BOY HAS NARROW ESCAPE Shots from Gun, Accidentally Discharged, Strike Him in Side.

Loose, living in the east part of town, had a narrow escape from a charge of shot which started in his direction Sunday morning.

Jack Denbeck and Dr. F. O. White had been out hunting and on their return stopped at the eastern edge of town. Mr. Denbeck picked up a shotgun from the bottom of the automobile, and in some way the weapon accidentally discharged.

William Laese who happened to be riding along on a bicycle, was in line with the charge, but the fact that it went through the side of the automobile and thus lost its force, saved him. However, ten shot struck young Laese in the side, but did not penetrate far beneath the skin and he did not at the time realize that he had been hit.

NEW ELECTRIC SIGN HERE. A late improvement which adds much to the appearance of the Wayne business district is the new sign out in front of R. N. Donahey's optical shop.

Two eyes peering through the latest style glasses, and surrounded by electric lights, direct the attention to the words "Eye Exam." Mr. Donahey is a progressive business man who keeps up on the latest improvements, both in his own line of business and in general.

The new sign which puts an up-to-date finish to his place of business is only another indication of the progress and alertness of the owner.

THE SAVINGS HABIT

THE SAVINGS HABIT IS WHAT COUNTS THESE days. Any feeling of unrest or uncertainty that might arise during these trying times can be safely put aside when you have the security of knowing that there is on deposit for you at this bank a neat, tidy sum—the results of your steady and consistent savings—by means of which you can tide over any temporary inconvenience.

There was never a better time to start than RIGHT NOW. The sooner you start the sooner the amounts will pile up to a substantial sum. Laying aside a little each day is easy and you'll never miss it. And you don't have to call upon your imagination very hard to realize what a benefit it will be to you, should you be suddenly called upon to use it.

SITES FOR HOSPITALS. Washington, Sept. 17.—Sites have been chosen tentatively in nineteen cities for the great "reconstruction" hospitals where the United States will begin the rehabilitating for private life of its soldiers who returned wounded from the front. The sites selected at the largest centers of population were announced last night by Maj. Gen. Gorgas, surgeon-general of the army, as follows: Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Paul, Seattle, San Francisco, Denver, Kansas City, St. Louis, Memphis, Richmond, Atlanta, New Orleans and Los Angeles. The hospitals at Boston, New York, Washington, and Chicago, probably will be the first built. They will have 500 beds, with provision for doubling their capacity if necessary. DECREASE AT UNIVERSITY. Lincoln, Sept. 17.—Registration at the University of Nebraska for 1917 according to the official report of the registrar, shows a decrease of about 20 per cent from that of last year. Officials of the university ascribe most of this falling off directly or indirectly to the war. At the completion of the regular registration Saturday evening 2,057 had registered, as compared with 2,557 on the same date last year. The final complete registration for the year will probably show twice the present number of students or more.

Why the Domes in the Copper Lining of a Copper Clad Range?

To make a dry air space next to the range body. The tips of these domes rest against the range body. They hold the heat of copper away from the range body, and here a space for dry air like a thermos bottle. This not only keeps the body dry—but an air space is the one best heat holder.

The little domes save a shovel of coal at every meal a thousand dollars a year.

Four Wayne Men at Camp Funston Write Letter.

Camp Funston, Kan., September 18, 1917.

Wayne Herald, Wayne, Neb.

For the torture of the public and as a little foretaste of army life for the lucky forty percent who are going to follow us about September 21, we wish to send a few lines.

Needless to say, we feel like heroes in the way down, having bands playing, maidens waving and friends compassing us every step of the way.

As soon as we arrived, the first information we received was that we were men (not boys) and that men's work was expected from us and that fact has certainly not been left on our minds ever since.

Some Nebraska papers say that we got khaki suits immediately on arrival. We received Mugal overalls, the kind Nebraska farmers wear, in about a week.

However, we have entered some shirts-at-lance. The only pants of any consequence we have received are from the four blocks of double time marching we have done these few hours of the morning, trying to develop an appetite for Nevertheless, we are all enjoying it thoroughly. Just like going to a picnic, only a little more. We don't go home when we get tired. We won't, though, for we have the best set of officers in the 355th regiment, and our officers tell us they wouldn't trade company J for any company in the whole national army.

We have a swell barracks, just across from a canteen and about a block from a Y. M. C. A. building. Our captain is well liked and our sergeants are a larger supply of common sense than is possible to find in many. Our lieutenants are all dandy good fellows about our own age and even though we have to go through lots of formal saluting their uniforms, yet they let us know they are human just like us, inside.

We hope to have some uniforms by the time you fellows get down and have our Muggs laid, etc., which, by the way, are called fatigue clothes. Called fatigue because we get tired of wearing them seems to be the common supposition.

Our drill comes from 7 to 11:30 and from 1 to 4:30. What other spare time we have we sweep the barracks, wash windows, and fix up around the barracks preparing for our fellows' Company I is composed of the men from Wayne, Cedar, Dixon, Thurston, Dakota and Pierce counties.

Any of you men who are coming, don't get long faced about your fate for this will be worth any year's schooling any man can ever get in university if we don't go to France, and if we do, well, then you fellows can judge who yourselves. Also word to the mothers who are afraid your boys may not come back as good men as if they had never come. That is erroneous, for some of the best men in the country are here, and the government is making every effort to develop the best army in the shortest possible time and for that reason the things tolerated in a regular army are positively prohibited here.

We will be ready to receive you men about the 22nd. Congratulate all the next bunch that come and all the rest who are down for this is an experience worth while.

We think of you folks in Wayne often and are unanimously agreed that you who are not selected for the rest who are down for this is an experience worth while.

WELSH BAND IN CONCERT

More than Thousand People Listen to Carroll Musicians at Randolph.

The Welsh community band, from west of Carroll, is becoming decidedly popular as a musical organization according to the report of a concert given in Randolph, recently. Of the entertainment, the Randolph Times says:

Last Saturday Randolph was crowded with people and estimates say that a thousand or more people were on our streets to hear the concert of the Welsh community band and chorus of male voices. Under the direction of Mayor Hill, a platform was placed in the square at the principal business corner, and it was seated with chairs from the undertaking parlors of Bremer & Nelson.

Extra lights were provided, and the band of this five piece had a fine place from which to give their music.

The band came by autos, and the band boys were accompanied by members of the band in the square at that section. The people of Randolph, the surrounding country and nearby towns also came in good numbers, and all the streets were lined.

This band, under the leadership and instruction of E. G. Evans has made fine progress. Many of the players have just recently started to learn to read music and are making good headway. The band is a credit to the community in which it was organized, and in their new white caps and white trousers made a most appropriate appearance.

Their reception given them in Randolph was appreciated by the members of the organization and Director Evans so expressed himself from the platform. Mayor Hill on behalf of the town and commercial club invited the band boys to call for what they wanted at the restaurant.

The concert was a splendid introduction of this band to our people. The singing numbers were excellent and were so heartily applauded that encores were given. A band number with a singing chorus was also rendered. About the streets heard many compliments to the band.

In hospital service so much depends on the little things. Even after the patient has rallied satisfactorily from an operation, there is much left to be done to take him the whole way to health.

The care of the convalescent has come to be a science, requiring hard study and intense application. What shall the patient eat? When shall he sit up? When walk? These are but a few of the questions which confront the nurse, and the correctness and dispatch of her decisions are of vital import.

In the small country hospital it is possible to attend to all these matters with utmost care for there are comparatively few patients and each, therefore, receives every bit of attention necessary.

POOR CORN IN SOUTH. Laurel Advocate: Mr. and Mrs. J. O. War and son Roscoe returned Saturday from an auto trip through Kansas and Oklahoma. They report that after leaving the town of Schuyler they saw a corn field that really amounted to anything after field simply dried up. They say they doubt if from Schuyler south the corn would average over two bushels to the acre. That small grain was good, which partially makes up for the loss of the corn crop.

ASININITY.

People who haven't the heart and sense to inspire soldier boys drafted into the army with courage and hope and confidence ought to keep still. Picturing the horrors of battle and the likelihood of being blown to atoms is wrong. Anyone who is prone to conduct a sympathy, will not magnify and emphasize the trials and dangers of the service. Truth is, the percentage of men killed in the war is not so great as many suppose, and according to the war picture shown in Wayne last week, the experience is not so filled with gloom-and-panic as chronic pessimists would lead one to believe.

There is a bright side. Why not see it and present it? Why draw a dark and hopeless picture for people already crushed with sorrow? Why not imagine a dramatic scene, a heroic soldier thrusting a black spear into one bent low with the grief of parting. Witness some of the allures of participation in the world and autocracy, right and wrong, liberty and tyranny.

It is believed this Titanic struggle will end king rule, and result in the universal establishment of free and just governments. It is worth much to take active part in the overthrow of forces making life stand for a party politics, and imperial thimblegriggs. It is a distinguished honor to share in rescuing mankind from the threats of heraldism. That is one distinctly bright spot.

The training vocalized in every boy joining the army or navy is a positive stimulus to both body and mind. He is made into an individual of perfect health and dynamic force. Experiences, coming to him outside the battlement will be of incalculable value. At no other time in the history of the country could he have received such training or received such a reward of varied educational benefits. These are bright spots.

The chances that he will return are more robust and beautiful than ever, rich in experiences, are altogether in his favor. The facts warrant more sunshine than shadow. Then, if you are as sympathetic as you profess to be, give him words of cheer and hope and courage.

UNJUST CHARGES.

The fact that an occasional citizen of German extraction has given expression to treasonable utterances and deserves to be interned or deported, does not give reason to suspect any considerable number of people of German birth with feelings of loyalty. It is a base imputation, say the least, to shout charges of treason on grounds of mere suspicion. The government would render valuable service to society if it could safeguard its loyal citizens of foreign birth from the mortifying taints of traitorship. It is a disgraceful and unjust ground, fail to discriminate in pointing the finger of suspicion. Most people of German birth know why they came to this land of freedom and opportunity, and are glad they are here. If they had been satisfied with conditions in the autocracy of Germany, it is presumed they would have stayed in Germany. The fact that they are here is proof that they preferred this country to any other. Here they got their start; here they made their wealth; here their children were born and reared; here they have enjoyed every social, educational, and business privilege. Around this sturdy and stalwart tree of democracy their affections are entwined and permanently fixed. With most Germans, it is the United States first. Whatever may have been their sympathies in the European struggle, they have not been driven to take up arms, they are loyal to the flag of their adoption and are sending their boys to the front to fight for the perpetuity of American institutions.

Cases of disloyalty among foreign born citizens are exceptions to the rule, and should not be allowed to prompt carelessly made and unwarranted charges, which bring the humiliation and injury of innocent people who are steadfast patriots.

What is to be called a community church is to be organized at Hartington as a step in the direction of church union. Fewer and stronger churches have been urged by many people for a long time. Hartington proposes to try the experiment. Points over which people differed in the past have come to be generally regarded as unimportant. People have not agreed on baptism. Some have thought they ought to be sprinkled, while others have wanted some form of immersion. But modes of baptism are now given little weight, and on the essential spiritual truths it is believed all church people could unite.

"The Tanks," shown at the Crystal theater in Wayne last Thursday night, was another triumph for the manager, M. B. Nielson, who is bent on giving Wayne and vicinity the best and most timely moving picture productions to be obtained. Mr. Nielson has presented many patriotic films of high order, and "The Tanks" was among the most thrilling and interesting. His enterprise deserves to be commended and rewarded by due support.

During these strenuous war times when united effort for victory is paramount to every other consideration, it is a disgraceful and unwarranted selfish politics. The politician discovered in a game of mere politics will be hooted out of public hearing. People's viewpoint comprehends more than class party politics, and no one can be aroused to take an interest in anything so comparatively unimportant.

It is announced that the German government will give 400 marks and a furlough to any German soldier who will bring an American into captivity dead or alive. Four hundred marks are somewhat less than $100. We would suggest that the Kaiser underestimate the worth of the task involved, or he is unable or unwilling to pay sufficiently for the service proposed.

The nations of the world are now engaged in the rather conflicting occupations of trying to work up skill in destroying life on the one hand and skill in preserving and prolonging life on the other hand.

Perhaps the hammer will call in the iron crosses he has bestowed and contribute them to the country's metal supply.

STORE LATE VEGETABLES

May Be Practiced with Little Expense in City or Country.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 17.—Natural storage of late vegetables in the home for use in fall and winter—a practice which is advisable every season—is especially desirable now that the country is at war, says the United States department of agriculture. Natural storage is the least troublesome way of keeping food for future use, it is pointed out, and may be practiced with little expense in most homes, either in the country or in the city. Such storage is of chief value to owners of home gardens, but when vegetables suitable for storage may be purchased cheaply it may be practiced profitably by some other householders.

The principal varieties which may be stored successfully are the root, tuber, and bulb crops, such as late maturing potatoes, carrots, parsnips, turnips, salsify, onions, etc. Certain leaf and stalk crops, such as cabbage and celery, and a few other products, such as squashes, pumpkins, etc., also may be stored naturally.

Natural storage of most vegetables that may be kept may be in a cellar under a dwelling, or under an outbuilding, in a special outdoor cellar or in banks or pits. A few products, such as pumpkins and winter squash, requiring dry, fairly warm storage, may be kept in unused rooms or closets, and a few products may be kept in attics.

Cellar Storage Room.—If a cellar under a dwelling or outbuilding is clean, cool and well ventilated it may be used for storage without alteration. "Many cellars, however, are not very well suited for storing vegetables because of poor insulation or lack of ventilation, and those containing a furnace for heating usually are too warm and dry. It is often possible to partition off a room either in one corner, near insulation or lack of ventilation, or at one end of such a cellar, where the temperature may be controlled by means of outside windows.

Outdoor Storage Cellars.—Outdoor storage cellars possess all the advantages of the storage room in the basement, and are superior in many respects. It is possible to keep such a cellar cool, and quickly reduce the temperature of the stored products by opening the door during the night and closing it in the morning before the air becomes warm. In regions of mild winters, the outdoor cellars may be constructed almost entirely above the ground of wood or other available material. Straw or dirt may be thrown upon the roof as insulation during especially cool periods. In regions of severe-freezing the most popular type of storage cellar is built largely under ground and the roof has a deep covering of straw and earth, manure, etc. Such cellars may be constructed of wood, concrete, stone or brick.

Storage Pits or Banks.—Storage in outdoor banks or pits is the most primitive and least expensive method of keeping many vegetables and is fairly satisfactory where the ground is well drained. This method does not compare in convenience, however, with storage in cellars, since in periods of bad weather the vegetables are often accessible with difficulty. The construction of banks is begun by making an excavation six or eight inches deep in a well drained location and lining it with straw, leaves or similar material. The vegetables (usually root crops) are placed on this litter in a trench and the sides and top are then covered with straw and leaves and this with two or three inches of earth. As winter approaches the earth covering should be increased, depending on the severity of the winters in the locality. Small pits containing but a few bushels of vegetables will receive sufficient ventilation if the straw between the vegetables and the earth covering is allowed to extend through the latter to the top of the pile. This exposed straw should be covered with a board or a piece of tin held in place by a stone as a protection from rain. In larger pits, ventilation may be secured by placing two or three pieces of rough boards or stakes up through the center of the pile of vegetables so that a flue is formed. This flue should be capped by an inverted trough formed by two pieces of board nailed together at right angles.

Where such banks are used, the best practice is to construct a number of small ones so that a sufficient quantity of vegetables to last a few days can be obtained by opening each pit. The method may be modified by placing the vegetables in a long ridge rather than in conical piles with earth dividing the ridge into small sections. A section may then be conveniently opened without disturbing the remainder of the stored vegetables.

Harvesting Crop Advice.—Most vegetables suitable for storage should not be harvested and stored until cool weather arrives or about the time of the first killing frost. However, Irish potatoes should be harvested as soon as they reach maturity, and the basement or outdoor cellar storage is available, they should be stored immediately.

They should not be stored in banks or pits until the weather gets cool. Onions should be put in storage as soon as they are matured and thoroughly cured or dried.

Detailed directions for preparing the several types of storages and for handling the various vegetables which may be stored are given in a recent bulletin, "Home Storage of Vegetables," recently published by the United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C. Copies of this bulletin may be obtained free by application to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

EXTRACTS AND BITTERS.

Norfolk Daily News: "There is no law by which the sale of lemon extract and other bottled goods containing a large percentage of alcohol can be stopped in this state, according to County Attorney Tyler, who was told that large quantities of the extract and bitters were being purchased by men in order to satisfy the craving for alcohol. The county prosecutor declared that grocers and druggists who know that the men are purchasing these goods for this purpose should be honorable enough to stop the traffic. He believed that in order to make Nebraska absolutely 'dry' the legislature would have to pass some new laws to cover sale of goods like lemon extract and stomach bitters."

It is admitted by some of the authorities that liquor has been brought into Norfolk and sold during the past month, but sufficient evidence to lead to the arrest of the alleged bootleggers has not been secured. Conditions which have existed during the past week were conspicuous enough to confirm this belief and there has been unusual talk regarding the presence of liquor and of intoxicated men.

It is now believed that the authorities will have better opportunity to check some of the traffic that has existed and that while business in Norfolk will not be as profitable to bootleggers from now on as it has been during the past few months, it is expected that the violators of the dry law will again ply their trade and the officers will be ready to arrest them. The state's dry law is said to be powerless against some of the most thirsty people who have adopted to provide themselves with intoxicating beverage. Wine of wild grapes, apple jack, and other fruits seem to have been made in great abundance in and around Norfolk. Artificial means of making beer are also resorted to. In most of these cases, the supply is said to have been made for private consumption but in some cases, this form of liquor seems to find its way to men who, in the wet days, were habitual drunkards and were listed on the saloon's prohibited list.

It is to prevent these men from securing liquor that the authorities are anxious to check the sale of bottled goods which contain alcohol and it would seem that they are powerless to do so.

Sixty men met at the auditorium in Laurel last Thursday and organized a Home Guards company. J. R. Durrie was chairman of the meeting and F. P. Voter secretary. The following were elected officers: R. E. Nuremaker, captain; C. A. Morton, first lieutenant; Albert Anderson, second lieutenant. Any man over 16 years of age is eligible to join.

has been the guest of relatives for several weeks. She was accompanied home by Mr. Green who had gone to the home of her parents. While in attendance at a dance at the Ed Miller home on Monday evening, Ernest Larsonberg had the glasses thrown at her, causing her to be injured. How severe the injury is, has not been ascertained, but it is believed by attending physicians that the seventh vertebrae is fractured.

Theodore Miller, son of August Miller and his wife Huida, ex-Eckert, was born in Stanton county on August 13, 1917. He attended the Lincoln Lutheran first school in Hoskins and was confirmed Palm Sunday, 1917. Working on his father's farm in Antelope county, where the Miller family took their residence five years ago, he was injured by a horse on September 12, death following the next day. His age was 15 years, and 1 month. He was buried in the cemetery on September 15, after ser- vices at the church, Rev. John Aron officiating. Prior to their leaving for Hoskins, funeral services were conducted at the Miller home by the Rev. Mr. Brauer of O'Neill. The deceased is survived by his father, mother, nine brothers and sisters and by his grandmother, Mrs. Minnie Miller. The community ex- tends sympathy to the bereaved par- ents and other relatives.

INJURES BACK IN FALL FROM LOFT TO GROUND

Hoskins Boy Tips Backward from Barn Door—Falls Ten Feet.

Hoskins, Neb., Sept. 18.—Ernest Langenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Langenberg, suffered a fracture of the seventh vertebra on his spine last evening when he fell backward out of a barn loft ten feet to the ground. At the home of Ed Miller, physician, all the way from 10 cents to $5. The money realized from the sale has been turned into the treasury of the organization.

RAILROADS' CROP REPORT.

The Burlington railroad's crop report for the week ending last Saturday night indicates that corn is rapidly progressing toward maturity and that generally throughout the state it will be out of the way of frost by the last of this or the middle of next week.

Company agents report that in many sections of southern and central Nebraska corn has passed the danger line and that a light frost would be beneficial, stopping the growth and hastening the ripening. With the exception of the McCook division of the Burlington system, the Nebraska corn crop is satisfactory. On that division, that covers the southwestern corner of the state there has been a lack of rain and consequently the crop will fall below the average.

The report indicates that in practically all localities where the corn will not make a heavy crop it is being cut and put into silage for feeding to stock.

with German until the German people change their government. They follow the lead of the Cologne Gazette, which said recently in a fine burst of indignation:

"President Wilson's impertinence is beginning to get on our nerves. Has he no adviser to tell him that this sort of interference is bound to result in a protracted and bloody war?"

To this, The Christian Science Monitor makes the apt reply:

"President Wilson is doubtless as interested as the rest of us in learning what a proud people goaded to fury is likely to do that will be any worse than massacring babies, bombing hospitals, and sinking the ships of friendly neutrals so as to leave no traces."

County Superintendent Pearl E. Sewell went to Emerson Tuesday to attend a meeting of county superintendents from Cedar, Dixon, Thurston, Burt, Dakota and Wayne counties. The main object of the meeting was to plan the place for the teachers' meeting which will be held in October.

ON THE JOB AT DEFIANCE

Wayne Young Man Employed by Government at Machine Works.

The government official referred to in the following excerpt from the Defiance Co. Express is Philip T. Koff, son of Senator and Mrs. P. H. Kohl of Wayne:

"To rush the building operations at the Defiance Machine Works to an early completion, government agents have seized all the sand available in the city, drafted the steam shovel of the contractors working on the streets, Johnson & Ritz, and actually compelled the Drumm company, working on the B. & O. improvements to let them have workmen to get the new building gone as quickly as possible. Furthermore, the brickyard of the Defiance Clay Products company has been cleaned up of their product. The government has practically taken over the Defiance Machine Works for a ten year period and will take all the production of the plant with the usual profit of ten per cent above cost. A government official is constantly on the job now at the factory inspecting materials and auditing the books in the interest of Uncle Sam."

ADJUDGED INSANE

The Wisner Chronicle: Torval Christensen who passed two forged checks in Wisner and one in Stanton a few weeks ago, using a name of Ivan Palm, a resident which appeared in these columns, bobbed up here again Tuesday in the role of a deserter from the army. He had been arrested at Bushnell, Kimball county, and confined in the Stanton county jail. The authorities agreed to release him provided he enlisted, which he did at Norfolk, Tuesday. He boarded the afternoon train for that place, and a dispatch was sent to this station instructing the conductor to have him arrested for desertion. The conductor stated that he had left the train at the station and called Chief of Police Mooney who notified and put men out to locate him. A. J. West and son Harry took the road to the north and about two miles out of town arrested Christensen and brought him to town. He was delivered to the Norfolk authorities and taken to that place.

Christensen is a former Wayne county boy, his father having moved to Kimball county a few years ago. He had been employed north of town in Wayne county this summer.

Christensen was adjudged insane at Norfolk, Wednesday, and sent to the state hospital at that place.

TAG DAY AT HARTINGTON

Hartington Herald—The tag day held by the Red Cross women during the county fair was very successful and over $200 was realized as the result of it. A number of the young ladies of the city sold the tags on street corners, and very few men were able to resist their patriotic appeal. The man who bought was re-

ROBERT WARWICK IN "THE ARGYLE CASE"

THE GREATEST DETECTIVE DRAMA EVER SCREENED

William J. Burns, the internationally famous detective, consented to act as advisor to Robert Warwick when the important scene were being photographed. As a consequence "THE ARGYLE CASE" is the first detective film which will stand the closest scrutiny. THE PLOT WITH NO LOOSE ENDS. The story of the Argyle case is that of the mysterious murder of John Argyle, a multi-millionaire, in the library of his home. Circumstances point strongly toward Argyle's adopted daughter, Mary, who is held to his wealth. Just as things begin to look black for Mary, Asche Kayton, a great private detective, is called in by Bruce and takes hold of the investigation. Modern devices such as the "prepared blotter," the trick pen and the dictaphone are used to unravel the tangle. From the moment when Kayton, the role played by Mr. Warwick, takes hold of the mystery, the story intensifies in interest, working up to its surprising climax. DON'T MISS IT!

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 21

MARIE DORO IN "THE LASH"

A LASKY PRODUCTION

A drama of social contrasts in which Marie Doro as a fishermaid of Brittany is introduced to modern world society and its temptations. She falls in love with a young chap from the outer world who has been nearly drowned and brought to her father's house. She goes to the mainland and they are married. She becomes the idol of society, but is rivaled in the affections of her husband by a society "butterfly." How she wins back her husband must be seen to be fully appreciated. Miss Doro plays her society roles in Parisienne gowns from Paquin, Lucile and Callot.

MARGUERITE CLARK IN "THE GOOSE GIRL"

The children will remember her in "Snow White" and "Miss Georgia Washington" said our memorabilia. But here she is in "THE GOOSE GIRL," a delicate comedy, full of laughter and as dainty of touch and air as the versatile Miss herself. Always refreshing as a summer breeze. See the diminutive Miss Clark in this attractive film number and enjoy an evening's recreation.

How Marguerite manages her unruly goose, the comical situations which occur, and the fascinating love story, cannot fail to please.

WILLIAM S. HART IN "TRUTHFUL TULLIVER"

Come and see William S. Hart ride into a saloon, lassoing two men and riding out of a window at the other end of the room, dragging the men after him and out into the street. This is one of the may "thrills."

The story occupies itself with the cleaning up of a crude mining town by "Truthful," an honest and iron-hearted fellow who settled there to run a newspaper. The subplot unfolds when "Truthful" starts man-hunting a villain who has wronged his sweetheart's sister. These scenes—the chase of the Limited, one of the many exciting episodes.

"MOTHER O' MINE"

As a Bluebird film this surpasses all others for beauty. The scenes are stirring, the characters real and the heart interest high. "No One Like Mother," said John Standing when he invited a bunch of his college fellows home for a week-end. And they thought he was right after he had enjoyed one of her good, old-fashioned New England dinners—"like their mothers used to make." John was proud of his mother in those days. But John went to the city and made a fortune. He came to neglect his mother. His visits were prompted but the progress was broken. After a bitter lesson the son was brought to his senses when his mother, heart-broken, after John had referred to her as "his old nurse" when she went to the city to see him, slipped back to her country home, leaving the table piled with "goodies" she had brought with her. John hurried after his mother to their humble little home, and his mother forgives him—as mothers always do. And John again declares "No one like mother."

considerable expense to be sure that the film would be here on time. He finally had to go by motorcycle to Schuyler to get the film on the morning of the exhibition. He believes no expense or trouble is too great in his service to the public. Only eleven films of these war pictures have been released in America, and as they are in great demand Wayne was fortunate in being able to see the picture at this time.

Perhaps more clearly than from any other source the great war was brought to the public by this visualization. With the Atlantic between America and the center of action, it is almost impossible to feel the reality of the conflict. In the heart of the West, where the hand is at its high tide of prosperity and plenty, the war seems far removed and often dim in its significance. The pictures are authentic and serve not only to place the facts before the eyes of the American public, but the proceeds go to the war sufferers in Europe. In this age of scientific wonders and great inventions the fact that 40ms of this sort are taken under the most risky circumstances and often at the cost of life itself, is apt to be forgotten. To be able to see on this side the heroes who are dying for the heart of the world is a great privilege.

This production is one of many reflecting the surpassing enterprise of M. Nielson and his determination to serve the public with the best and newest films.

WIN PRIZES FOR GARDENS.

The ladies of the Monday club awarded two prizes to two members of the garden club for having the best gardens this year. Marion Surber won the first prize of $3 and Merritt McConnell the second prize of $2. The gardeners all did excellent work this year, under the leadership of Herman S. # Reid & Son's Royal Bloods

Located Near Wakefield

The Reid farm where the magnificent herd herewith described will be found, is located one mile east and one-half mile south of Wakefield. A little inquiry will put you on the right track and the place is easy to find and reach.

Buy A Queenly Fall Gilt

The fall gilts in the offering at private sale will prove amply worth all that will ever be paid for them. Read about them, and then drive to the Reid farm and see them. From 700 to 800 pounds in 18 months is the record of growth in the Reid pens.

BIG TYPE POLAND CHINAS.

That is what the animals belonging to the herd of James Reid and son near Wakefield are called. But we could call them elephants with trunks omitted and fannies somewhat rearranged. Circulating among these huge animals we were reminded of Gulliver's travels in which Dean Swift showed the land of the Brobdingnags. Brobdingnags were enormous. Reid and Son's Poland Chinas are really Brobdingnags. They show what can be accomplished in developing the big pure bred type. We don't believe the ordinary hog would feel comfortable in the Reid pens. Imagine a raw-boned, accor-fied Ozark rooster associating with these sleek round-porkers. One would pity the Ozark. But Reid's aristocratic giants are not snobbish. They are apparently not inflated by availing pork prices. They treated us just as though we belonged in their class. Rubbed our trousers playfully and familiarly and made us feel welcome and easy even though our clothes were not properly tailored and creased.

REID HERD REFLECTS QUALITY.

The Reid herd puts a ton of emphasis into the argument in favor of raising only pure bred hogs of the big bone type. It costs no more to raise the best. It takes no more corn or alfalfa. And with unexampled prices for corn and pork, the most that can be produced with the least outlay of feed will appeal to any thinking person as the wise course to follow. The Reid herd reflects unlimited possibilities in big production and multiplying wealth. More pork is the demand of the day, and will be the ever-increasing demand for many years to come. To help solve the problem of greater production, people must feed hogs that grow fast and big.

THE REID PARTNERSHIP.

James Reid and son, Edwin Reid, are in partnership in raising Poland Chinas. They have been in the business only four years, but have exercised fine judgment in buying only the best, which fact accounts for the heavy and well filled bones, well-sprung ribs, excellent head and ears, good feet and best of health and strength. These superior points mean the highest in hog development so far attained. Fieldmen who are competent judges of hogs pronounce the Reid Poland Chinas topnotchers in all respects. They can't help but be so. They come from royal stock, and have pedigrees that attest to purity and choicest lineage.

TOUCHING FAMOUS ANTECEDENTS.

Big Bone Bob, No. 263,535, is the present herd header. He was sired by Smooth Big Bone, grand-champion of Iowa in 1914. His dam was sired by Big Bob. Big Bone Bob is a great animal as any judge would quickly say.

Wonder's Expansion is the sire of a lot of the Reid sows.

Wonder's Expansion was sired by Reid's Expansion, grandson of Old Expansion. The dam of Wonder's Expansion was sired by Big Bone. Expansion Sows was the dam of a number of the spring pigs in the Reid pens. He was sired by Again Expansion. His dam was sired by Expander, a line-bred Expansion bar. The fall gilts were sired by Jumbo Junior, he by J's Jumbo. Jumbo Junior was a first-prize senior yearling at the Inter-State Fair, St. Louis City. Here are the sires of part of the herd sows: Peter's Jumbo, Blue Valley, A. Wonder, Reid's Expansion, Choice Wonder, The Big Orphan, Progression, Long Wonder, and Wright's Big Bone.

PURCHASES FROM WELL KNOWN BREEDERS.

The Reids have bought sows from the following well known and successful breeders: Henry Pesenmeyer, Clarinda, Iowa; Perry Reid, Henderson, Neb.; Henry and Gustaf Paulsen, Carroll, Neb.; William Wright & Son, Allen, Neb.; Paul Wagner, Pierce, Neb.; William Ferguson, Scribner, Neb.; Thomas Walker, Alexandria, Neb.; Peter Mow, Orange City, Ia.; Mrs. Eberbrock & Sons, Sheldon, Ia. These are all leading breeders and an animal from any one of their herds means the very highest in quality. Peter Mow is the synonym for the very top notch in Poland China production.

The spring pigs that are sired by Big Bone Bob, Expansion Sure, Fessy's Tim and Choice Wonder. Pure bred breeders readily understand the superior merits of these animals, and can appreciate the quality of the offspring.

TEN PRINCELY FALL GILTS FOR SALE.

The Reid herd consists of twenty-five herd sows, ten fall gilts, sixty summer and fall pigs, and seventy spring pigs. We wish to call attention to the important fact that the Reids will sell their fall gilts. They do not reserve them for a public sale, and therefore any breeder wanting one or more of these animals of famous Big Type blood is invited to call at the Reid pens, one mile east and one-half mile south of Wakefield. These gilts will instantly arouse your admiration. Quality is apparent, and it will at once be seen and appreciated.

FARMERS AS PROFITERS.

Nebraska Farmer: Some people are becoming vexed with farmers because they are slow to sell their wheat at the price set by the government. There was a time when the most of the wheat now in the hands of the farmer could have been sold at about $3 per bushel. Since the minimum price set by the government proves, in actual operation, to be the maximum as well, those who held their wheat are content to hold it a while longer.

With the time for seeding the next crop at hand, or near it, the outlook for Nebraska's wheat crop for next year is not very rosy. The state council of defense held the situation especially unsatisfactory because they are receiving numerous requests for seed and it is difficult to supply it at prices that farmers are willing to pay. Wherever they can get seed it is shipped immediately to the elevators to be sold at the government price in localities where the situation is the most severe and in this way the best seed is being lost.

The council had shipped two cars into one locality the local elevators advised them to ship no more as the farmers were willing to let enough seed for the needs of that community at the government price.

When the coal operators offered an excessive price with prices that it was the first opportunity they had seen for "cleaning up" and they were making the most of it, they were at once classed as ruthless profiteers and had a public scorn. Farmers have not yet fallen into that class and it is to be hoped that they will not. The scarcity of seed in this state this year makes imperative that every farmer who has wheat on hand shall make some sacrifice in order that another crop may be sowed. The present price in comparison with what might have been received is unsatisfactory, but patriotism should take precedence over profit just now.

It is not recorded that Mr. Roosevelt has been recklessly careless of his life. To judge from his conduct it may be assumed that he deliberately holds more length of life not the main thing, but experience of life. He holds that a shorter life filled with bold adventures is more desirable than a longer life spent in dodging danger. The coward dies a thousand times before his death. "I will be careful, but not fearful," we think we hear him say, "for we can't go along taking chances where experience seemed worth the risk. That this is not a fatal principle of action we see from the fact that though he is well beyond the sunset and the only time he has been hurt was when engaged as a private citizen, in the ordinarily perfectly safe venture of making a political speech in Milwaukee."

The poets have been fond of characterizing life as an adventure of the soul. "Sail forth, Steer for the deep waters only," cries Walt Whitman, "for we can risk our ship, ourselves and all." And the great Ulysses, leaving port in his old age, announced his determination to sail beyond the sunset and the paths of the stars until I die.

Colonel Roosevelt, prolific of voice and pen as he has been, has given us singularly little of his most private inward life. But in the realm of the outward, which often though not always, gives a clue to the inward, he has lived the great adventure. Colonel Roosevelt will undoubtedly be the first and most faithful patron of the coming air ferry from Oyster Bay to Manhattan, and, if he isn't a passenger on the west air liner from New York to London it will be because more absorbing political adventure keeps him at home.

THE VENTURESOME LIFE. Lincoln Journal: On the verge of sixty, Theodore Roosevelt remains the same incorrigible good sport as in his cowboy days. Ten years ago, when he was president, and airplanes were riskier than air-planes are now, Mr. Roosevelt gave the country a turn by taking a dive to the bottom of Long Island sound. Shortly after his presidency he was in the air when airplanes were new and uncertain. He persuaded Archibald Hoxey to give him a "lift." This week he goes up again, the first civilian guest of the new Liberty engine.

Throughout his life Mr. Roosevelt has been no exponent of a narrow "safety first." No president has depended less on body-guards for protection from assassins than did President Roosevelt. A revolver in his own pocket was his main reliance. He was a bold enemy of the cattle rustlers in the South Dakota cow country before he was thought of for governor of New York or for president. He led a political job to enter the Spanish-American war. As a rest from the presidency, he plunged into the pestilential wilds of Africa after big game. He crossed the Sound for his famous "Will and Theodora" interview with President Taft in 1910, through a sea that threatened every moment to swamp his motor boat.

He would be on the European battle front now if he could.

It is not recorded that Mr. Roosevelt has been recklessly careless of his life. To judge from his conduct it may be assumed that he deliberately holds more length of life not the main thing, but experience of life. He holds that a shorter life filled with bold adventures is more desirable than a longer life spent in dodging danger. The coward dies a thousand times before his death. "I will be careful, but not fearful," we think we hear him say, "for we can't go along taking chances where experience seemed worth the risk. That this is not a fatal principle of action we see from the fact that though he is well beyond the sunset and the only time he has been hurt was when engaged as a private citizen, in the ordinarily perfectly safe venture of making a political speech in Milwaukee."

THE DEBT TO AMERICA. New York Times: Andrew Alexander Bruce, a native of the Madras, Presidency, India, went to school in England until he was 15 or older. He was graduated at the University of Wisconsin in 1890. He soon became an English alien. In 1911 he was made an associate justice of the supreme court of North Dakota. At the dinner of the American Bar association Thursday night this naturalized citizen, who has found an honorable and distinguished career in the United States, uttered a sort of confession of faith in his adopted country: a doctrine of loyalty that is sound for all time and of the deepest particular truth and necessity in these:

"I have no millions of others like me, none to this country alone and without friends. We sponged on all that America had, its free land, its free schools, and, above all, its spirit of open-hearted comradeship. She owed us nothing, but she gave us all. We should be ingrates, we should be curs, if in this hour of need we counseled with her enemies or were disloyal to her cause.

"To Americans of foreign birth to our loyalty. Ours is a government of law and not of despots, and our flag is not merely the flag of a nation, but of the nation that we love. We should be loyal because the German doctrine of divine right and might is opposed to all that we have inherited and all that our flag stands for."

To Americans of foreign birth to all Americans, these words apply. Born here or elsewhere, we owe America everything. We must be ready and willing to pay the debt."

CONDUCTOR HURT. Laurel Advocate: Conductor F. J. Hoyder who has the morning run on the Omaha road met with an accident at Crofton Friday evening that has laid him up for a time. While switching on the Y he caught on a moving train and slipped or was thrown, falling in such a manner that he landed across the rails. Luckily the fireman on the engine and the brakeman on the rear of the train both saw the accident and applied the air brakes at both ends of the train, thus saving him from being run over. As it was, Mr. Hoyder had several ribs broken, besides being otherwise considerably bruised.

Has a High Opinion of Chamberlain's Tablets. "I have a high opinion of Chamberlain's Tablets for biliousness and as a laxative," writes Mrs. C. A. Barnes, Charleston, Ill. # This Firm Always Offers You the Best Merchandise Made

That's one reason we take such pride whenever we mention our line of coats and suits which has this little character designation:

Perhaps you know that the Chicago firm manufacturing these coats and suits is the oldest of its kind in America? Perhaps you think that such age means old fogyism? Or maybe you believe that a firm that has made women's garments so long must know how to make them right, else it wouldn't be in existence?

Whatever you think, come here and see the garments—try them on. You will realize that in style and quality in actual dollar-for-dollar value in garments that have style-individuality, you have finally found your ideal. We are here to improve you.

Charles Levine accompanied their mother to Sioux City to attend a birthday party Sunday evening.

Peter Miller's entertained the following guests from Lyons Sunday: Mrs. J. B. Miller, daughter Marion, Fred Miller, Dr. and Mrs. Heyne and daughter Louise, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cahoon. They made the trip by automobile.

Miss Naomi Hoogner spent the week end under the parental roof, returning to her school duties at Sioux City until Monday afternoon as the pupils in the Sioux City schools enjoyed vacation Monday to attend the air.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ring entertained a number of relatives Sunday, the occasion being the fourth birthday anniversary of the latter's niece, Aylene Eskild. The centerpiece of a large birthday cake with the proper number of candles was much enjoyed by the smaller ones of the company.

There were only nine ladies who registered in Logan precinct last Wednesday. We believe the Concord fair diverted attention and caused the small number registering. The ladies present were Mrs. Ring and Miss Helen Congder were the committee that conducted the registration.

About forty young people surprised Delbert Oak Monday evening. The evening was spent in games and music, after which the guests enjoyed tempting refreshments. The guests presented Delbert with a purse of money. He left for Ponca Tuesday morning in response to his country's call, accompanied by his father, mother and two sisters. We wish him godspeed in his service for Uncle Sam.

CONCORD NEWS

county is now a matter of history, having closed last Thursday. The weather man gave us three of as fine days as could be asked. There was a good attendance and the exhibits were good in every department. The Allen and Wakefield bands furnished excellent music. We understand the aggregate receipts were about $3,000. Surely the management of the fair may feel proud of its success. It has been work and hard work—for months, but their efforts have been amply rewarded. Visitors from surrounding counties expressed their appreciation which greatly pleased the people of Dixon county. Already we have heard plans being laid for 1918 and we have no doubt that another year will see even greater success.

Grins are as common as real smiles are scarce.

The Misses Laura Thompson and Inez McClain left last Monday for Wayne where they will attend the State Normal the coming year.

Mrs. N. Thompson and daughter Edna of Wayne visited last week at the G. L. Nelson home. Mrs. Thompson is Mrs. Nelson's mother. H. L. Branaman who has been visiting his son Perry at Hot Springs, arrived in Concord last week for a few weeks' visit with his sons, Cass and Isaac.

Benjamin to this field from Greenville. From the state workers there appeared on the program Rev. Roy E. York of Lincoln, superintendent of state missions. His message was one full of hope and with a vision calling the attention of the association most forcibly to the Forces, Finances, and Field of the Nebraska Baptist state work and to the fact that this year marked the fiftieth anniversary of this work. Also another of the state workers present was Rev. C. H. Bennett of Omaha, state representative of the missionary enterprises of the denomination at large. His message was one taking into its scope the sternest parts of the world, strongly emphasizing the part the denomination is to play in a world conquest in Kingdom interests and that amid a world crisis.

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS. Most mail is disappointing. Euphuism and flattery are inseparable. Every land is a land of opportunity for somebody. A man who has cold feet hopes they are also flat. What did you ever do for your flag except wave it? On a fishing trip very few table manners are observed. One doesn't need to be a mechanic to file a complaint. As a rule a man knows he is slipping long before he admits it. It is easier to arouse suspicion than to awaken anything else. A lot of patriotism goes around in love of being in the limelight. Some men are just able to buy an automobile to keep their poor. Some men don't do much except sit around garages and get dirty. There is such a thing as being so persistent that you become a bore. A good loser should bear in mind that Bryan has made a fortune that way. Better the envy of enemies than the pity of friends—German proverb. When you are young you always expect more to happen than does happen. About all some men do when they attend a meeting is to delay adjournment. When a man says he was too busy to shave today he really means he was too lazy. Practice makes perfect, and a southern mob is usually orderly in its proceedings. Every time you roast a friend you place a scar on your character that is there to stay. You never know anyone so worthless he couldn't get a letter of recommendation. A life insurance agent is a person who tells you that you are neglecting your family. After telling you he doesn't want to take your time, the average agent proceeds to take it. A doctor only made the certain growth taxes do. A lot of worry would be eliminated. Possibly the man you call an upstart is someone who accomplished something you failed at. Talking behind one's back still remains the commonest variety of indoor and outdoor sport. When a town is sick and something must be done, everybody wants to let George do it. A lot of Atchison women who are knitting socks for their husbands. A smart Atchison woman says: "The only thrill you get in a small town is believing all you hear." An Atchison man lies so cleverly that his friends all predict he will end up in the diplomatic service. What has become of the old-fashioned man who always boasted that he went to bed with the chickens? It is hard for the average sinner to believe that the average preacher has enough work to keep him busy. Some men won't admit their wives are their better halves, but all men insist their wives are better talkers. There is a good deal of secret rejoicing nearly every time a draft exemption claim is turned down by the appeal board.

WAYNE COUNTY PURE BRED Breeders'

Booster Day Thursday, Sept. 27

On that date pure bred breeders of live stock and their friends and all others interested are invited to enjoy a tour of inspection. All people from towns and country are invited to join the excursion and bring picnic dinners. They are guaranteed a revelation in fine stock.

The crowd will start in automobiles from Wayne at 8 o'clock in the morning and will inspect the herds of the following men in the order named: Wm. A. Meyer, Wm. Lessman, V. L. Dayton, Fred Sandahl, H. J. Miner, Henry Cozad, Harry Tidrick, Bert Prince, Burreas Brothers, Cradoc Morris, H. C. and Gus Paulsen, Henry Billiter, Albert Sals and Geo. McEachen.

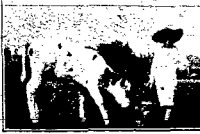

Carroll or vicinity will be reached at noon when a picnic dinner will be served.

Prominent stock judges from a distance will be present and lend interest to the occasion. Speeches will be made, and each farmer whose herds are visited, is expected to give a brief talk.

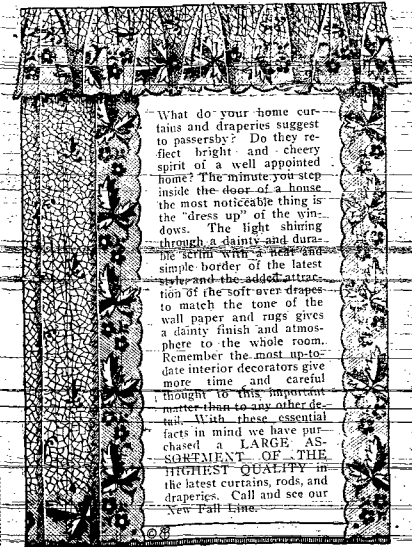

The Welsh Brass Band, well known musical organization of high merit, will accompany the crowd and enliven the day with stirring music.

Let people join in making SEPT. 27 a gala day for the purebred live stock interests of Wayne county.

Curtains and Draperies

What do your home curtains and draperies suggest to passersby? Do they reflect bright and cheery spirit of a well appointed home? The minute you step inside the door of a house the most noticeable thing is the "dress up" of the windows. The light shining through a dainty and durable trim with a neat and simple border of the latest style and the added attraction of the soft and airy fabric to match the tone of the wall paper and rugs gives a dainty finish and atmosphere to the whole room. Remember the man who says that interior decorators give more time and careful thought to this important matter than to any other detail. With these curtains in mind we have purchased a LARGE ASSORTMENT OF THE HIGHEST QUALITY in the latest curtains, rods and drapery. Call and see our New Fall Line.

When My Lady Goes a Shopping

Dame Fashion looking back to the quaint "Dolly Varden" styles has added a piquant touch to the smart outfit of the shopper by insisting that she carry a gaily figured bag of many colors, over her arm. In these days of "Help the Other Fellow," patriotic women are carrying their packages home in these knitting bags, where she used to have most things delivered. Cretonnes of the most varied sorts, and richly colored draperies make the handsomest knitting bags. We have gaily colored linings which peek out at the ends to match the decorations. They are in great demand. Don't lose out. The "House of Plenty" where the most attractive furniture you could desire is awaiting your choice. It is all here. BED ROOM SUITS IN OLD-IVORY, AMERICAN WALNUT, SATIN WALNUT AND OAK. Dainty designs in bedroom rugs. Chintz blue with tiny rose patterns, soft colors, pink and all pastel shades to make a woman's room dainty and attractive.

WEATHER FAVORS CROPS.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Better weather favors crops generally during August and as a result larger yields were forecasted by the department of agriculture in its estimates based on conditions September 1. The wheat crop, including both spring and winter, is estimated at 668,000,000 bushels, as against 640,000,000 bushels, final estimated in 1916, and a ten-year average of 806,000,000 bushels. Corn promises according to the estimate, to reach the astounding yield of 3,248,000,000 bushels, nearly 700,000,000 bushels greater than the yield of last year, and 500,000,000 bushels greater than the ten-year average. Oats also show an increase of over 200,000,000 bushels over last year and the ten-year average. N. Nellen has moved into the residence vacated by Lee Coolidge, and Mr. Coolidge has moved into the house vacated by John Meister.

WHY Every Farmer Should BUY A Standardized Wagon

It doesn't pay to buy just any kind of a wagon, for unless your wagon is "standardized" you will have all kinds of grief when you come to get repairs or new parts. Today the reliable firms have agreed to make the different parts according to specifications fixed for wagons of various capacities. Thus a standard 4500-lb. capacity wheel would carry a larger load than the ordinary 3 1-4 wheel.

Five Other Reasons Why You Should Buy A Columbus

THE FIFTH WHEEL.	THE FOUR WHEELS.	THE BOX.	THE GEARS.	LITTLE POINTS.
Next to the standardized advantage the Fifth Wheel is the most important feature, unique on the Columbus wagon. This fifth wheel of malleable iron is located between the front axle and the bolster directly back of the tongue. This fifth wheel prevents serious rocking of either the pitch or the bolster. With just the circle of iron as formerly used the strain would be too heavy at times and the reach would snap. At other times the front bolster would spring up and cause the king pin to break. And the top plates are just enough bigger than the lower ones to prevent dirt from collecting.	The timber that enters into the construction of the Columbus wagon wheels is not ordinary wood, but choice pieces thoroughly seasoned and carefully selected. The hub is of inspected oak and strengthened with four steel bands. Automatic machines turn, shape and bore out the center for the skein boxes. The mortises for the spokes are also made by machinery. Oak and hickory alternate in the spokes. The square shoulders of the spokes set squarely on the hub. The felloes, of straight-grained oak, are shaped and bored for the spokes. When the wheel is finished they fit snugly together. The rims and tires are made with the same care.	The Columbus box is the last word in both material and construction. The wood on the sides is bay poplar and cottonwood. The bottom is long leaf yellow pine, free from knots and windshakes. Oak cross sills strengthen the box. On the front end an extra sill protects the corners and bottom boards from whiffletrees. The sides are three boards, securely fastened by binder rods. The angle-iron grain cleats make it absolutely grain tight. Because the box on the Columbus is so thoroughly braced and reinforced it is a particularly good wagon for hauling grain. In actual tests it has been found to carry heavier loads than ordinary wagons.	The Columbus gears are all that they should be—and then more. The hickory axle is reinforced by a steel truss bar along the bottom. Steel clips hold it rigid. The bolsters, made of oak, are well ironed. The wood is protected from wear by a steel plate on top of the bolster. A heavy steel strap is securely fastened around the end at the point where the mortise for the stake is cut in the bolster. The extension stake loops and the bolster stakes are of an exclusive pattern. The hounds all around are extra long and placed wide apart on the axle. They are fashioned of extra heavy pieces of straight-grained oak.	No detail that would add to the service of Columbus wagons has been overlooked. The seat is wide and roomy and comfortable. It is fitted with a high, lazy back and flexible springs. The tool box, attached to the front endboard, can be locked and is handy for carrying a rain coat, tools, lunch or parcels. The International Folding Endgate divides in the center. The locknut is very easy to operate. The link end rods are so constructed that they can never be lost. In fact the Columbus is stronger, heavier and better constructed from every angle. Get wagon satisfaction in a Columbus.

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher

EVERY LITTLE HELPS.

We all are doing what we can to make the war a big success, to help along the Red Cross plan, or to alleviate distress. I see the busy women knit, as down the village street I come, I watch their shining needles. I watch their shining needles hum. I watch their shining needles hum. I mark the farmer as he shucks his corn and throws it in a bin, and he, while earning needed backs, is helping, like a little man, I watch the poet slug his lyre, and sing glad songs about the flag; and his poor effort may inspire some man who finds his courage sag. I note the grocer sell his primes; he asks a modest price per pound, and he makes the purchases; he helps to make the wheels go round. The pastor of the village church, who in his pulpit takes his stand, and urges men to pray and work, is helping, too, to beat the band. All men who pass along—each a word of courage and of cheer, are doing something worth the while, they help to bring our triumph near. He does not help who idle stands, who saws no wood, who tills no soil, who loafs around with empty hands, discouraging the lads who toil.

BACK HOME.

From mountain and from sea resort the tourists are returning, and they have freckles by the quart, and suburban necks burning. No doubt you gambled with the rest, where sylvan torrent gushes, where little robins build their nests, and sparrows chase the thrushes. No doubt you're full of thrilling yarns, that you desire to tell, of ocean waves or mountain, tans—which tales will make us jealous. But have you brought back nothing more than rather idle stories of basking by the briny's shore, or 'mid the forest's glories? Have you brought back a lot of pep for your employer's service, or have you still a lagging step, and are you pale and nervous? Have you brought back new vim and zeal, from all your rural scumming? Unless you have, I surely feel, you've had a senseless outing. Have you brought back a glad desire to quit your lazy addorning, and labor like a house afire, and set the boss applauding? If you still hunt the easy chair in which we've all surveyed your 'em'—you ain't won't get any where, your freckles will not aid you.

REST.

All summer I have been Out West where people go from home to rest, among the snow-capped hills, to be away from office chairs, and city noise and business cares, and all the workaday life. I saw a million, less or more, and most of them found rest a body, and longed to be back home, where each could for some dollars chase, and plan new business seemes, and place more gray hairs on his dome. So few of us know how to rest. By mad ambition we're possessed to nail another bone to add one large round dollar more, one shining doubloon to the store that we already own. We cannot lay our harness down, forsake the hot and hustling town, and have a restful time, we fear, that while repose we take, some other fellow, more awake, might beat us to a dime. And so vacation finds us sore; we walk the mountains or the shore, and fume and sigh and fret, we cannot get our minds to rest, and tell our wives the beastly grind is still the one best bet. Alas, we've never learned 'to rest, to let our work slide glaze west, to slumber life's road unless we bear a galling load upon our creaking backs.

THE ARGUING MAN.

I hired a man to work around, to groom the cow and feed the snakes, and after seven weeks I found he wasn't worth a brace of snakes. I'd say, "Oh, James, I wish you'd quit and paint the fence dark blue and pink." He'd say, "Have some respect for all. That combination's rank. I think, if I should paint it red and green, the colors are nice and always was, and always will be. I mean, would you, 'Oh, cheer, that fence is fine!" Then I'd reply, "I pay the man to have that fence the way I wish, my wife'll sure have it done, or you will lose your job, oddsfish!" Then he would quote a lot of boys, old Rembrandt, Titian, and that mob, to show that artist folk would make a clamor 'er the messy job. So we would stand in joint debate, until the sinking of the sun, and when the daylight pulled its freight, there was no job of painting done. Now James is poor and always was, and always will be till he dies, he labors too much with his jaws to satisfy employing guys. My way of doing things is pish, I'm always the winner. I know, but when-for toil I pay the plank, I guess my way will have to go.

THE MIRACLE.

The prairie states, where corn is grown, were parched and withered by the heat; across the fields hot winds had blown, week after week, and then repeat. The sky was like a shield of brass, the sun was sizzling night and day; I heard the farmers cry: "This year we'll have no corn or hay!" The crop was given up for keeps, there was no hope for any yield; the farmer shed his bitter weeps, while gazing on his shriveled field. And then, when things were at their worst, some dark blue clouds limed up on high, they faded around white, bright light, and soaked the cornfields, baked and dry. "It is too late," the farmers said; while rain was falling at the door; "though water falls till we are dead, the corn is gone for evermore." Rain followed rain, day after day, it seemed that it would never stop, and now we hear the farmers say, "We'll have at least a half a crop." It is a miracle as great as nature's laws have ever allowed; it is as though some planted skate got up and gambled in his shroud. We needed all that we could grow to keep the struggling world supplied; and so the marvel seems to show that God of battles is on our side.

WEATHER INFLUENCE.

The weather man has much to do with making people glad or blue. On dreary days of fog and rain men are disgruntled, and complain; when weather is as bad as that, I'd never pass around the hat; for when a man is chilled, a lack! with gooseflesh up and down his back, he won't chin in a pair of straws to help along a worthy cause. He feels that he will need his roll to purchase blankets, grub and coal. He looks with pessimistic eye on everything beneath the sky, and says the Germans can't be licked, and all their foes will be gold-bricked. But when the weather man's begun to trot along his good old sun, and when the skies are blue and fair, and like a tonic is the air, and dismal clouds don't come to bat, I like to pass around the hat. Then people reach down in their jeans for coin to buy new submarines, to help Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., of anything that comes their way. Then optimistic are all guys; I hear no deep, heart-rending sighs, and not people say, "Well, by some men will have the Germans on the run." The weather man should realize how much depends on being wise, and dish up clear signs, and not people say, "Well, by some men will have the Germans on the run."

FOOD ADMINISTRATION.

Reports that speculators are attempting to corner the potato market have been received by Food Administrator Wattles of Nebraska. The department is investigating these reports, and if any definite proof is found, Mr. Wattles will take action immediately. "The interest of the consumer must be protected," said Mr. Wattles. Requests that men on the farms of Nebraska, especially corn huckers and sugar beet harvesters who have been drafted, be permitted to remain on the farms until December have been received by Food Administrator Wattles. Mr. Wattles has referred the matter to Washington with definite recommendations, but is not hopeful of favorable action on the request.

A supervisor of perishable foods, in the person of Geo. F. Munro, has been named for the district of Omaha. It will be his duty to supervise marketing and preservation of perishable food products.

Food Administrator Wattles has named two Nebraskans to important posts in his department. H. M. Bushnell, jr., formerly secretary of the Alliance commercial club, has been appointed executive secretary. Cliff Crooks of Parbury, president state association of dealers, has been named as director for retail merchants of Nebraska. Mr. Crooks' position is purely voluntary, and his acceptance is a tribute to his patriotism. Mr. Crooks will headquarter in Omaha.

"If sacrifices are necessary, it is our duty to make them," said Food Administrator Wattles. "The boys in the trenches are entitled to the best there is. There is no half-way measure. They must have food. It is more important than ammunition. Men can't fight unless they are nourished. The Allies will win the minute they can feed their men one day longer than the Germans. It's up to us to do it. On the most conservative rationing, the Allies are short 500,000,000 bushels of wheat right now. Only 80,000,000 bushels are available in the United States. That's one reason why conservation is of first importance."

One hundred twelve million, eight hundred thousand bushels of corn, 50,286,000 bushels of oats, and 1,876,000 bushels of potatoes will be available for export from Nebraska's 1917 crop after home needs are met, according to figures secured by Food Administrator Wattles.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

From the Wayne Herald, September 21, 1893:

A Baptist social was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Martin. Mrs. John Ott left this week for Chicago to attend the world fair. Mr. and Mrs. Dan Harrington were treated to a pleasant surprise party.

As soon as was born to Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Martin, on Friday, September 13, 1893.

James Sneath has taken charge of the restaurant second door south of the Boyd hotel.

The young people of the Y. P. S. C. E. held a social at the residence of Mark Stringer.

Oscar Frank has engaged in the restaurant business in the building recently vacated by B. W. Sprague.

Phil Lundberg returned Wednesday evening from the Globe office, where he secured a 100-cent claim.

A surprise party was given to Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Dearborn in honor of their seventh wedding anniversary.

Fred Tower left for Chicago, where he went to take a three years' course in the McCormack Theological seminary.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Wilbur and Mr. R. Wilbur left Tuesday for Newcastle to attend the funeral of Mrs. Eugene Wilbur.

Hans Hanson and N. I. Juhlin returned Monday evening from their Chicago trip. They were not well impressed with that country.

C. A. Grothe, P. E. Benschhoff, and L. M. Adress have formed a co-partnership for the purpose of engaging in the grain business.

Professor Ball of the Normal faculty returned from a business trip to Monticello, Ia. His classes in education were conducted by Miss Lucy Buffington during his absence.

From the Wayne Herald-Tribune, September 17, 1885:

Homor Wheaton is building a residence in the northeast part of town.

J. D. Slater and S. D. Relyea are building the Floral hall at the fair grounds.

H. D. Osborne and wife went to Lincoln to attend the state fair and to visit their son.

Oscar A. Rechy and Miss Roebor were married by Rev. G. H. Schuir Thursday, September 10.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Slater entertained a number of friends at an informal party evening.

The ladies of the Baptist church will give a prairie chicken supper at the church Saturday evening.

Fredrick Weber has been enjoying a visit from his brother-in-law, Benjamin Taylor, of Mills county, Ia.

George, the 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Brasler, died September 13, 1885. Death was due to cholera infantum.

C. H. Johnson is going to Norfolk where he will engage in the furniture business in partnership with David Rees, formerly of Hoskins.

J. W. Hartpence of Hartington, and Miss Almira Martin of Wayne were married by the county judge, E. Martin, father of the bride, September 16, 1885.

J. H. Ashley who recently came here from Norfolk, has purchased a new acre of ground west of Taylor and Wachob's addition, and is building a residence.

From the Ponca Journal, September 28, 1878:

One of the chimneys on the new schoolhouse deluges the rooms with smoke when the wind is in a certain direction. The chimney will be built a foot or two this week in order to correct its disagreeable habit.

A party consisting of Messrs. Orr, Potter, Dr. Clark, and Frank Hewitt, went out on the Logan on a hunting excursion last week. They brought back a buggy load of game and report having had a very pleasant time.

Commissioner Sherman of Daley Branch made a three days' excursion in to Dakota Territory this week, returning yesterday. While at Portlandland he noted that the price of wheat was selling at 60 cents per bushel which was below Ponca prices. He had a pleasant time and saw a good country, but it was not to be compared to Logan county, the Eden of the northwest.

One day this week, a party of five, consisting of John Hingegen, Chris Herley, Jeff Wilbur, Uncle Bill Clark, and the writer herself, armed with single and double barreled guns and numerous dogs, took a trip to the Silver Creek country after prairie chickens. The four finest named game birds in the shooting and the writer gave his attention chiefly to the commissary department which contained a large quantity of eatables and drinkables. The day's shooting yielded seventy-eight chickens and five ducks. John Hingegen got away with the largest number, but it was owing to the fact that he did most of the shooting. When Jeff squirts along his gun chicken generally "draps." Uncle Bill and the historic "Old Fuzzy" are sure death to ducks, but they have an antidote for just killing chickens. The game bag was not so well filled as it would have been had the ammunition held out. As it was, the slaughter had to be abandoned with the dogs on a point, and chickens cackling on every side.

BE RID OF THAT ACHE.

If you are a sufferer with lame back, backache, dizziness, nervousness, and "aching" headaches, why don't you try the remedy that your own neighbors recommend?

Mrs. J. C. Hanson, Wayne, says: "It was not my back that troubled me so much as the terrible way my kidneys acted. I also had such terrible headaches at times that I could not bear to look up. Nothing did me any good until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured me."

Mrs. Hanson gave the above statement in June, 1907, and on July 11, 1916, she writes: "The same Doan's Kidney Pills gave me has been lasting. I give them great credit for having permanently cured me of kidney trouble."

GARDEN CLUB AMBITIOUS

Herman Siems Outlines Resolutions Adopted for Next Year.

Herman Siems, supervisor of the Garden club, who has been employed in Wayne the past year in connection with the state University extension, left Saturday morning for the University of Chicago. In closing up the garden work for this year, Mr. Siems wished to say a few words to the people of Wayne. He expressed the hope that the work might be continued next year, that there be a greater number of children enrolled and that the people of Wayne will continue the support of a movement important both in commercial and educational value.

"A child is taught to observe nature," Mr. Siems pointed out, "in a way he has never been taught before. Not from text-books, but from nature itself, not scientifically, with scientific names to learn, but from direct study. It learns this comprehensive study."

In connection with work this fall, Mr. Siems says: "As soon as the weeds are removed and the ground directly cleared, then the well rotted fertilizer should be heaped and spread over the soil this fall. This will insure a good crop for next year."

Resolutions drawn up for next year by the club are as follows:

No fertilizer shall be put on the soil on which we plant potatoes, because it will cause a rust formation on the potato crop.

Tomatoes shall be pruned all to one stump because it will insure a larger yield and an earlier and better tomato crop.

No garden spot shall be left idle because Uncle Sam needs every bit we can raise.

We will do more cold pack canning of vegetables. We will dry more vegetables and fruits; then, if possible, we will try to send a canning team to the state fair next year, to compete with other towns in stimulating interest among children as well as to be of educational value to the children who attend the state fair. We shall exhibit some of Wayne county's produce at the fair for we are one of the finest crops of vegetables in Nebraska.

"Garden work," said Mr. Siems, in closing, "has an important place in the school curriculum. At this time, this movement should be pushed and well conducted. I wish to thank the group leader and people of Wayne for their hearty cooperation in the past, and hope that the work will go on successfully."

Experience the Best Teacher.

It is generally admitted that experience is the best teacher, but should we not make use of the experience of others as well as our own? The experience of a thousand persons is more to be depended upon than that of one individual. Many thousands of persons have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs and colds with the best results, which shows it to be a thoroughly reliable preparation for those diseases. Try it. It is prompt and effective and pleasant to take.—Adv.

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS.

Some men never get generous until they get tight.

Nearly every candidate promises a business-like administration, but taxes keep getting higher.

Married life would be simplified if a woman would trust her husband like the trusts her chickens.

Women in a circus parade never attract the attention of those who put on their own parade every afternoon.

People Speak Well of Chamberlain's Tablets.

"I have been selling Chamberlain's Tablets for about two years and have heard such good reports from my customers that I concluded to give them a trial myself, and can say that I do not believe there is another preparation of the kind that has such good results."

Wm. A. Mc Bride, Headfont, Ont. If you are troubled with indigestion or constipation give them a trial. They will do you good.—Adv.

Why A SOUTH BEND Malleable Range?

When you consider that coal has advanced 300% since the war, you will realize the importance of buying a range with a fuel-saving combustion system. Such is the South Bend Malleable. Every part of this range is built for year-in-and-year-out service. It bakes evenly and is an excellent cooking machine. See the South Bend before you buy.

Don't Wait for a Slump IN COAL PRICES

For although Uncle Sam has his eye on the coal situation, still it takes time to conduct investigations of the country's mines and to make satisfactory adjustments.

We Will Get the Coal

Of that we feel quite sure, but we can guarantee neither the time nor the price. It is unlikely that you will notice any considerable slump in prices for some time, and it is our advice that you fill your bins early, for the car shortage will also work to curtail shipment from the mines.

Remember, our coal is clean and will be delivered in a cleanly way.

Pilger Herald: Last Friday morning the Carroll band boys came over to our little city in autos and spent the day at the Matheson lake fishing. About four o'clock in the afternoon they became tired of fishing and came to town and gave our people an hour's band concert. We would say that Carroll sure has some band, made up of musicians and gentlemen. Their music was listened to and appreciated by a large number of our people.

Mrs. Daniel Davis, Mrs. R. J. McKenzie, Mrs. Gomer Jones and Mrs. Frank Francis went to Wayne Friday in the interest of the Red Cross. The ladies visited the Red Cross rooms at that place, and gathered information about the supplies. A number of kits were made by the Carroll branch for the boys who left Wednesday. The Red Cross rooms were opened Tuesday afternoon for the first time. They will be open Tuesday and Friday afternoons for those who wish to buy. A program is urged to do something to help in this great movement.

SOCIAL NOTES

Ladies' Aid Wednesday.
The Ladies' Aid society met in the church basement Wednesday afternoon for the regular meeting. Following a social hour, the ladies spent in sewing, a delightful lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. W. R. Olmstead, Mrs. D. J. Davis and Mrs. Evan Jenkins, Jr.

Queen Esther Meeting
The Queen Esther society held its regular meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Harriet and Miss Eleanor Jones. An interesting lesson on "A Review and an Outlook" was led by Miss Marie James. Following the lesson study, light refreshments were served.

At Sunday Dinner.
Mr. and Mrs. Will Owen entertained at a 1 o'clock dinner Sunday in honor of the latter's aunt, Mrs. Owen Price of Red Oak, Ia. The table was tastefully decorated with garden flowers. Covers for the dinner were laid for: Mrs. Owen Price, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Roberts and son, Levi Roberts and Me and Mrs. Owens.

A Surprise Party.
A delightful surprise party was given at the home of Mrs. and Miss Gus Bodenstedt last Wednesday afternoon in honor of the latter's sister, Mrs. Lloyd Bliss, and little daughter, Frances Gertrude of Teshmoh. The ladies spent the afternoon sewing and later enjoyed an automobile ride. At 6 o'clock a delicious three-course luncheon was served.

A Farewell Party.
Mr. and Mrs. Tom Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rees entertained Monday evening at the Roberts home one mile west of Carroll, in honor of Levi Roberts who left this week for Fort Riley. The guests who numbered a hundred, spent a most enjoyable time. The Welsh band furnished appropriate music and the Welsh male sextette sang several selections which were thoroughly enjoyed. At a late hour, the hostess assisted by several young ladies served delicious ice cream and cake.

Exhibit Stock at Fair.

Morning worship at 11.
Young people's meeting at 7 p. m. Evening song and preaching services at 8.
The sermon theme at the morning worship will be "Removing the Obstacles." In the evening an evangelistic sermon will be given on the subject "Life for a Look."

A series of special meetings will be held beginning Sunday evening, conducted by the pastor. Services each evening during the week at 8 o'clock. We solicit the support in these meetings of every person in the community who has pledged his allegiance to Christ in the advancement of his kingdom. Come and help us strengthen the forces, that build for a better community, against the powers that would be to the destruction of both soul and body.

We invite the general public to attend all of the services. If there is any one in a heart of God, who has a desire to help you find the one who will fill up that vacancy and give eternal life.

Have Your Hogs Vaccinated

YOU cannot afford to run the risk of losing your high-priced hogs through failure to have them properly vaccinated. Breeders realize more and more the importance of saving every hog, thus insuring the pork supply and contributing to the wealth of the country.

I HAVE been busy administering this safeguard against disease, and I will attend to all orders promptly, insuring best results. Every herd should be vaccinated.

Baptist Meet at Carroll.

The Northeast Baptist association met at Carroll in a three days session Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of last week. A goodly number of delegates from the churches of this part of the state were present. The reports from the various fields in many respects showed advancements being made. Among the things appearing that would merit special mention is the erection of a new $12,000 church building now nearing completion by the "Fideler" of delegates from the churches. Also the raising of a $15,000 fund by the Newell church. (Continued on page five.)

New Edison "The Phonograph with a Soul"

You would expect nothing less from Thomas A. Edison, with his vast inventive genius and his profound knowledge of chemistry, acoustics and mechanics. He was never satisfied with the phonograph, even after long years of experience, until he had so perfected the sound chamber and the reproduction device that the human voice seemed actually recreated. So the result of Edison's genius is rightly termed "The Phonograph with a Soul."

The Best Musical Instrument

Is the only kind you want to take into your home as a permanent investment. Edison has given to the musical world something so compellingly worth while that the music critic of the New York Tribune was inspired to write "Edison Snared the Soul of Music." And Edison wants every music lover to hear his instrument; he wants you to carefully compare its tones with the thin reproductions of other machines.

We are always glad to demonstrate the NEW EDISON to you at any time. Drop in and hear some of the new September records.
