SERGEANT HANLEY THRILLS CROWDS

Speaks Under Auspices of Wayne Home Guards at Opera House Last Night.

WAR SCENES IN PICTURES

Survivor of Famous Princess Pat Regiment Tells Anecdotes and Horrors of Autocracy.

Sergeant G. W. Hanley, one of the thirteen survivors of the famous Princess Pat Canadian regiment, thrilled the crowds that gathered at the opera house last night to hear stories of his experiences on the western front, and to view motion pictures of actual fighting on the battle front.

The enormity of the great struggle was vividly portrayed in views of seemingly impregnable walls, "triers of men," never ending transport trains, great quantities of munitions and vast stores of supplies.

"You have read of atrocities," said Sergeant Hanley, "until you have thought them almost unbelievable."

"You read of France 'bled white,' of England exhausted, of Germany with all her people and all is going German's way.

"The speaker then made an earnest plea for united effort in America, placing the emphasis on the duty of producing more food.

The lecture and the pictures were full of encouragement and inspiration. The program was given twice, the first at the opera house and the second at the house to its capacity.

The home guards are to be congratulated upon having secured so good an audience for their patriotic success of the undertaking.

At the conclusion of the second lecture, J. J. Ahern, president of the Wayne County Home Guards, on behalf of the home guards, the generous assistance of M. B. Nielson of the Crystal theatre, in contributing to the success of the benefit and success of the pictures.

CONGRESSMAN STEPHENS, Lincoln, Jour. April 17:—

gressman Dan Stephens spent several hours in Lincoln yesterday, on his way home to Fremont after spending several days in speaking in the heart of the state, in the interests of the liberty loan. Congressman Stephens was approached a number of times while he was in Lincoln by anxious citizens who wished to declare themselves a candidate for the democratic nomination for the senatorship. A good many democrats say that they would vote for Stephens if he were to run.

The Lutheran church in America, two million and a half in numbers, is loyal to the core as shown by her devotion to the sons, money and patriotic service.

So declared the Rev. R. M. Badger, pastor of Grace Evangelical Lutheran church in Lincoln, in a statement in which he objects to what he terms careless use of the word "Lutheran" by newspapers and people during the war.

It is believed the result will be no discerning as to the little things that mean so much. Lutheranism is not to be confounded with Prussianism, and in many instances. When a Lutheran is not true to our beloved land and American interests he or she should be designated as a traitor.

Music being furnished by the Allen band, it being its first appearance this season.

Gardens are being put in order. The weary backed lover of gardening, now diligently makes beds; seeds are set out; old grass and chips are garnered into piles and are applied thereto, hens are corralled and driven into the fold so that they shall not scratch up the ground

E. A. Feather, who formerly was clerk for Dr. Weykoff, has been teaching in LaPorte, Wayne county, during the past winter. We notice that he has taken another school in LaPorte, commencing the same on Monday, and we understand that he is well liked as a teacher.

While in this country we have been enjoying the most delightful weather during this month, in the eastern states, winter has been reigning supreme. A Randolph, (N. Y.) paper states that on the 18th of April the ice on Chautauque lake was several inches thick. In the northern part of New York the snow in the woods was at that time from twelve to eighteen inches deep. People in Nebraska have not seen snow or ice for a month, and have been busy putting in their crops, making gardens, etc.

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher

THE ROYAL GOAT

I would not think it too surprising to hear the Kaiser's friend of kissing. The crimes of all his kilted nation, the sin of all his generation, and every bloody deed infernal of every general and colonel, are charged against the reigning Billy, which is enough to drive him silly. No other monarch's so hated, no other kings so cursed and hated. When he in times of peace was kissing, he gave himself much advertising as Lord of War, with fist of metal, a sort of scrapping Captain Kettle. He tried to pose as Mars incarnate, and now he pays and mutters, "damnit!" He may in truth be quite a rabbit; but since he got us in the habit of thinking of the reigning monarch as a crowing and a fighting rooster, we charge to him the misdemeanors of warriors and submariners. Some correspondents of the Billy have long had feet extremely chilly; he hates to see his men go further with their red carnival of murder, lower than the blame he shoulders, and will until he dies and molder. The cry of execration rises, however modestly, before our eyes he's largely bulking in photographs, as Mars and Vulcan.

BEWHISKERED RUSSIA.

I fear that Russia won't behave until her people learn to shave. We cannot look for good horse sense in men whose shrubbery is dense whose lambskins obstruct the view, and often block the traffic, too. I hope to see sad Russia rise from that deep pit in which she lies; hope to see her rise in time, and hew a destiny sublime, but first her men will have to hew the whiskers that impede the view. No nation can be truly great whose voters pack a hundred-weight of spinach up and down the street, so long it gets beneath their feet. When poor old Russia spilled the beans, and swapped her birchbark for some greens, when windy demagogues arose and turned her over to her foes, the desolation o'er her crept, the afflicted nation looked and wept. There was no harshness in their gaze.

We have also heard, And we know it is true, "What is good for others Is good for you."

number of our mess; for death is worse than anything we need; there no takeoff for the dead. The war some consolation brings; it's showing us a lot of things it's teaching us how men may die and make a noble gain thereby. "How sleep the brave who sink to rest, by all their country's wishes blest!" The soldier out in your strife who gives his warm and ardent life, that tyrants and their plots may fail, that freedom shall again prevail, is missing nothing when he dies, but drawing down a golden prize, and men will see that fills bloom about the portals of his tomb. "And Freedom shall awhile repair, to dwell, a weeping hermit, there." And so we spoke in mandolin haste when we declared that death is waste.

WAR GARDENS.

They will not let me bleed and die or about my Kaiser Bill, so there I stay and ply the spade of Bunker Hill. I wield my dull and rusty spade with quite as much deftness as I would wield my flashing blade, if I were fit to fight, I may not lead my dauntless men, for I am "Charge, Chester, charge," for my arm and have a war, my waistline is too large. - But I can toil in wind and heat, and raise my garden sash, the luscious squash, the juicy beet, the wholesome sorrel, and every time I reap a bean, according to the dope, I queer a Prussian submarine, and bust a Teuton hog. In times of peace this rabbit peas is work that I labor; but I am raising greens like these, for peas will win the war. I'd rather mound a paving seed-and-charge with sawdust, to make the frightful fogman bleed, and knock him galley west; but since I dare not sit a horse that has no iron spurs, I'm busy raising prunes and gorse. I'm pruning plant and vine. Oh, prunes are things I don't desire, but I have a few, I have a few, but I toil on and never tire, for prunes will win the war. At night I dream of crimson fields where I have strewn me dead, I have my steeds and swords and shields till I fall out of bed. At dawn I chant a martial lay by Julia C. R. Dorr, and then I hoe my spuds all day; for spuds will win the war.

FALSE RUMORS RUN DOWN

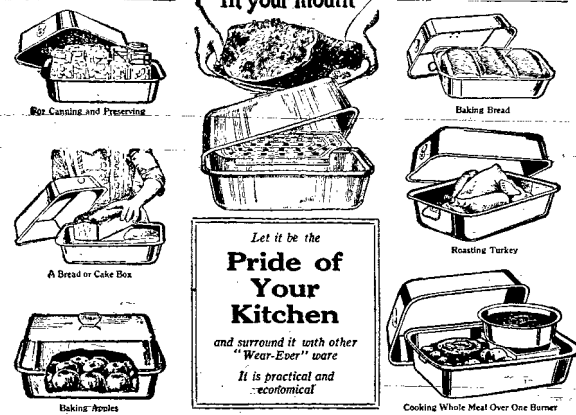

Every specific charge against the American Red Cross is investigated and traced to its source. This does not only give the public a chance to see the source of the charges, but it also gives the Red Cross a chance to correct the rumors that are being spread. Reports that sweaters, tobacco and other articles are being sold by the Red Cross to soldiers here or in France have been run down and proved utterly without foundation. The report about the sale of articles originated in a letter written by the 149th Field Artillery and a letter written by the 18th Railway Engineers.

Red Cross officials in France immediately investigate their allegations, and Private Ferguson admitted that he wrote solely on rumor and was sorry for his mistake. He signed a statement correcting the report as follows:

"What I told my sister was based entirely upon what some of the boys in my company had said to me in a lunch room. I thought that this lunch room was run by the

I pledge allegiance to my flag and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible with Liberty and Justice for all.

The time for abolishing the custom of a man wearing crepe on his hat as a sign of mourning passed long ago.

Dissolution of the German Alliance in the United States shows important and salutary headway in the Americanization of America.

The country club has a wide stretch of magnificent landscape. As to golf, war might become intensified in time. At this writing, however, the game relished by Tall and other fat folks doesn't seem quite strenuous enough for us.

The new edition law in Nebraska makes idleness a crime. In these strenuous and perilous times when greatest production and greatest efficiency and alertness are needed, one who is mentally and physically capable should be permitted to loaf away time and yield nothing.

A writer who has inspected soldier groups in American cantonnements as well as the armies in Europe, says the United States is easily defeated in the most efficient fighting force in the world. Give an American boy training, and his native initiative, tenaciousness and alertness do the rest. In every action in France, American soldiers have demonstrated their superior qualities of mind and body.

Repeal of the Mockett law by the late session of the legislature removes a hitherto easy means by which unscrupulous teachers doctored foreign languages into the schools of Nebraska. Knocking the props from under plans for building up foreign languages in the United States—severely destructive, a Titanic struggle to perpetuate free and independent America, and evolve as a future safeguard one language and one national nationality.

A school text-book treating of journalism says newspapers too often emphasize the negative rather than constructive news, and urge the contrary policy. A crime is given more prominence than the commendable. The reason is found in the demands of the people who will usually buy the paper that startsles with sensational news. Hence the tendency to feature constructive matter is growing more and more the policy of the best class of newspapers, and in time it is hoped stories of crime will be quite short of unnecessary and unhealthy sensationalism. Manifestly it should be up to the newspapers to inform their readers, and not to wait to be prodded by the changing voice of the public.

It is a serious matter to call one a pro-German, and it should not be done without sufficient ground to justify report to the authorities. If one is suspected of being a pro-German, it would seem his patriotic duty to do once over to the government the evidence on which the charge is based, in order that due investigation may be made and any other advisable legal action taken. Scape judgments and incriminating talk founded on wish and unproved proof, may do loyal and active supporters of the government serious injustice and hamper rather than help concerted and effective war work. The laws of both the nation and state have been made sufficient and drastic and comprehensive to handle any one who in the least disloyal or in any way hindering the work of the government. All individuals who do not get momentary action is to report to the authorities. Any one offering opposition by word or deed to prosecution of the war should be turned over to the government, but no one should be blackened with the stigma of disloyalty without enough ground to warrant an official investigation.

The excuse of certain Lincoln preachers that they couldn't attend a recent patriotic meeting on account of the participation of a Jewish preacher is too utterly thin and senseless to be considered with favor for one moment. If the reason given were the real one, their medieval religious bigotry should wither under the damning scorn of broad, tolerant and progressive Americans. That is, these ministerial misfits don't belong in the United States. They don't belong here if they are not in full sympathy with the democracy of the United States. They don't belong here if they will allow some fanatical religious whim to interfere with patriotic duty. They should not only leave Nebraska, but keep on going until they get entirely out of the country, and they should be consistently followed by all others who are irrevocably lost to similar bigotry.

A newspaper report says the crown prince of Germany has earned the contempt and detestation of even the people of that country on account of his consciencious and shameless profligacy. He is mean and vicious, and even his own countrymen do not believe that he knows anything. His face suggests that he rightfully belongs in a feebleminded institution and in a ward ship, and for incurable and intolerable idleness.

The people of Germany would revolt if the Kaiser got what was coming to him and his lowbrowed and dependent government should be forced to ascend to the throne. It depends there will soon be a vacancy. It is hoped the crown prince will then renounce and sever Germany from catching the devilish yug yug on the end of an iron boot and kicking him into the lowest depth of Tartarus. This will be getting rid of a few ordinary detestable creatures necessary to be looked after by United States soldiers in annulling the king-business and establishing democracy when they reach Berlin.

It is not worthy policy nor does it benefit the people for members of either political or social organizations to play party politics at this time. People are engrossed right now in the grim struggle to win the war, and they have no patience with any one who would use any branch of the war service as a means to win office. This war is not fought nor otherwise supported by any one political party. It calls for the service and sacrifice of all citizens, man and child in America, and the price is blood and treasure and effort must be paid if we would escape the merciless fangs of the conscienceless Hun. The United States as the land of freedom and unfettered opportunity. Use of war activities to keep one in office would cheapen patriotism and put selfish interest above public service, which must not be done. All attention, all effort, all sacrifice must be devoted now to putting Germany out of commission. Settlement of party differences, gratification of political ambitions, and the avenging of petty grievances should not be permitted in the least hamper America's greatest task.

Congressman Charles H. Sloan of the Fourth district is meeting generous and hearty newspaper support over the state in his candidacy for reelection to Congress. The support of Senator Geo. Norris, Mr. Sloan is serving his fourth term as a member of congress, and his record has been such that the sound judgment in the direction of constructive and progressive public policies that his friends believe he should be prodded to the senate. Mr. Sloan is regarded as a man who understands the needs of the state, with the courage and ability to speak and act for them. His home over the Geneva Signal closes a complimentary editorial on Mr. Sloan's record with this paragraph: "Continuously through his years of service in the house he has held the esteem and confidence of the people of the Fourth district. They will regret to see him change from their own particular representative to become a spokesman for the entire state because it will seem like loosening in a way the closer ties of comradeship, but they will take pride in his promotion to the field of activity and to a position of greater influence as a member of one of the greatest deliberative bodies in the world."

TO THE POINT.
 Col. Bixby's column in yesterday's issue contains the following pertinent contribution in reference to the Lincoln preachers who got off on the wrong foot (of feet) recently:

"Dear Doctor Bisby: Probably because I am habitually not that way myself, I admire for to see a man who knows his business, and dispatches the same with neatness, nerve, aplomb, vim, vigor, and the requisite vehemence. My admiration goes straightaway to 400 in the shade when I spy a man who, having a job to perform, whether it be the interment of a cat or the purchase of a liberty bond, does it with a free-arm movement, sans camouflage and sans grandstanding."
 "As you doubtless observed, it came to pass on a recent date that our compatriot, Brigadier General Charles E. Mason, who is a certain unpleasant and somewhat odorous task to perform, to-wit: The removal of the superficial integument of a few German preachers who infest our midst. Did you observe the manner in which the mastery Charles took off the hides and nailed it them up on the shed door? Did he wince once? Not one wince, you never! He simply donned his overalls, grasped his bowie, skinned the critters, and then tied him to the kitchen pump to wash up for another job."
 "Says Mason: 'Men from German land Who come with Uncle Sam to ride Must study with the U. S. stand. Or hike right back to 'other side: It's well That they should dwell. While enemies, this side of—the ocean.'"
 Yours, in patriotic posture,
 E. B. FAIRFIELD."

Shoes for the Working Man

What more convincing proof than the DAIRYMAN shoe, even at $5.00 is wise economy, than the fact that time and time again they have stood for a full year the hard wear given them by the working man? The DAIRYMAN shoe is especially adapted for use on the farm, because the leather is scientifically treated so that it is proof against the acids of the barnyard. Is it any wonder, then, that these shoes surpass all others in lasting qualities?

These songs were composed by Mrs. William Mikesell of Ponca, who is selling copies to raise money for the Red Cross. A discussion was led by Mrs. W. J. Rennie on "The Care of the Dining Room" which was very helpful. The first question discussed was "How should a dining room be furnished to be in good taste?" Among the suggestions made by the ladies were the choosing of pictures, selecting proper colorings and choosing a bright, cheerful room for the dining room.
 What are the easiest ways to take care of silverware? and "Is it best to roll or fold linen before using?" were topics of much interest. The general opinion regarding the care of silverware was that it should be cleaned through the center and then roll it.

Baker's observations in Europe were laid before President Wilson early today. The secretary went to the white house at 10 o'clock and remained for a lengthy conference.

Just back from a seven weeks' trip to the western battle front, and to the entente capitals, the secretary reported not only on the military situation but political conditions as well.

"The American soldier has made good in France," Secretary Baker today assured newspaper men who met him. "The French and British authorities are uniform in their praise of the courage, endurance and soldierly qualities of our men."

"The big thing for America to do is to support the war," he continued, "to support it financially and with firm belief. The right arm of America is in France. It is bared and ready to strike. The rest of the body is here in the United States, but it must support the arm. This support should include subscriptions to liberty bonds as well as moral support of high confidence."

The condition of the American troops the secretary said, is excellent. "They are all well physically and well in every other way. Their spirits are high, their behavior admirable and their relations with the French British cordial and sympathetic," he said.

"One rarely meets an American soldier in France who does not smile and wave his hat," Mr. Baker said.

"The only sad Americans there are those who fear they may have to come home before the job is done."

Washington, April 17.—Steeled to the work ahead of him by personal knowledge of conditions at the battle fronts in Europe, Secretary Baker returned to his desk at the war department last night from his trip abroad.

There is no doubt that he believes adequate measures to check-mate the German effort will come out of the pooling of all allied and American resources under command of

Gen. Foch, the impressive French commander-in-chief.

TO HELP FARM WORK.

For the purpose of augmenting agricultural production it is the intention of the war department to grant furloughs to enlisted men to assist in the work of the farmer during the present season. Commanding officers may grant such furloughs within prescribed rates which they will consider and contribute to increased farm production. Furloughs may be given by commanding officers of posts, camps, companies, divisions, and brigades. They will be for short periods, largely for seeding and harvesting time. They will not be granted to enlisted men of or above the grade of first sergeant, nor in an organization that has been ordered to move or is in transit from points of mobilization or training to a port of embarkation. All furloughs granted will be recalled and the men ordered to their organizations when they have received preparatory orders for duty overseas.

Furloughs granted for farm work will be without pay and allowances, except that enough pay will be retained in each case to meet all claims in force on the day of the order, war-risk insurance, and pledges on Liberty bonds.

For specially qualified experts in agriculture furloughs may be granted by the secretary of war upon application by the secretary of agriculture, providing the furloughs are voluntarily accepted by the persons for whom application is made. Individual applications for furloughs submitted by relatives will be at a farm to be furnished by local draft boards. Two sections are to be made one and presented to the local board, which will complete the form.

If the furlough is granted the application will be filed by the commanding officer and a certificate furnished the soldier. If not granted, the application will be returned with reasons for disapproval.

If the soldier initiated the application he will give the name of the person for whom he desires to work, from whom will be ascertained the need for farm service.

Furloughs may be granted en bloc to men who are willing to accept them, upon requests of farmers, when time consumed in traveling from the post to the place of labor will not exceed 24 hours. In making these applications farmers will use a form of the provost marshal general's office, also going to the local board.

THE PRESIDENTIAL BEE.

St. Louis, Mo., April 17.—Col. Roosevelt is playing for the presidency, so is McAdoo. The Journal has no objection to the entertaining of a presidential ambition by the present secretary of the treasury. The fact that he is Mr. Wilson's son-in-law does not strike this newspaper as being of any consequence. McAdoo's address to the American soldiers in France is hardly a proper activity of the government at this time, but then few of the things that the committee on public information does are beyond criticism.

The only point the Journal cares to make at this time is that the administration's friends cannot in fairness asperse the motives of a possible republican candidate without laying the administration itself just as wide open to similar aspersions. The less of this talk is indulged in the better.

The Journal suspects that Col. Roosevelt would like to be president, and that his principal reason for wanting to be president is the conviction, perhaps mistaken, that it would be for the good of the country. The Journal also has not the least doubt but that Mr. McAdoo, in his ambition to reach the White House, is actuated only in the human way by his personal ambition that he is confident his election would be a national asset. Both Col. Roosevelt and Secretary McAdoo are admirable patriots.

The whole discussion is one that would better be postponed as long as possible. It cannot be postponed if administration defenders, forgetting they are a candidate of their own, choose to meet the colonel's arguments by insinuating a selfish motive.

GRADING THE MILL FEEDS

System is Worked Out to Get Uniform Feeds to Purchasers.

Omaha, Neb., April 17.—In order to standardize the grades of wheat mill feeds in Nebraska, and to get uniform feeds to purchasers in the state, Gurdon W. Wattles, federal food administrator for Nebraska, announcing the following grades, which Nebraska mills may manufacture. The order also applies to the states of Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado, Utah, New Mexico, and Jackson and Buchanan counties, Missouri.

The classifications include four specialty mill feeds and two screenings combination. Red Dog, a standard before the new milling regulations went into effect, is eliminated. Mills must follow these classifications:

What bran is the coarse outer coating of the wheat berry obtained in milling wheat that has been scoured and cleaned. It must contain a minimum of 14.5 per cent protein, 3.5 per cent fat, and not more than 11 per cent fibre.

Brown shorts or standard millings are the fine particles of the outer and inner bran separated from head and white middlings. It must contain 16 per cent minimum protein, 3.5 minimum fat, and not more than 8 per cent fibre.

Mixed feed or mill run bran is a mixture of all the products, other than flour. It must contain not less than 16 per cent protein, 3.5 per cent fat minimum, and not more than 9 per cent fibre.

Flour Middlings or gray shorts are that part between brown shorts and low grade flour and must contain a minimum of 14.5 per cent protein, minimum 3.5 per cent fat, and not more than 6.5 per cent fibre.

Screenings may be combined with either wheat bran or mixed feeds, and must carry the same ratios of elements entering into the feed.

"Violations of these gradings will mean fines before the federal food administration for Nebraska," says Food Administrator Wattles.

AFTER ONE YEAR.

Nebraska Farmer: One year ago the United States declared a state of war between this country and the imperial German government, and at that time we were almost wholly unprepared. We had hoped against fear that our country might not be drawn into the conflict, but we were obliged to bow to the inevitable. It was then, and not until then, that we began to prepare in earnest.

To recount what has been accomplished in these twelve months would be to tell the story of a frenzied effort to mobilize the forces of the most powerful nation in the world. To criticize what has not been done would be to recount the errors that might be made by any great force that was unprepared for such a gigantic conflict. To laud the enthusiasm with which the great body of the citizens of the country have supported the war would be to give double praise to the noble loyalty of our people—I say double praise because the people were obliged to lift themselves out of the belief that we would not enter the war into a state of immediate support of the war.

All of these things are behind us now. What now remains to be fought is a life even worse than that were when we entered the war: with one and a half million of our men mobilized, and at the same time on the way, with the menace of autocracy more apparent than it has ever been before; with the fact thoroughly established that the central power will enter the war at any moment at this time that would not threaten the safety of democracy, our duty and our task stand out prominently before us.

There is no time now to doubt or temporize; there is nothing now that will justify complaint about our own small share of the burden, there is but one great task before us and unless it is fought to a successful issue all else will sink into nothingness. Let us take our added determination and go to it.

SAVE MUCH WHEAT FLOUR

Omaha, Neb., April 17.—Nebraskans have responded to the appeal to save wheat, according to reports coming to Gordon W. Wattles, federal food administrator for Nebraska. A review of reports show that Nebraskans are consuming less than half as much as before the saving propaganda started. Similar reports come from the U. S. food administration from Washington. "It is quite gratifying to know that we are meeting the requirements of our country," said Mr. Wattles, "yet it could not be otherwise. We have a war to win and we must win at all hazards. Just now the thing to do is to maintain the available record we have started. I have no fear of the result in Nebraska. The state has been one hundred per cent in all its responses and its conservations is no different."

Nature Cures, The Doctor Takes the Fee.

There is an old saying that "Nature cures, the doctor takes the fee," but as everyone knows you can help Nature very much and thereby enable it to effect a cure in much less time than is usually required. This is particularly true of colds, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy relieves the lungs, liquefies the tough mucus and aids in its expectoration, allays the cough and aids Nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition.—Adv.

FROWNS ON YELLOW PAINT

Use of Sedition Law to Handle Cases of Disloyalty Advised.

Lincoln, Neb., April 12.—Members of the Nebraska state council of defense have again voiced their disapproval of the unlawful use of yellow paint by its application by unidentified persons to the residences or places of business of individuals alleged to have acted or talked disloyally toward the United States or any of its methods of prosecuting the war.

Naturally, members of the council say, the council has absolutely no sympathy for any person who who-heartedly for the United States in the present crisis, but at the same time they point out that it is not good policy for persons to use yellow paint to show their disapproval toward alleged instances of unpatriotic conduct. There are other ways, lawful in their nature, they say, with which to express disloyalty, sentiment, which should be made use of in the present time.

Sedition Law Weapon.

Nebraska's sedition law just made effective by the signature of Governor Keith Neville, is pointed to by the state council as one of the best weapons for the efficient prosecution of the putting down of any attempt to discourage or hamper America's war activities. It is with the operation of this law that the council hopes to accomplish much in the way of striking down sedition in Nebraska. Persons who by word or deed seek to prevent the efficient prosecution of the war are made liable to conviction of the crime of sedition, under the terms of this law, and may receive punishment in the form of a fine of not more than $10,000 or be imprisoned in the county jail or state penitentiary for not more than twenty years.

Section one of the sedition act as it finally passed the legislature at the recent war session reads as follows: "If any person with intent to obstruct, hinder, delay, discourage, hamper, or otherwise interfere with the efficient prosecution of the war, or with the government of the United States is now engaged shall: "Speak, write, print, publish, or circulate any word or statement or do any act encouraging disloyalty to the United States of America, or of a nature reasonably calculated to bring into disrepute the United States of America, or the war, or to speak, write, print, publish, or circulate any statement tending to incite resistance to lawful authority or to speak, write, print, publish, or circulate any statement tending to cause insurrection or sedition, or to interfere with the mobilization, equipment, movement or transportation of any of the naval or military forces of the United States, or military forces of this state, or to obstruct or discourage any activity of the state or federal government in the prosecution of the war, or to obstruct or discourage any activity having for its purpose to render aid or comfort to the armed forces of the nation during the war, or to obstruct or discourage by lawful raising of funds for the national defense, whether in the form of subscriptions to loans or the sale of government securities, or to conceal, hoard or destroy any food or food supplies of a character declared by the president of the United States, or any duly authorized representative of the president of the United States, as necessary for the use of the armed forces of the United States, or the forces of the allies of the United States, or to interfere with or discourage the enlistment of persons into the military or naval forces of the United States, or any auxiliary organizations including the Red Cross, or to speak, write, print, publish, or circulate any statement or perform any act in violation of the act of congress of the United States known as the Espionage bill, or to call, arrange for, hold or participate in any public meeting with the avowed purpose of organizing resistance to the government of the United States, or to speak, write, print, publish, or circulate any statement encouraging the abandonment of any enterprise, work or employment in any of the activities necessary for the efficient prosecution of the war, or to be physically able to work and not engaged in any useful or remunerative employment or remain habitually idle when useful employment is obtainable, or to be a person so offending shall be deemed guilty of sedition and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not to exceed $10,000, or be imprisoned in the county jail or in the state penitentiary for any period not to exceed twenty years."

Best Wishes.

For the thrifty housewife who wants a better cooking oil

The American woman demands quality—even when she thinks most about economy.

That is one reason why Mazola, the pure oil from corn, for deep frying, sautéing, shortening and salad dressings is now used in thousands of homes—in preference to butter, lard or suet.

—And since the Food Administration asks us to save these fats the housewife is especially glad to have a cooking oil which is so pure, wholesome and economical.

Not one drop of Mazola is wasted—it can be used over and over again as it does not transmit taste or odor from one food to another.

It is as pure and sweet as the most delicate food cooked in it—and it makes fried food more easy to digest—free from greasiness or soggy.

Use Mazola for your salad dressings, too—makes them especially delicious.

Get Mazola from your grocer in pint, quart, half-gallon or gallon tins. The large sizes give greatest economy. Also ask for the free Mazola Book of Recipes—or write us direct.

Your money refunded if Mazola does not give entire satisfaction.

Constipation and Indigestion.

These are twin evils. Persons suffering from indigestion are often troubled with constipation. Mrs. Robert Allison, Mattoon, Ill., writes that when she first moved to Mattoon, she was a great sufferer from indigestion and constipation. Food distressed her and there was a feeling like a heavy weight pressing on her stomach and chest. She did not rest well at night and was on a good part of the time. One bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets corrected this trouble so that she has since felt like a different person.—Adv.

Basket Store Notes

Patrons who have bought coupon books as an experiment, have bought again and again and feel certain from a standpoint of economy and convenience, it's the best yet.

A merchant advertised he would buy hog, oats and wheat at market price, but desired the service or courtesy of 30, 60 or 90 days time. This merchant was thoroughly financially responsible, but no one brought him a single hog or even a bushel of oats or wheat. This simply demonstrates the farmer prefers to sell the products of his farm for cash so he may have a free hand to invest or buy goods where he can do the best. This is also true of the merchant who sells for cash. He buys goods for less and gets a cash discount.

Mrs. Eliza Smith.
(By the Pastor).
Mrs. Eliza Smith was born in Bury St. Edmund's, England, June 21, 1840 and died in Winside, Neb., April 15, 1918, at the age of 77 years, 9 months and 24 days. She lived at her birthplace until 46 years old at which time she left England for the United States arriving in Wayne county in 1886, and has resided here ever since with the exception of two years when she lived in Florida.

Mrs. Smith was baptized into the fellowship of the Bury St. Edmund's Baptist church by her pastor, Rev. Cornelius Elven, and has been a consistent member ever since. At the time of her departure she was a member of the First Baptist church at Wayne, Neb. She died in the confidence of Jesus Christ, her Saviour and Lord. While in the hospital at Wayne she told the pastor that God had been good to her and for that reason she wished to praise Him while she had breath.

Our departed sister was kind and loving to those she considered her friends and would be true to them till death. She was a good mother and sister and was always the happiest when she was attending to the things of the home.

Her nature took naturally to the beautiful and because of that fact she was fond of all kinds of exquisite flowers. Many people will remember with pleasant memories Sister Smith as the one who helped to bring cheer into their lives by the giving of a bouquet of flowers.

We are thankful that Mrs. Smith lived to see more than her allotted days and was so smart until just a short time before her decease. About two months ago she took a heavy cold and at the conclusion of that was stricken with cerebral hemorrhage. The last day of her life her friends held out hope until the last, but on account of her age the attending physicians felt that she could not last longer. She took her departure to be with her Lord Monday morning, April 15, at 3 o'clock.

The family and friends will miss her but her memory will long linger with us, having this blessed consolation that God wanted her as one of the jewels to bedeck His crown.

She leaves to mourn one brother, Mrs. Harry Smith of Winside, Neb., Mrs. Susan Oliver, her only child and her only daughter, Harry E. and four grandsons, Charley, Horace, Willie, and John Oliver, also of Wayne.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon in the Methodist church at Winside, Neb., Rev. Fletcher J. Jordan, her pastor officiating, assisted by Rev. J. B. Wylie, pastor of the Methodist church at the above place. A large number of friends were present at the service to pay their last honors to one who lived to see with her Maker. The interment was made in the Pleasant View cemetery at Winside.

Patriotic Meeting.
On the occasion of the patriotic meeting Saturday night the opera house was filled. All standing room was taken and many were unable to get farther than the steps and were compelled to leave. Harry E. Siman presided. The first was a song, "Let's All Be Americans Now" by Max, Lucile and Eleanor Simmerman. As an encore Miss May gave a solo, "The Flag That Knows No Fear." Little 3-year-old Eleanor Simmerman then gave "The Only One to Whip the Kaiser is the Old Red, White and Blue." The Welsh sextet from Carroll was recalled and delighted the audience with four numbers, the one singing greatest applause being "The Old Flag Has Never Touched the Ground." H. E. Siman then introduced Mayor Wm. Harm of Bloomfield who gave the address. Mrs. Harm is an excellent speaker, and Winside was glad to have him.

ACCURACY

BEFORE buying a corn planter consider this fact—accuracy is essential to the biggest yields. An inaccurate planter covers up its mistakes. It does hit-and-miss work. It is a "thief in the field" and you don't realize how much it has stolen until the corn plants are above the ground and you compare the results with those obtained by using an accurate planter. If it misses only fifteen kernels in every 100 hills there is a loss of five bushels per acre in the yield.

You can buy from us a planter the accuracy of which is proven before it leaves the factory. That planter is the

JOHN DEERE 999 Corn Planter

The Accurate "Natural Drop" Planter

The same accuracy you would get if you painstakingly counted out the kernels of corn and dropped them by hand—that is the accuracy of the John Deere No. 999 Planter. Each kernel enters the cell in the seed plate in a natural position. The sloping hopper bottom feeds the corn to the cells whether the hopper is full or nearly empty. It is the most simple, yet most effective planting mechanism ever used on a corn planter.

YOU CONTROL THE NUMBER OF KERNELS PER HILL

When soil in the same field varies—rich, medium and poor—corn should be planted accordingly—two kernels to the hill in poor soil, three in medium soil and four in rich soil.

Without changing seed plates or even stopping at Green you can, with the John Deere No. 999, plant 2, 3 or 4 kernels in the hill, whichever number you desire the land will sustain. Merely shifting the foot lever varies the number dropped and you can change the drop as frequently as you desire. The variable drop mechanism of this planter is just as perfect and well protected as the gears on the best automobiles.

You can also drill corn with the John Deere Planter. Change from hilling to drilling or back to hilling is made instantly by means of a foot drop lever. Not necessary to get off the seat or stop the team. The 999 Planter gives nine different drilling distances without changing seed plates.

This Planter is on Display in Our Store

Stop in the first time you are in town and inspect it. Remember, we also handle a high grade line of Dain hay stackers and sweeps, John Deere single and double-row cultivators, mowers and binders.

ANNUAL SOCIAL MEETING

Editors to Meet in Omaha in June
—Other News From Omaha.

At a recent meeting of the executive committee of the Nebraska Press association, held in the office of the Grand Island Independent, plans were completed for the annual social session of the association, which will be held in Omaha. The dates chosen were Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 20-22.

Ak-sar-ben will put on a special show Thursday evening, June 20, for the visitors. They will be entertained Friday noon at lunch in the Live Stock Exchange; on Friday night they will be tendered a dinner at the Chamber of Commerce. The Hotel Fontenelle was selected as headquarters.

Several speakers of national prominence have been invited to address the assembled scribes.

Supply of Doctors Running Low. The Nebraska State Medical association, which meets in Omaha, May 7-9, has decided to cut out theater parties, smokers, and all entertainment features except the annual banquet, and will devote all sessions strictly to business. The evening sessions will be limited to war-time topics only. One of the conditions of the profession has to meet is the shortage of doctors, owing to the large number which have been called to the front. Chas. L. Mullins, Broken Bow, Neb., is president, and Dr. J. M. Aiken, Omaha, secretary.

Nebraska Farmers Patriotic. The Nebraska Farmers' War Council, the first organization of its kind in the United States, has struck a responsive chord. One of the signed service cards have been returned to headquarters in the federal reserve bank at Omaha.

Remarkable Grape Vine Campaign. The committee on fruit marketing and development of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce distributed 200,000 grape vines at over 60,000 Omaha auditorium last Saturday. The vines were sold to the people of Omaha and vicinity at 2 cents each and take the place of the vines which were winter-killed during the season 1916-1917.

Raleigh News and Observer: Instead of going to the country as a summer boarder this year a man can go there as a farmhand with profit.

LAME EXCUSES.

Bixby in Lincoln Journal: It would seem that Colonel Matson in his answer to the five dissenting Loughran ministers, said all that need be said in reprobation of their lame excuse for not lending their presence at the patriotic meeting held in the auditorium last Saturday night. If these men are Americans, in spirit and purpose, now is the time to make the fact manifest in a tangible way. Their justification for declining to have a part in the meeting is too lame to stand alone, much less get anywhere, even by the use of crutches. If these men had honestly confessed themselves out of sympathy with the purposes of the meeting, they might at least have been given credit for the courage of their convictions, not implied in their answer to Mr. Matson's courteous invitation. If it could in any sense have been called a religious meeting, it was in no sense denominational, and men of every faith, or none at all, interested in the freedom of mankind, mingled in the gathering where the call was made for every loyal citizen to do his bit, and do it now. Something over a year ago a Red Cross mass meeting was held in Fairmont, Minn., where men of various religious beliefs sat on the stage. There were Catholic and protestant, Jew and gentile, everybody enthusiastic and nobody hurt. Do our Lutheran ministers really feel more at home in Europe began coming to this wilderness three hundred years ago because here they might worship God and not be disturbed by the conscience, and not as commanded to do by those having temporal authority? We were brought up, or grew up, in the home of the Methodist church than in any other, yet we love and respect Father Bradley, and have as kindly and fraternal a feeling toward the gifted young man who presides over the Jewish temple as though we were known as "Rabbi Ben Bixby" instead of Ben Bix.

"Who fathoms the eternal thought? Who talks of scheme and plan? The Lord is God; he needeth not the aid of mortal man. There is enough of uncertainty in the field theology to make all who garnish therein decently humble, and devoutly tolerant; and the best you can say for the spirit manifested by the preachers who refused to come to meeting Saturday night is that it was unpatriotic and un-American.

Branch of Society Has Organized Eighteen Garden Clubs.

The Junior Red Cross has organized eighteen food-producing clubs with a total membership of 130. Each club will endeavor to create and save as much food as possible, and each member will have an individual garden plot to work and care for, or will do an individual amount of work in the family garden. At the end of each month the members will receive a grade for the work done during the month. These grades will be given to the parents who have been appointed direct supervisors of their own children. The parents know more about the actual work of the child than any one else, and experience has proven that they will grade "higher" than the average overseer and that if they are made responsible for the grade given they will also feel that they are responsible for the work done and will therefore see to it that the child can complete the work that he has undertaken.

Group supervisors have been appointed for each club. They will explain the plan of the work to the parents, act as advisers during the summer, and see that the grade cards are collected at the end of each month and sent to the superintendent of the school. These cards will be filed and if the grades for the summer show "excellent work," the pupil will be permitted to add five per cent to one subject for each semester. "No credit will be given for poor work."

The work will include preparation of ground, planting of seeds, caring for growing crop, marketing, drying, canning or storing of fruit, vegetables or grain.

These clubs are going into this world to produce food, and thus to help win the war. They are enthusiastic food producing soldiers, and they will need the home folks and the supervisors to stand back of them just as they are standing back of the boys at the front. Secure all the ground that your children can work and then work with them to produce results. If you have no children, but have a piece of idle ground let some child work it. A piece of slacker ground is as much a traitor as a slacker dollar. Let us have neither in Wayne this summer.—J. R. Armstrong, Superintendent.

SOLDIERS OUT OF LUCK

Premont Herald, April 12, 1918: In one of the military newspapers there is a story about an old army sergeant, who has been in the service nearly long enough to be retired. His story is of value to the soldier of today, or rather the man who intends to be a soldier of today. He was talking to a group of men about the work which officers of the army are now obliged to force their men to undergo. A good many of the boys at the camps have had occasion to write home and say that the work is very hard,—the drilling and all that, goes with it—but this old army sergeant declares that if our young men understood the service as well as he does, they would thank their officers for piling the tasks upon them rather than condemning them because they have much work to do. "It is this way," he said, "the fellow who isn't in good condition when he goes into the field, is out of luck all the time."

This veteran didn't undertake to tell why it is, but he was firm in his belief that a bullet will seek a boy who is "soft" a good deal quicker than one who is hardened, fit, and ready. He said he had always noticed that the fellow who was in the best physical condition was most likely to escape a rain of lead. As to disease, of course the boy who knows that the harder a man has trained, the less likely is he to get sick. But the sergeant added this to his story: "I train all the time so that I will feel good all the time." The boys from the town and country who have gone to the military training camps are now coming into shape faster than ever before. Over at Camp Dodge a big bunch of men—several thousand—were put through their training period this winter in two months, and were better trained and far more fit for service than the regiments of men who trained through the summer of 1917. The last quota of men was put through the paces pretty fast but they have worked hard from the day of enlistment. Some of them may have thought the training was too severe, but when they were brought through they were "fit," they felt it. They were eased off at the beginning, and then gradually they took on more work, until they fairly ate it up, as the boys say. They can stand more hard work today than they could have stood yesterday. And surely they enjoy it more than in the beginning. So it is in other lines of work than in the army. It may be hard for the first few days, or weeks, but it is not hard after they once get into the swing. The good soldier will keep in training all the time, and so it must be, as the old army sergeant says,—out of training, out of luck.

SO BUY COAL.

Chicago News: Some people are buying their winter coal early and others are hoping that the axis of the earth will be moved before next November so that a mild winter will result.

BUTTING IN.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: It is not strange that Count Czermin should be denounced in Germany. He committed the unpardonable offense of acting on his own hook.

Variety Important

Men like a wide range of styles and fabrics to select from. A man may have definite ideas as to what he wants to wear, but he also likes to see something different when he goes to buy his clothes. Most men are not averse to changing their minds if they see something they like better. That's one reason why men like to trade at this store. Here they find garments in every size and in many styles—suits and coats that for accuracy of cut and refinement of fabric leave nothing to be desired in satisfying the careful dresser.

See our new stocks of hats. Be ready with your straw or Panama when the time comes to wear one in the very near future. If you have a Panama and want it cleaned, let us send it to the cleaner for you. Act early and you will avoid annoying delay when hot weather strikes.

"Are You from Heaven?" by Henry Burr. "Give Me the Right to Love You," by Sterling Trio. Two charmingly tender love songs, delightful in sentiment and of strong emotional appeal.

"I'll Take You Back to Italy," by Ada Jones—Billy Murray. "Round Her Neck She Wears a Yellow Ribbon," by American quartet. The first of these is the woeing of an East side organ-grinder. The second is a snappy, up-to-the-minute song of true American flavor.

"Tom, Dick and Harry and Jack," by Shannon Four. "Au Revoir! But Not Goodbye, Soldier Boy," by Peerless Quartet. Two war songs, and songs of parting, but in brisk marching time. You can almost hear the cheers and tramping of feet above the call of trumpet and drums. Splendid male quartet numbers.

"Just a Baby's Prayer at Twilight," by Henry Burr. "On the Road by Home, Sweet Home," by Percy Hemus. Two beautiful songs of sentiment which suggest the quiet serenity of the home life of the American people, for which our boys are now fighting in France.

"Tinkle Toe—Medley Fox Trot," by Victor Military Band. "Going Up—Medley One-Step," by Victor Military Band. Two splendid dance numbers from "Going Up," the last musical comedy success on Broadway. The tunes are catchy and colorful, just made for dancing.

MARY GARDEN'S FUR COAT

Valuable Ermine-Sable Coat Gives Singer Great Delight

When Mary Garden returned from France last autumn to begin work in Goldwyn's "The Splendid Sinner," she wears modern gowns created for her by Doucet, Callot, Paquin and other couturiers. Also she brought some ermine and sable which she thought, they would be required for any purpose except in her social life. But when she decided to appear in a drama she today all her wonderful belongings immediately became doubly valuable to her. In "The Splendid Sinner," she wears any number of these lovely things, as a matter of course. It is her furs, however, which give the singer greatest delight. And one garment, in particular, is worthy of lingering consideration. It is an ermine coat, cut short and hanging loosely from the shoulders. Bordered in eighteen inches deep is a sumptuous sweep of Russian sable. The effect is indescribably rich and when it is known that Mary Garden considers this coat the prize possession in her collections of furs, nothing more need be said of its beauty and monetary value.

WHY RAY WAS SUCCESSFUL

Thomas Ince Says Star Has Natural Gift of Portraying Youth.

"Thomas H. Ince, while discussing 'The Son of His Father,' Charles Ray's first Paramount production, and the universal appeal of the young star, said: 'If I could sum it up in one phrase I should say that it is because Ray has not only the gift of youth in itself, he has the gift of naturally spontaneous and unerringly portraying the emotions and mannerisms of youth which appeal to young and old alike. It is a strange thing, but a fact, that nearly all young leading men choose as their models actors who are close enough to be their fathers or their grandfathers. Ray has never made this mistake. He has always played the part exactly as called for by the scenario without any trace of artificiality. There will be a time for him many years hence to act the classic roles of drama.'

IS SYMBOL OF HAPPINESS

Interesting Facts About the Dramatic Story, "The Blue Bird"

The greatest number of actors—never assembled in one picture appear in "The Blue Bird," aggregating about 1,000. There are many specialties in which prominent players of the stage and screen take part. Rose Klotzka, the well-known dancer, leads a ballet in symbolical dance numbers.

In photographing the picture 150,000 feet of negative was used. A great deal of this was in multiple, triple and quadruple exposures and it is claimed that it sets a new record for this kind of work.

The play was originally produced in the Boston theatre and later presented at the New Theater, New York, in twelve scenes, which took four hours. The enormous cost of his being sent out here either in Europe or America, though the fame of Maeterlinck's masterpiece has been widely heralded.

The story is a philosophical dissertation upon life, endowing all things with life and speech, and giving glimpses into the hereafter.

The dead awaken, with messages for the living, and the unborn are shown impatiently awaiting their advent upon the earth.

While a production of surpassing beauty and exquisite theme, the allegory is plainly discernible, so that even a child can appreciate and enjoy the picture.

STARS HELP SELL BONDS

Secretary McAdoo Selects "The Big Four" to Help Sell Bonds.

The greatest tribute ever paid the motion picture industry happened last week when Secretary McAdoo of the treasury department selected Douglas Fairbanks, Mary Pickford, Marguerite Clark and Charlie Chaplin, to tour the country in the interest of the third liberty loan, which is to be officially launched by these stars at Washington on April 16, except in the case of Miss Clark, who will start her tour the second week in March.

Secretary McAdoo in his letter to "The Big Four" urged that in these times of war no other tour people had as much accumulated influence with the American public who in no momentary hesitation.

Smashing all studio schedules to smithereens, these four film favorites ordered new traveling bags and have been placed in the hands of the government for the entire four or six weeks as the case may be, to help put the third liberty loan over the top with the greatest of pleasure. If one month won't produce the desired results, the government can have all the additional time necessary. Our time is their time."

"Not only have these stars consented to devote their time to the third liberty loan—but they have placed at the disposal of the government their respective executive organizations, who through their years of film training, can be of great assistance in the new drive through the medium of the motion picture screen. Millions of people will be reached through the 17,000 picture theaters in the United States. Films and slides explaining the necessity of buying liberty bonds have already been distributed throughout the country, under the direction of John Fairbanks, manager for his brother, and John Jasper, manager for Charlie Chaplin, assisted by Carl Robinson and Benjie Zedman, members of the third liberty loan publicity committee under the direction of Frederick R. Wilson of Washington, D. C.

It has been acknowledged that no other form of publicity has the compelling influence of the motion picture. Realizing this, the government has called on the film industry to do its bit, and in every instance they have taken up the job cheerfully and done it effectively.

NEVER STARRING ON STAGE

Mildred Harris Owes Present Success Entirely to Screen.

Mildred Harris, star of Lois Weber's production "The Price of a Good Time," owes her present success entirely to her screen work, for she has never had any professional stage experience. Her rise to stardom is said to represent six years of solid effort.

Lois Weber has a penchant for developing the talents of film players and is quick to note the capabilities of persons she sees on the screen, as has been demonstrated many times. It is in this way that she recently ran across Miss Harris, who, though just seventeen years old, had already gained considerable success as a stage player, and forthwith Miss Weber engaged her for the leading part in the feature she was staging at the time, although some two hundred girls had already been interviewed for the role.

Before taking up picture work, Miss Harris made several appearances in amateur theatricals for charity benefits and it was her performance at one of these that attracted the notice of Thomas H. Ince. Although Miss Harris was then only eleven years old—that was just six years ago—she immediately began playing principal roles in Ince's pictures and held a stock engagement in that company for more than three years.

Then after working in several other productions she went with D. W. Griffith to the Fine Arts company, who featured her in several pictures, among them "The Bad Boy," in which she played opposite Robert Harron, and "The Old Folks at Home," in which she was the principal support of the late Sir Henry Beerbohm Tree.

Again Miss Harris returned to the Ince studios, where she played opposite William Hart and in her latest picture opposite William Desmond. Then came her engagement with Miss Weber. Miss Harris declares herself delighted to work under the guidance of the woman "discoverer of Mary McLaren and other well known screen players."

HERALD ADV. WINS FAVOR

Half-Page on the Kaiser Being Used in Papers Elsewhere.

The half-page advertisement for "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin," which appeared originally in the Wayne Herald, has been adopted as the correct thing to advertise that picture at many Nebraska and Colorado points. Wayne was the first town to show the picture, and the Herald, according to competent critics, got off on the right foot in advertising it.

HAS NEVER FAKED A SCENE

"A Modern Musketeer" Shows Back Grounds of Scenic Splendor.

The disregard for expense shown by big motion picture producers is well illustrated in Douglas Fairbanks' latest production for Artcraft, "A Modern Musketeer." The scenario called for scenes in the Grand Canyon of Arizona, and Fairbanks transported his entire company of 400 people there. The photoplay has an added value in presenting backgrounds of scenic splendor, which have been wonderfully reproduced by the camera.

Fairbanks' proudest boast is that he has never faked a scene. "Patrons of moving picture theaters have become so fastidious with methods used in the past," he says, "and are quick to detect the genuine from the counterfeit. I never use anything but the best of the best. It isn't shown at all.

"In 'A Modern Musketeer' one of the biggest scenes is where we pursue the traitor, who has been kidnapped Marjorie Daw, and Tully Marshall and I descended thousands of feet on ropes thrown from ledge to ledge. It was mighty cold, and the wind swayed us uncomfortably."

WHY PEOPLE LOVE MARY

Mary Pickford is a Fairy—She is the Sweetheart of America.

(From a Fan's Own Viewpoint—By Clara Louise Leslie)

Mary Pickford is a fairy. She is not of this world. She just happened down here to help rub a little of the soot off of everybody's viewpoint. Her scenario called for scenes in the Grand Canyon of Arizona, and Fairbanks transported his entire company of 400 people there. The photoplay has an added value in presenting backgrounds of scenic splendor, which have been wonderfully reproduced by the camera.

Fairbanks' proudest boast is that he has never faked a scene. "Patrons of moving picture theaters have become so fastidious with methods used in the past," he says, "and are quick to detect the genuine from the counterfeit. I never use anything but the best of the best. It isn't shown at all.

"In 'A Modern Musketeer' one of the biggest scenes is where we pursue the traitor, who has been kidnapped Marjorie Daw, and Tully Marshall and I descended thousands of all the seats in "Fandom," but aside from being charmed by an Edenic little face, we picture-patrons sit by and indulge our wild and ecstatic feelings in all the

to us through that will-o'-the-wispy, camera-invented medium—her intangible personality.

Now and then one hears of some one who "does not like Mary Pickford," but that person is likely a "highbrow" and is generally the full-fledged fan's idea of the type of individual who would steal, plague the cat and gossip about the dead.

There is yet to be found the woman who is jealous of Mary Pickford. And with feminine as well as masculine hearts to swell the glow of her glory, it is no wonder that she has grown popular. The fact is, there is nothing about "Little Mary" of which to be jealous. Herself so free from all consciousness of evil, a dingy thought but melts into light when it reaches the halo of her happy, innocent self.

We love her curls, we love her sunshine, we love her self-forgetful little ways; and most of all we love Mary Pickford because she loves us. We know she loves us because she seems to love everything around her. Her pulse beats in unison with the whole world, and hatred is as foreign to her heart as icicles to the palm branches of Borneo.

Harrington Herald, April 11: Those who are trifling with the home guard organization are purchasing the same policy of unpreparedness which has given this nation such an awful handicap in the present great war. They are hanging back and slacking and sneering when they ought to be up and doing and making the home guards an efficient and successful organization. No, nobody can compel you to take an interest in the home guards any more than you can be forced to be patriotic in other respects; but remember this--If the fortunes of war should place this community in a precarious position so that things awful and unpalatable should happen--remember this, you will have nobody but yourself to blame.

Louisville Courier-Journal: Stop speaking of the allies as "they." Stop speaking of the line so gallantly held against the German drive as an efficient and successful organization. No, nobody can compel you to take an interest in the home guards any more than you can be forced to be patriotic in other respects; but remember this--If the fortunes of war should place this community in a precarious position so that things awful and unpalatable should happen--remember this, you will have nobody but yourself to blame.
