EDITORS ENJOY MEET TWO DAYS IN WAYNE

The second midsummer session of the Northeast Nebraska Editorial Association was enjoyed in Wayne last Friday and Saturday by nearly forty men and women engaged in some phase of newspaper work.

The guests began arriving Friday morning at 7:30 a. m. and did not leave until 1:30 o'clock that afternoon. An inspirational paper called attention to the opportunity and responsibility of the press in this time of crisis read by Mrs. Marie Weekes of the Norfolk.

President of the association, Prof. E. N. Lamberson and J. J. Mayo, president of the Public Service club, then welcomed the visitors to Wayne. A brief response from E. N. Lamberson of the Laurel Advocate followed.

The results of a personal questionnaire concerning the big problems of the country press were presented in a report by the speaker for the association of Nebraska Manufacturers. As a result of inquiry for specific facts relative to trade territories from publishers in Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma, 1,500 and 5,000 classes Mr. Ringer discovered an alarming amount of indifference and guesswork. As a remedy Mr. Ringer suggested that each publisher get the help of the county surveyor and assessor make a careful analysis of the community which he felt he was reaching with his newspaper and classify data therefrom so he could classify data in his territory.

This kind of specialized and detailed service would, in the opinion of Mr. Ringer, make the press a potent factor in the uplift of the community. The example of Trenton, Mo., which counts itself as large as its trade territory. Mr. Ringer called attention to its splendid success. He acquainted with a neighbor, who might like him." Prof. M. F. Fogh, head of the school of journalism and Prof. Dana F. Cole of the advertising department at the University of Nebraska accompanied Mr. Ringer to Wayne, and both made brief talks before the association. Prof. Fogh declared that the country press was a vital part of the government and denied the assertion that its influence was on the wane. He predicted country newspapers would increase in power because the personal touch of the editor must always remain intact.

"The Benefits of Organization to Press and Public" was the subject discussed by J. G. Caswell of the Iowa Publishers. "Because the county editor is 'the whole cheese' in advertising and job department," Mr. Caswell urged systematic organization as a time-saver in the shop and office. The speaker also voiced a plea for uniform advertising rates and a primary reason that such cooperation makes for better service as well as for satisfied customers. According to the standardized rates which were presented by the National Editorial Association at the recent session in Minneapolis the following prices should obtain: Circulation 200, 16 cents; 1000, 20 cents; 20,000, 24 cents; 40,000, 26 cents; 50,000, 28 cents and 60,000, 30 cents.

The closing feature of the afternoon session was a paper "Business Ethics" by W. E. Jones of the Nebraska State Journal, Lincoln. Mr. Jones stated that the day when newspapers subsisted by association of the few details in the primary reason that such cooperation makes for better service as well as for satisfied customers. According to the standardized rates which were presented by the National Editorial Association at the recent session in Minneapolis the following prices should obtain: Circulation 200, 16 cents; 1000, 20 cents; 20,000, 24 cents; 40,000, 26 cents; 50,000, 28 cents and 60,000, 30 cents.

"Instead of shooting with an intellectual rifle the average newspaper man blazes away with a shotgun and the farther the fire scatters the more satisfied he is to feel with his product" was another of Mr. Jones' striking statements. The paper closed with a plea for a balance between the advertising subscription and the editorial departments. The aim of every newspaper should be to voice sound editorial views and to tell news clearly. The subscriber is entitled to the best news and the advertiser to the best copy. He should expect to pay for the best advertising copy.

to remove all danger of advertisements controlling either the policy or the appearance of the paper. At 6 o'clock the visiting editors were taken in automobiles to the Country Club, the Normal grounds, and other places of interest. Later they were entertained by the members of the Country Club and their wives at an elaborate picnic supper at the city park.

At 8 o'clock the editors, together with two hundred guests, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Huse for a social evening. The first section of the three-part program interspersed with music by the instrumental quintet and the Normal male quartet featured short talks and a reading by Miss Josephine M. Mack.

G. W. Lewis introduced as the first speaker, Clark Perkins, publisher of the Aurora Republican. Mr. Perkins explained some of the technical points of the publishing business and showed features of the feature wherein the newspaper is of inestimable service to the community.

Edgar Howard, well known to the editors in the Columbus Telegram, gave a delightful resume in reminiscence of the gradual development of the country press. He also showed features of the new Nebraska sunset.

Miss Mack held the close attention of her audience in reading "The Courage of the Commonsense" which tells the story of a young man who despite a bitter disappointment, was true to himself and in the end attained the heroic through the conscientious performance of the common duty.

Following a short intermission during which one group of the guests passed out to the house where refreshments were served at several tables, a five-part Bluebird play was featured on a screen improvised on the lawn through the courtesy of Mr. Nelson. The play was "The Cleanup," an August release featuring Franklyn Farnum, as Stewart Adams, the clever advance agent who has been outwitted by the Purty League, the leader of which happens to be the father of his small town sweetheart. How "Stew" Adams with the help of his several little Dan occurred shortly after they arrived. His wound was in the head and from the first there was little hope of his recovery. Ida May was also shot in the head but the shot glanced in such a way as to cause a less serious wound.

The accident happened early in the morning. Mr. Stefan and his brother-in-law, who was staying with them, went to the river for a swim and Mrs. Stefan left the cabin for a few minutes while the children were still in bed. Karl, Jr., the 7-year-old boy, crawled out of bed and secured the shotgun and in a spirit of fun pulled the trigger. The charge struck both of the children in bed.

The news of the accident caused great sorrow among the friends of the family. Mr. Stefan is city editor of the News and has a wide acquaintance both in the city and in the surrounding territory.

The third part of the evening's program consisted entirely of music. The quartet sang and Herman Siems played a flute solo. "A Song of Sunshine" was the name of a vocal solo by Mrs. E. W. Huse. Mrs. W. H. Morris sang "A Winter Lullaby."

At a short session at the city hall Saturday morning the following resolutions, presented by the committee of Edgar Howard, Charles Skelton and Elyvand J. P. Puresy of Hartington, were read and adopted:

At a meeting of the state normal board on Friday morning the committee having in charge acquisition of property for an enlarged campus for the Wayne school, was instructed to commence condemnation proceedings for purchase of all lots not contracted for. There will be no delay in steps to be taken, and extension of the Normal grounds will soon follow. The total cost of all the property required will be $36,000.

Mrs. C. U. Keeckley who was elected librarian to succeed Mrs. C. H. Bright, resigned, decided she could not accept the place, and in carrying the vacancy was filled by the election of Miss Mabel Jenks of Madison, Wis. Miss Jenks is a graduate of the Wisconsin state university and has had special training in library work.

Miss Elsie Ford Piper, head of the department of Latin, has been granted a year's leave of absence and her place will be filled by Miss Piper expects to attend Leelan Stanford university in California.

and indorse to the board of regents of the state university that it establish and maintain in connection with the university a permanent school of journalism.

The members of the association here assembled extend their appreciation to the courteous people of Wayne for our consideration and entertainment during our sojourn in the city. We are grateful to the owners of the two excellent papers for their assistance in connection with our behalf, and we feel especially indebted to Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Huse for the opening of their hospitable home and the excellent program and refreshments.

The address of the morning was given by Dr. J. T. House, who spoke on "Newspaper Writing from the Standpoint of the Reader." His paper is given in full on page three of the first section of today's Herald.

TO EXTEND THE WAYNE STATE NORMAL

At a meeting of the state normal board on Friday morning the committee having in charge acquisition of property for an enlarged campus for the Wayne school, was instructed to commence condemnation proceedings for purchase of all lots not contracted for. FATAL ACCIDENT

Norfolk, News, July 31: Don Stefan, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Stefan, was fatally shot when a small shotgun in the hands of his brother, Karl, Jr., exploded early Tuesday morning in a cabin at the Craig farm where Stefan family was being camped during the last two weeks of May.

The child was also badly injured but she is expected to recover.

The children were rushed to the General hospital where the little Don occurred shortly after they arrived. His wound was in the head and from the first there was little hope of his recovery. Ida May was also shot in the head but the shot glanced in such a way as to cause a less serious wound.

The accident happened early in the morning. Mr. Stefan and his brother-in-law, who was staying with them, went to the river for a swim and Mrs. Stefan left the cabin for a few minutes while the children were still in bed. CORN IS NOT DAMAGED

Plainview, Neb., July 31.—A trip taken to Sioux City from here Monday showed that corn all along the way is in the best of condition and that as far as it was possible to see, it certainly has not been hurt by the hot dry weather. A half inch rain fell at Page, Neb., early Monday morning and about a third of an inch, east of Osmond.

Too many confuse recreation with dissipation.

RED CROSS BENEFIT BALL GAME ON FRIDAY

On Friday afternoon of last week Wayne enjoyed a real old-time exhibition of the national game at the normal ground when the Wayne traveling men and Wayne business men crossed bats in a nine-inning encounter for the benefit of the Red Cross. Places of business are closed during the game and an enthusiastic crowd of rooters assembled for the contest, which, contrary to expectations of many, proved to be a really high class game and showed the crowd usually seen at baseball tournaments. In fact with the exception of one bad inning when the business men accumulated six runs they were just as good as they could rank well to the front with exhibitions put up by even league players, as the score given below, will show. Aside from furnishing a genuine treat to the spectators, it netted within a few cents of one hundred dollars for the Red Cross and was pronounced a success in every way.

Seven Big Nights at the Crystal

THURSDAY, AUGUST 2
SELZNICK PICTURES
You saw "War Bride," didn't you? Well, that was a Selznick, the first shown in Wayne. We have another Selznick play tonight with Clara Kimball Young taking the lead.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 3
SATURDAY, AUGUST 4

Don't you remember the noted Japanese actor, Sessue Hayakawa, in "Alien Souls"? This week he plays as a Japanese gardener in "The Honorable Friend," in which he is seen as a dupe of the unscrupulous curio dealer, who is desirous of a bride. How affairs are finally adjusted and his dishonorable master receives his deserts and the two lovers are re-united, makes an unusual drama of the better sort.

Are you interested in the chaos and tragedy in Russia at the present time? If so, the Lasky picture, "Anton, the Terrible," will appeal to you. It is a thrilling mixture of political intrigue, love and a people's desperate fight for freedom. Anita King, popular among screen fans because of her unusual charm and beauty, takes the leading role. The rest of the cast are all artists.

MONDAY, AUGUST 6
MONDAY, AUGUST 6

"The Moral Fabric" is an unusual story. It deals with two "free thinkers" who disregard all conventions of society. The unique way by which the deserted husband wreaks revenge on his wife is altogether interesting. Frank Mills, an English actor of note, plays the role of the wronged man.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 7

See the Two Closing Episodes of "The Voice on The Wire" Fourteenth Episode.

With this chapter of the weird serial comes the beginning of the end. The "Hand" kills "Red" Warren and the "Voice" promises the truth. "Is rightly named" "The Light of Dawn."

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 8

"Mutiny" reveals the story of a sailor's daughter, whose father attempts to marry her to his shipmate. She secretly marries the man of her choice but her father forces her to sea, where she is tossed upon the rocks during a wreck. This is a worthwhile plot presented in the usual completeness of the modern play.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 9

June Caprice plays in "The Mischief Maker"—A Fox Comedy, A Merry, Amusing Photoplay.

June Caprice laughs and plays through the five reels of this merry play, assisted by a group of girls who stage all sorts of boarding school pranks. The two prim teachers who seek to check the frivolity of the gay girls, only make the situations the funnier.

Head Your Herd With A Scotch Red Bull

And you will build up a strain of cattle profitable and satisfactory from every angle. The Red Scotch breed stands high in the world of thoroughbred cattle. In my yards are a limited number of young bulls that will be money-makers for stockmen of this vicinity.

One Straight Scotch Red Bull

Out of Orange Blossom and Diamond Goods. This is enough to tell you that this animal is good enough to head any herd in the country. This bull, which is coming two years old, is of that strong, sturdy type which is always in great demand. I also have a number of other bulls, Scotch and Scotch Topped, all yearlings. They all come from a good strain. It will pay you to see these animals.

Medicine and surgical science are doing more and more every day to cut down the total of men disabled for life or dying from wounds received in the trenches. And the whole profession of medicine is surely to profit by these humanitarian efforts at the front.

One of the facts learned since the war began is that the sooner a sick or injured soldier can be taken to a hospital and surrounded by the influences of home, the greater are his chances for recovery.

America had already begun to practice this idea in the opening of country hospitals. A tedious and injurious journey to a far-off hospital either by car or rail, it was found, often caused death, no matter how successful the operation. To overcome this disadvantage the home hospital was conceived. Its influence and benefits to any community are now unquestioned.

The only trouble would be whether the train capered into the weeds it could be readily found again. It might be lost together, and not be seen again, until the remote future some antiquarian discovered it.

VICTORY IS INSURED BY GREAT RESOURCES

Washington, D. C., July 28.—America will win the war, Herbert Hoover declared in a statement tonight, because of its superior resources and through the ability of the American people to organize.

Germany accomplished less in this direction in two months," said Mr. Hoover, "than our people have in four. The only need of legislation and authority is to curb those who would profit by this voluntary movement."

More than 2,000,000 women, Mr. Hoover announced, have enrolled as members of the food administration and pledged themselves to follow its directions as to saving food within the household.

Within sixty days, he said, many more millions will have become members.

"No one can fight the gloom over the outcome for the American people in this war," said Mr. Hoover, "Success in this war is a question of resources, and the will and ability of the people to organize them to use them rightly and to endure."

Many thinking Americans and, the whole world has been watching anxiously the last four months in the face of the democratic American could not organize to meet autocratic Germany.

Germany has been confident that it could not be done.

Proof at Its Door.

Contrary proof is immediately at our door, and it is too plain for all eyes to ignore.

Our people are being mobilized, organized, and prepared voluntarily and efficiently in many directions and upon a mere basis of inspiration.

It is a remarkable assembly of our army and finances.

"We entered the war four months ago and it was announced by the president that one of the great problems of the war would be food.

There has been no consequential national or local legislation, yet the greatest spontaneous volunteer effort ever made in history has not only provided us with a larger stock of food supplied as a result of patriotic planting in every quarter, but waste is being eliminated out of every corner of our business and industry.

Without compulsion of the law, but by spontaneous effort and self-denial of the people.

The present prospects indicate an increase of production of cereals by eight hundred and fifty million bushels. Literally millions of new gardens have been planted or re-planted everywhere.

We have the largest supply of vegetables ever in our history.

Wolf at Europe's Door. "The wolf is at the door of Europe and with all these resources of our people, we are still being called for by war."

The response not only in planting, but also in conservation, has been of such a spontaneous, magnificent order as to give us confident optimism in the ability of our people to prepare and to persevere.

"Our American canners will this year produce about one billion seven hundred million cans of fruits and vegetables."

Our government and our people will require about two hundred million of these cans.

The returns we have from various state organizations indicate that the results obtained for the first half of the season that the American women will preserve two hundred million jars and cans this year of fruit and vegetables, and will thus supply any deficiency called for by the armies.

The elimination of waste in the country has been most gratifying. The best part of this saving is in garbage returns from our large cities.

We have the return for the month of June from cities of a population of fifteen thousand showing a reduction of their garbage by thirty-two per cent under the month of June last year.

"Now that we made a broad survey of the country after four months we find every state spontaneously creating a definite and active food organization presided over by capable, devoted men and women who sacrificed every interest in this national service."

That the organization of democracy, and this is positive proof that upon call of national duty our people will rise and rise over night to the real defense of their faith.

Some men learn by experience and others by expenses.

It may be the result of a false instance outside the observer's mind or merely a creature of a disordered brain, subjective. The seer, while looking at the vision with both his eyes, gently depresses one eyeball with his forefinger from outside the top eyelid, so causing a squint. If objective, whether bogus or not, two outlines of the ghost will be seen, but one, of course, if it be subjective. One may prove this by trial any time with any object, near or far. I mention this because of the many nervous and brain-weary people who see ghosts and to whom it would be better that they should know that the trouble is within themselves and so seek a capable doctor than continue to be haunted, as they believe, by the supernatural."

ORDERED TO RETURN FEES. Pierce, Neb., July 26: An order allowing a writ of mandamus signed by W. V. Allen, judge of the district court, on July 26, with petition and pleadings, has been filed in District Court Clerk O. B. Miller's office by County Attorney H. Leamy. The writ will be of interest to the taxpayers of this county. The order is issued against Henry E. Rohn and commands him to immediately return to the county fees totaling $203.11 which it is alleged he received and failed to turn over to the county during the time he was county clerk. County Attorney Leamy made a trip to Alliance last Friday to get service on Mr. Rohn but was unable to locate him. Returning home Saturday he ran across Mr. Rohn at Mark and placed the papers in the hands of Sheriff Smith of Madison county, who served the papers on Rohn at 1:30 o'clock in the morning as he was returning to his hotel. Under the writ Rohn is ordered to appear and answer on September 24.

A Pat of Butter.

One pat or serving of butter is a little thing. There are about sixty-four of them in a pound, says the department of agriculture.

In many households the butter left on the plates probably would equal one pat or one-quarter of an ounce daily, scraped off into the garbage pail.

But if every one of our 20,000,000 households should waste one-quarter of an ounce of butter daily the aggregate it would mean 312,500 pounds a day 344,000,000 pounds a year.

To make this butter would take 885,261,500 gallons of milk, or the product of one-quarter of an acre of pasture.

The United States department of agriculture, Washington, or your state agriculture college will tell you how to save your butter in cooking—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Died For His Mate.

There is a tablet in the sailor home at Ashburn to James Marr. He was a sailor before the mast on the Rip on July 15, 1873, the Rip was caught in a squall, Marr sat astride of the gun when a great wave broke over the ship.

There was only one chance to save the Rip. That was to put away the litter. But Marr clung to the broken spar, and to cut away meant to send him overboard.

EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN

Omaha Bee: A report just published by the federal bureau of education has in it some very interesting information concerning the employment of children out of school hours. Groups comprising 14,391 children, about evenly divided between boys and girls scattered through eleven states, were closely studied in collecting data on which the report is based. Conclusions reached are that this employment, while essential for many reasons, has the effect of engineering a mistake for school work. The child loses interest in lessons, develops a disinclination to study and, having gained some degree of economic independence, breaks away from school too soon.

On the other hand, the inquiry shows that in the majority of cases parents need to be fully informed of the earnings and the means of children's earnings to keep them longer at school. In vocational preference the larger number of both boys and girls seek employment on farms through vacation. Educational advantages and benefit to health accruing from the open-air work and contact with the processes of nature are of more value than the money earned. It is interesting to note that a very small percentage of these immature workers go into factories and those that do are chiefly employed in the canning industry. Street vocations are most condemned, because of the influence of the environment. Money earned by the children during vacation is a considerable item. The report says 5,181 children from the sixth, seventh and eighth grades received wages amounting to $68,342.04, on which basis the commissioner estimates the total earnings of children of these grades approximately $60,000,000 a year.

Get the Right Number From the Telephone Directory

Do not rely on your memory. It sometimes plays strange tricks with telephone numbers.

Few people can remember telephone numbers accurately.

Many errors are made in calling numbers by transposing the figures. For example, people will call 853 when 835 is wanted.

Calling numbers in error or by not giving them slowly and distinctly so the operator can understand are the cause of most "wrong numbers."

A wrong number wastes your time, delays your service and annoys the person who answers the call.

Always get the number from the directory first.

THE "DREAM" OF PEACE

Lincoln Journal: The common way to bear men who yesterday belonged to peace societies, speak contemptuously of peace and internationalism as foolish dreams. The abundance of tooth and claw for three years past has led to the acceptance of tooth and claw. Of any basis save might for adjustments between nations they despise. Not even the setting up of a cooperative might to control the anarchical impulses of individual kings and hierarchies excites their faith. Might is right, and the peace promoter with his humane and justice ruled world is pernicious and a pestilence, for he hampers his own country in its effort to be mightiest among the mighty.

Before the war only Prussians talked that way. At the last Hague conference a German delegate soured cold water over the proceedings in the session of the peace conference in America we denied it almost unanimously. We refused to believe that a race which had succeeded after centuries of effort in a fairly tough suppression of war between individuals was incapable of bringing nations under the same submission to the general good. But now we hear the German view here, sometimes from positions of considerable influence and power. Such has been the influence upon some minds of three years of frightful news that has borne men backward to acceptance as a final state of what they once hoped was only a transient condition.

A remarkable thing about this reaction in these quarters is the fact that it is a reaction against the general growth of belief in and demand for the ending of war. This war is being supported by the peoples of Russia, Great Britain and the United States to the definite understanding that their statesmen are to arrange a different way to settle future disputes. Nor is this demand confined to these. In Germany, France and elsewhere the people are laying down the same condition. They will fight this war out, but they insist that his shall be the last one.

Of course the people's insistence that the thing be done does not mean that the statesmen can do it. Yet it would be strange if an arrangement among themselves which the peace loving people could not agree to by themselves. Intelligent people now understand pretty well the underlying causes of war and they think that these causes are the same as the causes of the war that seemed so insuperable in the days of Malthus, the pressure of population, has already been removed or mitigated in the advanced western countries where effective voluntary control of the birth rate already exists. The people are beginning to know this. If their statesmen cannot seem to arrange matters accordingly, then are all the peoples likely to do as the Russians are now doing, take the matter of war and peace into their own hands. For the common cause of the common man tells him that if his thought of escape from the torments of war is merely a dream, this at least a dream of the sort that "molds in clay what life craves in the marble real."

playment of children is recommended as a reasonable solution for the question of objectionable vocations. It is accepted as established that some useful work is desirable for the child during the vacation period, but during the school term employment outside of school hours is to be avoided if possible because of its detracting from school duties.

CUT OUT THE JOY RIDE.

St. Louis City Journal: It is the conclusion of the petroleum committee of the national defense council's advisory commission that two things are necessary if an adequate supply of fuel oil for the nation's vital needs is to be assured. All oil producers must endeavor to bring their output to the maximum and keep it there. All consumers of fuel oil, particularly all consumers of refined fuel oil, must curtail their consumption.

The first of these requirements involves also the effort to augment production by drilling new wells.

The second, if it is to be effective, will affect in an essential degree the automobile pleasure rider. It is the opinion of the petroleum committee fortified by figures showing production, consumption and reserve supplies, that pleasure riders should find that the family automobile must be restricted in its use as largely as possible to business. The head of the committee that makes this recommendation is A. C. Bedford, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey.

Since Iowa is the greatest producing state in the union for automobiles, considered on a per capita basis, and since the neighboring states of this section are also well up in the list, the report of the petroleum committee has its direct application here. The committee is producing about 300,000,000 barrels of crude oil annually. It is using crude oil at the rate of 335,000,000 barrels a year. The amount of "crude" in storage May 1 was 165,688,797 barrels. The country as the figures show, is not only consuming its current output but is drawing heavily upon its dwindling reserves. The increase in the number of automobiles in use is the principal reason for this situation. In 1910 there were 2,200,000 in use; in 1916 there were 2,800,000 and at present there are more than 4,000,000. They consume over 40,000,000 gallons of refined oil, gasoline, a year. It is becoming more and more costly to find and develop new oil properties. The increase in production, while considerable, is by no means keeping pace with the increase in consumption. In the first three months of 1917 more than 4700 wells were drilled, but the additional daily production gained was only 344,876 barrels, as against an increase of 430,010 barrels from 1,711 new wells in all of 1915.

If the government is to have the petroleum it will need to prosecute the war successfully and supply all necessities directly growing out of the war, the committee concludes. "The public will have to economize in the use of gasoline. Not a gallon of gasoline should be used in the present emergency except for some useful end."

WAKEFIELD

Miss Alice Mac accompanied her husband to a week's visit. On account of the chaletauqua programs in the afternoons this week the city librarian, Mrs. Sina Hyspe accompanied the patrons of the library by keeping the building open after 5 o'clock so that they might exchange and renew their books at that time. Miss Ethel Kinney, Edward and John Kenney, Theron Clifton, Harry Hinrichs and Mrs. and Mrs. Martin Bradford and daughter, Miss Irene, drove by the defense camp at Redwood Sunday to spend the day at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Longnecker. Martin Ekerott returned Friday from Essex, Ia., where he attended the funeral of his sister. He was accompanied home by Mrs. Anna Hanson and two children, friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ekerott, from Essex, Ia., are spending this week with them. Harold Donelson left Wakefield Thursday morning for Denver, Colo., where he has placed in the medical corps at the defense camp at Redwood camp at that time. Harold was a member of the band and a number of his friends including the band boys, took him to the depot and gave him a farewell party. Miss Marjorie Harrison of Sidney, Ia., spent a few days last week at the home of her aunt, Mrs. J. W. Shelington and family. Miss Hanson was at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Penney, where she had been visiting at the home of her grandfather, T. Penney. Mr. Penney is an old resident of Wayne county, having lived near Warsaw for many years. A committee of three, H. P. Shumway, S. E. Ellis and Rev. Frank Williams, members of the county council of defense, left Wakefield Saturday morning at 6 o'clock to make a tour of Dixon county that day. They will conduct short meetings at different towns in the county in behalf of the county council of defense. Connelly, pastor of the Methodist church of Norfolk who is also a state lecturer, will accompany this team on the trip and will make a patriotic talk at each stop.

Returned from Camp. Miss Faith Haskell and friend, Miss Mildred Weston, returned to their homes at Wakefield and Hartwood. Miss Haskell was accompanied by young ladies attended a three weeks' training school at a camp located on the outskirts of Denver, called the Fifth National Service school. Miss Haskell was one of the students. There were seventy-five young ladies at the camp, receiving training for carrying on the Red Cross work. This camp was conducted along the same lines as the military camps for boys. The army officers drilled them regularly as in any camp. Drill work at certain hours and regular hours for all the work, was a part of the training. The girls wore khaki, khaki uniforms of khaki. Miss Haskell specialized in first aid work, surgical dressing and wireless telegraphy. As soon as Miss Haskell received the letter that some of the things she learned while in training.

Social Notes. A Family Dinner. Mr. and Mrs. August Samuelson entertained at a family reunion at their home Sunday. A number of their children were home for this occasion, although several were unable to be present. A big family dinner was one of the pleasant features of the day. The dinner was laid for Mr. and Mrs. A. Clark and family of Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Samuelson of Waldorf, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. Alton Samuelson of Waldorf, Minn., and Mr. and Mrs. August Samuelson.

A Birthday Party. Mrs. C. E. Blaker celebrated her birthday anniversary Saturday by inviting a number of ladies to her home and come to her home and spend the afternoon. The guests enjoyed a pleasant time sewing and visiting. At an appropriate hour, Mrs. Blaker served a delicious three-course tray luncheon. Several gifts were presented to the hostess in honor of this occasion. Enjoy Chaletauqua. Wakefield citizens speak highly of their chaletauqua program this summer. Every number has been very satisfactory so far, and the people are giving their support in such a way that a better chaletauqua is assured for next year. All the expenses have been made and there promises to be a balance in the treasury for next year. Dr. Hindus from Russia, Dr. Fox, a California minister and Dr. McGuire, pastor of the largest church in the United States, having four weeks' leave, each gave an excellent address.

Organize Chapter. Several ladies in Wakefield met at the home of Mrs. Catherine Dilts last Friday afternoon for the purpose of organizing a chapter of the Order of the Veterans. The following officers were elected: Mrs. Catherine Dilts, president; Mrs. Mary Alstrope, vice president; Mrs. Bird Oliver, treasurer, and Mrs. Nellie Ross, secretary. Those whose names were enrolled were: Mrs. Catherine Dilts, Mrs. Sade Merritt, Mrs. Anna Long, Mrs. Eunice Carvens, Mrs. Libbi Rohne, Mrs. Luella Murphy, Mrs. Lettie Harmon, Mrs. Retic Guest, Mrs. Bird Oliver, Mrs. Ada Corbindale, Flora Hasa, Mrs. Pearl Murphy, Mrs. A. Mid-week service, Wednesday evening. Last Thursday, the pastor administered the sacrament of baptism by immersion to five young people at the Reservation lake southeast of town. Sunday morning last he received two new members in the church, private Isaac Lyman, of the Kansas National Guard, who was home on furlough before his regiment left for service. Sunday morning next the pastor will preach his monthly sermon to the children and young people. Other services as usual, commencing with big turnout for Sunday school at 10 o'clock. The Pleasant Valley church enjoyed visits last Sunday afternoon in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. J. Morgan and family. They were from their Y. M. C. A. work in Japan. Mr. Jorgenson gave a most interesting talk about their work. Mr. and Mrs. Young, Sunday school minister, were also present, and the former took part in the service. Pleasant Valley Sunday school is just now in the throes of a Red and Blue contest and the interest is keen and the attendance large. Next Sunday afternoon the pastor is to deliver a special message appropriate to the subject of "The Soldier's Spirit." One of the young men in charge of the chaletauqua tent at Wakefield this week is a young man named Arthur. Allen renewed his acquaintance with many friends while there, and, with his friend, Arthur Anderson, returned to the chaletauqua. Mr. Anderson is in his old home on Monday by Rev. and Mrs. Williams and family. Allen is a very fine young fellow, a student of Wesleyan university, and one of the sons of ministers who give the lie to the old assertion that ministers' sons are anything but ornaments to the profession of their fathers.
