PATRIOTIC TALKS MADE

Meeting Held Under Auspices of the Council of Defense.

A meeting was held in the Sandahl school house, northeast of Wayne Thursday evening under the auspices of the County Council of Defense with E. Aaker, special member, presiding. The school house was crowded, and everybody manifested lively interest.

Mr. Aaker pointed out the importance of the body armor, and discussed the problem of corn picking. He led a discussion of the price to be paid for corn huskers, and it was agreed that seven cents a bushel was a fair price.

W. D. Redmond was invited to speak, and responded by mentioning conditions that led to the war, and the problems which the Council of Defense is expected to handle in cooperation with the government. Entering the war after exhausting all means of escape from it was pointed out as especially fitting stimulus to popular response to the call for support.

The audience was attentive and very much in earnest.

English Journal Gives Recognition to Mrs. M. A. Phillips.

Mrs. M. A. Phillips, principal of the Wayne high school, received word Saturday that an article which she had prepared for publication, treating of results following correspondence by her students with local business men, had been accepted by The English Journal, and would appear in an early issue of that magazine. It should be understood that The English Journal, published in Chicago, is the highest class publication of the kind in the world.

The business correspondence of Wayne men last spring will be remembered by many. Mrs. Phillips wrote an interesting story of the experience, and her many friends will be pleased to know her effort has been rewarded by deserved success.

"MOTHER O' MINE" POPULAR

Picture Draws Large Crowds—Necessary to Turn Many Away.

which started at 7:30 and even at that hour, some were turned away. By the time the second performance started, people were lined up in front of the theater in such numbers that the crowds extended across the street.

It is a case of the same old simple heart appeal of mother love with more standing supreme in its universal attraction. Simple in theme, and versatile in its mood, this story could not fail to attract. The beauty of the picture lay in its simplicity. The pathos was delicate and genuine; there was nothing forced or overdone. And again the touches of humor which were so buoyantly delightful, were just what was necessary to assuage the pathetic moments. There was a spontaneity about the whole theme which was pleasing.

Interwoven with the story was King's song of "Mother," sung by Prof. E. E. Lackey of the State Normal faculty. This beautiful lyric sung so appealingly by Professor Lackey brought in that touch of realism and artistic finish to the story.

FORMER WAYNE GIRL

Miss Elisabeth O'Brien, referred to in the following excerpt from the Omaha Bee of last Thursday, will be remembered as a former student of the Wayne State Normal, and subsequently a member of the Wayne High staff:

"Our Mittens," a short story by Miss Elisabeth O'Brien, 2805 Woolworth Avenue, and three articles on sociological study from her pen, have been accepted by the Curtis Publishing company and will appear in some of its early publications.

Miss O'Brien came to Omaha from Wayne, Neb., where she worked on the Wayne Herald, and before that on the Tekamah journal. She is a University of Nebraska girl, and took special work at the University of Chicago.

STARTS WITH RUSH

New York, Oct. 1.—In the first hour of the second Liberty loan drive there, $11,000,000 in subscriptions were announced by two banking firms. Two of the subscriptions of $5,000,000 each were by the Union Pacific railway company and the Southern railway company.

New York, Oct. 1.—New York City's opening drive of the campaign to raise at least half and as much more as possible of the second Liberty loan, the second of the kind, served district—$1,500,000,000 in twenty-four working days, was ushered in today by the ringing of church bells and the striking of whistles from factories and harbors.

To accomplish the project, probably one of the most stupendous feats in popular finance ever attempted by any municipality in the world, it will be necessary to obtain an average of $62,500,000 on each day of the campaign.

The opening of the campaign was signaled by a parade of bond salesmen and other workers from the sub-treasury building to the city hall, where Mayor Mitchell addressed them.

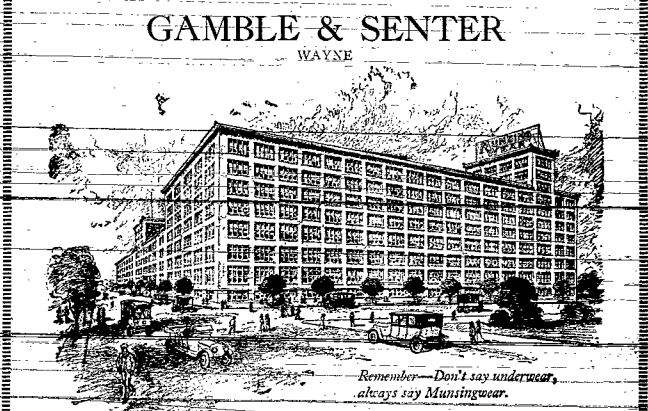

500 Canvassers in Chicago. Chicago, Oct. 1.—The campaign to raise $700,000,000 of the new Liberty loan in the seventh federal reserve district started in this city today.

STOP FOOD SPECULATION

Such Is the Ultimatum Issued by Administrator Wattles.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 3.—Speculation in foodstuffs and necessities of the most stupor. That is the ultimatum issued by Food Administrator Wattles upon his return from Washington where he has been in conference with Food Administrator Hoover.

"We do not propose that speculators are going to profit from this war. The interests of the people must be conserved. The speculation of past years is gone forever. The accomplishment in the matter of wheat is an evidence of what can be done and we propose to save to the American people the profit of their labor."

Among the things Mr. Wattles is charged with is to see that abuses in the matter of marketing foodstuffs are stopped. The restriction of live stock on farms; adjustment of charges for handling live stock; the securing of signatures to pledge cards; and other things of national importance.

He is a busy man these days, and his efforts are all along the line of conserving and saving for Nebraska.

PUNISHMENT FOR WILLFUL SLACKERS.

Omaha Bee: Eighteen young men have been indicted by a federal grand jury at Omaha for failure to respond under the call of the selective draft law and now stand in imminent danger of the severe penalties provided by that law. Most, if not all, of these are victims of bad advice, having listened to the gabble of sapheaded agitators whose ideas of government are definitely hazy. Punishment will be inflicted on them because of their defiance of the law, but the men who persuaded them into peril do not stand in the dock beside them. These will escape the penalty of the law, but they deserve to be dealt with in some way that will sensibly impress them with a notion of their responsibility. The tendency to insist on private vengeance, taking precedence over public need and justice to recognize the right of the nation over the individual, both in person and property, is bringing men close to the prison doors. Slackers, no matter what their station or rank, are to be dealt with as public enemies.

MAN KILLED BY MAD BULL.

Madison County Man Entering Barn Attacked by Animal.

Madison, Neb., Oct. 1.—W. A. Exceen, who lived on the Charles A. Exceen farm in Madison county, was attacked by an infuriated bull in his barn Saturday afternoon and so badly injured that he died at 2 o'clock Sunday morning.

Mr. Exceen had just warned a neighbor, William Breen, of the vicious nature of the animal and advised him not to go into the barn where the animal was tied at one side of a box stall. Mr. Exceen offered to go in with Mr. Breen's horse and was attacked by the bull as he entered. The infuriated animal backed him into a corner and butted him against the side of the stall and then threw him into the air and trampled him when he fell. He was injured internally and it is believed his back was broken.

Mr. Exceen leaves a wife and six or seven children. The funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the home and burial will be in the Presbyterian cemetery. He and Mr. Pearce were in partnership in the stock business and the animal belonged to them jointly.

DIES FROM SHOCK.

Newman Grove, Neb., Oct. 1.—Carl E. Hansen of Columbus, proprietor of a variety store, N. R. Wilcox, a traveling salesman for carbon paper and Oscar Samuelson, who were returning to Omaha in a car, ran off a culvert Sunday afternoon, one mile east of Newman Grove. The car stopped short, shaking the men up, but as far as could be found, none sustained injuries. They returned to town and, 9 o'clock Sunday night, Mr. Hansen died, probably from shock, as the doctor could find no bodily injury. He was 26 years old and a cripple and had not been well for years. He leaves a wife and one child.

CORN CROP DEEMED SAFE

Bumper Yield Believed Safe from Dangers of Frost.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 28.—Latest reports from all parts of the state of Nebraska are that almost all the 1917 corn crop is safe from frost danger and that the crop will grow a bumper one. Estimates in the hands of E. R. Danielson, secretary of the state board of agriculture, are that 75 to 90 per cent of the crop is reasonably safe from frost.

Secretary Danielson's report indicates that the crop for the state will average in the neighborhood of twenty-five bushels to the acre, and possibly more. Taking this as a basis for computation, the crop this season will be much larger than that of last year as the acreage is materially larger. Sections that seem to be particularly favored this year are the northeast and southeast sections of the state, which will have bumper yields—probably enough to offset the smaller returns in some of the less favored western sections.

Estimates that are held to be conservative indicate a yield for the state of 250,000,000 to 265,000,000 bushels, as against the 200,000,000 to 449 bushels produced last year. At the present price of corn this year's crop now stands at close to $300,000,000 for Nebraska's farmers, but grain men who are conversant with the situation assert that the present price of $1.15 cannot stand long and that much of the grain will be marketed at a price less than $1.00. It is asserted that the price will remain well above last year's figure of 60 cents, however, and that the farmers are certain of a prosperous year.

Warm and dry weather is now needed to make the crop return the best results. Further wet weather will tend to cause the growing to continue too long and the condition of the crop at the time of the first frosts will be such that heavy damage will result. However, with most of the crop past the danger mark already, a great crop is assured. The next question that will puzzle the growers is that of getting the corn in. With the cooperation of the state council of defense and the county councils, however, it is hoped to have all the corn well taken care of before Christmas. Steps are now being taken to organize all labor, both men and boys, who are available to help in the big harvest and confidence is expressed that the crop will be taken care of.

JUDGE M. B. REESE DEAD.

Lincoln, September 28.—Morton B. Reese, former chief justice of the Nebraska supreme court, former dean of the University of Nebraska law school and prominent politician, died here today after a short illness. Judge Reese was born in Mason county, Ill., seventy eight years ago. He came to Nebraska in 1871 and from that time was prominent in state affairs, holding a position on the supreme court bench during two periods of six and seven years, nine years of that time as chief justice. For the last two years he has been engaged in the practice of law. Judge Reese is survived by a son, Harry A. Reese, and a daughter, Mrs. Charles Sanford, of Lincoln.

THE FOOD ADMINISTRATION

An Effort to Persuade All Nebraskans to Conserve Food.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 3.—The state campaign for the Pledge Card campaign under the Food Administration has been given to S. R. McKelvie of Lincoln. Mr. McKelvie is organizing a district by district, with sub-managers for each congressional and senatorial district.

The campaign will be held during the week of October 21 to 28, when Food Administrator Wattles, Food Manager McKelvie aspire to get 250,000 Nebraskans to pledge themselves to assist in conserving Nebraska's food resources. Pledge cards will be delivered into the home of every Nebraskan. "Everyone can and will sign one of these pledge cards," says Mr. Wattles. "Nebraskans are willing to do their bit and they are going to do it. The signing of a card involves this pledge: That every Nebraskan will assist, so far as able, to help conserve food products, eliminating or reducing to a minimum the amount of food that is wasted. Food that is not consumed will be placed in place of wheat."

Sour Stomach.

Eat slowly, masticate your food thoroughly, abstain from meat for a few days and in most cases the sour stomach will disappear. If it does not, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets immediately after supper. Red meats are most likely to cause sour stomach and you may find it best to cut them out.

LESS THAN $2,000

The Chandler motor is the dominant feature of the Chandler Six. Still, the Chandler Six is not simply a motor with a car built around it. The fine motor is mounted in an equally fine chassis and on this chassis are mounted splendid bodies of varied types. The commodious seats, the deep, soft cushions, the unusual depth and softly molded curves of the body emphasize the CHANDLER INDIVIDUALITY.

The "Marvelous Motor"

Its power, flexibility and absence of vibration, its life, its responsiveness will surprise you, no less than please you. Even motor experts are surprised because of the perfect motor balance. 2,000 revolutions per minute!—and vibration barely perceptible. This is due to the solid web aluminum base which is supported squarely on the frame, giving a firmness to the motor which eliminates noise or rocking.

Upon the motor base are accessibly mounted the fan, magneto, oil pump, water pump, electric horn, electric generator and starting motor. No noisy spur gears.

Operation

Chandler is wonderfully easy to operate—simple for a woman to drive—so much so that driving is pure pleasure and not in the least tiresome or straining. In these days when women drive as much or more than men this is worthy of consideration.

In hospital service so much depends on the little things. Even after the patient has rallied satisfactorily from an operation, there is much left to be done to take him the whole way to health.

The care of the convalescent has come to be a science, requiring hard study and intense application. What shall the patient eat? When shall he sit up? When walk? These are but a few of the questions which confront the nurse, and the correctness and dispatch of her decisions are of vital import.

In the small country hospital it is possible to attend to all these matters with utmost care for there are comparatively few patients and each, therefore, receives every bit of attention necessary.

36 HEAD OF MALE PIGS 36
Including 11 Fall Pigs and 25 Spring Pigs

Purebreds from Big Mouw, Mouw's Fashion, McEachen's Mc King of Wonders, Big Expansion, Scottish Chief, and other famous sows and sires.

FAMOUS DAM AND LITTER

Peter-Mouw! Peter-Mouw!

What does that name suggest to you? Here are some facts; Mr. Hog Raiser, to think about, if indeed you are not already aware of them:

Peter Mouw is the greatest Poland China breeder in the United States. He is the originator of the big-type, heavy-boned, tip-top Poland China hog. He is the man who had a sale recently, and for 128 hogs received an average of $306 per head! There are many other things to be said of Peter Mouw, but there is just one point we will consider here. He is the man who sold "Mouw's Fashion" to George A. McEachen. The sire of this animal sold for $6,000. At Mouw's dispersion sale one half brother of Mouw's Fashion sold for $1,700, another for $1,500 and so on, the average price for a group of nearly thirty head being $600. To simply say that an animal is a "Mouw" is enough of pedigree, though the royal lineage of Mouw's Fashion goes back for generations.

To give you a further glimpse into the kind of animals owned by Mr. McEachen, here is Mouw's Smooth Jumbo, the big hog that has been the wonder of Mouw's stock for the past two years. He is the heaviest boned hog in this part of the United States, weighing 1,200 pounds when he's feeling "fit." Jumbo now weighs 1,050 pounds and is taking on more meat every day. It would be worth while to take a trip to the McEachen farm and have a look at this enormous specimen of hog nature.

Just a word here about McEachen's Mc King of Wonders. This animal is the sire of ten of the fall male pigs up for sale October 20. Now here are a few facts in connection with McKing that may interest you. McKing of Wonders was sired by Pfender's King of Wonders, owned by Pfender of Clarinda, Ia. Mr. McEachen bought Mc King of Wonders in 1915, when he topped the market. This pig is the sire of ten male pigs for sale October 20.

One male pig for sale at this time was sired by "Big Bob," a fine animal bought of Halford at Manning, Ia.

Mouw's Fashion, Big Mouw, and Mc King of Wonders, previously mentioned, are the sires of twenty-five male pigs farrowed the last of March and early April. These twenty-five pigs are for sale October 20.

Bear in mind that the very highest strains of pure bred Poland China blood flows in the veins of these animals.

A GREAT DAY FOR THE HOG MAN.

Farmers have found that hog raising is about the most profitable line they can follow, especially in the west. During the last year the hog has been in the limelight of American farm production. Hogs have sold for unheard of prices on the market. Each day new records have been established for pork hogs on many markets of the country. Within the last month they have sold for $20 a hundredweight. These prices have never been equalled in this country before.

This is a great day for the hog man. Tomorrow will be greater.

The hog has been promoted to the head of the class of farm animals. There has been no grait about this promotion either. He has been accorded this distinction by virtue of merit and merit alone. Never again in the history of this country will the hog play second fiddle. He will play a more prominent role in the show.

In this generation and those to come, the hog business will occupy a prominent place in the nation's progress and prosperity.

ABOUT THE PURE-BRED HOG.

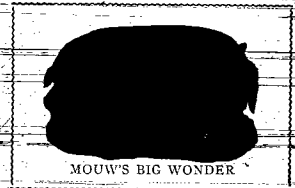

The pure bred hog is a better hog for pork production than any other hog. He is the hog that should be on every farm. The most important thing to do in building up a pure bred herd is to first select good pure bred boars and later, sows.

Now here is your chance, Mr. Farmer. Remember that the progressive farmers are turning their efforts to pure bred production. They have been Rip Van Winkle for these many years, but what has happened? A wave of sense and with it added prosperity has swept over American farmers and on the crest of the wave hogs the motto "Buy a Pure Bred Pig."

THIRTY-SIX PURE BRED MALE PIGS FOR SALE OCTOBER 20.

Mr. McEachen has raised Poland China hogs for a number of years now, and by careful study and experiment has found the key to success. Take a glance at the equipment and up-to-date plan or scheme of Mr. McEachen's farm proper.

On a gradually rising stretch of ground ample in proportions there are situated sixteen or eighteen prominent buildings. Only mentioning the twenty-room house located back under some of the finest trees in Wayne county, we will focus our attention on the special points of interest in connection with the hog raising proposition. Consider his "huge" barnyard. Knowing that hogs like and grow fat on corn and middlings as well as most any kind of grain, he has amply prepared to supply the needs of his stock farm in these respects. The whole tone of the farm suggests efficiency, highest efficiency. Keeping in mind that carbohydrates, fats, proteins and ash or mineral matter are necessary to the proper development of any animal, he gives his hogs a run-of-good pasture that will furnish plenty of luxuriant green forage—bluegrass and alfalfa. He has planned on plenty of good shade, mudholes for his animals to wallow in on hot days, and provides them with up-to-date waterers. He keeps the appetites of his hogs keen and supplies their wants. His animals are carefully watched, and one need only to look at them to know that they are a contented and high class lot.

From such a breeder as Mr. McEachen, a man who sets his brain as well as his heart to the task of raising the standard for the production of high class pure bred Poland Chinas, farmers cannot make a mistake in investing in animals from his stock.

Mr. McEachen's stock is open for inspection by visitors at all times. Any who care to visit the farm will be welcome guests.

LA FOLLETTE

Bisby in Lincoln Journal-Senator Robert La Follette says he says the newspapers of Minnesota said he said "Maybe he didn't, and then again, maybe he did. A man with his impetuous disposition, his searching contentious and swinging prejudices, his perspiration of utterance and marvelous power of endurance is bound to say a good many things in a crisis like this which might better be left unspoken." His threatened rebel suits against the newspapers will never get him anywhere. Perhaps some of them have read a little more into his speech than his words warranted, no mistake has been made as to the trend of his thought, and quality of his patriotism. He justified in one of his speeches the sinking of the Lusitania. That is enough to condemn his judgment and his humanity. Several years ago at the Lincoln Epworth assembly, Mr. La Follette occupied the platform for nearly two and one-half hours abusing the railroads. The railroads may have deserved the abuse, but the people didn't. He wore his hat on the subject and the audience whose good money he accepted for giving them a great deal that could not have been true, otherwise the country would have been swayed and in ruins before this. Robert La Follette has likable qualities, but he talks too much; and at this particular juncture in our national affairs he would gain friends by not talking at all.

TWICE PROVEN

If you suffer backache, sleepless nights, tired, dull days, and disturbing urinary disorders, don't experiment. Read this twice-told testimony. It's Wayne evidence—doubly proven.

W. H. Hogewood says: "My back was often so painful and lame I could hardly get up after sitting down. Other symptoms of kidney trouble left no doubt in my mind that my kidneys were in a badly disordered condition. I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills and was not disappointed with the results. They relieved me at once, immediately, and in a short time I was cured." (Statement given August 4, 1910.)

On July 7, 1916, Mr. Hogewood writes: "The cure Doan's Kidney Pills gave me has been permanent, which makes me think more highly of them than ever."

INITIAL BOOSTER TRIP PROVES GIANT SUCCESS

Fourteen Farms Visited Reveal Wealth of Pure Bred Stock

The booster trip of the Wayne County Pure Bred Breeders' Association took place last Thursday, September 27, when over eighteen crowded automobiles left Wayne to make the rounds of the double stock farms in Wayne and Dundy counties. The farms visited were those of William Lessman, William A. Meyer, V. L. Dayton, C. F. Sandahl, H. J. Miner, Henry Cozad, Harry Tidrick, Bert Prince, Cradock Bros., Cradock Morris, Henry and Gustav Paulsen, W. H. Billiter and George A. McEachen. During the morning more cars joined the boosters, and by noon there were fifty automobiles to draw up at Winside for lunch. As the long line of cars whirled across country, it was a rare sight to see a double stock association. People from the farm-houses, men in the fields, and all the country school pupils stopped their work to cheer and speed the passing line of cars.

The first stop at the farm of William Lessman, was one of the most interesting of the day. His exhibit was unique in showing his only pure bred cow, a Jersey, and his animals were beautiful and symmetrical, not only good to look upon, but showed up as good flesh carriers of large and handsome type and of great value. Mr. Lessman showed his big cattle, spoke of the Hereford as his favorite animal. "A man should raise the animal he likes best," was Mr. Lessman's remark. During the morning more cars joined the boosters, and by noon there were fifty automobiles to draw up at Winside for lunch. As the long line of cars whirled across country, it was a rare sight to see a double stock association. People from the farm-houses, men in the fields, and all the country school pupils stopped their work to cheer and speed the passing line of cars.

At the farm of V. L. Dayton 350 Rhode Island Red chickens, a large stock of Dorset Jersey hogs and about twenty-five Holstein cows on exhibition. Some of these Holsteins are famous animals, having taken prizes at the National Dairy show in Springfield, Mass., and others at the State fair in Lincoln, Neb. Mr. Dayton, president of the association, introduced Professor Frandsen, of the dairy department of the state agricultural school. Using one of Mr. Dayton's heifers to demonstrate his remarks, Professor Frandsen gave a very instructive talk on how to select a profitable dairy cow. A long and deep body indicates a big red capacity, while openings in the vertebrate, flexible hide and sparseness on the top line and shoulders, he said, are further indications of a profitable cow.

The next important consideration is the cow's "history"—the place the milk is made. A large-sized udder, milk veins that are big and prominent and a deep "milk well," he pointed out as necessary points to keep in mind in selecting a dairy cow. "The dairy cow produces more human food," remarked Professor Frandsen, "than any other cow." He commended the double-breasted Percheron cow at the C. F. Sandahl farm, were next in order. Mr. Sandahl exhibited some of the specimens of hares, two in particular, a large gray, 7 years old, and a brown, 4 years old. He also exhibited twenty Shorthorn cattle and about thirty-five male Dorset Jersey hogs. The farm of H. J. Miner was reached at about 11 a. m. Mr. Miner owns forty-three head of Shorthorn Durhams. These twenty-four animals are recorded in the double standard of Shorthorn and Polled pure bred records, being eligible to both books. Mr. Miner's cattle are of Scotch-topped breeding. His records for these records are as follows: Mary family and tests 4 per cent milk. He has heifers testing as high as 5 per cent. The herd header is Confessor's Sultan, an animal of great reputation, weighing 1,000 pounds. "A good above all said, not a lot of paper produce dope" is the motto of Mr. Miner's operation. His heifers in regard to pure bred cattle raising. The policy has evident in the type of animals he had to show. The animal was then and the royal thrage was apparent in the bright eyes and the contented appearance. A Polled Durham was born on the Miner farm the night of the booster trip. Her name is "Miss Booster" in honor of the great day.

The farm of Henry Cozad and Harry Tidrick were visited just before reaching Winside, where a short stop was made for lunch. The main attraction of the Cozad farm was a roan cow and calf which he bought from the Kossuth fair. Mr. Tidrick has 250 head of old and young Dorset Jerseys, 180 Plymouth Rock chickens and several head of beautiful Shetland ponies.

Stopping at Winside for a delicious picnic meal, the band of distinguished music and Mr. George Hervey of the Twentieth Century Farmer spoke during the booster trip, pointing out its advantages to members as well as the community. Professor Frandsen again spoke, advising advertising to promote an ever increasing public interest in the organization. He spoke of a county fair being possible through increased membership of the association.

At the farm of Bert Prince, the animal of particular interest was the famous 22-month-old "Orange Star," which cost Mr. Prince $2,000. The Shorthorn that topped the market in 1915. Three hundred sheep were exhibited at "Valleyview," the Cradock Morris farm. Here Mr. Hervey spoke of the dog tax, now being pushed in all these states. This tax is to protect the sheep owner from loss of sheep by dog slaughter. Nebraska, he pointed out, stands first in the United States as a sheep-raising state, but twenty-eighth in sheep production. He thus showed that Nebraska could stand first in sheep producing if the farmer were insured against the now insupportable loss through the death of sheep by dog and wolves.

From a visit to the farm of Henry and Gustav Paulsen was visited. Here there were seen some of the Poland China hogs that recently carried off blue ribbons at the Sioux City fair. The horses of W. H. Billiter were Percherons—exclusively, including two that took first and third prizes at Sioux City last week. The Burras brothers had imported Belgian and French hogs, as well as Percherons. They had many of the best size and substance. The enormous barn and modern equipment of the place were of special interest. The last stop was at the farm of George A. McEachen, where Big Smooth-bone—a giant hog—was on exhibition. Words cannot convey any idea of the huge proportions of this animal. Mr. McEachen specializes in purchased Poland China hogs and water buffaloes of the highest type animals.

From the time left Wayne in early morning until the machines scattered round for various destinations in the late afternoon, there was a constant stream of inquiries. Fred Blair took care to provide the boosters with noise devices, scattering "big squealers" through the different cars. The youngest member of the trip was Miss Evelyn Morris, aged 4 months. Miss Evelyn is the daughter of Cradock Morris of Valleyview farm.

THE NEW WAR

Lincoln Journal—Americans who desired universal military service and a large standing army before we entered the war are now seeing these things come from their eyes. It is becoming more conspicuous the proximity of thousands of soldiers in training camps have been assured by one military leader that these camps will be equal to the best existing to the universal military service to follow the war. A great many people who had no idea for this change will now come to realize that the universal military service is not a thing of the future.

But this presupposes that war after the war is going to be the same thing as war before the war. It would be strange if this were so, and some men of standing military authorities say positively that it will not be so. One such is S. Siedeborn, a well known English student of military tactics. Mr. Siedeborn unqualifiedly sweeps aside the military system existing before the war and existing thus far throughout the war. "It is fairly safe to predict," he says, "that for tactical reasons there will be a complete change of another order. This is the last war in which the armies will be composed of the whole manhood of the nation, and although some officers whose career depends on its maintenance will struggle hard to retain it, the higher officers whose business it is to direct the strategy and tactics of the campaign, should be interested in its abolition or modification. War with armies of billions is becoming an impossibility and if the institution is to have any chance of surviving the coming of the armies will need to be reformed."

Why should this be? Primarily, because equipment has grown to such a point that men have had to be trained to use it. The British army has been equipped at the beginning with a machine gun to every man, he says, the number of men required to hold a dozen miles of the front against the German attack would have been ample to hold fifty miles. More machine guns and artillery means relatively more men in the munitions factory and in the transportation service and fewer in the actual fighting.

The aeroplane, by ending trench warfare, and the fighting of fixed positions, is to make a war of massed men further impossible, according to the strategist. "We have just seen an airplane making a record high flight on an American field with twelve passengers. Airplanes with a capacity of twenty-five passengers are being built by the American government. A thousand of these airplanes would jump an army of 25,000 men over trenches, mountains and streams to a distance of hundreds of miles in a night. Mr. Siedeborn points out that one company of men with such equipment would do the work of a professional soldier. Behind each professional soldier must be a small army of mechanics and laborers. But the army of soldiers of actual fighting men is comparatively few.

It is not only the equipment that is changing, but the nature of the war itself. Plans for ending the war by precipitating a cloud of airplanes upon the enemy. Surely no one can deny that the "new war" is a very different thing from the old. It is a more reasonable, in a way, of prospects this is no time to decide that future national safety will be best promoted by giving every man a military training.

END OF GROWING SEASON.

Lincoln Trade Review: September is passing without any frost having yet covered crops and a month has proven in the maturing of the corn crop, one of the best months of the season. It is becoming more and more evident as crops are finally matured that the production in this state in all principal items is going to exceed estimates made through the season.

Secretary Daniels of the state board of agriculture, who has traveled over a large part of the state in the last two weeks and who has charge of the crop statistics for his department, is of the opinion that the corn crop will be 10 per cent larger by millions of bushels greater than the government estimate made on September 1. There is now scarcely a healthy where-frost will do any serious damage. In fact, a light frost that will stop the growing season will be more of a benefit than anything else in the final maturing of the grain.

The railroads of the state received reports from all sections reached by their lines and their reports are all of a character to show larger production than anticipated. The Burlington crop report of the 10th week indicates that corn conditions have been steadily improving; that in almost all sections the crop is out of the way of frost and that the yield will be large.

The government has revised its former estimates on the oats crop, giving it a higher percentage in this state. The sugar beet harvest is now well along and reports from the fields are most satisfactory, showing that the sugar beet production will far exceed this year any volume production in former years. dairy interests largely depend, have been in better-condition in September than they have in any September for a number of years and with the entire absence of frost, late forage crops, last cuttings of alfalfa and lands pastured have all given promise in large amounts. This indicates a large crop of winter wheat.

In the meantime, activity is everywhere noticeable in the planting of the winter wheat crop. Sowing of winter wheat commenced more than thirty days ago. Late potatoes in this locality, the early planting shows a splendid growth. Recent rains have made the ground satisfactory for the late planting. Much wheat has been planted in large amounts. The land was planted to that cereal and every indication is that the wheat acreage planted this fall will be the largest ever planted in the history of the state. Late potatoes with another crop that is proving to be better than heretofore predicted so that now, with the closing of the growing season, in all lines of agricultural production, conditions are proving even more satisfactory than heretofore estimated.

We Have Been Appointed

Sole Distributors of Gulbransen-Dickinson Co. Player Pianos in this Territory

We're going to sell—among others—the wonderful "Gulbransen-made" Player Piano at $395—the instrument that's made the "silent" Piano out of date and unfashionable; the easy-to-play instrument that's making a joke of the old-style, hard-running, cumbersome, complicated, high-priced Player Pianos; the "Gulbransen-made" Player that's always ready to play, always "on the job," for fun, frolic, recreation, diversion or sympathy—the thoroughly companionable music-maker—the Player you Might As Well Buy, because it gives you a fine Piano, PLUS ability to Play It, at the price of an ordinary "silent" Piano.

A. G. GULBRANSEN.
Inventor of the Gulbransen Player Piano.
The Gulbransen and Gulbransen-Dickinson Co. of Chicago and New York.

Who're They?

Everybody in the Piano and Player industry has good reason to know the Gulbransen-Dickinson Co. and its products.

A. G. Gulbransen, president of the Company and inventor of the Gulbransen Player Piano Playing Mechanisms, is one of the oldest men-

EXPERIENCE—now actively engaged in manufacturing Player Pianos. He was the first man to build a successful Player Action small enough to go inside a Piano case of ordinary depth. He designed and popularized the first successful single-valve Player Action—the improved type that's in general use today. He's the man who SIMPLIFIED pneumatic playing mechanism, made it light-running, "easy to play," and DURABLE.

For many years, the Gulbransen-Dickinson Co. made Player Actions—the part that goes inside the case—for Piano Manufacturers, who recognized the Gulbransens as Player Experts and were glad to purchase Actions from them, just as watchmakers buy Elgin, Waltham or Illinois movements, or automobile manufacturers buy Continental or Knight engines. More than FORTY Piano Manufacturers in this country and abroad bought Player Actions of the Gulbransen-Dickinson Co.

But the G.-D. Co. also makes COMPLETE Player Pianos. The big G.-D. Co. plant in Chicago produces the Piano part as well as the Player Part. And the Piano is a fine instrument, too—beautiful in tone, design and finish, and unusually substantial in construction. It is built as a Piano OUGHT TO BE BUILT—for hard service.

And then—an important point—the G.-D. Co. Player Pianos are sold at SENSIBLE PRICES. We believe in encouraging efficiency and square dealing. Don't you?

Test It 30 Days

Try it yourself! Try it! Come and investigate this Gulbransen-made Player Piano before you buy ANY Piano or Player Piano—yes, before you buy ANY MUSICAL INSTRUMENT.

This Gulbransen-made Player is the flower of long research by the foremost living Player Expert—A. G. Gulbransen. It is the product of the largest Player Piano factories in the World. The Gulbransen-Dickinson Co.—its makers—are as big a power in the Player business as Henry Ford is in the automobile business. Thanks to superior organization, big output, and bold, keen generalship in distributing, they—and we—are able to sell you a Player Piano at $395 that would have to be sold for nearly twice that much if it were manufactured and marketed in the old, slow, expensive, narrow-minded way.

Why can Overland, Dodge, Ford, Maxwell and half-a-dozen other big manufacturers sell you a dependable automobile for less than a small assembler would ask for the same car? You know the answer! And that same answer explains why the G.-D. Co.—and we—can do it in the Player business!

And if that doesn't interest you, then our values—and the savings we have to offer you will.

Moves To New Quarters

W. A. Hiscox is now pleasantly located with his new hardware store in the building recently vacated by the Adams drug store, across the street from the postoffice. In the heart of the business district, this location is within easy reach of customers and convenient in every way.

The interior has been newly finished and the shelves remodeled. A new stairway has been built in the rear of the store accessible to a broad balcony where the heavier goods, such as refrigerators, desks and heavy farm implements are kept. This affords greater floor space below and a far better display of hardware goods is now possible.

There is a new supply of fall conveniences and necessities on display now.

THE MESSAGE

(By Ella Wheeler Wilcox.)
I have not the gift of vision,
I have not the psychic ear,
And the realms that are called Elysian,
I neither see nor hear;
Yet oft when the shadows darken
And the daylight hides its face,
The soul of me seems to hearken
To the truths that speak through space.

They speak to me not through reason,
They speak to me not by word;
Yet my soul would be guilty of treason
If I did not say it had heard.
For Space has a message compelling
To give to the ear of Earth;
And the things which the silence is telling
In the bosom of God have birth.

WHY Every Farmer Should BUY A Standardized Wagon

It doesn't pay to buy just any kind of a wagon, for unless your wagon is "standardized" you will have all kinds of grief when you come to get repairs or new parts. Today the reliable firms have agreed to make the different parts according to specifications fixed for wagons of various capacities. Thus a standard 4500-lb. capacity wheel would carry a larger load than the ordinary 3 1-4 wheel.

Five Other Reasons Why You Should Buy A Columbus

| THE FIFTH WHEEL. Next to the standardized advantage the Fifth Wheel is the most important feature, unique on the Columbus Wagon. This fifth wheel of malleable iron is located between the front axle and the bolster directly back of the tongue. This fifth wheel prevents serious rocking of either the pitch or the bolster. With just the circle of iron as formerly used the strain would be too heavy at times and the front wheel would snap. At other times the front bolster would spring up and cause the king-pin to break. And the top plates are just enough bigger than the lower ones to prevent dirt from collecting. | THE FOUR WHEELS. The timber that enters into the construction of the Columbus wagon wheels is not ordinary wood, but choice pieces thoroughly seasoned and carefully selected. The hub is of inspected oak and strengthened with four steel bands. Automatic machines turn, shape and bore out the center for the skein boxes. The mortises for the spokes are also made by machinery. Oak and hickory alternate in the spokes. The square shoulders of the spokes set squarely on the hub. The felloes, of straight-grained oak, are shaped and bored for the spokes. When the wheel is finished they fit snugly together. The rims and tires are made with the same care. | THE BOX. The Columbus box is the last word in both material and construction. The wood on the sides is bay paper and cottonwood. The bottom is long leaf yellow pine, free from knots and windshakes. Oak cross sills strengthen the box. On the front end an extra sill protects the corners and bottom boards from whiffleties. The sides are three boards, securely fastened by binder rods. The angle-iron grain cleats make it absolutely tight. Because the box on the Columbus is so thoroughly braced and reinforced it is a particularly good wagon for hauling grain. In actual tests it has been found to carry heavier loads than ordinary wagons. | THE GEARS. The Columbus gears are all that they should be—and then more. The hickory axle is reinforced by a steel truss bar along the bottom. Steel clips hold it rigid. The bolsters, made of oak, are well ironed. The wood is protected from wear by a steel plate on top of the bolster. A heavy steel strap is securely fastened around the end at the point where the mortice for the stake is cut in the bolster. The extension stake loops and the bolster stakes are of an exclusive pattern. The hoods all around are extra laid and placed wide apart on the axle. They are fastened with heavy pieces of straight-grained oak. | LITTLE POINTS. No detail that would add to the service of Columbus wagons has been overlooked. The seat is wide and roomy and comfortable. It is fitted with a high, lazy back and flexible springs. The tool-box, attached to the front end-board, can be locked, and is handy for carrying a rain coat, tools, lunch or parcels. The International Folding End-gate divides in the center. The lock-nut is very easy to operate. The link end rods are so constructed that they can never be lost. In fact the Columbus is stronger, heavier and more constructed from every angle. Get wagon satisfaction in a Columbus. |

UNCLE WALT

FOLLOWING ADVICE

Last spring, wise people came around and said it was my duty to plant in spuds, my garden ground, foregoing things of beauty. I'm fond of flowers and lovely buds, with care I grow and treat them. I have not made the best of spuds, excepting when I eat them. But then the sages came along with ranting sneers and joshes, and said my beds of flowers were wrong. I should be raising squashes. The country needed a different crop and other wholesome rations, not columbines and things like these, to feed the fighting nations. And so I planted peas and beans, uprooted all my lilies and raised a thousand tons of green beans and now I have the willies. For no-one seems to want the truck I raise with so much ardor, no man will blow a single buck to fill with it hisarder. My neighbors all have done the same, great piles of fodder growing, the wise guys steered them to the game, just as they set me going. No nation comes to buy my sass, no king or queen has rubbered, and priced my peas or sparrowgrass, my squashes, plain or Hubbard. So I lament my roses dead, my cup of sorrow-drinking, next year the nations will be fed by someone else. I'm thinking.

ALWAYS SOMETHING

There's always something to call for bring, if one's inclined to mope and whine. The weather man provides a day that ought to please the capping jay; the sky is smother, the breeze a peach that murmurs through the elm and beech. It is a day when normal men throw up their lids and whorl again a day on which they grow and thrive, and thank their gods that they are—well, dead men behind me, he may be someone's hero, with me he's down. I do not like his kind. Not exactly, but with sorrow some rusty nails I borrow an idea from my pig, gun, not smilingly, but weeping, I am to amblush creeping to put the passing Ham.

SERENITY

I sit and sizzle in my grease, when summer days are blazing, and yet my soul is filled with peace, tranquility amazing. I sit and shiver when the snows are drifting on the prairie, the winter tempest never blows that makes my heart less merrier. Not heat or cold or rain or snow, should not let a inhorn we disturb us or annoy us. The mind that dwells on cheap john things, that's aye with trifles freighted, one minute soars on shining wings, triumphant and elated, the next it's shaken off, all mirth it's like a raven croakin', it drags itself along the earth, it's pinions crushed and broken. At night I sit and watch the stars, earth's little things forgetting, keep tab on Jupiter and Mars, and watch the dog star setting. I count the mountains of the moon, through cloudland's shreds and tatters, and do not care a picayune for any earthly matters. Serene I sit and watch the moon pass, serene I sit and watch the and hear a laugh, a sigh, a sob, a curse, and much complaining. They have and fret and chafe and grieve, and try to blick the neighbor; and nothing that they may achieve is worth the sweat and labor.

A SAD BUSINESS

I shoot my Germans sadly; I do not latherer gladly, but with a poignant grief: I hate to meet a stranger, and, while my life's in danger, convert him into beef. I don't enjoy my slaying, but rather I'd be having, or making, brindled cows; but forth I go according to nature, by shooting and leave some wild and fraus. Tales of blood and thunder, but here is a wonder who fairly lusts for gore; in every shilling (thriller the soldier is a killer who seeks for victims more. But is there any mortal this side the red hot infernal who truly loves the girl who does not shrink and shiver when shooting lights or liver from some unlucky jay? If any girl is killing her man, she's glad and willing to have dead men behind her, she may be someone's hero, with me he's down. I do not like his kind. Not exactly, but with sorrow some rusty nails I borrow an idea from my pig, gun, not smilingly, but weeping, I am to amblush creeping to put the passing Ham.

CHANGE OF SUBJECT

I talked of war and dead men's bones lit all around were tired, and something else than grief and groans my weary aims desired. So then I talked about the crops—the barley and the wheat, till people heard my soulful yawns, the whole length of the street. I said, "I'll give them drivers' tunes, from this, my willing tongue, and I'll discuss the price of corn, the cost of baled hay wire, I spieled awhile of art and song, of flowers that bloomed in spring, and plus I chirped the whole way long, until I paused to draw a deep, refreshing breath, the other fellow blew his jaws and talked of war and death. When all the world is talking about the crops, and blood and sickle, there's no attention for the chap who speaks of buds and bees, I'd like to hand out cheery words of wisdom to the punk. I'd like to talk about the birds that carol in the bush. I'd sing of sunsets in the west, that gild the Craig and tor, but when I pause to take a rest, some chap brings in the war.

HOMESICK

There is no sickness more severe than that a fellow knows when far away from comrades, dog, and good old friends and foes. A man may have the group or mumps, the jaundice, or the gout, and never know the deluded damn if he's nervy scout. But courage will not brace him up when, far removed from home, he yearns for hook and chair and pup, and for his pipe-tooth comb. I used to scrap with David Dose, my neighbor, every day, and thought I had some sense when I had a little critb, among the mountains bare, and took my tucker and my bib, and spent the summer there. And how I longed no person knows, while I lived in that shack, to throw some bricks at Mr. Dose, and see him throw them back. Man longs for old familiar things, when he abroad may roam; no new surrounding ever brings the joy he feels at home. Some neighbors envy me my cot beside a snowcapped hill, where there are never flies to swat, and head waxes do not kick. But when I'm there I huddle up before the glowing fire, and long to see my cat and pup, my bookshelves and my lyre.

DANGER IN WAR

Fremont Herald: The boys who have gone to war and those who are going, are bringing to the masses near the fear of death. The thing that brings tears to the eyes of loved ones is that they may never see their boys again. For all those who are in the land and for the soldiers themselves there is much cheer in what Roger W. Babson writes in "Popular Science Monthly." Mr. Babson is one of the best statisticians in the country. He does not form his conclusions by guess work. He goes after the facts of military service as they have developed in this war. He says a drafted man may live as safe a freer as he usually does in the streets of New York; that the man who is connected with heavy artillery is not more likely to be killed than one in the employ of a bank. However, he doesn't hold out as high hopes for the lieutenants, sergeants and corporals, the death rate being greater among officers than privates. Also, the death rate is high among volunteers than among drafted men, for the reason, doubtless, that the latter are better trained to take care of themselves and may not be so likely necessarily to put themselves in places of danger. Sixty men per thousand are now being killed in the war, and about 750 men in every thousand are wounded.

The lesson of all this is to prepare and to continue to prepare for the war work, to omit no detail, to learn that sickness may be as deadly as bullets, to look carefully after one's health, to be alert and vigorous, but to take no needless chances, to gain strength and skill that one may conserve them and use them with the greatest possible effectiveness.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

M. K. Rickbaugh was summoned to Mills county, Ia., as a witness in an important lawsuit.

M. P. Ahern resigned his position as county clerk.

J. H. Keller and Miss Marrietta Peck of Wakefield were married by the county judge, September 24.

W. F. Callender and Miss Emma McOxford were married at the R. L. Oxford home in Wayne, September 28, 1885.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Wheaton returned from their Florida visit last week. Mrs. Wheaton's mother returned with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Tower and two sons of Anamosa, Ia., visited the Oxford family.

Mr. Tower has a section of land in Cedar county which he is improving and expects to move on it next spring.

From the Wayne Herald, October 5, 1893: Henry Klipping will give a dance at his home, Friday evening, October 5.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Martin October 2.

P. H. Kolden and his children went to Lincoln to attend the democratic state convention.

Mrs. J. M. Pile will leave soon for Ohio to visit friends.

William Frazier was in Belden and purchased some feed steers from John Mank at three cents per pound.

F. P. Baker of Rushville, Neb., a former townsman, will preach at the Presbyterian church next Sunday.

The new High Five Club was reorganized at the home of E. L. Neely. The club meets next week at the home of J. T. Bressler.

At the Baptist Young People's convention at Norfolk, attended Alexander was elected president and Miss Laura Barlett secretary.

A number of the members of the Knights of Lotus Lodge attended a service at the home of Bloomfield given by the Alpine Lodge, No. 160, K. of P.

A wedding took place at the Presbyterian church October 4, when Myrtle Gamble was united in marriage to Rev. A. F. Ernst. Rev. P. P. Baker performed the ceremony in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives.

From the Journal, October 1, 1879: Our old herdsmen, Mr. Johnson, would be busy all the morning and we henceforth shall hear his dulcet horn tooting no more. He is going to Fort Dodge to no herd.

H. Gould states that he was at Mr. Cowie's place in Clark precinct on Monday. Mr. Cowie has about 100 head of cattle and 200 hogs, all in a business-like manner.

At the republican convention held last Saturday in Pock, the following persons were nominated for county officers: For commissioner, Mr. Drager; for clerk, E. M. Bierbeck; for treasurer, R. H. Knapp; for county judge, E. H. Potter; for sheriff, L. Fields; for surveyor, C. O. Lampher; and for superintendent of public instruction, A. S. Palmer.

The rate-taking of a distant wagon, accompanied by vociferous yells, indicated yesterday that something was going on in the western part of town, out of the common course of events. It was only when the yells and the yells were from bystanders who were trying to stop them. They did not run far and no damage was done.

Numerous destructive prairie fires may be expected this fall. Last fall a vast amount of damage was done in this county, many houses and other property were burned and several lives were lost. Our farmers are being taught that such wholesale destruction by fire does not occur again. If every citizen will give personal attention to this matter, disastrous fires may be avoided.

No special railroad news and probably there will be none of importance until after the twenty-first of the road is to be sold. If the St. Paul and Sioux City company purchase it, work will be immediately commenced. If, however, the road is bought by some other company, the enterprise may be postponed and the road may not be built.

Prayers are therefore naturally in favor of the St. Paul & Sioux City.

THE LIBERTY LOAN.

By W. G. McVida, Secretary of the Treasury.

For the purpose of equipping with arms, clothing and food our gallant soldiers who have been called to the field.

Maintaining our navy and our coast guard upon the high seas.

Providing the necessary means to pay the wages of our soldiers and sailors and of the bill now pending in the Congress for the support of their dependent families, and to supply them with life insurance.

Contracting a great fleet of merchant vessels to maintain the line of communication with our brave troops in France, and to keep our commerce afloat upon the high seas in defiance of the German Kaiser and his submarines.

Creating a great fleet of aeroplanes, which will give complete supremacy in the air to our military forces.

Enabling our nations fighting with us against the German military menace; and for other necessary war purposes.

The Congress of the United States has authorized the Secretary of the Treasury to sell to the American people bonds of the United States having four per cent interest, with various tax exemptions, and convertible under certain conditions into other issues of the United States.

These bonds may be authorized by the Congress. The official catalog of the Treasury Department gives full details.

There is now offered to the American people a new issue of $300,000,000 of Liberty Bonds.

The second Liberty Loan. They will be issued in such denominations and upon such terms that every patriotic citizen will have an opportunity to assist the Government by lending his money upon the security of a United States Government bond.

It is essential to the success of the Government's war program that the Liberty Loan be subscribed, but over-subscribed. No one is asked to donate or give his money to the Government, but everyone is asked to loan his money to the Government. The loans will be repaid in full with interest at the rate of four per cent per annum.

This is an investment in the world; it is as good as currency and yet better, because the Government bond bears interest and currency does not. No other investment compares with it for safety, ready convertibility into cash and the unquestioned availability as collateral security for loans in any bank in the United States.

People say: "I cannot buy Liberty Bonds because I have no money." The Treasury constantly how they can help the Government in this way. Through the purchase of Liberty Bonds everyone can help. No one is asked to give more than he can afford to give. Those who cannot actually fight upon the field of battle than to furnish the Government with the necessary money to enable it to give brave soldiers and sailors all that they require to make them strong for the fight and capable of winning a swift victory over our enemies.

We fight first of all for America's vital rights, the right to the unutilized and unobstructed use of the high seas, so that the surplus products of our farms, our mines, and our harbors of every friendly nation in the world. Our welfare and prosperity as a people depend upon our right of peaceful intercourse with other nations.

To abandon these rights by withdrawing our ships and commerce from the seas upon the order of a military despot in Europe would be to surrender and bring disaster and humiliation upon the American people.

We fight to protect our citizens against assassination and murder upon the high seas while in the peaceful exercise of those rights demanded by international law and equity instead of dictate of humanity.

We fight to preserve our democratic institutions and our sovereignty as a nation against the menace of a powerful and ruthless military autocracy headed by the German Kaiser whose ambition is to dominate the world.

We fight also for the noble ideal of universal democracy and liberty, the right of the smallest and weak nations equally with the most powerful to live and to govern themselves according to the will of their own people.

We fight for peace, for that just and lasting peace which agonized and tortured humanity craves and which not the sword nor the bayonet of a military despot but the supremacy of vindicated right alone can restore to a distracted world.

To secure these ends I appeal to every man and woman who resides upon the soil of free America and enjoys the blessings of her political institutions to join the League of Patriots by purchasing a Liberty Bond.
