FOR ORGANIZATION OF DEFENSE COUNCIL

May 9, 1917. Mr. John T. Bressler, Wayne, Neb. Dear Sir:

It is the consensus of opinion of the members of the State Council of Defense that I should designate a citizen in each county to take the initiative in organizing a County Defense Council to cooperate with the State Council in all matters pertaining to the defense in the event that such a council has not already been organized.

A meeting of the citizens should be called and an organization perfected by the election of a chairman, vice chairman, secretary and treasurer.

I will, as governor, issue commissions to the officers of the county associations, and officers and members should subscribe to an oath as subscribed to by state officers.

A representative should be appointed in each precinct and the County Defense Council should appoint the following committees from its membership: Finance, publicity, food production, conservation and distribution, cooperating agencies, hygiene, medicine and sanitation, recruiting.

As soon as organization is perfected, the names of the officers should be sent to the Secretary of State Council of Defense.

Yours very truly, Keith Neville.

The above letter is self explanatory, and all people interested in the proposed organization are requested to meet at the city hall, Wayne, Monday, evening, May 21, at 8 o'clock. It is a patriotic cause, and all should respond.

John T. Bressler.

TEN MILLION MEN

Washington, May 12.—Ten million men in the United States will be subject to selective conscription on July 1 within the ages agreed upon in the conference report of the war army bill.

Director Rogers of the census bureau announced today that this number of men between the ages of 21 and 30 inclusive represents virtually 10 per cent of the total estimated population between the 103,000,000 and 104,000,000 on July 1, 1917.

MOTOR PROPOSED FOR KEEPING DOWN DUST

W. H. Hoguetwood who has been operating the street sprinkler in Wayne for a number of years, finds he cannot render the service for the former compensation furnished by local business men, and accordingly increased contributions will be necessary during the summer to insure moisture streets and freedom from flying dust. It has been proposed that the city should be granted in buying a motor truck and looking after the sprinkling of streets. Motor power would make possible a more thorough job of sprinkling, and as most of the street does not merely benefit dealers, the expense would be justified, it is believed. It is suggested that any one visiting the business district by vehicle or foot is benefited by keeping down dust, and therefore that distribution of the cost of the service ought to be scattered over town by use of municipal funds. Whether this can be done or not, the Herald does not know. Anyway, it is worth consideration.

PENITENT FOR CLERGY

Harrison Herald: "Editor Hesse, Heretic of the Wayne Herald, who should have been burned at the stake long ago on account of his sins, now has the audacity to come out and say that he has always been very fond of the people of his native land, from the European war, fix up a more terrible hell than the one hitherto described. We would suggest that they revise it and bring it up to date. The orthodox will not be so generous and is losing its power in making people fearful and jump sideways when it is mentioned. It is high time to appoint a committee to reconstruct hell, adding plenty of sharp teeth as well as hot brimstone, and thus giving it more compelling force and making it fully adequate to present needs.

It is a fact that by multiplied cost of stock, newspapers have been hit harder by the war than any other class of business institutions. Many papers could not weather the storm and have closed their doors. The government and proposes to increase postage rates on newspapers. This may cause some others still ailing to fail. In addition, the government proposes to place a tax on advertising. Altogether newspapers will be oppressed to the limit if plans are fully carried out, and yet some, though soundly hit, will survive. The tried will no doubt survive the ordeal.

It is reported that American railroads are considering a proposition to ship one-third of their rolling stock to England to facilitate war operations. The way engines performed on this line during the snow and cold of last winter suggests the advisability of relinquishing the engines doing duty in this part of the state and replacing them with new ones. We could not doubt get along quite as well with fewer engines if they were better ones.

The city fathers are wishing to have the city made the shortest possible time that they end the war, is anxiously looking to Edison, greatest inventor of the age, to bring forth something that will effectively put the submarine out of business. With the present machinery disposed of, peace will come quicker and easier. And it is confidently believed a million in process of development will in comparatively answer the demand.

A speaker at a meeting in Omaha to discuss the food problem made the following statement: "I will take the pink-faced, soft handed boy and make him knut on the farm. And I will show him the best way to do the work to yield the greatest results. Well-to-do parents should encourage their sons to go to the farm. The mothers also should send their daughters out to help with farm work. The man who thus spoke should be encouraged to do his best in that direction."

At the railway station Saturday morning, we noticed a lady knitting a sock, which leads us to suggest the doubt if there is a girl under 30 years of age in Wayne county who has knut on the farm. It is a pity that in the early days of this country it was the rule for the head of a household to knit the family socks and stockings. Many homes that knut household necessities has largely lost out.

The number of women employed in money-making vocations has increased during the last year, and the number will grow even more rapidly in the future as a result of the war which will absorb many of the men. Women are showing themselves fully as competent as men to do most lines of service required in the trades and professions. Women are thus becoming more independent, and are not compelled to depend on men to insure a livelihood.

Speculation in food supplies during the national crisis was vehemently and justly denounced in the Herald just a few weeks ago. The idea of unnecessarily forcing up prices and thus oppressing the millions who must stand the brunt of the war, outrages the American sense of justice and right.

The weather bureau gives assurance that winter is over, and that we will from now on have plenty of warm weather. During the past two weeks of fair elements, farmers have been putting in over-time planting corn and otherwise laying the foundation for the biggest crops in the history of the country.

The closing exams of the University of Nebraska this week and next week will occupy a good deal of attention. Graduating classes from both institutions will be justly praised and encouraged. The Herald joins in expressions of congratulation and good wishes.

In this country where one man is no better than another in the eyes of the law, and where equal rights and equal opportunities are guaranteed, people should not be distinguished in respect to a king. We are inherently against the king business.

The report that shipment of anthracite coal during April exceeded that of any other month of the year by 1,000,000 tons encourages the hope that such fuel will not be so scarce and high priced as it has been during the past year.

In the military business, General Roosevelt is an important asset to this nation, and he should be given sufficient leadership to enable him to use his powers to the best possible advantage for the country's good.

Prohibition of the manufacture of liquor to save grain for more useful purposes during the war may get the nation into such abominable habits that it won't want to return to the business of making booze.

Representative Gardner of Massachusetts has resigned from congress to enter the army. Gardner was a leader in congress for preparedness and was consistently in favor of active military service.

If the munition factories and other rich manufacturing institutions will contribute their full share to the cost of the war, it will not be so long before we shall be under the heel of excessive taxation.

BOY SCOUTS URGED TO HELP FEED SOLDIERS

Local scoutmasters are recipients of circular letters from the New York headquarters urging them to do all in their power to further the cooperation between the Boy Scouts and the American Red Cross and the Department of Agriculture and the Navy in increasing the production of foodstuffs.

Herbert U. Hower, chairman of the committee on food at the National Council of Defense, asked the boy scouts to increase the output of beans at least tenfold. The slogan adopted by scouts for the year is "Every Scout to Feed a Soldier." War service emblems will be awarded to scouts and troops who to information received in the office of E. B. McClure, division superintendent of the Northwest Railway.

The railroad regiments will work in conjunction with the engineers corps in the foreign service. Stipend will be made to each man at the recruiting office that none of the men will be sent to the firing line, but that their work will consist in operating railroads under military arrangements. Men existing are assured of reinstatement.

The pay of the men who see no service above the scheduled pay of regular employees will be advanced 20 per cent.

The railroads are being organized at the launching of the organization. A private in any of these regiments will receive not less than $30 a month, and a sergeant will be paid at least $66. All officers will be paid accordingly. Each company will have four officers and 100 enlisted men.

Reports yesterday showed that the companies being raised in this section of the Northwestern railroad territory now has about 100 enlisted men and stated the full number will be reached in a short time.

C. E. Peterson, a brakeman; C. E. Utzman, a telegrapher, and W. P. West, a fireman, all of Sioux City, enlisted in the Northwestern unit yesterday. Staff men in the office of R. W. Kenardson, division engineer, have also applied for enlistment.

WILLIS FLEETWOOD IN SENIOR RECITAL

The following write-up and program concerning the senior music recital, recently given by Willis Fleetwood at the State Normal school:

Mr. Fleetwood of this place, will be read with interest.

The music lovers of Indianola were favored with a treat in the vocal line, when Willis Fleetwood appeared in senior song recital Friday at 7 p. m. in the gymnasium.

His performance was most marked in being able to present effectively a variety of style of song. Soft tone work was especially good in the songs by Dowling, Wade and "The Green Mountains." He distinguished himself more at ease in rhythmic pieces such as "In Gay Bohemia," and "Down Among the Dead Men" for the warlike style of "Two Grenadiers" and "Chariot."

The program was as follows:

Edward Loewe
Words adapted from Percy's "Relique of Ancient English Poetry"

Down Among the Dead Men

Jacobite Song
Words by Thomas Dyer; Off English
Composed about 1700.

Two Grenadiers Schumann

are particularly successful in any line of production or conservation of food.

Registrations at the national office have been extremely lively during the past two months, an average of 1,000 enrolling each day. America now has 224,000 scouts out of a possible 5,000,000.

It is thought that the movement may suffer from the withdrawal of many scoutmasters who will be called to the colors.

Other men who are somewhat disqualified for war service or who have dependents, are urged to volunteer their services as leaders.

RAILROAD MEN TO DO SERVICE IN FRANCE

During these days of high prices one is fortunate to get hold once in a while of a lot of low priced goods. I bought some 15x35 Turkish Towels at a discount and sell them next Saturday at 10 cents each. Not more than three towels to a customer at that price.

Never before did I have such a Complete Line of Summer Underwear as this year. Every number is full cut, elastic knit, snug fitting, nicely finished and absolutely right in price for the number in Ladies' Union Suits sell just now at 25 cents for sizes up to 38, and at 35 cents in larger sizes. Prices will be higher when I have to refill stock.

Beggs' Borated Talcum Powder is a high grade powder for the toilet or the nursery. It is absolutely pure. Price 10 cents the can. Get a free sample and try it.

I received this week 10,000 high grade Cloth Fabric Envelopes ordered about six months ago. Will sell them at 5 cents a package of 25. Better get a liberal supply now. You save 5 cents on each bunch.

The truth is worth repeating; the 15 cent children's Nobby hose is the best hose for the price and a wonderful money saver.

Unrimmed Children's Straw Hats, 10 cents each.

Farwell Party

Miss Clara Thies, Miss Alice Fisher and Miss Alice Ciekett, schoolmates of Miss Nellie Lane, carried out a pleasant surprise at the home of her sister, Mrs. LeRoy V. Ley, Monday evening in honor of her twelfth birthday. Outdoor games were enjoyed both before and after the luncheon, which was served at 6:30 o'clock. The guests were seated at the table with an attractive birthday cake trimmed with candles as the centerpiece. Refreshments of sandwiches, pickles, cocoa and cake were enjoyed. Mrs. Ley expects to leave the latter part of the week for her home in Omaha. She had been living with her sister until the end of the school year.

Elaborate Luncheon

Mrs. C. A. Chace, Mrs. James Britton and Mrs. A. R. Davis, the personnel of the program committee of the Missionary society of the Presbyterian church, were hostesses to all the ladies of the society at a 10 o'clock luncheon at the Chace home last Thursday. The guests, twenty-eight in number, found places at one long table in the dining room and several small tables. The excellent three-course luncheon was followed by a victoria concert of miscellaneous selections.

At 3 o'clock Mrs. Cynthia Dean took charge of the meeting for the regular devotional exercises. Mrs. F. E. Gamble then read a paper on "Porto Rico and Cuba," in which she narrated many interesting facts concerning the countries, the people and the mission. An entertaining resume of the late missionary convention at Atkinson was given by Mrs. Britton. The usual penny drift closed the pleasant and profitable afternoon. The luncheon was followed by the second Thursday in June.

HON. HENRY H. WILSON, who gives commencement address at State Normal anniversary Friday, May 25.

AUTO TURNS TURTLE WHEN WHEEL BREAKS

While coming to Wayne to attend the carnival last Saturday evening, Ray Malloy, who lives four and one-half miles northwest of Winside, in company with three other men, was thrown from his car when one of the back wheels was shattered as the car struck a rut in the road. The car turned over twice and all the occupants were thrown some distance, but no broken bones were suffered. There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a long time past, however, local medicine and surgical operations have been used with local treatment, pronounced by the doctors as the only method of cure, but constitutional disease, and therefore incurable. This is a warning to all who are afflicted with this disease. It is cured by the "Catarrh Cure" of J. C. Chamberlain, & Co., Lowell, Mass. It is taken internally, it acts directly on the inflamed mucous membrane, and it is taken before the disease is advanced. They offer one hundred dollars for any case that is not cured by this cure.

ORDER OF HEARING.

The state of Nebraska, Wayne county, ss.
At a county court, held at the county court room, in and for said county of Wayne, on the 30th day of April, 1917.
Present, James Britton, County Judge.
In the matter of the estate of John J. Williams, deceased.
On reading and filing the petition of Mary Louise Williams, praying that the instrument filed on the 26th day of April, 1917, and purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased, may be proved, approved, probated, allowed and recorded as the last will and testament of said deceased, and that execution of said instrument be committed and that the administration of said estate may be granted to Mary Louise Williams, as executrix, and that the same be done, on the 10th of October, 1917, in the probate court of this county, and that the petitioner appear at a county court to be held on and for said county, and show cause why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted; and that notice of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, be given to all persons interested in said matter by publishing a copy of this order in the Wayne Herald, a weekly newspaper printed in said county, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing.
Attest: JAMES BRITTON, County Judge.

Proper Food for Weak Stomachs.

The proper food for one man may be all wrong for another. Food should be adapted to the individual's age and occupation. Those who have weak stomachs need to be especially careful and should eat slowly and masticate their food thoroughly. It is also important that they keep their bowels regular. When they become constipated or when they feel dull and stand after eating, they should take Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is so easy to take and pleasant in effect.

MOBILIZING THE BOYS.

New York World: The proposal to enroll the idle youth of the country and make an agricultural and industrial reserve of them is to be commended. It is estimated that there are 2,000,000 American boys between 16 and the age of enlistment of whom 2,000,000 are without occupation. They are idle, sound physically and they will find an outlet in aimless play and sport, but need only to be organized and given direction to become useful.
This can readily be done and presumably with their active cooperation. Certainly the remarkable growth of the boy scout movement has been a lesson to the organizers of the American boys' organization. Enrolling for digging and planting and helping in shipyards will of course not make the same appeal to the spirit of adventure of the boys. But the American boy is at least a good deal of a patriot and zealous for "doing his bit" in some form. He will be more willing to work if his playfellows are working. Moreover it would be profitable to the country and profitable to its idle boys to mobilize them for war aid. In a few years more they will be doing the nation's work and adding to its welfare, and it will be beneficial to have the interval passed in an apprenticeship which will discipline them for their duties as men.

Road to Happiness.

Be amiable, cheerful and good natured and you are much more likely to be happy. You will find this difficult, if not impossible, however, when you are constantly troubled with constipation. Take Chamberlain's Tablets and get rid of that and it will be easy. These tablets not only make the bowels, but improve the appetite and strengthen

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT SOWING SEEDS

The home and school gardens under the supervision of the group leaders and cared for by the children are reported to be in excellent shape, according to Herman S. Sims, garden supervisor. Some of the best seed beds in the plots are those made by the little child Z and 8 years old.

The following article, acquired by the extension service of the state university will be read with interest by those interested in better home gardening:

"Seed must be sown carefully. The sowing of the seed is determined by the kind and the size. Not all of the seeds can be sown the same depth, and the depth varies with the size of the seed. Large seeds should be sown deeper than small seeds. If the small seeds are sown very deep the little plants are so weak that they cannot push regulated by planting the seed in the soil. If we plant the seed too deep we shut out the air and warmth and the seeds rot. Therefore when planting a seed we must be careful to see that the soil is well prepared so that air and warmth can reach the seed. The seed must also have water before it can grow. Water is necessary in order that the seed will swell and sprout. The seed gets this water by coming in contact with the soil particles. If the seed is placed in the ground loosely, it cannot absorb very much water and it will be a long time before it can get enough moisture to come up. Therefore when planting seeds pack the soil down lightly over the seed, so that it will be pressed closely to the soil particles which surround it. Unless the seed is in contact with a number of fine soil particles, it will not germinate and grow well. After the seeds are planted the first thing of importance to do is to wet the lettuce, but even with this plant equally as good—if not better—results, will be had if the seed is sown in rows. When the seed is sown in rows it is easier to cultivate and weed the plants.

"Always remember in planting seeds that the small seed should be planted shallow and large seed deeper and that all seeds should be well watered as soon as they are planted."

CONSERVATION MEET OF IMMENSE VALUE

Omaha, May 16.—With the closest cooperation between the state council of defense and the executive committee of the conservation meeting it is assured that whatever the findings of the big meeting in Omaha, May 22 to 25, they will become effective immediately.

Executive Secretary Condon of the state conservation and welfare commission states that the Omaha more certain that the number of publications will be reduced, while such as can afford to continue will have a smaller volume of business in which to pay tribute to the newspaper publishers. The hardship by the war than any other line of business. Their cost of production increased in every detail—the paper, the ink, the postage, the circulation, all forcing. To restore their business to a profitable basis publishers everywhere had to increase subscription and advertising rates. Those who could not stand this, not there go out of business. Now that the business is just recovering from the effects of this readjustment, it is proposed to double the postage rate and give the price of paper another boost by imposing a 10 per cent excise duty on paper and products now on the free list. The general effect is to place a new special burr upon an industry which has suffered rather than profited by the war—an industry which will be hit for all the traffic can bear by the regular and special war taxes imposed upon business as a whole.

The proposed doubling of the rate on newspaper mail cannot be defended upon any rational ground. It is an excessive tax. The government cannot find it remunerative to enforce it. It could be paid only if all subscribers who now depend on the mails for their daily newspapers would stand for another heavy increase in subscription rates. By no means all of present subscribers can do this, especially in view of the continuous increase in the cost of other necessities. Moreover, to put it, can worry along without the postoffice department. By means of freight, express and private carrier organizations they can obtain their deliveries cheaper on their own account than they can through Uncle Sam's expensive system. Metropolitan newspapers which circulate mainly in the city of population, are not affected by the new circulation tax. The chief sufferers will be newspapers in small cities who depend largely upon nearby towns for circulation. The result, if the measure would be especially hard hit.

The newspapers want to pay their full share of the war taxes. They will do so without a prohibitive tax on circulation that represents their lifeblood. It is not credible that either branch of congress will insist upon imposing such an unjust and discriminatory tax, even if it could be passed. Anything that would hamper the newspapers would be particularly unfortunate at this time, when the government must depend largely on their publicity facilities for furthering its war preparations. Merely as a matter of national economy the newspapers are entitled to special consideration in war time. They are asking merely that they shall not be discriminated against unjustly and uneconomically.

It is most significant that the great canning industries of the nation find here, within a period of a few weeks, that they are confronted with an enormous shortage in cans for preserving foods over the output even of normal times. It has been published over and over that many of the canning industries hardly expect over 50 per cent in delivery of cans that they required for putting up the products for which they have contracted steel sheets, from which cans are made, have advanced enormously in the market but that is not the worst feature. The importance of can manufacturers securing the raw material in volume necessary to manufacture cans to meet demand is the most critical feature. It will be a sad commentary upon the extra efforts put forth to increase the production of foodstuffs which must be preserved if it shall be found that after these crops are grown there is no way to save them. The work that families can do in this line is most important. Home saving and putting up of fruits and vegetables should be given as much attention as the growth and harvesting of crops of this kind. There are thousands and thousands of families in this state that can find a way to put up supplies for their use through the year, doing in that way a work never done before by them but that will contribute valuably to the general saving. To be prepared to save the great increase in production in perishable fruits and vegetables is the second step in the work of increasing food production that is on over this country.

The boy who bites his finger nails probably will get over that and learn some more bad habits later.

through the soil and they will die. The kind of a soil and the season of the year also regulates the way seed is sown. If the soil is sandy the seed can be sown deeper than if the soil is a heavy clay. Many seeds can be sown deeper late in the season than early in the season because the ground is warm to a greater depth. Small seed like the lettuce must only be spread over the top of the ground and not covered with soil, while large seeds like the beans and the peas can be sown one and one-half to two inches deep. Radish and tomato seeds should be sown about one-half inch deep.

All seeds must have water. Air and heat help, they can grow into plants. These three conditions are down the soil in the seed bed. If the seeds are small and only sown on the surface of the soil a sprinkling can with a fine sprinkler should be used and care should be taken not to wash the seed away. For larger seeds which are planted deep, some other watering vessel may be used. In case of dry soil be sure the water seeps all thoroughly and be sure the water soaks down to the seed. A light sprinkle over the top is injurious to the seed and neither seeds nor plants should be watered unless the soil is well soaked.

In most every case the seed should be sown in rows. First mark off the proper distance and then make a little furrow in which the seed is to be sown. Broadcasting is desirable in some cases as for example:

meetings will develop policies for food conservation in Nebraska and that the council of defense will put these policies into practice.

From all parts of the state assurances of the heartiest cooperation. "The bureau of public affairs constantly receiving inquiries for information and lists of delegates. Every organization in the state has been requested to appoint representatives and so far not a refusal has been received.

Governor Neville has extended an invitation to secretary of the Treasury McAdoo to open the meeting and has asked the department of agriculture to designate one of its officials to attend the meeting.

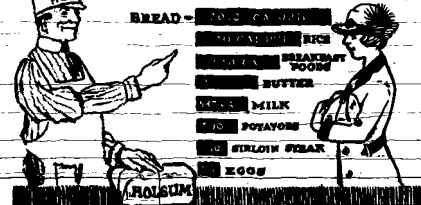

The program is rapidly being whipped into shape and includes leaders of all lines of endeavor in Nebraska.

A striking feature of the meetings is going to be the actual demonstrations of canning and drying food products and other demonstrations of inestimable value to Nebraska. In addition meat cutting demonstrations will be given daily, these showing economic uses of meats. The demonstrations will be under the direction of the extension department of the University of Nebraska with Miss Maud Wilson in immediate charge.

A meeting of the executive committee was held at Hotel Rome last Sunday when final details were filed upon G. Smith, Secretary of Neb., president Nebraska Farmers Congress, is chairman of this committee. Its membership consists of the heads of the various representative organizations of the state.

No meeting of recent years is attracting the favorable attention of Omaha's citizens as this one. It is assured that Omaha will turn out a delegation which has never been equaled in the city in any similar event.

SAVING FOOD AFTER GROWING IT.

Lincoln, Trade Review. While unusual efforts are being made to increase the production of foodstuffs in every way in this state as the nation fights not to be overlooked for a moment that the problem of saving the perishable foods that we produce is of equal importance.

In the past three months' time, we will be gathering from fields and gardens, hundreds of thousands of tons of vegetables of every kind and character that in the short period of time of three weeks will be entirely lost through decay if we do not have at hand ways and means for preserving this great volume of food
