STUDENTS IN WAYNE SOON TO GRADUATE HIGH SCHOOL PLAY CHOSEN

Seventy-five Seniors at State Normal—Comencement Week Program Arranged.

With only a little more than three weeks left in the school year the students as well as instructors at the high school and State Normal are busy working out the details of events incident to the commencement season. The graduating exercises for the high school are scheduled for the evening of May 17, when Judge J. W. Woodruff of Omaha will deliver an address.

The school play will probably be given May 15, although the date has not been definitely settled. The play "Anne of Green Gables," by Clara Bell, is being held as a leading text of whittened days, offers an abundance of opportunity for each member of the class to develop his histrionic ability.

The parts have been assigned as follows to the thirteen members of the class:

Reverend Cotton Mather—Merion Goble.
Captain Hardman—Ernest Larson.
Roger Hardman, his son—Jesse Randall.
Nathan Ellinwell, brother of Anne—Orvin Gaston.
Ezekiel Brown—Lyle Gamble.
Miss Hildard—Clode Macklin.
Miss Helen Gable—Mabel Henson.
Anne Ellinwell—Helen Main.
Phyllis—Marsaline Lewis.
Ruth, a Quaker—Jesse Watson.
Helen Gable's mother—Mrs. Gable.
Guth—Boubler James.
Steadfast Atkins—Euther Peterson.

Seventy-five students will complete the regular two-year course at the State Normal this year. The commencement exercises will be held on Sunday, May 20, with the commencement ceremony on the following Friday, May 25, but no special arrangements have been made for the speaker on either of these occasions.

The play to be staged by the senior class at the State Normal has been definitely chosen, although it is probable that Dodge's "The Man From Home" will be used. The date is May 22.

The second annual baseball season will be held on Thursday, May 24.

It was hoped to have the new building open for commencement week, but latest reports indicate that the building will not be finished earlier than June 4, the date of registration for summer school.

WAYNE STATE NORMAL JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

A good play well performed in spite of wind and rain and hail, was given by the junior class of the Wayne State Normal in the auditorium Wednesday evening, May 16.

The play, "The Melting Pot," given by the old graduates of the State Normal in the auditorium Wednesday evening, May 16, was a masterpiece of acting. It is matter for congratulation that the finely painted scene showing the old family on the statue of Liberty and the new family on the statue of the East that gave the play—A. E. Hering.

The first act shows the home of a Jewish family on a Jewish ghetto. It is the story of the clinging of the old people to the shadow of their great past, the tantrums of a warm-hearted Irish maid, the merry-making and religious ceremonies mingled. We see also the soul of the artist here lighted with love of America, democracy, humanity, with his face to the future, and catch glimpses of an unending world.

The second act shows a young man who would dream that a proud Russian princess, though she were a nihilist and an exile, would ever mate with one of the race of Szybok? But he knows not yet how the fires of God burn in the crucible.

The hero, David Quixano, is not only a musician, but also hopes to be an inventor and a symphonist that shall illumine the world with his own dream of America as the place where all base passions of all peoples shall be melted away. The inventor, the pianist, the artist, the politician of the world. In pursuit of his idea and his art, he has broken with the traditions of the past. These traditions are powerfully represented in the old grandmother who can speak no word of English, who weeps and moans all through the hot day whose love of David is expressed in pitiful dumb show. All the solemnity of the world is on the people who give us the one great religion was upon the audience as the aged lady as represented by Miss Emma Abbott lighted the holy candles and raised the curtains on the outside world.

The heat character who clings to the past is the end of the old.

AN EXAMINATION OF THE EIGHTH GRADES

The annual examination of eighth grade students of Wayne county takes place today and tomorrow in five towns—Wayne, Winslow, Carroll, Ames and Randolph. About 50 students will be examined, Miss Pearl Sewell, county superintendent, will conduct the examination in Wayne, and the heads of the public schools will manage the examinations at the other towns. Another examination will be held May 10 and 11 to give a second opportunity to any who fail in the present test. The graduating exercises will take place at the State Normal on May 17.

STUDENT AT NORMAL DRINKS FATAL ACHOL

Pours Sulphuric Acid from Fire Extinguisher into Glass. Funeral Today.

Peter T. Hajenga, a junior at the State Normal, who deliberately drank almost a half glass of sulphuric acid Monday morning at 11 o'clock, died five hours later without giving any reasons for taking his life. Hajenga was taken from a fire extinguisher, for which he was using the acid.

Hajenga brought Mrs. J. M. Hart, who was in the building, to his bedside. Dr. S. J. Bassett was called and immediately summoned, but they could do nothing to stay the effect of the poison. Such a quantity was taken that even if an antidote had been administered, Hajenga would not have survived.

"The boy was conscious most of the time until noon. He admitted to the doctor and others that he had taken the poison intentionally. It is believed that the boy was dependent and ill."

When the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Menert Hajenga, arrived in Wayne at 3 o'clock, their son was unconscious. Mr. and Mrs. Hajenga returned to Randolph with the remains of their son. They have the sincere sympathy of members of the faculty and the students of the Normal. Hajenga attended summer school last year, and had always been a diligent student for about 25 years old.

The funeral services will be held at Randolph this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The following men from the Junior association will accompany the casket as pallbearers: A. E. Hering, A. W. Christensen, J. E. Hauge, Roy Edwards, E. A. Ankeny and F. O. George. Several other students are also in attendance at the funeral.

George Buck of this vicinity, has decided to enter the army and left for Omaha yesterday.

GARDENING PROJECT IS MAKING HEADWAY

The home-school gardening project under the supervision of Herman Siems, is going forward with promise of lively interest and satisfactory results. At a meeting of committee in the public library building Friday evening names were presented for group leaders and at a meeting Saturday afternoon the following names were chosen: Mrs. S. N. Cross, Mrs. A. R. Davis, Mrs. D. W. Kame, Mrs. Ernest Rippon, Mrs. Elmer Seace, Dean H. H. Hahn, Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis, Miss Margaret Porter and Mrs. Ella M. Wilson. Each leader is to have six or seven feet of a flower box and girls engaged in gardening. Eighty young people have thus far enrolled for the work.

Mr. Siems explained the proposed gardening as outlined by the agricultural department of the state university. It was to be uniformly high standard. Mr. Siems is very enthusiastic over the prospect and believes results will be of signal value in accumulating bits of industry, besides converting unprofitable gardens and materially increasing the vegetable production of the city.

He is a suggestion from the state department of agriculture in regard to the work of the home-school gardening project:

"Every garden should have a plan. Each plan should be made on a 14-inch scale that it should show the proper spacing of rows. In drawing the garden plan use one-half inch on the paper to represent one foot on the ground. If you had a large garden one-fourth inch may represent one foot.

"The size of the garden must not be less than one hundred square feet. You may, however, grow a large garden if you can successfully care for.

"As soon as the size of the garden has been determined, make a list of the vegetables you want to plant. Select only a few of the most important vegetables and do not try to grow too many varieties. A large number of varieties are rarely successful and are best to be avoided.

"Before selecting the varieties consult the supervisor to learn which ones are best suited to your local conditions. Do not select uncommon varieties. Select the varieties which grow and sell well and which can be canned for winter use.

"As a rule, only five or six of the most important vegetables should be grown. Several early crops should be grown. The following vegetables are suggested for early planting before the time arrives to plant tomatoes, onion sets, radishes, lettuce, peas, early bush peas, and early bush beans.

"The onion sets, lettuce, peas, and radishes can be planted just as early as the ground can be plowed and properly prepared.

"The beans should be planted about a week later than the radishes, while the bush beans must not be planted until all danger of frost is past. The beans are tender plants and will freeze easily while the onions, radishes, peas, lettuce and beans are hearty plants and can stand a little frost.

"The tomatoes must not be planted until later in the season. They are tender plants and do not like cold."

What You May Expect to See Here

Broadly speaking, the Crystal shows the best films it can buy—excluding only long spectacles such as Ince's "Civilization" and Griffith's "Intolerance." Any feature film which is not more than six or eight reels in length and is so good that it stands out among current releases, properly belongs to the Crystal program. You will see such productions as you sometimes see before they have been screened at Norfolk, Sioux City or Omaha.

Remember Mr. Nielson absolutely will not show any film, whatever name it bears, whatever its features, or under whatever auspices it is released, that he does not consider a GOOD film—a film so much above the average production as to be in a class by itself. It is Nielson's policy to show only such picture-plays as to assure patrons of ALWAYS finding a good feature there.

Paramounts on the Board

TOMORROW, FRIDAY.
Mac Murray, a popular Paramount star, will be screened in the intense play "To Have and to Hold." Better plan a theater party for this feature.

SATURDAY, APRIL 21.
"Common Ground" comes for the Saturday afternoon and evening shows. Everybody has heard of Marie Doro, of New York fame, and now you will have a chance to see her.

FRIDAY, APRIL 27.
"The Dawn of Tomorrow," not a very new story, but guaranteed to be a new film. 'Tis the story of "Glad," a brave spirit of the slums, who overcomes environment and heredity admirably. This play will appeal to you. Mary Pickford plays the part of "Glad."

SATURDAY, APRIL 28.
"Secret Sin" is a title, which in itself is suggestive of the play. Blanche Sweet takes the leading role, and you may leave it to her to produce something worth while.

Triangles to Be Shown Soon

MONDAY, APRIL 23.
No one can afford to miss next Monday's "Triangle," "The Jungle Child." This is a unique story, produced and screened in a unique way. The scenery is the kind that makes you gasp for words to express your feelings.

MONDAY, APRIL 30.
It is hard to be extravagant in describing "Plain Jane." The story tells in a series of human episodes how a girl of plain features wins love and success by sheer beauty of character. This play will grip you.

MONDAY, MAY 7.
The Return of Draw Egan in which William S. Hart stars, is one of the greatest western shows ever shown. You will want to see it and you will want your friends to see it.

MONDAY, MAY 14.
"The Vagabond" is up to the usual high standard of Triangle plays. See it by all means.

Watch for "The Voice on the Wire"

A novelty mystery serial, wherein a series of crimes from an unknown source are always foretold over the telephone by a weird "voice on the wire." Hence the title. Ben Wilson takes the part of John Shirley, a criminal investigator who tries to trace the mysterious "voice" and clear up the crimes. He is supported by beautiful Nya Gerber.

See "The Clock" Next Wednesday

Mr. Nielson made a trip to Omaha last week and contracted with the Bluebird agency for the first run of "The Clock." It has just been released and will be screened in Wayne for the first time. You will like this romance of a strange inheritance.

"Broadway Jones"

Is on tonight. When you consider that this has not been shown in either Norfolk or Omaha, you will join those who are saying, "We can't afford to miss it." George M. Cohan, He of Yankee Doodle renown, will keep you laughing sixty-one seconds in every minute. Minutes at 3; evening shows at 7 and 8:30.

Clark's Garage
Car Storage Space, Steam Heated

Eight Years Building to Its Present Proportions. Commenced in a Small Way. Has Grown Steadily. Has Ladies' Rest Room. Warehouse and Paint Shop. Welds Any Kind of Metal

DRIVE RIGHT IN.

We want the attention of every man and woman in Wayne and Wayne county who owns an automobile. Drive right into Clark's garage, wherever you are, and you will find a man who will inspect your car and show you a few things that have happened right here before your eyes, in the auto garage line. It makes no difference who you are, nor whether you keep an auto for comfort or a Ford for use, drive right in, join the crowd. Spill your auto anywhere you please in the big room, but don't put your Ford on the miss show cases. And now gentlemen, don't forget to get your car checked up on the right way, you have to say.

A HOME-GROWN PLANT.

We are assembled in Ralph Clark's Garage on South Main street in the city of Wayne. I have studied you here in order to show you what Clark has, what he is doing, and what he can do for you at any time your auto shows signs of internal derangement. This is essentially a home-grown institution. It has been developed right here in our midst. Eight years ago, R. A. Clark, or Ralph Clark, as he is familiarly called, bought out a small garage that had been operating in a small way for a short time. Eight years ago, garages were not robust, money-making establishments. It took grit and grace to buy one under any circumstances, but in this instance, Clark had to augment the grit and grace with a hundred dollars of borrowed money. He took off his coat, rolled up his sleeves and waded into the grease up to his eyebrows. As a result of that beginning and the long years of incessant toil, this fine stone garage is presented today. Isn't it a fine room?—fairly big, wide and one hundred and fifty feet long. It stands a firm monument to forethought and management as well as to the growth of the automobile business.

BACK YONDER IN THE REPAIR DEPARTMENT.

Back yonder, behind those gates, is the repair department, where high-priced mechanics are at work with the latest tools and equipment on a flock of derelicts. They have the latest in everything. They are installing now a traveling hoist so large that it will be within range of eleven cars, and can pick up any one of them and carry it along to any position wanted. Below the hoist, there is a floor up over which eight cars can be reached from beneath at the same time. That is "some" equipment, gentlemen, but an up-to-date garage, such as we maintain this to be, it must have all these things in order to render good service, and quick service.

While speaking about the repair department, I want you to notice the fine system in operation. First of all, Mr. Clark keeps a record of your machine and the work that is done on it at different times. He records the serial number of the machine, the license number, and with an electric clock keeps tab on the time the mechanic is working on the machine, and as the mechanic has to make out a requisition card in order to get any article of replacement, and the storekeeper, there is a full and complete record of everything upon which to base a fair and honest price. If your machine is stolen, Mr. Clark can consult his record and tell you more about your car than you know yourself. He has all the numbers. He can tell whether he has housed a stolen machine or not when inquiry is made.

CAN WELD CAST-IRON.

Part of the equipment is an oxy-acetylene welder. By the so-called oxy-acetylene process, cast-iron is welded as quickly and as efficiently as steel. With the acetylene flame, they produce a fusing temperature of from 4000 degrees F. to 5000 degrees F., which is more than double the heat made by any solid fuel known. This puts the "fixin's" to any kind of a casting, and in hundreds of cases is a tremendous saving to auto owners and users of any kind of machinery. Don't pay half the price of a new machine for a new casting, but bring the broken part to Clark, and he will weld it so it will be just as good as before, and in some cases better. He can restore worn parts and can weld any metal in common use today.

Everything Reduced to System. Keeps a Record of Your Car and All Work Done on It. Big Stock of Accessories. Presents His Garage History in Interesting Exterior and Interior Views

THEY KNOW THE INSIDE.

Mr. Clark's eight years of actual experience has been added to a natural mechanical bent. It is natural for him to like machinery, and to understand machinery, and this natural faculty has rendered him good service during these eight years. Not only does he know the inside of a machine himself, but he employs only competent help. The wages he pays run as high as $35 per week, but this he is willing to do if he can get the best help that is to be had. He never asks a patron to entrust a high-priced machine to an inexperienced and incompetent man. He is a fair average auto-owner as at the mercy of the repair man, but he also knows that you cannot fool the sad auto owner more than half a dozen times. For that reason, if for none other, Mr. Clark says it pays to be square with a patron and give him honest work and a fair deal.

HE KEEPS EVERYTHING ON HAND.

Clark is rarely caught short handed. He has gotten into the habit of keeping on hand all kinds of staple accessories and a fair quantity of repairs. When your Ford goes onto the operating table and an inspection of its internal anatomy reveals broken parts, the workman has but to walk into the stock department and get what is needed. If the car is a Ford or a Packard "Two Six" they can handle it just the same and render efficient service. The stock of accessories is large and all are of standard makes. Any attachment for a car brought in at the garage must be right. If it isn't, it will be made right.

A LADIES' REST ROOM.

There, in that corner, in the front of the building, is a ladies' rest room, fitted up with all modern conveniences, chairs, rockers, lounges, lavatories and everything needed. This is an accessory too often lacking in a garage.

A PAINT SHOP CONNECTED.

In connection with the garage and warehouse, there is a paint shop, steam heated for the repainting and varnishing of cars in the year.

A LARGE WAREROOM.

Adjoining this building, there is a fire-proof warehouse 18x90 feet, and which is a valuable adjunct to the establishment. It is occupied most of the time by those who have goods to store.

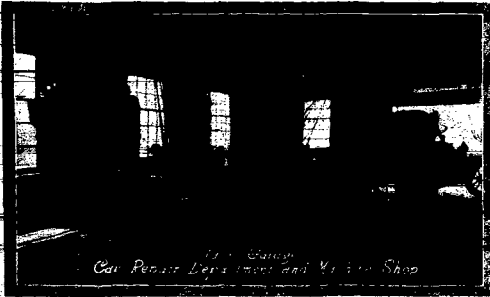

STEAM-HEATED STORAGE.

Here is a fine, steam-heated room for storage. Leave your car here and it is safe. Pillagers or frost cannot get at it here. It never freezes here. Those big pipes which cling to the ceiling are steam arteries from the big boiler which, day after day, night after night, pumps fine into January.

THE PICTURES ON THE WALL.

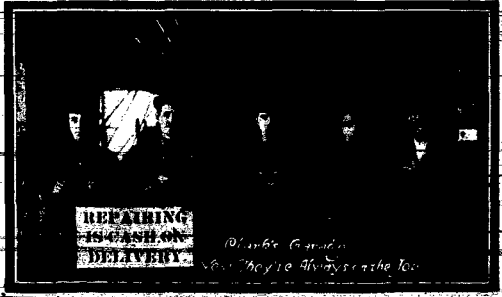

Picture, shade in, better than words. We can tell you about it, but you have a better idea when you have seen the picture. Therefore I hang up here on this wall a picture of the place where Clark began his operations. By a somewhat strange coincidence, Clark began in the same building where the Normal school began, and the X-Ray incubator factory began. Beside the picture of the first building, we hang the picture of the present, but above these we present the present building in both exterior and interior views. We show the different departments and line up the mechanics for your inspection. Walk down through these columns and you will note quite a picture gallery which tells the whole story of the Clark Garage—its inception, its rise, and development to its present stage and proportions. Whenever there is anything the matter with your auto, drive in. Fair treatment and the best mechanics are on hand to give you the best possible service. And now, gentlemen, you are at liberty to go—but come again.

FRANK FRENCH.

Car Repair Department and Wash Shop

Every man is charged only for the actual time spent of his car and the actual repairs which actually go into his machine. A recording clock is used to keep tab on time. No work is lighted. No defects or poor workmanship covered up. They always expect to see the patron back.

the awful struggle, and that imperial beast that started the war, would forfeit their crowns. It is encouraging to note the unanimous and unqualified support accorded by newspapers to the government in the present crisis. Leading pacifist papers before war was declared have been quick to recognize the inevitable conflict and get behind the president with the firmest kind of endorsement.

Attempt to suicide has been considered a crime in different states with punishment fixed. But alienists have lately figured out that any sane and irresponsible, and therefore that an attempt at self-destruction should be regarded a disease needing treatment rather than a crime deserving punishment.

One of the benefits of international complications lies in the firm stand to set chronic idlers to work and make them of some use to society. In Chicago, police officers, acting as a general order, have notified all loungers in saloons and elsewhere that they must secure employment within ten days on penalty of being sent to the work houses. The army to be charged the army of parasites and parasites scattered mainly through the cities and make them in a measure useful, is salutary and encouraging.

The report of K. C. Gaynor, civil engineer of Sioux City that ample drainage preliminary to paving can be established at a cost greatly below that hitherto estimated, encourages the belief that there will be little delay in starting actual work on the improvement. Mr. Gaynor is the man who planned and superintended construction of Wayne's sewerage system, and people here have confidence in his judgment and ability. Mr. Gaynor says few small towns would be paved if they had to suffer the great cost for drainage proposed here. He believes a less elaborate and costly system will fully meet requirements and give satisfaction.

People of different nationalities become more closely unified, striving together to uphold the escutcheon of a great, free and independent nation. The result will strengthen ties of sympathy and interest. The world will force habits of industry and stimulate production in all lines of agriculture and manufacture. It will arouse mental energy and character building. It will mean more autonomy and freedom from waste. Besides the good this country will do in lifting burdens from oppressed people in Europe, and giving them more progressive and more humane governments, it will teach its own people valuable lessons in duty and service.

The place will be occupied by William Wagner.

The cantata which was to have been given at the Grace church Easter Sunday was held last Sunday. It was postponed on account of the weather making it impossible for the children to get to church to practice the day before Easter. Returning home on Friday evening with the week's provisions, he suffered a paralytic stroke and slipped to the ground. About a half hour later, he was found by August Behmer, who brought him to the local doctor's office, where he remained until he was taken to Norfolk on Saturday morning. Max Lenser was born June 27, 1885, in Hoskins vicinity, on the John Lenser homestead. He grew to manhood in the vicinity and was always known to be an industrious, upright and likable man. On April 7, 1915, he was united in marriage to Miss Dorothy Tiedtje who survives him. Burial was on the Thursday afternoon from the Germania Lutheran church in Hoskins village cemetery, by the Rev. Results are what the American people want, and if Roosevelt could make the campaign more effective and thus shorten the war by going into Europe at the head of a group of American soldiers, they would be glad to have him do it. But it is up to those charged with authority and responsibility. It is up to them to figure out and determine the best policy to pursue—whether it would be advisable to send an army into Europe or not.

Texas is reported to have looked after the onion supply in a very satisfactory manner. The crop in that state is said to be twenty percent larger than usual. One hundred car loads are now ready for shipment to outside markets. Thus, through the encouraging production of Texas, there is assurance of a plentiful supply of onions. Besides having a very pungent and powerfully demonstrative odor, the onion is beautifully and wonderfully tinted. Considering the delicate coloring, it seems to have to do more. But these are war times, and the artistic cannot be allowed to outweigh the demands of appetite. Therefore, fall to and eat onions to the limit of physical endurance. By feeding grain alone you over-feed part of the chick's body and under-feed other parts. Grain feed supplies an excess of heat and energy but is deficient in elements that make blood, nerves, bone, lean meat and feathers.

Only chick food contains an abundance of the very elements which grain feed lacks—and thus all parts of the chick get maximum nourishment.

VICTORY SCORED BY WAYNE HIGH SCHOOL

Members of the Wayne high school debating team, being Orin Coon, Virginia Bowen and Donald Gildersleeve, won a unanimous verdict from the judges in the debate with the Creighton high school team at that place Saturday evening.

The question, "Resolved, that the United States Should Abandon the Monroe Doctrine," was discussed, and it was the same question thrashed out in all the high school debating contests in the state this season.

In the debate with Bloomfield in Wayne a few weeks ago, the local team won for the affirmative. In the late contest with Creighton, the Wayne team handled the negative triumphantly. The Wayne team goes to Lyons April 27 to debate the students of that place. Lyons had the negative in the previous meeting each side, the question, "At Lyons, Wayne will uphold the negative." The judges of the Lyons debate will pass on the winner as the champion of this district and the victor will go to Lincoln May 12 to be one of twelve champions from the twelve districts of the state for a final contest. Wayne hopes to get in on the honor.

The debate at Creighton was spirited and interesting from start to finish. The audience was attentive, and the disputants were at their best. The Wayne team was accompanied by Sam O. R. Bowen and Elsie Miner, Clyde Mackin, Ernest Seiderstrom and Alvin Kennick, high school students. The unanimous verdict shows, as in all the previous debates, that the Wayne debaters acquitted themselves. The judges were Prof. Charles W. Taylor, principal of teachers' college high school, university of Nebraska, L. E. Fox, chief of Hooper, Neb., and W. L. Hepler of Edmore, Okla. At the close of the debate, the students were treated to a cordial reception by Creighton teachers and students, and the victory was thoroughly appreciated.

Much credit is due the intelligent and painstaking efforts put forth by Sam Bowen in leading the students. The team's preparation, and the city hopes and beliefs they will carry away the honors in the coming debate at Lyons.

REV. SAM W. SMALL IN SERMON HERE SUNDAY

Rev. Sam W. Small lectured on "The Sam's Water Wagon" at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The church was well filled with an interested audience, which very frequently interrupted the speaker with hearty applause and uproarious laughter.

Rev. W. L. Gaston presided and after the audience had sung "America" and Rev. S. N. Cross had led in prayer, he introduced the lecturer whom he paid a very glowing tribute.

For twenty-five years, Sam Small has been a national character. He won his name and place on the American platform in connection with the late Sam Jones. Together they lectured and held evangelistic meetings from the Atlantic to the Pacific. They were both strong characters and each possessed an oratorical style that caught the public ear and gave them great hearings wherever they went. They were typical southerners, with all the pyrotechnics, generally disavowed by southern orators. Jones has been dead for several years, but Small still storms the galleries. "He is now in the center of the national prohibition movement," he said, "and has just been elected to the Washington, D. C. in company with half a dozen others he is now touring the country in the interest of national prohibition, which Rev. Small declares is coming and will be here in bone dry form by 1920."

During his address he remarked that this is called a christian nation, but a man had to have a sufficient imagination and slight regard for truth if he labels this a christian nation. "Suppose," he said, "some angel would come down to this part of the earth and sending up the dome of the capitol would shout so that all could hear him and all understand that God Almighty was very anxious to see what a christian nation looks like and wanted you to return to pack up what you have got and go up there and put on a parade. Take all of your schools all your breweries, all your beer, all your saloons and crooners, all your hangouts, and all your hotels and show them all off. I guess that St. Peter would get a little of us him to see that bunch coming. I would like that they would have a lot to find a location for that show up there. It would take more hands than they have got up there to keep the angels from stampeding." "Yes, this is a christian nation."

He then outlined the growth of the temperance movement with its early beginning and paid eloquent tribute to each state as it came into the dry column. He said that Maine had prohibition for sixty-six years without a minute's let-up. Maine was the first.

He mentioned that date for the first time that it was born. Those were the only two big things that happened that year.

Sterling Morton in founding Arbor Day and to the other founders of the state which this year reaches its semi-centennial. Early in the afternoon a parade will begin the exercises which will include speeches at Morton park and an evening meeting at the Overland theater. This combined celebration promises to be one of the best of all the exercises connected with the semi-centennial. Nebraska from all over this corner of the state will attend in large numbers with a liberal sprinkling of visitors from more distant counties. Nebraska City is one of the most attractive places in the state in the spring season. It can be reached easily by railroad and automobile. Why You Should Use A National Vacuum Washer

BECAUSE it washes much quicker, does it much cheaper and with a great deal less work to the operator.

WHY DOES IT WASH QUICKER?

BECAUSE the rapid action of the absorbing hot water and studs through the soiled clothes forces the dirt out. The agitation of the hot water strikes the dirt and immediately, two to six minutes will remove the dirt from any fabric that can be cleaned with soap and water.

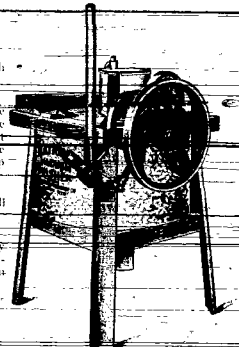

WHY DOES IT WASH CLEANER?

BECAUSE by the vacuum principle the dirt is all sucked out instead of rubbing part of it into the fabric.

WHY WITH LESS WORK TO OPERATOR?

BECAUSE by the vacuum principle it requires only power to handle the water and the clothes. This eliminates the wear on the fabric, and makes the machine run much easier.

VICTORY SCORED BY WAYNE HIGH SCHOOL

Members of the Wayne high school debating team, being Orvin Gustafson, Eugene Howers and Donald Gilterslev, won a unanimous verdict from the judges in the debate with the Creighton high school team at that place Saturday evening. The question resolved, "The United States Should Abandon the Monroe Doctrine," was discussed, and in the same question thrashed over in all the high school debating

In the debate with Bloomfield in Wayne a few weeks ago, the local team won for the affirmative. In the late contest with Creighton the Wayne team handled the negative triumphantly. The Wayne team goes to Lyons April 27 to debate the students of that place. Lyons had defeated Poca and Emerson, winning each side of the question. At Lyons, Wayne will uphold the negative. The judges of the Lyons district are the champion of this district, and such victor will go to Lincoln May 12 to be one of twelve champions from the twelve districts of the state for final contest. Wayne hopes to beat in on the busch.

The debate at Creighton was spirited and interesting from start to finish. The audience was attentive, and the disputants were at their best. The Wayne team was accompanied by Supt. O. R. Bowen and Eloise Miner, Edna Macklin, Ernest Nedderstrom and Alvin Rennick, high school students. The unanimous verdict shows how well the Wayne debaters acquitted themselves. The judges were: Prof. Charles W. Taylor, principal of Creighton; Leonard H. School, University of Nebraska; L. Everett Carr, of Beaver City, Neb., and W. L. Haylor of Edmund, Okla. At the close of the debate a reception was given by Creighton teachers and students, and the hospitality was thoroughly appreciated. Much credit is due the intelligent and courteous assistance furnished by Supt. Bowen in training the students. The debaters deserve the congratulation received, and the city hopes and believes they will carry away the honors in the coming debate at Lyons.

REV. SAM W. SMALL IN SERMON HERE SUNDAY

Rev. Sam W. Small lectured on "Lure Sam's Water Wagon" at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The church was well filled with an interested audience, which very frequently interrupted the speaker with hearty applause and uproarious laughter.

Rev. A. L. Guston presided, and after the audience had sung "America" and Rev. S. X. Cross had led in prayer, he introduced the lecturer to whom he paid a very glowing tribute.

For twenty-five years—Sam Small has been a national character. He won his name and place on the American platform in connection with the late Sam Hughes. Together they lectured and held evangelistic meetings from the Atlantic to the Pacific. They were both strong characters and each possessed an epigrammatic style that caught the public ear and gave them great hearings wherever they went. They were typical southerners, with all the pyrotechnics generally displayed by southern orators. Times has been dead for several years, but Small still storms the galleries. He is now in the employ of the National Anti-Saloon League which he is headquarters in Washington, D. C. In company with half a dozen others he is now touring the country in the interest of national prohibition, which Rev. Sam Small declares is coming and will be here in bone dry form by 1920.

During his address he remarked that this is called a christian nation, but a man had to have a nightmare for an imagination and slight regard for truth if he labels this a christian nation. "Suppose," he said, "some angel would come down to this part of the city and standing on the dome of the capitol would shout so that all could hear him—and all understand, that God Almighty was very anxious to see what christian nation looks like. I guess too, that they would have a job to find a location for that show up there." It would take twice as many men as they have got up there to keep the angels from laughing. Yes, this is a christian nation.

He then outlined the growth of the temperance movement. His slow beginning and rapid growth is retold in each state as it came into the dry column. He said that Maine had prohibition for sixty-six years, without a minute's let-up. Maine was the first to do that in the year that I was born. Those were the only two big things that happened that year.

The recent disposition of the interstate commerce commission to allow some increase in railway rates has resulted in an organized campaign among shippers to resist any increase.

War preparations on the part of the federal government have supplied a new stimulus to various lines of production. Reluctance to buy at prevailing high prices and fear of still higher prices in the future are reflected in current trade. The net effect of these conflicting influences is continued activity.

President electors are eliminated from the ballot and instead are named by the state convention of the political parties.

Once there was a man who had such a long title that he became tired carrying it around, and became worthless. Soon after he lost his position, and with his name went his title, of course.

15,000 Tried and Failed to Get a HUDSON SUPER-SIX

Last year, thousands of buyers failed to get a Hudson Super-Six. We were too far out-sold. Yet no car above $1100 had so large an output. More men, we fear, will be disappointed this year. The Super-Six is better known. It holds all worth-while records. Over 28,000 owners are urging friends to get it. And all Motorium must now concede its supremacy. Look it up now if you think you want the greatest car that's built.

THE ECONOMY OF IT. Men buy the Super-Six because of endurance. Its speed, its power, its hill-climbing ability are all interesting factors. But the greatest of all is economy. This invention—patented by Hudson—added 20 per cent to motor efficiency. It nearly doubled a motor's endurance. All by nearly ending friction, the cause of motor wear. This year we add a gasoline saver in the form of radiator shutters. We add a motor-mounting device that absorbs all vibrations which adjust itself to every engine speed. And we put an engine primer at the driver's hand. Remember that this motor is patented. No one else has it. It has won every record that counts. In the great endurance test it broke all records by 52 per cent. The whole car, as now built, is worthy of this motor. Every part is an engineering masterpiece. The most artistic bodies ever built have been created for it. Unique devices add to its economy. A lesser car may bring you long regret. Find out the facts while you can get an early spring delivery. Your nearest Hudson dealer now has the latest models.

BOYS ARE INJURED
—THE FIRST OF WEEK

The 23-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Maston of Wayne lay unconscious for some time Monday as the result of being kicked by a horse, presumably at the pit of the stomach.

TEACHER EMPLOYED.

At a meeting of the board of education last Thursday night, Paul Hattersleben of Lincoln, was employed to teach mathematics and handle athletics in the high school next year. Mr. Hattersleben was awarded the letter "A" for his superior record for the past year.

and during the noon hour, and on his outside, a fire was found the child lying on the ground unconscious. A doctor was called, but no broken bones or serious injuries were found. Apparently the child has completely recovered.

Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock Walter Kree, aged 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kree, fell in a dugout in a picker fence and cut a deep gash in his throat. He was hurried to the hospital and it was found he barely escaped severing the windpipe. Six stitches were necessary to close the wound. The lad was able to be taken home Sunday evening.

COMPARING PRICES.

Fremont Tribune: Ed Gurney came into my office the other day and asked me to compare the price of 1896, containing the local markets at Laurel, where he then lived, moved and had his being; also where as a young fellow scarcely out of college, he was the focal oracle who was always brought out to answer the explosive populists and free-silver men who crowded the other gold bugs off the boards in their derangement of the sacred doctrine of sixteen-to-one. These market quotations fairly took his breath.

PROPOSED PAVING IS MADE MORE FEASIBLE

K. C. Gaynor who furnished the plans and supervised the work for the sewerage system in Wayne a number of years ago, held a conference with the city board of public works last Friday afternoon and gave assurance that ample drainage for the entire city preliminary paving could be secured for not exceeding $10,000. Mr. Gaynor has data on Wayne in his office, and he has been asked to use it in preparing plans for adequate drainage. These plans will be completed in a short time. With the greatly decreased cost for drainage promised, it is believed the council will not be delayed in passing the ordinance. Mr. Gaynor said few towns would be paved if the system of drainage were as elaborate and costly as that of Lincoln and here.

WARSHIP AGAINST FREASON.

Washington, April 17.—All persons in the United States, citizens and aliens, are warned in a proclamation issued by the President, Woodrow Wilson, that treasonable acts or attempts to shield those committing such acts will be vigorously prosecuted by the government. The proclamation states: "Treason, carrying statutes, provisions of the constitution and decisions of the courts and declares that the acts described therein are committed within the borders of the United States or elsewhere. Far reaching importance attaches to the direction of the warning to aliens and the declaration that resident aliens as well as citizens owe allegiance to the United States and therefore are equally subject to the laws against treason and like crimes."

MRS. THIELMANN.

Mrs. Frank Thielmann, who had been seriously ill for several weeks, passed away at the St. Joseph hospital in Omaha last Saturday, and the remains were brought to Wayne Monday evening. Funeral services were held at St. Mary's Catholic church Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Father William Kearns officiating. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Thielmann was born in Hagen, Westphalia, Germany, August 18, 1868. She came to the United States in 1890, living in New Jersey during the first year. In 1894 she was married to Frank Thielmann. They moved to Wayne and have lived here ever since. In the family are three sons and two daughters, all of whom are living. They are Frank, Ernest and William Thielmann and Helen and Elsie Thielmann.

AT WAR. The United States is in a very different position from a neutral. Bomb-pullers may now be gripped with an iron hand. Thy presence sweet
Still through long years of vigil I may share,
For if from that enchanted spirit-land
Thy healthful thought into my soul
May shine,
(Even though thy voice be still, and cold thy hand.)
To lift my life and make it pure
Thy presence, O my friend,
Then through thy place on earth
A void must be.
Beloved friend, thou art not dead
to me.

More than ever we are learning that a little investment in paint is a mighty profitable investment, whether it is for inside or outside work," says Padlog. "It does not pay to try to skimp in the price, because paint economy can be measured by service value alone. And the better the paint, the longer it lasts the investment. You can put full dependence on our lines of paints and varnishes, because they give the sort of service that means unusual value for your money."

People Ought to Die of Old Age Only, barring Accidents

The reason they do not is because they are diseased. Nature intended that man should round out a full career and end his earthly existence by the natural wearing out of the body.

The reason people do not do this as the rule rather than the exception, is because nature is prevented by some disarrangement of the mechanism from uninterrupted activity in the body.

Ninety-five per cent of human diseases are due to pressure on nerves by displaced bones of the spine. The pressure interferes with the function of nerves, which is to carry natural health and energy from the brain to all body parts.

Inflammation, pain and bodily distresses are the result of such interference. The unnatural conditions will continue until the pressure is raised from the nerves involved. It is the work of the Chiropractor to adjust displaced spinal bones to their proper places to overcome the causative fault. When this is done, the mechanism of the spine will be in natural order and the brain will supply the force that will recover the victim from ailments suffered.

Health will then be the rule, as the body disease will go out as its cause will have been processes will be functioning normally.

I HAVE you ever had occasion to visit several different hospitals and contrast the atmosphere of one with another? Did you notice that at one place doors were slammed, needed articles could never be found at important times and annoyances, trivial yet none the less provoking, were continually occurring?

AT another hospital everything runs smoothly. Every reasonable request is granted. The individual tastes of patients are noted and respected. Meals are served on time. Why the difference?

IN ONE place service is hit and miss; things are just done, that's all. In the second, a system, worked out from a careful study of consistent demands, obtains. The public seldom stops to consider the time and effort expended to have everything just right. But good service is the only service that ever pays.

Watch Your Mouth!!!

It may be that in its diseased condition lies the secret of your ill health and lack of vitality. Every bit of food which goes to make your body what it is passes through your mouth. It stands to reason, then, if it is on unhealthy condition, its germs are going to be transmitted to the rest of the body.

Decaying teeth and ulcerating mouths are the seat of many a disease which leads to the operation table or worse.

ECONOMY IN SHOPPING. Omaha Bee: Whether the country is at war or in peace, people must live, and to live they must buy the necessities and comforts of life.

The only way to economize in buying is to purchase the best goods at the lowest market prices, and the only way to take advantage of special price offers is to watch the announcements day by day of merchants who advertise in the newspapers.

At no time more than the present will careful reading of the advertising columns of the family newspaper pay better dividends. Not to take advantage of low priced offerings of what you need is the same, in result, as reckless extravagance of what you do not need.

Anything that you for those to remember who want to economize in shopping is that the live up-to-date merchant, who must have volume of business to justify selling on small margins, is the merchant who makes use of newspaper advertising to command the attention of large numbers of patrons.

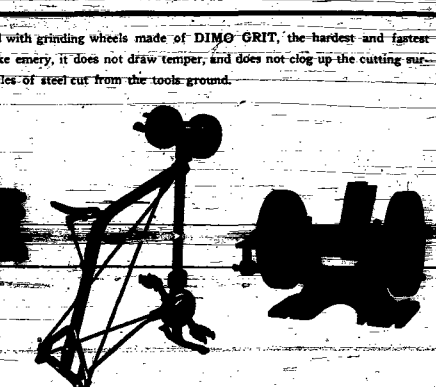

Only by scanning the advertising columns carefully as the new columns will our readers get full returns from their newspaper.

Only persons thought to be unfriendly to the United States will be questioned and those found to be in opposition to the government will be taken to jail as well as all forward-carrying weapons or explosives.

All light houses on the great lakes were today taken over by Capt. W. A. Moffat of the Great Lakes Training Station, Detroit.

MORE FOOD CROPS NEEDED

Washington, April 16.—Fresh impetus was given to the nation-wide campaign for more food crops today by President Wilson's plea for unity of action in furthering America's success in the world war. The president's appeal, addressed to "his fellow countrymen," urged all the people to join in making the nation a unit for the preservation of its ideals and for the triumph of democracy but particularly emphasized the need of growers' concern trating their energies on planting of crops so that the United States might fulfill its task of feeding the armies and peoples who are fighting Germany.

"Without abundant food alike for the armies and the peoples of war," said the appeal, "the whole great enterprise upon which we have embarked will fail. Upon the farmers of the country, therefore, in large measure rests the fate of the nation."

APPEAL TO U. P. EMPLOYEES

Danaher, April 17.—Following the plea of President Wilson that the people of this nation bend every effort toward conserving its productiveness and contribute resources of all kinds at this time of war, the Union Pacific through General Manager Jeffers has issued circulars to 15,000 of its employes between Omaha and Ogden and on the branches urging the men immediately to plant gardens as large as they can secure and handle.

This circular reviews the president's statement of Sunday (April 15) that the whole world is threatened with crop shortage, including this country, and that the men of the army and navies of allied countries must be fed in order to defeat Germany. It further details three ways in which the employes may start such gardens. First they are urged to use their own ground, if any is in their possession; second, they are advised to use the Union Pacific right-of-way, if this has not already been taken up by any other. If the first two suggestions are impossible it is suggested that they rent or lease lots and urge their neighbors to do the same.

LAW DRAFTED TO FIX FOOD PRICES IN U. S.

Washington, April 17.—Legislation to empower the council of national defense to supervise distribution of food and other necessities, by maximum and minimum prices, was being framed today as one of the results of yesterday's conference between the great Chicago meat packers and Secretary Houston of the department of agriculture.

Headed by J. Ogden Armour, a delegation of foremost packers including Edwin Morris, E. A. Cahaly, Thomas E. Wilson and L. F. Swift, assured Secretary Houston of their utmost cooperation and voluntarily proposed that the government take steps to fix prices through one council of national defense. The licensing of food distribution agencies so the government may trace any movements of middlemen or others to monopolistic supply increases in price, is one of the clauses of the plan the packers proposed.

Agree to Minimum Profit

As their own business defending the nation the packers offered a plan to debate their matters at a minimum of profit to themselves and one of them said it would be saving to the public at least $100,000,000 a year. Secretary Houston favored the packers' proposal. Whenever there was evidence of price fixing or monopoly of supply the council would fix maximum and minimum prices to check it.

FOOD SPECULATION

Norfolk Daily News: James A. Patton, the Chicago "wheat king," has retired from the field of speculation "for patriotic reasons." He declares his "better than speculation" must seem in this critical situation, and that cash alone must govern all commodity markets. Along with him several other Chicago grain speculators announce their retirement.

They're quite right about it. This is certainly no time for any attempted "corners" of the nation's food. It is no time for manipulation of the price of any necessary commodity. As a nation and as individuals, we are going to find the cost of living and fighting high enough this year, without any boosting of prices for private profit.

It would be well if all the big speculators in the country would follow Mr. Patton's example. And if they are not moved by "patriotic reasons," as he professes to be, they may be moved by considerations less ideal, but no less effective. The government itself about the matter from now on. Any conspicuous meddling with the normal market for the necessities of life is going to bring down on the speculator the strong and relentless hand of Uncle Sam.

The little speculators, too, might well follow the example. They are almost countless in number and in methods of operation, and their total effect on consumers' expenses is far greater than that of the big gamblers. The law can seldom be enforced against them, and appropriate thing if every citizen who has anything to do with the price of the necessities of life would adopt, as a patriotic duty, the principle of taking no profit for which he has not given an equivalent service.

Some politicians get about as effective as these crows. We once saw five crows sitting on a scarecrow.

MISS MAYO PLEASURES AS AN IMPERSONATOR

Miss Pauline Lucile Mayo, of Lincoln, in presenting Pollyanna, daughter of Porter's speaking story, to the Methodist church, Wednesday evening, showed Wayne people how to play the "glad" game in a way altogether delightful.

The impersonator started speaking from person to person, portraying with graceful ease such diverse types as the rheumatic gardener, "Old Tom," the lifelong invalid, Sue, the crabbed old peddler, John Pendleton, the cheery little Pollyanna, and her embittered aunt, Miss Harrington.

The listeners saw and heard all the characters, because Miss Mayo lived each part. Her sincerity held the audience during the whole time that Pollyanna was reminiscing the Harrington household, and in fact, the whole community by persistently finding "something" in everything to be glad about.

At the outset, the little orphan, her mouth watering for ice cream, scrounged about for a doll, which she didn't care she didn't eat, couldn't make her stomach ache, "a philosophy she first learned from her father, who when she drew a pair of crutches from the mission box instead of a doll, suggested that she could at least be glad because she didn't need them.

Again, Pollyanna broke through Mrs. Snow's stiff party by announcing that she ought to be glad if two of her folks were not like her. She cheered Pendleton, when he lay in bed with a broken leg, by assisting him to get up, and when she realized she would never walk on account of an automobile accident she smiled and explained that she was glad she had had legs for walking, when she couldn't have had them to take her to the circus.

ADADEQUATE SUPPLY OF FOOD IS NECESSARY

Lincoln, April 14.—Resolutions adopted by the board of managers of the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture today urge the farmer to do his utmost to aid the nation in this period of food crisis.

Having at heart the agricultural interests not only of the state of Nebraska but of the United States, the resolutions declare "and realizing that in the world crisis we are today necessarily in this manner to make the global harvest for the feeding of our own citizens, but also to help furnish food for its allies."

Resolved, That upon the farmer rest in large measure the final responsibility of winning the war in which we are now involved. The importance to the nation of an adequate food supply, especially for the necessities of the American farmer. Therefore, the man who tills the soil and supports the soldier in the field, and the family at home, is rendering as noble and patriotic a service as the man who bears the brunt of the battle.

"The American farmer has long shown his ability to produce more food per man and at a lower cost than any other farmer in the world, but he has never had to do his best. He needs to do his best now. This is not the time in which to experiment with new and untried crops and practices. It is very important that the farmer devote his principal efforts to the production of such crops and the employment of such methods as are well established in the country, and as are likely to yield the maximum return in food and clothing material.

WORK TO COMMENCE ON BIG DRAINAGE DITCH

Wakefield, Neb., April 14.—Preparations are rapidly being completed to start work on the large drainage ditch. It will require about six weeks more to put the equipment in shape to begin digging.

R. Hoffman of Cambridge, O., general superintendent of construction, is here with a force of ten men to operate the construction machinery. The men will room and board in the boat cabin on the ditcher.

A plan is now under way to organize a separate district for the purpose of extending a boundary west past the George Johnson and William Driskell farms. A meeting will be held today to act on the proposition. At the annual meeting of the ditching association in Pendler Tuesday the present officers were re-elected. L. B. Haskell, H. D. Anthony, George Childs and M. Von Segren went to Pendler to vote.

THE CORRECT AUTHORS.

One's name paper poet writes some things that are not his and lives, but it gets away from him. It is taken by a literary thief, passed off as his own, and finally travels about over the country, appearing to be recognized by the people to no credit at all. About fifty years ago T. L. McCarty, farming a little paper in eastern Iowa, wrote and printed an "Elegy" which began like this:

"There is no death—the stars go down
To rise upon some farther shore—
And light in heaven's jeweled crown
They shine forevermore."

It was recognized on sight as a classic, began the rounds and has been going ever since. An avowed contemporary across the line in Wisconsin credited the poem to Lord Byron, and the real author lost out for a number of years. Even the late Dr. Lyman B. Sessions, the credited with the poem he didn't write.

Same with our own beloved Judd Mortimer Lewis of the Houston Post, a number of years ago he wrote a poem entitled "Forget It." It received instant recognition as real poetry, and careless newspaper men used it without credit. It has now reached the "author's unknown" stage, when the author should be known and acknowledged in every instance. Here is the poem and we hope interested readers will remember it.

"If you see a tall fellow ahead of the crowd,
A leader of men, marching fearless and proud,
And you know of a tale whose mere telling alone
Would create his proud head to anguish he loved,
It's a pretty good plan to forget it.

"If you know of a skeleton hidden away
In a closet and guarded and kept
From the day
In the dark, and whose showing would cause grief and sorrow and lie long dismay,
It's a pretty good plan to forget it.

"If you know of a thing that will darken the joy
Of a man or a woman, a girl or a boy,
That will wipe out a smile, or the least way annoy,
A fellow or cause any gladness to ecluse
It's a pretty good plan to forget it.

"Within the next sixty days the food situation in this country will have been established. We urge the importance of the immediate attention of the people of the state, particularly including the farmers' organizations, commercial organizations, religious and social societies and the press of Nebraska, that all may begethery now with the farmer in performing the patriotic duty of providing and conserving food, because of the world shortage of food, it is scarcely possible that the production of staple crops by the farmers of the United States can be increased this year. There is every reason to believe that a generous price will be paid for the harvest of their fields.

"For the districts where the wheat is winter killed replanting is suggested with oats and corn and such an climatic conditions may determine. Where barley and oats are grown in this area, they should be planted to the maximum that can be effectively handled. An important increase in our food supply may be made by enlarging the area planted to new beans and by stimulating in every reasonable way an increase in the area planted to potatoes, especially for local use. While it is important to utilize available land in the state, small grains and other crops, care should be taken to avoid undue encroachments in areas used for pasturage or hay, which is used for live stock production. Therefore, be it further

ONE MAN DROWNED.

Ponca Journal-Header.—Clyde Coates, Berwyn, Missouri, and Dolan Alarie, who live near the Missouri river on the Nebraska side in Dixon county, crossed the river and went to Elk Point Tuesday. On their return, while crossing the river, the boat they were rowing struck a snag. The men, thinking the boat was going to capsize, succeeded in getting onto the roots of an old tree that was in the river and above the water, the boat getting away and going down stream.

It is supposed that he was thrown as he has not been seen since he left the tree. Coates and Pearson remained on the tree all night and were rescued Tuesday morning in a critical condition by neighbors who heard their calls.

AN EDITOR'S TROUBLES.

Albion News: A couple of weeks ago we received a nicely written account of a wedding in the country. It was written in a friendly and complimentary manner and notwithstanding the writer's name was not signed it was apparently genuine and we printed the notice. It is through a mistake, and no such wedding occurred. If the identity of the writer can be proved, there is likely to be serious trouble. Hereafter we shall stick to the rule of printing nothing, the identity of which is not known.

REPAIRMEN ALWAYS READY

Somewhere along the line, the branch of a tree, a strong wind or an electric storm may put the wires out of order. But nearby is a telephone man ready to hurry to the spot, so that the line may be quickly repaired and service restored.

The amount you are charged when you make a long distance call is to help maintain the line, to facilitate the payment of interest on the investment in the equipment used for long distance, to aid in the payment of taxes on the property and assist in paying the employees' wages.

We endeavor to obtain only such a return on the investment in our long distance lines as could be earned on the money if it were invested in any other business involving equal risk.

What You Pay For On a Long Distance Call

In making a long distance telephone call you have the use of more than merely the wires over which you talk.

The wires are only a small part of the equipment provided for a long distance call. There must be switchboards, terminal rooms, pole lines and many other kinds of apparatus such as dynamos, batteries, calculagraphs, testing apparatus, repeaters and loading coils to magnify the voice currents, and other expensive equipment generally unseen by the telephone user.

In making a long distance call you have the services of two or more operators who connect you and guard both ends of the line while you talk.

In addition to the operators there are other employees watching the equipment in the central offices and repairmen guarding the long distance wires.

The high cost of living makes every tillable acre more valuable and this is the time to go and look over the prospects in Wisconsin.

Without charge, we will be glad to assist you in locating a piece of land that will suit you.

WAR, THE SCHOOLMASTER

Kansas City Times: The war has taught Belgium a lot about food values. "The chief workers tell" is a whole population talking about calories and proteins and other aspects of the problem. Perhaps war will become America's schoolmaster in domestic science.

There have been two difficulties in the food situation in this country. One has been that most of us haven't known anything about foods except from the standpoint of taste. The other has been that when we did think we were learning—we were chiefly getting information that things are not to be eaten by people with hobbies. So they expatiated their prejudices against oranges or rice or white bread or what-not. And we have been disposed to accept what they said as law and gospel. Wasn't it printed in a book? In consequence we have gone along chewing our food by a stop-watch, avoiding this and eating that in accordance with a diet that had no scientific backing whatever.

Fortunately in the last few years chemists and medical men have been doing some work in foods that is worth while. They still have to be humble because there is an enormous amount remaining to be learned. But in a general way we know enough about food values so that we can guide our production and consumption intelligently if we wish to.

We know now the reason why the race has come to rely on the great staples of wheat and corn and potatoes and rice and milk and eggs and meat. We know what food must safely be substituted for another in times of scarcity. We can distinguish the appetizers, like tomatoes and salads, from the substantial food like bread and meat. We are beginning to pay attention to relative costs and to see that when potatoes are high rice and beans may be substituted for them. Corn flour may advantageously be added to wheat flour up to a certain percentage, and that skin milk is in a class with steak.

The war is a great disseminator of this sort of information. Already it is being published by private publishing houses and by the department of agriculture. The next step of making the most of all resources is likely to make it popular in a way that would have been thought impossible a year or two ago.

THE LEAVEN OF LIBERTY.

Freemont Tribune: The spark that resulted in the explosion in Russia is creating some smoke in Germany. It will be a singular thing if this same spark of liberty does not result in blowing up the Hohenzollern throne, and along with it that of the Hapsburgs and the bloody block of the great empires.

It is evident that the people of Germany are learning of what happened in Russia. This is to be judged by the hard and fast course the kaiser expects to save his own face. He will not give up the throne until compelled to do so by a people seeking to be free from the yoke of kings and about ready to establish democracies upon the Russia continues to the end as it has begun it will prove the last nail in the coffin of Junkerdom and Kaiserism. The people of Germany are seeing it as they famish and starve, and the kaiser is promising something to be yielded, not now but in the future. The message of President Wilson to congress asking for a declaration of war, it is said, has been scattered over Germany by British flyers so that the German people are getting the benefit of that deathless document of democracy. It looks bad for the kaiser and the war lords when the people begin to ask for their rights. It is to guarantee them their liberties that we are entering this war. That is the one thing that stands out like Mars at Perihelion. It is to vindicate the right of self-government and to take away from kings and their counselors authority and power to plunge the world into war and to entail misery and woe upon the people. It is to establish democracies upon the ruins of kingdoms brought low by the pride of the few in trampling upon the rights of the many.

COMPLICATION OF PRICES.

Omaha Trade Exhibit: When we hear people talking about regulating the price of this or that commodity we often wonder if they stop to consider that prices are about as strong on one line and if you raise or lower one price arbitrarily you automatically raise or lower almost all other prices.

The price of butter depends on the price of leather, and the price of shoes depends on the price of leather so, indirectly the price paid for butter has something to do with the price paid for shoes.

If veal is selling for 15 cents per pound on the hoof, the price of all the things that go to make that veal, and the products thereof, will have to be low enough to induce the stock raiser to hold the calf and put into it the things required. Then the price of the finished product, beef, or butter or milk or hiles, etc., or all of them will have to be high enough to make the whole transaction profitable.

When cotton sells for 50 cents on the dock it has a bearing on the price of all things into which cotton is made, likewise all materials more or less competitive, as—linen, woolen, etc.

When the price of automobiles is low and people prosperous they buy the cars—that creates a demand for tires, tires create a demand for rubber and cotton; that demand, which is willing to pay, may force up the price of other things made of rubber or cotton. So, the price of steel and the efficiency of an automobile plant affect the price of gingham. The effect may be slight, but it is there.

When the farmer voices over the price of wheat when he has wheat to sell, he should remember that he will have to pay more for flour, for crackers, and for a lot of other things, because with wheat so profitable farmers would all grow wheat, and thereby create a shortage of those other things, and raise their price.

All things tend toward a level of adjustment. Things can't be far out of line for a long time, and no set of speculators, or government officials, or merchants, or farmers, or all of them combined, are going to change things very much.

NEBRASKA GRAIN FIELDS.

Lincoln Journal: Expert reports from the Nebraska grain fields continue to show a low condition of the crops. In the southeastern and the southwestern corners of the state there will be some winter wheat. In the heart of the wheat belt, extending all the way from Lincoln to Holdrege, the percentage of a full crop will be so small that nearly all of the fields will be turned over to oats, spring wheat, corn or some other crop. It is believed that the crop was in fair condition until the early days of February, although it was known that it entered the winter in weakened condition on account of a deficiency in the supply of moisture. The great damage appears to have been done by cold winds in the month of February. The percentage of winter-killed fields appears to be the largest in the experience of the state since it began to be an important producer of wheat.

SOLIDIFYING EFFECT OF WAR.

Hartington Herald: If it gains in no other respect, this nation is going to profit tremendously by reason of the uniting and solidifying effect which the declaration of war has had. No sooner was the news of our entry into the war than our citizens with one country and one flag. This is one of the great compensations for the frightful calamity of war. It unifies and solidifies, and makes a people one, and, when the hideous war clouds have passed over, the nation will be the stronger on account of the external danger by which it has been threatened.

Spring is looked upon by many as the most delightful season of the year, but this cannot be said of the Rheumatic. The cold and damp weather brings on rheumatic pains which are anything but pleasant. They can be relieved, however, by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

After things have changed, Germany—with her-sea ports all on the north, is no longer struggling for a port on the straits of Dover. Germany has given up the thought of expanding.
