence upon a complete equalizing of war burdens, including not so much the cost of the war as the cost of the war to the people.

It is really the troops of fate that President Wilson, after being elected on the strength of his record for maintaining the country at peace, should be destined to officiate as a proclaimer of war and it only goes to show again how short is the distance any of us can look ahead.

Old Glory and the Rhine. St. Louis City Journal: Speculation as to the part which America will play in the great war must necessarily be based on other speculation as to the duration of the struggle, and that in turn upon surmise as to numerous uncertain eventualities of the present year. Revolution in Austria, Germany, even in Russia, is at least a possibility. Detachment of Russia from the side of the Entente is another possibility. Success of the German offensive is another possibility. All these things range themselves wholly out of the question. The possibility of crushing military reverses for either the entente or the central powers, after this, is not to be considered. All these things range themselves wholly out of the question. Not only are we taking a hand in European affairs, but we are in a fair way to becoming the arbiter of them, almost to the extent that England has been such for generations. America is the dominant industrial power of the world today. If America succeeds, as she hopes to succeed, in breaking the military deadlock in Europe, she will have become the power to which all major trends of "weltpolitik" will invariably lead for a generation. It is their present "spurious" hope that we will be able to do this. "On to Berlin!"

should take place it is not improbable that England would have fought not only Russia, but Turkey, as well. The latter governments since their late bloody conflict, appear to be the least of France, and both equally hostile to England, though probably the secret of the Turkish love for Russia may be found in the fact that Russian guns from Constantinople and Russian soldiers are as plenty in the Sultan's dominions as fleas in a sand bank.

The sun pearly dawned all day Sunday and Monday. A funeral gloom pervaded the atmosphere, and internal mud pervaded the streets. On Tuesday, the smiling face of the sun broke the murky vapors overhead and life became more cheerful and pleasant. This country has during the past ten days experienced more disagreeable weather than it has in a year before. But disagreeable as the rain has been, it has very greatly benefited the growing crops. There now seems to be the greatest anxiety on the part of the wheat to grow as fast as possible and each spear is striving to outgrow its neighbors. From present appearances this county will feel proud over its wheat crop, this year.

New War. Never before in the United States was a war quite like this. We cannot be sure how it would be were German submarines to slip into our harbors and sink the ships lying there. An old time savage war spirit might result.

May all this not be a beginning of a new day? America is going into the war in the spirit of a police officer. The day the peace parley begins, America is pretty sure to find itself attacked as a protector of the German people using its influence with its allies to see that the settlement is not excessively severe and that it does not plant seeds for future wars. Brazil has far to come in to the same spirit. Little Cuba plans to join. As this continues, what will the neutral world be but a peace committee for putting down a riot? This being so, we have an exhibition of enforcement of international law, a beginning of the day of nations, completed by a peaceable settlement for their disputes.

land and naval. Assuming, as seems very likely, that peace on some basis is reached before the opening of another year's campaigns in 1918, the part of the United States can hardly go beyond those phases. But it is only ordinary wisdom which requires consideration of the possibility of yet another year of war after this, and in that case we may expect to see a large, well trained American army, aggregating 800,000 men, on the fringe line in France.

At present there remains some opposition to the idea of cooperating to that extent with the allies, some of the government. And the objection must disseminate swiftly as the conflict goes on. Nothing will tend more to the breaking down of such sentiment than the news that an American destroyer has gone down with all hands, or that some American freight has stood up before a German frigate.

That is the situation, and it is already made up its mind to contribute American divisions to the push toward the Rhine is indicated by its expressed determination to send German and exact more, and mistakenly by its plan to raise, drill and make provision for the supply of an army of 800,000 men. Such an army is not wanted to guard bridges, it may as well be understood.

That there will be no Roosevelt mobilized army may now be taken almost for granted. An increase in the volume of American contributions in the British and French service is likely. But when the first conspicuous detachment of American troops lands in France, if it ever does, it will be the van of a great national army, trained and ready for the sort of thing it will encounter, and commanded by generals of the regular military staff.

The situation is such that we have been given every opportunity to learn and to profit by what has gone before in the three years or more of fighting. That is right, prudent and desirable.

The French press was quick to seize upon one significant phase of the American determination to draw the sword—the abandonment of all thought of the Monroe doctrine. Washington has not abdicated its guardianship of the Americas; but it has abandoned the corollary of this possession. It is interesting to note that the French press has since are executed does not matter

APPLICATIONS FOR FARM LOANS ARE MANY

Omaha, April 11.—Total amount of applications for loans made by the federal land bank of Omaha now amount to over six million dollars and this amount is being increased daily by the filing of original papers by new National Farm Loan associations. The largest amount of loans yet applied for by a single association came from Redfield, S. D., where an association asking for loans to the amount of $250,000 has been formed. The bonds to be issued by the land bank are being sold at interest, and the first issue is already oversubscribed although the officials of the bank state that probably no bonds will be issued for two months to come. One appointment has been made for the position of federal land appraiser for the Omaha bank in the person of L. A. Ellis of Oak, Neb., and another for every Nebraska for the same purpose in the person of Mr. Ellis will assume his new duties with the adjournment of the legislature. A member of the house of representatives. Other appointments to the position of appraiser are expected soon for the one remaining position in the states of Nebraska and South Dakota and Wyoming. The officers of the land bank state that the interest and cooperation already received indicate a greater success than they had anticipated. The farmers are taking hold of the new system in a practical way and active interest and assistance is being given by local banks and county officials all over the territory.

DEMOCRACY NOT FAILURE.

Omaha, Neb.—The voice of an old man, quivering with indignation as it quavered with age, came over the telephone to the press, asking the editor to say if democracy has failed and self-government become a mockery. He had been arguing with some younger men, who had borne him down by weight of words, but had not convinced him that the government he long has loved is shaken on its foundations. The old man was right. Democracy has not failed. One hundred and thirty-three years of independent control of their own affairs by the American people has just had the most triumphant vindication possible. Unrecounting individuals loudly proclaim that if the resolution adopted by the congress had been submitted to a referendum it would have been rejected. To suppose that they ever to the national
