MISS MADSEN FINISHES

Closes Summer's Work as Representative for the Herald.

My work ended for the summer last Saturday night and for a while at least the Herald Ford will cease to wander through rural districts. For fifteen weeks the country work has been kept up and the results have been gratifying. The Herald has an enviable reputation throughout the county and people on the whole are more than satisfied with it. The fact that it is so favorably known makes it an easy matter to present the Herald to non-subscribers as well as for renewals. We judge it a wonderful record to have traveled throughout the entire county without hearing one serious criticism of the Herald for we are aware that nothing is more subject to criticism than country newspapers.

There have been many who have been said about this Wayne weekly and surprise has often been expressed that in view of the fact that several eight-page papers of nearby counties are charging two dollars, the sixteen-page Wayne Herald remains at its old price. We take this opportunity for thanking people for the kind and courteous treatment that has been accorded us during the summer. The theory that generally speaking no people is to like them has been proved by my work this summer. I appreciate the generous consideration and hospitality shown me in many ways, the least of which was not the willingness to help repair a very few might be amiss with the car.

There are a few few homes in Wayne county that I have not visited during the summer and those of whom I did not meet were probably from home when I called. Subscribers have been almost unanimous in renewing the Herald and a paid-up subscription list means a better paper. This fact is generally appreciated by subscribers and hence their willingness to do their part for continuing the services of a good newspaper.

The same pride experienced in working on a good newspaper is felt in living in a county as productive as Wayne. This year's crop bids well to be one of the best in the history of the county. The grain crop already harvested has been of the best. There are farmers who have reported as much as forty bushels of wheat to the acre while one field of oats netted 110 bushels per acre. Generally speaking, farmers are optimistic about the corn. Some corn is already reported out of danger, although most of it will need water weather until the twentieth. You can readily imagine my grief in having to say goodbye to the Herald Ford and it was flattering in the extreme to know that the same feeling was expressed by the limousine for after I left it at the Herald office it absolutely refused to answer to the owner's entreaties to move. But our grief was probably more than counterbalanced by the repair agents and it is reported that one shop discharged one of its men when he learned the Herald Ford was off the road.

Chicago the Herald will bring the weekly news of the wellbeing and prosperity of Wayne county people.

LETTER FROM FORT MEADE

Ward Randol of Hospital Corps Writes Pres. U. S. Conn.

Fort Meade, S. D. August 31, 1917.

President U. S. Conn.

Dear Mr. Conn:

I have thought of you and the Hill a great many times since I came back from my short visit with you in July and the biggest hope now entertain is that I may be back to finish my work with you within a year or two. I read with a great deal of interest the accounts in the Herald of the extension plan that you are working on. There is no doubt in my mind that the Wayne Normal will be second to none in Nebraska in a very short time.

I have an organization here at the present time to be proud of. For officers, we have a surgeon, a pharmacist, an undertaker, and an office sergeant. You can readily see that for the greater part this department is filled with professional men. Our day's work at present consists of setting-up, exercises from 6:00 to 6:30, hospital work until 10:30, class in hospital routine from 10:30 to 11:30, drill from 1:30 to 3:00, and class in therapeutics, materia medica, and pharmacy from 3:30 to 4:30. This gives us a course about equal to twenty hours in college. I have been working in the surgeon's office for the past two months and will continue for some time to come. Care of the hospital records the surgeon's correspondence, and care of the recruits that are examined here is what the work consists of for the greater part. I like the work and am doing very well with it; at least there is no complaint. I was one of the first five of this organization to be promoted and hope to be in line for the next. They made me a private first-class at $33 per month which isn't very much, but is worth working for. The reason for this is that the pay sent in was worth more than the extra money by far. He recommended me as a "good clerk, good stenographer, and well educated." However I think he was off a shade or two. All but seven of our bunch are going to leave for Camp Dodge, Des Moines, Ia., in a very short time. I am one of the seven to be left in charge of this hospital.

Last Saturday, eighteen of us made an attempt to explore Haven port's cave, the end of which no one has ever found. It is four miles from the Fort and within a mile of two lumber camps. Among many interesting things were the crystal formations. I am sending you a specimen by express which I wish you would please place in Mr. Hickman's department or wherever it belongs. It isn't the best by any means, but still, it is a better one sometime later.

School will start soon and I wish you would put me down for the G. S. Genrod, beginning with the first issue. I am keeping up with my work by taking the Sioux City Journal, the Omaha Bee and the New Republic. The World-Herald, Chicago Tribune, Denver Post, and a number of other dailies and periodicals come to the hospital regularly. The common idea that the soldier is unable to buy his own reading material is all wrong. The lowest paid soldier in the service gets thirty dollars per month above all expenses and from that on up to several hundred. A whole lot of them couldn't do any better in civilian life and some of them couldn't do nearly so well. If they don't read it is their own fault.

The hunting season opens up here the seventh of September. Ducks and chickens are plentiful. I have seen a few grouse, but I doubt if there are many near the Fort. Deer season opens up in November, but I have no hopes of getting as large game as this. However, I have seen a number in this section of the Hills.—Ward M. Randol.

People Speak Well of Chamberlain's Tablets.

"I have been selling Chamberlain's Tablets for about two years and have heard such good reports from my customers that I concluded to give them a trial myself, and can say that I do not believe there is another preparation of the kind equal to them," writes G. A. McBride, Headford, Ont. If you are troubled with indigestion or constipation give them a trial. They will do you good.—Adv.

Yes, we are ready to serve our friends, our neighbors, our customers and everybody else's customers. We are back on the job and back to stay, we hope. We are ready to deliver the goods; ready to greet you all and show you the clothes you ought to have for your fall "dress-up."

The Whole Cheese

at this store now belongs to us. After selling our clothes shop at Fremont, Mr. Mulloy decided to retire from the clothing business altogether. Accordingly, on Thursday the Wayne deal was closed.

The policy of this store will, of course, remain the same. Our lines of fall goods are brimful of clothes that appeal to men of good taste. We will give you quick service and honest-to-goodness gilt-edged values.

LIVE STOCK WASTE.

It is reported that the cost of live stock killed by cars railroad on in the first seven years amounted to $100,000. The loss in dollars of stock accidentally killed by all railroads would total a gigantic sum. It is pointed out that avoidance of this waste is especially important during the present live stock shortage. One railroad makes these among other suggestions as a safeguard. Stock men are urged to have all stock in well fenced enclosures, all right-of-way gates closed, and under no circumstances allow stock to wander at large on the railroad right-of-way. Section men are urged to keep fences and cattle guards in good repair, giving especial attention to such locations where liability is greatest of stock getting out on the roadway.

In the course of his public communications, Mr. Gerard says Americans lack the passion of hate which has been developed in Germany. He says the gospel of hate is cultivated in Germany. Lack of disposition to hate is a reflection of the spirit of true civilization and true Christianity. It is to the credit of America that it does not excel in ability to hate. The United States enters the world as a peace-loving and a revenge. Opposing armies are ready to battle and do not know why. Enlightened, the United States takes up arms to preserve an ideal looking to world freedom and meets the deluded enemy in pity.

At this time of national crisis, when the United States has taken up the cudgel to resist the world from the thrall of militaristic kings, it is necessary for every one to show utmost courage and make utmost personal sacrifice. Before the war, immediate self interest held attention. Now we must look beyond immediate self and comprehend a nation's future and make posterity's freedom and independence secure.

Poor old Russia is going through a most drastic course in its evolution from monarchy to democracy. When the heel of czar rule was lifted, government forces and the populace burst into chaos. United to self-government, the country became a ferment of conflicting views, all more or less aggravated by limited taxation and restricted understanding. It is the hope of free people everywhere that Russia will see its opportunity and come out of its severe ordeal a united and progressive democracy.

The packing house strike at Omaha was amicably settled this week through the efforts of a government mediator. The patriotic spirit, stimulated by the appeal of the mediator, brought concessions from both sides and hastened an adjustment of differences. The government would seem fully justified in giving quick interference in any labor trouble during the war. It should see that labor is adequately paid, and should also see that production is not interrupted.

Salaries for teachers in the country used to be lower than those paid to teachers in towns and cities, but in late years they are higher. Therefore, rural schools are attracting teachers who are amply qualified for city duties, who, considering financial advantages, prefer the rural districts. Cities will have to push salaries ahead in order to compete with the country.

It is right for the government to make itself pay for the cost of the war. The bulk of the huge expense should not be saddled on people who are already struggling to make ends meet, and many of whom are furnishing boys for the battle line. Conservation of money is manifestly as just as conservation of men.

If frost will hold off a few weeks longer Wayne county will be able to do its full share in the production of corn of the best quality.

NEBRASKANS IN MONTANA.

Editor, Herald: On Saturday evening, August 25, at Valier, Montana, at the New Hotel Valier, twenty-five Nebraska people sat down to a sumptuous banquet with fifty of their old-time neighbors in Nebraska. Such a reunion has never before been held in that vicinity, and it was a surprise to all to meet so many of their old friends, so far away from where they had formerly been acquainted. Most of the people were formerly from Craig, Kansas and Bluff, a few of the visitors from the vicinity of Norfolk, who were on a visit to Valier, and were inspecting the lands on the Valier project, and the old Nebraskans had all purchased land there and are making Valier, Mont. their home. The visiting people were C. K. Heist and wife, L. J. Davis, Charles Glick, Alfred Wede, Robert Isaac, Kiefer and wife, and Wayne Tibbles, all of Craig, Neb.; A. L. Johnson of Bloomfield; E. A. Devenny and wife of Bismark; E. A. Galt and wife of J. D. Dinkley; W. E. Ellis, Tekamah; Oscar Guimerson, David Nelson, A. J. Swanson and wife, Jos. Swanson, Gus Carlson, and Gus Suenberg of Aurora. Present were also, Robert Adams, Miss Jennie Adams, C. D. Warren, wife and daughter, U. M. Holiday, wife and son, Elmer Squires and wife, Hazel J. Nielson, Andrew Nielson and wife, Reuben Clements and wife, Sanford Clements and wife, William P. Clements, Mr. Ben, Lawrence Phipps and wife, James Hart and wife, Bernie Beckenbauer, Mrs. M. M. Mayden, Ted Anderson, Ora Stockmyer and wife, Oscar Peterson and wife, Hugo Swanson and wife, Earl Hancock and wife, Howard Hancock and wife, Earl Hipsley and wife.

On August 26, many of the people went to the mountains thirty-five miles away to inspect the great Boulder Dam, which is a high, built of concrete, steel and rock, and is one of the best structures of its kind in the world. The reservoir of which it is a part, holds an average of over 300,000 acres of land one foot deep. This water is distributed over 88,000 acres of irrigated land by over 400 miles of canals and ditches. There is also another reservoir known as Lake Francis reservoir, near the town of Valier, which holds sufficient water to cover 112,000 acres of land a foot deep.

After his electric lights, water, sewerage and sewage system, and one of the most promising towns in the entire west. Its schools are first class, and the entire country is set up by a hustling, up-to-date class of people. Members of visiting party liked the country so well that they nearly all purchased land, and possibly thousands more changed hands while they were on the ground. Some of them are remaining there, while others will arrange to move out in the spring. The country convention of the Nebraska in the way of people, and the Nebraskans are getting some of the cream of Montana. E. A. Gossard.

Shower for Bride.

In honor of Miss Vallie Armacost whose marriage to Mr. Shirley B. Sprague is an event of the near future, twenty young ladies were entertained at the home of Mrs. Arthur Norton Friday evening of last week. A half hour was spent in writing recipes for the bride who promised to follow all suggestions carefully. As the honor guest the miscellaneous shower of gifts was a complete surprise. From a box, artistically decorated in yellow and white, the brides' chosen colors, ribbons were stretched in a network throughout the rooms. When Miss Armacost reached the "end of the string" she unwrapped the gifts, most of which were crystal, silver or linen. At the close of the evening, the hostess served an elaborate tray luncheon, the menu being carried out in yellow and white. Yellow flowers were used as favors. Vase of yellow lilies, and gold glow brightened the rooms. Miss Ina Hughes, with her ukelele, furnished music during the evening.

SELECT BOOKS WITH CARE

Soldiers in Need of Fresh Entertaining. Attractive Books. Good books are one of the few comforts at home it is possible to send to the boys "Somewhere in France," or to those still in training on this side. They must include books which are entertaining and amusing, books which are instructive and educational, and books which will give help and comfort. The mental food with which we fill the minds of "our soldiers" is of important matter. As much care must be taken to provide them with the right sort of books as with the right sort of food. Books in good condition on all subjects, technical, historical, geographical, artistic, as well as books of fiction, novels and poetry are acceptable. The Magazines. Send only 1917 magazines of the general story type. Ladies' magazines are not desired, but other magazines of all sorts are in great demand. Because of the great need of fiction in the trenches, the greatest desire that all books be turned in at once. Books will be received and shipped up to October 1. The response to the call for books and magazines has not been very successful thus far. The men want books. Send or bring them in at once to the library or notify Scoutmaster Paul Miller, who will arrange to get the contributions.

GERALD CRESS WRITES.
 Rock Bunting, coming from Gerald Cress who is in the American Field service in Paris, gives a graphic description of a German air raid on Paris in a letter to his sister, Mrs. Lucile Calve, chief A. Wright's restaurant.
 "It was quite interesting to see the French planes circling over the city," he writes, "because of the shooting across the sky, the shrill cry of the sirens warning the sleeping people to hit for the cellars, the clang of the fire engines on the way to their respective stations, the trumpet call for the doubling of the guards of the city and occasionally the dull report of a bomb as it struck answered by the sharp report of the anti-aircraft guns. I stood out on the terrace and watched the whole proceedings for about an hour. The Bosch planes did little damage and the next night, when they returned, I did not even see any of the hullabaloo."
 Mr. Cress says the French people have put up a wonderful fight but have lost so many men that if it had not been for the United States they would be in a bad way—the coming winter.

THE POTATO CROP.
 Lincoln Journal: The potato crop is large throughout the country and harvesting returns now coming indicate a very satisfactory return to the growers. Fortunately the care of the potato is so well understood that there need be no loss in putting away the surplus for consumption during the winter and spring. In the production of the huge crop of vegetables raised this season the country is less happy. A tremendous amount of effort has been put into canning and drying. With so many apt hands at work with methods that are still largely experimental, a considerable loss before the vegetable crop goes into consumption is inevitable. Another year or two we shall be prepared to save this part of our food crop with almost European efficiency. It is to be regretted that we did not have the drying and canning lessons well learned before this emergency came upon us.

HOW ABOUT THAT SPREADER?

Do you remember whether that manure spreader worked tip-top the last time you hauled last spring. If it didn't it will pay you to have it overhauled and repaired before you start to clean out the yards this fall. Nothing is more provoking than to get on a big load and discover that the machine refuses to spread or that some weak part has broken. Let us save you trouble.

THE FIELD OF BUSINESS.

Sioux City Journal: Weakness in the stock market, affecting falls, industrial and bonds impartially, was an interesting feature of the week in business. The supremacy of the shorts, who continued the persistent pressure that was effective through most of last week, was supported by the government announcement of intention to enforce new ocean shipping rates from 65 to 75 per cent under those prevailing. Maritime rates went down in response to that. Rails, even of such high grade as Pennsylvania, New York Central, New Haven and St. Paul, slumped steadily. Some investment issues touched the lowest marks of years. A recovery of some proportions was registered, particularly among the industrials, as the week came to a close.

Business was encouraged by the defeat in the senate of plans to impose almost confiscatory levies upon war and normal excess profits and upon incomes. After a fight the senate gave overwhelming endorsement to the compromise levy proposed by the senate finance committee for war profits, which, it is calculated, will bring in about $1,250,000,000 and will take about one-third of the excess profits. More than $800,000,000 additional revenue is expected to be derived from the higher income surtaxes agreed upon. The final vote on the war tax bill will be taken to-day, and its passage is assured. The house, meantime, adopted the war credits bill presented at the instance of Secretary McAdoo, approving the raising of $1,538,945,460 by issuance of bonds and treasury certificates. Of this $4,000,000,000 is to go to loans to the allied powers. Additional loans of $100,000,000 each to France and Great Britain during the week increased the total of American contributions to $2,206,000,000. Other loans are expected shortly. Continuation of heavy gold exports to Japan, Spain and South America was followed by announcement that the government's system of licensing the shipment abroad of bullion coin and currency is to be put into effect today. Bar silver touched the new high mark of 96 3/8 cents an ounce, and Mexican dollars, ordinarily worth about fifty cents, began to pour into this country when their present value was boosted to 75 cents. Rubles found a new minimum at 1/2 cents. Liberty bonds sold at 99 1/2 to 99 3/8. Call money which was high as the week opened at 6 per cent, dropped considerably. Time loans held firm in the neighborhood of 2 1/2 to 2 1/2 per cent. Wheat was taken out of the list of board of trade commodities by the appearance of the government as a buyer at the fixed standard price of $2.20 a bushel for the basic grade at Chicago. A few sales slightly above the figure were made, but almost immediately the quotation became stable at the figure priced. Corn was used as a rule, but was affected variously by re-

The government crop forecast pointed to a corn yield of 3,248,000,000 bushels—124,000,000 bushels in excess of the record total of 1912. Improvement in spring wheat and other grains also was indicated. Hogs went down, tops registering around $18.15 at Chicago. The fuel administration of the national government announced that retail coal prices are to be established. Food Commissioner Hoover declared the fixing of meat prices would be neither desirable nor legally possible. Revenues of 106 of the large railroads of the country for July were shown to be in excess of those of

John Mulloy Sells Interest in Wayne Store to His Partner.

The partnership of Blair & Mulloy in the clothing business in Wayne was dissolved last Thursday when Fred S. Blair bought his partner's interest and is now sole owner of the store. The same firm recently sold a store which Mr. Mulloy had been operating at Fremont. Since engaging in business at Fremont several months ago, the Wayne store has been under the exclusive management of Mr. Blair. The latter's experience here convinces him that Wayne is a good place to tie to permanently.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS' PARTY

Social and Business Meetings Held by the Organization.

The Camp Fire Girls had a party at the residence of Prof. L. H. Brill Friday evening when they played games, told stories and sang songs. The games were novel and original, and were the cause of much merriment. Each member told of the most foolish thing she ever did, and the recounting of these amusing experiences were almost as interesting as the fortune-telling by which each girl answered certain significant questions which at some future time are destined to shape the events of her life.

Miss Esther Vennerberg, Miss Bernice Hess, and Miss Lynette Rennick were on the committee and after the games, served refreshments. Miss Madge Rippon was welcomed into the organization by the Camp Fire members at the monthly meeting Monday evening. At this time, the Camp Fire members received their honor beads. Each member was fortunate in receiving some beads. These honor beads are given for the following merits: Housework—Dishes, cleaning, cooking, healthcraft—Walking certain distances, breaking one's self of the habit of chewing gum. Business—Saving a certain amount from each month's allowance. Patriotism—Attending a certain number of church services in three months. Handcraft—the making of the ceremonial crowns. Camperat—Duty on the grounds for five nights. The Camp Fire has shown its true patriotism in other things than in manifesting high principles, and in standing for the betterment of its members, for in the business meeting arrangements were made for the decoration of the polling places for Women's Registration day, September 12. Advertising matter was also discussed throughout the day.

Miss Frances Beckenhauer, Miss Mabel Britell and Miss Lynette Rennick were appointed assistant guardians of the junior department known as the "Camp Fire Blue Bird," whose members are girls between the ages of 6 and 12. They were chosen because of certain honors received which merited this appointment. They are under the direction of Miss Fanny Britell.

Miss Beecher is a graduate of Brownell Hall, Omaha, and later for a number of years as student of the state university, she specialized in journalism under Prof. M. M. Fogg. She was a member of the staff of the Daily Nebraskan, and contributed to the success of other university publications. She comes to the Herald highly recommended by Professor Fogg as a young woman of rare ability and pleasing manners. The Herald has almost confidence in her fitness to triumph in the role made vacant by the resignation of Miss Forbes.

FATE OF BRONZE STATUES

Bixby in Lincoln Journal: A Berlin dispatch to Copenhagen announces the purpose of the government to melt down the bronze statues of Hun heroes for the manufacture of munitions sorely needed in continuing the pleasant pastime of world-war.

And so it is to be the fate Of ghosts in high position: The effigies of men once great Turned into ammunition.

Proud men of rank, the highest class, As snuff as young puffets, In times gone by, reduced to brass And now turned into bullets.

Avilla, the old imp of hell In spreading desolation, May be converted into shell To fit his reputation.

And many an autocrat begit With honors birth-deserved, Will make some noise and do some dirt Before the war is ended.

Mut in this thing we may take heart Though men die from the "petting."

Some most atrocious works of art Will peash-in the melting.

And many a Hohenzollern tough, Immortalized in metal, Will be forgotten soon enough When hauled off in a kettle.

RAILROAD EFFICIENCY

Since the war began, more than four months ago, railroads operating in the Central, Southern and Western military departmental divisions have reduced passenger train service 8,600,000 miles. This fact was brought out at the last weekly meeting of the committee on car service held in St. Paul.

The states of Minnesota, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota, and Montana are among those included in this territory. The action was taken by the railroads' war board to conserve man-power, fuel and locomotives in order that the carriers might better aid the government in conducting the war, according to G. W. Murrane, secretary of the Twin City railroad body.

Co-operation is being manifested by the various railway commissions in helping the roads to carry out their policy. So far it has not been deemed expedient to take off long distance trains. The railway executives are making every possible effort to reduce this service in such a way as will not inconvenience the traveling public.

Some people have an idea that in order to have a bank account, they must have a large sum to deposit; that the bank does not care to be bothered by small accounts.

This, however, is not true of the State Bank of Wayne. It has accounts, whether of $1 or $10,000 and the same courtesy and service is accorded the small depositor, as those in more fortunate circumstances.

It is our object and wish to serve the public in financial matters in a manner that shall be satisfactory to all—old or young, rich or poor.

UNCLE WALT
 The Poet Philosopher

ONE LITTLE HELE
 I buy the helpful magazine and read it by the evening lamp, and then attach a stamp, that's green, a little, sticky one-cent stamp—I hand it to a postal clerk, and to some soldier it will go, and maybe cheer the hours that irk, and hear him to love the foe. And thus in deeds little ways we all can help the boys who spend their quiet, to some days, far, far from home, in foreign lands. Here is the magazine from home, a soldier's eyes, and wings a tear, "some fellow with a thoughtful home, in God's own country sent it here." My aunt, when I see a chance, sends Red Cross some little bunch of knobby daisies who need to prance to bridge what game, pink tea, or lunch. The hands that used to flash the cards now play the needle for and to, and feel of men, yards and yards, which is goodly thing to do. We all can help, if we'll but try, if not in large ways, then in small, and comfort soldier boys who sigh when surgeons walk the whitewashed hall.

LOSING A FRIEND.
 I had a friend, I loved him well, and that fact of friendship, I set with me in my hotel, and talk of an old fiction on the talk of Shelley, Moore, and Scott, of Coleridge, Burns and Dickens; such conversation fits the spot, the getting modern skate will only talk of jewelry, of stocks and bonds and real estate, of rents and contract letting. And so I loved the man who spelt of love and those who named them from Homer down to Eugene Field, to roast them or defend them. And then one night he sought me, and told a tale of sorrow, and I left my bed, and went to see who'd return tomorrow. 'Twas long ago, and never more my friend and foe; he does not knock upon my door, but shuns my porch, and I no more hear him, the remark that set my pulses humming, but slides into an alley dark when he sees me coming. I can get close enough to say, "That fellow I have forgotten, oh, visit me the good old way, for I'm to boredom driven. Perhaps you have a cherished friend who makes your life more sunny? If you would hold him to the end don't lend him any money."

YEARS AHEAD.
 When you are old and tired and gray, and sit beside the evening fire, what will you be inspired to say, when children cry, "A tale, grand-sire?" They'll want to hear about the war that raged when you were young and hale, it is a topic you'll know but you will have to spring a tale. "It was a time to read the hearts, when brave young fellows bled and died, but in the fess I took no part, I did not care to risk my hide. I did not join the battle chants, but claimed exemption on the score that I supported seven adults, and sickly grannies, five or four. "Defend the flag," old men and frans would stop me on the cross and beg; but I stayed home and fed the cows—I didn't wish to lose a leg. My friends went forth with damnable souls to battle on a foreign shore, where set the mountains, rolling, and hoes of them returned no more. And all those boys, some cloudless morn, I'll meet on Jordan's other side, and doubtless they will greet each other, the man who feared to risk his hide."

SELF PRAISE.
 I may be larded down with merit, but I am foolish to declare it. If I go forth in secret, remembering, and boasting it in tones resounding, my friends will mutter, soon or later. He is a fourth-rate selling plaster. His dome of thought is stuffed with sawdust; the worth while man is always modest. I often catch myself beginning to boast myself in language winning; I tell of big things I'm achieving, of how competitors I'm leaving away, back yonder in the distance; I tell how I, without assistance, climbed upward from the slum and gutter to heights too won for mortal waters; I show myself all kinds of lilies, then find my hearers have the willies. They look as though they'd like to take me to some secluded spot and shake me. Then, mortified, humiliated, by self-doubt and anguish weighed, I fade away, and while I'm going I wonder why I do such blowing. The most of us have sin, forgetting that it is foolish to flaunt them and flaunt them where all men behold them.

OLD AND NEW.
 In olden times the hardy knight went forth with lance and mace to fight. He rode upon his foaming steed, and hoped to do some goodly deed, or win the fray. I often chanced that he was shot or slugged or lanced, and he would lie upon the field, encumbered by his arms and shield, and die for weary days on a bed of pain and shame. Oh, dying was a painful stunt for old-time soldiers at the front. But when the modern soldier falls, stricken down by shrapnel shells, or mangled by the tank, he is taken to a hospital, with Red Cross nurses at his side. They tend his hurts and soothe his pain, and make him think of home again, in peace company, in their eyes; they are so gentle, patient, wise, the stricken soldier pities those who are not shot up by the foe. "War is the most atrocious thing ever sprung by an ambitious king, and it would be so much the worse, but for the gentle Red Cross nurse, who stroked the sick boy's tangled hair, and brings him hope who knew despair."

THE FAULT HUNTER.
 The most unfortunate of men is he who hunts for something wrong, who strains his ears, and tries to hear the false note in a song. 'Tis he who marks with gloomy eye the bridal couple as they pass, and says: "Their joy will soon pass by, and they'll grow old; all flesh is grass." 'Tis he who stops the flow of mirth by preaching trouble and despair, who says that everything on earth is but a pitfall and a snare. He sees the ring around the moon; when other men the moon behold, and says a storm will come full soon, with hail and sleet and bitter cold. He sees the sundogs standing guard, when other men behold the sun, and says we'll all be frozen hard before the current week is done. Oh, gloom and trouble are his pets, with them he eats and drinks and sleeps; he's only happy when he frets, he's only joyous when he weeps. 'Tis would be no concern of mine, if he would nurse his grouch alone, but publicly he weeps his brine, and utters his damnable railing. And in these crucial times we need no added weight to loads of care, no sighs that make our bosoms bleed, no threats or omens of despair.

TO PRESS FOOD ECONOMY
 Gurdon W. Wattles of Omaha, Food Administrator for State

Omaha, Sept. 12.—Gurdon W. Wattles, successful financier and man of Nebraska affairs, has accepted the important post of food administrator for the state. His appointment coming direct from President Wilson on the recommendation of U. S. Food Administrator Herbert Hoover.

Mr. Wattle's duties will be to enforce the provisions of the Food Act in the state of Nebraska, all of which will come under his direct jurisdiction. His first step will be to select a Nebraska state executive committee which will consist of representative heads of state institutions and organizations. These men will represent important phases of Nebraska life which have to do with consumption of food products, and more directly with the production of food products.

Mr. Wattle's general offices will be located in the directors' room of the United States National Bank building, 10th and Franklin streets, Omaha, where Nebraskans are urged to call on any matter in connection with this work. His office force, his executive committee, will be composed of Nebraskans from all sections, through which he will gain an immediate touch with all parts of the state.

"I have not taken this important duty without a full realization of its enormous importance," said Mr. Wattle. "My acceptance came because of my desire to assist in this national crisis. My duties are to enforce the provisions of the Food Act, which have recently passed by congress. The general activities will be along three lines:

"First, an educational campaign, with the assistance of the voluntary cooperation of all consumers of the state, to secure a great reduction in the use of all food products that can be spared, and an entire elimination of waste in the distribution of the end that these necessities may be exported to the boys in the battle zone and to the allies.

"Second, to eliminate speculation in food products and coal as far as possible so that our home consumers may be supplied at prices within the reach of all.

"Third, to encourage by every possible means the future production of food products."

COOKS FOR U. S. NAVY.
 The United States navy has issued a special appeal for men who can cook to enlist in that branch of the service. The pay is higher than most branches, the work is pleasant, and the cook on a ship is easily the most popular man of the personnel.

The officer in charge of the Nebraska and South Dakota district for the navy announced yesterday that the department is looking to this district to supply a good proportion of men who can cook for the navy. It is the homesteader and the miner, the man who knows how to take care of himself in the open, the man who has the science and art of cooking—and its importance in keeping up the fighting spirit. Especially is the man who can take care of the cooking end of a small town restaurant desirable.

The usual hours for a ship's cook are divided up so that he works one day and rests the next—or three meals on and three off.

The best of material is furnished to work with and the pay is exceptionally good. The salary ranges from $35.50 to $66.50 a month. This is in addition to all clothing, food, rent, medical attention and other expenses. Experts have estimated that the living expenses furnished a cook in the United States navy is equal to $30 a month in civilian life. The U. S. navy is the highest-paid service in the world.

Any one wanting to enlist as a cook should go to the navy station at either Omaha, Neb., Sioux Falls, S. D., Aberdeen, S. D., Watertown, S. D., Lead, S. D., Hastings, Neb., Lincoln, Neb., Sioux City, Ia., Norfolk, Neb., or Council Bluffs, Ia.

If you pass the physical examination, the free transportation will be furnished you to Omaha, Neb., where the final examination will be made. If you pass that, free transportation and meals will be furnished to your destination. You will pass the final examination free transportation will be furnished you to the substitution from where you started.

"No One Like Mother"

Said John Standing After A Bitter Lesson

When he invited a bunch of his college fellows home for a week-end, and they thought he was right after they had enjoyed one of her good, old-fashioned New England dinners—"like their mothers used to make," John was proud of his mother in those days.

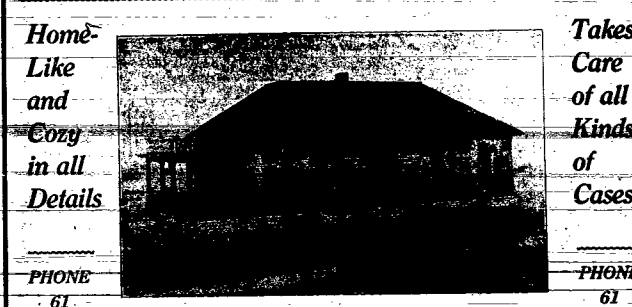

But John went to the city and made a fortune. He came to neglect his mother. His visits were promised, but the promises were broken.

The son was brought to his senses when his mother, heart-broken, after John had referred to her as "his old nurse" when she went to the city to see him, slipped back to her country home, leaving the table piled with "goodies" she had brought with her.

John hurried after his mother to their humble little home, and his mother forgives him—as mothers always do. And John again declares "No one like mother."

In hospital service so much depends on the little things. Even after the patient has rallied satisfactorily from an operation, there is much left to be done to take him the whole way to health.

The care of the convalescent has come to be a science, requiring hard study and intense application. What shall the patient eat? When shall he sit up? When walk? These are but a few of the questions which confront the nurse, and the correctness and dispatch of her decisions are of vital import.

In the small country hospital it is possible to attend to all these matters with utmost care for there are comparatively few patients and each, therefore, receives every bit of attention necessary.

sell his 1918 crop of wheat. A committee appointed under the new food control administration has just fixed a price at which the wheat now on hand may be sold. The minimum price for the 1918 crop will be $2 per bushel. The minimum for the supply now in the farmer's hands is set at $2.30 at Chicago for northern spring wheat. That will mean $2.15 at Omaha, or about $2 at the local Nebraska elevators for winter wheat. Two things regarding this new scheme of price-making should be understood. First, these prices will probably represent the maximum as well as the minimum. While nothing is said about a maximum price, the food administration has stated in its earlier pronouncements. Although the prices are fixed on government purposes only, the food administration, through its wheat corporation, expects to control the market without difficulty. The corporation will make all government and allied purchases and has under consideration plans to buy for millers. If it serves as broker between the terminal and the flour-mills, the corporation will become purchaser of virtually all of the country's wheat crop. From this it will be understood that the government expects to handle practically all of the wheat at the price already named. Hence a maximum as well as a minimum. Second, these prices, while intended to insure the farmer against any loss from a declining market, will be of greatest service to the consumer. There is no one who believes that wheat would sell for as low a price as that set by the government during the present war. In a word, these new prices take the gamble out of the wheat business. The farmer has a pretty good idea of what it will cost him to produce wheat and the government sets a price at which he can sell it. It then remains for him to decide whether he wants to grow wheat. Unfortunately the outlook now is for less than a normal wheat acreage in Nebraska. Several things are operating to discourage the sowing of wheat. The farmer who does not have the seed finds difficulty in getting it at less than $2.75 or $3 per bushel. The spring wheat in the cornfields is not very satisfactory, especially in the eastern part of the state. It can, however, be successfully done. The loss of last year's wheat crop has made some farmers skeptical about trying it again, especially in sections of the state where the corn crop is pretty sure. Finally, if wheat sells at around $2 and corn should remain at more than $1, the farmer knows quite well which is the more profitable crop. As a national duty every farmer should sow some wheat. Bread is the best. The Minneapolis meeting of the American alliance for labor and democracy "can be accounted one of the big events of the war. It sets in motion a double force, one looking toward the successful opening of the war abroad, the other toward the preservation of American standards while we fight for world democracy. This meeting included American organized labor and the insurgent leaders in the socialist labor movement, and spoke for all loyal labor. Its function will be to set all labor rights as to the purposes of the war. It pledges men as men to the support of the government in its great enterprise. Nothing a government could do could rally the human elements of the country to the country's support as effectively as can this voluntary movement on the part of men who speak only for their hands. In no better way can such as fold that this war is not their war be brought to open their eyes. In the political program outlined by the new organization we find matters equally essential to the success of the war and to men's wholehearted participation in it. The house did not rise to the demand and the senate has temporarily barred the way, but the "conscription of wealth as well as of men" which the meeting demanded will have to be a new idea. Nationalism is the slogan of the day. War fought by men for wealth. Statesmen come slowly to the new idea that this war is being or must be fought by men and wealth for the national safety and the safety of democracy. If the common man had to believe that the steel trust will continue indefinitely to absorb laborious profits from the war while he sacrifices his living and risks his life, his ardor for the war might well be chilled. But the men at Minneapolis knew that the fight for democratic war finance is just beginning. The new organization, however, for a democratic war, would stamp out disloyalty and tyranny with the same heel. Patriotic work of this breadth is the nation's need. The American alliance of labor and democracy promises to wield a two-edged sword, striking equally at the anarchists of the I. W. W. and the oligarchs who want to fight a war for democracy for the Germans and for profits for themselves. Great Faith in Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy.

"Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy was used by my father about a year ago, when he had diarrhoea. It relieved him immediately and by taking three doses he was absolutely cured. He has great faith in this remedy," writes Mrs. W. H. Williams, Stanley, N. Y. Adv.

Why Does A Range Rust Out From the Inside?

Because the inside of the range body lies flat against the sweaty asbestos.

Moisture Rusts Iron. Any kind of iron and every kind of steel rusts unless protected from moisture. With one exception—all malleable ranges are of three-ply construction. The outer casing or main range body, then a layer of asbestos, then an inner lining of iron. The outer casing and inner lining are flat against the asbestos. Asbestos is a substance that absorbs moisture from the air. No matter how hot it becomes it will be full of moisture within thirty minutes after being removed from the heat. When you build a fire the heat drives the moisture to the other side of the asbestos onto the cold range body. There it condenses or sweats on the cold iron until the heat dries it up. Rust begins with the first fire and is fed by this sweating condition every time the range is fired up. The rust is on the inside. You don't know you never suspect it until it rusts through. Then it is too late. In the Copper-Clad range the asbestos is clad with a sheet of copper that never rusts. The sweat never gets to the iron body. It can't rust out.

Come and let us show you. See the asbestos sweat. Know for yourself.

WHY Every Farmer Should BUY A Standardized Wagon

It doesn't pay to buy just any kind of a wagon, for unless your wagon is "standardized" you will have all kinds of grief when you come to get repairs or new parts. Today the reliable firms have agreed to make the different parts according to specifications fixed for wagons of various capacities. Thus a standard 4500-lb. capacity wheel would carry a larger load than the ordinary 3 I-4 wheel.

Five Other Reasons Why You Should Buy A Columbus

THE FIFTH WHEEL.	THE FOUR WHEELS.	THE BOX.	THE GEARS.	LITTLE POINTS.
Next to the standardized advantage the Fifth Wheel is the most important feature, unique on the Columbus wagon. This fifth wheel of malleable iron is located between the front axle and the bolster directly back of the tongue. This fifth wheel prevents serious rocking of either the pitch or the bolster.	The timber that enters into the construction of the Columbus wagon wheels is not ordinary wood, but choice pieces thoroughly seasoned and carefully selected. The hub is of inspected oak and strengthened with four steel bands. Automatic machines turn, shape and bore out the center for the skin boxes. The mortises for the spokes are also made by machinery.	The Columbus box is the last word in both material and construction. The wood on the sides is bay poplar and cottonwood. The bottom is long leaf yellow pine, free from knots and windshakes. Oak cross sills strengthen the box. On the front end an extra sill protects the corners and bottom boards from whiffletrees. The sides are three boards, securely fastened by binder rods. The angle-iron grain cleats make it absolutely grain tight. Because the box on the Columbus is so thoroughly braced and reinforced it is a particularly good wagon for hauling grain. In recent tests it has been found to carry heavier loads than ordinary wagons.	The Columbus gears are all that they should be—and then more. The hickory axle is reinforced by a steel truss bar along the bottom. Steel clips hold it rigid. The bolsters, made of oak, are well ironed. The wood is protected from wear by a steel plate on top of the bolster. A heavy steel strap is securely fastened around the end at the point where the mortise for the stake is cut in the bolster. The extension stake loops and the bolster stakes are of an exclusive pattern. The hounds all around are extra long and placed wide apart on the axle. They are fashioned of extra heavy pieces of straight-grained oak.	No detail that would add to the service of Columbus wagons has been overlooked. The seat is wide and roomy and comfortable. It is fitted with a high, lazy back and flexible springs. The tool box, attached to the front end-board, can be locked, and is handy for carrying a rain coat, tools, lunch or parcels. The International Folding End-gate divides in the center. The lock nut is very easy to operate. The link end rods are so constructed that they can never be lost. In fact the Columbus is stronger, heavier and better constructed from every angle. Get wagon satisfaction in a Columbus.

Nothing arouses the indignation of a woman more than to have her husband tell her the gossip she is telling is old to him; that he heard it weeks ago. Well, for heaven's sake, why didn't you tell it to me weeks ago," she usually exclaims. A fine looking farm is like a stylish woman in the matter of up-keep.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

From the Wayne Herald-Tribune, September 26, 1884:

Charles Morton sold his interest in the ivory barn to his brother, H. B. Shumway, and Miss Nellie Howard of Wakefield were married.

W. O. Gamble has 30,000 catalpa trees which he sold for $6 per thousand.

K. H. Kemble has opened a jewelry business in the building with J. Brod.

Mrs. M. S. Davies enjoyed a visit from her mother, Mrs. H. E. Jones, of Ponca.

C. C. Merriam of Rochester, N. Y., was in Wayne looking after his farm lands.

Dr. Love is seriously ill at his home. Dr. Wightman is the attending physician.

Miss J. E. Parnasketer arrived in Wayne last week to make her home. Her husband preceded her a few weeks.

One of the greatest improvements made in Wayne this year is the new grain elevator, owned by Milligan & Bros.

A. H. Crosby of Wakefield was seriously injured Wednesday evening while out hunting with a party of friends.

Nineteen couples gathered at the home of Miss Minnie Smith and gave her a surprise party. The evening was spent in dancing.

From the Wayne Herald, September 14, 1893:

A son was born to Mr and Mrs. I. Shane Saturday, September 10. J. Tower and Mark Miller went to Lincoln this week to attend the state fair.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Strickland were passengers this week on the world's fair.

Mrs. Smith of Correctionville, Ia., is visiting her sisters, Mrs. H. E. Wilson and Mrs. Robert Mellor.

A. W. Claffee is building a large new residence for W. H. Gilder-sleeve on his farm southeast of town.

Mr. Eidel, who lives ten miles south of town, fractured one of his arms, when he fell from a load of hay.

August Piepenstock will move into the new brick building where he expects to keep, in addition to his bakery, a line of fresh vegetables.

The Presbyterian ladies are holding a flower fair this afternoon at the Wilkins stand. All kinds of flowers, real and artificial, will be for sale.

Miss Nellie James, R. James, Phil Lundberg, N. J. Juhlin, and Hans Hansen left Tuesday to be present at the opening of the Cherokee strip in Oklahoma.

The proprietor of the People's restaurant, B. W. Sprague, has moved to the building adjoining the Boyd hotel, recently vacated by I. Shane, the grocer.

From Ponca Journal, September 11, 1879:

Reports from United States consuls in Europe show that wages in the United States are double those of Belgium, Denmark, France and England; three times those of Germany, Italy and Spain, and four times those of Netherlands. That prices of the necessities of life are lower in the United States than in Europe? That more misery results from strikes, drinking, socialism and communism in England and Germany than all other classes combined, hard times included.

There should be a direct mail route between Ponca and Newcastle and Daily Branch. We understand that an effort will shortly be made to have such a line established. It is an outrage to be compelled to send mail matter on a roundabout route of some eight or ninety miles in order to make a distance of only a few miles to go to Daily Branch from this place, a letter travels to Sioux City, thence up to Harbank and from there over the country and across the river to Iowa and from Iowa to Newcastle and Daily. To make the different changes a week is generally the time required to make the trip. If a route were established from this place directly to Newcastle and Daily, the time required would be all the time required.

"King" writes from Deadwood to his paper, the Yankton Press, under date of 25th ult.: Deadwood is the metropolis of western Dakota and in many respects excels any town this side of Denver or St. Paul. It is hardly credible that it has grown up to its present proportions in the short space of three years and yet I have conversed with men who cut House logs where its busiest center now is, in 1876. If one is astonished at the vast mineral deposits here exposed, the wonderful improvement brought by the hand of man is no less amazing—the fact is by far the greater wonder. Already fine brick buildings, scores in number, have been erected here, and in every direction can be seen others partially completed or preparations making for their construction. There is no town west of the Mississippi except St. Paul, Denver and Chicago in which many respects has greater sway. Streets are being opened and graded, water-works are being constructed that will furnish an ample supply of the purest water. Every indication points to the rapid building up in this mountain valley of a solid city, and one that in a few years will be more attractive than any in the west."

DECIDE YOURSELF

The Opportunity Is Here, Backed By Wayne Testimony.

Don't take out word for it. Don't depend on a stranger's statement. Read the statements of Wayne citizens.

And then decide for your self. Here is a case of it.

Mr. Kroger, proprietor of grain and coal business, says: "I had a dull-ache across my kidneys and was bothered with irregular passages of the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills procured from Feibel's Pharmacy, relieved me from the first and finally cured me." (Statement given August 3rd, 1910.)

Again Praised Doan's.

On July 15, 1916, Mr. Kroger said: "It has been three years since I have had occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I never fail to give them credit for having rid me of kidney trouble."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Kroger in Buffalo, N. Y., burn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Experience the Best Teacher.

It is generally admitted that experience is the best teacher, but should we not make use of the experience of others as well as our own? The experience of a thousand persons is more to be depended upon than that of one individual.

Man thousands of persons have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs and colds with the best results, which shows it to be a thoroughly reliable preparation for those diseases. Try it. It is prompt and effectual and pleasant to take.—Adv.

Why A SOUTH BEND Malleable Range?

When you consider that coal has advanced 300% since the war, you will realize the importance of buying a range with a fuel-saving combustion system. Such is the South Bend Malleable. Every part of this range is built for year-in-and-year-out service. It bakes evenly and is an excellent cooking machine. See the South Bend before you buy.

Don't Wait for a Slump IN COAL PRICES

For although Uncle Sam has his eye on the coal situation, still it takes time to conduct investigations of the country's mines and to make satisfactory adjustments.

We Will Get the Coal

Of that we feel quite sure, but we can guarantee neither the time nor the price. It is unlikely that you will notice any considerable slump in prices for some time, and it is our advice that you fill your bins early, for the car shortage will also work to curtail shipment from the mines.

Remember, our coal is clean and will be delivered in a cleanly way.

HOME OF GOOD MEATS

Don't you know that it makes a "heap" of difference how meat is slaughtered, and how it is kept until it is sold over the counter as to whether it will be appetizing when served on your table.

Because we know this and because we are eager to sell only cuts of meats that will be relished by the most particular, we watch every step carefully from the time the animal is killed until we wrap up your order.

A BIG HELP Is the Hussmann refrigerator which keeps the meat cool and sanitary.

THE New Edison

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

You would expect nothing less from Thomas A. Edison, with his vast inventive genius and his profound knowledge of chemistry, acoustics and mechanics. He was never satisfied with the phonograph, even after long years of experience, until he had so perfected the sound chamber and the reproduction device that the human voice seemed actually recreated. So the result of Edison's genius is rightly termed "The Phonograph with a Soul."

The Best Musical Instrument

Is the only kind you want to take into your home as a permanent investment. Edison has given to the musical world something so compellingly worth while that the music critic of the New York Tribune was inspired to write "Edison Snags the Soul of Music." And Edison wants every music lover to hear his instrument; he wants you to carefully compare its tones with the thin reproductions of other machines. We are always glad to demonstrate the NEW EDISON to you at any time. Drop in and hear some of the new September records.
