A farmer who had visited paved town towns, smaller than Wayne, says he can understand why this place had not paved before now. He says besides the convenience and comfort in paving it gives a town distinction. It stimulates improvement in all lines of activity. The ugliest mud is in the business district. If roads are muddy, a traveler knows business streets will be worse. If the town were paved, a traveler over muddy roads would have assurance of a dry landing when he reached town. He would feel sure like coming to town.

DEATH OF JOE MYERS.
Joe Myers passed away at his home in Wayne Saturday evening, April 28, after several weeks of suffering, caused by leakage of the heart. Funeral services were held in Wayne from the home Monday afternoon. Rev. W. L. Gaston of the Baptist church officiating. The remains were taken to Malvern, the home of his mother, for burial Tuesday.

Joe Myers was born in Malvern, Ia., in 1879, and died in Wayne April 28, 1917, at the age of 39 years. He was married in Malvern, Ia., in 1900, to Miss Mary Wilson. To this union were born two children, Howard and Doris, who with the surviving child, Beatrice, and family he leaves a mother, Mrs. Samuel Myers, three brothers, John, of Morris Bluffs, Neb., Clarence and Ernest of Malvern, Ia., and three sisters, Mrs. Jessie Drake, and Miss Mary Drake of Malvern, and Mrs. Robert Dunn of Martinsburg, Neb.

Mr. Myers lived for eight years in Wayne, a part of the time being employed as a mason. He had many warm friends in Wayne who extend deep sympathy to surviving relatives.

WAYNE SOLDIERS IN FIGHT WITH SUSPECT

St. Louis City Journal: An attempt by soldiers to destroy the Omaha railroad bridge across the Missouri river was frustrated early yesterday morning after shots had been fired by sentries of the Nebraska guard company detailed to protect the structure. One of the men was captured after he had been wounded by the soldiers. Suspicious persons had been lurking in the vicinity for a week, it is alleged.

The searchlight installed on the Nebraska side of the bridge Saturday night was flashed on the approaching men when they were within a short distance of one of the piers. When the command "halt" was given the men fled. A volley of shots was fired by the sentries, but only one of the shots took effect, it is believed.

The wounded man was tracked by a detachment of soldiers led by Capt. J. H. Pile and finally was cornered in a hole a half mile from the river. He was found hiding in one of the stalls. After a futile resistance he was overpowered by the guardsmen and placed under arrest.

Lodged in Jail.
The man said to be George Sadler, 32 years old. He said he is from Jacksonville, Fla. He was placed in the custody of William A. Morgan, United States deputy marshal, who built at South Sioux City. He was placed in the Dakota county jail yesterday for safe keeping and will be taken before Federal Commissioner McLaughlin at Omaha for a preliminary hearing today.

When he was told to halt by the bridge guard he thought that he was being held up, he told Morgan. The shots fired at the group only made him run the faster, he asserted, although he had no money or other valuables in his pockets. He refused to talk when asked why he resisted the arresting guardsmen. His wound is not regarded as serious.

According to Capt. Pile a group of men have been active very late the last few nights on the Nebraska side of the river. As it has been very dark and the searchlights had not arrived, the soldiers were unable to capture the suspicious persons sooner, they asserted.

The men were heard to come along the river bank, Nebraska guards were summoned and the soldiers waited for the approach of the men.

When the men got within a short distance of one of the piers the flashlight flooded them. They were commanded to halt.

As soon as the word was spoken the intruders ran for shelter in the bushes near the river. The soldiers fired a volley. It was at this time that Sadler was wounded. The soldiers gave chase. Sadler could be heard crashing through the underbrush and was finally stopped in the farmer's barn. Sadler was taken to South Sioux City yesterday morning.

Capt. Pile or one of the officers will accompany Deputy Morgan and Sadler to Omaha today. Sadler is alleged to have a police record in that city.

BOETGER PULS.
Miss Hilda Boetger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joachim Boetger, and Harry Puls, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Puls of Wayne, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Wednesday afternoon, April 25, at 4 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Franzen officiating.

The bride was becomingly attired in a pale lilac crepe de chine gown with silver trimmings and was attended by Miss Meta Puls, who was dressed in delicate pink. Mr. William Boetger, a brother of the bride, acted as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony an excellent dinner was served. The bride is a capable young woman and has many friends. The bridegroom is a successful farmer of sterling qualities. The young people will go to home keeping on the Puls farm four miles southwest of Randolph. The out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Mrs. B. Krebs and sons Clifford and Harold, of Minneapolis, Minn., and a number of Whistide and Wayne friends. Good wishes are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Puls.

SUFFERS SEVERE ACCIDENT.
H. P. Schroeder of north of town, fractured one of the bones in his right leg Sunday while assisting Harry Jessman and James Grief from cattle to town. The horse on which Mr. Schroeder was riding, slipped on the muddy crossing on upper Main street throwing him off and breaking one of the bones in his leg. He was taken immediately to a physician who cared for him and he is now reported recovering satisfactorily.

INSTALL NEW CAKE MIXER.
The Wayne Bakery continues to add to its up-to-date plant by installing a new Traumph cake mixer. The mixing machine is the newest model on the market and is run by electricity. By placing the beater, a foot and a half in length, into a large aluminum bowl a pint to thirty-one gallons can be mixed in a very short time. The machine is, indeed, a labor saving device. Mr. Fisher has a clean, sanitary bakery and Wayne people should appreciate the quality of goods turned out.

A lot of men should be unclaimed before they die.

FAREWELL SERVICES AT BAPTIST CHURCH

The different churches of the city joined in union farewell service at the Baptist church Sunday evening for the retiring pastor, Rev. W. L. Gaston, who thus closed his pastoral here to accept an invitation to return to lead his flock at Broken Bow, Neb. where he was stationed for several years prior to coming to Wayne. The Baptist church was filled with friends of the pastor, all denominations being represented, besides many attending from outside the churches. The large attendance and the cordial greetings attested to the high esteem in which Mr. Gaston is held in Wayne.

Pro. J. G. W. Lewis presided and introduced the program. Following the singing by Fred M. Davis and a song by the union choir, invocation was pronounced by Rev. W. L. Gaston. The scripture lesson was read by Rev. A. N. Cross, followed by prayer by Rev. S. Buell. After an appropriate song, "The Land of Twilight Shadows," by Miss Emma Albert, Prof. Law made a few introductory remarks. He explained that the meeting was not designed to merely eulogize Mr. Gaston, but to emphasize the things he stood for in the community. Rev. A. S. Buell of the M. E. church made the next address. Mr. Gaston had brought a larger vision of the relation that the church ought to sustain to the community. "The church," he said, "should reach into all the arteries of life and be the center of community activities." He congratulated Mr. Gaston on receiving the call to return to his congregation that he had served for several years. Rev. S. Cross of the Presbyterian church, said the one big thing Mr. Gaston had done since coming to Wayne was to bring the church of Wayne closer together. Mr. Cross endorsed Mr. Gaston's idea of one strong church instead of four or five struggling organizations which of necessity serve in a feeble way. He said that for business as well as economic reasons, one church would have a strong influence. He explained that the real purpose of the church was to serve, and that Mr. Gaston had made the church the activities of the church but in the affairs of the community. An invitation, the following appreciation was prepared by E. W.

Huse, editor of the Herald, and read at the farewell services Sunday night:

"I feel deeply the loss sustained by Wayne in the leaving of Rev. W. L. Gaston. Words but faintly express my appreciation of his public service. We grow so accustomed to the work of an efficient man that we do not fully realize what he is doing for the community until he has gone.

"I have always had a powerful affinity for preachers—due, no doubt, to similarity of character. Accordingly I developed strong ties of friendship for Mr. Gaston. I like his sense of humor which does not seem to be inconsistent with the service of the Lord requires perpetual solemnity, or that heavenly inheritance is based on proof of a long face and melancholy mien. When I get out of the church I expect to laugh as well as learn.

"But Gaston's spirit of good humor does not unfit him for earnest contemplation of material or spiritual problems—whether a man suffers from fits of gloom or similes he knows how to extend comfort and inspire courage. He knows how to spread optimism. I like the broad thoroughness with which he holds the gold of hope. I like the way he lights dark night with the state of good cheer.

"Outside of religious circles he is a potent force for public improvement and civic betterment. His leadership is felt, and will be missed. When a man is needed to represent the city at home or abroad, all agree to let 'Gaston do it.' In meeting the needs of the community and increasing demand for a public function of any kind we let Gaston do it. 'Who will look after the baptisms?' 'Gaston.' 'Who will do, credit in settling the city's guests?' 'Gaston.' He does and says the right thing at the right time and has the happy faculty of putting it over.

"People learn to know that he will do it. And he does a thing, far more than fulfill expectations. Any man who can thus lead beyond the necessary becomes an important asset, and grows in popular demand.

"I regret to see Gaston leave this community, and regret that his ship will not be of great value in the community. It is heeded my wishes he wouldn't go. If I had my way he would stay here, among us, and in the company and neighborhood territory what he will do for Broken Bow and the rest of Cass county. Unfortunately, I can't keep him here, but most reluctantly, after the incident which cast him in going, I shall share with others in remembering with esteem his kindly nature and helpful service and wish him unbounded happiness and success in all his future endeavors.

"The concluding talk was by the retiring pastor, and in substance he said the following:

"I scarcely know how to commence, what to say or how to stop. It is always hard for me to leave a church that I have served or a community in which I have lived. I have not been long a resident of Wayne, yet in brief time I have been here. I have formed friendships and attachments that are hard to sever. I appreciate more than I can express the uniform courtesy and unselfish interest with which the people of Wayne have always treated me. I regret to go. I tried not to go; but the fact remains that I never quite succeeded in getting away from Broken Bow. It is not to that place that I am going.

"I appreciate all that has been said tonight and I do not underestimate the compliment paid me by presenting me as a constructive work and the progressive principles for which I have stood during my stay in the community. I go away realizing that I have done my best. I have tried to help the community and I am proud to say that I have been called to all kinds of councils, sometimes in the banks, sometimes in the homes, sometimes in the office, sometimes with the professional men, sometimes I have been called to boost for the community; sometimes to plan for improvement of the city; and sometimes I have been asked to give political advice. I have refused no man. I have responded to all calls and I go away with easy conscience so far as this is concerned.

"We are living in a strenuous age; history is being made very rapidly. Conditions of nations and world-peoples are changing constantly. The world is a hotbed of war for different issues than it was at its inception. Greed and avarice, territorial conquest, commercial expansion are no longer its sole factors. It is the struggle for its now democracy against autocracy, the classes against the masses, and when the cloud lifts, thrones and kings will be gone and the common people will be elevated to authority. That means individualism. It means individual responsibility. It means that there will be a world-wide demand for better and stronger men. We are living in an age that demands, is the task before us. Let us do the best we can; let us hear the clear call to service. There is a trinity of characteristics which we must have in our men of the future. Be broad, be tolerant, be sympathetic. Do not take it for granted that your side are right. I have lived long enough to find out that some

"THE VOICE ON THE WIRE"

Between the hours of five and seven Friday night ten persons will be called up over the telephone and each will hear the following message:

"If you will call at the Crystal Theater tomorrow afternoon (Saturday) at the matinee hour you will receive a complimentary ticket to the Great Universal Surprise Serial, 'The Voice on the Wire.'"

The Free Offer

In connection with this remarkable film, I am making a unique offer. Season tickets will be sold at the box office for $1.50, which will admit holder to each one of the fifteen stirring episodes of the novelty-mystery.

And in addition you will receive absolutely free of the novel by Eustace Hale Ball. In this way you can keep in touch with the story as it progresses. This book is a standard copyright and sells for 50 cents at all stores. So in buying a season ticket you really pay only $1.00 for the entire series, or 62-cents for each episode.

About the Story

If you were a detective or criminal investigator and you were called from time to time over the phone by a weird voice, which foretold crimes from an unknown source, what would be your first step to trace the mysterious "voice"? You will be interested in seeing the cunning and involved methods used by John Shirley, the expert secret service man, whose role is so capably played by Ben Wilson. And then you will be thrilled with the way Neva Berber, known throughout the film world for her rare beauty, keeps the learned officer guessing. She matches her wit against his, and the result is a serial with a punch from beginning to end.

Watch the Calendar and the Phone and come to the first episode Tuesday, May 8

As the theater will be closed for improvement the last four days of next week, the Bluebird feature, "The Social Buccaneer," a melodrama with plenty of "thrill," will be screened in connection with the first episode of the new serial.

Before the concluding song, Prof. Lewis expressed to Mrs. Gaston the appreciation of the public for her important part in church and social service.

FUNERAL SATURDAY

Mrs. Marie Jaskowak, 300 1/2 ways at her home in Winslow Thursday, April 26 after an illness of several months. The funeral services were conducted from the St. Mary's church in Wayne Saturday, April 28. Rev. Father Kearns officiated and interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Marie Stude was born at Germany, Province of Posen, on March 4, 1844. She was married November 19, 1865, to Joseph Jaskowak of Czarnikow, Posen, who died April 27, 1894. To this union were born eleven children, three of whom died in infancy. The following children were present at the funeral: Frances Jaskowak of Bismark, N. D.; Mrs. Juliana Reitz of Washington, Neb.; John Jaskowak of Kustville, Neb.;

Matilda Clorfen of Minneapolis, Minn.; Andrew P. Jaskowak of Pleasanton, Colo.; Mrs. Rosalie Christensen of Fremont; Mrs. Dorothea Pryor of Winslow; Mrs. Sophia Hanson of Fremont and August Jaskowak of Washington, Neb. The deceased came to America in 1872 and settled in Washington county, later moving to Wayne county where she spent the remainder of her life.

The following Winslow friends attended the funeral: Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Cullen, Frank Perrin, Mrs. J. Clayton, Louie Hever, Michael Jordan, John Brugger, Henry Bruneau, John Leuck. The following acted as pallbearers: Louis Hever, Michael Jordan, John Brugger, E. W. Cullen of Winslow and John Massie and William Melnerney of the merchandise.

Mrs. Jaskowak made many warm friends in Winslow and vicinity who extend cordial sympathy to the bereaved family.

NEED FOR ADVERTISING.

Omaha Trade Exhibitor: There are very few cut price sales being advertised in the country newspapers and yet we see how for many years we have a million that a million as good. That proves that it is just as easy for a merchant to serve a good customer without resorting to cut prices, real or assumed, as it is to fall back on that old plea, which is all-soon retailers seem to know, of 'low you know the price is advancing, but because the price is advancing, but because they have the money and want the merchandise.

The man who wrote ads for John Wagoner's store for ten years said that the best results he obtained was when he told the people of new and desirable merchandise. He has then building up business for the store, instead of merely unloading a lot of goods to the bargain hunting class.

GOING WITHOUT BOOZE.

Bixby in Lincoln Journal: To be the staid drinker, going without booze will prove an uncomfortable experience for a time, but it means in the long run a clearer brain, more perfect digestion, conservation of vital energy and greater satisfaction in living. I pledge allegiance to my flag and to the Republic for which it stands; one nation indivisible with Liberty and Justice to all.

The way patriotic young men are responding to the call to arms and to the demands of the farm is encouraging.

Selective conscription to build up the army and navy is now assured, and is generally believed to be the most practical way to create a strong and efficient fighting force without disturbing the supremely necessary productive endeavors of the country.

The town of Pierce is talking of buying a public pulmotor for use in restoring life to people who are nearly drowned. It might be better to invest in a motor launch to pump water over one's head and avoid the need of the engine of resuscitation mentioned.

May I ended the legalized sale or purchase of alcoholic liquors in Nebraska, and the legislature has sought to make the law effective. In view of the provision permitting people to keep and use quantities on hand May I may be carried liberally and will have enough supplies to taper off gradually.

According to a law passed by the late legislature women will be permitted to vote to fill all offices mentioned in the constitution. They may thus vote for president, congressmen, members of the state legislature, for all county and city officials, excepting coroners.

The selection of Elihu Root by President Wilson to head a delegation of American statesmen to go to Russia to consult with leaders of that country and help establish a representative government, shows the wisdom of the president. No man in America is better fitted for the important trust than Mr. Root, and the president is to be commended for not seeking to vary lines in drafting advisers and helpers.

When the weather is cold and painfully wet for a long time, it is a fact and grows fearful of crop prospects. As a matter of fact, however, we seldom have an early season. Higher service shows spells and often killing frosts to advanced vegetable growth. When the weather warms up, as it will soon, vegetation will limp along at first, and there will be no danger of nipping frosts. The condition now is unusual for this time of year, as we remember, and does not warrant discouragement.

The fine patriotism and courage shown by WAYNE YOUTH men in voluntary enlistment for military service, some joining from here and others from schools which they have been attending, arouse admiration in the hearts of all. They can be regarded as the highest service which contributes to the preservation and extension of democracy, and seeks to liberate nations from the iron grip of arbitrary despotic autocracies. As heroes they serve, they will be attended by the blessings and heartiest good will of Wayne people.

Certain brief, snappy paragraphs, found in the Herald in varying numbers, usually appear as Atchison Globe Sightings, some luminary belonging to the Globe staff furnishing the scintillations from his reservoir of gray matter. Sometimes the paragraphs are used as "fillers" without identity. They are usually good enough, and unless of unusual interest, however, occasionally there creeps in, with or without identity, one that would be considered a trifle "raw" or brutally unjust, as being to come from the angel disposition of the editor.

In the present national crisis, the government should waste no time on organized strikes. In times, face the situation with a bold and decisive action.

ations supplying military needs, the government ought to adopt and apply if necessary a draft system the same as used in meeting the demands of the army and navy. In the latter case the government, if worked to the limit, and no time should be lost in parleying over disputes between employers and employees. If necessary, the government ought to determine a fair basis of operation for each industry, and brook no fooling or delay.

The head of the household died, at least his family in poor circumstances. A man with no pretense of superior goodness, quietly went to the stricken home and gave a handful of currency to the bereaved wife. The bereaved wife, in return, bestowed of herself charity happened to be observed, and thus became known to this department. This good-hearted fellow, doing good without ostentation, exemplifies the Golden Rule, and the example might well be imitated by many who make greater show of christianity, but who really contribute less to society and less to the spirit of higher and nobler living.

For the first time in the history of Wayne and every other town, no able-bodied loiterer should be tolerated. There are chronic idlers who need the compensation to be derived from work, but who are too lazy and indifferent to apply themselves voluntarily. They are shrews as far as possible, only working at rate intervals as occasion compels. The demands of this strenuous war period should induce a new and compulsory employment. Society should demand some returns in profitable endeavor from every young person capable of doing something. Neither the young man with silk socks nor the one with patched trousers should be permitted to kill time and accomplish nothing, while others are working over their heads to save the government and provide food and other supplies for the world. The able-bodied loiterer should be shaken loose from indolent habits and set to work.

Let's play war. And one article has been companions, and a Wayne street recently. It does not take the youth long to imitate the military spirit, and imitate in play his duties. We know that war is not a game, and we know that it is a terrible peace instead of war. But what else can a nation do but prepare for war and engage in mortal combat, an operation which, run amuck, perpetrate an outrage after another until patience has been exhausted and national dignity and security have been imperiled? America courts peace and liberty at all times. The spirit of life and let life permeates American history, American character, American principles. But the United States, with its rights toward peace and civilization threatened, must offer armed resistance to imperial encroachment and imperial outrages, and will do so to the utmost. This unhappy condition, for which a desperate monarchy cannot be helped, but must be stoutly and resolutely met. The young, though catching somewhat the military spirit, will in the end, if they are not the victims of America's action in the world war, be impressed by the nation's unselfish course, its devotion of men and treasure to uphold a high ideal.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Wayne Volunteer Fire department was held in the city hall Tuesday evening. A large number of members attended, and the following officers were elected for the coming year: H. B. Craven, chief; M. L. Ringer, assistant chief; LeRoy Ley, secretary; W. O. Hanson, treasurer; and John Soule, steward.

The newly elected officers of the hose company are: E. E. Fleetwood, foreman; Earl Lewis, assistant foreman; E. Rippon, second assistant foreman. The new hook and ladder officers are: R. L. Will, foreman; and A. L. Dragon, assistant foreman.

The new fire truck which was purchased a few weeks ago, needs equipment, which will cost nearly $50 and a portion of that amount was raised by assessing each member $2.50. The balance will be raised by general subscription. Earl Merchan and G. Mues were appointed a committee to purchase equipment. A well equipped fire truck such as Wayne has, is a great benefit to the residents of a town, for the short length of time it takes to answer a call will be a great improvement over the old system. The new truck will be especially benefited by this.

SHOLES

Mrs. A. L. Hurlbert is slowly improving. Mrs. Clark spent Tuesday at the J. C. Meink home. Irma and Anna Closson visited with home folks over Sunday.

Mrs. E. C. Bragonier went to Wayne last Friday noon to do some shopping. Miss Alice Root came up from Wayne Friday evening to visit with home folks.

Miss L. Gibson came up from Pender last Thursday to visit with her brother, Elmer. Miss Louise Kruse is spending a couple of days with her sister, Miss Joe Winkelbour.

Sholes is a dog town and a majority of the people are more than pleased as a result. The many friends of C. A. Stewart are glad to welcome him back to his old position as station agent.

Miss Esther Glaser and friend, Miss Viola Gibson, came up from Wayne Friday evening to spend Sunday with home folks. A. C. Bragonier was a Wayne passenger Tuesday morning.

Elmer Closson was a Sioux City passenger Saturday morning and went on to Paulina, Ia., to visit his brother, R. Closson and wife. Miss Dora Kruse resigned her job at the Sholes Friday evening.

Quite a number of young folks attended Epworth League last Sunday evening, even though the weather was not favorable. Miss Louise Herman leads next Sunday night.

A surprise party was given at the William Wise home Tuesday evening. The time was spent in dancing and games. Light refreshments were served. Everybody spent a very pleasant evening.

Reduced Prices on Ladies' Coats and Suits

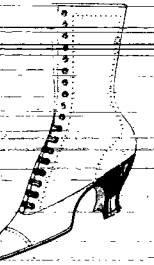

You can now get a Spring Suit or Coat very cheap. If you have gone without a wrap until now here is your chance to buy one at a good reduction. We have to close out our own stock, and the two stocks we used in giving sales in other towns, so prices have been made unusually low.

You will find fifty-four of the New Suits to choose from; every one of them marked at a good reduction. These are suits of both gabardine and poplin in navy blue, black and tan, as well as the very popular shades of gold and spring green. At the reduced prices, $15.00, $20.00, $25.00, they are great bargains.

The coats number over a hundred and there are plenty of them in the popular new colors. There are also many blacks and navy blues in regular sizes and in out sizes up to 52-inch bust. You can get a nice coat at almost any price you want to pay from $6.00 to $20.00. The children's coats are now $3.50 to $6.50. The Spring Dress Skirts are also now on sale.

Every Day Shoes for Ladies and Children at a Big Saving in Price

We have picked out every pair of ladies' shoes and slippers that have been in stock for over two seasons, and put them all on one big table marked "your choice $2.50." Dozens of pairs of these shoes sold at $4.25 and $4.50 and today "equally good" shoes are worth much more than that. Of course, the toes and heels are out of date but the wearing qualities are there and these shoes will save twice their cost if used for your rough wear instead of your higher priced dress shoes. Many of them are in sizes 3 and 4, which will just fit your older girls, so keep their sizes in mind when you come.

How the Maytag Multi-motor Washer

Will Take the "Blue" Out of Monday on the Farm

These five distinctive advantages over other power machines abolish the rub and drudge of wash day and make each Monday seem like a holiday

Special Features

1. Equipped with a quick release lever on wringer so that there is no chance of injury to the fingers or to the clothes.
2. All moving parts are enclosed—"Safety First"—and ALWAYS.
3. The pulley on end of shaft can be used to drive any light machinery by belt connection.
4. The engine is securely fastened beneath the tub out of the way all the time.
5. A simple half turn of the handle locks washer lid and throws dolly in gear; a half turn in the opposite direction reverses the motion.

Convincing Evidence

In demonstrations in actual laundering in the home economics departments of both the Nebraska and North Dakota state universities, the MAYTAG MULTI-MOTOR WASHER with the Swinging Reversible Wringer was emphatically pronounced an advanced household utility for farm women. Read what they have to say of the performance, the safety, the simplicity, the economy, the convenience and the thoroughness of the Maytag washing. #### THE WORK OF THE LATE STATE LEGISLATURE

Lincoln Journal.—The thirty-fifth session of the Nebraska legislature will go down in history as the longest in forty-six years and the longest but one in the history of the state. It adjourned April 24 after being in actual session eighty-six days or 113 days after it convened. It was not only the longest, but it appropriated more money than any other session in the history of the state. The total appropriation—$9,715,888.66, as compared with 2,737,011 appropriated by the legislature of 1915.

Neville vetoed H. R. 13, a bill relating to the preservation of markers of land corners. One word of the original statute sought to be amended had been accidentally omitted from the bill, making it meaningless. He vetoed H. R. 21, giving an additional judge each to the Third and Tenth judicial districts, but another bill already before the legislature on the same subject and accomplishing the same result, with some objectionable features omitted, was afterward passed and became a law. So that veto did not really count as a veto. He vetoed S. P. 29, a bill designed to fix terms upon which the state treasurer shall require banks that desire to obtain state funds on deposit to bid for such funds, but said in his veto message that the state treasurer already has power to do what the bill proposes and calmness scuttling the old-fashioned inefficient and unfair volunteer system. "The men we send to the front line in Europe, if the war lasts long enough for them to get there, will be selectively conscripted. That is to say, they will be picked out from all the manhood of America as being those best fitted for military service at least cost to the nation's economy. Conscription means first of all recognition of the principle of universal liability for national service in time of war. It means that every man, woman and child in America is considered subject to the national will in the great business of defending the nation." It means that the government may go to any man and say to him, "You come" and that he must go. That is conscription.

That is what selective conscription means.

THE FIELD OF BUSINESS.

St. Louis Journal.—The first real war financing was recorded last week when the United States government placed to the credit of the British government $200,000,000 raised by an issue of American treasury certificates. Although the certificates are not yet ready for delivery they were offered to the banks through the Federal reserve banks and the offering was "specie" oversubscribed. The cash will be advanced by the British government to meet their American obligations now falling due. It is expected another block of $200,000,000 or perhaps $250,000,000 will be out this week. The proceeds to be used to meet the immediate financial necessities of the French and Italian governments. France will get perhaps $150,000,000 and Italy perhaps $100,000,000. Applications for loans are now on file from Russia, Belgium, Cuba and Haiti.

In 1915 Governor Morehead vetoed four bills (two at the request of the introducer and two on his own motion. St. Louis Journal.—Provision by the government and backed by the army staff to a man, the selective conscription method of raising troops now has been formally approved by both houses of congress. America at the very outset of her participation in the world war resolutely and with considerable

But this is to be selective conscription. It contemplates a picking and choosing. "The government will exercise the right to say to one man, 'You come,' and to another man, 'You stay,' regardless of the individual's wishes in either case. It will be required to meet the need of our foreign borrowers. At this rate the $300,000,000 allotted for loans to the allies will have been exhausted during the first six months of our participation in the war. The $400,000,000 to be used for our own war expenditures will hardly be disposed of so quickly. According to present plans, none of the early issues will bear more than 31 per cent interest, though provision has been made for increasing the returns on these securities if it should be found necessary to raise the rate on later ones.

The placing of such a tremendous offering of low rate securities with the public in a relatively short time is a venture for which there is no precedent. The president's executive financial circles is that there will be no serious difficulty in inducing the public to absorb the offering. The investment will, of course, be absolutely sound and the return will exceed those paid by the most conservative banks for savings accounts.

The course of wheat prices during the week has increased discussion of the probable need for price fixing by the government. The week closed with the May option hovering around the $2.75 mark. In Minneapolis the judges are grouped by an announcement that the government would buy no more wheat at prevailing prices and a decree prohibiting the unauthorized purchase of remaining stock.

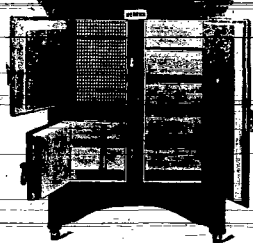

A tendency toward irregularity in production, with recessions in some lines of jobbing, has been countered by extensive new purchases along lines of military preparedness on government account. Ship manufacturers and other producers filed complaint that business is being injured by injudicious application of the advance stockpiling plan. In some quarters has caused the hoarding of money instead of using it for legitimate expenditures for necessities. Bank clearings for the week aggregated $634,000,000.

HERRICK HIGH GRADE REFRIGERATORS.

The two all important factors in any refrigerator are the system of refrigeration, insulation and general construction.

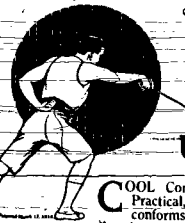

The design has to do with the principle, which underlies the building of the refrigerator. Unless a thoroughly dependable principle of refrigeration is employed, the finest materials and workmanship cannot produce a really good refrigerator capable of doing the work it should do.

The Herrick Scientific System of Refrigeration has stood the uncompromising test of service for over a quarter of a century. It is based on NATURE'S own refrigerating method—and is fundamentally right in every respect.

To keep food pure you must have pure air, dry, clean, and with an abundance of oxygen—the great life-giving element. The temperature must be kept at an even, uniform cool degree—not too cold—and perfectly dry. You secure these results through the Herrick System of Refrigeration.

TALK CANNOT BRING PEACE. Lincoln Journal:—Even the partial history of industrial deportation in Belgium and northern France makes it clear that peace cannot be had merely for the asking. The damage done has been too deadly for that. A single team will help explain the attitude of the entente allies. A Belgian company which has succeeded in making artificial silk to greater advantage than its German competitors was visited not long ago by a German who earned a permit from the war department. This man made an exhaustive study of the plant, secured drawings of its workings and carried away samples of characteristic pieces of the machinery and samples of the product. When the directors protested against his activity he calmly said: "Your whole plant is to be exported shortly and carried away and set up in Germany. Your staff of workmen and employes is to be deported with it and they will have to continue working there." The same thing has taken place in a large number of Belgian and French industries. In three French centers of textile manufacturing, materials to the value of two hundred millions of dollars had been carried off to Germany. All factory machinery has gradually followed the same road. The completeness of the stripping of the conquered territory is indicated by "notices" in German newspapers. A Cologne paper advertises that "furniture from regions where military operations are going on delivered to any address." Another paper asks for "electric motors, smiths and carpenters to unmount electrical machines in occupied Belgium and France." The Frankfurter Zeitung says that "A large zone of devastation has been created in France where the enemy will not find a roll of wire, not a wish of straw or hay, not a spade or fork, not a well." When this sort of thing has been going on for nearly three years it is useless to talk to the people of France about a peace short of the complete defeat of the nation responsible for this ruthlessness.

COSTLY JOKE

Aurora Republican: Serious consequences are likely to follow thoughtless words and deeds when a nation is at war. The village of North Loup was greatly excited a few days ago when it was discovered that the flag on top of a school house had been removed during the previous night. Suspensions were entertained that some enemy of the government had been at work, and blood hounds were set upon the matter. The responsible parties were discovered and proved to be two young men of the community who took the flag on a dare from two young lady teachers while out on a midnight lark. The girls were compelled to give in their passions, while one of the boys who was a member of the graduating class, was especially humiliated. It was a severe lesson but a wholesome one for all who are inclined to consider American citizenship and national self-respect as proper subjects for questionable jokes.

DAILY CLOSING

Wisner, Neb., April 30.—The long march across the desert was begun in Wisner Friday afternoon when, on account of a noisy gathering, the saloons closed their doors. The saloon owned by Mr. Tuelle was closed forever Thursday night. Trouble began here Friday afternoon when some of the patrons of the remaining open bars bought fire-crackers, took them into the saloon and began celebrating. The heavy smoke and noise caused the owners to close sooner than they had planned. Late Saturday night the owners had not decided whether they would reopen Monday or not. It was said today if they did open at all it would be but for a short time.

Williams, deceased, and that the execution of said instrument may be committed and that the administration of said estate may be granted to Mary Louise Williams as executrix. Ordered, That May 23, A. D. 1917, at 10 o'clock a. m., is assigned for hearing said petition, when all persons interested in said matter may appear at a county court to be held in and for said county, and show cause why the next of kin petitioner should not be granted; and that notice of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof be given to all persons interested in said matter by publishing a copy of this order in the Wayne Herald, a weekly newspaper printed in said county, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing. There is also the high cost of living. Casting prospects is the hardest job. Don't make a specialty of expecting the worst. Where a man makes a bid for public sympathy his battle is lost. Some people are selfish at heart and others are selfish at stomach. A man has a good time when his prejudices become popular opinions. Many people don't care for important news, but prefer exciting news. There is always more talk going to a fishing hole than coming back home. This spring, on account of recent legislation, cheer and beer do not rhyme. Many things seem alluring, which on account are found to be rough as iron. The savings in wearing the skirts shorter is largely invested in silk stockings. A woman there are a lot of sore eyes, but there is so much to see these days. A man, however, does not care to welcome spring by washing windows for his wife. Keeping your grouse on constant extinction, won't be much of a help to discipline. Every man should be arrested about two times during his life for what he thinks. A practical joker, it sometimes comes to us in much worse than an impractical joker. Not all the dullards, however, become silly because of the art work and six play schedule. A moral sermon is a fine Christian thing, but if you can't whip the man you are "agin". What has become of the old-fashioned man who boldly said that love is mightier than force? When it is said of a man that he means well that means that he hasn't enough brains to do well. Most men know they are benched, but they don't know anything they can do about it. Rufie Hoskins says he could raise a better garden if the ground didn't produce so many fish worms. A soldier's first duty is to obey orders, which may explain why married men make good soldiers. You have such a poor memory that you probably have forgotten the distress signal of your lodge. You also may have encountered the bore who insists on giving the scientific reason for everything. America's troubles will soon be settled, as the commencement orations are already being prepared. The average person who insists on hearing sad strains of music is a strain on other people's nerves. Usually the most tiresome communications are those signed by "taxpayer," whoever he may be. Every woman feels that her husband should wash his feet, and in a while whether they need it or not. An explanation: Jude Johnson and Short Jenks were not college chums, but they went crazy together. Ab Adkins has decided that a man has to do something more than get up early in order to prove his wisdom. Even if a man goes to bed for half a day it doesn't constitute an excuse for saying he had been across the river. No one is going to drag your name down into the mire if you don't voluntarily get close to the mud hole. The rule is that more women than men attend a wedding, and that many of the men present were dragged there. A lot of girls who are as cunning as kitties eventually become catty, and make life miserable for their husbands. It may also be said that a camping trip is a great institution to make one appreciate benefits of civilization. Many are the times we have seen an Atchison man spit upon his hands, but we have yet to see him do any work. Why, this low brow passes to inquire, can't the average singer pro-

In a lot of magazines there is more common sense in the advertisements than in the other parts of the magazines. A man with a mean disposition is always too willing to prove it. Don't believe, wife, when she urges you to take a pleasure trip alone for economy's sake. She doesn't mean it. A woman never gets so tired of her husband, and some of them become painfully weary that she wants him to neglect her for other women. What has become of the old-fashioned man who forgot to remove the tags from his new clothes? You don't even see him in church any more. The Lord did not put whiskers on a man as an adornment, but as a punishment. It certainly is terrible to shave one's self when there is no hot water handy. Probably you complain of the ingratitude of humanity, but are you as grateful as you should be when the occasion demands it?

$5.00 More For $1.00 Invested

A worthwhile proposition, indeed, in these days of sky-rocketing prices. Let us show you how it figures out.

Suppose you have 100 baby chicks in your flock. We estimate that one chick eats not to exceed one cent's worth of food during the first three weeks of its life.

How About Loss?

Look up your records for last year. Isn't it true that from 25 per cent to 50 per cent of all the chickens you hatched drooped and died before they were three weeks old? Now, if you only raised five more chicks out of 100 by feeding Wayne Chick Food, it would be a paying proposition because five chicks at that age worth $1 apiece.

LOCAL SUPERVISOR ON HOME GARDENING

Herman Stiens, supervisor of Wayne home gardens, contributed the following to the Omaha Daily News in his work: The most patriotic boys and girls are those who raise the biggest crops on the smallest piece of ground. To answer the call "to arms" is one form of expression of patriotism. But loyalty to the Stars and Stripes in this crisis can be shown by children and grownups by using all available garden space economically and by caring for the surplus that is not sold, by canning it. Any child ten years of age can do almost anything he raises in his garden by the "cold pack method." You should help can the old demon "High Cost of Living," and keep him well scaled up and stored away forever. From $500 to $1,600 worth of vegetables per acre were produced by school children in Nebraska during the past year. Ever greater and better results are to be expected this year due to the shortage of many foodstuffs. The United States government is buying large quantities of canned goods. Thirty-five per cent will be added to the price of canned goods next season. Why not let the chil-

PRELIMINARY TO A PROLONGED DROUGHT

Lincoln, Neb., May 1. At 8 o'clock last night 829 saloons, breweries and ten rectifying plants in Nebraska closed, under the prohibition law initiated by the electorate and reinforced by a supplemental statute enacted by the legislature. Purchase, manufacture, sale or gift of liquor is prohibited, but possession is not forbidden. A large number of saloons throughout the state, reports last night said, sold their stocks out at noon yesterday. As a consequence prices soared until bottled whiskey and beer retailed in many towns at prices prohibitive in the meager purse. Stocks of a few dealers were auctioned and the bidders were eager and the "knock-down" figures were high. Heavy Sales in Omaha. Omaha, May 1. Sales of liquor here during the past week reached record-breaking proportions. From statements from all local wholesale liquor men it is estimated that during the past few days over $35,000 a day has been spent for liquor. This same, if all spent on bottled whiskey at $4 a gallon would purchase nearly 9,000 gallons a day. The total 9,000 gallons would more than fill the newest type of the Standard Oil tank car which holds about 8,000 gallons. The great crowds thronged the streets of Omaha last night. Curiosity seemed to attract most of the people down town for there was very little revelry. Most of the saloons had so depleted their stocks that the variety was limited to bottled beer and plain "hoose" being about all sold after noon. There was little roudness. The great crowds which did little more than wander up and down the streets alone marked the passing of the "juice that cheers."

PIERCE MEN ENLIST.

Pierce, Neb., May 1.—E. D. Lundak, superintendent of the schools, was granted a leave of absence to attend the officers' training camp at Fort Snelling, Minn., which opens May 14. The school board also accepted the resignation of Miss Marjorie Minter, who goes to Foster at an increased salary. Two boys, Charles J. Roberts, bookkeeper in the First State bank, and Fred Corell, employed in the law office of Douglas Cones, left Tuesday for Omaha where they will enlist. Humanity is largely like this: The money a man saves by not smoking, he spends on chewing gum.

WAYNE SHOULD HAVE RED CROSS SOCIETY

Editor Wayne Herald: Why shouldn't Wayne have a Red Cross organization? In these strenuous times we are all called upon to do our part. A very helpful form of service for those who are not at the front, for those who have to do their part at home is along the line of Red Cross work. There has been considerable favorable discussion and agitation of the matter among the various ladies' clubs of Wayne, but each seems waiting for the other to act. The forming of a Red Cross organization is a movement in which the whole town and community should have an interest, and there is no doubt that the women and men of Wayne and the neighboring country would gladly cooperate in such work, if some one would make a beginning. Why couldn't the Public Service club appoint a committee of twelve or fifteen representative citizens, men and women of the town and community to meet and make plans for forming such an organization.—An Interested Citizen.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

Marriage licenses were issued out of the county court as follows: April 27—William Schroeder to Georgia Cassell. They were married by the court. April 30—Wayne W. Roe to Rhoda Nelson. Sometimes the majority rules, and sometimes it only thinks it does.

RUSHING BUSINESS AT PIERCE.

Pierce, Neb., May 1.—The saloons closed at 8 o'clock, although a few had gone out of business earlier. During the last hours they did a rushing business, one saloon selling a carload of beer in the last two hours. There was no disorder, although there was considerable drinking. Tuesday the former saloonmen were engaged in removing window displays and signs, in compliance to the law.

NEW TRAIN SCHEDULES.

Norfolk Daily News: Train changes on both the Northwestern and the M. & O. lines went into effect Sunday. Northwestern trains No. 3 left at 10:30 for Omaha and St. Louis in January were reinstated and the schedules of local freights No. 21 and 22 on the M. & O. were extended so that now the trains run from Norfolk to Sioux City. Northwestern passenger train No. 5, leaving Omaha at 2:15, now arrives in South Norfolk at 6:50 in the evening leaving South Norfolk at 7:15 and continuing on to Long Pine making all the local stops. Passenger train No. 3 that has been making all the local stops between South Norfolk and Long Pine will now be run as a through train stopping only where orders are received. Passenger train No. 8 will leave Long Pine coming east at 12:05 arriving in South Norfolk at 4:50 and leaving for Omaha at 5:15. It formerly left here at 5:30. Both No. 8 and 5 were taken off because of the slack times. With the coming of spring and the opening of the heavy milk shipments the trains were placed back on the runs. Freight train No. 21 which formerly ran from Emerson to Norfolk on the M. & O. arriving here about 10:30, will now run from Sioux City leaving here at 7:30 and arriving in Norfolk at 11:25. No 22 will be made up here and will leave Norfolk at 7 o'clock arriving in Sioux City at 10:30 in the evening. The change on this run was made on account of the heavy freight shipments and to supply a local train for points between Norfolk and Sioux City late in the afternoon.

The weather last week was cold and rainy with an occasional flurry of snow, and it made people yearn for warm sunshine. A drizzling rain all day Saturday capped the climax of an unusually turbulent week. People couldn't come to town, and the customary rush in the business district was nil.

A special stock train was made up at Wayne Saturday evening for seven cars of cattle to Chicago. The following were shipped: F. E. Strahan, four cars of cattle; William Gildersleeve, five cars of cattle; D. A. Surber, two cars of cattle; George Gildersleeve, one car of cattle; and Len Owen, two cars of cattle. J. M. Strahan, D. A. Surber, Lou Owen and Lloyd Gildersleeve accompanied the shipment.

SAVIDGE COMPANY GATHERS AT WAYNE
With the arrival of Eleanor Rella from Fort Worth, Tex., and Reginald, known as Reginald, from Chicago, the personnel of the dramatic organization of the Savidge Amusement company is complete. Reginald Adams is back from Wilmington, N. C., and Mrs. Elliott, who stars in comedy parts as well as Al Wilson, who is perfectly at home in the heaviest of heavy roles, have returned for the season. These three are favorites wherever Savidge goes. They are, and with such promising artists for "leads," the Savidge theater will no doubt be the leading feature during carnival week.

The plays that will be shown in Wayne on the last four days of next week will be: "On Parade," which depicts thrilling scenes of Civil War days; "A Pair of Sixes," a comedy that takes place across the track; and "Perimeter," Harold Bell Wright's gripping novel, "The Shepherd of the Hills," "Little Southern Girl," a quaint, human drama, and "By the Sea." Owen Davis, a decided recent hit in New York city.

The canvas theater, well-lighted and equipped with comfortable seats, will be placed across the track, near south of Clark's garage. Mr. Savidge states that all of the attractions will be grouped on either side of an avenue in "Midway" style.

The Blanches, who have just finished an engagement at the Majestic theater in Chicago, arrived in Wayne Sunday, to get things in readiness for their winter tour. This, together with the many other features, several of them entirely new, are manned by 130 men and women, traveling in nine cars. Mrs. Savidge has a big show and money and try to make the 1917 season the best season ever, and it looks as if success were already assured him.

WAYNE H. S. DEBATORS SURRENDER TO LYONS

The Wayne high school debating team was defeated at Lyons Friday evening by the Lyons high school team, the decision being 2 to 1. The question, "Resolved, That the Monroe Doctrine Should be Abolished," was upheld on the affirmative by the Lyons team and the negative side of the question was supported by the Wayne team, Orvin Gaston, Virginia Bowen and Don Gildersleeve. The judges, Attorney Sorensen, Mr. Wang and Mr. Harlow, all of Lincoln, admit that the question of deciding the winner was a hard one. Wayne believes in being a good loser and congratulates Lyons on its victory. John Young of Lyons, was chosen the champion debater of this district, and he will take part in the state debate in Lincoln.

Those accompanying the team to Lyons were: Ernest Sederstrom, Ralph Cairns, George Koskoff, Harold Hufford, Knox Jones and Supt. O. R. Bowen.

MOTHER AND FATHER ADJUDGED INSANE

Harrington Herald: Mr. and Mrs. William Stone of Coleridge were adjudged insane Tuesday by the Norfolk hospital. They are the parents of three sons and one daughter, the eldest being a boy 7 years and the youngest a son of 14 months.

Complaints against Mr. and Mrs. Stone were filed by the Coleridge doctors and they were brought to Harrington by Sheriff McEadden and C. M. Olsen. Mr. Olsen and Harry Mallart took the patients to Norfolk immediately after the hearing.

It was reported by people living in the neighborhood of the Stones that they were under the delusion that their farm was inhabited by ghosts and that for several weeks shots had been heard at frequent intervals during the day and night. It appears that Stone was shooting at the spirit as they appeared at different places on the farm and it became so dangerous neighbors dared not pass the place. They also imagined that everything was poisoned. They boiled water and called it coffee, tea, soup and other articles of food and had existed in this manner so long that the entire family was almost exhausted from starvation. When brought to Harrington it was difficult to induce the children to eat. They refused candy offered them at the court house, so thoroughly had they been led to believe by their parents that everything was poisoned.

C. G. Brienbaugh of Coleridge was appointed guardian of the children but upon his arrival in Harrington he refused to take charge of them and they were left temporarily in the care of C. M. Olsen. They will be sent to the children's dependent home at Lincoln.

Mrs. Stone has been ill for several years and it is thought that the habitual association with his wife caused Mr. Stone to become delirious. Mr. Stone is 42 years of age and Mrs. Stone about 36. They own the farm they have been occupying and are financially well fixed.

While it was reported that they were violent, Mr. Olsen says that on the trip to Norfolk, which was made by auto, both Mr. and Mrs. Stone were very rational and he thinks Mr. Stone's condition will improve rapidly and that he will be released from the hospital in a few months.

Do you know that of every hundred people who are sick enough to need a physician only twenty-two are afforded the conveniences and comforts of a hospital? The remaining eighty-eight sick folks figure that it is too much of an effort to reach a city hospital, and, furthermore, they dread being surrounded by strangers during the long weeks of convalescence.

AND yet not one home in twenty is properly equipped to care for a patient, who is seriously ill or who is recovering from a major operation. Country hospitals are meeting this genuine need in a thorough-going manner. The rooms are as attractive, the equipment as complete, the modern appliances and surgical instruments as up-to-date as found in the palatial hospitals of metropolitan cities. A well-fitted hospital is a real benefit to any community.

At present it is the opinion that the condition of a person's mouth is his own private affair, but the time is coming when a dirty, germ-infected mouth will be considered a menace to society, as is now a patient with smallpox.

An uncleaned mouth is not only a source of disease to the individual but also a menace to the health of every person who comes within reasonable distance of him.

There is no surer germ bearer than decayed teeth and infected gums. The condition of your mouth is not your business but your business—and everybody's business. It is the business of the community.

THE BEST TOOLS ARE WISE ECONOMY

This year when farm labor costs so much and farm products are so uniformly high, it will be a serious mistake to dilly-dally along with the plowing and corn planting. You can't afford to have your men idle while you cart worn-out machinery to the repair shop, or attempt to patch it up yourself. In the long run the most up-to-date tools on the market are the surest economy for the thrifty farmer.

The John Deere No. 999

is the only planter equipped with the ACCURATE NATURAL SELECTION DROP. This device, by which the very weight of the corn causes it to agitate constantly over the sloping edges of the hopper bottom so there is no danger of a cell slipping past empty, is as far ahead of the old edge-drop as the edge-drop was ahead of the round-hole-plate. In action, the dropping is perfect. No projecting parts to catch or lodge the kernels, which fall backward and downward into the furrow so as to avoid imperfect checking, due to the uneven travel of the team. And this is only one of the many superior features of the John Deere Corn Planter. Come in and look over this machine whether you are buying a planter this season or not.

Great Western Separator

is "The World's Best" because it is a low tank, high crank model besides being the closest skimmer and the most durable separator on the market. In addition it is equipped with a self-drawing body exceeding simple in construction; enclosed, self-oiling gears; swinging tank; finest imported ball bearings which insure easy running and long life; glass sight feed oiler with a cup to catch all surplus oil that might leak from the gears. Besides these outstanding improvements the Great Western is so easy to clean that women are unanimously in favor of this machine. Only a few minutes are necessary for the entire operation. The discs are so constructed with curved edges that they can be kept absolutely sanitary with very little effort. Investigate the GREAT WESTERN if you need a separator.

will not enforce itself in Nebraska. There is need of vigilant work by officers and citizens. But under existing conditions, the prohibition law should be as easy of enforcement as many another law, whose enforcement is taken for granted.

With three and a half years in that it puts Nebraska in position to lose its appetite for building the liquor business well over a quarter and with no liquor machine in the state to promote a reaction, Nebraska offers small chance that the liquor business will ever reestablish itself here. The firmness of other states on that point confirms this opinion.

Prohibition does not mean the punishment for whiskey. It will reduce poverty. But it will not abolish it, for liquor is not the only cause of poverty. It will surely reduce it, but not abolish it. Not only have we eliminated nominal charges. This means that any one who wants the railroad's right-of-way for other purposes may do so by paying just enough of a fee to make a legal muddled brains for meeting political problems. But this has merely cleared the way for dealing with vital new questions and differences which will be promptly to arise. It is perhaps our greatest gain from the elimination of the liquor question that it puts Nebraska in position to build the superstructure of a commonwealth the foundation work of which has lagged while we were interested with this problem.

RAILWAY OFFERS ITS RIGHT-OF-WAY FOR USE

P. W. Moran, railway station agent at this place, has received instructions from headquarters to lease the company's right-of-way for other purposes at nominal charges. This means that any one who wants the railroad's right-of-way for other purposes may do so by paying just enough of a fee to make a legal and binding agreement. It looks as though the railroad company's generosity would be eagerly taken advantage of.

CHURCH CALENDAR

Methodist Church.
(Rev. A. S. Buell, Pastor.)
By special request the Rev. R. J. McKenney of Carroll will preach in the Wayne Methodist church next Sunday morning on "Christian Stewardship." Brother McKenney has a splendid message and it is sure that our people will be glad to hear him next Sunday.

The evening program entitled "Queens and the Kingdom" will be given by the Queen Esther young ladies next Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. This splendid group of young women are live members and you will surely want to be at their program.

There will be no change in the time of our morning services at the present. The matter has been up for consideration of late, but no change decided upon.

Six weeks ago an efficiency campaign was started in order to get the children of the Sunday school to remain for the preaching service. The results so far have justified the effort. Last Sunday almost half of the congregation was composed of Sunday school scholars many of whom formerly went home at the close of the Bible school. Our aim is "the entire Sunday school at the preaching service."

Public worship next Sunday at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. The morning subject is "The Purchased Possession;" in the evening "Pilgrim's Companion Faithful."

A RED LETTER DAY

Lincoln Journal. With the closing of the saloons and liquor factories of Nebraska last night, Nebraska begins today something like a new life. A contest of more than a generation's duration is over. The vitality of the onslaught upon the liquor evil and its agent, the liquor business, has been such in Nebraska as to spell discouragement to that trade in regions where it still survives. For Nebraska human nature is like human nature elsewhere. It was no mere abstract idea that made the war against the liquor business on with increased force after each battle lost. It was the endless exhibitions of the individual loss and social waste involved in the liquor traffic, that kept the movement alive. Prohibition was beaten in 1890. The movement was halted for a few years. Then courage and energy were again kindled on without stop to the prohibition land, beside last November. Then still it continued till a reluctant senate submitted to the enactment of legislation which is today in effect.

There was a time when a prohibition victory gave no assurance that the liquor question was in question of settlement. Those were the times when the people enacted prohibition and left enforcement to take care of itself. Prohibition states were then slow to be kind and surrounded by an encroaching sea of wet neighbors. Nebraska goes dry with the federal government its ally in preventing liquor importations and sales in the neighboring states. Legislation such as other states have found effective. And it is surrounded by dry states save only for the small part of its frontiers adjacent to Missouri and Wyoming. Prohibition

Comfortable Lasts for Men Who Work

Are necessary when you stop to think that you spend sixteen hours every day in your shoes. Oftentimes you tramp through rough and lumpy ground during the six days of the week. You must have shoes that fit and feel easy on your feet. Such shoes are the only kind that will give you sixteen hours of daily comfort.

The Flexible Welt Work Shoe

Every pair of "GOOD FEELERS" and "DAIRYMAN" shoes is built over a full last with an extra wide toe shape. The soles are very flexible and cut from stock that will wear and wear. The uppers are soft, yet durable. All the leather in these shoes is scientifically treated so as to resist the acids of the barnyard. Buy "GOOD FEELERS" and "DAIRYMAN" for SERVICE and COMFORT.

SOFT TEETH

The reason why some mouths are free from decayed teeth and others are not, is entirely on account of the difference in environment and not that some teeth are soft and others hard.

That is, teeth in an unclean and acid mouth will decay rapidly, and those in a clean mouth will decay slowly or not at all.

In other words, the acid of a tooth cannot take place except upon an unclean surface, where acid-secreting bacteria are allowed to develop.

This acid will disintegrate a so-called hard-tooth just as rapidly as a so-called soft tooth.

Investigation has proven that there is very little if any difference in the quality of teeth.

Pageant Sunday

Thirty-five girls of the Queen Esther order gave an excellent patriotic pageant, entitled "America's Renovation to the Nations" at the Methodist church last Sunday evening. The girls were costumed to represent the typical immigrant from different countries. Every scene and every song was a powerful appeal for constructive missionary work in the United States. A crowded house gave close attention to the entire program, and attested to genuine interest in the cause by contributing generously to the free will offering, which together with the mite boxes of the Queen Esthers totaled over $25 for the Home Mission board.
