They are made by lock stitch machines and better sewn, and fit better than other mittens. They have a PATENT THUMB that makes them wear better. We bought these before the advance in cotton and are giving the early buyer benefit of same. Remember our mittens are the cheapest in the long run—QUALITY Counts.

RICH TREAT AT CRYSTAL
"Polly of the Circus" Makes Hit with Large Wayne Audiences.

Manager M. B. Nielson of the Crystal theater scored another master hit in "Polly of the Circus," shown on the screen here before crowded houses last Thursday night. The big circus with its performing people and animals, was realistic, and around Polly and the good-hearted preacher an interesting plot had been woven. The long-faced

Beautiful 1918 Maxwell Now On Exhibition

Without altering the world champion motor, the famous perfected clutch and transmission or the mighty axles, the Maxwell builders have produced a new wonder car, far superior in construction and in appearance to anything yet turned out by the Maxwell factories—we have this new and beautiful car—come and see it.

The car is larger and roomier, for one thing—the wheelbase has been increased six inches. It is also a stronger and more rigid machine for the road. The frame is now six inches, instead of three inches deep. And the body rests directly on this powerful frame, instead of on brackets extending from the sides, as in the past. Do you know what that means? It means "ride." The firmness with which the wheels grip the road and the steadiness of the car at high speed give you a sense of security, such as you have been able to get only in cars shackled with a battery of shock absorbers.

And the Maxwell before was the most economical 5-passenger car in the world. Compensating underslung rear springs—the last word in spring suspension—mark this wonderful Maxwell of 1918. They mean greater comfort—greater economy, by lessening wear and tear on the car.

Maxwell Now Has the Style of the Costliest Cars

The new Maxwell is a car of great beauty. It has a superb windshield and rakish lines never before produced in any car costing less than $1200. Its good looks now equal its proved mechanical efficiency. The new upholstery is richer and gives a new comfort. Inside and out the new 1918 Maxwell is a perfect car. We are proud to sell it. You'll be proud to own one.

This New Car is 50 Pounds Lighter

There's a marvel of engineering for you, friends! The car is made bigger and stronger—and yet actually lighter. This means greater ease and comfort on the road. More than that—it means greater economy.

The "Come to Sunday School Day" is being held on October 4. Each person is earnestly solicited to come to church Sunday and remain for Sunday school. Those who have no prayer meeting, October 12, as the pastor will be in Hastings attending the state convention. Their practice Thursday evening at 7:30. Please be present at that time. During these days of great strain to us, seek the spiritual forces and virtues of life. There is not place that we can receive as much inspiration and assistance upon the worship of God. If you are a stranger in the city over Sunday, don't fail to come to the church of the glad hand.

Presbyterian Church. (Rev. S. A. Cross, Pastor.) The Ladies Aid society and the Missionary society both held very successful meetings this week. The work of both organizations is progressing nicely. It was pleasantly surprised on last Sunday evening when two auto loads of Endeavorers from the Wakefield society came driving in just in time for the evening meeting. Our young folks plan to return the compliment. "Love and Service" will be the theme of the sermon at the morning worship next Sunday. All are cordially invited to worship with us. The length of the service will be just sixty seconds in duration and closes at 11:30. The suggestion is that everyone be on time at 10:30 sharp.

The earlier four works well for the Y. P. S. C. R. and the evening services. The young peoples work is being done in a very efficient way. The members of the society are always glad to have anyone who will visit the meetings and take part in them. Plan to come next Sunday evening, you will have a hearty welcome and be privileged to spend a pleasant and profitable hour.

FIRST FROST OF SEASON

Mercury Drops Below Freezing and Vegetation Suffers. A real killing frost came along Sunday night and vegetation was nipped. Most of the corn crop was out of danger, but the comparatively little which fell short of ripeness probably will be segregative and fed early. Sunday night's frost was the first one of the season that prostrated vegetation.

Norfolk Daily News, October 8: A killing frost was experienced all over north Nebraska and South Dakota Sunday night. The official thermometer in Norfolk showed that the lowest temperature during the night was 17 degrees above. One-third of an inch of ice was reported by several Norfolk people. Radiators in automobiles were frozen and City Engineer Tracy announced that the radiator of the work truck at the city hall had burst. Water Commissioner Huchner was called to Seventh street where it was thought that a water pipe had frozen and had caused a leak. All over this territory farmers apparently welcomed the freeze, declaring that it would be of benefit to the corn, most of which had been out of danger of heavy frost some time ago.

The cold weather brought additional coal orders to local dealers Monday morning. Many persons have been waiting for the government to regulate retail coal prices and the cold weather caught many of them with empty bins. Heavier underwears was sought and overcoats were noticeable on Norfolk avenue during the early morning. A warm sun was shining over most of the territory Monday morning.

Frost Covers State. Omaha, Oct. 8.—A killing frost occurred last night all over the state of Nebraska. The mercury registered 28 above zero at Omaha early today. Most of the corn in the state was out of danger and the frost will really benefit it, according to authorities.

Other temperatures in this section as announced by the weather bureau were: Lincoln 23, Valentine 20, North Platte 24, Sioux City 22, Des Moines 28 and Davenport 14.—28.

INDICTED. Hartington News: John Donner, Crofton drayman, has been indicted by the federal grand jury on a charge of threatening the life of President Wilson. Donner was arrested some time ago and given a preliminary hearing. The evidence was taken by the grand jury which brought the indictment. Donner will probably be tried in Omaha in November.

Harry Zick, the "blooming eye doctor" was indicted the same jury on a charge of sending non-mailable matter through the mails. Zick, who was born in Germany, has confessed to sending unsigned letters to E. Editor Neuhart of the Bloomfield Monitor, threatening him with the loss of advertising and subscriptions if he persisted in favoring the American cause in the present war. Hoping to escape the consequences of his acts, Zick made a public confession and signed apology. He unfortunately used the expression "we Germans" in it in such a manner as to indicate that he was loyal to Germany first. The indictment was found after his statement was published.

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS. Some people make one more tired than hard work.

If more people took exercise, fewer would take medicine.

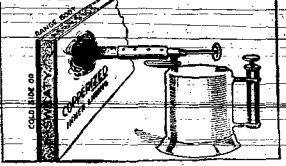

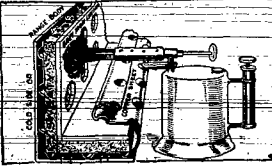

Most people postpone repentance until they are found out.

Another trouble with a drunk man is the fact he doesn't care who knows it.

It is usually easier to mobilize a poker party than a committee meeting.

When a man gets up a party, the refreshments include something to eat.

MAKING THE ASBESTOS SWEAT

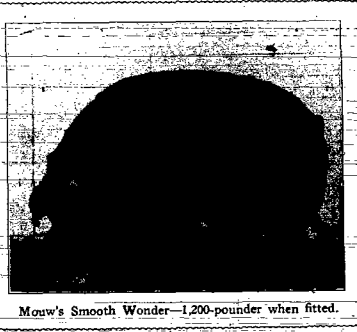

The 4-Ply Copper-Clad Range Wall. Heating the asbestos with a blow torch, as illustrated, or with a spirit lamp, or with a fire in the range, the moisture in the asbestos is driven out and to the cold side where it condenses on the sheet of copper. But for the sheet of copper it would condense on the range body which would rust out in a short time. This sheet of copper never rusts and keeps the moisture from the range body. Internal rust was never heard of in a Copper-Clad range because of the sheet of copper and the dry air space.

A 3-Ply Imitation. The sweaty nature of the asbestos is concealed in the above construction, so the inner lining next to the fire is plated with copper. Some use aluminum lining. If this were solid copper or solid aluminum a foot thick it could do no good, because on the wrong side of the asbestos. Notice that this copper plated inner wall simply clamps the asbestos tight against the outer casing or range body. The moisture in the asbestos always goes to the cold side against the range body where it starts rust from the inside. You don't even suspect it until you see the rust coming through; then it is too late. To put so-called rust proofing on the inside next to the fire is like climbing on top of the roof to get out of the rain.

CARHART HARDWARE

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS. Some men haven't much discrimination in color-outher. and plenty of opportunities for vamping. There is too much competition for the long distance talking record. V. L. Davison will offer a lot of fine Durac Jersey boars at public sale in the Wayne live stock pavilion Saturday, October 27.

RICH TREAT AT CRYSTAL

"Polly-of-the-Circus" Makes Hit with Large Wayne Audiences.
Manager M. B. Nielson of the Crystal theater scored another major hit in "Polly of the Circus," shown on the screen here before crowded houses last Thursday night. The big circus with its performing people and animals, was realistic, and around Polly and the good-hearted preacher an interesting plot had been woven. The long-faced

The Best Husking Mittens Made

We have for years handled the Husking Mittens and Gloves made by Young Bros. of Shenandoah, Iowa, and have found they have given better satisfaction than any other mittens that we have ever sold. They are made by lock-stitch machines and better sewn, and fit better than other mittens. They have a PATENT THUMB that makes them wear better. We bought these before the advance in cotton and are giving the early buyer benefit of same. Remember our mittens are the cheapest in the long run—QUALITY Counts.

GAMBLE & SENTER

disturbances in the church gave a touch of comedy that was thoroughly enjoyed.
Polly was a terrific rider. She got hurt and was taken to the minister's house over the protest of pretentious parishioners. On the recovery of the girl, the preacher found himself in love with her. Notwithstanding the objections of designing church members, the two were finally married.
The horseshoe was so exciting that the crowd burst into cries for "another contest."
The reel was very exciting and was one of many treats furnished the people of Wayne by the enterprising manager.

Beautiful 1918 Maxwell Now On Exhibition

Without altering the world champion motor, the famous perfected clutch and transmission or the mighty axles, the Maxwell builders have produced a new wonder car, far superior in construction and in appearance to anything yet turned out by the Maxwell factories—we have this new and beautiful car—come and see it.

The car is larger and roomier; for one thing—the wheelbase has been increased six inches. It is also a stronger and more rigid machine for the road.
The frame is now six inches, instead of three inches deep.
And the body seats directly on this powerful frame, instead of on brackets extending from the sides, as in the past.
Do you know what that means?
It means firmness. The firmness with which the wheels grip the road and the steadiness of the car at high speed give you a sense of security such as you have been able to enjoy before only in cars shackled with a battery of shock absorbers.

This New Car is 50 Pounds Lighter

There's a marvel of engineering for you, friends! The car is made bigger and stronger—and yet actually lighter.
This means greater ease and comfort on the road. More than that—it means greater economy.

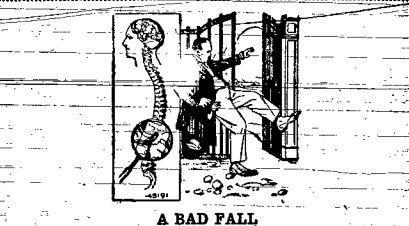

And the Maxwell before was the most economical 5-passenger car in the world. Compensating undertong rear springs—the last word in spring suspension—mark this wonderful Maxwell of 1918.
They mean greater comfort—greater economy, by lessening wear and tear on the car.

Maxwell Now Has the Style of the Costliest Cars

The new Maxwell is a car of great beauty. It has a sloped windshield and rakish lines never before produced in any car costing less than $1000.
Its good looks now equal its proved mechanical efficiency.
The upholstery is richer and gives a new comfort.
Inside and out the new 1918 Maxwell is a perfected car.
We're proud to sell it.
You'll be proud to own one.

Touring Car $745; Roadster $745; Coupe $1095; Berline $1095; Sedan $1095.

CHURCH CALENDAR

German Lutheran Church. (Rev. R. M. Gehring, Pastor). Sunday school next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Regular morning services at 11 o'clock. The pastor will preach in the afternoon at 3 o'clock in Winside. The members are urged to remember the needy during the following services.

St. Paul's English Lutheran Church. (Rev. J. H. Fetterolf, Pastor). The pastor will be absent over Sunday attending the sessions of synod. There will be no preaching services. The Sunday school and Luther league will hold regular meetings at the usual hours: Sunday school at 10 a. m. and meeting at 6:45 p. m.

First Methodist Episcopal Church. (Rev. D. W. MacGregor, Pastor). Sunday services in the morning as follows: Sunday school 10 a. m.; Come to Sunday school, subject: Returning from Captivity. The pastor will preach both morning and evening. Morning subject: "The Kingdom Come." Evening: "The Gospel of God."

We have organized our Epworth league with the following officers: President, Helen Main; first vice president, Frances Oman; second vice president, Marion Gaudin; third vice president, Ina Bryant; fourth vice president, Martha Crockett; treasurer, Frank Roe; secretary, Blanche Capiner; pianist, A. MacGregor. The league will meet each Sunday evening at 6:30.

The Intermediate Epworth league has also elected officers and will meet in the ladies' parlor each Sunday evening at 6:30.

We extend a cordial invitation to the citizens of Wayne to attend our services, who do not attend other churches. The Epworth league will give a fall/even social at the church Friday evening at 7:30.

Epworth Church. (Rev. J. J. Jorden, Pastor). Prof. D. E. Bowen of the State Normal school will speak at the 11:45 a. m. church next Sunday evening service. Sunday school as usual at 11:30. There is a campaign on now in the Sunday schools of the city to increase the attendance. This does not close until November 4. "Come to Sunday School Day" is state and continent wide. Each person is earnestly solicited to come to church Sunday and remain for Sunday school.

B. V. P. U. at 6:30. The topic is: What is Committed to You? 2 Tim. 1:1-14. The leader is Miss Hazel Norton. There is always a certain "home" found in these meetings of the society. Especially are the students of the Normal and strangers invited to be present next Sunday evening. Special music at this service.

These will be prayer meetings October 17, as the pastor will be in Hastings attending the state convention. There are no practice Thursdays at 7:30. Please be present at that time.

During these days of great strain we seek the "primitif" more and more. There is not place that we can receive as much inspiration as in attendance upon the worship of God. If you are a stranger in the city over Sunday, don't fail to come to the church of the old hand.

Presbyterian Church. (Rev. S. X. Cross, Pastor). The Ladies Aid society and the Missionary society both held very successful meetings this week. The work of both organizations is progressing nicely.

Surprised on last Sunday evening when two auto loads of Endeavorers from the Wakefield society, came driving in just in time for the evening meeting. Our young folks plan to return the compliment. "Love and Service" will be the theme of the sermon at the morning worship next Sunday. All are cordially invited to worship with us. The sixty seconds in duration and closes at 11:30. The suggestion is that everyone be on time at 10:30 sharp.

The earlier hour works well for the Y. P. S. C. B. and the evening services. The young peoples work is being done in a very efficient way by the members of the society. All ways plan to have their friends visit the meetings and take part in them. Plan to come next Sunday evening—yourself and a friend. We are and be privileged to spend a pleasant and profitable hour.

Our very best preparation is put upon the plans for the Sunday evening services. There will be a good music program next Sunday evening under the direction of Mrs. Horace Theobald, organist and chorister. The subject of the evening sermon will be "Abandon Work." We will not attend those evening meetings. Plan to be present next Sunday evening.

FIRST FROST OF SEASON Mercury Drops Below Freezing and Vegetation Suffers. A real killing frost came along Sunday night and vegetation was killed. Most of the corn crop was in danger, but the comparatively little which fell short of proper maturity will be segregated and fed early. Sunday night's frost was the first one of the season that produced vegetation.

Norfolk Daily News, October 8: A killing frost was experienced all over Norfolk and South District Sunday night and Monday morning. The official thermometer in Norfolk showed that the lowest temperature during the night was 12 degrees above. One third of an inch of ice was reported by several Norfolk people. Radiators in automobiles were frozen and City Engineer Tracy announced that the radiator of the worst case in the city had burst. Water Commissioner Huebner was called to Seventh street where it was thought that a water pipe had frozen and had burst. All over this territory low temperature were reported, but farmers apparently welcomed the freeze, declaring that it would be of benefit to the corn, most of which had been out of danger of heavy frost some time ago.

The cold weather brought additional coal orders to local dealers Monday morning. Many persons have been waiting for the government to regulate retail coal prices and the cold weather caught many of them with empty bins. Heavier underwear was sought and overcoats were noticeable on Norfolk avenue during the early morning. A warm sun was shining over most of the territory Monday morning.

Frost Covers State. Omaha, Oct. 8.—A killing frost occurred last night all over the state of Nebraska. The mercury registered 28 above zero at Omaha early today. Most of the corn in the state was out of danger and the frost will really benefit it, according to authorities.

Other temperatures in this section as announced by the weather bureau were: Lincoln 28, Valentine 26, North Platte 24, Sioux City 22, Des Moines 28 and Davenport, Ia. 28.

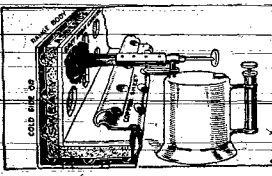

INDICTED. Hartington News: John Donner, Crofton drayman, has been indicted by the federal grand jury on a charge of threatening the life of President Wilson. Donner was arrested some time ago and given a preliminary hearing. The evidence was then presented to the federal grand jury which brought the indictment. Donner will probably be tried in Omaha in November.

Harry Zick, the Bloomfield eye doctor, was indicted by the same jury on a charge of sending non-mailable matter through the mails. Zick, who was born in Germany, has confessed to sending unsigned letters to Editor Needham of the Bloomfield Monitor, threatening him with the loss of advertising and subscriptions if he persisted in publishing the interesting news in the present war. Hoping to escape the consequences of his acts, Zick made a public confession and signed apology. He unfortunately used the address of the Crofton in it in such a manner as to indicate that he was loyal to Germany first. The indictment was found after his statement was published.

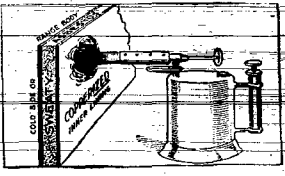

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS. Some people make one more tired than hard work. If more people took exercise, fewer would take medicine. Most people postpone repentance until they are found out.

Another trouble with a drunk man is the fact he doesn't care who knows it. It is usually easier to mobilize a poker party than a committee meeting. When a man gets up a party, the refreshments include something to eat.

MAKING THE ASBESTOS SWEAT

The 4-Ply Copper-Clad Range Wall

A 3-Ply Imitation

Heating the asbestos with a blow torch, as illustrated, or with a spirit lamp or with a fire in the range, the moisture in the asbestos is driven out and to the cold side where it condenses on the sheet of copper. But for the sheet of copper it would condense on the range body which would rust. The 4-ply wall, with its extra sheet of copper never rusts and keeps the moisture from the range body. Internal rust was never heard of in a Copper-Clad range because of this sheet of copper and the dry air space.

The sweet nature of the asbestos is concealed in the above construction, so the inner lining next to the fire is plated with copper. Some use aluminum plating. If this were solid copper or solid aluminum a foot thick it could do no good because on the wrong side of the asbestos. Notice that this copper plated inner wall simply stamps the asbestos tight against the outer casing or range body. The moisture in the asbestos always goes to the cold side against the range body where it starts rust from the inside. You don't even suspect it until you see the rust coming through; then it is too late. To put so-called rust proofing on the inside next to the fire is like climbing on top of the roof to get rid of the rain.

CARHART HARDWARE

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS. Some men haven't much interest in or value either. As a general rule, the vampire can't see the long distance talking record. and plenty of opportunities for jumping. There is too much competition for the long distance talking record. V. L. Dayton will offer a lot of fine Burce Jersey boars at public sale in the Wayne live stock pavilion Saturday, October 27.

I pledge allegiance to my flag, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with Liberty and Justice to all.

The campaign for sale of the second issue of Liberty loan bonds is now on, and it is the duty of American people to meet the demand with interest of speedy and decisive action. The United States is back of the bonds. Every piece of property, real or personal in the United States, helps guarantee payment of the bonds. If the United States stands the bonds are good. If the United States fails, no man's property is safe. If the United States fails, every property owner might as well forget his proprietorship and jump into a lake! Conquest by the Prussian machine would put us all out of business. The way to safeguard private interests is to safeguard the hand of the United States in protecting democracy. One important way to aid the government is to buy Liberty bonds. Money needed as a force to pull the teeth of autocracy and insure freedom and independence. Let the farmers of Wayne county who are reaping big reward for the year's endeavor, let a share of surplus wealth to the government through the purchase of Liberty bonds, and thus help insure liberty of property, liberty of opportunity, liberty of life.

We have noticed mention of the "town herder" in early day reports recently. The "town herder" was an important individual in the evolution of every town in the early days. Nearly every family kept a cow, and in the summer it was the duty of the herder to gather up the town cows and drive them off to the hills to graze during the day. In the evening he would drive the herd back to town and the animals would seek their respective barnyards. The herder had a trumpet which he would blow to urge on the band of animals, and he was also usually equipped with a pair of leaden shoes which he frequently let loose in more or less polite fashion. In the course of settlement and growth, the "town herder" disappeared. Now the comparatively few people who keep cows, have private pastures for use in summer. It is costly to keep cows in town, and not many do it.

The staunch, unwavering and unquenching support of the government's war policy by Root, Roosevelt and Taft, contrasts sharply with the knocking that has been done by La Follette. La Follette was always a knacker. He always had an irrefragable passion to wag his jaws and bombard any existing condition. He is strong as a windjammer, and yet he is so weak that his contrary attitude, though harmless during peace, is seriously objectionable during war. When the nation's future is at stake it is no time to use the hammer and throw obstacles in the way of national triumph.

It seems odd to control food consumption in a country so wonderful, so prosperous and productive, but it is made necessary by the world war in which we are engaged. In the midst of plenty, we must understand that the burden of supporting our troops is not borne evenly little and that the burden of support for the armies of the allies rests upon the United States and Canada. The American farmer, properly fed, and the task of supplying local and foreign demands makes it necessary to exercise utmost economy and careful distribution.

The Bloomfield fire department bought a new siren whistle and as a test had it turned loose at three o'clock in the morning. People had not been informed of the intended test, and the consequence resulted out in the belief that a conflagration was raging. Many of the citizens naturally thought it was a bone-headed performance at the hour mentioned, and were powerfully indignant.

We know a couple of lady school teachers of Wayne county who have supported the government's war policy and propose to pick corn Saturdays. At prevailing wages, they are certain to be able to pick enough to amply justify their time. In addition, their experience in the field will prove healthful. Any one with idle time may well devote it to work in the corn field.

It is reported that women stood in line all night at Chicago to get seats at the big ball game. It is unfortunate in these strenuous times that people have the inclination to so waste energy. They had a device their sportsmen to Red Cross work or other endeavor to help meet the serious war problem.

Wayne people are getting into the habit of Hooverizing by cutting out the use of wheat on Tuesdays and meat on Fridays. The policy is general and it is believed it will be of important aid in the conservation of food.

The advisability of discontinuing athletics in the State Normal and high school this year and employing such energy in picking corn has been suggested.

TWO TRAGEDIES

Henry Watterson's Courier-Journal: Timothy's dictum that the love of money is the root of all evil finds constant and varied illustration in the published reports of crime, and yet the Mayo brothers have just given their lifetime earnings and savings—amounting to more than a million dollars—to a public charity. Flatly contradicting Pope's rendering of the Horace's dictum, place and wealth—if possible, with grace.

It may by any means, get wealthy and place.

The world scarcely grows wiser as it grows older. Or, shall we say that crime is but a form of insanity.

At the moment two startling cases stand out of the line of the criminal commonplace—the speculations of Martindale, late president of the Chemical National bank of New York city; and the looting of the estate and probable murder of Mrs. King, a rich Chicago widow, in North Carolina.

In each instance truth seems stranger than fiction. We need not name ever needs or go to the movies for tragic diversion. The daily press abounds with it. That is why there is such a dearth in the book trade. People are reading the newspapers. After a while they will only read the scare-heads.

Martindale was the son of a clergyman. Whilst a lad he entered a great financial institution and rose to be its head. He was happily married. He led a decorous—apparently a rigorous—life. He did not gamble. But in time his wife discovered that he was maintaining another woman in defiant luxury, and without duty or ado, left him, taking her two daughters with her. He consolidated the assets, and received thousands of dollars a year to the support of the family thus alienated and betook himself to a splendid apartment in a fashionable hotel, where he gave costly entertainments—mostly suppers.

He was still comparatively a young man. So he must have been squandering nature as well as riches; for presently he fell ill and died—happy at least in death—since, there being no one to take care of the guilty secret he had labored so hard to guard, it came at once to light that this respectable "master of finance"—this "apparently prudent money king"—had been for several years a thief, expending annually in illicit ways hundreds of thousands of stolen money, although he had an ample income honestly by his own. Somehow, women and wives are never content with a reasonable sufficiency. They always run to excess.

Martindale was Brooklyn born. New York gave him his fiscal abode, and he knew Wall street through and through. It was not the lure of money for wealth and place that lured him low. Greed for greed's sake, he was not. He was a man of excessive fancy and vulgar desire. Such men become the easy dupes of professional scyres. He knew all along that exposure and disgrace were but questions of time. But though his opportunity to make good his embezzlements must have been many and ready to his hands, he was unable to do so. He was coup them, sinking under the spell of lust, that was upon, into his grave.

The stock exchange for a moment takes notice of a delinquent, and then goes on with its heartless trade. In the cabarets uptown there are some quizzing and heaps of buzzing. Out in the silent country, the scyres are laughing and are ashamed. But dead men who tell no tales make no scandals. The yellow journals, cheated of their prey, turn to the next sensation, which being the King case happens to suffice, having plenty of clues and possibilities, with no end of the tragic and salacious. Indeed, the influence of the exposure is so great that strong enough to make them quick reports, all, all is over.

"Hush up" in the Martindale case, to call it a closed incident and even to whitewash Martindale.

The country girl who comes by marriage or inheritance into a pot of money, has been the heroine of many a drama in real life and on the stage. She is, as a rule, simple-minded and unworldly. Thus, Maude Robinson of an Illinois village, who married old man King, the multi-millionaire, of Chicago. He, dying at the opportune moment, what does she do but go to Paris? It is usually so.

She seems to have been a good girl. "There was nothing transcendental about her," says one of her intimates. She acquired the marrying habit—needed someone to lean on—was not wanton, only gay, frivolous and unsuspecting.

In Paris she falls in with an American dentist. Sure, then, yielding only fifty thousands or so of old man King's money, she falls out again, and, not finding the capital of gilded wickedness in France all her fancy had painted, she returns to the more prosaic United States and seeks the trick of enjoyment alternately in the rather tough city by the lake and the unfailing mise-en-scenes of the great white way.

Floody of excitement, Dick Carr's. The bottomless hickety-top by day, the haunted flat by night; never a stroke of fortune—the lucky tip never coming her way. "Why should I gamble?" she is reported to have said. "I have money enough." But, like the lady who "whispering she would never consent, consented" she went on backing the elusive ponies of Belmont Park and Sheepshead Bay, the mystic wiles of Wall street and the pentecostal romances of the palatial apartment in Madison avenue, who were systematically robbing her.

There was no resisting the leeches that fastened upon her. Women like her seem born to be victims. She contemplates another marriage—Poor simp! The money of old King—the stocks and bonds—the first funds—continue to pour like water; the tank getting lower and lower; the claims piling up and higher. The consistent and another intriguing proves the signal for the end. A husband might prove dangerous. Something drastic—immediate—must be done. And then—how easy—little more to tie the champagne journey—the tonely dell—the pistol flash—the quick report—all, all is over.

Far away, down there in a thickel of the old far state, there all that remains of pretty Maude Robinson, the country girl of Illinois, who, having married King, the capitalist, to become rich widow, thought she was trying to be happy.

She had better gone to Minnesota and given her money to the Mayos, and hid her back to France in the blessed Red Cross service!

THE FIELD OF BUSINESS.
 Sioux City Journal: A general improvement in business conditions, due in part to normal fall demand to agricultural prosperity and to the ending of legislative uncertainty, was noted in most parts of the United States during the last week. Commercial reports indicated that agricultural communities were busy and active. Increase of government contracts and scarcity of materials in some lines were other encouraging features. Money rates were easier than during the previous week. There was no noticeable abatement of the retail business, but this spirit was not seriously depressing. Violent mills were swamped with orders. Steel plants and shipbuilding establishments were similarly overworked. Congress, resting to adjournment of the special session, but through the $11,000,000,000 war credits bill, the $8,000,000,000 urgent deficiency bill and the $2,500,000,000 war tax bill. The governmental insurance system for soldiers and sailors was approved. The regulatory activities of the government were directed largely upon the coal situation, announcement being made that holders' profits had been fixed on the basis of 1915 returns, that year being regarded as close to normal. The retailer's gross margin allowable under the administrator's ruling is 30 per cent in excess of the 1915 gross margin, but in no case shall prices exceed the July, 1917, figure. The 30 per cent advance over 1915 figures was allowed to cover the increase in costs since that time. All coal shipments to Canada from Great Lakes ports were stopped because of the aggravated shortage in the northwest states. In the financial world the overshadowing event was the opening of the new campaign to float $3,000,000,000 or more of Liberty loan bonds. The last preliminary issue of short time treasury certificates, amounting to $400,000,000, was heavily oversubscribed, and this avidity of buyers was taken to forecast success of the loan drive itself. Secretary McAdoo made plain that the government hopes to obtain subscriptions aggregating $5,000,000,000. If that sum is reached the total allotments of bonds will be about $4,000,000,000. Liberty bonds which were on sale par as the week opened, weakened slightly, but held between 99.72 and 109.10 for the week. Bar silver remained well below the dollar mark. National banks were advised by the government not to increase their interest rates on deposits to prevent a possible tendency of depositors to withdraw their funds for investment in Liberty bonds. Call money ranged between 3 per cent and 6 per cent. Time loans were high at 6 per cent and held close to that figure throughout the week. The demands of coal miners for substantial wage increases were met with compromise grants by the operators; the increases being contingent upon permission of the government to pass the additional cost on to the public. Anxiety of the administration over the so-called labor unrest led to consideration of plans for dealing with the situation as a whole. A study of labor conditions is to be made, and a system aimed to that employed in Great Britain to footing as they arise is likely to be adopted. Fixation of oil prices for the benefit of government and private consumers alike was announced as a coming development. Railroads were notified that before applications for increased rates are allowed hereafter the applications will be referred to a shipping commission. Revenues of fifty leasing railroads during August increased $16,000,000 for the amount was absorbed by an even greater increase in operating expense. American foreign trade in August increased $160,000,000 over July, nearly all of the gain being in exports. Rail shares during the week suffered under steady pressure, with an upturn of some proportions as the week ended. The British victory in Belgium was a helpful factor. It was the general belief that most of the antidumping that gave the bears their advantage was by foreign investors. Corn fluctuated in response to reports of frost, a somewhat reduced demand for heavy demand. No. 2 White was highest at $2.05. A business in the estimated cotton crop, due to the full weevil and worms, brought a jump of 28 a bale. The country's cotton output for 1917 is estimated at something over 12,000,000 bales of 500 pounds.

A CALLED MEETING.
 The Wayne County Pure Bred Stock Breeder's Association will hold a business meeting Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the city hall. All members are urged to be present to attend to important business.

THE MODEST COAL MEN.
 Bixby in Lincoln Journal: Not so long ago the great common consumers of this locality were scared stiff by the local argument that high coal prices were due to lessening production and a heavier demand for its use—a combination hard to beat. "The Black Diamond" for thirty years the leading coal trade journal of the United States speaks bitterly of government regulation of prices, and goes on to say: "The information is quite comprehensive—no coal man has even so much as intimated that he wants any more money this year than he considers to be due him in normal times. And that is enough to keep his business in sound financial condition plus a profit commensurate with his enterprise and risk."

Seems reasonable, doesn't it? "A sound financial condition, plus, etc." The ideas of one as to what is commensurate might not be that of another, but so many times in such a controversy as this universal one might create, "all the traffic will bear" is a popular compromise for those who recognize a good thing when they see it. Then this able defender of the trade goes on a bit further to remark: "A few months ago when prices were trending upward we heard almost universal comment against the market tendency. The coal trade was universally against extremely high prices. Coal men stood against them because they knew what the effect would be. They had measured such effects before. They had seen a period of inflated prices would invite many new mining companies into business."

It is hard to make clear why local coal men so determinedly fought down prices last winter selling at thrice at $13.75 when they might have expected $12.00 and more for their extra for delivery. They knew that prices must be kept at bedrock or new mining companies would open up the earth and flood the country with fuel at less than the cost of production. This was a made steam coal so cheap that manufacturers were ashamed to buy it. And semi-anthracite—do you remember how dealers in all the cities—Lincoln among the rest—were almost driven to give away through fear that new mining companies would be tempted to get in and offer a bonus to the user who would take it away by the carload and get it out of their sight. It sounds so good to hear a coal man admit that the trade never could stand for extremely high prices that resist publishing it to the world, with our most profound congratulations to the world thus eloquently appended.

A Queen Of Duty.
 The neatness of her figure was accentuated by a dress of the niceties, and she was crowned with the graceful freedom of an unsplashed piece of the petal when royalty did not wear coronets. She was half a block ahead of me. I first noted her unostentatious staidness, continues a writer in the New York Sun. Perhaps my attention was drawn to her by the admiration of everybody within periscope range, the concentrated worship of the hypnotized multitude impelling me to follow its example. I walked faster and, as the advance was soon a flash of her passed her, and as I did so I fear I violated polite precedents by viewing her ankance. I recognized her instantly. She is my married sister's cook, and, as my brother-in-law has remarked, "She is some cook!"—Detroit Free Press.

Cracked Eggs.
 When an eggshell is cracked, even so slightly that the eye cannot see it, germs and molds find ready entrance into the egg and spoil its contents. Nature has provided the egg with a delicate protective, gelatinous coating, which, as long as it is intact, tends to keep out air and germs. Once this coating is pierced the keeping quality of the egg is lost immediately.

Time after time, sometimes all crowded about her, they applauded her until she had answered their pleas eleven times. The auditorium was crowded to capacity, and more than 1,000 men crowded about her. In one corner of the room, dressed in the garb of a private, was Ferdinand Schumann-Heink, Madame Schumann-Heink's son. He is her boy. He has been among the hundreds of others gathered there, for time after time the sweet singer threw out her arms affectionately and cried, "You are all my boys."

She tried to hide her tears when Madame Schumann-Heink, accompanied by Miss Edith Evans on the piano, sang her favorite "Daddy Boy," an Irish ballad.

Groups of soldiers grouped about the famous singer and grasped her hand and thanked her at the finish of the concert.

COOPER ELLIS WRITES TO HIS WAYNE FRIENDS

Experiences in United States Navy
Located at Mare Island.

Mare Island, Calif., Sept. 30, 1917.
The Wayne Herald, Wayne, Neb.
Dear Mr. Hulse: I have read with interest, practically all the news from Wayne and the Wayne people through your paper so I will give you paper as a means of trying to give the Wayne people a little idea about the everyday life in the United States Navy, especially at Mare Island. Before I enlisted in the service I had a number of different ideas about the ways and life of a sailor, but I find that very few of them were correct.

When Ed Schroer and I first arrived at Mare Island we were met at the dock by a Marine Guard who examined our pass papers and then took us up to the dispensary where we were vaccinated and also given our first "shot" in the arm for typhoid fever. A hammock, a seabag and two blankets were then issued to us and we were sent down to the barracks which they would be our home for the next few days. The first night we spent in our hammocks was one that will long be remembered. In the first place, the effects of the medicine used in the first place, was so bad that I was fighting to make it in the second place, we weren't used to sleeping in anything that was in danger of tipping over at any time. Every once in a while during the night one would hear the clank of some "dry land sailor hitting the deck." One fellow from Texas fell out of his hammock four times the first night. He said "He could not do almost any kind of a bronch, but he had it" if he could find those things.

Our stay on the ship was rather short as they were in getting the new barracks finished and we moved into them the next day.

There are sixteen new barracks here for the sailors and the electricians have them. Each one of the barracks will hold about 600 men. The electrical school is a unit in itself here. There are about 700 in school now and we have our bond certificate course in that the general men go a little deeper into the subjects and it also requires a little longer time to finish their course. Some students finish school in about twenty-six weeks and others in about thirty-two weeks. Theory is studied half of the day and we practice sending and receiving the other half.

The school hours are from 8 to 11:30 a. m. and from 1 to 3:30 p. m. With 15 minutes recess both morning and afternoon. The candy stand located close to the school, sells out nearly its entire stock during one recess period.

We go to bed at 9 and get up at 5:30. Chaw hours are: 7 a. m., 12 noon and 5 p. m. There isn't such a thing as breakfast dinner and supper in the navy. It is always "chow." It takes a person a couple days before he can get all he wants to eat because he has to learn how to ask for what he wants. They have a different name for everything. Bread is "Punk," coffee, "Java," salt, "Lighthouse," pepper "Tender" (to the lighthouse), sugar, "Sand," potatoes, "Spuds," vinegar, "Haitonic." There are several others that I can't think of now and still others that I think of now that would probably be considered by society. When they are "putting" they don't say "Pass the salt" or "Please pass the vinegar," but they say "Down on the Lighthouse" or "Up on the Lighthouse." I have heard them say "The first time I ever heard them I thought it had any two real comedy bear than I ever saw. It just seems natural now. We have fine chow and all we want to eat. They give us pie and cake every day and ice cream on Sundays. Nearly everybody gains between ten and fifteen pounds the first couple months. I have gained about sixteen pounds and Schroer has gained about fourteen pounds.

Mornings before chow and evening after chow are the busiest times of the week. We lay out clothes on our table and wash them with brushes. Most of the fellows go to it just as if they had run a laundry all their lives. The students have to wash every Monday afternoon from about 1:30 to 3:00. It is merely to accustom us to handling a gun and also to learn the different commands.

The barracks are swept out four or five times every day, and Saturday mornings they are scrubbed and cleaned for inspection. They have inspection of some kind every Saturday morning. Sometimes they have bedding inspection, sometimes clothing inspection, sometimes personal inspection, etc. Everything is cleaned up so as to be ready for inspection of any kind. The navy is noted for its cleanliness and the officers sure see that we live up to the standard.

The sailors are well looked after in the way of amusements. There are tennis courts, hand ball courts, baseball grounds and places to play pool. There are also several boxing and boxing contests and Red Cross entertainments. They show two seven-reel moving picture shows here weekly and now the Orpheum circuit shows here twice a week also. As a rule, they have an entertainment in Amusement hall every night.

The electrical students get shore liberty from 9 a. m. Wednesday to 9 a. m. Thursday and from 9 a. m. Saturday to 9 a. m. Monday.

It costs a dollar a round trip to San Francisco and from there a person can go to Alameda, Oakland, Berkeley and all other big cities for 10 cents. The main thing of interest to the sailors at Frisco are The Golden Gate park, Cliff House and the old exposition grounds. There are several interesting places Saturdays and most of them at Alameda. A number of championship races have taken place there lately. Sailors like to see fast swimmers. The University of California is in Berkeley and it has a beautiful campus and many fine buildings. From the buildings you can look right out through the Golden Gate.

The sailors get paid the 5th and 20th of every month so you can imagine the days that most of them go on liberty.

Everything seems interesting to me on the island. What interests me most is the ship building. Any one who has ever seen one of our great battleships can imagine the amount of machinery that is necessary to build one.

There are several things that I would like to know about it wasn't in time of war.

Take it as a whole, I am certainly glad that I chose this branch of service. I am sure that the education I am getting will be of great benefit to me. It is an opportunity for me to see some of the world. It will be a source of interest to me all my life and last, but not least, it is a pleasure to be working for Uncle Sam. Very truly yours, Cooper Ellis.

THE DIXON COUNTY FAIR

North Nebraska. Praised by Representative of Farm Paper.
H. C. McKelvie in the Nebraska Farmer: Adjacent to the thriving little town of Concord, Neb., is the home of the Dixon county fair. This location, in the Logan valley, is a part of one of the greatest agricultural and live stock sections of the corn belt. In years past when I traveled through that part of the state I marveled at the extraordinary crops and the comparative low price of farm land. The awakening has come. The persistent practice of artificial Nebraska to the big crops is known generally and the demand for the farms is keen. Many farms have changed hands at advanced figures two or three times in the past few weeks. The belief is there that if you don't want to sell your farm keep it off the market. I had the honor to act as judge of the stock at the Dixon county fair, and was impressed at the improvement in the live stock exhibit was good. Quite a few good horses, both grades and purebreds, were shown. The feature was the imported "Cretorian" stallion, Starbuck S., an international winner shown by Heiker Bros. He is a top horse of excellent breed, stamp and fine action. Six high grade mares, that were shown at a separate sale and subsequently matched into pairs, made a fine show. Another striking feature was a Kentucky-bred driving mare. Automobiles and birships and pleasure-boating may come and go, but none will ever supplant the dignity or make the bid for human fondness that is expressed by a real, high class, well bred "drain-hoss."

The cattle show was light, but a piece of roan Shorthorn bulls gave it tone. Mr. Carr's Double Dale bred cow in the same stamp as the young herd of similar pedigree that won at Lincoln and he held an advantage in show conditioning. The swine show was very good. The exhibitors presented their entries in good form.

Some especially good pigs were shown in the Chester White and Duroc classes. It looked well to me to see so many people interested in the live stock exhibit. Northeast Nebraska farmers are live stock farmers and much of the country in rolling towns are not numerous and hauling grain a very great distance is wearisome. Also, the land needs the live stock to keep the soil up and the natural result is wealth.

After finishing the judging I took a drive over the hills about twelve miles north of the town of Dixon. It was nearing sundown when we started. The road occasionally wended its way through the hills and the landscape reflected new wonders in corn and forage production. Hundreds of acres of rape are furnishing cheap pasture for all kinds of live stock. The corn yield will be big. There will be a considerable soft-corn area there is a difference in the length of the corn growing season there and in the central and southern part of the state.

The alfalfa hay crop was big this season and oats made record yields. We saw over 4000 bushels of oats on the farm. It is an opportunity for me to see some of the world. It will be a source of interest to me all my life and last, but not least, it is a pleasure to be working for Uncle Sam. Very truly yours, Cooper Ellis.

oats. Automobiles are numerous there. Fair time brings them all out and they are a big asset to country folks who live very far from town. They help to keep up a better community spirit and abet business. As the guest of President Mills and other persons associated with the Dixon county fair, I am indebted for a splendid day and many new acquaintances whom it was a real pleasure to meet. It was the sort of an experience that makes you feel that all the fine folks in the world were attending the county fair.

THE HOME OF MUSIC AND ART

Music's Re-Creation

Every music lover should hear the Edison Diamond Disc Phonograph—not once, but several times. When you are down town stop in and we will be glad to play you any of our many beautiful records.

Edison, Himself

In creating the cabinets for the Edison Diamond Disc, we required our designers to follow classic lines. To the same extent that the superior musical quality of the Edison Diamond Disc appeals to the cultured music sense, we determined that Edison Diamond Disc cabinets should appeal to those who have a cultured knowledge of furniture design.

EDISON DIAMOND DISC RE-CREATION OF MUSIC

These Edison Re-Creations of music differ utterly from talking machine records. Recorded by methods known only to Mr. Edison and his trusted assistants, and made of a material new to chemistry by highly exact laboratory processes, they re-create every tone of the original music, including all of the delicate overtones, or tone colors, which give music its quality and beauty and which are distressingly absent from talking machine records.

Also, since an Edison Diamond Disc Re-Creation of music is capable of containing a musical composition one and one-half times as long as can be recorded on a talking machine record of equal size, Edison Re-Creations open the way to the perfect re-creation of symphonies and other pretentious forms of music, which, on talking machine records, cannot even be attempted.

In strong contrast with talking machine records, Edison Re-Creations are in a practical sense unbreakable, and with proper use can be played indefinitely without diminution of their musical perfection.

Enlist Your Dollars and Stand Back of UNCLE SAM

Buy a Second Liberty Bond. Give Uncle Sam money to carry on his share of the great war for the freedom of the world.

“Shall We Be More Tender With Our Dollars
Than With The Lives of Our Sons?”

---McADOO.

Mr. Roosevelt says:

“The government must have money. It is a patriotic duty to purchase the bonds. And they offer an absolutely safe investment on the best security in the world—that of the United States of the American nation itself. The money cannot be lost unless the United States is destroyed, and in that case we would all be smashed anyhow, so that it would not make any difference.”

Now is the time to give your financial support to the Nation. Remember you got your ALL from the United States and now in the hour of need, YOU are the one to step forward and simply lend, not give; but lend a share of those goods that Uncle Sam has given you.

If the lack of funds ties the hands of the government the supreme sacrifice made by American manhood will be wasted. Money is as necessary as men to hasten the day of peace.

Are you going to buy a bond now? If you have bought one before, buy another! It is of profit to you and your nation.

WAR! WAR! WAR!

And when will it end? As soon as Uncle Sam is given money to carry on his share of the great war for the Freedom of the World.

No matter how small a man's means, he can get some part of a bond if he wishes.

A bond is the direct and unconditional promise of the United States of America to pay upon a certain date a specified sum of money with interest at a specified rate, payable at specific dates until the bond matures or is called for redemption. You gain by the investment for the government will pay you interest at the rate of 4% a year.

In June, 1917, $2,000,000,000 worth of bonds called for by the government were over-subscribed $1,000,000,000. These bonds were at 3 1-2% interest.

The second Liberty Loan offers 4% interest. If the government offers bonds in the future which will pay a higher rate of interest, the holder of a Liberty Bond will have the right to exchange this bond for one bearing a higher rate of interest.

If you can't enlist in the active service stand back of those who are on the firing line fighting for YOU.

WHY Every Farmer Should BUY A Standardized Wagon

It doesn't pay to buy just any kind of a wagon, for unless your wagon is "standardized" you will have all kinds of grief when you come to get repairs or new parts. Today the reliable firms have agreed to make the different parts according to specifications fixed for wagons of various capacities. Thus a standard 4500-lb. capacity wheel would carry a larger load than the ordinary 3 1-4 wheel.

Five Other Reasons Why You Should Buy A Columbus

THE FIFTH WHEEL.	THE FOUR WHEELS.	THE BOX.	THE GEARS.	LITTLE POINTS.
Next to the standardized advantage the Fifth Wheel is the most important feature, unique on the Columbus wagon. This fifth wheel of malleable iron is located between the front axle and the bolster directly back of the tongue. This fifth wheel prevents serious rocking or either the pitch or the bolster.	The timber that enters into the construction of the Columbus wagon wheels is not ordinary wood, but choice pieces thoroughly seasoned and carefully selected. The hub is of inspected oak and strengthened with four steel bands. Automatic machines turn, shape and bore out the center for the skein boxes. The mortises for the spokes are also made by machinery.	The Columbus box is the last word in both material and construction. The wood on the sides is bay poplar and cottonwood. The bottom is long leaf yellow pine, free from knots and windshakes. Oak cross sills strengthen the box. On the front end an extra sill protects the corners and bottom boards from whitewitch.	The Columbus gears are all that they should be—and then more. The hickory axle is reinforced by a steel truss bar along the bottom. Steel clips hold it rigid.	No detail that would add to the service of Columbus wagons has been overlooked. The seat is wide and roomy and comfortable. It is fitted with a high, lazy back and flexible springs.
With just the circle of iron as formerly used the strain would be too heavy at times and the reach would snap. At other times the front bolster would spring up and cause the king pin to break. And the top plates are just enough bigger than the lower ones to prevent dirt from collecting.	Oak and hickory alternate in the spokes. The square shoulders of the spokes set squarely on the hub. The felloes, of straight-grained oak, are shaped and bored for the spokes. When the wheel is finished they fit snugly together. The rim and tires are made with the same care.	The sides are three boards, securely fastened by binder rods. The angle-iron grain cleats make it absolutely grain tight. Because the box on the Columbus is so thoroughly braced and reinforced, it is a particularly good wagon for hauling grain. In actual tests it has been found to carry heavier loads than ordinary wagons.	The bolsters, made of oak, are well ironed. The wood is protected from wear by a steel plate on top of the bolster. A heavy steel strap is securely fastened around the end at the point where the mortise for the stake is cut in the bolster. The extension stake loops and the bolster stakes are of an exclusive pattern. The bounds all around are extra long and placed wide apart on the axle. They are fashioned of extra heavy pieces of straight grained oak.	The tool box, attached to the front end-board, can be locked, and is handy for carrying a rain coat, tools, lunch or parcels.
				The International Folding End-gate divides in the center. The locknut is very easy to operate. The link end rods are so constructed that they can never be lost.
				In fact the Columbus is stronger, heavier and better constructed from every angle. Get wagon satisfaction in a Columbus.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO CITIES

From the Wayne Herald, Oct. 12, 1893:

W. H. Gildersleeve is building an addition to his residence.

A party was given by Mrs. Frank Hood in honor of her birthday.

Mrs. Claus O'Leary died at her home seven miles northeast of Wayne.

Over a hundred tons of hay were burned by a prairie fire near Pierce.

Mrs. R. Perrin was summoned to Hastings, Ia., by the death of her father.

A county Sunday school meeting will be held in the Baptist church Saturday.

Mrs. P. H. Wallace of Sioux City visited with her sister, Mrs. W. H. McNeal, and family.

Blanche, the little daughter of L. E. Hunter, had her collar bone broken while playing.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. are making preparations to give a literary entertainment October 26, 1893.

A pigeon pie social, under the auspices of the Baptist society will be held at the residence of M. N. Conover.

From the Wayne Herald-Tribune, October 8, 1895:

Attorney Frank M. Northrop was a visitor in Ponca last week.

Rev. Mr. Bittenger assisted the past week in the Chicago store.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. George Holstedt, October 5, 1895.

W. H. Shepherd of Cambridge, Ill., was looking after his real estate interests in Wayne.

Harry Wallace is raising Gaertner's furniture store, preparatory to the addition of a second story.

John Hunt of Dakota county recently got a check from the government for $2,400 for back pension.

W. M. Wright moved his real estate office back into his building at the corner of Main and Third streets.

The Citizens bank is now located in its handsome new building.

Not many towns four years old can boast of such a bank building.

The Presbytery of Niobrara met in Wayne from Tuesday until Thursday. A discussion of the liquor traffic was the main consideration. The visitors were entertained by the townspeople and all reported pleasant meetings.

A boy who was herding cattle on the Shields ranch set fire to the prairie last week and nearly caused some serious damage. The fire reached several haystacks belonging to Matthew Harvan and burned forty tons. The barns and buildings on John Benning's farm would have been destroyed but for the vigorous exertions of J. R. McIntosh who managed to save them. Mr. Benning and family were away at the time.

From the Ponca Journal, October 10, 1878:

On Tuesday there was a regular old-fashioned fog, such as they have every few days in the eastern country. It was sad and melancholy-toned pervaded the atmosphere—a dim and uncertain vista was presented and the cold wind indicated that gray-bearded Jack Frost was almost ready to strike his scythe over us.

It is stated upon good authority that a new party is to be organized in this county for the coming campaign, composed of the National Greenback element, which is quite strong in the vicinity. We also understand that a call for a convention to be held one week from next Saturday, will soon be made.

The prairie fire at Springbank on Thursday last week burned six acres of trees for Mr. Isham, sixty tons of hay for Mr. Jamison, and did a large amount of damage to other property. It is said the fire was set by a man named Wheeler, who has agreed to pay the damage sustained by Jamison.

Up the river, about nine miles above Ponca Landing, in a bayou leading off to the right, a singular phenomenon is said to be taking place. An immense mound of earth, four or five feet across, appears to be forming itself in the middle of the bayou. From the middle of the mound issues a thin column of steam and smoke. That is a volcanic formation cannot be doubted, and it is understood that Mr. McElynn, who has been residing about three miles below the Texas Landing on the Dakota side, recently while fishing in the river, caught a fish weighing 23 pounds, it being twelve feet, five inches long. It was what is called the black or variegated catfish. This was the largest fish we have heard of as being taken from the Missouri. At the place where he captured this marine monster, he saw two other piscatorial mammoths of the same species sporting around one of which was much larger than the one he caught.

terialism at its peak. There was power, flexibility and a remarkable lack of reaction. There were numbers, a well thought out design and preparedness. There was an overbearing sense of superiority, an unprecedented contempt for restraint.

In the execution of its plan, the German machine could hardly be said to be unscrupulous because it simply did not recognize scruple. Material efficiency in science, in trading and the paraphernalia of war itself were assembled under one emblem. Mankind had never seen the like. Naturally mankind was appalled and fearful. The shock came. Efficiency, having become a cult, had set about the extirpation of inefficiency, which it considered a crime. An inefficiency presumptuously resisted.

Three years and more have passed since then. Great tactical victories have been won by Germany. The strategic conquest of middle Europe has been accomplished. In summing up, Germany has been solidified and made inviolable. Preparedness has been held up by determination, though at an awful cost. Intrigue has been the chief recipe for doing things exposed and nullified and in that its very existence has shown the fundamental failure of arms. Germany's victorious would have no need of intrigue.

Military efficiency has proved insufficient to subdue the love of liberty in people's hearts. Thereby it has failed for the first essential of efficiency is to judge wisely what can be assimilated and what is unassimilable. Diplomatic efficiency has failed, too. It has made tenacious fastening friends. In summing up, at complete efficiency, Germany has become only thoroughly destructive.

The old notion that the German machine was the best organized possessed of the finest steel, is being abandoned. It is being cast aside as a myth. The fact is that German autocracy and the sort of thing it stands for, contain much of the essence of inefficiency. But they contain also all the weaknesses of efficiency. No permanent human structure can be founded on a theory that omits humanity. Despotism, untidy and slow moving, and sometimes even timid, has more of ultimate efficiency in its makeup than despotism.

If during the last three years one has felt it necessary to doubt that it is merely necessary to trace the history of civilization from its earliest beginning to now. German's is the biological theory. The survival of the fittest is her dogma. But the lessons of democratic survival through the ages had been wholly lost upon her.

Have Your Hogs Vaccinated

YOU cannot afford to run the risk of losing your high priced hogs through failure to have them properly vaccinated. Breeders realize more and more the importance of saving every hog, thus insuring the pork supply and contributing to the wealth of the country.

I HAVE been busy administering this safeguard against disease, and I will attend to all orders promptly, insuring best results. Every herd should be vaccinated.
