CLASS PLAY BIG SUCCESS

Juniors Present "Our Starry Banner"—Pine Patriotic Drama...

The class play, presented by the juniors of the Normal Tuesday night, was in all respects, a spirited and successful performance.

Usually the plays presented at the Normal have been from the standpoint of literature, of high class.

This was certainly a joy to see when the play was given and when the people played at being actors.

Since in the grand actuality of war, have taken from the class so many of its young men, it became necessary for the young women to act as men.

The play is strung upon the thread of two love stories and a plot to ruin the line of a young soldier.

When they heard the strains of "Tenting Tonight," laughed with content abandon over the domestic drama.

They explain that they were incensed and prompted to give resistance by what appeared to them a mandatory order to close.

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher

DON'T GET EXCITED.

We're building up a mighty force, to do some heavy scrapper; and now and then our work is coarse—mistakes are bound to happen. We haven't made of war a trade, like some bloodthirsty nations; so we get sidetracked and delayed, in handling guns and rations. If, while we arm two million men, that Wilhelm may be blighted, we pull a bonehead now and then, oh, friends, don't get excited! Consider that for fifty years we've spent our summers farming; we've stopped our hogs and fed our steers, while war struck kings were arming. We've strung along on peaceful jobs, our barns and silos filling, while Europe moldered her mobs, and set the fat guys drilling. Gore is a thing we all abhor; we thought we'd never shed it; so we are green at making war—perhaps it's to our credit. Oh, we have sandbars in our feet, and have siced in our tresses, and we have raised a lot of wheat, and tamed the wilderness. And war's a graft entirely strange to us and all our leaders, who spent our lifetime at the grange, a pushing plows and seeders. So, if we mess around a bit, and cross our wires and blunder, tell me, O critic, while you critic, is not a great wonder?

WINTER WEARINESS.

I'm tired of snow, I'm tired of sleet, I'm tired of both together;

I'm tired of storms that save the wheat, I'm sick of winter weather; I try to be a cheerful guy, I strive to chirp and chortle, and hand-some glee, as I pass by, to every sighing mortal. To find some joy in everything is always my endeavor. But how can one rear up and sing, when winter lasts forever? How can I mistrust sweat his lyre to utter and pleasing numbers, when he is naught to feed the fire, and freezes when winter lasts forever? How can I think the cold will break, the winter be exhausted, and every morning when I wake I find my whiskers frosted. Each day I see some hopeful sign that spring at last is coming; and in the night, at half past nine, I hear a blizzard humming. I'm tired of chills in my toes, I'm tired of influenza; I'm tired of getting my clothes from back of the McKenzie. I'm tired of ice in sheets and peaks, of aspishes large and dirty; I'm tired of every blast that shrieks from up around Albany. I'm tired of grates and hay chairs, when I'd be out choo-chooing; this climate's built for polar bears, and hence my loud hoo-hooing.

THE GLAD SEASON.

Fair Spring will soon be springing the climate we adore; each passing day is bringing her closer than before; fair Spring, whose fragrant billies will drive away the willies; and nann-voats and billies will gambol on the shore. The King that chill the gizzard, soon shall say farewell; the wild bewiskered blizzard no more shall roar and yell; but Spring will show some power, and show our frosted noses, and carpet with her roses the meadow and the dell. The brooks will jiggle babble along their pebbled beds; the guinea hens will gobble the happy ducks will quack; good by to crazy snowing! So glad the winter's going, the muley cow is lowering until she comes to land. Fair Spring will break the shackles that gall the voter's soul; for in the Spring he tackles no job of pushing into a furnace-crater, whose appetites grow great each day, and soon or later will put him in the hole. Now signs are in existence that Spring is close at hand; she's putting up the distance, she comes to beat the band; along her course she tecters, to banish coal and heaters, and fill with joyous skeeters the flower-bespangled land.

FOUR YEARS AGO.

Four years ago the nations smiled; no sword had flashed, to breed them; so tame they were, a little child seemed competent to lead them. The children sailed their paper boats and had no thought of sorrow; their parents fed the pigs and goats, and planned work for the morrow. Most kings observed the rules of Hoyle, and tried to do their reigning so well there'd be no fond turmoil of beating or complaining. But one was dreaming on his throne a maudlin dream of glory; he'd make all lands and crowns his own—you know the weary story. Because the madman dreamed his dream, the world is rent and shaken; and still the goring vultures scream o'er red fields. God forsaken. Four years ago the farmers moved their harvest in the valley, where cannon balls tear up the road, and battered armies rally, and they'd have laughed with silly scorn had any one forecasted that all their farms would soon be torn, and stained with blood and blood. Still must our banners be unfurled, the cup of wrath be tasted, still must the manhood of the world be thrown away and wasted, until we're safe from madmen's wars, made safe by stern endeavor; till the war lords and their schemes are beaten down forever.

HOW TO END IT.

Ge, whiz, but I am weary, of war, that does not cease; my eyes are red and bleary. I've wept so much for peace; for peace that is departed, and has been gone for years; and I am broken hearted, and tired of squinting tears. My watch I have been keeping, and watching but dejects; long long I have been weeping, in seven fields. At last I see quite plainly that tears won't help us win; and now, to act more sanely I promise to begin. I'll help to end the scurrying, and bring peace back again, by doing sly trapping, and digging up the yen. The man who takes his shillings, and buys a baby now, does more like killing o'er there, across the pond, than forty reubens wailing, and beating of their slats, with strips of paper, to end the wailing, and bring peace back again, by doing sly trapping, and digging up the yen. The man who lends his money to good old Uncle Sam, makes all the outlook sunny; from York to Yuba, Dan, Ober, I'm sick of fighting! I'd see the end of peace upon our flag alighting, as fair and slick as grease; that I may buy; and thus I'll push the stinger in Kaiser Billy's eye.

THE WORKDAY WORLD.

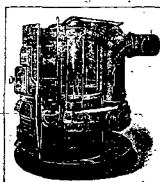

While we are bent and sweating beneath our working clothes, let's not quite forgetting our everyday affairs.—The spring will be arriving before we wist or wot, and we should all be striving to have a garden plot in the town. In large spade every knoll and tor, and grow string beans like thunder; for beans will win the war. The spring is fast approaching, with mild reviving rains, and conscience should be broaching a cleaning up campaign. Oh let us, neighbors, rally to beat the trash away; the dead cat in the alley, the scattered leaves and hay; there'll be a plague to swat us, and mow our numbers down. If we don't hump, dot rot us, and brighten up the town. In large highflutin we may, when work is done, denounce the looting Teuton, whose course will soon be run. But such a course is dubious when there is work to do; we should be carting rubbish the noisome alleys through. Now comes the first approaching winter, and prepare to plant a seed or kernel, or raise a Belgian hare; to make two succatasches grow up where one has grown; and the shu that smashes the kaiser from his throne. Oh, buckle down, fair neighbor, though toil you may abhor; get down to useful labor, for work will win the war.

CARHART HARDWARE

MARK A. MILLER.

Sioux Falls Daily Argus-Leader, February 23: Mark A. Miller, traveling superintendent of the John W. Tutthill Lumber company, passed away at 3 o'clock this morning at his home, 916 South Minnesota avenue, after an illness of several weeks with complication of heart trouble. He is survived by his wife.

The funeral service will be held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Methodist church, and interment will be made at Woodlawn cemetery. Relatives here to attend the funeral are his father, Wm. Miller, of Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. Person, of Stanton, Neb.

Mark Miller was born in Carmen, Ill., May 23, 1870. At an early age his parents moved to southwestern Iowa and later to Wayne, Neb., where his earlier days were spent upon a farm. In 1892 he was married to May Chace, an old schoolmate.

In 1895 he first entered the lumber business as yard man in one of the yards at Randolph, Neb.; later he was in the employ of the St. Croix Lumber company, first as yard manager at Welcome, Minn., and later as traveling auditor, until February 1, 1903, when he came to Sioux Falls as traveling auditor for the John W. Tutthill Lumber company. Two years later he was made traveling superintendent, which position he held until the time of his death.

As a business man he was held in high esteem by his employers and all his business associates. He had a wide circle of acquaintance among the lumbermen of the north-west—and was highly regarded for his kindly spirit, his shrewd business judgment and keen insight into all the problems of the lumber business. He has been active in the work of various lumbermen's associations at different times, holding positions as director of the Northwestern Iowa Lumbermen's association, and last year was elected as one of the directors of the Northwestern Lumbermen's association, but felt compelled to decline the position on account of his illness.

Mr. Miller was a member of the Methodist church of this city and active in all of its work; he was a member of the official board and had been practically since he first took up his residence in Sioux Falls. He was a member of the building committee at the time of the erection of the new church and active in pushing the work on the new building. Of recent years his greatest interest had been in the music of the church, he having been a member of the choir for a number of years. He was a Mason and a member of Unity lodge No. 130.

Mr. Miller was always interested in anything pertaining to the betterment of the community, the church and the business life with which he was associated, and was always ready to do his part in furthering any improvement or reform.

Helps the housewife to save butter, lard, suet; improves fried foods and salad dressings.

FOOD Administrator Hoover says that 375,000 tons of animal fats can be saved yearly if one-third ounce less is used per capita per day—and he asks every American to do his share.

He says use vegetable oils in cooking.

And thousands of housewives today are congratulating themselves that they have at last found—in Mazola—a vegetable oil which is even better than the old cooking mediums.

Mazola is a pure product from American corn.

It shows food quickly, preventing that greasiness and sogginess which used to be so prevalent in fried or sautéed dishes.

And since Mazola does not carry taste or odor from one food to another it can be used over and over again—a great force for economy.

If you want an especially delicious marmalade or French dressing use Mazola. There is no need to give up salads because of the uncertain supply or high prices of olive oil.

Get Mazola from your grocer in pint, quart, half-gallon or gallon tin. The large sizes are the most economical. Also ask for the free Mazola Book of Recipes—we will write it direct.

THE WAYNE HERALD

I pledge allegiance to my flag and to the Republic for which it stands; one nation indivisible with Liberty and Justice to all.

Don't rock the boat.

If one is sufficiently busy serving the cause of the government he will not have the time nor the inclination to pick flaws in the patriotic efforts of fellow workers.

The Wayne County Pure Breed Live Stock Breeders' association has good reason to feel proud of the results of its initiation and leadership in the late Red Cross sale.

The Red Cross sale in Wayne was a grand triumph of the noblest attributes in men and women. The outpouring of gifts for a beneficent cause showed a unity of feeling and a wave of generous giving that will be heavily in the scale for human liberty.

Reports of the valor and effective skill shown by American soldiers in the battle line in France justify the highest expectations of friends at home. The finest fighting force in the world will be contributed by the United States to the cause of democracy.

Interest in the war has so overshadowed other considerations that little attention has been paid to the fact that a general election will be held next fall. County officers will be elected for four-year terms, according to a new law passed by the last Legislature.

No sooner are people asked by speakers over the state to entirely cut out use of wheat bread and pork than the food administrator at Washington issues an order reducing restrictions on the use of pork. This lack of consistency ought to be remedied, so that the public may respond dutifully but not unnecessarily. Reducing the restriction on use of pork is calculated to stimulate conservation of wheat which is said to be the one article in greatest need at this time.

UNJUST CRITICISM.

We understand the opinion has been expressed that newspapers were not doing their full share in public service by not donating display advertising space. It is not pleasant to obtain notice in this order to quiet unwarranted criticism. The Herald's experience in serving different branches of the growing advertising service is the experience in varying degrees of all other newspapers. Every branch of the public service has requested and has received many free readers. Every week since the war started, the Herald has furnished each space without thought of charge to different departments requiring publicity. In almost every mail come requests for space, and in every case the request has been granted so far as capacity would permit.

The liberty loan, Red Cross, war saving stamps, civil service, United States navy, food conservation, convict coffee, women's committee of defense, Junior Red Cross, four-minute men, registrars in selective draft, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A. and K. of C. besides different local enterprises, have all received many shares of free publicity. Within an hour one afternoon not long ago, six representatives of six different departments of the service called on the Herald to ask for free space, and in each case the request was ungrudgingly granted. Even the job department has yielded gratuitously in a number of cases. The line has been drawn on display advertising. The Herald has never turned a deaf ear to any solicitation for cash or other aid in the interest of any worthy public enterprise.

"But the publications mentioned are news," some one retorts. Then advertisements for merchandise and pure breed live stock, etc., are news. As a matter of fact, which happily most people understand, propaganda is not news, a studied article to further either public or private enterprise, is not news. News is stripped of verbiage designed to catch popular patronage.

Whenever a merchant thinks if different organizations called on him every day of the week for and received free contributions of goods, and then he hears a complaint that he was not doing his part worth while for the public service? Let it be clearly understood that the free service rendered by this paper every week to different branches of the government and to local organizations, all in the interest of the war and world freedom, is gladly given, but also let it be just as clearly understood that we will not, in view of the facts, remain silent under the whip of capricious criticism. If you do not know what an individual or institution is doing, find out before giving vent to faultfinding.

OUR WAR PROSPECTS.

LINCOLN, JAN. 28.—The publication of peace terms between Russia and Germany makes it clear that Russia is for the time being, out of the war. We cannot tell what may follow, but it is clearly understood that the revolution in Russia thus far is the substitution of the kaiser for the czar in western Russia while northern and southern Russia are vassal states of the czar, not directly under the bayonets of German soldiers. Whether the Russians will accept kindly from the Germans a tyranny which they do not desire, and revolutionary activities when it proceeded from a czar of their own race remains yet to be seen. The bolshevik, it will be observed, have agreed in their peace treaty to "refrain from all agitation or provocation" against Germany. As a government they will have to observe this agreement on pain of renewed invasion. Even individual terrorist activities will bring down the wrath of the Germans. It was such propaganda that gave the pretense for the invasion of Serbia which started this war.

So probably Russia is definitely, out of it, a dismembered giant. Germany is at peace in the east. It will have access to such food as can be wrested from the Russians. Where does this leave us? It is to be hoped awakened to the fact that our sole object in life for as many years as may be necessary must be the slaying of the monster now devastating the world. We have a task even greater of a Hercules in slaying the hydra of German militarism. Germany is not made invincible by its new access to supplies in Russia any more than we are made invincible by our access to supplies in South America and Asia. It may enslave the Russian, but that will take strength. To beat Germany is merely a matter of time. We should lay our plans as if that time were to be five years. We must give up our selfish individualism and pool everything for the great task.

COMING TO WAYNE SOON.

PAUL JONES FLAG IS FLOWN

Memorial of the Revolution is Once More—Plung to the Breach in Centerville, Md.

A relic of the Revolution has once more been flung to the breeze in Centerville, Md., the flag carried by the Ranger of the Continental navy, commanded by John Paul Jones. This is said to have been the first American flag ever thrown to the breeze in Europe; and is owned by William Anthony. It has the original 13 stars and stripes.

Though torn and worn at its end from whipping in the ocean gales, the flag still is in a fairly good state of preservation. The frigate Ranger was the first vessel to carry the flag into European waters. Paul Jones' flag was made by the girls of Portsmouth, N. H., from their silk gowns. The first country in the old world to salute the Stars and Stripes was France, one of her men-of-war firing the salute as Jones came in sight of the French coast. He carried the dispatches announcing the surrender of Burgoyne.

The 13 stars in the flag were out from the wedding gown of Miss Helen Seavey of Portsmouth, who had married an officer in the Continental army. The great-grandfather of Mr. Anthony was a sailor on the Ranger and brought the flag back to America. It is kept in an iron chest and has never been out of Mr. Anthony's possession since it was given him as a memento of the Revolution.

National Implement Inspection and Repair Week

The week beginning March 4, has been designated as National Implement Inspection and Repair Week. This campaign is being carried on by various State Councils of Defense, implement dealers' associations, trade and farm journals to impress upon farmers the vital importance of overhauling machines and ordering repair parts a long time in advance of season. This is made imperative by the slow movement of freight, express and parcels post, due to war conditions. We urge the farmers to inspect their machines and place orders for such new machines and repair parts as may be needed. Anticipate your requirements and place your orders as early as possible.

OBJECT OF THE WAR.

(Quoting Douglas Adams, executive head of History department of Leland Stanford university.) "The object of this war is to deliver the free peoples of the world from the menace and the actual power of a vast military establishment controlled by an irresponsible government, which, having secretly planned to dominate the world, proceeded to carry out the plan without regard either to the sacred obligations of treaty or the long-established practices and long-cherished principles of international action and honor. * * * This power is not the German people. It is the ruthless master of the German people. * * * It is our business to see to it that the history of the rest of the world is no longer left to its handling."—President Wilson, August 27, 1917.

Germans as a Chosen People. The foundation cause of this war is Germany's firm belief that she alone has the right to direct the progress of the world and to exploit its resources. For the last thirty years the military autocracy of Germany has seen to it that this belief was taught in the schools, and today that autocracy is reaping the benefits of a blind obedience to its own military and naval writings of recent years is full of the idea that the German people is "God's chosen people, destined to impose its 'Kultur' upon all other peoples."

"The German soul is the world's soul, God and Germany belong to one another." "Germany is the center of God's plans for the world." "We hope that a great mission will be allotted to us Germans. * * * and this German mission is: to look after the world." "Germany is chosen, for her own good and that of other nations, to undertake their guidance. Providence has placed the appointed people, at the appointed moment, ready for the appointed task."

"The German people is always right, because it is the German people, and numbers 87,000,000 souls." "Kultur is best promoted when the strongest individual Kultur, that of a given nation, expands its field, actively at the expense of the other national Kulturs." "The attempt of Napoleon to graft the Kultur of western Europe upon the empire of the Muscovite ended in failure. Today history has made us Germans the inheritors of the Napoleonic ideal." "The further we carry our Kultur into the east, the more and the more profitable outlets shall we find for our wares. Economic profit is, of course, not the main motive of our Kultur-activities, but it is an unwelcome by-product." "Our belief is—that the salvation of the whole Kultur of Europe depends upon the victory which German Militarism is about to achieve."

These quotations are but a few of hundreds of like expression, and the last one cited is from a manifesto signed by thirty-five hundred German professors and lecturers. Reduced to simple terms, the German belief at the beginning of this war was: "God directs Germany. Civilization advances only by the conflict between Kulturs in which the stronger and God-directed one has the right to prevail and must prevail." The immediate and present object is to make our Kultur prevail in the east (in Muscovy) and in accomplishing this we shall also gain economic advantages. This is the first step in our world domination."

Where does America stand in this theory of a "chosen people"? America denies this theory; she denies that God has chosen any one people as His own; she asserts rather that there are many civilizations, each with its own merits and defects, and that to each must be left the working out of its own problems.

We Americans are unable to understand or sympathize with a people who conceive of themselves as a chosen people, chosen of God—a people to whom all things and actions, however inhuman or brutal, are regarded as permissible, even holy, because of a faith in their superior mission and civilization. To us such a belief is direct evidence not of a leading, but of a lagging civilization.

This German ideal, when expressed merely in theory, even though taught in Germany for the last thirty years, stirred but indifferent interest in other European nations. In this war Germany has revealed in the application of her theory a lust for world power at the expense of other peoples, a lack of good faith, a brutality that has stamped her theory as involving a return to barbarism.

By the application of German theory we were forged, unwillingly, to go to war. But today we know that there was no escape from a war between two contradictory ideals. Germany's economic objects are many and large (they will be pointed out.) but the basic cause of this war was the German ideal of a dominant nation. That ideal, by Germany's own challenge, is on trial in arms. Against it we must prevail, or we shall perish.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

From the Wayne Herald, March 8, 1900.

Archie Lindsay visited his son in Stanton county.

F. H. Jones went to Keya Paha county to look after business interests.

A. G. Williams, H. C. Fisher and C. F. Hostetter attended the play season in Sioux City.

Mark Stringer, jr., moved from Winside to a farm east of Wayne.

The cooking club had an enjoyable meeting at the home of Maude Tucker.

Frank Kruger purchased the building occupied by Leaders and Wheaton and arranged it into office rooms.

Knox Triplett of Norfolk, purchased the lease and furniture of the Boyd hotel and took possession March 15.

Mrs. Swan entertained friends in honor of her sister, Mrs. Mullen, of Pomeroy, Ia.

Mrs. Guy Wilbur visited friends in Ponca.

A. A. Chance went to Irvington to visit his mother whom he had not seen for fourteen years.

Dr. Leisefring moved into his new quarters over the State Bank of Wayne.

From Ponca Journal, March 20, 1872.

Last week, on Wednesday, while the fire was making such sad havoc in Dixon county, Cedar county was also rained and a large amount of property near St. James was burned. On the same day in Dakota territory a most destructive fire swept over a wide extent. Elk Point came near being burned up. Some two or three houses in the outskirts of the town were burned, and the balance of the town was saved only after much exertion on the part of the citizens. So imminent was the danger that the merchants moved their goods out of their stores and the citizens prepared for flight with their families and household goods. Fortunately the fight against the advancing flames was crowned with success and the threatened conflagration was averted.

Hon. N. S. Porter returned from his eastern trip on Thursday, of last week. He was absent about two weeks. During that time he visited Washington, and also passed a few days with his old friends and relatives at Jamestown, N. Y. Mr. Porter states that business seems to be very dull in the east. They have passed through a very severe winter in that country and there has been and is now, a vast amount of destitution and suffering there. When Mr. Porter left this country two weeks previous to his return, we had as all will recollect, warm and pleasant weather, the ice was breaking up in the river, farmers were sowing grain, and spring in all its charms was upon us. And yet, war and grief are suffering there when Mr. Porter reached Washington, over 200 miles south of us, he found snow eight inches deep, and plenty of snow, ice and cold weather all along on his route through Pennsylvania and New York. At Jamestown the snow and slush almost blocked the streets. Such a difference between the weather in that country and in this, is wonderful. We are glad to be able to say that Mr. Porter had in all respects a very satisfactory and successful trip.

It is rumored that the C. & B. H. R. R. will soon be sold under the order of the United States court, and will pass into the hands of a company which will immediately proceed to extend it, and complete it to Niobrara this year. If this should prove true, it will be very welcome news to Cedar and Knox counties, and also to the western part of Dixon county. But the citizens of these counties have been deceived so often by the promises of those having in charge this insignificant little road, that they have but little confidence in such reports. It is also rumored that the Omaha and Northwestern road is also to be extended—that it will come up the Logan valley and from there down South creek to its intersection with Daley valley at Martinsburg—that from Martinsburg the road will be built up the Daley to its head, and from thence down the Bow valley to St. James, and on the narrow gauge route to Niobrara. If this is done, it will effectually cut off the narrow gauge road and separate between this place and St. James, but it would be a fine thing for St. James, and also for Martinsburg. Time will show what will be done, which it will be unsafe to assume will be nothing whatever.

THE THIRD LIBERTY LOAN

The secretary of the United States treasury soon is to offer a third Liberty loan to the American people. The amount of the loan, the terms of bonds, the rate of interest and the date of issuance are yet to be officially announced.

With this in view, the Liberty loan committee of the Tenth Federal Reserve district is preparing an organization embracing every state, county and township in the district for the purpose of putting on an intensive campaign to obtain subscriptions to the full amount of the district's quota of bonds.

The people of the district do not have to be told that their attention to the part of the government is great. It is enough for all loyal citizens to know that money is needed for a cause so vital. Hence it is for the people to lend their government the amount of money asked and take as security the best and soundest financial paper that has ever been issued by any government. It is backed, not only by the United States of America, but by every acre of this broad land, every city, town, village and by the prosperity of all the people.

The government must have the financial backing of the people in this war enterprise—this emergency. If the people do not lend the money, the government will take it anyhow. It has power. If it can take our boys; if it can take our products, our industries, our railroads, it can our money.

In this organization, hundreds of the busiest men of the states have been chosen for the great task of placing these loans. They are giving their services through patriotism and without pay. They are a legally appointed body as representatives of the government and have ample power to fulfill their agreements. All honor is due to this splendid body of citizens and they should receive full credit and recognition of all the people in the performance of the task set before them.

Therefore, the people of the Tenth Federal Reserve District are urged to get behind the Liberty loan committee and "put over" the Third Liberty loan, thus showing our loyalty to our country and the cause for which we are fighting.

Executive Manager, Liberty Loan Committee, Tenth Federal Reserve District.

THOUSANDS OF RATS KILLED. Campaigns Against Rodents in Various Sections of Country Result in Great Slaughtering.

A vivid realization of the multitude of rats which thrive as parasites on man's industry may be gained from the results of local campaigns against them, announced a health bulletin.

In 1904 a plague of rats occurred in Rock Island and during the month ending April 30 one man killed 3,445 on his farm.

During the campaign of the public health service against the bubonic plague in San Francisco from 1904 to 1908, inclusive, more than 800,000 were killed; and in New Orleans during 1914 and 1915, 551,370 were destroyed.

During the winter and spring of a single year more than 7,000 rats were killed on a rice plantation containing 400 acres in Georgia, and by actual count 30,000 were killed on another plantation containing about 1,300 acres.

On a farm of about 130 acres, 1,300 occupied rats in Boston harbor, 1,300 occupied miles were counted and other rats were living about the farm buildings. At a large meat-packing establishment in Chicago from 4,000 to 9,000 have been killed yearly.

Representatives of wooden shipyards on the Pacific coast have been buying up the locust trees east of the Cascade mountains to use the wood for nails and pins in the wooden ships.

Workers in the employ of the locust chop them up, take away the stuff they wish and leave the remainder on the ground. The shipbuilders use the locust wood because it is strong and does not decay.

The locust was formerly a favorite shade tree in eastern cities, but it is no longer permitted to be planted there because of a boring insect which destroys it.

On the Pacific coast the tree is perfectly sound and grows even more rapidly than in the East. A locust tree clipped to the ground is soon restored by sprouts from the stump.

Maxim Gorky, who in an eventful career has been a jack-of-all trades, turnspit, hewer of wood, and the famous author that all the world knows, is now, unfortunately for his country, a politician and journalist.

The politics of Gorky spell anything, Maximism, Leninism—anything except national defense. Bortzoff, who certainly cannot be suspected of reactionary tendencies, says that Gorky as a politician, is the blindest of the blind and has dealt some terrible blows at the foundations of Russian life.

WOMEN DOCTORS GREAT AID. Heroic Efforts, Facing Multitudes of Obstacles, Service to Allied Nations, Add to War History.

A recent summary of the work done by women physicians for the allied nations makes it very clear that a most significant chapter of the medical history of the war has been made through their heroic efforts.

England and the United States are the two countries with a notable proportion of women in the medical profession. At the beginning of the war, as the British Medical Journal notes, their services were not needed in England, so many of them devoted themselves to the crying needs of Belgium, Serbia and France, with magnificent results.

The example of their unstinted heroism under conditions where there was no publicity to stimulate, no applause to encourage and just a high sense of duty to support in some of the most desperate tasks, is worthy of enduring record.

Vitulent typhus to be fought, other severe infections to be guarded against, hundreds of men in luxurious multiplication to be maintained, while sharing here sustenance, with starving people; these, with the lack of hospital facilities, are the monotonous entries in many a woman physician's diary during the first years of the war.

Washington, March 3.—Temporary suspension of the meatless meal and of the special rationing against the use of pork on Saturday was announced by the food administration as a readjustment of its food conservation program.

Will Save Wheat.

Since all restrictions on consumption of mutton and lamb had been lifted previously, the food administration now asks the public to eat pork for one day a week only—Tuesday.

Increased meat consumption, the food administration says, will of itself curtail the use of wheat, and for the present there is no intention to add to the restrictions already in force against the use of flour.

Experience shows that the consumption of breadstuffs is intimately associated with the consumption of meat. For various reasons, our supplies of meat for the next two or three months are considerably enlarged and we can supply the allies with all of the meat products which transportation facilities permit.

"So long as the present conditions continue the only special restrictions we ask are the beefless and porkless Tuesday."

"The farmers of the United States are responding to the national call to increase hog production. Their increase, to all appearances, is being made rapidly."

"The transportation shortage, before the government took over the railroads, the bad weather in January and early in February, the large percentage of animals coming in the last harvest, and the necessity of feeding this corn as rapidly as possible to save it from decay, have resulted in backing up the animals—particularly hogs—on the farm for a longer period of feeding, but have resulted in a great increase in their average weight, and will result, with improved winter conditions, which already appear in larger than normal arrivals at market for the next two or three months. The weight of hogs coming to the market for the past two weeks indicates an increase in weight from an average of 203 pounds to the present average of 232 pounds, or a net increase in their meat value of over 15 per cent.

The response of the public to our requests for reduced consumption of meat during the past month has been most gratifying and this service alone has enabled the government during this period to provide such supplies as transportation to the allies permitted. The enlarged supplies are likely to last for two or three months, after which there will be the usual seasonal decrease in the amount of animals coming to market."

MEETING AT CITY HALL.

A meeting of the officers and precinct chairmen of Food Production of the Woman's committee, Wayne county council of defense, 39 to 42, at the city Saturday, 3:30-5:15. H. Kemp, county food administrator, will address the meeting, and Mrs. A. C. Thompson, county food production chairman of the Woman's committee, will present some plans for increasing food production in our county.—Chairman.

WOMAN'S WAR SERVICE.

Nebbraska Girls in War Service. Nebraska's two hundred registered nurses in the United States services for Red Cross work. One hundred thirty-five have registered for foreign service and three have already entered upon their work for there. Only about one hundred twenty-five will graduate from Nebraska accredited training schools this year. This will not begin to fill the gap left by those who are entering war work, and young women who have the necessary preliminary education are urged to take up Nebraska's war service. Miss Mary Cogill of Lincoln is chief of the Nurses' Training Bureau of the Woman's committee—Nebraska state council of defense—and will be glad to give information to any one interested.

There are two hundred thousand registered nurses in the United States. Eighteen thousand are Red Cross nurses, but the government is asking for several times as many more immediately. They are needed in the cantonments and in the foreign service. Nebraska is asked to send more nurses.

Women Needed as Clerks and Stenographers.

Nebbraska's young women who are working in the government's call for stenographers, clerks and typists, and aided by the wives of Nebraska congressmen, who have organized into a branch of the Woman's committee of the Nebraska state council of defense. Thousands of young women are crowding into Washington at this time in response to the national call for clerks and typists, wife of Senator Norris, has assumed charge of the Nebraska girls working for Uncle Sam, as chairman of the special committee of Nebraska women. She will see that the girls are properly housed, that they are not lonesome, that they are thoroughly comfortable and happy. Many come from Washington, and that a great many more women are needed for office work and stenographers are urged to take the civil service examinations for appointment to these positions. Examinations for stenographers are held every Tuesday in more than four hundred cities of the United States, so urgency is the need of competent clerical help.

The following shipments were made by the Red Cross March 3: 10 hand towels, 45 pillow cases; 5; knit wash cloths, 15; dust cloths, 5; equipment for one patient, 48 articles; large comforts, 5; small comforts, 16.

SANDAH'S PUBLIC SALE

Prices—Considered Fair, Attributed to Busy Moving Time.

C. F. Sandahl's public sale of pure bred stock on his farm six miles east of Wayne, last Thursday, was attended mainly by people from the surrounding territory, and prices realized somewhat below expectations. The sale took place at a busy time when people were moving and getting settled for the year, and this fact counted out as a reason for the light attendance. Few breeders from a distance were present. But Mr. Sandahl had a lot of fine animals and purchasers were very fortunate.

The pure bred stallion was bought by Geo. McEachen, and was a bargain at $500, the price paid. The top price for horn horn cattle was $100, paid by Thos. Erwin of Concord. The white Shorthorn calf sold to the Red Cross sale in Wayne Saturday night for $100. The cow herd by the Pure Bred Stock Breeders' association, and was donated to the local enterprise. It is a fine animal, and made a good showing in Chicago last fall.

The ladies of the Wakefield Red Cross served lunch at the Sandahl sale and realized $20 for their treasury.

SEED CORN TESTING.

Farmer Friend: The Wayne county council of defense, cooperating with the United States department at the State Normal, is opening a station for the testing of seed corn. Preliminary tests will be started early next week. Farmers who want to be represented in this preliminary test ought to get their corn in one of the banks by Saturday evening, and surely not later than Tuesday, March 12. Not more than ten ears selected at random should be brought in for this test. The following data should accompany each set of ears: 1. Name of owner. 2. Year in which corn was grown. 3. Whether selected from the field or crib. How many bushels you have like sample brought in. 5. Are you likely to have any seed corn to sell.

A careful record of your test will be furnished you immediately when it is completed. Never before was it so important that a bumper crop should be raised. No chances on getting a perfect stand should be taken. Every bit of corn planted should be live corn. Tests from various parts of the state seem to indicate that only about 60 per cent of the 1917 corn will grow, and in many cases the percentage is much lower. The germination test is the only sure way of finding out whether your corn is alive and dead. This test will cost you nothing, only the trouble of bringing the corn to one of the banks. Do not put this off but attend to it at once.

If it seems desirable after the first test we will plan to test every ear you want to plant. The only thing in the world now that is more important than getting our share of winning the war for democracy. Every man must do his duty regardless of what the other fellow does. Let us do our best to produce the food, trusting to our government to manage the distribution. Testing seed corn will help, and this is what furnishes the motive for this article and the services offered. Sincerely yours, E. E. Lakey.

DAIRY EXPERT COMING.

Mr. Krause, national expert along dairy lines will be at the State Normal on Thursday, March 14. There will probably be both a morning and afternoon session. In the morning Mr. Krause will demonstrate the making of cottage cheese from separated milk, and in the afternoon there will be a lecture on milk's value and use—and a demonstration on the tagging of various dishes from cottage cheese. It is especially desired that men interested along dairy lines attend the afternoon session. Both men and women are invited to attend the sessions, which are free to all. The exact hours of meeting will be announced in next week's paper.—Chairman.

NOTICE.

The Farmers' Union will hold its next quarterly county convention at Healdsburg, Neb., on Thursday, March 18, at 10 o'clock a. m. All union members are requested to be present. Nels Johnson, Secretary, Win-side, Neb.

MORE NURSES WANTED.

Nurses, more nurses and still more nurses! Is the call from the American army in France.

Surgeon General Gorgas is urging young women to begin the training courses to fit them for service at the front, or at least to take the places of nurses who go to the front, where 30,000 will be needed.

"The need for nurses will not end with the declaration of peace," this department points out. "Therefore those who begin the course of training are assured of employment in the future as well as doing a patriotic service now. The number of certificates of deposit that must be held throughout the country should be limited only by their facilities to teach and the clinical facilities of the hospitals."

In this connection it is recalled that Surgeon General Gorgas had an experience with nurses when he was in charge of sanitation in the Panama Canal zone that was duplicated in France. It was found extremely difficult to keep nurses in Panama because the American men there married them almost as fast as they came!

"The epidemic of matrimony" as it was called in Panama, is likely to break out in France. However, both nurses and soldiers are over there strictly on business with the Red Cross, and it is probable that they will not flower until peace is declared.

Students are at no expense—for tuition, board, laundry, lodging, uniforms, and information about where to enroll for the training courses may be obtained from any Red Cross chapter.

A JUST AND LASTING PEACE.

The essential principles that must underlie peace, as stated by President Wilson, should be constantly kept in mind. They show the greatness and unselfishness and justice of America's war aims. Briefly they are: (1) The final settlement of this war must be based upon essential justice and not upon the will of the victors. (2) Peoples and provinces are not to be treated as if they were mere chatties and pawns in a game. (3) Every territorial settlement must be made in the interest of and for the benefit of the populations concerned and not by way of compromising claims of rival states. (4) National aspirations must be accorded the fullest satisfaction possible. (5) No treaty or agreement should perpetuate old elements of discord.

MORITHEA STEPHAN DIES.

Miss Dorothea Stephan who was employed as teacher of mathematics in the Wayne high school last fall but who was compelled to give up the work in November on account of ill health, died at her home in Chicago last Thursday. She was well when she came to Wayne, and failed rapidly in health until she was compelled to resign. Miss Stephan was an estimable young woman, and Wayne teachers who knew her Wayne friends keenly regret to hear of her death.

PATRIOTIC MEETING.

There will be a patriotic meeting at the Presbyterian church next Sunday evening at 7:30. Pres. U. S. Conn will speak on the subject: "Democracy on Trial." Pres. Conn has just returned from a visit at the national capital and in other cities in the east. He will bring some first hand impressions of patriotic activities that part of our country. Mr. Conn will give an address that should be heard by everyone.

"DON'T TAKE 'EM OFF."

(Bixby). These cheerful days increase your chill, you say. And chill you to the core. But prudent; do not take 'em off. For seven weeks or more. And there you to remove 'em then, you're like to put 'em on again.

THIRD LIBERTY LOAN. Washington, March 2.—On April 6, the first anniversary of the United States' entry into the world war, the Liberty loan will open. There will be a campaign of three or four weeks. In announcing the date last night, Secretary McAdoo said the amount of the loan, the interest and other features, such as convertibility of bonds of previous issues, maturity and terms of payment, had not yet been determined, and that new legislation will be necessary before plans can be completed. The fact that the amount of the loan is dependent on further legislation indicates that it will be for more than $3,600,000,000, the remainder of authorized but unissued bonds and the fact that certificates of indebtedness now being sold in anticipation of the loan bear 4 1/2 per cent affords some indications of the interest rate.

In Paris Madame de Vilmar sang at the famous - Lamoureux concerts, Sallerard, and other big concerts. Jean L. Schaefer has played at the most prominent concerts in America, France, Germany with great success. The "New York Tribune," October 15, 1916, says, "Then that master musician, J. L. Schaefer, gave two violin duets with exquisite expression and entrancing harmony, and of course he received many plaudits as he rightly deserved them." We have secured these great artists for an admirable program that every teacher should hear.

S. Harrison White, associate justice of the supreme court of Colorado, has been secured for a play on our program. He will deliver a message of immeasurable value and in keeping with the central theme of the association.

Scrapping Farm Tools

Once Upon a Time It Took Over Three Hours to Produce a Bushel of Wheat. Now, Thanks to Improved Machinery, it Takes but 8 minutes

The farmer has always been a "Scrapper" of old machinery. He scrapped the Reap Hook for the Scythe; he scrapped the Scythe for the Sickle; he scrapped the Reaper for the Binder; he scrapped the Single Frow for the Gang Plow, and is now scrapping Horses for Tractors. He is the world's best producer because he gets rid of the old and buys the new.

The woman in your house cleans the rough, raggedy range three-times a day, over a thousand-times a year... She wastes HER time and HER energy cleaning ornaments, bolt heads, rivet heads, hinges, catches and latches that have no more business on the outside of a range than on the outside of a dish.

Scrap That Old Range

Get Rid of the Vexing, Back-breaking Knuckle-skining Thing

No man would clean it the second time. He'd go and buy a smooth one. He'd buy a Copper-Clad, the range that has no catches, latches or ornaments on the outside. The range that is lined with a sheet of pure copper where other ranges rust out.

"Selling by the Dozens"

William Kay of the Wakefield Motor company, sold fourteen Oakland cars while in attendance at the automobile show in Omaha last week. "Selling them by the dozens" is suggested by his experience. The fact that the Oakland factory has made provision for prompt delivery of cars gives advantage which buyers appreciate. Prompt service is important. Train loads of Oakeands have been moving into selling markets all winter.

Look at the Oakland Six from any angle, study it as a complete machine, or as a thing of many separate units—whatever your viewpoint, this car appeals to your common sense. It satisfies your desire for good investment, for power, comfort, and performance, for attractive lines and distinctive style—and it does all this at a cost which good judgment tells you is a sensible price.

GERMAN ATROCITIES.

Prof. Gurnsey Jones in Lincoln Journal: Letters—smuggled into France from Lille and neighboring towns give a vivid picture of the agony of those martyred districts during the fateful Easter week of 1918. It was but the beginning of the infamous slave raids which have lasted for two years and still show no signs of abatement. At first German soldiers seized civilians in the streets, in their homes, in the street cars, wherever they were to be found. A workman coming home at night never knew whether his wife or children had been called off during the day. Afterwards, with an incredible refinement of cruelty, wholesale raids were made at night, usually at 3 o'clock in the morning. The families were lined up within or just outside their homes and a German officer selected at random those members who were to go; no one knew where.

German Slave Raids.
Some of these letters have been published by the French government, without names, for fear of German vengeance against the writers, who are still in the occupied territory. The following extracts will show their general character: "It was the sending off of daughters and girls whom they had hunted out that roused the strongest feeling. You can realize the state of mind of parents seeing young girls taken to twenty going off among lads of all conditions, no one knows where. "Parents have lost their reason at seeing their daughter or daughter going off into the unknown, which is full of dangers and snares. It has caused the death of others."

"You can understand the revolt and indignation of decent people to bring up children in order to have them carried off in this inhuman fashion. The town completely plunged in grief, that was our Easter week; this is far more terrible than the shortage of food. No one slept for a week, always wondering 'Will it be tonight?' At three in the morning one heard the patrol, a regular deportation of slaves. "Each family, drawn up outside the house, was examined by an officer, who pointed out haphazardly the persons who were to go. No words can express the barbarity of this proceeding nor describe the heartrending scenes which occurred: young men and girls took a hasty farewell of their parents; farewell hurried by the German soldiers who were executing the infamous task—rejoined the groups of those who were going and found themselves in the middle of the street, surrounded by other soldiers with fixed bayonets. Tears of despair on the part of parents and children so ruthlessly separated did not soften the hearts of the brutal Germans. "The families so scattered are in despair and the morale of the whole population is gravely affected. Boys of fourteen, schoolboys in knickerbockers, young girls of fifteen to sixteen have been carried off, and the despairing protests of their parents failed to touch the hearts of the German officers or rather executioners."

By far the greater part of the persons seized in this unparalleled inhuman manner have been deported to Germany to take the place of German workmen thus released for military duty. The labor of prisoners is placed at the disposal of the military authorities and they are set at whatever tasks the military interests of the empire demand. Some are employed directly in military works, others in agriculture, in mines, some in reclaiming swamp lands for agriculture. The labor in general is excessive, the food insufficient, and the treatment awfully cruel. The total number of deportations is unknown. In November, 1916 certain German personages in Belgium estimated the number at 100,000, and stated that they intended to take 200,000 or 300,000, or even more from Belgium alone. They have no motive in overstating the number.

A few of the deportations, made under oath by prisoners who were rescued during the French advance of last year, will give an impression of their treatment. It will be noticed that none of these were employed in Germany.

About 300 were shut up in a school in the town; we were forbidden to leave the building. Reville was sounded at 5 a. m., and we worked till 7 p. m. The work was done in gangs. The women who refused to work or who declared that they could only work after having enough to eat (the food was very bad and scanty) were beaten either with a great cat-o-nine-tails or kicked, or a large jug of water was thrown over them and they were beaten afterwards. For food we were given some turnips in the middle of the day, some carrots in the evening, always boiled, without salt or butter or fat, and about one cent's worth of bread for the whole day. On Sundays, sometimes some rice, some tinned potatoes with a little beef fat. The sacks we made were solely for use in the trenches."

Wanted German Cruelty.
"I saw the Germans ill-treat a girl called A—, kicking her in the stomach because she refused to sew sacks before having anything to eat. She was seriously ill. They had given three days imprisonment and subsequently deported."

"A young girl was beaten with a cat-o-nine-tails and a day of water thrown over her for having asked for food before working. The work consisted chiefly in washing linen and making sand-bags. "One hundred and ten persons were camped in a barn and forced to work at harvesting potatoes and beets, a heavy form of labor. They were guarded by soldiers and worked in gangs of twenty or more. A woman testified:

"We began work at 8 o'clock in the morning; we returned under escort to the kitchen to get a meal, which consisted of a sufficient quantity of black bread and some horrible sort of soup from 2 to 5."

"We were not again fed; we were only authorized to pick up a few potatoes to ek out our food. "We slept anyhow on dirty straw, not to say mud. It was so cold that all the crops we collected were for the great part sent away to Germany."

"A gang of one hundred men were forced to dig beets. "We started at 6 in the morning and worked till 6 in the evening. Often if a man raised his head and rested from his work, he would throw himself on the ground, crying, 'Hoff! Hoff!' and beat him with the butts of their rifles or with their fists. "There was a loaf of German bread every three days; coffee that was mere dirty water in the morning; a bowl of soup at noon, made with rice. "Our coffee was made of horse-dung. "Once ten of our comrades escaped; next day eight of them were recaptured. They received more than two hundred lashes with a horse-whip and were deprived of bread for two days; the guards who escorted them to work carried sticks and if any of them raised his head he got a blow. They were forced to march with a military step, to stand at attention, and to salute the German officers."

Women Under Fire.
"From March 27 to the 30th of September, 1915, all the girls belonging to W— were obliged to work in the fields under military guard. The times were those of the shells which, latterly, fell unceasingly. Once the English shells fell upon the metal works where we were engaged in threshing wheat, the German went down into the cellars but forced us to go on with our work. A girl who ran away had to work all day long next day as a punishment."

"I was imprisoned for two days for not arriving punctually for the work in the fields to which we were compelled to go every day, seven on Sundays—on 8, 12 and from 12 to 15. The corporal, whose name I do not know, forced us to remain at work in spite of the shells; he himself used to hide behind the hay racks."

"The provisions sent by the Americans did not reach us. A man was not allowed to take his own beasts nor his own use. It is forbidden to sell any foodstuffs; it was difficult to keep one's vegetables. A landed proprietor complained that the German soldiers had stolen some vegetables from his land; his land was by order, delivered over to pillage and its produce carried off. "In addition to this, the French government indefinitely. When the French government protested "that the German authorities are subjecting the population of the districts of France in their occupation to labor of the hardest description and to a discipline of the most wanton severity," the German government replied that the French government "that the population of the French territory in our occupation is treated in a just and wholly humane manner."

This pitiless exploitation of occuried territory in violation of all international law is merely one phase of the German method of waging war cheaply and making it profitable. A German journalist named Buehler, who has probably been enthusiastically of the working of the new system. The following passage appeared early in the war, first in the Muenchener Nachrichten for February 1915, and afterwards with the omission of some of the damaging admissions in a book entitled "Reise zur deutschen Front."

"Every day for two weeks I have gone about on foot in order to learn in a general way what was being accomplished within the limits of a single army corps of the present front. I saw here on a small scale of advantage the way the fatherland will be found repeated elsewhere along the whole west front."

"Every effort proceeds upon this principle; army supplies shall be drawn as little as possible from Germany and as much as possible from the occupied enemy territory; whatever is not needed by the army, probably allowed not to be granted, is sent home. For three months, about four-fifths of the needs of the army were secured in the conquered territory. Even now, when the exploited resources of the territory no longer flow so freely as formerly, the conquered lands still furnish two-thirds of the needs of the German west army. The German empire has saved this process an estimated average of three and one-half to four million marks a day. In addition, these German profits of victory are increased very materially in accordance with international law by the economic war against the enemy territory. I. e., through the transfer to German of government property in the form of extraordinary quantities of war booty, fortress supplies, grain, wool and metals, valuable raw materials and other things. To this may be added all superior private enemy property transported to Germany to supplement German supplies wherever needed, but for which full use was saved by this economic war, conducted with such business circumspection, may be estimated at six to seven million marks daily, so that the total winnings of the German empire on its west front since the beginning of the war is say two billions. For Germany this is a tremendous triumph through saving and increase in economic power. For the enemy it is a crushing defeat through the draining of financial resources in the lost territory."

"I shall have more to say later about the details and management of this economic war. We shall learn thereby to cast into the lumber-room of the past the old epithet about the 'unpractical Germans.' This gratifying change in our favor was illustrated to me by the seriocomic words of a high German official in St. Quentin: 'It is remarkable how a man can learn everything. At home I was an officer of the Potsdam garrison. Now my business is wood and wool, and I am successful at it!'"

"There is no surer test of a fool than his readiness with which he is blinded by the sounding phrases of what Herr Ganghoefer so finely calls "economic war" is known outside of Germany as pillage and robbery."

This high Potsdam officer, in a plain language, a veiled French publicist, Cheradame, estimates that the German thefts in this war have amounted to tens of billions of francs, not counting the loot of the enemy. The great question now weighing upon us is whether these monstrous outlaws will find in helpless France another prey after the organized plunder and for their new system of slavery.

Love is egotistical.
Every boarding house has a mystery or two.

Some women seem to take great pride in their mental anguish.

The Irish are proud of the Irish, but they stick together less than any other race.

The fact is, a man gets "dolled up" as much in a barber shop as any woman "dolls up" in her boudoir. The men haven't much cause to make-fun of the vanity of women.

THE FIELD OF BUSINESS.

Six City Journal: The important financial announcement of the last week was that the secretary of the Adoo to the effect that the third Liberty loan campaign will be started April 6, the anniversary of America's entrance into the war. The rate of interest on the last offering of treasury certificates, 4 1/2 per cent, was taken to forecast the rate of the new loan. Since the secretary stated that no legislation would be asked prior to the Liberty loan issue, it was considered assured that the amount of the issue will be $500,000,000. The amount of authorized but unused bonds.

Bonds of the previous Liberty issues held up well throughout the week. The 3 1/2 per cent sold at from 107 1/2 to 108. First 4 1/2 were firm at 104 5/8. Second 4 1/2 started the week at 104 5/8, dropped to 101 1/2, and recovered. Time and call money were quoted at 100.00. The rate of the week. Time loans did not deviate from 6 per cent, and call loans, which ranged the first day from 3 1/2 to 4 1/2, ultimately also moved up to 6 per cent.

Security values responded more or less perfunctorily to various influences, included among which was the quarterly address of the post, better dividends in some industrial lines, and progress of railroad legislation in congress. Steel and transcontinentals declined to pick-up somewhat. The steel and stocks, however, was on the whole featureless. Bonds also were without any startling development. Grain quotations were quiet day to day according to actual weather, weather probabilities, peace talk, export demand and other factors. Wheat was quiet, and prices did not go more than a fraction higher than No. 2 white oats was high at 93 cents, losing a little as the week closed. Winter wheat prospects were reported to be in the ably improved. Eggs went down about 20 cents in New York.

General business conditions throughout the country were better, partly as a consequence of favorable weather, improvement of the transportation situation, and the very satisfactory grade of labor. A dearth of textiles, and some interbuying among merchants and jobbers. The consumer's interest in spring goods was not yet apparent.

The government took over control of the fertilizer industry, ordered canners of certain common foodstuffs to register, and announced that no general fixation of farm produce prices is contemplated, and announced rules limiting the trading profits of dealers in frozen fruits and other storage eggs. Partly in order to encourage delivery of foodstuffs the parcel post weight limit within the first three zones was raised from fifty to seventy pounds.

Hearings before the railway wage commission on wage increases that will affect probably all or the greater part of 1,250,000 workers ended, and announcement was made that the commission's decisions will be made by March 15. William Howard Taft and Frank P. Walsh were named by the employers and employees, respectively, as representatives of the public in the joint conference of labor and capital which aims to settle upon a general country wide labor policy for the duration of the war. The government's bill to create a financial corporation which will regulate all stock issues during the war progressed toward passage in the senate.

Such embargo as existed against selling of Spanish shrapnel was lifted and it became understood that the United States was willing, in consideration of the right of free purchase of materials in Spain for the expeditionary army, to assist in the rehabilitation of the railroads in Spain.

TO FIGHT ON.

Lincoln Journal: The American people need now to see as they never saw before their vital interest in bracing themselves for a war to a conclusive peace. By a conclusive peace we mean a peace that will settle the issues of the war. The administration at Washington, it is reported, is with the more determined by recent events in Russia, to press forward with unrelenting energy. How can we do anything else and leave the field a fit place for our children to live in?

If peace should be made now or soon, leaving Germany astride of Russia, rich with the spoils of war, though staggered by the cost of its gains, what would happen to us? German imperialism could still claim to be profitable. Imperialism is never satisfied. More than an individual's lust for power is ever satisfied. The more got, the more wanted. There would still exist in the world a great, the strongest, the most single power in the world, committed to predatory policies. No people will be safe while a great power of such disposition is abroad in the world. If the German people will not unhorse the hierarchy which uses them for such ends, then the peoples must. Some Americans are slow to see the peril in these things because they are happening so far away. A Lincoln avenger was told yesterday by a farmer whose response to the food saving efforts of the government was: "I raise my own wheat. I butcher my own pork. I shall eat my own things as I please." The Russian farmer might have said this last year. But now he will still raise wheat and meat, and probably for the Germans to eat. An American might say: "The German people are not so stupid as to see the advantage of waiving temporarily some rights to eat his own pork and wheat in order to make secure the permanent right of himself and children to eat their bread in peace and safety."

"We want to be a country," Germany, where the men live in army camps while the women do the farm and factory work? Then permit Germany to win a draw in this war, leaving it free to proceed indefinitely with its plans to plant its verberben signs in every land and clime. It were better we fought another ten years, if necessary, than that this should happen.

RED CROSS SERVICE.

Proof of the warm-hearted contact of the American Red Cross with the enlisted man is furnished in numberless instances, of which the following is typical: A farm youth enlisted from Kentucky and was sent to an Atlantic training camp of the regular army. It was the longest trip he ever had made and the first Christmas he was to be separated from the family.

He was looking forward to the box which he knew mother and sister would send to him, but three days before Christmas he was ordered to Washington to go guard duty. The young soldiers was immensely proud at being assigned to guard the White house.

But his sudden change in address resulted in his Christmas box going to his original camp and Christmas day found him with neither letter nor package from home or relatives. It was in this mood of depression that a Red Cross-Christmas package reached him.

"I sure did appreciate that remembrance," he wrote home. In time the army forwarded his Christmas mail from home, but it reached him from one to two weeks after the holidays. The Red Cross gift contributed to sustaining his spirits, and not only to him but thousands, situated like him.

General Pershing and other high officers consider such work by the Red Cross a vital factor in winning the war. It makes all the difference in the world how a soldier feels. When a soldier becomes depressed, disaster follows.

MAN WITH A MESSAGE.

HARRINGTON Herald: Mayor Mann is a fine example of a man with a message. Utterly without any of the tricks or artifices of oratory, he is an orator in the best sense of the word. He holds the rapt attention of his audience by the sheer force of truth earnestly expressed.

Scope of the Special Legislative Session.

Omaha Bee: While it is accepted as settled that the Nebraska legislature will be reconvened in special session to provide a way by which citizens in the military service may vote, it remains for the governor to decide whether any other subjects of legislation shall be considered by the lawmakers. The constitution seems to be plain enough on this score, for it says:

"The governor may, on extraordinary occasions, convene the legislature by proclamation, stating therein the purpose for which they are convened, and the legislature shall enter upon no business except that for which they were called together."

There is already an overpowering demand through the state for an immediate repeal of the so-called "Mocket law," making compulsory instruction in foreign languages in the grammar grades of public schools when petitioned for—a law whose repeal was admittedly blocked last year by the machinations of the pro-German propagandists by means of a deal with the sponsors of the suffrage bill. The Bee believes this case should be reopened, even if nothing else is brought in. We believe, however, that the governor should, before issuing his extra session proclamation, carefully go over other possible legislation demanded by war conditions which should not be delayed and enumerate them among the subjects to be acted on by the lawmakers. For our part, we would be quite willing to have the proclamation specify the particular laws now in mind and any other subjects which the governor might bring to their attention by special message.
