HONOR VETERANS AT MEMORIAL SERVICES

BOY SCOUTS HEAD PARADE

Rev. Cross Says Soldiers Are Today Fighting for Same Glorious Cause of Humanity.

In spite of threatening weather large crowds gathered at the opera house which was elaborately decorated with flags by the D. A. Ladies, yesterday afternoon. On account of muddy streets the parade as planned had to be omitted, but the veterans and the boys occupied seats of honor on the platform. A mixed quartet sang several appropriate selections and Glen Gilder-lee pleased everyone with the solo, "Massed Arms." One of the highlights of the program was the accompaniment, A. J. Ferguson, chaplain of Casey post gave the invocation. Mrs. R. J. Roush of Burlington, wife of one of the visiting officers, gave a patriotic reading, after which J. F. Ahern, who presided, introduced P. C. H. Bright, who in turn, introduced each of the "boys of '61-'65" and gave the following short synopsis of their lives and service:

Robert Perrin was a member of Co. B, Fifty-ninth Ill. Vol. Infantry, in battles of Chattanooga, Atlanta, Kennesaw, and in the march to the sea; served three years and six months; came to Wayne county 1883; aged 77 years.

Archibald Lindsay was a member of Co. B, Seventy-first Ill. Infantry, in battles of Antietam, Gettysburg, and in the march to the sea; served three years and six months; came to Wayne county in 1883; aged 77 years.

Charles A. Gargan was a member of Co. H, Fifty-second Wisconsin Infantry, with the army of Tennessee; saw much active service; was with Fighting Joe Hunt's campaign to Wayne in 1885; aged 73 years.

R. J. Roush was a member of Co. I, Fifty-third Ohio Infantry, fought in battle from Gettysburg to the end of the war; came to Wayne in 1885; aged 71 years.

John G. Grimsley was a member of Co. B, Ninth Kentucky Cavalry, in the chase Morgan to Ohio river, and then chased Gen. Scott back through Kentucky; came to Wayne county in 1890; commander of Casey post. No. 5; aged 72 years.

John B. Stallsmith was a member of Co. A, Thirty-fourth Ill. Infantry; fought from August, 1861 to July, 1865; took part in battles of Shiloh, Vicksburg, and in the march to Atlanta; came to Wayne county in 1885; aged 75 years.

Jackson Hyatt was a member of Co. A, Eleventh Iowa Infantry; served two years; took part in Atlanta campaign and in Sherman's march to sea, and then to Washington; discharged in Louisville, Ky.; came to Wayne county in 1888; aged 71 years.

GRADUATION CLOSÉS COMMENCEMENT WEEK

ANNUAL CLASS ADDRESS

Seventy-four Students Complete State Normal Course—Prizes Are Awarded.

Commencement week at the Normal closed Friday with the graduating exercises held in the auditorium. A House of Representatives, presided by the Normal Judges, quarter and vocal duet by Professors Coleman and Lackey. Rev. A. S. Buell gave the invocation. Receding then introduced Henry H. Wilson, who gave the commencement address. The theme of Mr. Wilson was America as a World Power. He pointed out the marked reception of the American Republic, it had exercised a profound influence on world affairs. Through the Declaration of Independence, the American Republic secured world peace, founded on the only possible basis of world peace, the rule of the people. Her influence and touch have been counted so even by the German people in generations to come. Mr. Wilson is a firm believer in world organization, a thing which is necessary for nearly a generation, a thing which expresses almost entirely America's interest in the great war. He affirmed that the American Republic is a world organization which is sure to be realized. He believes that in the short space of a few months more has been achieved by the American Republic than in the history of any other nation. He believed that the preservation of peace that might otherwise have been realized in a century.

A class of seventy-four young men and women received their diploma at the graduation exercises. The degree of Bachelor of Education was granted to Miss Maude Grothe and Miss Edna Waite, who have completed the equivalent of a two-year college course. The gold medal, offered each year by J. G. Mines to the student who in the judgment of the faculty, made the greatest improvement in scholarship during the year, was awarded to Charles M. Daley of Crofton, a member of the football team. The silver cup, offered by Frank S. Morgan to the member of the senior class who has rendered the greatest service to the school, was presented to Clarence Willard Sablin of Lincoln.

The program closed with the benediction by Rev. S. Xenophon Cross.

May Festival.

The morning of the May festival Tuesday, May 24, dawned clear and cool, making a delightful day for the entertainment. Despite the busy season many came from neighboring towns to witness the knowledge and to Prof. J. J. Coleman, who plans the festival each year, and stands behind the name and the success of the festival. The festival was a success in every respect. It was a day of fun and frolic, and the money and energy into it, as does Professor Coleman. He has for his heart's cheer, the year he decided to give up the career and to devote the increased appreciation on the part of the community of the high standard set in such work by the music department of the Wayne State Normal school.

The Pageant.

The pageant began at 8:30. It is under the supervision of Miss Josephine M. Mack, and is given by the class in physical training. It was a beautiful pageant with which the May festival opened ever before realized how much folk song, folk dances, folk drama, and folk plays will be the main manifestations of life in an age and country in which the dull, the commonplace, the sordid, are too often the prevailing colors. The story itself is so thrilling and so touching as to move the slowest. A child seeks the heart of the world.

BURGLARY OF RALPH RUNDLE'S GROCERY

During Friday night the grocery store of Ralph Rundell was burglarized and a check of $10 which had been left in the cash register. Entrance was effected by breaking through a rear window. It has not been discovered thus far whether any goods were taken or not. Officers were called and are on the look-out for the guilty.

DEATH OF REV. C. S. HUGHES.

The remains of Rev. Charles S. Hughes, who was formerly pastor of the Methodist church at Carroll, were taken through Wayne yesterday en route to Bloomfield for interment.

After leaving the Carroll pastorate Rev. Mr. Hughes became editor of the Leader-Republic and later located near Lusk, Wyo., on a ranch. While working on his ranch he suffered injuries from an automobile accident near Fort Springs, and was taken to the hospital for treatment. However, he was not benefited and death came the first of the week.

BAKER PROPERTY IS SOLD FIRST OF WEEK

The residence property of Mrs. Emma Baker near the German church in the west part of town was sold to Henry Westerhaus Monday. Mr. Westerhaus who takes possession of the property is now farming in the Windside vicinity. His wife will be welcomed to Wayne by many friends.

SALMON SELLS CAFE TO KELLEY & PHILSON

MOVE LOOKING TO PAVING

Council to Ascertain Cost of Drainage Needed for First Paved Streets.

F. V. Salmon who has owned and had the active management of the Gem Cafe for the last year, closed a deal Monday morning, the deal becomes the joint property of J. L. Kelley of Bancroft and E. Philson of Bloomfield. Mr. Salmon received a half section of Cheyenne county land in the deal, which was in the nature of a trade. He expects to have the land broken up for cultivation, although the will not go to Cheyenne county, for the present, at least.

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN STARTED YESTERDAY.

A thorough canvass of Wayne and vicinity for increasing the membership of the Red Cross local chapter was started yesterday morning and will continue until Saturday evening. Mrs. E. B. Erskine, heading the committee is assisted by Mrs. D. E. Conover, Mrs. E. S. Blair and Miss Charlotte Larison. By personal work these representatives expect to boost the membership considerably before the end of the week. Saturday will be an open house time, it is believed, for many of the country people to register as members of the Red Cross. The annual membership with the nominal fee of one dollar, is proving the most popular form of registration here.

At the meeting of the executive committee of the chapter, Chairman A. R. Davis appointed the following members of a committee to investigate the markets on supplies: Mrs. J. T. Bressler, Mrs. E. W. Husse, Mrs. Helen Kostomarovsky, and Mrs. F. V. Salmon. It will be the duty of this committee to determine the class of supplies which would be the most expedient for this auxiliary to prepare.

Artists' Recital.

The musical part of the program for the May festival began at 10:30, starting with the playing of the organ and Beatrice Miller as accompanist. Mr. Kimball has an unusually clear and powerful tenor voice, coupled with technical skill and a personality which is high at all times. He sang with his audience, "The Sandpaper" by Bungert and "The Song by Durleigh" "Deep River" and "If You Would Love Me" were sung by the artist. Mr. Kimball responded to several encores. Miss Beatrice Miller is well known in Wayne where she has a large class of violin pupils. Her playing shows much technical skill and a freedom of manner unusual in one so young in the professional world. Miss Miller responded to an encore after each of her two numbers. Her voice was high and demonstrative of appreciation after the playing of the Hungarian Rhapsody by Hauser.

The recital at 1:30 by M. Edith Anderson given jointly with Marley Sherris, registered another triumph for the day's festivities. Mr. Sherris is a Canadian artist, coming all the way from Toronto to give a grand concert on the program. To those who appreciate all of the finer qualities which combine to produce a truly great artist, Mr. Sherris had a wonderful message to know, it was that they have been trained in music. He sings equally well the Purcell love songs, "Flow, Thou Regal Purple Stream" by Arnold, and the "Frolong" "Fragrant" by the artist. Miss McCullough won the admiration of all by her simple grace and charming manner. She is possessed of a rich soprano voice of unusual power and evenness. Her playing of the piano was given substantial aid to both these artists by her skillful playing of the accompaniments.

The Beethoven trio was the attraction for the 3 o'clock program. Rarely indeed have the people of Wayne had the opportunity to listen to a combination of instrumental players, each on his talent with others for the sake of the beautiful ensemble of a strictly classical program. It is a compliment to the musical standards of our school and to those who they gave us only the best.

The closing attraction of the day was Professor Coleman's presentation of "Coleridge's Taylor" "His Song" was an ambitious work and congratulations are due Professor Coleman for the choice of material, also for the successful marshaling of the musical forces of the school and visiting artists in one grand ensemble, which formed a most fitting climax to the second annual May festival of the Wayne State Normal school.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

CIVIL ENGINEER IS TO FURNISH PLANS

MOVE LOOKING TO PAVING

Council to Ascertain Cost of Drainage Needed for First Paved Streets.

E. M. Rohrbough, civil engineer of Omaha, who early in the year estimated the needs of Wayne in the matter of drainage preliminary to paving, was here in consultation with the city council Thursday evening. The council had called him here to consider proposed drainage plans. It is expected to first pave Main, Logan and Pearl streets, and the authorities wish to ascertain the cost of drainage for such improvement. After going over the proposition carefully with Mr. Rohrbough, the council asked him to make plans for drainage to meet the immediate need, and submit them as soon as possible. Mr. Rohrbough believes he will have them ready within a week.

REGISTER TOMORROW FOR CANNING CLASS

Herman Siems, local garden supervisor, will be in the music room between the hours of 3 and 4 tomorrow, June 1, for the purpose of enrolling members for the Canning school, which will be held at the Normal under the direction of Miss Agnes Finnigan, June 22 and 23. He has the call under consideration, but at present writing has not decided whether he will accept the call from the church. Ida Grove is the county seat of Ida county, one of the rich counties of western Iowa. It is a beautiful little city of some twenty-five hundred well-to-do, well-paved streets, splendid schools, fine homes and up-to-date business blocks.

DR. E. B. ERSKINE GETS AN ARMY COMMISSION Dr. E. B. Erskine of this city has received from Governor Neill a commission as first lieutenant, and is expected to report for service not later than July 15. Mrs. Erskine is planning to enter the active service of the Red Cross. FATAL ACCIDENT Atkinson, Neb., May 28.—The young son of Mr. and Mrs. Helme who was accidentally shot by a companion a few weeks ago, died suddenly yesterday. The young man had nearly recovered from his wounds and aside from the loss of one eye and possibly also the other, he was apparently recovering. He was talking to his mother and suddenly asked that she get a vessel of some kind as his nose was beginning to bleed. He died a short time afterward from the hemorrhage. The funeral will be held at the home, conducted by the pastor of the M. E. church. HEAVY RAIN FALLS OVER THIS SECTION A heavy fall of rain covered this part of the state Friday and Friday night, and while the storm refreshed growing vegetation and gave the soil welcome moisture, it amounted to a flood in spots and did damage by washing out crops that will have to be replanted. Most of the corn in Wayne county had been planted, and fields not washed, received irreparable benefit. Neligh, Neb., May 28.—The water is higher now than ever before in the history of Neligh. The dam between the upper and lower mill dams has broken in two places, each break being a hundred feet in extent. The water south of town between the two dams is about three feet higher than the road and is two feet deep. Riverside park is under water and the water is threatening to cut through the dike by the grand stand. Much water is reported to be in the road and the flooded condition is not expected to abate for twenty-four hours. D. D. Thompson and crew were marooned between breaks in the dike for two hours and were taken out by boats. Bridges Out at O'Neill. O'Neill, Neb., May 28.—The Elkhorn river is out of its banks as a result of the heavy rains. The Herscher bridge is out of commission. The main McDermond bridge is said to have gone out and the Peter Mounghin bridge is under stress. It is reported here this morning that the new four-mile wide new human and some of the road, there are impassable. Northfork Out of Banks. (Norfolk Daily News.) The Northfork river was out of its banks around Tabor and near Pipers Summit morning and was running out of the railroad ditch north of the M. & O. tracks in Norfolk Monday morning as a result of the torrential rains. The water was expected to rise half an inch during the night. The gates of the mill dam were let down Saturday morning when there reported very high water. Miller Lough at the plant of the Norfolk Cereal and Flour mills announced at 9 o'clock Monday morning that the water was at a standing still at that hour. The water backing through the M. & O. ditch, however, was flooding the stacks and pastures north of the tracks between Third and Fourth streets. The back-sifter was washed away and the water in the river went down several feet. Atkinson, Neb., May 28.—One of the worst wind and rain storms in the history of the county occurred here Friday forenoon. The heavy wind unroofed buildings and huge trees were blown over. Many shade trees in the yards and groves were blown down. The Elkhorn river is flooded, going out over the banks, and is the highest it has been in years. Nearly four inches of rain fell flooding all the low lands. Much damage was done to gardens and crops in this vicinity by the wind and rain. NEBRASKANS ARE ALERT Omaha, Neb., May 27.—No attempts at elaborate entertainment will be made for the annual meeting of the Nebraska Press association at the June meeting. It was the consensus of opinion of the newspaper men that the association should devote itself to consideration of the present war conditions and how the press can best serve the state. The Nebraska State Teachers' association, through a meeting of its executive committee Friday, also decided to hold its convention at Omaha, and to serve the interests of the state and nation in the present crisis. The spontaneous offers of patriotic service of Nebraskans, individually and through their organizations, are being enlisted in the name of the nation and the charge of indifference is being rapidly eliminated. Mrs. W. L. Cunningham and her son, Richard, left for business Monday morning. They returned home that evening.

It is made with two brass cylinders with ball brass valves so that the stream from the nozzle is continuous. The hose is extra large and is easily replaced when worn out. There are four separate nozzles attached to the pump to serve the needs of pure brass with each pump. On the bottom of the pump is an automatic mixer which keeps your spraying solution thoroughly mixed whenever in use. The price is $3.75. CARHART HARDWARE

DECAY OF THE TEETH AND THE REMEDY

It is a rare thing to find decay on an exposed surface of a tooth, because these surfaces are kept fairly clean and polished by the grinding surfaces of the opposing food and the tooth brush.

The beginning of decay is nearly always found between the teeth or in the grooves of enamel on the grinding surfaces; the reason being that food finds a lodgng place here, and the growth of bacteria is undisturbed by the action of saliva, chewing of food and tooth brush.

TEACHER WRITES ON CEMENT BIRD BATHS

Miss Edith Stoenig, normal teacher at the Wayne State Normal, contributed to Sunday's World Herald, the following article descriptive of the work of cement bird baths in making cement bird baths.

The earth, flayed by war and soldiers with misery, had it changing the scenery from water to spring; out of the misery, a sense of color, something the world with resurrected life, through space from the "somehow" of far places returned the mud and war their return the children of the primary department as being den orators.

To foster this spirit all reports brought in were attentively listened to by the teachers and discussed with the children. The discussions demonstrated that, though the birds could find all necessary food at this season of the year they needed drinking and bathing places.

Children had made for the mixing of the cement and for the creation of the new bird-bath building, and readily accepted the suggestion to make cement bird baths.

At once came the equipment of assembling the necessary materials and menials. The bones contributed large cake spoons, a tin and a trowel, and a shovel. For course, the sand must be carefully sifted and a wooden such zine pan for the outer form.

The inner form, a 1x4 inch tobacco box, sawed to the height of three inches, was given by one of the seniors who secured it at the cost of a trip down town. The kinder garten sent a most helpful knife.

Dean Hahn saw that the very important part of dry cement arrived in time. The fatal day, and sand, was just formed by the children, left over from some other work.

When all things necessary to the success of the undertaking were collected operations began. The sand was carefully sifted on the suitable in the school yard. The weather not permitting the work to be done out-doors and thoroughly mixed with the dry cement by a vigorous use of cake spoons.

Mixing and Molding. One pint of cement to two pints of sand were the proportion used. The children did the measuring. Then came the adding of water until the mixture by the use of spoons, trowel and hoe was of the consistency of heavy cream.

When the cement was well mixed it was then spooned by the children into the zinc pan to the depth of an inch and carefully smoothed. Then the inner form—the tobacco box—was set in the center of this cement floor, short pieces of wire were placed around the corners and sides as reinforcement and cement added and packed by the use of the cake spoons.

When the mold was full the outer edge was smoothed on until it was an inch higher than the inner one.

A sloping ledge was thus formed where the birds could stand and drink their wet feathers. The birds were excited from the work of their hands, intending when the dish was somewhat dry to inscribe their names around the ledge. Here we made our first mistake. The cement was not set at 2:30 one Friday afternoon and the cement was not sufficiently dry to hold inscriptions by 4 o'clock.

The children were dismayed, as they had planned to give a personal touch to their work. To remedy this very serious condition of affairs another bird bath was made the following Monday. Operations commenced at 9 o'clock the previous method of procedure being followed.

The dish was ready for the names of the children the practice teacher, Dean Hahn and myself by 2 o'clock.

There is nothing that succeeds like success, and the children went home happy to tell of their achievement.

I have been interested in bird-bath making developed immediately among the children of the kindergarten.

The first and second grade pupils were urged by the kindergarten to participate in this intricate process to the little ones. So, carrying cement as a gift, and trowel and hoe to lend, they visited the kindergarten and gave specific directions to a most interested audience.

It is almost superfluous for me to say another bird bath was made the next day and inscribed with the names of the children.

When the two dishes were dry they were placed on the campus and filled with water by the children, but as it had rained the day before the dishes were empty.

The female was the taking of the pictures of the children—grouned about the dishes—by the "picture man" and an artist's help was needed as the outgrowth of this occurred. As a result of these was the giving of the same bird bath to the children to Dean Hahn and myself. The bird bath was built in the yard and installed with Dean Hahn's assistance under a cherry tree where the birds have a chance to drink.

It has been now being made by the children at their homes. They hollow out shallow, round holes in the ground in various forms and smooth the walls with them.

Fathers and mothers are interested loving cement and assisting in making these wonderful home dishes.

Each of all the children joyed in the living things peeping their world about them, while pointing their bird bath happy, the tourists of the spring.

BUY A BOND

Norfolk Daily News: Every American is under a patriotic duty to buy a liberty loan bond. Not only is a liberal response to the loan needed for the equipment of our fighting forces, it is also needed to show to Europe that we are united behind the governmental policy. The terms of the bond sale have been made so easy that few persons are barred from doing their share. The investment is a sound one and will always be worth 100 cents on the dollar. The following appeal to the small investor should be read by every American.

At the strategic moment the American people have entered the scene. We are one hundred millions of fighting men, it is also needed to show to Europe that we are united behind the governmental policy. The terms of the bond sale have been made so easy that few persons are barred from doing their share. The investment is a sound one and will always be worth 100 cents on the dollar. The following appeal to the small investor should be read by every American.

McAdoo to put out two millions of dollars of bonds, called the "Liberty Loan." These bonds are in denominations of $5, $10, $20, $50, $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $20,000, $50,000, $100,000, $500,000, and $1,000,000.

This Liberty loan is to buy equipment for our soldiers. We stop a flood with dikes; we stay an invading host with soldiers; but the French and British armies of four million men mean many millions of workers producing clothing, shoes, tents, rifles, cartridges, automobiles, trucks, machine guns, cannon, wooden and steel ships, to transport them and munitions to the English Channel and the Atlantic ocean. It takes six men and women at home to feed and equip one soldier at the front.

The English people subscribed last year for over two billions of dollars; the French peasants have bought sixteen billions of French bonds; and for the moment the richer people of this great Republic have subscribed for two billions, payable in installments. Without this money our brave young soldiers here cannot be equipped with their guns, clothing, shoes, tents, and food. Germany calls our "materialists." Bernstorff has sneered that the American farmer and business man will never buy these bonds. Germany hopes to trumpet from her battleships that she has the "material" and our shame. But Germany shall be disappointed. Henry Clay, white-haired and aged, exclaimed one day, "I am an old man, but I shall be found that I am not long out to vindicate my principles, to stand by my friends and to defend myself." Bernstorff says, "Germany is too far away," but we are not so far away, and our republic can vindicate its principles and stand by its allies and defend its homes and its freedom.

"Womanhood"

The Glory of the Nation

The supreme revelation of the three noblest passions in a woman's life, depicting

THE LOVE OF A MAID FOR A MAN.

THE LOVE OF A MOTHER FOR HER CHILD.

THE LOVE OF A WOMAN FOR HER COUNTRY.

REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD SEE "WOMANHOOD."

New York is shown bombed from the sky. The story is told in a touching patriotic speech. Saboteurs are shown discharging torpedoes under water. The Capitol at Washington is the background for a scene containing thousands of people. Two high blooded European gallants fight a duel with rapiers. Many yards and munitions factories are seen in full blast. Zeppelins are witnessed maneuvering in action. A new invention, the "aerial torpedo," is demonstrated. A clever secret wireless telephone is employed to send dispatches from a daring girl in the enemy headquarters to the American lines. The legendary Columbia is brought to life with an invisible sword and shield. A pacifist meeting turns into a riot that is anything but pacific. A human militaristic machine slays his own son to enforce discipline and to gain time for his army. A Civil War battlefield strewn with hero dead is transformed into certain people with restored armies. A heroine of the nation is kidnapped in an actuality by German agents. A whole navy is destroyed in a sea of burning oil. The stroke of a battle ship is seen recorded as the vessel founders. A German air attack is conducted on the battlefield as reproduced with fidelity to actual conditions. President Wilson is presented delivering an oration to a victorious nation.

COULD YOU SACRIFICE LOVE FOR YOUR COUNTRY?

If you were a beautiful American debutante and received a proposal of marriage from a fine young foreign noble man, would you hesitate? If you were an unprotected girl and heard that your home had been wrecked in a sudden war, would you dare to hurry back to the heart of danger? If you found your mother and sister slain and your brother blinded in a hopeless battle, would you have the womanhood to bear up under it? If the dehonair foreign nobleman came along and still showed he loved you, would you forgive him for being an invader? If you had a chance to serve your country by pretending to be a traitor would you consider it? If your true American lover's sister was ruthlessly executed before your eyes, would you risk your country's name by betraying your sympathies? If you were finally discovered and could not escape safety and a life of ease by yielding a barbarous foe-man would you prefer to choose a miserable death? Many women have to decide all these and other important questions in "Womanhood, The Glory of a Nation," starring their Joyce in the role of Mary Ward. And an all-star Vitagraph cast.

Film Suggested by Theodore Roosevelt

Col. Roosevelt, a twelvemonth ago, saw that the American people must be made to realize that their country was absolutely unprepared for even a defensive war. Ferretting out Commodore J. Stuart Blackton, director-general of the greater Vitagraph company, himself versed in military affairs he explained to him the woefully weak position of our sea board cities, and exclaimed: "By Jove, you should make a picture that will just take the people off their feet. Show them what will happen if an enemy attacks New York. Knock the city to ruins. Show our population fleeing in one mad panic stricken disorganized mob before the advance of the invaders." All the leading papers of Philadelphia and New York pronounce "Womanhood" far ahead of "The Battle Cry of Peace," to which it is a sequel.

FIRST GRADUATING CLASSES OF SCHOOL

In the Year 1890, Mrs. C. A. Chace presented a unique historical sketch of the Wayne high school graduating classes of 1896, 1897 and 1898, and the Herald believes the public would like to read it. It is therefore reproduced herewith as follows:

(Chronicles of classes of 1896, 1897 and 1898.)

Now it came to pass in the days of the reign of Grover Cleveland in the first year of his reign, that in the fall of the year the people gathered themselves together and they said, "Come let us build for ourselves a temple, and let us have a school, and let the children of our land may grow up in wisdom and in truth," so accordingly they build unto themselves a large Temple-which is known as the Wayne public school, and the hill on which it is built as the "Hill of Knowledge" unto this day. Now as it is written the people again gathered themselves together, and they chose three men to be overseers of the temple, and to choose rulers for the temple to teach the youth who might come there to learn. And the names of these men were Merrian, Anson of the house of Welch, and one heater of the sick whose name was Crawford. And it came to pass that the house of Wallace, May daughter of Mc Coy, Now William whose surname was McCoy was a right and just man and the school flourished and the children learned. Now it came to pass that William said unto the overseers of the temple, "What will we do with those who have gotten all there is to be gathered here. These are seedlings, the overseers and the ruler met together and they made out a course of study, and said, "This much shall they learn and no more." Now, in the year 1896, in the same year, it came to pass that but three damsels did finish the course. The names of these damsels were Almine, of the house of Stricker, and the other three were Almine daughter of William Ober of the house of Gamble. Now the ruler and the overseers said one to another, "We shall do likewise, as all the great acts of the earth. We shall hold 'Exercises of Commencement.' Moreover, we will give the young maidens a home to write upon and then call in all the friends of the three girls, and they may know of the learning of the damsels. So Almine it was done, and the exercises of commencement were held in the synagogue of the Presbyterians, and the multitude came till it would hold no more. Now as it is written, the people of the city had said, "It is fitting that we should gather together for all the flowers of the earth, and we will send across the river Missouri to the city of Sioux in the land of the Lo-wans for flowers to give the fair young damsels, and accordingly it was done. And so both a few days every year unto this day. So the synagogue was decked with garlands, and the maidens, robed in garments of purest white, did read their themes and led these people exceedingly. And then did they go, they and their friends, to the house of one Oliver Gamble, father of the damsel Almine, where the exercises were held. And on the evening of the day night merrily, Now it came to pass, in those days that in the fall of the same year that one of the maidens, Minnie of the house of Gamble, was betrothed with her father to the far off country of the California where the orange and the lemon grow in great abundance, but the other two remained in the land of their fathers unto this day. Now in the next year it came to pass there were the number of six of young men and maidens who completed the work had done. The names of these same were Maude of the house of Stricker, Minnie of the family of Childs, Carole daughter of one Mark of the house of Stringer, George, of the house of Lundburg, Clinton, son of Gustavus, of the family of Slater, and Nathan, of the family of Chace. And accordingly as before, exercises of commencement were made this time in the synagogue of the Methodists, and the girls graduated with great honor, so that the people were astonished and much pleased and said one to another, "The overseers have done well to choose such a man as William Ober to be their ruler, for he is a just and good as has been the work done. And it was so. And moreover these young men and maidens will go abroad of the earth and become a blessing to the world. And it was so. And the promises have been fulfilled. Maude after tarrying for awhile in the city journeyed to the land of the Pennsylvania, Carole, the daughter of Mark of the house of Stringer, remained in the land of her father and both became chief rulers, over temples of learning, so the much of the Dakotas, became newswriter unto the nation and was exalted in the eyes of the people. George whose surname was Lundburg, after tarrying in the home of the father, journeyed to the city of Paston in the land of Illinois and became keeper of books and a scribe, and was much beloved by all far and near. Clinton whose father was Slater, became one of the chief of the great men of the city of Omaha and Nathan abode in the house of his father and became a money lender unto the people.

Now it came to pass that the next year there were six damsels and but one young man to leave the temple of learning, and the names of these same were Mamie, of the house of Wallace, May daughter of Morgan of the house of Davies, Jennie, of the tribe of Dobson, Laura, of the family of Bartlet, the daughter of the house of Chace, Emma, of the tribe of Slater and Sagniel, of the house of Alexander of the tribe of Martin. And now it came to pass, as the maidens said unto their overseers, "Let us not do our predecessors have none, but so much time, thought and money, as what we shall wear, and how we shall look, but let us go to the great place of one Lyell, and let us buy for ourselves a lot of the stuff called calico and let us make for ourselves garments of the same and let us talk as we have heard the people wonder much what were to be the robes of the damsels, and what to be the color thereof, but it was not known till the night of the same day, and they were all arrayed in garments made of the stuff called calico except Samuel whose raiment was of broadcloth made from the wool of the sheep. And as before, the graduates did please the multitude and they rejoiced with exceeding great joy to see how well they had garnered in the sheaves of knowledge.

Now it happened that on this time that William the chief ruler of the temple gathered all the past graduates together and said unto them, "Let us with all the redemptive uncles, into one hand to be known as the Alumni, for it will give pleasure unto us after we all journey and go out into the world to meet once a year together." And the graduates were done and they made a banquet at the house of one Childs and great was the merriment of that banquet. For all the overseers and all the rulers, and all the teachers were there, they and their friends, and the speakers, and the speakers spoke and they did all eat of the feast that was made and amidst great rejoicing, returned to their homes.

Now it came to pass that these six young damsels and one young man all did tarry and remain long in the city of their fathers, and all did become rich and honorable, and they were of learning, pleasing the people much for they did teach the youth of the land in goodness and in wisdom.

Now it came to pass in those days that William whose surname was McCoy, having served the temple in that city long, journeyed eastward to the wilderness beyond the river of the Platte and the people did sorrow much because of his departure, therefore, the rulers and overseers who were now of the number of six, did choose another chief ruler for the temple. The name of him thereat was William of the house of McClellan. Now William whose surname was McClellan, was also a just and right man working great works so that soon there were of the number of nine to leave the temple of learning, and the chronicles of this class had no graduates were they not written by Joseph whose surname was Cullen and was it not given at the exercise of commencement in the same year.

THE FIELD OF BUSINESS.

A Sioux City Journalist. While the week witnessed much activity in behalf of foreign war bonds, a popular investment it also recorded a revival of interest in industrial securities, toward which the public has turned a rather cold shoulder since high prices, and the chronicles of this class had no graduates were they not written by Joseph whose surname was Cullen and was it not given at the exercise of commencement in the same year.

Ending of the first book of chronicles. This new interest clearly was due to conviction that American war efforts could be depended on to overcome the normal handicap of reduced consumption, and a slow developing impression of the improbability of early termination of the war contributed to a renewal of confidence in the States. Steel led the procession, closing the week well in advance of the high mark reached during last year's speculative enthusiasm over war securities.

Partly as a result of the continuation of speculation through the stock exchanges and partly in consequence of a drift of better crop news, the price of wheat steadily declined during the week. The July option closed at $2.11, a loss of 29 cents for the week. There were reports of early harvesting in Texas, but the bulk of the crop there will not be ready for a week or ten days. From both the winter and spring wheat belts the burden of the reports was optimistic and predictions of a 2,000,000,000 bushel total for the combined crops were treated with respect. This would mean a betterment of last year's record.

The course of the supreme court in deferring rearguments in the steel and harvest trust suits was interpreted as offering assurance against further disorganizing of big business on government initiative during the war. This development, plus a growing belief that the interstate commerce commission is about to approve substantial rate increases by the interstate rail lines, was not without effect in promoting new interest in the securities market.

The iron and steel, textile, fuel, lumber, shipbuilding and machinery industries are feeling the stimulative effect of large war orders, activity in these industries is being encouraged by the government. The result is to offer assurance of continued profitable activity regardless of high prices. Several industries still complain about inability to secure transportation facilities. In the main, however, the new policy of coordination between the railroads, under government direction, is delivering substantial results in the way of more efficient service. Bank clearings last week aggregated $5,619,000,000, an increase of 21 per cent over the corresponding week last year.

Keds

AND WHAT ARE KEDS?

They are canvas rubber-soled shoes brought up to the last notch of perfection. The tops of Keds are made of especially woven fine grade canvas, canvas with the stretch taken out before making up. Yet each fiber is flexible, yielding, conforming to the movements of the foot without losing shape. The soles are rubber-made by the largest rubber concern in the world, that tells the story. Thus it is evident the KEDS are just the shoes for children for they give growing feet correct lines and proper support and keep them delightfully comfortable.

CONSOLIDATED WITH THE WAYNE REPUBLICAN

WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, MAY 31, 1917.

VOL. 29, NO. 52

PLANS FOR WORKING OUT CONSCRIPTION

Washington, May 29.—Regulations to govern exemption applications for military service are being worked out by Provost Marshal Gen. Crowder with a number of prominent lawyers. Although the plans are not yet complete it is probable that the usual school boys will be allowed to select those who are to go into the first army of 500,000 and into the reserves. The names have been drawn and each registration district has been assigned a number of exemptions to be considered. As each individual drawn reports, his claim for exemption will be passed upon and if he is exempted, another name will be drawn to fill the vacancy. The law provides for local exemption boards in each county and for each 30,000 in city populations. Boards of review also will be organized in each county. There will be more than 100 such federal judicial districts. All the boards will be composed of civilians. Secretary Baker said the process of selecting them had not been completed.

Older Men Can't Register.
Crowder said that only conscription would result from the reported intention of men above the fixed age to register on June 5. This "military exemption" he said, and registration will be instructed to accept cards only from men between the ages of 21 and 30 inclusive.

Marriage No Exemption.
Men will not necessarily be excused from the draft because they are married. Crowder explained. "Only those whose dependents must rely solely on them for support should claim exemption," he said, "and on that account all married men between the ages of 21 and 30 inclusive, must register whether or not they purpose to claim exemption."

The act establishing the selective draft authorizes the president to exclude or discharge from the draft "those in a status with respect to whom the president may deem it in the public interest to provide for support which renders their exclusion or discharge advisable." The census estimate shows that almost half the men available for military service are married. The exclusion of married men would therefore be inadvisable.

GUILTY ON CHARGE OF HAVING LIQUOR

John Wright was arrested the first of the week charged with unlawful possession of liquor and with being intoxicated. He was tried in the county court Monday afternoon and at the conclusion of the hearing he was pronounced guilty and fined $100 on one count and $25 on the other count, together with costs, and was committed to the county jail until both fines and costs were paid. County Attorney Fred S. Berry appeared for the state.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Battle Creek, Neb., May 29.—William Bonbrake, a traveling salesman, had a narrow escape from death this morning when the horses he was driving were swept off their feet by the flood which was flowing across the road on the north side of the Elkhorn bridge. Bonbrake was driving a team belonging to Henry Kahler, a livestock dealer. He was thrown from the wagon when the horses and buggy went down and was barely able to reach land. The horses were both drowned and their bodies and the buggy were in the river. The Elkhorn is out of its banks in many places and is still rising. Present prospects are for one of the worst floods for a number of years.

NEW FOOD SURVEY LAW.

Washington, May 29.—The administration's food survey bill, first of the food control measures passed by the senate yesterday, will be signed by the president for $14,700,000 for an immediate investigation of the country's food resources and for measures to stimulate production. A similar bill is under debate in the agriculture department expects to present a fairly accurate estimate of food resources within three weeks after the bill is signed by the president. Secretary Houston said. As soon as the measure becomes a law the department will start its 17,000 employees and the 150,000 voluntary crop reporters working on the investigation. The preliminary report to be made within three weeks will be supplemented with monthly reports and probably by a further complete report within six months, if necessary. Material gathered will be turned over to Herbert C. Hoover, who will be named to head the food administration as soon as the pending regulatory food measures become law.

THREATS CHARGED.

Lincoln, Neb., May 29.—Consideration of reports coming from certain sources here that the German sympathizers were threatening bankers with withdrawal of deposits if they purchased liberty bonds was the subject of discussion by the members of the State Council of Defense which met Saturday. As a result of their action they issued the following message to the defense headquarters in all counties in the state: "Reports from several sections of the state have been made to the Nebraska State Council of Defense that certain depositors have threatened to withdraw their deposits if these bankers invest in liberty bonds these German sympathizers will withdraw their deposits."

Some of these threats may have been thoughtlessly put but whether they were intended seriously, they are distinctly acts of treason and will be treated as such. Please notify every member of your County Council of Defense to this effect. Have thorough investigation made in order to determine whether similar threats have been made in your county.

In the event you discover any such cases, please call upon the party making the threat and try to bring him the great mistake he is making.

If he persists in his threat report the case to the State Council of Defense at once. It must be made clear that such threats will not be tolerated in Nebraska and the State Council of Defense denounce upon the county council to press this fact upon every individual who may be inclined to do otherwise. Do this with the effort to put Nebraska and all its resources squarely behind the federal government for the speedy and successful conclusion of the war.

PATRIOTS' DAY.

Chicago, Evening Post.—Everybody should help to make registration day Patriots' day. Selected for this day are those who are not "conscripted." Every physically fit man in the country between the ages of 21 and 31 is to have a chance to help in the work of saving the country. It is the highest service which a man can be called upon to enter. It will not be necessary to drum any good American into the ranks.

Those who could be made American by those who are not called upon to register to make the young men who are going forth to service know that they are looked upon as volunteers, rather than as those who will be drafted in spirit if not in the letter of the law. The day should be one of rejoicing, not lamenting. Democracy is at stake, and the work of saving it is a noble one. It is the work of saving it that Americans who have known its blessings for nearly a century and a half.

Registration day should be Patriots' day. If the people enter properly into the spirit of the occasion the day will be shorn of any of the evil significance so many of the half hearted and so many of the unscrupulous in our country have tried to attach to it. It will be a day of duty, and we believe it will be a day of duty well done.

Methodist Church.

(Rev. A. S. Buell, Pastor.)
Last Sunday was a good day at the Methodist church, with splendid audiences. The pastor's subjects will be for the morning service, "The Grace of Economy" from the text "Much food is in the tillage of the poor" but there is that is destroyed for lack of sowing seed. It is the work of saving it that Americans who have known its blessings for nearly a century and a half.

Registration day should be Patriots' day. If the people enter properly into the spirit of the occasion the day will be shorn of any of the evil significance so many of the half hearted and so many of the unscrupulous in our country have tried to attach to it. It will be a day of duty, and we believe it will be a day of duty well done.

DONATIONS TO RED CROSS.

Lincoln, Neb., May 29.—Red Cross contributions, closing the campaign of the past week in Lincoln, resulted in the raising in cash of $42,224.45 with a membership of 14,621. This is for the city only, the campaign in the rest of the state is still going on. It is not starting until this week. This makes Lincoln the highest of any place in the state, according to size, the contributions at Omaha amounting to but $26,000.

Two can never live as cheap as one. The picture is "The Great Escape."

The Reason Why
We Sell G & B PEARL

WE want business. Consequently we must make satisfied customers who come back again and again. The best way we know to make satisfied trade is to sell satisfactory merchandise. That's why we handle G & B PEARL Wire Cloth for screening doors, windows and porches.

G & B PEARL Wire Cloth outwears painted and galvanized cloth by years, simply because it is more rust proof by far than any similar cloth. And you know rust, not wear ruins screens. From every standpoint—wear, economy, looks or cleanliness—G & B PEARL Wire Cloth is the one best buy for screening.

We sell this genuine article with nothing else mixed. Try on the roll and 7 Copper Wire in the Garage.

ing the Decoration day program. After the business meeting refreshments were enjoyed.

Methodist Church.
(Rev. Frank Williams, Pastor.)
Sunday school at 10 o'clock. Morning preaching at 11. Epworth League at 7 p. m. Preaching in the evening at 8 o'clock. Mid-week service, Wednesday evening.

Last Sunday morning an appropriate service for Memorial day was held. The service was a new order for not only were the old soldiers, but all the dead of the congregation of the Methodist church since it was founded in Wakefield were remembered. Richard Chinn read an article called "In Memoriam" which was prepared by Mr. Chinn and S. E. Mills. The names of all who had died, were read by Mr. Chinn. Appropriate music by Rev. J. J. Burke was enjoyed at this service.

The members of the Epworth League will hold their regular monthly business meeting Friday evening in the lecture room of the church. All members are urged to be present.

Next Sunday morning a special service has been prepared by the pastor for children and young people. It is hoped a large number will be present. In the evening a session especially for men has been prepared. The subject will be "A Great Patriot." Everybody is welcome.

The official board will hold a business meeting Monday evening in the church at 8 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

A Big Time Tuesday.

A Mistaken Idea...

Some people have an idea that in order to have a bank account they must have a large sum to deposit; that the bank does not care to be bothered by small accounts. This, however, is not true of the State Bank. This bank welcomes new accounts whenever there is $1,000, and the same courtesy and service is accorded the small depositor, as those in more fortunate circumstances.

It is our object and wish to serve the public in financial matters in a manner that shall be satisfactory to all—old or young, rich or poor.

We Want Your Banking Business and will be pleased to have you open an account with us.

THE WAYNE HOSPITAL

Home-Like and Cozy in all Details

Takes Care of all Kinds of Cases

PHONE 61

"What is so rare as a day in June?" wrote the poet. But even the delightful freshness of a spring day is lost on the sick. However, there are degrees to the misery of sickness. Environment plays so great a part in the story of every sick room. If you are in a clean, cool room, so located that your friends can call each day to tell you the news and carry messages to those you love, you can live through the days of convalescence cheerfully just in anticipation of those visits.

Because these facts are widely recognized the small hospital in the country town has steadily grown in favor until now it is regarded not as a hazardous adventure but as a necessary institution, subordinate only to the public schools and the churches in its importance to the community. And public opinion in a great democracy does not judge amiss.

Montana Is The Place for the Homeseeker

Harlowton Bids You Welcome to Wheatland Co.

Just recently Meagher county has been divided and Harlowton has been made the county seat of Wheatland county. This of course will mean new interests and much additional business for this already thriving town. By considerable negotiating with the railroads we have arranged to secure a considerable reduction from the regular homeseekers' ticket, which costs about $36.

Any Saturday from Sioux City—$25.45

After you have seen the country and talked with the people, you will say that the trip was worth many times $25.45.

Montana is the only state in the union today wherein lies the opportunity to get a good farm home at a reasonable price and on terms as they used to be in the "good old times" of years gone by, when our fathers were buying land in Iowa, Illinois and Minnesota. Today we offer the homeseeker the opportunity to get a home on easy terms where you will have every advantage as to railroads, good schools, churches, lodges and other conveniences.

Harlowton, in the Musselshell Valley, where the Judith Basin line joins the main line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Ry., is the chief town of Wheatland county and has experienced a great growth in the past five years in population and business houses. It is a well built, busy city in every respect. In the city you will find a modern hotel, extensive flour mills, business houses, banks, newspapers, and it is the distributing point for a large agricultural and stock district. The railroad yards and shops of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway contribute to its prosperity.

Within a few miles of Harlowton, you will find thousands of acres of choice farm lands waiting for the plow. The soil is the best on earth, consisting of a chocolate colored clay loam, averaging with limestone and shale, forming a considerable quantity of fine lime, which in the process of cultivation, gradually disintegrates, feeding and enriching the soil and sorting the elements required by growing crops. The percentage of lime in the soil of this district is so high that it is of very great value for use in place of the manufactured fertilizers, where such products have to be used.

The climate is as good as any one could wish and the rainfall is sufficient to always assure crops, two-thirds of the moisture falling during the growing season. You will never hear of droughts, hot winds, black rust, or cyclones in this part of Montana.

We quote here the aggregate resources and liabilities of the 235 banks, trust companies, investment companies, etc., that you may form an idea of the wealth realized from last year's crop. On Dec. 27, 1916, the above totaled $10,036,932.00, an increase of $2,751,326.00 compared with the $10,297,467.00 which was reported Nov. 17, 1916. Does this not look to you as if Montana "The Treasure State" was the place for you? We bid you WELCOME.

Winside, the

Perhaps the one feature more than Winside from the other towns in this section is situated that business men, townspeople, farmers are in town for just a few hours, and even it to the utmost at all times. It was through and W. H. McCusky, early merchants of Winside secured and the trees planted in 1890. Their foresight in thus planning for the comfort and well always be remembered with gratitude.

But the women of Winside have also done much to better the atmosphere of the community. The Woman's club voted to start a public library. In fifty books this institution has grown up. The shelves between 1400 and 1500 volumes. A variety of the leading magazines is maintained in the library, which is in charge of Mrs. Emma Winside's Main street presents a gallery of houses. Anderson's garage, built by G. E. Anderson is an attractive addition as is also the residence of Paul Koplin. For graham flour uses all the wheat, while bleached white flour wastes at least 30 per cent of the nutriment. And again graham flour is richer in protein, that element that we sacrifice when we strike meat and similar foods from our meals. Graham bread is more easily digested and its coarseness makes desirable roughness in the diet.

Catering to Hardware and Furniture Needs of Winside

The Walter Gaebler furniture and hardware store has made a remarkable growth during the twenty-five years' operation in Winside. At first Mr. Gaebler started with a $750 invoice in a small frame building, and now he has an immense stock well displayed in a handsome brick block. It is because Mr. Gaebler has recognized the basic principle that quality merchandise boosts the volume of sales that his business has advanced so steadily.

McCormick Big 6 Mowers Didn't Happen

The new machine is not an accident—it's a distinct improvement.

The Big 6 Replaces the New Big 4

McCormick harvesting machines are never changed unless decided improvements can be made either in the machine itself or in the work that it does. Sixteen years of satisfaction in the field has made the McCormick New 4 a popular machine. But we predict even wider success with the No. 6 which replaces it this year.

Now the No. 6 is not a New 4 mower made over. It is a new mower, with all the good features of the New 4 and with many distinct improvements. Not only has the No. 6 mower been O. K'd by expert mechanics, but it also has made good in the field.

Especially has been taken with the No. 6 to make it easy to replace all parts. Busy farmers will be quick to appreciate this advantage.

Rigid Frame Cast in One Piece

To guarantee good work season after season, a mower must have a substantial main frame. If the main frame did not remain perfectly rigid, the gears and shafts would be thrown out of line, causing all kinds of grief. That is why the No. 6 frame is cast all in one piece and thoroughly braced.

Get into the seat of a McCormick No. 6 and test out these other new and exclusive features.

1. Effective raising leavers without the detent handle.
2. Flexible Gag Arrangement for rough, uneven ground.
3. Tough piston of second growth hickory.
4. Coupling Bar of extra heavy steel without welding.
5. Countershaft Clutch which acts instantaneously.

From Ponca Journal, June 6, 1878:

"In the view of the doubt as to whether this county is liable on the bonds voted to the C. C. & B. H. R. R., the county commissioner, have most properly and wisely ordered the county treasurer not to pay the interest on the bonds. Such action will save the county the expenses of the commissioners, published in this paper. This action on the part of the county will bring the question before the courts as to whether the bonds are valid. We understand that propositions have been made to have the question immediately brought before the proper tribunal for decision. We trust that this will be done and that the result will be in favor of the county.

to tell of the melancholy and solemn cavalcade that wended its way with funeral solemnity into town again the next day about noon. An old lumber wagon held the fragments of their wretched carriage, consisting of a broken axle, a piece of iron, two tires, a wheel and a few bits of twisted iron. And these three young men! Three black crows on a dead limb never presented a more forlorn and disconsolate appearance. The faded, wonderful hair, the little runaway will no towards showing the appearance of things. And as the boys dove directly down into their trousers for the chunk, herewith to soothe the increased feelings of the livermen; one of them was heard to remark that henceforth his pleasure-riding should be done in a wheelbarrow.

WILLIAM ELIASON WRITES FROM COAST

Long Beach, Calif., May 5, 1917.

Editor of Wayne Herald.

Dear Sir—Thinking a few words from the Pacific coast would be read with interest by your many subscribers, I will give you my impressions of this state. I room in a house on the Pike, which, in fact, is just a part of the shore line, and as I write the surf is rolling up not thirty feet from this building. It is so cool here on the beach that it is always necessary to wear a light overcoat in the evening and many times during the day, especially if it is cloudy.

The country between here and Los Angeles is a vast stretch of truck gardens, many of which are worked by hardy old men and women. The state's greatest orange belt, the so-called frostless belt, lies only twenty miles east and north of Long Beach, near the mountains. It is evident in almost every town that business is overdone, while the farmers in all sections are up against the labor. In the state they can hire Mexicans, but they are often better than the Mexicans. The reason of the unusual demand for labor, many of the high school boys of Los Angeles and other cities have been ordered out by state authorities to help the farmers care for the crops.

While spending a week at San Diego, I went across the border to Tijuana, Mexico. I noticed that the Mexicans do a great deal of gambling. In one town they had a casino, where every imaginable game was played. The four U. S. A. battleships anchored in San Diego harbor, the hundreds of sailors and soldiers swarming the streets, and the many airplanes scouting through the air gave the whole town a war-like atmosphere. I learned, however, that both the soldiers and sailors have training camps in San Diego.

Long Beach is crowded with tourists the whole year. In winter the eastern people come, and in summer the folks who live back in the mountain valleys flock to the beaches, where it is cooler. Of course many easterners have made this their permanent home.

I have visited almost every beach between Los Angeles and the Mexican border, and I have yet to find a bigger, cleaner, better pleasure resort than Long Beach. There is not a saloon in the town; in fact, one is not even allowed to shake dice for a cigar. The ideal weather here makes this a great place for moving picture houses, which do a thriving business.

I enclose herewith a Villa dollar which cost me two and one-half cents—Yours respectfully, William Eliason.

A Kahlidger man is so contented he that he has not been seen since he left right here and not be expected to tell of the melancholy and solemn cavalcade that wended its way with funeral solemnity into town again the next day about noon. An old lumber wagon held the fragments of their wretched carriage, consisting of a broken axle, a piece of iron, two tires, a wheel and a few bits of twisted iron. And these three young men! Three black crows on a dead limb never presented a more forlorn and disconsolate appearance. The faded, wonderful hair, the little runaway will no towards showing the appearance of things. And as the boys dove directly down into their trousers for the chunk, herewith to soothe the increased feelings of the livermen; one of them was heard to remark that henceforth his pleasure-riding should be done in a wheelbarrow.
