Dr. J. J. Williams passed away while on an automobile trip with his wife and two other ladies Sunday afternoon. A few miles from town his car caused some trouble while trying to start it. By the time he arrived home a physician could reach his side but he had gone and nothing could be done in the hope of reviving him.

Dr. Williams was taken sick about three months ago and an operation was performed on one of his limbs. At the time his condition was considered very serious and his recovery doubtful. But he improved and he was finally able to come down town and circulate among his friends. Lately he had been driving his car. Sunday morning joy message in this poem were again emphasized at the end of the service when the quartet sang the stanzas as they had been arranged to music in the church hymnal.

Between fifty and sixty Masons headed the procession to Greenwood cemetery where Attorney A. R. Davis conducted the usual religious ceremonies for the lodge. Around wealth of flowers, the silent offerings of sympathizing friends and club members, life-long associates of Dr. Williams and his wife who sought to express kindly solicitude to the sorrowing wife.

The following acted as pallbearers: F. G. Philleo, W. M. Orr, John T. Bressler, H. F. Wilson, John Harrington, A. M. Jacobs, C. A. Chace and George A. Bost.

HERE FOR TWO DAYS

Charles Johnston, a country club expert from Happy Hollow, Omaha, was here on Tuesday and Friday of last week looking over the local club grounds east of town. He was very enthusiastic over the site which he considered one of the best in the state.

The directors of the club have bought a team of mules and hired a man by the month to get the ground into shape. It is thought that the work can be accomplished in about six weeks. A representative from a concrete house was here recently to bid on the construction of the cement dam, but as yet no contract has been let.

Among important subjects considered at the meeting of the city council Tuesday evening was that of the proposed opening of Logan street. A committee represented by Attorney A. R. Davis presented a bond signed by fifty-eight taxpayers guaranteeing payment of half the condemnation cost awarded by reason of opening the street, and half of all other expenses. Attorney G. H. An ordinance providing for the opening of Logan street was read for the first time.

The council decided to order installed by each water user a water meter, consumer to pay hereafter according to quantities used.

An ordinance was passed changing rates for use of electricity, the same being published in today's herald. It is noted that payments for service must be made at the city hall with discounts for so doing conceded. Failure of payment within a month after bill becomes due makes discontinuance of the service imperative.

An ordinance restricting pool tables was passed and ordered published.

J. G. Mines appeared before the council for the return of equipment needed by the fire department in connection with use of the new motor truck, and the request was granted.

The salaries for municipal officers were allowed, together with other bills.

Complaint has been made by Mrs. T. Y. Hayes regarding the stealing of two bicycle wheels, screws, bolts and a coaster brake, belonging to her son, Elmer. The thief paraded the building in which the bicycle was kept, and deliberately helped themselves. PURE BRED STOCK MEN IN ANOTHER SESSION

A meeting of the Wayne County Pure Bred Live Stock Breeders' association was held in the city hall Saturday April 21. The president of the association, V. L. Dayton, presided. Twelve members were present and one new member, Roy S. Jeffrey, joined the association.

After reading and adopting the by-laws, a general discussion followed on the object of the association, which is to interest all breeders of pure bred stock and get them to cooperate and advertise and work together. There are between fifty and sixty pure bred stock dealers in Wayne county.

In order to increase the membership, ten members were appointed as directors and it is their plan to get in touch with the pure bred dealers in the precinct and try to get them out to the meeting. The ones who have attended speak highly of the organization.

It is planned to have a "booster" some time in August or September for the members and for people outside who are interested in the movement. The annual meeting of the association is held the second Friday in January.

The expense of joining the association is one dollar, and annually an assessment is levied, a certain amount per head for all pure bred live stock. The rate of one cent per head for chickens, three cents per head for hogs and five cents per head for cattle will be assessed. Twenty dollars have been added to the treasury since its organization.

BUSINESS MEN LUNCH MONDAY NOON AT CAFE

The members register the necessity of getting Mr. Gaston to give up his public service in connection with the club. All thoroughly appreciate the valuable work he has done, and wish him well in his new field of endeavor.

GROUP LEADERS PLAN FOR HOME GARDENING

A meeting of the newly appointed group leaders of the garden project that is now under way, took place in Wayne this week in the library building Saturday afternoon. Herman Siems, supervisor of this project, discussed in detail and explained to the leaders their duties and the plan that they are expected to work out.

Each child will be given a record book, and the method of keeping this account was explained fully. Mr. Siems made several suggestions that will be helpful to the public in general in connection with better home gardening. He advised housewives to buy their glass canning jars early, for present indications are that the price of jars will advance, so that buying them early will mean money saved.

Mr. Siems explained the necessity of planting vegetables that can be canned. Canned goods will rise in price 35 per cent before fall and possibly more. Numerous vegetables such as tomatoes and asparagus have advanced as much as 100 per cent in some places, so that great attention should be given to such varieties.

A plan by which ribbons may be encouraged to grow faster was explained by Mr. Siems. His suggestion was to knock the bottom out

It is an interesting fact to know that President Woodrow Wilson has planned a vegetable garden in front of the white house in place of the customary flower beds. ## How Savidge Won

Walter Savidge, the man whose creative brain and keen sense of values have effected an organization of such proportions as the Walter Savidge Amusement Company, is the controlling genius of the tented city.

Always interested in amusement of the better sort, Mr. Savidge began on a small scale eleven years ago. From the first his motto was "Pure Entertainment and Clean Amusement," and these two qualities he has preserved through each of the eleven seasons of his operations.

Seldom has Savidge made a mistake in picking talent and attractions, but if he perceives anything questionable in the conduct of any of his personnel he is quick to remove, restrain or even discharge such from the company.

Is it any wonder then that each year has brought greater success? Is it any wonder the books of 1916 showed an increase of 30 per cent over the volume of business in 1915? Is it any wonder that the show of 1917 will eclipse all others in number and uniqueness of attractive features?

The Show of 1917

Every day sees new faces arriving and old faces returning to the Savidge family circle. For they are just one big family, each one interested in his fellow and everybody straining every nerve to make the whole performance compellingly worth while. One hundred dispensers of laughter and fun make up this family. It takes eight cars to transport them from town to town.

No feature that will add to the completeness of the "big, gay week" has been overlooked. To see the Bluches in their free act is worth a trip to town every day. In this, their first appearance in the mid-west, they introduce the Trampoline act. The net, made partly of rubber, bounces the Aerialists high in the air, thus making possible many new and thrilling stunts.

The ostrich farm and the kangaroo, the merry-go-round and the ferris wheel, Viola's Bird circus and Filer's Rat circus, the big theater and the dazzling lights, the submarines and the crazy house, all will fit into the brilliant panorama of the "joy" week.

Concert Band

The Savidge Concert Band boys in snappy uniforms give an additional touch of gaiety to the carnival grounds.

Now there are bands and more bands, but only about one band in a dozen that can really make music. It takes practice and study on the part of each man in the group to give that finish and dash to every number, that characterize a genuine musical treat. The Savidge Concert band will give you more solid enjoyment during an hour than any band with a similar organization on the road.

W. H. BUCHOLZ, FORMER NORFOLK MAN, DIES

Omaha, Neb., April 23.—William Herman Bucholz, vice president of the Omaha National bank, died at 3 o'clock last evening at his home, 175 South Thirty-second avenue, of a complication of illnesses, with arterial troubles, the heart disease was about fifty years ago in Clayton county, Ia.

His father, who had been an officer in the Homanerian army, and his mother, a Hollander, had come to this country and settled in Iowa in 1849.

Comes to Norfolk Bank.

William was born on the farm. At the age of 16, after gaining his education in the local schools, he went to Lincoln and worked for

H. aged 21, now at Yale university, and Arlen K. aged 14, a student of this city.

Hoskins, Neb., April 23.—Fred Nelson suffered a serious injury to his left hand when the middle finger of his left hand was torn off by the jerking of a team of horses which he was exercising in the yard at which he was holding with a long thin rope. He was taken to Norfolk where it was necessary to amputate a part of the finger to make it heal better.

Mr. Nelson was holding the team which were trotting around, when in some manner a noose formed on the middle finger of his hand and order and no hint of the dementia that caused his haste.

"He leaves his father and mother, his sister, Anna, and brother, Edward, who are heartbroken with grief. Numerous relatives and friends also mourn his demise."

"The funeral is held Thursday (today) at 2 o'clock at the Presbyterian church. Rev. Jennings to preach the service. The pall bearers will be his classmates from the Normal."

BOY DROWNS IN CREEK

Pierce, Neb., April 23.—Mark Francis, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Francis, was drowned Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Willow Creek, which flows south of Pierce. He, with two companions, was walking on the edge of the creek when the bank caved in and tion of these new recruits will be alive and well as of the fellows that stay at home.

"The chances that any large proportion of our troops will do active fighting do not now seem large. By energetic preparation and rapid organization of our military forces and a show of good fighting strength, we could probably prevent invasion of the United States. The British blockade were withdrawn."

Terrible as modern warfare seems, medical science saves by far the greater part of the wounded. A big share of the horrible losses of former wars was due to neglect of wounds and ignorance of treating them.

To balance the dangers of military service there is the fact that the boys now enlisting are going to live very healthful lives. They will be drilling and practicing war maneuvers in the wholesome open air. They will become physically fitter, able to endure strains, full of good health and courage. For all who do not actually go into battle, it will give them reserves of strength and energy for years to come.

Meanwhile the boys who stay at home will for the next year or two be living largely indoor lives, working in stooping postures over desks, breathing contaminated air. There are always some who give way under these conditions and suffer serious impairment of vital organs. It is dangerous to live most anywhere now, and as some humorist said, the bed is the most risky place as most of us die there.

Why Constipation Injures.

The bowels are the natural sewer system of the body. When they become obstructed by constipation—a part of the poisonous matter which they should carry off is absorbed into the system, making you feel dull and stupid, and interfering with the digestion and assimilation of food. This condition is quickly relieved by Chamberlain's Tablets. Obtainable everywhere. Ads.

some time on the Lincoln Journal. He then moved to Norfolk and took a place in the Norfolk National bank under N. A. Raimbault. He left that to deputy county treasurer three years, then returned to the bank. When he was 21, he was elected cashier. At the age of 32 he was president of the bank. Four years later he sold out his interest and went to Oakland, Calif., as vice president of the Central bank of Oakland. About 1906 he returned to Nebraska and coming to Omaha he was elected cashier of the Omaha National bank, succeeding Charles E. Waite. Eight years ago he was elected vice president.

He leaves a wife who was Miss Raimbault and two sons, Frederick when the horses jerked back the rope partly cut and tore the finger off at the middle joint. Mr. Nelson did not at first notice that he had been hurt until his wife noticed the blood and the absence of part of the finger and screamed.

PETER J. HAJENGA.

In the course of announcing the death of Peter J. Hajenga, State Normal student, who died from the effects of self-administered salaricide at this place last week, the Randolph Times gives the following facts regarding the accomplishments and aspirations of the young man:

Peter J. Hajenga, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hajenga of this city, was born in Chicago, Ill.,

he fell into the water, which was deep—swifly. Six months the creek is not deep, but at this time it is swollen by the rains. The body was found two blocks down stream a half hour later, by Prof. F. D. Laudak, the body being caught in a clump of bushes. The men worked over the body some time but life was extinct. The accident happened a half mile from where the tributary joins the Norfolk.

Mr. Francis is working at the oil wells near Casper, Wyo. Arrangements for the funeral services will not be made until he is heard from. The boy attended St. Joseph Catholic school.

IN THE RIGHT SPIRIT

Lincoln Trade Review, Chicago for Avery of University of Nebraska, in an article upon the attitude that should be taken in public expression in these days admirably presented his opinion of what the attitude of the faculty of the university should be in the following:

"The world war has raged for the greater part of three academic years. During this time members of the faculty have been perfectly free to express their opinions on the issues involved in any way they saw fit. There have been pro-German and anti-German, militaristic and anti-militaristic expressions in the papers. Those who have believed that the United States should take part in those who opposed our taking part have expressed themselves probably more freely than any other class of our citizens. We should now remember, however, that our country is at war, and we should, without regard to any previous attitude that we may have taken, now place ourselves in thought, word and deed solidly behind the government of the United States. There is no other course for us to pursue. In this connection I may further express the hope that in taking this attitude there will be no bitterness on account of statements made or feelings expressed before the country was at war."

CHANCES FOR ARMY BOYS.

Once upon a time it took one man three hours and three minutes to grow a bush of wheat. That was entirely too slow. He invented machinery that reduced this considerably and he invented more machinery and reduced it still more, and so on until now that one man produces a bush of wheat in eight minutes, all because he has the nerve to buy the machine that does the best work. Have you the nerve to put the best machine in your kitchen? If so, you will scrap that old range and buy a COPPER-CLAD

VOL. 29, NO. 47

YOUNG MAN WRITES HOME FROM FRANCE

H. P. Shumway, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Shumway of Wakefield, has written home folks an interesting letter under date of April 25 from France, with the war in February with a number of other Americans to join the army ambulance corps. Young Mr. Shumway secured the Master's degree from the University of Chicago in 1915, and then entered as a student in the medical department of the Chicago university. The letter which is addressed to his sister, will be read with interest by the general public. It follows with a few omissions:

Convois Auto. S. S. V. 9 Par. 10 M. Paris, April 2, 1917.
Dear Ruth,
Your letter from New York reached me today.
My letters have been somewhat disconnected. Life here has been so changing and active that I have not been able to write you as often as you ask if I am still satisfied with the work. I am more than that. I have never enjoyed living more than now. Some of my fellows and two or three of our Frenchmen are in here singing and blowing a bugle. Will copy the last few pages of my diary, which will probably answer better than a letter.

Thursday and Friday, March 23. Yesterday spent nearly all day on my car, cleaning and repairing, etc. It seems to be in fair shape, although many of them have been badly knocked to pieces by hard use in the Vosges and also by green drivers. We are situated now about six miles from the lines and about twenty miles from the front. Can see the flashes of the big guns and hear them roaring intermittently during the day and night.

In the afternoon we had to put up our gas tanks and fill a cooking room filled with some kind of gas. The Germans are using several kinds of gases, some of which they shoot in shells, and which are very dangerous. Every inhabitant of the village has to wear a mask and it is quite a sight to see the children going to school with gas masks slung over their shoulders.

When out on the road with A., our lieutenant, to test my driving. The heavy bodies and wet roads make the car cranky to handle, so did not distinguish myself. Snow at night and very cold in our stable.

Today the sun is shining, but quite cold and snow on the ground. Must have passed muster yesterday for the lieutenant detailed me to take a contagious cyst from G— to C—, about thirty kilometers. The country in that direction is very pretty, woods and hills and smooth winding roads. Huff of San Francisco with me for company. We had a peach of a dinner with all the real water we could drink. The wine is hard to go back at four. Nothing left to do today but drain my radiator and fix the Klaxon.

Sunday, March 25. Came up yesterday. Have been assigned a car No. 286. Am supposed to stay here forty-eight hours and take care of any calls, bringing in wounded or transferring them to other hospitals. At this post we give a little chant with a stove in it and coal to burn. Heated some water and had my first shave for a week. This is the first I have been warm since I came to the front. Mess with the French sergeants, officers of the hospital. They are very courteous and pleasant. One of them speaks a few words of English and I add a few words of French, so we get along very sociably. Froze and snowed last night.

Today has been warm and beautiful. We put our watches ahead an hour today, summer time. The hospital yard is very picturesque today with the convalescents in blue uniforms and helmets lounging about. The hospital consists of several old stone buildings and more light wooden sheds. About 250 soldiers are here, came up and floored a torrent of French. I made out the words, four wounded and officer so killed up and drove over to the bureau. The men were wounded in the legs except one who had his head banded up. After more talk and sign language, I and other hospital convalescents in the town below, and finally found it.

Monday, March 26. Cold and snowing. Kept whelming out of communication, or telephoned in to mechanics to come out to fix it. Took Huff's car and carried a blessed twelve miles to Sleet and rain. The boss and I had dinner together. His hand was smashed so I rolled cigarettes for him and he gave me half a cake of chocolate.

Tuesday, March 27. Off duty today so have been fixing the car. It is in pretty fair shape considering. Got a letter from Johnny today. The doctor would let him come out to the front so he is going to join the Paris section. Still in and snowing a little. This is a fierce climate.

A new division has come in and the town is packed with soldiers. A snow fight started between the street finally. They can't throw the Americans. Our French lieutenant announced tonight that the division to which we are attached was to be sent to the front to go with them. Wild cheers. Every one is tired of the slow times here. These quarters are uncomfortable because there is no place to get a drink. A present day being in the office where I am not supposed to be.

Friday, March 30. Things have been coming so fast in my record that I can't do justice to them. In the first place my car is accented. Yesterday carried two men to— through the rain and horrible roads, the first had ones I have struck. Garrison and I went to the hospital to our advanced hospital post.

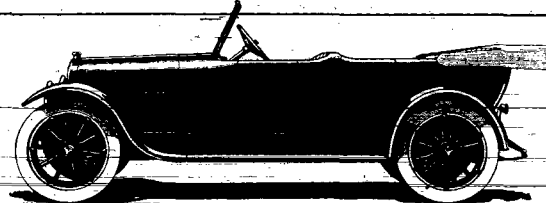

At the hospital I started to fix up my car and ran up the road a ways. A hole in the road, a hole in the meadow about 400 yards below the road. I at once decided to go back to the hospital and get in the car. After that I started on the road another shell dropped about 300 yards away and in line with the first and my car. It tore a hole big enough to plant a good sized tree in it. I stalled the engine then and to get out and crank. While cranking another came howling through the air. I didn't look around to see it light but went flat in the ditch. Two more hit before I could get back and into the shell. It gives a person a very uncomfortable sensation to hear them. A rather amusing thing happened. One of the doctors and I got to the door of the apt at the same time. A shell was roaring in the air and was due to land somewhere in a few seconds, so we both dove for the narrow doorway together. Am a husker and more frightened than he. The shell stopped for awhile. I loaded four shells for— and was about to start when the Germans started firing the range on the village above the hospital. My road was through the village and I had the pleasure of watching the shells tear the ridge above the village and the shells began to stop in the town. It was the most unpleasant thing I had to do to climb up the hill and through the town on low gear. While coasting down the hill on the bridge on the side of the village a shell hit and scattered splinters in the mud on the road a block ahead. Am a confirmed pacifist now.

The hospital orderlies are standing around and we are practicing our French and English on each other. Have been giving them English tobacco which they appreciate greatly. They also seem to admire this leather notebook very much. One of the interns invited me into the office and played his monocord, a stick and cigar box and violin. He must have been quite a violinist for he could play selections from any opera I could think of. A new division comes in and the hospital staff leaves. Last night they inoculated all the movable patients. Was out about twelve, rain and snow. One night call at two, but was the first night in the hospital. I sleep peacefully while he hit the road in the rain and without lights. On some of the runs we are not allowed to use lights.

It is raining. Two trips to bed and one to— Car running better. Bed at eleven. Am down at Monday, April 2. Am down at

How Hudson Solved the Gasoline Problem

Now Furnished on the New Light Super-Six

The gasoline saver is one more new invention of the Hudson Super-Six.

It was shown for the first time at the New York Automobile Show in January. Now most all Hudson dealers are showing the new cars equipped with this and ten other important new features. The gasoline saver is the only new feature shown on automobiles at this year's shows.

OVERCOMES THE POOR GASOLINE

Hard starting and wasteful gasoline consumption due to cold weather and the low grade gasoline are overcome. Radiator and hood covers are not needed on the new Hudson Super-Sixes even in the coldest weather.

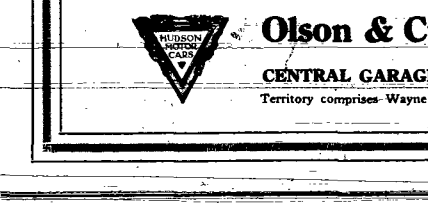

This device has been in use on hundreds of Hudson Super-Sixes during the coldest winter weather. Its effectiveness has been proved. It is as easily operated as the damper on a stove. Low grade gasoline gives low mileage and is wasteful and harmful to the engine, unless the motor is operated steadily at a high temperature.

PRIMER INSURES EASY STARTING

In zero weather, even at 20 below, the new Hudson Super-Six motor starts. The primer is another feature of the new Super-Six.

On the new cars there are also other worthwhile features you should see. There is the new plaited upholstery, more attractive door fasteners, hard rubber handles, an improved body finish and other details you can see. And then we have made many improvements in the building of the car. The car that last year won every worth-while record is a much better automobile now because we have learned to build them better.

HARTINGTON FEAST INTERRUPTED BY ROW

The Hartington Herald reports that during a banquet in the new hotel at that place recently a terrific scream was heard in the kitchen. The guests surrounding the central board were joyfully stowing away rich viands when an uproarious yell rent the air and excited wild anxiety. Rushing into the culinary department, the guests found a man trying to force his wife who was helping in the kitchen, to leave the hotel and go home with him. It was charged that the man struck his wife, and that then she screamed. The man says he tried to lead her out of the hotel, but she would not, and fell over something, then screamed. The Hartington paper gives credence to the letter-story. The guests got back to their feast in due time. The man was later arrested, and agreed to apologize to the landlady, pay costs and give a peace bond for a year.

A college yell is all right on certain occasions, but not on all occasions, and should not be

<h4>The Old Way</h4> Under the old regime housecleaning was a bugbear to every member in the family, and especially to mother, who went the weary round of packing everything away, moving all the furniture out, hauling out the rug and beating them, scrubbing the floors, dusting the walls, and 101 other processes with the result that at night she was completely worn out.	<h4>The New Way</h4> Today with a BISSELL'S Vacuum cleaner or carpet sweeper the housewife can give her home a thorough and orderly cleaning in a sane, sanitary and healthful manner. Takes Care of all Kinds of Cases

DO you know that of every hundred people who are sick enough to need a physician only twenty-two are afforded the conveniences and comforts of a hospital? The remaining eighty-eight sick folks figure that it is too much of an effort to reach a city hospital, and, furthermore, they dread being surrounded by strangers during the long weeks of convalescence.

AND yet not one home in twenty is properly equipped to care for a patient, who is seriously ill or who is recovering from a major operation. Country hospitals are meeting this genuine need in a thorough-going manner. The rooms are as attractive, the equipment as complete, the modern appliances and surgical instruments as up-to-date as found in the palatial hospitals of metropolitan cities. A well-fitted hospital is a real benefit to any community.

LITTLE MARY CHARMS IN WINSOME NEW ROLE

The following report taken from the Kansas City Star of March 30 shows the genuine success Mary Pickford's latest play, "The Poor Little Rich Girl on the Beach." "Snow White" may be a sign of the times. There is a note of practical idealism in the latest film play in which the art of Mary Pickford is seen this week at the Twelfth Street Theater that should be helpful to the wrong kind of rich parents.

The screen drama follows pretty closely the lines of the spoken one. The adapters have made the most of the dream device for getting a great deal of action quite naturally into a brief space.

The poor little rich girl has the usual troubles of the guarded child. She is tyrannized over by servants and teachers, neglected by a socially ambitious mother and a money grabbing father. Another rich girl who is brought to keep her company proves wholly unmying and ungenerous—unimaginative and prematurely snobbish.

A Lesson for Parents.

Even merely accredited city parents may find much in "The Poor Little Rich Girl" to inspire them to their own children. Because Gwenon insists upon being a natural human sort of little girl she is constantly in trouble with some one of the many guardians who bar her path. She is made to hate her clothes, her hair, her shoes, the pane of the window for the little street children to pick up. She is made to hate her lessons, her toys, her very home. "I want to walk on my feet," had to be given when the great closed car awaits her.

The plumber, the hand organ man and the "silly" are her only disinterested friends, and it is they who save her in the end.

"Miss Pickford is incredibly like a little girl. She wears her abbreviated skirts and avalanche of curls with as great success as Marguerite Clark achieves with hers. The scene in the garden when she masquerades as a boy—the same in which the gardener turns the hose on her and spoils the best night I could have invested with a sturdy childishness that is very captivating.

The Dream Pictures.

The dream pictures in the last reel are a notable series. The drug administered by the two-faced snake woman and the water-cress of the serving force to kill little Gwen. Her delirium is peopled with all the things that torment her days with now and then a gleam of hope in the ideal of happiness she has treasured. Before her fevered mind pass in review the dreadful "snake-in-the-grass" the social bias in her mother's bonnet, the candles burning at both ends everything that has puzzled and tormented her.

Her ranting words disclose to her horrified parents the actual poverty of the life they have doted out to their child and her dream of a better existence. It is one of the few stories that does not end with

On many occasions a good deal of time is wasted talking it over.

SIGNS DRY LAW

Lincoln, Neb., April 21—Governor Neville tonight signed the bill giving effect to the prohibition amendment and the one allowing women partial suffrage. The latter permits women to vote for president and vice president and all other offices not enumerated in the state constitution. It is patterned closely after the law in force in Illinois.

The prohibition law is radically "dry," but permits householders to store a quantity for personal use in anticipation of the "drought" which begins May 1.

Is Your Mouth Healthy?

Five times as many germs get into the lungs by the mouth as through the nose. A much greater per cent get into the stomach by this channel. Tubercular troubles in the glands of the neck are claimed to be due to infected tonsils, decayed teeth or infected gums. Pneumonia is another disease due largely to conditions of the mouth.

Watch your mouth. It is impossible to keep healthy if this port of entry to your body is laden with germs.

Safeguard your health by having your teeth carefully examined every six months by a competent dentist.

Mr. Elwell, who lives at the landing, says that one day last week, two men passed that place in a yawl, going down the river. They had come all the way from Boston, and had come within the distance of about 1,500 miles in sixteen days.

The crops are at least a month ahead of what they usually are at this season of the year. Wheat, oats and barley are most luxuriant and many fields of corn and potatoes are up, looking well and growing vigorously. One man boated potatoes on Monday.

visited this section on Wednesday afternoon of last week, was very much worse in its depredations on the other side of the river in the Dakota Territory. The storm struck the farm of Mr. Richardson, near Elk Point, and blew down his windmill and also wrecked several large sheds and blew away his haystack, etc. At the farm of Mr. Brown a dwelling house was roofed, two granaries wrecked, a threshing machine smashed, etc. Mrs. Yankovitch, the wife of the man who was killed by the storm, was the form of a tornado, and did a vast amount of damage. Houses and barns were torn down, or unroofed, farm machinery demolished and blown away. Fortunately no lives were lost.

Spring is looked upon by many as the most delightful season of the year, but this cannot be said of the rheumatic. The cold and damp weather brings on rheumatic pains which are anything but pleasant. They can be relieved, however, by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

Chickens that scratch up the neighbor's garden cause less trouble than those which put on the street parade down town.

$5.00 More For $1.00 Invested

A worth-while proposition, indeed, in these days of sky-rocketing prices. Let us show you how it figures out.

Suppose you have 100 baby chicks in your flock. We estimate that one chick eats not to exceed one cent's worth of food during the first three weeks of its life.

How About Loss?

Look up your records for last year. Isn't it true that from 25 per cent to 50 per cent of all the chickens you hatched dropped and died before they were three weeks old? Now, if you only raised five more chicks out of 100 by feeding Wayne Chick Food, it would be a paying proposition because five chicks at that age worth $1 apiece.

Cut This Loss

To the minimum by feeding Wayne Chick Food altogether. The chicks will be better developed too.

We will join in a union meeting at the Baptist church next Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. We will welcome the day when there can be a closer union in all our church work. It isn't any wonder that many people are prone to discredit all churches because of apparent selfishness and exclusiveness. Let brotherly love and cooperation prevail and let us all work together for the great ends we all profess to seek.

BIG DAIRY PROFITS ARE NO ACCIDENT

They are reached by applying scientific methods. If you are interested in adding to your dairy profits, we will pay you to investigate the Lily Cream Separator. Here are five reasons why you will find it a most satisfactory investment.

Simplicity: The operating mechanism has only three moving parts.

Lasting Quality: The materials are chosen with a view to the best service for the longest time. Phosphor bronze bushings throughout, semi-steel gears.

Design: Newest and best in separator construction. All gears spiral cut and straight faced. Trouble-proof non-adjustable neck bearing prevents all vibrations.

Accessibility: Every part easily reached without taking the machine to pieces.

Bowl Construction: The bowl contains the new and scientifically designed skimming device, which gives greatest capacity and closest skimming qualities.

Come in and let us show you this machine. You can see these five reasons for Lily superiority and many more.

Look for these points:

Extra long phosphor bronze bearings, screwed in place and held by a lock nut.

Spindle one inch in diameter—large wearing surface.

Bowl suspended above its center of weight—perfect balance.

Wide milk and cream covers, allowing for extra flow, foaming, easy to clean.

AN INCREASED CORN PRODUCTION URGED

Washington, D. C., April 25.—The secretary of agriculture, today (April 25) issued the following statement:

Corn is America's most important cereal. It can be grown successfully over a wider area than any other and furnishes nutritious food for man as well as the most grain fed for cattle and draft animals. The production of corn should be increased this year to the fullest extent taking into consideration soil and existing economic conditions and the availability of good land in corn-growing regions not needed more urgently for other crops. The acreage may well be increased in most of the country east of the 100th meridian, as corn, in general, thrives in this region.

An appreciable increase in the corn crop is most feasible, however, in the sections of highest corn grain yield. Favorable growing conditions exist in such regions; farmers there are familiar with corn-growing; they have the necessary equipment available; and have adapted corn production to prevailing economic conditions. Farmers in such regions, through many years of experience, have learned methods of successfully combating adverse conditions. They know that the planting of sterile, tested seed in well-tilled, friable soil, immediate replanting of missing hills, and early and continued cultivation of the fields count for much in the life of the plants to produce a bountiful yield. This knowledge should be put to good use during the coming season in order that, however unfavorable conditions may be, production of an exceptionally large crop may be assured.

In practically every county in the country in which experience has shown that corn may be produced successfully, the possibilities of increasing the corn crop without encroaching upon other important crops of the country are available. If land, labor, and seed are available.

WAYNE SEES COBAN IN BROADWAY JONES

Those who saw George M. Coban in "Broadway Jones" at the Crystal last Thursday evening, will no longer doubt that this famous actor, author and play producer is deserving of every bit of praise showered on him during his remarkable career in New York city. In his initial production for the screen, Coban has arranged awfully moving, interesting and dramatic story about a cheating gambler who only did write the scenario and the titles but he also selected the players.

The breezy atmosphere of this unusual story, wherein young Broadway, having inherited his roll on pitch-pops and circus girls on the Great White Way, and having narrowly escaped the wraithly Mrs. Gerard, who tries to Romeo him into marriage, returns to the quiet life of his home town and plunges in to make Chu-Chu gum as well known as Hood's Sarsaparilla, is further heightened by the clever "outing" which continually suggest the contrast between the gay life of the metropolis and the matter-of-fact routine of Jonesville.

In spite of the reckless season in New York the utter contempt with which Broadway spurns the "century plant," as he calls Mrs. Gerard, and turns to Josie, his uncle's faithful secretary, is altogether admirable. In the spirit of the age, people won't chew the rag about your gum unless you advertise it. Where would the American flag have been today if George Washington had not advertised it? With this spirit he reopens the factory and sets about to constrain the whole world to know and chew his brand of gum.

BOY SCOUT TROOP WAS LATELY ORGANIZED

A registered scout movement has recently been organized in connection with the Methodist church, in this city. For several years this organization has been carried on, but only recently has it been recognized as a registered troop of the national organization. Few people are familiar with the purpose and uses of this movement.

Membership in the Boy Scouts of America is limited to those who are registered citizens of the United States, and are active associate, pioneer or veteran scouts, or scout parents, or even members of the Boy Scouts of America is entitled to wear the scout uniform of scout badges and is furnished with a certificate of membership which shows plainly the date when the membership expires. These certificates are recognized primarily by official officers and furnish basis for extending courtesies by brother scouts to members who are traveling.

Any boy may be a scout who is 12 years of age or over and passes the required tests. He must take the following oath:
"On my honor, I will do my best, 1. To do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the scout law.
2. To help other people at all times.
3. To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight."

The scout law follows:
The Scout Law.

1. A Scout is Trustworthy.
2. A Scout's honor is to be trusted. If he were to violate his honor by telling a lie, or by cheating, or by not doing exactly a given task, when trusted on his honor, he may be expected to hand over his scout badge.
3. A Scout is Loyal.
4. He is loyal to all to whom loyalty is due; his scout leader, his home, his parents and country.
5. A Scout is Helpful.
6. He must be prepared at any time to save life, help injured persons, and share his own duties. His duty must do at least one good turn to somebody every day.
7. A Scout is Friendly.
8. He is a friend to all and a brother to every one in his own country.
9. A Scout is Courteous.
10. He is polite to all, especially to women, children, old people, and the weak and helpless. He must not talk for being helpful or courteous.
11. A Scout is Kind.
12. He is a friend to animals. He will not hurt any living creature needlessly, but will strive to save and protect all harmless life.
13. A Scout is Obedient.
14. He obeys his parents, scoutmaster, patrol leader, and all other duly constituted authorities.
15. A Scout is Cheerful.
16. He smiles whenever he can. His obedience to orders is prompt and cheerful. He never shirks nor grumbles at hardships.
17. A Scout is Thrifty.
18. He does not wantonly destroy property. He works faithfully, wastes nothing, and makes the best use of his opportunities. He saves his money so that he may pay his own way; he generous to those in need, and he respects the rights of others. He may work for pay but must not receive tips for courtesies or good turns.
19. A Scout is Brave.
20. He has the courage to face danger in spite of fear and has to stand up for the right against the coaxings of friends or the jeers of the foolish and ignorant, and retreat does not down him.
21. A Scout is Clean.
22. He keeps clean in body and thought; stands for clean speech, clean sports, clean habits, and travels with a clean crowd.
23. A Scout is Reverent.
24. He is reverent toward God. He is faithful in his religious duties and respects the convictions of others in matters of custom and religion.

The scout's motto is: "Be Prepared." In order to be prepared, he seeks to qualify himself to successfully pass the tests required of a second class, and first class scout for various merit badges.

Because of the range of ages of the scouts a plan has been worked out which gives to every boy once a scout, the opportunity of being always a scout. The older boys are organized into separate troops, and advised work and hold special meetings. These groups are often assigned some special civic or social service, such as assisting in anti-alcohol campaigns, and social functions, clean-up campaigns and numerous other occasions, where they can be of service to the home, school, church or municipality.

Every member is expected to show in the home, school or to place that a scout's honor is to be trusted, that he is trying to live up to the scout law and that he is given an opportunity to do a good turn daily.

In order to join the scout movement, an application blank secured from the local scout office must be signed by a parent or guardian, which signifies his approval. The application is then sent to the headquarters of the national council in New York city, by the local scout master.

There are three classes of membership, active, associate and pioneer scouts. An active scout is a regular member of a troop which meets regularly during the year. His name has been made for the membership of boys who cannot attend the regular meetings of a troop, and such members are called associate scouts. They must observe the scout law and do their "daily good turns" the same as active members. They must also attend at least one meeting a year, of the troop in which they are members. A pioneer scout is one who hasn't the privilege to become a member of the local troop, but is admitted to membership upon a written application made to the local scout office. His obligations are the same as those of active scouts who are members of the troop.

After five years of satisfactory membership a scout is qualified as a first class scout and is entitled to membership as a veteran scout.

The boy scout organization was started in 1910. President Woodrow Wilson is an honorary president. William H. Taft and Theodore Roosevelt are honorary vice presidents. The acting president is Charles H. Loring, of New York city. Daniel Beard, the national scout commissioner, James E. West, chief scout executive are members of the national council in the United States.

The Boy Scout troop, No. 31087, Wayne, with H. Lee Wells, Jr. for scout master, has an enrollment of ten registered members. They are: Robert Cottrell, Clell Cottrell, Keith Fleming, Mark Henderson, Gurney Jones, Clare Meyer, Edward Merriam, Orville Thompson and Raymond Helt. The following are qualifying: Lawrence Hickman, Clare Shull, Alvin Rennie, Don Wollert and Silas Henderson.

LeRoy Owen, register No. 31087A, assistant scout master, and Carl H. Ober, register No. 31087B, ex-officio assistant scout master, are acting scout officials. Miss Virginia Bowen was appointed sponsor. Supt. O. R. Bowen is scout commissioner and head of the council of which the following are members: A. N. Davis, E. W. Hunt, Ben A. S. Hahn, E. E. Carhart, Prof. H. H. Hahn, Rollie Lee, W. D. Redmond, J. A. Ben and Eric C. S. Gunn.

Permission was obtained from the local school authorities to use the high school gymnasium, once a week for basketball. Several games were played this winter with surrounding towns. At an informal party Friday evening, April 20, Mess. Bowen presented the registered scouts with their registration cards and pins.

FOR DEMOCRACY
Bixby in Lincoln Journal: Here is something worth serious consideration at this serious time: German statesmen declare that all the world has to get along with Germany, and that this emity is without justification. In other words, they say that what were true it would be a thing never before recorded in the history of civilization. Once upon a time all Europe turned its attention to the work of putting France out of the reckoning. Why? Read history and the answer will be clear enough. It was the attitude of France (Napoleon) toward the world that turned mankind for the time being against France. Hohenzollern swamper, ambition, insolence, presumption, intolerance and brutality, have finally aroused the enmity of the world, and started a fire that can't be put out until the Prussian dynasty has been supplanted by most devoutly to be desired. It is with nations as with individuals, to have friends one must be a friend. A kindly-disposed nation will have kindly-disposed neighbors every time and all the time.
