PLEA FOR MORE CHICKENS!

Increased Poultry Production Urged in Interest of War.

E. E. Richards, president American Poultry association: We are going to win this war. It is going to cost our treasury billions of dollars besides the lives of hundreds of thousands of our bright young manhood, but we shall win. To the quick and with the least loss of lives we must provide the food for as Napoleon said: "An army marches on its stomach." This army marches on its stomach. We are determined to reach its greatest efficiency. In the war times that are passed, an army could largely subsist upon the country through which it passed, but there is nothing upon the country through which modern armies are passing. There is no living upon the Greek or Balkan states as in Salonica, so that all the food supply is one of this war's greatest necessities. The greater part of the food supply must come from the United States and our land.

More and more boys in the army and navy, but we shall have to feed our people at home, and must also supply the allies who are fighting the world's greatest battles, and the food of Mr. Herbert Hoover, the nation's food administrator, asks for more poultry, chickens, turkeys, ducks, and geese. Mr. Hoover pleads as follows:

"To the American Poultry association and producers of poultry and eggs in the United States: We are short of our meat. Our soldiers and our allies require more than ever before. We are advocating in every household, every hotel and restaurant in this country the substitution of poultry for beef, pork, and mutton. While we want to increase in all the latter, we must have a quick response in poultry and poultry products. There is a great waste of poultry feeds from every household and every farm. It requires little labor to cannot the poultry raisers of the country help us by providing the increased supply we need?—Herbert Hoover."

What can you do to help in this war-wide meat emergency? Every farmer can raise more and better poultry and do it far more profitably by disposing of all surplus males, by keeping only the yearling hens, and the best and best mated pullets, thus keeping no dead heads or "stackers" to consume what should go to the profitable producers. It is a crime to dispose of a laying hen or a pullet that is just about to lay. Keep the hen house neat and clean. Repair the roof, the windows, and stop any dirt drafts that are possible by loose holes or cracks, so much glass and not enough open front is bad. Write your state experiment station for needed information. Every state in the union except Florida and Wyoming, maintain poultry departments, which are pleased to aid the home folks with their poultry problems.

Poultry is profitable. No source of meat supply is as rapid or as cheap. Every pound of poultry produced will help in sending a pound of meat across to the boys that are fighting your battles. Every farm should have a carefully culled flock of not less than two hundred fowls. The larger the farm, the larger the flock, and such a flock should be maintained largely from economical reasons. The farmer will pick up ninety per cent of its living from scattered and wasted grains. They act as scavengers in consuming a large part of what would otherwise be lost. Poultry will prove valuable in eating obnoxious bugs, grasshoppers, worms and insect pests that would otherwise destroy food that is valuable. To the dweller in a village town or city, a well kept flock of dozen or twenty-five good laying hens will prove profitable. They can be kept from the lawn, garden, and the kitchen, and all of which makes the choicest kind of poultry feed with but a small addition of grain.

During this next year every effort should be made to raise and consume every pound of poultry flesh possible. It is one of the easiest and quickest ways of helping to increase food production, and that is what every patriotic citizen must do to help his country during the period of the war. Every pound of meat produced will help put a bullet in the Kaiser. Do your part.

AN APPALLING STORY.

London, Nov. 6.—By Canadian Press: An appalling story of cold blooded massacres by Germans of crews of British North sea convoys in a recent battle, is told by the Norwegian newspapers. The Tidenestings said the German cruisers were observed at 6 o'clock in the morning and were thought to be British but at 7 o'clock when there was more light, they suddenly began shooting and the convoy was terrified to see the British destroyer at the stern of the convoy begin to sink, although it fought to the end. The German cruisers, after signalling the vessels to stop advanced on each side of the convoy, which they swept with all their guns at a range of less than 200 yards.

Shelled the Life Boats.

The German destroyers came up and helped to spread death and destruction on the defenseless ships, shells falling thick and fast. The Germans were not content to sink the ships, but shelled the lifeboats and every living thing coming their way was mercilessly slaughtered. The survivors owed their lives to the high sea which was making the boats difficult marks.

17 Killed in Life Boat.

One shell went through the Swedish ship Wings exploding in the life boat on the other side and killing all its occupants, fourteen men and three women.

The other life boat towed back to rescue the captain and two waitresses from the wreck. A shell struck the boat and killed five of her occupants, only the mate escaping by swimming.

The Winkler was a mass of flames and the two girls jumped into the sea. The captain was saved by clinging to wreckage. As the two young women were sinking in the English ship, the white boat of the answer of the Germans was a shot which killed both girls.

GREAT DRIVE FOR ARMY Y. M. C. A.

$35,000,000 needed in United States. $2,000,000 in Nebraska. $2,000 in Wayne county. WHITE drive starts every Sunday, November 11 and ends November 18. What will you do? Will you help or will you be a slacker? Some generous souls will give $100. Others can only give $5. Do your best. Don't speak of what you have given to Red Cross or your liberty bond investment. Remember the boys at the front and stand by them.

Army Y. M. C. A.

Your boy is at the front or he's going. Stand by him: help to keep him well; to keep him cheery; to keep him pure and clean. Let him know that the folks at home haven't forgotten him. You can do this through the Red Triangle—the Army Y. M. C. A. Close up to the fighting lines, it plants its huts for our boys; so close that sometimes they are shot to pieces. They furnish refreshments, hot coffee, hot tea, and cocoa; they furnish comfortable rooms with good music, good movies, lecture sports. They furnish writing tables and stationery to write home letters. Every letter your boy writes to you is written on Y. M. C. A. paper. Thousands of sons of yours never have been furnished by the Army Y. M. C. A. for the home letters. Have you no boy at the front? Then double up your subscription, for our boys who are fighting for you.

Boos for the Army Y. M. C. A.

Help Wayne county roll up a big surplus over its $2,000.

TO FIX FOOD PRICES.

Omaha, Nov. 7.—Upon his return from Washington, Food Administrator Wattles will issue a price list for food commodities which will apply to the entire state. Mr. Wattles will work out these prices in cooperation with the state wholesalers' committee and the state retailers' committee; the latter committee yet to be named. This committee will consist of licensed retailers of the state who do a business of more than $100,000 annually. The smaller retailers will be reached through the wholesalers.

Those defying the rules of the administration will be met with a refusal by the wholesalers to supply them with goods.

"The administration will begin punishing them as soon as possible," said Mr. Wattles. "We will make them fair to retailer and consumer alike. I want to hear from people who find that the prices after the war have been inflated by retailers."

THE FIELD OF BUSINESS.

Sioux City Journal: Sharp and not always explained depreciations on the stock market, which in turn affected grain, constituted one of the features of the early part of the last week in the business field. These bearish moves, stimulated by what was suspected to be "vicious liquidation" by pro-German interests in an effort to demoralize industry, led to a move on the part of the governors of the New York stock exchange to curb short selling. Full information as to the origin of all short selling hereafter will be required by the board of governors, and while no interference with legitimate selling is contemplated, anything that looks like the kind of short selling now being stopped. The determination to deal thus drastically with the situation was not the result of one week's trading but of a long and suspicious downward trend of even the highest grade shares. An immediate favorable reaction followed announcement of the new plan.

Legitimate foreign influences, notably the military defeat of Italy and the various elements of Russian uncertainty, contributed somewhat to weakness in the stocks. The success of the Liberty Loan operation in Italy, however, reports of unsatisfactory railroad earnings for September, particularly for the Canadian Pacific were followed by heaviness in the market. Showing of United States Steel was also somewhat less favorable, although an additional 3 per cent dividend was declared for the quarter. Italian and Russian government bonds reached the low levels on record, Italian and Russian exchange also suffered. Rubles dropped to 13.

The domestic money market was satisfactory. Time loans ranged from 5 to 6 1/2 per cent, with the average close to the minimum figure. Call money brought 4 per cent without variations. Liberty loan 4 1/2 sold at par to 100.02. Liberty loan 3 1/2 had a range of from 97.74 to 99.96. Bar silver shot up sharply to 90 5/8, owing it was said, to foreign demand. Sale of treasury certificates of the last issue, intended primarily to facilitate the bond sale, reached 5684-631,000. A loan of $230,000,000 to Italy and several loans to the other allies, including the largest yet made, $435,000,000 to Great Britain, brought the total for the war up to $3,566,400,000.

The government licensing system for food dealers, went into effect November 1. The food administration's scheme to reach the average retailer under this plan is to compel wholesalers to refuse supplies to retailers that charge unfair prices, that hoard goods or that otherwise violate the spirit of the administration's scheme to reduce costs. A basic price of sugar for delivery in New York City, was fixed by the international sugar committee at 6.90. Steps were taken to make enemy owned patents, including those on drugs available for American manufacturers. It was indicated that all industries are soon to be classified according to their importance from the standpoint of war production. Industries whose essential industries will be required to reduce coal consumption.

Nine thousand oil workers in Texas went on strike. Seizure of western wire lines to prevent stoppage of service by a proposed strike was recommended by the federal mediator and eventually a delay in the strike program was ordered by the War Department.

Far order to afford quicker relief for Italy all exports restoring power that country were waived. A volunteer food conservation pledge campaign was carried on throughout the country, millions of signatures being obtained. Weather conditions produced fluctuation in corn. The top cash price for No. 2 yellow was $2.22. An embargo on exports of corn products was placed because of the late availability of the new crop. The Egin butter board, at the request of the food administration, went out of operation for the period of the war. A freeze in Louisiana materially injured the sugar crop. Sugar that had been placed aboard ship for Norway was sold to the American government because of the refusal of the government to permit transportation.

A return to more normal business conditions followed the end of the liberty loan campaign. Buying power remained strong. Actual shortage of some supplies tended to increase prices, and business reviews predicted further advances in those lines.

OPPOSE FIXED PRICES.

Omaha, Nov. 6.—The live stock commission of the Nebraska state food administration after an all-day meeting here to discuss the new government price on hogs, telegraphed Food Administrator Hoover that the commission would back the government on hog prices, but advised against placing a price on cattle and sheep.

"We suggest that increased production after an all-day meeting would best be secured by a public statement at this time that there will be no attempt to fix prices on cattle or sheep," said the program in part.

WAYNE HIGH SCHOOL WINS

Appreciation of Game by Member of State Normal Faculty.

(By Dr. J. T. House)

"In this time of mental depression and demoralization due to war, it would be well for all parties if older people would make special efforts to enter into the life of the youngsters. There are many reasons for the suggestion; but one is sufficient—the lightening of the burden, the joy that we always find in seeing the world fresh and fair through the eyes of youth. The above reflection came to the writer as the result of a vivid recollection with the local high school people.

"One night last week, largely by accident, it was our good fortune to see the basketball team, under the tuition of Superintendent R. Armstrong, enduring all the delightful bumps and bruises, wounds and slaughter incident to preparation for the assault of Winside in the annual game. We felt our youth renewed in the zest with which these prospective leaders in war and finance bore the preliminary skirmish, and we resolved that when the invading host advanced we would see the game.

"For the next day or so, whenever we happened on the street after school hours we heard the raucous cries of groups of high school boys and girls running like this:

"Wayne High! Wayne High!
"Strawberry Shortcake!
"Huckleberry Pie!"

Having been initiated we knew that this was not a food conservation slogan, but the school yell of children who had no thought of the death grapple of nations in blood-washed Belgium and Italy. Alas! We could not see the game. The "Wraith voices" from the far years before 1914.

It was a great game! Seventy-eight to thirty-nine was the tally. We counted the score by the gasps and shrieks, the roars and catcalls. That was the only way we could count, for the ball moved so swiftly from hand to hand, and the play shifted to Gildersleeve and Rennick to be flashed through the basket that only the expert could tell what was going on. Still the gods from high Olympus seemed concerned to see to it that Winside who scored first so that Wayne for one moment wondered what was behind the curtain of the future. Then, too, there was one little factor of the game, a visiting host who pushed and squirmed all over the floor in a way to excite admiration and almost reason, for every unsuspecting man (and woman) love, gam and fight.

Nor let it be forgotten that the girls also played basketball. Before the regular game and between the games the two teams in maidens, under the direction of Mrs. Clara Hoese, went at it another, with much the same delightful savagery displayed by the boys. For tomorrow night they will go with glory, waits them in Winside, and they should be a lively preliminary pace.

"And the people, ah the people," in their best of garb and on the benches! With what abandon they howl! Joy, joy, stupendous joy! Revels, laughter, cheers, again and again, diminishing, crescendo, climax, cheering lighter, but never dying until the story was all told, the curtain rung down, the lights turned off, the door locked, and from a glorious sky the moon looked down upon the prairie with its old eternal smile.

As he walked home to the chatter of a delighted little girl, one world-wonder wandered, through the illusion of the past, to his heart's heart: "Let me rediscover the secret of life. Let us all recall that while wars come and go, childhood and youth are ever beautiful, forever happy."

"THE SPY"

An expose of Germany's Nefarious Secret System in the United States

—At The—
Crystal Theatre, Wayne
SUNDAY and MONDAY
Nov. 11-12

Under auspices of the Public Service Club, to raise money for a mess fund for soldier boys of Wayne and adjoining counties. These boys need a mess fund and it is up to Wayne county to furnish it. "The Spy" is a sensational photoplay that every one will want to see. It gives intense flame to the fires of American patriotism. It is worth the price of admission and the cash proceeds will go to a most worthy cause.

Synopsis of "THE SPY"

The fire and fervor of red blooded America make "The Spy," starring Dustin Farnum, the greatest story of the present—a plot which deals with the machinery of diplomacy and international relations is handled so skillfully that the entire production has been made without the firing of a single shot. "The Spy" is a war story and not a battle story.

Mark Quintance (Dustin Farnum) is a young man of wealth and high social position, who has never proved his usefulness to the world. The Patriotic Club of New York is looking for such a person to send to Germany in an effort to gain a list of German spies in America.

Just before the United States declares war, they find Mark and he agrees to undertake the hazardous task.

Mark Starts His Mission

On shipboard Mark meets Greta Glaum (Winifred Kingston), who is being deported back to Germany. Greta was a well-known safe blow in New York. With the menace of the war the authorities thought it best to return her to her native land. The acquaintance of Mark and Greta ripens into love. When the ship reaches land, however, the girl unwilling that Mark should learn of her past life, slips away from him.

In Berlin Mark Quintance becomes attached to the American Embassy. The German spy system which is headed by Freiherr Wolf von Wittschafft (William Burress) of the Wilhelmstrasse, quickly learns of the young American. Through Baron von Gergen (Howard Gens) they attempt to enroll him in their large number of American spies.

The Double Cross

Mark sees a way to get the list which he seeks and agrees to lend his services in aid of the Imperial Government. Through this movement he learns of the existence of a book which contains the complete roll of German spies in the United States.

At a ball held at the American Embassy one night Mark meets Greta. She is powerless in the hands of Wittschafft, who knows her past history and threatens to expose her. The German chief insists that she be at his home at midnight.

On the same night Mark, intent on getting the list, goes to Mark's home, but finds Wittschafft's home. Greta finds him there.

"You are a burglar, too!" she says. "If I had known that I would have married you long ago."

The Mission is Concluded.

Mark does not explain to her why he is here. He hears the sound of hurrying footsteps in the street and hastens his job. As he, with Greta's assistance, breaks open the safe and gets the book, German officers enter the house.

Hurriedly he gives the book to Greta, imploring her to take it immediately to the American Embassy.

The girl quickly assumes a maid's cap and apron, which she finds in the house, and gets through the line of German police. While the man she loves is submitting to the inquisition methods of Wittschafft and his legions, Greta carries the coveted list safely to the American Ambassador.

STARTLING FEATURES.

These are some of the outstanding points of "The Spy":

1. A rousing meeting of the Patriots' Club of New York.
2. Attempts of a German spy, on shipboard, to murder a member of the American Diplomatic Service.
3. Revelation of the Wilhelmstrasse—the most complete system of espionage that has ever existed.
4. Bail at the American Embassy in Berlin, at which intrigue is carried on under the guise of social entertainment.
5. An American's successful attempt to gain possession of a list of German spies in the United States.
6. A German girl's sacrifice for the man she loves and the country of her adoption, the United States.

NIELSON'S GUARANTEE.

Manager M. B. Nielson of the Crystal Theatre wants it distinctly understood that if "The Spy" is not truly worth the price of admission he will forfeit the money at the conclusion of the performance.

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher

THE CHAMPION GRIP.

You talk of mournful things, my friend, you say your woe's the one best bet; I'll tell you an earring, the saddest thing that's happened yet. It is to meet your lost Lenore, or female of some other name, the peach you loved in days of yore, when love was quite a game. Someone she drifted from your life, for youthful dreams go galley west; in time you gathered in a wife, but always loved the old girl best. In memory she kept her place, the lost Lenore with starry eyes, with curly hair and angel face, the lovely image never dies. And now that you are waxing old, you go back to your native town, where once, with footsteps quick and bold,
you ran the fleet jackrabbit down.
And there you meet an ancient dame, who'd scare a burglar with her face; she has a large and bouy frame, she talks a deep and rumbling bass. Ah, then you shed the bitter brine, and lean against the Blue Front store, for you feel saggy in the spine; this dame is your lost Lenore! To find your girl of love and mirth become so puck and fierce a bluff! This is the saddest thing on earth; there's nothing she so far-blamed tough!

TRYING TO SLEEP.

There ought to be some sort of law, forbidding noises rank and raw at night, when people would repose, and do some snoring through the nose. At 10 o'clock I soak my head and straightway toddle off to bed, and hope to give my life new zest by having one good sleep of rest. An old gray cat prowl round my shack
and splits the welkin up the back.
Joy riders scoot along the street and raise pink thunder and repeat. A young man with a cheep guitar comes stin-gling where the dancsels are, and their abode is just next door—how can a weary mortal snore? The milkman's wagon jolts along; the milkman smiles his brazen smile, and makes the night a discord fierce, while selling cow-milk for ten cents. And now a dog lets out a wail; there's tinware, rusted to its tail, and like a sheep I hear it screech beneath my open sleeping porch. All through the night its wail goes; our noise be dead to find repose, and when at dawn I leave my couch, I have a large and lasting grouch, my head is sore beneath my tile, and I forget to sing and smile.

HAIG.

We hear a lot of other men who've done artistic fighting, but Haig, who's won again, again, is known at this writing. He doesn't hunt our Haighish news to engender reporters, nor yet submit to interviews which might be called rip-stoppers. He doesn't hunt the "feature" gent, or leave his post forsaken, to face a kodak in a tent and have his picture taken. I know not if he's short on stills, but whether he is large or small, he's getting William's goat.
Oh! Some colonels view the hall of fame and think it El Dorado, but he who plays the mighty game is always in the shadow. I know not how he wears his beard, or who may be his tailor, but more and more his strokes are feared, and Wilhelm's growing paler. I've seen no pictures of his wife or of his sons and daughters, or of his ancient home in Fife, beside some storied waters. The grand stand looks cool in vain, no gallery has planned him, but when the Prussians plant their slain, they cuss him and bemoan him. With him there's no such word as "can't," no obstacles affrighting; great men like our own Grant, he fights and keeps on fighting.

THE REJECTED.

It gives my soul a wrench, that I can't join the boys, and excavate a wrench, and make a warlike noise, I stick to my abode and do my daily grind, because I'm pigeon toed, knock-kneed, and coal-blind. For to be a warrior on a battlefield, or applause, because I've store made teeth, swayed back and humpy jaws;

I see the boys go by, with buoyant step and free, and shed a weary sigh—the march is not for me. I may not hear the drums, or join the gallant charge, because I've shriveled rums, because my waistline's large.
Ah, well, a gent can do his line and find it, if he can't get a few before the racing foam. By bump-ing all the day, and buckling down like wax, methinks that I can pay the billed march tax. By belching liquidity our Uncle's grievous bills, I'll keep my record straight, though slay of martial thrills. I'll pay up like a guy who wants to do his share—so when the love goes by,
I get no stony stare. I cannot pack a gun, or wield a snickernee, because I weigh a ten, and have the housemaid's knee. I'm troubled with the goat, and all the rest of that but that won't let me out—I still can do my share.

GERMAN PEACE.

For heaven's sake, made in Germany the allies do not care; it would be cheap and vermin, not warranted to wear. The peace the kaiser's pondering, and planning with a gun, would surely fail in handering, the colors, all would turn. This war the world is hating it, but peace would be more punk, with Germany dictating it, and handing out the bank. The allies are much wiser, dumb, and yielding sword and erease, than arguing with kaiserdom about the terms of peace. When peace again is given us, and people know repeat and war's red dog that's driven us, back to its kennel goes, that peace must be no platitude, no phrases neatly turned, of wide and yielding latitude, to be ignored or spurned. No paper written gaudily, whose terms may be withstood, no fabric woven shoddy, dilly, or "something just as good."
When gentle peace has come again,
it must be made, nor yet shall make things bum again by starting up a fray. The peace that comes from Germany would last till Kaiser Bill should once again determine he was strong enough to kill.

LOYAL TALKERS.

A lot of us old fogies, who are too gray to fight, sit round and smoke out stories, and jabber day and night. We tell about the scrapper we'd do if we were young; we'd send the Prussian yapping, with backshot in his lung. We'd prod foes in the stomachs, with gleaming sword and lance, and pile our dead in hummocks upon the plains of France. And how we roast the scrapper who does not seek the fray, who's quoting Wells or Kipling while others march away! We skin that German royal, who started all the fuss; we are so doggone loyal the children stare at us. But when we're asked politely to dig up for a bond, and keep things going rightly out yonder and beyond, when asked to give assistance, we suddenly recall engagements in the distance, and hike to beat you all. You cannot tear asunder the tightwad from his wad, the miser from his plunder,
the gold brick from his god. Oh, talk is cheap and flimsy, we all can boost the flag; but ask us for a shilling, and see us wilt and sag!

GO SLOW ON GRUB.

Food conservation is the way!
To win this war, my son;
We must eat less from day to day
Until this war is done.
The lads who in trenches grind Must have the meat—we'll eat the rind.
In normal times with much good
cheese,
Our daily fast we break;
Our tables groan with viands dear,
We eat until we ache;
And some, thru indigestion climb
to their long home ahead of time.
To change our course requires some nerve,
Of purpose high a wealth;
But we shall find that to conserve is best for our health.
Return to frugal meals will save
Large numbers from an early grave.
So, Mollie, darling, hold your hush
About the price of meats,
Let whole-wheat bread and cornmeal mush
Compose our standard eats.
Resolve, until we "beat the Dutch,"
That we will never eat too much.
Instead of loss, this will prove gain.
As I sincerely feel;
I shall grow fatly as a crane
And simple as an eel.
And neighbors, when I reach that fix,
Will know I'm patriotic. Bix

The Brunswick Unlocks the Gates for All Lovers of Music

Until the coming of the Brunswick, music lovers had to buy and play records made by the makers of their phonographs. This meant barring many of the favorite artists. It meant a limited selection.

For instance, the Brunswick makes it possible for you to now enjoy the famous Pathe records, Europe's favorites. These wonderful Pathe records cannot be played on ordinary phonographs. The Brunswick provides a sound box for the Pathe records without extra cost.

Now you may buy any record you want, whatever make, and the Brunswick will played it as you never heard it played before. The Brunswick plays all records. It is all phonographs in one. It opens the gate to a new world of music, hitherto limited.

Hear the Brunswick yourself, then decide. We leave it to you, after making comparison. We know you will agree with thousands of others that THE BRUNSWICK has a better tone, and that its many features make it the phonograph you always wanted.

LIBERAL SWABS OF PAINT

St. Louis Daily News, November 6. Koriolkans returning from Tilden Saturday declare that the front of the German bank at that place has been streaked with yellow paint and the word "German" eliminated by liberal swabs of the paint. No reason is given for the painting incident except that the patriots around Tilden took exception to the word "German."

Stories of "yellow" painting have been coming in frequently during the past week. One residence at Battle Creek was given the yellow daubs recently.

The word "German" was eliminated from the German-American bank at Burke, S. D., according to a question William Zutz of that bank. This left the sign read: "American bank" and Mr. Zutz has decided to leave it that way. He recently purchased the bank and his motto is "to be treated as a citizen." Zutz to smokers after the first word of the sign was eliminated. The elimination was done by friends of Mr. Zutz. He is the son of F. W. Zutz, a well-known banker. Mr. Zutz announces that Gregory county has over subscribed its liberty loan quota and was able to report a total of $25,000. Burke over-subscribed its minimum quota by $4,000.

IMPORTANT QUESTIONS

Omaha, Nov. 7.—Grading of wheat, government food control, the revenue law as affecting the grain business, and commission charges are the big subjects to be discussed at the annual meeting of the Nebraska Farmers' Cooperative Grain & Live-Stock state association in Omaha, November 13, 14, and 15.

Among the speakers will be Henry J. Waters, president of the Kansas state agricultural college; Charles T. Grant in charge of wheat buying for the Omaha district, and J. E. Wallace, government supervisor of grading for the Omaha district.

About 600 stockholders of farmers' cooperative institutions and managers will attend the meeting in the Hotel Ronce, according to J. V. ...

AFTER THE WAR

Lincoln Journal: Nearly everyone is thinking much nowadays on the question raised by Sidney Webb, the British economist. The war is to end some day. What preparation is in the matter of business and our personal material affairs, should we make for it?

Mr. Webb says that stocks will come suddenly when it comes. It will find the world's food stocks in the most depleted condition ever known. The trading of the wastes of the war will not begin, for lack of capital, immediately after the disbandment of the vast armies now engaged in the war. There will be accordingly a shortage of jobs, with a money famine and acute hard times. This will be accompanied by actual famine, said Mr. Webb, unless we make immediate preparation to revivify the world.

This is the view of an economist of the more radical school. But at the same time, Sir Arthur Japp, director of food economy in Great Britain, was advising essentially the same course. "He, too, looks for a money famine and if we are not far sighted, a food famine."

Many business men take a contrary view. These think that the work of reconstruction after the war will make as many jobs and as much demand for money as the destructive work of the war itself. This is where opinions clash. Undoubtedly there will be work enough needing to be done after the war. But it is a community's need, that makes employment and develops improvements, or the community's wealth available for such operations. If the latter, Europe cannot rebuild itself until long after the war. This is Mr. Webb's expectation.

However that may be, there will not be much disinterested disagreement as to the safe, sane and patriotic course for an individual to follow. This is a good time to pay debts. That is always true of prosperous times and times of high prices. It is a good time to stay out of debt, or at least to be extremely cautious about going into debt. That is always true of a time of unusual and uncertain conditions. Above all, as Mr. Webb and Sir Arthur Japp agree, it is a time to economize. Those who follow this course may miss a chance to get rich by some eccentricity of the war brides. But he is playing safe for himself and for his country.

ON GUARD AT THE READING GATE!

It is a fine thing to guard our homes against alien soldiers of whose purposes we are all aware. But it is also very important to guard them against other insidious foes that creep in under the disguise of peace and prosperity to attack and destroy the cherished ideals, the lofty standards, the clear views that have given the home its character.

If you will familiarize your young people with the best reading they will not be likely to crave what is inferior and demoralizing. The Youth's Companion is a powerful influence in awakening a taste for what is best in reading. It is on guard at the reading gate! Nothing cheap, mean or hateful passes its portals. But neither does the crabbled and dull and austere. Cheery idealism is the Companion's countenance. Put it on guard at your reading gate!

ATCHISON-GLOBE SIGHTS

So few are graceful it is hard to grow old that way.

Gloves don't make the man, but they sometimes break him.

If a drunk can't organize a quartet he will probably sing a solo.

A man who never had a family quarrel probably never had a family.

When you ask a man to be reasonable you want him to agree with you.

A man rarely gets so many compliments that he can't remember them all.

A farmer's idea of a good joke is to see a town man try to hitch up a horse.

Kidding the public would be less common if the public didn't want to be kidded.

Considerable is accomplished, but very little of it is due to marching in the parade.

When it is too late a man can think of a lot of smart things he might have said.

Those who haven't been found out are greatly shocked by the conduct of those who have.

The choosing of proper rugs to suit the surroundings and furnishings is always one of the biggest problems to solve. Let us help you.

Our rugs will harmonize with the finest of furnishings and will give lasting satisfaction. We have just received a new lot of Wilton, Axminster and Brussels rugs. We would especially call attention to an extra quality of Brussels rug selling at $25. These rugs represent the best values on the market at this price.

Ostermoor Mattresses

We have the famous Hotel Style Ostermoor. These contain a special grade of fine felt laid in layers—"Not Stuffed."

Shop in the Morning

In many respects shopping in the morning hours is more pleasant than during any other hours of the day. The stocks are better arranged and the store assistants have more time to assist the customer. Then, too, just now when labor is scarce, and the need for efficiency is getting greater on every side, morning shopping becomes more desirable.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

From the Wayne Herald, November 8, 1894:

James Britton resigned his position as mayor.

John Waterman died November 5, at the age of 63 years.

Miss Leta Corbit went to Chicago to make an extended visit with relatives.

C. Gildersleeve rented the W. H. Nangle house and will become a resident of Wayne.

Henry Ott and Bertha Krenk were united in marriage. Both young people live in Wayne county.

Mrs. R. E. K. Mellor entertained the Owl high five club and will entertain the Ladies' club tomorrow evening.

The Ladies of the Mayday club met with Mrs. E. A. Dearborn Tuesday evening to wait for the election returns.

The Happy Hour club was entertained at the home of Eloy Jones. Progressive dominos was the principal game.

A beautiful marble carbograph, the work of Prof. R. Durin, can be seen in the window of Wilkins & Co's drug store.

L. E. Hunter was elected justice of the peace and Frank Hood and S. H. McMakin constables. R. C. Osborne was elected assessor.

Frank Fuller delivered a republican speech at Emerson. Messrs. Cook and Titsworth of the Wayne Gle club assisted a portion of the Wakefield Gle club with the singing.

From the Wayne Herald-Tribune, November 19, 1885:

Anson A. Welch and Miss Anna B. Davies were married at the home of the bride's mother in Sioux City, November 17, 1885.

Bulgaria and Serbia are engaged in a war threatening to involve all Europe. Several battles have already taken place.

Tollinger Brothers moved their carpenter shop across the street and Bailey and Dyer are putting up large additions to their lumber sheds.

Frank Northrup was united in marriage to Miss Ida M. Ford, November 16, 1885, at the home of the bride's parents, near Earlham, Ia.

Union Thanksgiving services will be held at the Presbyterian church. Rev. H. C. Pittinger of the Methodist church will deliver the sermon.

E. L. Jones has disposed of his stock in the National bank and resigned his position. Frank Dearborn is back again in his old place.

Linn Brothers bought a quarter block in the northern part of town from Dr. Crawford. They expect to build two new residences on them.

Thomas B. Hughes of Wayne and Miss Retta Richmond of Malvern

Ia., were married November 18, 1885, at the residence of J. S. Rickabaugh, in Wayne.

A wagon load of fish from the Missouri river was sold on the streets in Wayne. It is said that the river is so low that people walk out on the bars and kill the fish with clubs.

From Ponca Journal, November 8, 1877:

The storm which has been experienced here during the past week, was much more severe in Iowa. So severe indeed, that one day the trains were blocked some on the railroads running into Sioux City.

The C. C. & B. H. railroad company commenced laying track this morning. We understand that as soon as the workmen get fairly under way, they intend to put down the main line for one hundred miles of iron-ore day. Within three weeks we expect to ride on the cars to Newcastle, and in six weeks we suggest an excursion train to St. James.

An extensive prairie fire occurred today, northwest from town. We have not heard what damage if any was done, which however must have been considerable if the fire reached the timber in that direction. Great care should now be taken to guard against these fires. Without proper caution, people are liable to have their stacks, fences, etc., burned, thus sweeping away in an hour's time all the accumulations and earnings of a hard year's work.

Election is over. In Dixon county both sides did their best, but in nomination very strong candidates, and their struggle their battle in a vigorous, yet honorable manner.

The result has been the election of the following officers: For commissioner, P. E. Wright, democrat; for clerk, M. Babber, republican; for treasurer, D. Hurley, democrat; for sheriff, E. H. Jones, democrat; for judge, R. H. Knapp, republican; for school superintendent, A. S. Palmer, republican; for surveyor, O. P. Sullenburger, democrat; for coroner, Dr. Rowe, democrat.

A singular looking fish was hauled out of the Missouri on Monday by a man living near the landing. It was about three feet long and at first glance was supposed to be a catfish until it was discovered to have no teeth. The fish had no scales, and what was very remarkable it had no fins at all. Its tail was not broad as is generally the case, but ran out tapering to a point like a spike. To cap the climax this monstrosity had no eyes. From its mouth two long feelers, about a foot long, projected. We should really like to know what kind of a fish this was.

When the railroad is built as far as Newcastle, which is to be hoped will be in a few weeks, the mail route will of course be extended to that place. This will be a great consolation, as the people have suffered long enough by the round-about mail route, with which the citizens of that part of the county have never before been favored. One hour's time will then suffice for the mail to go from Ponca to Newcastle. Now it takes from four to ten days. Although only twelve miles distant from us—a letter or paper to get there has actually to travel not far from seventy-five miles. When the mail route is extended on the line of the road to Newcastle, it will also greatly accommodate the postoffices at Tomka and Daily Branch in the same respect.

CAMP FUNSTON.

Camp Funston is described in a letter from James A. Gunn, a soldier from Ponca, written to Dr. J. M. O'Connell of that place, as follows: "Camp Funston is situated on the Ogden Flats, part of the government reserve west of Fort Riley, in the Kaw river valley.

"The exact size of the camp I cannot say, but viewed from the surrounding hills, it contains row after row of barrack buildings stretching it seems, for miles, interspersed here and there with officers' quarters, hospitals and post exchanges or stores.

"The barracks are large buildings, 120x40. They contain three squad rooms, a mess-hall and kitchen, an orderly room and sanitary room. Each barrack houses a company, which is about 250 men.

"The officers' quarters are low, one story buildings, and are occupied by the commissioned officers.

"On a side-hill overlooking the entire camp is a spacious residence of Major General Leonard Wood, commander of Camp Funston.

"The post has several temporary buildings erected in the camp in which a person may purchase anything from an ice cream cone to an overcoat.

"The Knights of Columbus and Y. M. C. A. organizations look after the spiritual welfare of the soldiers, and maintain reading, writing and rest rooms in their various buildings throughout the camp. These organizations also furnish entertainment for the soldiers in the line of moving pictures, minstrel shows and addresses by prominent speakers.

"During the world's series the Kansas City Post erected an electric score board on the parade ground and gave the world's series play-by-play just a few minutes after they transpired on the diamond in Chicago or New York, and judging from the size of the crowd assembled each day, a majority of the soldiers are baseball fans.

"The work of construction on the camp continues and will, I suppose, till winter sets in. The work on the heating plant is progressing rapidly and the prospects of warm barracks this winter are bright.

"The boys from Dixon county all seem to be contented and enjoying their life. About the only disagreeable thing they have encountered so far is a Kansas dust storm, and it is about as hard to face as a Nebraska blizzard.

"Perhaps the greatest work being done in camp is by the doctors and sanitary train. These men are kept busy vaccinating and inoculating the soldiers for various diseases and inspecting the quarters and seeing that they are kept clean. The sanitation enforced in the army is such that there is little wonder that the diseases have almost entirely disappeared in the army in recent years."

An Old Man's Stomach.

As we grow older and less active, less and less food is required to meet the demands of our bodies. If too much is hastily taken, the stomach will rebel. When a man reaches the advanced age of 85 or 90, you will find that he is a light eater. He is as careful as you will, however, you will occasionally get more than you should and will feel the need of Chamberlain's Tablets to correct the disorder. These tablets do not contain pepsin, but strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. They also cause a gentle movement of the bowels.—Adv.

IDEAL NON-FREEZING STOCK WATERER
 Is a sanitary drinking fountain for horses and cattle. This stock waterer is constructed of heavy galvanized iron, with heavy supports and braces, it can be connected to any supply tank or water pressure, and has a float valve which will work perfectly on any pressure from 5 to 100 gallons.
 This tank is protected by a partition so that it cannot be disturbed.
 There is an outlet in the bottom so that the tank can be easily cleaned.
 The waterer is 30 inches high, 29 inches in diameter and holds 32 gallons.
 There is a 1 inch air space between the water tank and the outside casing which gives the heat a perfect circulation.
 It is equipped with large lamp which keeps it from freezing in the winter.
 The lamp holds 3 quarts and will burn 48 hours at zero weather.
 The Ideal Non-Freezing Stock Waterer installed at once and your horses and cattle will have a good supply of clean, sanitary water at all times, both summer and winter.
 Price complete with lamp $41.00.

Ideal Chicken Waterer.
 You realize the importance of giving chickens good, fresh, clean water, both winter and summer, and know how much trouble it is to properly water the chickens. In zero weather you must carry warm water to them several times a day and then it stays warm only a short time.
 Hens will lay better in winter if given fresh water with the chill off. Eggs are 65 per cent water and the laying hens must have plenty of good water at the right temperature.
 The extra eggs you will get will soon pay for an Ideal Waterer besides the saving of time and labor.
 It is no trouble to have a constant supply of good, pure water at the right temperature for your chickens if you use an Ideal Chicken Waterer. It holds 5 gallons and the water is automatically fed to the drinking pan by the vacuum system.
 There is always about one inch of water in the drinking cup so the chickens always have all they want.
 The drinking cup is protected so the chickens can get only their heads in to drink. They can't get into it with their feet or scratch dirt into it. The tank is inside a casing with an inch air space all around. Under the tank is a lamp so the water cannot freeze, but is kept at just the right temperature.
 The expense of running the lamp is very small as it costs only about 1 cent a day and as the chickens do not drink at night you can empty the Waterer and put the lamp out if you wish. The tank is easily filled or emptied, as it lifts out of the casing and is filled if you simply lay it down and pour or pump the water into the drinking trough. You can set it up the pan will always have about one inch of water in it. To empty the tank, simply tip it forward and the water will run out.
 With an Ideal Waterer you know your chickens have all the water they want—just as they want it—winter and summer.
 Ideal Chicken Waterer. $7.00

Waters for Farms Having a Water System.
 Many farms have supply tanks and for these we make the No. 10 and No. 22 Waterers which are connected to the water supply system or can be connected to a common round stock tank or cistern with a few simple changes.
 The No. 10 and No. 22 Waterers are made of heavy galvanized iron and have a heavy positive lock against freezing the water in the drinking pan. Simply run the water under frost line to the Waterers, then up through the bottom and into the drinking troughs.
 No. 22, which has two drinking troughs, is so constructed that it can be set into the ground, making the troughs the right height for hogs to drink.
