MAN WHO SHOT HERN IS BELIEVED IN CUSTODY

Caught at Bancroft and Identified as the Man Wanted Here.

An individual believed to be Gabriel Taselet who shot William Hern in this county November 25, was caught at Bancroft last week robbing a pool hall, and his appearance so closely tallied with the description sent out last fall by Sheriff Geary, that Porter in quest of the would be assassin directed his suspicions to him. He recovered from his wound after a time spent in the local hospital, has been working at the hospital in the streets.

Taselet, who was arrested in a fall with a bridge gang north of town, was shipped out a gun and attempted to hold up a number of workmen on November 25. He got away with the money, and the sheriff shot Mr. Hern who failed to respond to the demand for money. Taselet disappeared and Hern was taken to the hospital in a very bad condition, but in time recovered and was able to return to his work. The man caught claims he is not Taselet notwithstanding identification by the two men who were his victims.

Taselet, waived a preliminary hearing in county court this morning and was bound over to the district court where he was remanded in default of which he was remanded to the custody of the sheriff.

CAMPAIGN IS TO START FOR JUNIOR RED CROSS

Proposed to Organize All Rural Schools in County.

The committee having in charge the organization of Junior Red Cross work in Wayne county, met at Red Cross headquarters last evening and made plans for the campaign which will start at once and will be in operation a week.

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED SOME VERY SNIPPY NEW SPRING RAINCOATS

At Morgan's Toggery, 1414 and 1416 N. 14th Street.

He has done his part. He is just going to settle the hero's crown as if he had been in the battle's front and had fallen in a grand charge against the foe. He could say "Neither count I my life dear nor yet glory in it. And I have fought a good fight."

Burial was made in the Randolph cemetery and an army detail of the boys was present. The home guards marched in order to that cemetery.

A touching incident, one that brings tears to sympathetic eyes, was revealed in the hospital. A letter that the boys found in the bed of this loving soldier boy after he had passed away. With his last feeble strength he had remembered the dear mother and his fathering hand wrote to cheer her the day before he died. We print the letter below as it was received.

Dear Mother: January 29, 1918. How are you this morning. How are you getting along these cold days? I am in the hospital sick with pneumonia. I am getting better every day. I am in here two weeks today. I may come home when I get well, for they give me a furlough that has been in the hospital. I took out $100.00 sure in two weeks ago; it may come handy.

Well, mother, it's just like home here in the hospital. They take good care of the boys here. What are the boys doing today; at work I suppose. Well, mother, will close for this morning, as I can think of nothing else.

Good and good by, mother—From Thomas.

Written on the back of this letter that touched the hearts of all who read it, was a letter that said: "Your son wrote this letter this morning. He has now passed away. We found the letter in his bed after he had passed away. My sympathy is with you. I am sure that your mother to lose her son in this way. May God have you meet him in a brighter place. My prayer was for you to get well."

I am your sincere friend, Vernon Taylor, Base Hospital, Deming, N. M.

And again we will be called upon as today, to lay away in its last resting place the mortal body of one of our boys, which he died in his life dear to himself, but who laid it down for you and for me for your home and my home; that the world might be made safe for peace and that when we are called to death, the hearts of loved ones are filled with sorrow. A mother is mourning the loss of a son, and a brother, friends the loss of a friend. In it all we have this consolation that the young man and sol-

NEW FUEL ORDER.

November 27, 1913, the federal fuel administrator for Nebraska issued instructions to all county committees to investigate and report upon the retail prices and gross margins being charged for coal in their several communities; and to recommend reasonable gross margins which the retail dealer might be permitted to add to the cost in the coal, to them, in order to determine reasonable retail prices.

At the same time, forms were sent out for the returns of the coal dealers, showing their costs and margins, in pursuance of Publication No. 7, issued by the United States fuel administration.

The retail coal dealers throughout the state have been slow in returning their reports to the committees, and in many cases they are incomplete. This has hindered and delayed the work of the committees, so that more than two months after the reports were sent out, with the winter more than half over, not one-half of the counties in the state have recommended retail gross margins or prices.

In the meantime, the Douglas and Lancaster county fuel committees made a thorough investigation of conditions and costs of carrying on the retail coal business in Omaha and Lincoln. Reports were made by these committees to the state fuel administrator, which when modified in minor particulars were approved. The Omaha prices and margins took effect December 19, 1913. The Lincoln prices and margins January 3, 1914.

Prices and maximum gross margins were established in Douglas and Lancaster counties west of a line base. Excluding drayage and delivery charges, an average retail maximum gross margin of approximately $1.40 per ton is allowed on domestic coal. The average maximum gross margin allowed in these counties is above $1.40 on certain kinds of domestic coal, and under $1.40 on certain other grades. It averages, however, about $1.40 per ton; the coal to be screened at the yards; excluding drayage charges, the maximum retail gross margin allowed on steam coal in Omaha is $0.90, and in Lincoln $0.80. There is no other material difference between the Omaha and Lincoln margins.

The conditions affecting the retail coal trade in the several communities in Nebraska, excluding drayage, are much alike; and therefore the real reason why maximum gross margins made applicable to Douglas and Lancaster counties should not apply to other counties in the state. In the more populous counties the volume of business is greater, but expenses are correspondingly increased.

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the authority vested in me by the United States Fuel Administration, acting upon reports and recommendations submitted by county committees, and upon the information otherwise obtained, it is hereby ordered that maximum retail gross margins, per ton, for coal and coke, delivered at the yards, to consumers in Nebraska outside of Douglas and Lancaster counties, are hereby established as follows:

Domestic coal, net yard screened $1.25
Domestic coal, yard screened 1.40
Steam coal, net yard90
Coke 1.25

The coal dealer may or may not screen domestic coal at his option; the intent being to save the screenings and thereby conserve the coal supply.

The usual, reasonable drayage and delivery charges may be added to the margins, and become a part of the retail prices.

If the coal is ordered, that retail coal dealers throughout the state post up and maintain in their places of business, accessible to their customers, the cost to them of each kind of coal and coke handled, the maximum retail gross margin allowed,

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher

THE SUCKER

The sucker buys no Liberty bond the kind our Uncle's selling, to win the scrap, across the path and send the Teuton yelling. The sucker is not safe and sane, and sound investments peeve him, and low prices give him a pain—such propensities expose him. The sucker's out to get rich quick, to cut across the corner, to get his plum, and do the trick like little Johnnie Horner. The sucker will get the fakes' mine, that's packed with gas, for the price we see him shedding brine among the easy boobies. The sucker's all ways on the make, he is no doubt, a blunderer. The sucker's a fake that holds out lying promise. The sucker backs the wrestling match and bets on crooked spins, and in the chess diggy he loses. He spends his life's cold winter. The sucker always thinks he's slick, and up to snuff, and cunning, yet it is for the ease, thick the fakers all go. When they track him out, they track him west, along his trail they trundle, and never give him any rest until they have his bundle. I never on his mind has dawned that he is Nutty Neddy; he'll never buy a Liberty bond, while there's a gold brick ready.

THE THIRD LOAN

Now once again you'll have a chance to buy yourself a bond, and help the allies out in France, in Belgium and beyond. In February Uncle Sam will start another loan; and are you ready, as I am, to put up ~~plum and bone~~—it's little we could do to help our armies win, but we can certainly come through with packages of tin. When everything is said and done, 'tis wealth will win the scrap; and there should be a flow of money to the victor's chap. You are not asked to give away or sacrifice your dust; you lend to Uncle Sam—and, say, he's sure to give you a tin. You are not asked to lend for fun; good interest you receive; if you've no bonds, when war is done, you'll rend your robe and grieve. Ah, then you'll hang your head in shame and sound a doleful note; you did not help to win the game and get the Prussian goat. But there is none with soul so dead he will not buy a bond, although he has to cut out bread, and see his cookstove pawned. Let's match up cheerful, blithe and quick and buy, and buy, and buy, and thus we'll make the Teuton sick, and soak him in the eye.

THE NEAR PATRIOT

I love my country dearly, for her I'd die and bleed; I'd lose a leg, or nearly, to help her in her need. I love our starchy banner, that flutters, bright and gay, and in a fervent manner I praise it every day. No man does louder spicing, or uses words more fine; I'm so worked up in my feelings—often sheds me brine. Fine words? I do not care, but ask me if I'll buy Some U. S. bonds of freedom—I'd rather bleed and die. My life I do not cherish, I'm ready now to go to some red field and perish, if that will beat the foe. And when you ask for money, that is another tale; ask me for life-blood, sonny, that is not as for sale. I'd bravely face the foe-man and swat him till he fell, or stop, with my abdomen the steady bomb or shell; I'd crouch in reddened water a fortnight at a time, or wade neck deep in slaughter, in carnage and in crime. My country cannot mention a heavy sacrifice, but I will give 'em 'em, and 'golly pass' the price. I'd lose a leg or tendon, a toul or a toe, to put a Grecian Bend on the forehead of the foe; I am not timid funny, I'd whip a grizzly bear, but why you ask for money, why, I have none to spare!

LONGING FOR SPRING

The winter is a mean old thing, with ice and snow and blizzard; I'm longing for the breath of spring, with heart and mind and gizzard. The wind that shrieks across the moor grows colder still and stronger; it seizes to me I can't endure his winter graft much longer. Oh, winter is a beastly bore! Will spring ever come, I wonder, when I can shrug the furnace door, and let it go to thunder? Ah, Gentle Annie, speed your step, and chase out winter, by! Display some energy and pep, and get here bright and early. My ears are freezing as they flap—each winter I expect it; and there are frost-bites on my map, where side-boards don't protect it. The house is cold, and if I have some anthracite, so heat it, some grain conserver kills the turn, and tells me I should heat it. At night I dream of birds and flocks, of streams that glance and quack at break of day to find a canard, and stand around and shiver. I dream of meadows green and kind, with lambs and kidred friskers, and wake at break of day to find a canard drift in my whiskers. I dream of valleys sweet with hay, of prospects fair and pleasing, and white trilops a winged way, to find my wilksy freezing. Oh, I am sick of snow and ice, of blasts that long have tossed me; produce the spring and dern the price—it's worth what it would cost me!

BE CHEERFUL

Don't tell your troubles to a friend; it isn't fair or proper; if you must let your wails ascend, go, saying them to a copper. The coppers are paid a princely wage to listen to your railing, to harken while the weather rags, and fill the air with weeping. But we are not in uniform; we pack no shields or bills; and when you come and beef and storm, you give us all the willies. We have our little troubles, too, as evil fortunes plan them; when they are inclined to make us blue, we do our best to can them. We boost a confidence that's fine, until the welkin rattles; we know that shedding pints of brine won't help us in our battles. And it is easy work to beam, when all the boys are cheery; but one old grouch can raise a scream that makes the prospect dreary. How often, when we start downtown, we're feeling glad and gaudy; on nature's brow there is no frown, and nothing's base or shoddy. Then some one looks us in our walk, on joy a cheap infringer, and puts up such a doleful talk, we lose our pep and ginger. He's spoiled a cheerful day for us, a day we'd spend generally, but for that grim and grisly cuss, who thinks and talks so meanly. If your old jink is full of bile, go, plug it with a stopper; bring us a ray and get some smile, take trouble to a copper.

If Uncle Sam appoints a man to work out conservation, I'll follow the rules; apparently he's a try to save the nation. Perhaps the rules he may lay down will seem like gentle kidding, but I'll be first man in our

MARY GARDEN IN THIS

Mary Garden, a celebrated opera star, was seen at the Crystal theater in "Thais" Thursday and Friday nights. The story "Thais" is the work of a great French writer, Anatole France, and his permission to present the story in motion picture form was secured only on condition that Miss Garden appear in it. The story of "Thais" is told in the following:

The action of "Thais" takes place mainly in the city of Alexandria at a time when Christianity had obtained its first foothold in the civilized world. Christians are still being stoned in the streets, and pagans are still worshipping gods in which they no longer believe. Paphnutius, a wealthy young man who has shared his most precious treasures of life with a devoted and pious girl, has developed a fondness for books, and has formulated a philosophy which cannot accept the old gods of his fathers. In this frame of mind he is approached by a Christian priest who endeavors to convert him.

His friend, Nicetas, a worldly man, sees that the priest is about to succeed, and while he has no particular sentiment in the matter, he tells Paphnutius he had better not make any radical decisions until he has seen life, and to this he adds no man has seen life until he has seen Thais, a famous beauty of the city, whose many notorious love affairs have scandalized the known world even in those times of easy morals.

Accordingly Paphnutius goes with Nicetas to see Thais. He promptly becomes infatuated with her, and also catches her passing fancy. But leaving her home, he is set upon by another lover in jealous rage, and in self-defense kills the man. The murderer preys upon his mind because he had been told by the Christian priest that there is no forgiveness for such a sin, and at last he determines to make the bitterest atonement by joining the monks far out on the desert.

Time passes and Paphnutius, now a monk, becomes celebrated for his holiness. Thais has thought of him occasionally, a thing which is unusual in her, but she learns nothing from Nicetas beyond the fact that he has renounced worldly pleasures for Christianity. At last a holy brother suggests to Paphnutius that it would be a great aid to the Christian cause if Thais, queen of the sinful pleasures of the world, were to be converted. And after a time Paphnutius decides that it is his duty to undertake the great task.

So back he goes to Alexandria, dresses in rich garments lent him for the purpose by a friend, over his priestly garb, and goes to visit Thais. At first she is amused when he tells her of his purpose, and then, seeing him everywhere she goes, becomes afraid. He points out to her the shallowness of the pleasures she enjoys, and urges upon her the great benefits of the new religion.

Finally Thais yields. She will obey him in all things. He bids her destroy her treasures, renounce her vanities and go with him to become a nun. All of these things she does uncomplainingly. She takes the vows and assumes the veil, while Paphnutius, at that time one night, after the monks and announce that he has accomplished his task.

Thais spends many days at her novitiate, and then one night, after a stormy dream, runs away into the desert. She loses her way after long traveling, and falls dying. She recalls her sins then, and soon is found and taken back to the convent.

In the meantime Paphnutius, loving Thais despite himself, regrets that he has taken her from her life of luxury, and at last deserts his comrades and starts out to find her. He arrives just as she is breathing her last, and hears from her lips that she is consecrated to God, a sinner who has become a saint while he is a saint who has become a sinner.

NEED OF THE SWORD.

"The Sword of Jesus" is the caption of an article in the current number of The American Magazine by Harold Bell Wright. The article goes on to show that Jesus was for peace with justice and right but not for the sword to eradicate evil and check the enemies of humanity.

Here are a few paragraphs: "Whatever the combinations of political considerations that directly called the nations to arms, no diplomatic fog now clouds the reason of the world's mighty struggle.

"By desolated Belgium, by the sixteen fields of Flanders and by the horrors on the free and open seas the issue has been made clear. In the language of blood and tears, of brutal murder and cruel crucifixions of bestial rape and unspeakable outrages, the purpose of the conflict has been proclaimed. Out of the flaming hell of war itself, the cause has defined itself.

"And that cause is as world-old as the truths taught by the Man of Galilee, and to which he testified by his death upon the cross.

"The light of the world, kindled the fire of this world war in those days when he declared for the divine rights of humanity against the tyrannical rule of the world.

"Force is the only thing to use in dealing with a nation whose ruling heads have no conscience. And that is the evident condition in Germany.

"United State soldiers will remember the sinking of the Tuscania when they get ready to deliver blows at Prussian autocracy.

"A war of conquest for territory or power? No. A war of revenge against a tyrant? No. A war for the ambition of a ruler who would stretch his helpless subjects on the torture rack of indescribable suffering and death for the vanity of his empire? No. A war for oppress and enslave? No. A war for humanity? Yes. Dare any professed follower of Jesus contend that those who war for humanity was not for God?

"From the days when Jesus entered the lists to champion the physical cause of mankind, whose forces which held the world in physical, mental and spiritual slavery, mankind has been moving toward toward this hour of a decisive world war.

Here is the concluding paragraph: "By the frightful slaughter of women and children, by this war of hatred against the rights and human liberty, by the murder of sick and wounded, by the deeds of barbarous cruelty and savage outrage by the violation of every principle of Christianity, and by the denial of every truth that Jesus gave to men, we may hear the man of Galilee charge the men of this nation 'Go' and 'Lo, I am with you always.'

There is some consolation in the suggestion that we are not expected to make anything during the war. Some of us will not experience a shocking change from the condition previous to the war. The advantage in favor of the present is that we are not meeting expectations, and are before. Also for consolation, it is comforting to continue a time-honored custom of abstemiousness not forced by personal circumstance but by necessary government policy. It is refreshing to see government demands adjusted to long established personal habits. During the war an editor will not have to apologize for mentioning something nor feel aggrieved over the absence of luxury.

Ross Hammond of the Fremont Tribune, in writing that a Paris newspaper reported that President Wilson notified the inter-allied conference that when he got a large enough army on the western front he would quit attempting to get Germany and that if it were not accepted within forty-eight hours, he would ask congress to pass a law to bar German citizens and German goods from the United States for forty years. This measure would undoubtedly be followed by similar action on the part of other allied enemies of the Kaiser, and would cause a most serious hindrance to Germany's future life and commerce.

The Kaiser says he is for peace, but it must be a peace won by the German sword. Such a peace would mean submission on the world to a crushing and unbearable military machine. America will never stand for it. America wants peace, but it will not be a peace that will insure the future freedom of nations. Peace forced by the Prussian sword would mean universal vassalage to an imperial tyrant. Peace gained only by American arms would guarantee liberty to nations and individuals everywhere. There can be no satisfactory and enduring peace without complete surrender of the brutal German dynasty to the demands of humanity.

It is sad but true that kindnesses are often forgotten. Still we see kindnesses are frequently accepted and then snubbed as evidences of weak sentimentality. Christian civilization suggests that a man be kind and generous. Also Christian civilization spurns as an ingrate and semi-barbarian that creature who, grabbing favor, curls his lip and ejaculates by regarding his benefactor as an "easy mark." It is truly unfortunate if one must be coldly selfish, contrary to the christian ideal, in order to be considered in full possession of normal faculties.

Reports from France justify the claim that no soldier in the world is a match for the trained American soldier who shows superior initiative and superior skill. The American resourcefulness and the American sense of humor will help materially in winning the war for world freedom.

Preparations are going forward for the district teachers' meeting at this place next month, and it will be up to Wayne to dust around and show gets its usual quality of hospitality.

People will rejoice over the recovery of Colonel Roosevelt from his recent illness. He is an aggressive public man, and his counsel and force are needed in the present crisis of nations.

The Wayne Young Guard organization is moving off with encouraging numbers and spirit. Wayne was a little slow in starting, but is making up for its delay.

Force is the only thing to use in dealing with a nation whose ruling heads have no conscience. And that is the evident condition in Germany.

United State soldiers will remember the sinking of the Tuscania when they get ready to deliver blows at Prussian autocracy.

The two ladies took part in an animated, hoistered conversation during which Mrs. Owen read an original poem, portraying the strongest characteristic of each club member. It was well written and delivered. With Mrs. Armstrong at the piano, the ladies closed their part of the program with a delightful duet, "Genevieve." Mrs. E. E. THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

From the Wayne Herald, February 15, 1900: The thermometer registered 18 below zero. Charles Jeffrey purchased the land line of L. W. Ignes. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stone February 15, 1900. Robert W. Wilkins purchased a drum and broken bow. Bob, Robert Mellor, was summoned to Chicago by the illness of his father. The Acme club leaders gave a surprise party to W. Bartlett. Miss Mabel Martin, sister of Mrs. James Purterfield, fell and broke one of her arms. The Young Ladies' Cooking club was entertained at the home of Miss M. E. and Mrs. P. W. Oman and daughter left for Spokane, Wash., to make their home.

Ponca on Monday and failed in a few minutes. Mr. Martin stated that he went to St. James one day last week, and on the route he saw a great many farmers who were sowing wheat. One man near St. James had put in about forty acres. The health in Mr. Martin's vicinity is generally very good. There is no diptheria, says threats now - colds. Five or six families are expecting to move from eastern Iowa, in the spring, into his neighborhood, where they will find the best of land for grain raising and stock growing. Newcastle correspondence in Ponca Journal: Why does not some one circulate a petition to have our mail route run three times a week to this place, and on to Niobrara? It is strange that Uncle Sam should allow us to be imposed on in the way we are. Eight days to get a letter from Newcastle to Ponca, is an outrage. I know that everyone on this side of the river would sign a petition to have the route changed. Let some one try it.

Every application for a modification of this order shall be made in writing, and forwarded through the chairman of the fuel committee of the county in which the business is transacted; and it shall be supported by written evidence submitted with the application to the state administrator.

Any person aggrieved by the maximum margins hereby established, may appeal to the United States fuel administrator by forwarding to the legal department, United States Fuel Administration, at Washington, a verified written petition, setting forth in detail the facts relied upon, and by forwarding a copy of such petition to the State Fuel Administrator. Kennedy, Federal Fuel Administrator for Nebraska, February 4, 1918.

THURSDAY IS POTATO DAY Omaha, Neb., Feb. 13.-By proclamation, Food Administrator, Wattles has named Thursday of each week as potato day. On this day all merchants are urged to sell potatoes at reduced prices and to urge their consumption by the people of Nebraska. Mr. Wattles also permits potatoes to be sold as a substitute for wheat flour on Thursday, under these conditions: Purchaser must buy four pounds of potatoes for every pound of wheat flour bought, and cannot buy more than one-half the amount of substitutes in potatoes required under the six flour rule. The purpose of potato day is to save the great surplus of potatoes now in Nebraska and to prevent waste.

He is black, with star in face; weight close to a ton. He is a sure breeder and a wonderful sire, having colts to show. Pedigree can be seen on sale day.

Other horses in the offering include team of black mares, in foal, weight 2800, 5 years old, perfectly sound; bay team, mare and gelding, weight 2600, 3 and 4 years old; light team, for either driving or riding.

Five registered Shorthorn bulls, some Scotch. Some high grade 2-year-old heifers in calf; some last spring calves. These cattle are sired by Radium, No. 412345, my former herd bull, a beautiful roan bought from Howell Reese & Son.

Thirty Duroc Jersey Sows

These sows have been bred to a son of Premier Gano, of the Fred Swan herd of Missouri Valley, Iowa, to a son of King Climax of the Robert Pritchard herd, Carroll, Neb., and to a Big Sensation pig from the Edger Taylor herd, of Plainview, Neb., and are guaranteed to be safe in pig. These sows are bred for March and April farrow. This herd has had the benefit of the best blood lines of the Duroc Jersey breed for many years, and as a result the product is of the highest and most desirable type. Some of these sows are litter mates to male pigs sold at my sale last fall.

Chamberlain's Tablets.
These Tablets are intended especially for disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. If you are troubled with heartburn, indigestion or constipation they will do you good—Advt.

$100 Reward, $100
The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that at least one case of this disease has been cured in all its stages, and that the cure was made known to the medical profession. Chamberlain's Tablets, a positive cure now known to the medical profession, requires a constitutional treatment. Chamberlain's Tablets is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in driving out the disease. There has been so much faith in its curative power that many cases have been cured before any case that it fails to cure. Send for a free trial bottle. Write to Chamberlain, P. O. Box 38, Littlefield, Texas. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

NOT DUE TO SEX ALONE.

Wayne Women Have Learned The Cause of Many Mysterious Pains and Aches.

Many women have come to know that sex is not the cause for all diseases, dizzy headaches and urinary disorders. Men have these troubles, too, and often they come from kidney weakness. To five simply get Chamberlain's Tablets. The care of one's self and to use Doan's Kidney Pills, is bound to help bad kidneys get better. There is no other remedy so well recommended by Wayne people. Read this case:

Mrs. John Pawelski, Wayne, says: "I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Felsner's Pharmacy and they relieved me of lameness and a wearing ache in my back. They also removed weakness and a tired, worn-out feeling and caused my kidneys to act normally."

Prince 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Pawelski had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

About Constipation.
Certain articles of diet tend to check movements of the bowels. The most common of these are cheese, tea and boiled milk. On the other hand raw fruits, especially apples and bananas, also graham bread and whole wheat bread promote a movement of the bowels. When the bowels are badly constipated, however, the sure way is to take one or two of Chamberlain's Tablets immediately after supper—Advt.

WHY HE DIDN'T GET A RAISE
He stopped growing.
He had no initiative.
He watched the clock.
His temper kept him back.
He felt above his position.
His tongue outlasted his brain.
He was not ready for the next step.
He didn't put his heart into his work.
He believed in living as he went along.
His familiarity with inferiority dulled his ideals.
He was always grumbling. He was always behindhand.
He was not dependable, one never knew where to find him.
He never dared to act on his own judgment, did not trust it.
He was a half-breed, half-breed for training, preparation, expert knowledge.
He never seemed to learn anything from his blunders, mistakes or failures.
He lacked system, orderliness in his work. He was sloppy, slovenly, slipshod, lazy.
He believed he would never be promoted because he wasn't in with his boss and didn't have a pull with him.

ATCHISON GLOBE EIGHTS.
One thing about this war is that we will forever be hearing about it.

"When You Have a Cold."

It is when you have a severe cold that you appreciate the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. Frank Crocker, Pana, Ill., writes: "Our five-year-old son Paul caught a severe cold last winter that settled on his lungs and he had terrible coughing spells. We were greatly worried about him as the medicine we gave him did not help him in the least. A neighbor spoke so highly of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy that I got a bottle of it. The first dose benefited him so much that I continued giving it to him until he was cured."—Advt.

WOMAN'S WAR WORK

(By Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis.)
 "Women! Send your men to shipyards! Chases, Pies, fleet cooperation in a recent statement at Washington calls upon the women of America to aid in filling the labor need at shipyards. The shipping board has the necessary yards, the materials and the money, but men are needed. Send them to the shipyards," says Mrs. Pies and they will be doing no less service than in the army or navy, and they will be returned to you safe and well paid after having performed a duty that is a primal necessity of this war.

General Bershing's message is "make a bridge of ships to France." And this was the need most emphasized by Sir Frederick Smith, Attorney General of England, in his speech at the war council of the state council of defense at Lincoln three weeks ago. America needs to furnish money, men, food, clothing and ammunition, but all of these are of no avail without ships for transport. The woman who turns from her knitting to encourage a shipbuilder to do more rivers a day is serving her country. Men experienced in ship building trades should immediately enroll in their respective counties with the county councils of defense as ship builders.

Women of America to Aid in Work of "Rebuilding Crippled Soldiers."
 Professor Sarka Hrbkova, chairman of the Women's committee of the Nebraska state council of defense, is in receipt of information concerning the creation of a corps to be known as Reconstruction Aides, whose work will be to assist in the first step "rebuilding" and reeducating disabled soldiers sent back from France.

Plans call for the establishment of training centers to prepare women to enter the corps. Approved schools of physical education will also be utilized in this connection. The organization of the new department is a part of the "rebuilding" program of the government. The "Reconstruction Aides" will work in the "reconstruction hospitals."

Women's War Work in Wayne County

Last week we mentioned the various departments of work being carried on by the Women's committee of the council of national defense. Not all of these departments are, as yet, represented in Wayne county. Besides the untiring work being done in the Red Cross rooms in the different towns and work along this line in the schools and homes, the following departments of work have been organized in our county under the leadership of the various chairmen.

- Registration—County Chairman.
- Food Conservation—Mrs. J. Woodward Long.
- Liberty Loan—Mrs. Rollie Ley.
- Americanization—Mrs. Homer Sene.
- Educational Propaganda—Miss Pearl Sewell.
- Food Production—Mrs. Andrew Thompson.

DEDICATE GYMNASIUM

The Nebraska gymnasium was dedicated to the state yesterday with appropriate exercises starting with a regimental review by Governor Neville, in the morning a program in the afternoon consisting of speakers and music by the regimental band of the Third Hundred and Thirty-fourth ammunition train organization composed of Nebraskans.

The day was a complete success in every respect. The weather was ideal and many Nebraskans were out to this camp and enjoyed their visit with Nebraska soldiers. A camp memorandum was published by the commanding officers of the camp, urging all Nebraska men to attend the services and a full attendance was secured. Brigadier General Winn formally thanked the people of Nebraska for their contribution and explained that such buildings as the one erected by Nebraskans have been greatly needed.

in other states represented in the camp to follow the example set by Kansas and Nebraska. He stated that had such buildings been erected in the fall the progress of the training would have been greatly advanced.

Sufficient pledges have been made by Nebraskans to finance the building, but at least $1,000 still remains uncollected, and it is strongly urged by the governor and the state council of defense that all pledges be collected at once so that a Nebraska monument may be free of incumbrance, and complete.

THE FIELD OF BUSINESS

The City Journal, Plans of the government to withdraw the order establishing Monday holidays in the east—were made impossible of adoption last week by another unfavorable weather turn, and instead of the greatly improved fuel and transportation conditions that had been hoped for the situation was made again critical. As the week ended, however, a better state of affairs was reported and, weather allowing, the national fuel administrator indicated that today would be the last of the emergency holidays.

The monthly report of the federal reserve board indicated a generally improved business outlook for the country, despite the bad conditions of weather of fuel and transportation. But private reviews were inclined to place emphasis on the hardships to business inflicted by the railroad congestion. Retail purchases fell off because of reduced purchasing power in manufacturing sections, many mercantile orders were canceled because of retarded deliveries, and collections in many cases showed lapses.

There was apparent, however, no disposition to look pessimistically beyond the period of rigorous weather. The weather changes naturally had their effect on securities and grain quotations. Stocks were affected by the reduced capacity of manufacturing centers by new financial plans of the government, and by the sinking of the transport Tuscania. Acting shares dropped off somewhat during the week. The foreign situations had an influence also.

Grain prices did not vary a great deal, while they reflected changing supply conditions. Announcement of a new priority order favoring grains caused a drop Friday. March corn was highest at $1.27 3/8. No. 2 white oats touched 90 cents. Weakness in Liberty bonds and international—marked—the weeks Liberty 24s ranged from 98.46 to 98.80, first 4s from 96.50 to a new minimum of 96.26, and second 4s from 95.96 to a new minimum of 95.10. Time loans brought 5 1/2 to 6 per cent. Call money ranged from 3 1/2 to 3 3/4 per cent. A loan of $15,000,000 to France brought in the total of American advances to the allies to $7,684,000,000.

Important governmental measures to assure a flow of the maximum quantity of war supplies to Europe and to free shipping for transport service were formulated. The war industries board issued comprehensive priority regulations classifying from AA to C the various industrial products of the emergency, these classes AA being emergency war needs, those classed B being essentials not directly related to the war, and those classed C all others. Cotton duck, woolen cloth and copper, iron and steel products were included as important war necessities. Preference in manufacture and delivery is to be given according to the classification. The priority order in favor of grain, particularly soft corn, was issued partly at the instance of British representatives, who reported an alarming decrease in arrivals at tidewaters. The government plans to reduce, under a licensing system, all imports by about 50 per cent, it was intimated, in order to free shipping.

Gold exports were shown to have decreased to a total one-tenth that of last October, the licensing restriction causing the change.

Railroad earnings for 1917 were given as $988,000,000. This sum is approximately what will have to be paid to the railroads for 1918 by the government, under the administration's plan of guaranteed returns.

Brand Whitlock's "Belgium Under the German Heel" in The Journal. At last! The Truth About Belgium is to be told by Brand Whitlock, United States Minister to Belgium, exclusively for this territory in the Sunday Journal beginning February 17. This is the first complete, authoritative official record of that distressed country whose martyrdom has called the civilized world to arms.

It is a magnificent epic of the supreme tragedy of Belgium—the burning and blasting the rapine and desolation, and the crowning brutality, the murder of Edith Cavell. As if destined to preserve the story of Belgium's sacrifice, Mr. Whitlock was appointed minister to Belgium by the president in December, 1913—eight months before the German invasion. In his official capacity as minister, as director of American relief work, and as a trained observer of facts, he has had the bitter tragedy burned into his very soul. Now after three long years of silence comes his story, written from a journal kept faithfully day by day. Until the war is ended and the history of America's part in it is written there will be no bigger newspaper feature than this, which starts through a fortunate arrangement with Mr. Whitlock in the Sunday Journal February 17.

The Journal has likewise arranged for many other big things for the year 1918. Besides the eight serial novels already announced with more to come, arrangements have just been completed for an exclusive special leased wire and cable news service which will pour the latest war news and exclusive news stories from all over the world into the Journal office every day. This is in addition to the splendid news service already being given Journal readers. The price of the Journal remains at $4 per year daily or $6 with the big Sunday Journal.

WAYNE COUNTY WHEAT

Twentieth Century Farmer. On May 24 of last year we noticed a wheat field south of Wayne, Neb., that certainly looked unpromising. The owner confided to us that he was puzzled as to just what to do with it. If he plowed it up and put in corn it would necessitate more labor to take care of it than he felt that he could spare, as he was short of help already. Had a large acreage of corn as he had figured he wanted. He finally decided to leave it and see what it would do.

Last fall we saw the owner of this field again and asked him what the result had been from it. He told us that it produced eleven bushels of wheat to the acre and that it had been well worth leaving at the price of wheat, as it was of fine quality and brought him a goodly sum. His corn was more or less soft and he had all he wanted to take care of.

The early part of the winter this year our wheat fields showed a very poor growth. They went into the winter looking pretty good, but there has been considerable talk of having to plow them up in the spring, in spite of the better conditions that have prevailed since that time. Every man knows his own business best, and perhaps some of these fields should be plowed up, but this Wayne county man's experience may prove of value to other wheat growers. The world is short of wheat and the world wants wheat. Next year's crop is going to be in big demand. It is worth a pretty poor stand of wheat will pay.

MISSIONARY MEETING

The Missionary society of the M. E. church had an interesting program at the parsonage Thursday afternoon. Twenty-five ladies were present. Mrs. C. W. Mission had charge of the program, which follows: Lesson on Home Missions Movements and Their Leaders. Mrs. Crossland's discussion followed; devotions, Mrs. Richard Helt; reading, Mrs. E. Mrs. Clyde Oman sang a lesson on "Missionary Work Up to Date" was conducted by Mrs. H. H. Britch. The thank-offering amounted to $15.30. The program closed with the singing of the raly song.

Scafe of Winside and Albert MacGregor of Wayne, acted as referees. CARROLL FARMERS' UNION. Members of the Farmers' Union at Carroll had their annual meeting recently, and the report of the year's business proved most gratifying. Geo. E. Roe, formerly of Wayne, is manager of the business. The stockholders were so well pleased that they subscribed $3,200 additional capital for the institution before leaving the meeting. CRAZY. Columbus, Neb. Feb. 11. Peter Johnson, wealthy farmer residing seven miles north of Genoa, steadfastly refused to eat, sleep or even sit on a chair from the time he was in jail last Monday until Deputy Sheriff Alex Sherbahn took him to Norfolk Thursday evening for treatment at the state hospital. He paced the floor of the jail nearly fifteen hours in a stretch without a rest. Johnson, who owns 240 acres of Platte county land, was arranged before the insanity commission nearly a year ago. At that time he had not permitted his wife to go to town more than ten years. He denied his sons the privilege of attending social gatherings in the neighborhood, and ruled his home with the hand of a czar. The insanity commission at that time released him with a warning. Recently his treatment of his family, who go highly regarded in the home community, became such that another complaint was lodged against him, and Deputy Sheriff Sherbahn took him in custody Monday. He was given a hearing before the insanity commission that afternoon, and the board adjudged him insane. Efforts to prevail on Johnson to sit, eat or sleep while in jail, or even to sit down during the hearing, were futile. He met them, with the reply that he knew that if he did, so they were but in his own home it would make him a citizen of the United States. He wasn't going to do anything that would sever his allegiance to the king of Sweden. Though he has acquired a fortune in the United States, he has never taken out naturalization papers. In the presence of his family and later in the presence of the officers he made remarks uncomplimentary to the United States government and the flag, but they were ascribed to a mind unbalanced. CROP VALUES. The values of farm products of the United States for the year 1917 reached the tremendous and unprecedented sum of $19,443,849,000, an increase of more than six billion over the values of 1916 and almost nine billion more than the 1915. The department of agriculture has just issued a preliminary estimate for last year showing crop values of $13,610,663,000, representing 70 per cent of the value of all farm products for the year, and $5,833,386,000, the value of animals and animal products of our farms. By far the greatest and best countries of the farmers of the country now are the United States and our allies. The money used by all the allied governments in purchasing the products of American farms raised by the sale of Liberty bonds. Part is spent by the United States itself and part loaned to our allies. In lending to the United States, therefore, the American farmer is simply enabling his best customers to purchase his products and receiving in return the best security that the world affords. Farly support the financial undertakings of the government.

director of eastern railroads has been instructed to rush empty box cars to western lines in preference.

Please secure the cooperation of grain dealers, farmers and interested communities to facilitate accumulation and prompt loading of all kinds of grain. Have traffic representatives and station-agents aid in this work.

This means that to the extent necessary to fill the requirements available box car equipment suitable for use in handling these commodities will be confined to this class of traffic. Preference and priority in car supply also means preference and priority in movement of this class of traffic over everything except fuel and fuel oil. STARCH FROM POTATOES.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 9.—Assurances that an expert in the potato starch business will be sent to Nebraska within a few days have been received by Director C. W. Pugsley of the agricultural extension service, from the United States department of agriculture. One proposal is that the vast quantities of potatoes in western Nebraska be turned into starch.

Mr. Pugsley estimates that there are 2,500 cars of potatoes in the hands of growers in Nebraska. Last year these growers were asked to increase production. They did so and now cannot find a market for their potatoes. Unless some means is found in the next few days to turn so good account the supply, production next year will naturally be decreased.

Consequently Mr. Pugsley asks that as far as possible those observing potato days on Thursday each week buy Nebraska potatoes and thereby help out their own state. Such potatoes are being sold in western Nebraska at the rate of 75 cents to 90 cents a bushel. Western growers are reported to be willing to take whatever the market price may be in order to get rid of their stocks.

Potatoes from western Nebraska can be shipped to Lincoln a great deal cheaper than can potatoes from Minnesota or other states that have been suggested as possible sources of supply for potato day. The freight rate from Gordon in Sheridan county is 17 cents a hundred pounds, from Kimball 19 cents, from Scottsbluff 20 cents, and from Alliance 17 cents. The freight rate from Red River, Minn., is 30 cents a hundredweight, from Crookston, Minn., 30 cents, and from Sahlin, Minn., 28 cents. Mr. Pugsley believes that potatoes from Nebraska can be sold at a much cheaper price than can those from other states.

The potato starch business seems to be the most profitable means of handling the potato crop. The extension service believes that with an expert, such as the department of agriculture has promised to find, money may be raised in the potato country sufficient to equip a small commercial plant and put it in operation.

Potato starch can be made at home with little trouble according to Mr. Pugsley. It is only necessary to wash the potatoes, as by immersing them in a tub of water, and then grind them up. The ground potatoes are then mixed with water and allowed to settle. The starch goes to the bottom. The residue on top is skimmed off and the water is then poured off. More clean water is added and the mass thoroughly stirred up. The water is again drained off. After two or three such washings a white starch will result.

Potato flour, which has been allocated as a substitute for wheat flour, varies somewhat. The potatoes are cooked and then peeled. The potatoes are usually being cut into thin slices, allowed to dry and afterward they are ground up into flour. One of the principal differences between potato starch and flour is the fact that in making the starch the potatoes are not cooked. Potato flour has the cellular structure in it as well as the starch.

As far as Lincoln is concerned, Mr. Pugsley has assurances from Mayor J. Miller that any association of growers can come to Lincoln and sell their potatoes without any city tax. In peddling from cars they would be subject to the restrictions of the rulings of the commerce and railway commissions. In most cases the growers would probably rent a storeroom temporarily to hold their product.

LOOK AFTER PRISONERS

U. S. Soldiers Captured by Enemy to be Fed Through Red Cross.

Parents who have thought of prison life in Germany as perhaps the worst experience that could befall their sons in the American army will find in the service that the American Red Cross has provided to supply prisoners with food, further proof of the great value of this organization.

The plan briefly is this: The American Red Cross committee stationed in Berner, Switzerland, will send each American prisoner three ten-pound packages, one being every two weeks. Already enough supplies are in Switzerland or on their way there to care for 10,000 American prisoners for a period of six months.

Naturally General Pershing is now planning to let the Germans capture that many American soldiers, but the Red Cross is measuring the prospects by what has happened to the French and English in gigantic engagements when both sides lose heavily.

This same Red Cross bureau will be the sole agency licensed by the war trade board to transmit money to American and allied prisoners in Germany. The German government never yet has had occasion to doubt the good faith of the American Red Cross, so that its relief plans are certain of execution.

Stories about the starvation of prisoners in Germany have been printed so frequently in this country that many parents will consider the Red Cross plan worth all the money they have contributed to it if it did not attempt any other form of war relief work. The kind and amount of food to be sent every two weeks to each American prisoner will be determined by expert dietitians.

RAILROAD ORDER.

Ultimate, Neb., Feb. 8.—The following instructions have been issued by the director general of railroads:

"On account of the vital necessity of gathering and forwarding immediately all available grain and grain products for our armies and allies abroad, you will, for the present, give preference and priority in furnishing box cars for grain and grain products in the states of Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, with the exception of less than carload merchandise, print paper and paper pulp. OUR BOYS.

(Bixby)

Five hundred thousand men in France.

To me the thought is fine—
Now let us see the Prussians dance
Right back across the Rhine,
The better than the best of men—
Until their chance for life is gone.

Five hundred thousand men now gone
Across the ocean's foam:
A million more to follow on—
Now training here at home.

And millions more if there be need,
Since heaven knows we must succeed.

Five hundred thousand men—the line
Is stretching far and free;
And yonder rolls the turbid Rhine
Toward the crimson sea.
I rather think the Teutons should Cross quickly while the crossing's good.

Five hundred thousand men, who pause
Not in their righteous plan
To fight and die in freedom's cause,
And for the rights of man,
Lord give them valor to succeed,
And strength according to their need.

Five hundred thousand men on hand
To purge this sick old earth,
Be it the price of freedom's birth,
Where liberty had birth.
They fight with singleness of mind,
To make earth free for all mankind.

Five hundred thousand men the sword
Of righteousness to wield;
Bewitch them and sustain them, Lord,
On every levelled field,
Since truth and justice must prevail,
Be with them; they shall never fall!

CARS NEEDED.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 11.—"Heart-breaking" is the way the state council of defense describes the transportation situation with regard to the movement of cars for transporting corn in Nebraska. A message was recently sent to Director of Railroads McAdoo explaining the necessity of cars for the movement of corn, but satisfactory results have not been obtained, says the council.

With millions of bushels of corn lying out in the open and with the coming of spring, members of the corn committee are beginning to worry over the possibility of no relief being secured until it is too late.

Vice Chairman Coupland of the Nebraska state council of defense has sent the following telegram to W. S. Gifford, council of national defense, Washington:

"We have a most serious situation in Nebraska regarding the marketing of our corn crops. Millions of bushels of corn are now lying on the ground waiting for cars to take it to market. Heavy food and financial loss will inevitably result unless relief comes quickly. Please have the national council take this matter up directly with Mr. McAdoo and urge upon him the extreme seriousness of the situation."

"At the same time Governor Neville, who is chairman of the state council, sent a telegram to Director General McAdoo setting forth the need of cars in Nebraska for the carrying of corn.

Letters are being received by the state council from county organizations and farmers in all parts of the state telling of the urgent need for cars in their localities. Thurston county reports over a million bushels of corn in that county alone, lying on the ground and liable to spoil unless moved at once.

See the Asbestos Sweat

Come and See Why

Copper-Clad Range

Do Not Rust Out

A section of a range body is heated and there on the iron body is the sweat from the asbestos. Right before your eyes you see just exactly what happens every time you build a fire in your range. You see why the sheet of copper is used and what it does and how it does it. You take nobody's word—you see you know—absolutely, positively.

Save a Thousand Shovels of Coal-Every Year

You know how the many walls and air spaces of a thermos bottle hold the heat. You know that a house with a single wall is not as warm as the house with two walls and an air space. You know that storm windows, two windows with a space between, are much warmer than a single window, even if it is as thick as the two windows. The Copper-Clad Range has four walls and an air space. See what it means in fuel saving.

"Oh—You Beauty!"

That's what comes to your mind every time you go in the kitchen and see the Copper-Clad Range. It is an inspiration, because the finest known example of the art of range making. It is a picture because so pleasing a statue because ideal in proportions—a symphony because of the perfect performance.

Copper-Clad means that a sheet of pure Copper is BETWEEN the sweaty asbestos and Range body.

To place it elsewhere would be like climbing on a roof to get out of the rain.

RAISED CORN BREAD. Mrs. J. G. Hess of this city calls to the attention of the local food administrator the following recipe taken from a Sioux City paper, and which she found very acceptable:

Sioux City, Ia., Feb. 2, 1918.—To the Editor: Since the government has sent out its diet-enforcing the conservation plan, and corn and barley and rye are to be used now by the bakers, perhaps many of the good housewives will welcome this recipe for making "raised corn bread."

Do not confuse it with "hot cake," "Johnnycake" and the like, for it is not a flat bread. The recipe came to me from my mother. I give it because many have asked for it.

Put boiling water over one quart of corn meal till same is well moistened but not stiff, when cool add from three to four cups of "light bread sponge," one-half cup shortening, one egg sugar, two tablespoons lard, and salt to taste. Mix all together and let rise till light.

Stiffen with wheat flour till quite stiff and let rise again. Now pour into loaf pans and let rise a third time and bake as other bread.

"Raised corn bread" is best served very warm but as it can be as readily stored as other bread, it is sliced and steamed. Try it and you will make it often.

TO USE RIGHT-OF-WAY.

In reply to queries concerning the use of railroad right-of-way for gardening and crop growing, C. W. Pugsley, director of the extension service, makes this explanation:
—I am in receipt of letters from the presidents of all the railroads operating in Nebraska to the effect that the right-of-way can be used by responsible citizens for other than the use of the right-of-way. It will be necessary to make application to the local railroad agent. The agent will forward this application to the proper department of the railroad. It is well to make application early, for the most desirable portions will be in considerable demand.
The railroads will favor the use of the land by farmers with farms adjoining, and naturally employees will have first choice.

AN APPEAL FROM THE RED CROSS.

(By Committee.)
Let us know that you are with us in heart and behind us in a financial way by purchasing tickets to the joint musical concert to be given at the Normal auditorium Sunday afternoon, February 24.

We need your help now more than ever before as our American soldier boys are beginning to suffer the real horrors of war and the Red Cross needs your help more than ever before. Everything we do for our boys puts courage into their hearts and power into their elbows.
—Sidney Silber, pianist and Carl F. Steckelberg, violinist, are men of international reputation—men we cannot afford to miss hearing. All receipts above actual expenses are to go to the Red Cross. These patriotic men are donating their services to this great cause. We need your assistance.

AS TO RYE FLOUR.

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 13.—Rye flour is not a substitute for wheat flour, says Administrator Waite. The impression in some places seems to be that it is, but it is not. Rye flour may be sold without substitutes, however.
Whole wheat and Graham flours are not substitutes for wheat flour and they must be sold with substitutes. However, purchasers in buying substitutes with whole wheat or Graham flours must buy six-tenths as much substitutes as of wheat flour. In short, for every ten pounds of whole wheat or Graham flour purchased, six pounds of substitutes must be bought.

THE EYES OF LINCOLN.

Sad eyes that were patient and tender, sad eyes that were steadfast and true, and warm with the unchanging splendor of courage no ills could dim. Eyes dark with the dread of the morrow, and woe for the day that was gone, the sleepless companions of sorrow, the watchers that witnessed the dawn. Eyes tired from the clamor and goading and dim from the stress of the years, and hollowed by pain and foreboding, and strained by repression of tears. Sad eyes that were wearied and blighted, by visions and sieges and wars, that watch over a country untried from the luminous slopes of the stars.—Walt Mason.

FOR 30-DAY FLOUR SUPPLY.

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 13.—To straighten out the confusion with regard to exchange of wheat for flour at the mill by farmers, Food Administrator Waite has emphasized this ruling:
"Farmers may exchange wheat grown by them for flour at the mill for not more than a thirty days' supply."

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS.

Some parents think their responsibility to their children ceases when they become old enough to be turned loose.

Some people talk too much about hypocrites, and don't spend enough time admiring the many sincere people in the world.

A Hint to the Aged.

If people past sixty years of age could be persuaded to go to bed as soon as they take cold and remain in bed for one or two days, they would recover much more quickly, especially if they take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There would also be less danger of the cold being followed by any of the more serious diseases.—Adv.

Advertisement for Ahern's Suits. Text: "Would you like first choice of the spring coats and suits? They are here for you. Several thousand dollars worth of the coats and suits which we bought for selling in our special sales in other towns are already here. More are arriving daily by express from the best factories of the east. If you wish you may make a selection from these hundreds of beautiful garments before they are taken out to the other towns. Early buying is advisable because our factories have already written us that they can get no more all wool materials and we can only expect to receive as many garments as our purchases already made call for. The prices are very reasonable—the factories bought their materials months ago while it was still possible to get all wool cloths at reasonable prices. But when our first purchases are exhausted no more can be had—so BUY EARLY. NOW IS THE TIME. Ahern's Suits $25.00 to $48.00."

War Duty

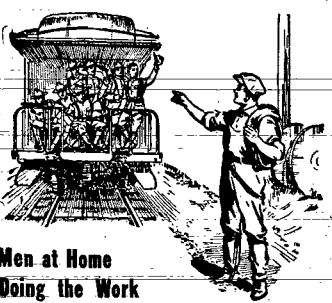

War regulations are made for their effect on the battle fields of Europe. Where they affect you, it involves your patriotism—you help to win or lose. Never in history has so much been demanded of railroads. The movement of material and finished product for Uncle Sam is a gigantic task. It will affect you—in car shortage, delays, comfort and earning power. It is but a "slight inconvenience" compared with results of German victory. Show the fighting spirit—Help when ever you can—Help Uncle Sam—Help our boys in France—Help the railroads in their vital work of serving the Nation.

Telephone Men at Home Are Doing the Work of Those Going to War

Until employees are trained to take the places of those who have joined the colors, these telephone workers who are remaining at home must shoulder the load.

The thousands of skilled telephone workers who have gone into the army cannot be readily replaced.

One man in every six from our telephone maintenance and construction forces is now in some branch of the military service.

Between the various training camps, military and supply depots scattered all over the country, the number of telephone calls has been steadily increasing.

Private business, accelerated by the war, has required constantly increasing amounts of additional telephone equipment and service.

There is also an astonishing demand for telephone equipment for the training camps here and for the armies in Europe, and the cost of telephone equipment and materials is now double what it was three years ago.

These extraordinary demands for telephone service and equipment for government and private needs have come upon the Bell Telephone companies when they are short more than 8,600 trained men who have gone into the army.

In spite of the war and what it has meant to this company in the increased number of telephone messages to handle, the enlistment of so many of our trained men, the shortage of equipment, the scarcity of labor and the high cost of telephone materials—

In spite of all these obstacles, we are meeting the needs of the public for telephone service in a remarkably successful way.

St. Paul's English Lutheran Church.
(Rev. J. H. Fetters, Pastor).

Sunday school meets at 10 a. m. Public worship with sermon at 11 a. m. The subject of the sermon is "The Great Salvation." Evening worship at 7:30. Subject: "The Great Magnet."

Luther league meeting at 6:45 p. m. The general theme for study during the Lenten season is the life of the Master. The specific subject for next Sunday is "His Heavenly Life." Miss Nina Thompson will conduct the meeting.

The Ladies' Aid will be entertained at its next meeting at the home of Mrs. Rogers, Thursday, February 21. In view of the important Red Cross quilt work the ladies are now doing, it is earnestly desired that every flag with twelve stars has been ordered for the church and we expect to have it in place by next Sunday.

The expected appeal, spoken of in these columns a few weeks ago is before us. The National Lutheran Commission for Soldiers and Sailors' Welfare has issued a call to the church to raise $250,000 to send Lutheran pastors to the 165,000 Lutheran boys in the training camps of our country. The church is trying to meet its duty in this emergency. It is calling upon every Lutheran to assist in realizing its expectation. What will the church do to comfort and strengthen the boys? Can the church face the boys on their return from the front, when it failed to do its duty toward them in their hour of need? We cannot afford to fail in this test. Every boy deserves the same pastoral care in camp and at the front that they have at home. Our duty is to make such oversight possible.

This movement has the hearty endorsement of President Wilson and other government officials. Secretary Daniels says: "No service is of greater importance and benefit to the men in uniform than that which ministers to their moral and spiritual preparation for the great tasks and great responsibilities which they are facing." It is gratifying that the Lutheran church has recognized so fully its duty to the Lutheran men in the service. Dr. John R. Matt says: "The Y. M. C. A. is a body of laymen and volunteer chaplains are pastors. Together they represent the church. Both are indispensable to army—and navy. They should seek in every way in their power to support each other. The Y. M. C. A. cannot perform the functions of a pastor."

Let us remember that the budget is $19,000 and this is the least amount with which the commission can carry on the work it has planned. A local committee has been appointed to organize teams to canvass every Lutheran in the locality. The campaign will run from February 18 to 26. The canvass is distinctly a community and church-wide effort. It demands the most pronounced manifestation of christian service possible. The issue is squarely before us—must rise to the occasion, showing our willingness to take up the burden of our soldiers and sailors, spiritually. It may mean some sacrifice to fulfill Christ's mission in this emergency; but the cause justifies the sacrifice.

NOTICE.

In compliance with the request of the national government and that of the state board of defense a number of farmers and citizens of Wayne county met at the town hall and formed an organization on date of February 7, 1918. This organization shall be called the Wayne County Farmers' and Citizens' Association. The following officers were elected: W. L. Dayton, chairman; Neil Johnson, vice-chairman; Otto Ulrich, secretary-treasurer, and H. J. Miner, Sam Jenkins, David Davis and Geo. F. Drevsen, board of directors.

The board will hold its next meeting at the Wayne town hall on February 18. All members interested in this movement may obtain further particulars by consulting members of the board or may be present at the next meeting. Otto Ulrich, Secretary-Treasurer.
