

Edison Has Made "The Talking Machine" A Thing of the Past

When Edison invented mechanical sound reproduction 30 years ago the world marveled at his genius. The "talking machine" was the wonder of the age. But Edison himself was not satisfied. He had not reached his goal. This was not real music, but only mechanical approximation. Others, however, eager for commercial gain, closed their eyes to its imperfections. They adapted Edison's original ideas and exploited them by cleverly turned phrases. Even today "new" talking machines are announced which are really but adaptations of Edison's 30-year-old idea.

But meanwhile Edison cherished a higher ambition, one really worthy of his genius. For the last five years he has labored tirelessly and conscientiously, 18 to 20 hours a day, in his search for a true musical standard. He has dug deep into the hidden secrets of acoustic science—research of which he alone was capable. He ignored mere mechanics—for the mechanical timbre is the glaring defect of the familiar "talking machine." He aimed at the goal for which every music lover has hoped—

Music Recreation

And now he has found it. He opened the doors of his laboratory and revealed a new musical instrument—the New Edison Diamond Disc. Mind you—not an adaptation of old imperfect standards—not a talking machine—but a real musical instrument that is DISTINCTLY NEW. It has made the "talking machine," which for thirty years people have considered the limit of human possibility, A THING OF THE PAST.

Now—which will you have in your home? Which will you choose? This new musical instrument or the old-fashioned "talking machine"? Do you want the actual tones of the original artist, alive with that subtle breath of reality, or—the cold, metallic tone of the "talking machine" which makes even the greatest music unmusical? Do you want that eternal bother of changing needles, which wear out valuable records, or do you want the permanent rounded diamond cone which eliminates all the fuss and prolongs the life of the record indefinitely? Do you want the fragile record which you must fondle like a costly piece of china, or the unbreakable Edison re-creation disc?

These are things which you must investigate and decide NOW. And investigate and decide in a way which will enable you to AVOID REGRETS.

Attend Edison Re-creation Concerts

Come in and hear the New Edison Diamond Disc. Even if you are not thinking of purchasing you should hear this machine. If the familiar, mechanical approximation of tone has seemed wonderful to you, then this new gift of the wizard's genius will be a revelation.

Don't let anyone tell you that you can't hear certain artists on the New Edison Diamond Disc. You can. The Edison can be made to play other makes of records. And although the music of these records is not as true to the original tone as Edison's own re-creations, because of his superior method of sound development, they really sound better than on the instrument for which they were made.

CHILD WELFARE.

To the Herald: War time problems are not all to be found in the army and navy. In the great fields of industry, or any other phase of adult life. One of the most vital problems of war time has been found, by the nations now at war, to be the child welfare problem.

With scarcely an exception infant mortality increased during the first year of the war at so alarming a rate as to center public attention upon a threatened public disaster second in enormity only, to loss of life in battle. Immediate steps were taken to avert such calamity; and in England, for example, infant mortality was reduced the second year of the war to the lowest point in history.

From the first, interest in child welfare has steadily increased. The changes wrought in home life in warring countries where so many mothers have been forced into industrial life, have forced the public to assume the responsibility for the care of infant population as never before. The exemptions to child labor laws permitted in England and France early in the war, to permit child labor in war industries, have been abolished; and these nations are now looking to the fullest possible preservation of child life and health. Not only that, they are arranging for the care of orphans and providing for more complete education and physical training; and in England, at least, government funds are allowed for play centers.

The United States, profiting by the experience of European nations has, through the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor and the Women's committee of the National Council of Defense, planned for "Baby Year" to extend from April 6, 1918, to April 6, 1919.

According to government mortality reports for the first year of America's participation in the war, 300,000 children under 5 years of age died. One-half of this number it is asserted, could have been saved with proper care. Besides this, many children who have escaped death are suffering ills which may result in weak, defective, or degenerate manhood. If America needed further evidence of the need of concentrated effort for the preservation of child life and health, it might be found in the recent draft. Government reports show that one-third of the drafted men were rejected as physically unfit, most of these from causes dating back to infancy when such defects might have been remedied.

Plans for eliminating this criminally large waste in infant life, and for bettering the mental and physical life of all American children include five general lines of work:

- 1—The complete registration of births.
- 2—Parental instruction for every mother and adequate care by doctor and nurse at confinement, and afterward.
- 3—Weighing and measuring of all children under 6 years of age.
- 4—A campaign of publicity and education in child hygiene.
- 5—Children's conferences where well babies can be taken periodically to be examined and weighed, and clinics where sick children may be given medical attention.
- 6—Public health nurses throughout the state.
- 7—The guarding of the milk supply.

As the first step in the prosecution of these plans, what is known as Baby Week will be observed. It is recommended that during this week every baby in the United States be weighed and measured.

Formerly, baby tests were held with the purpose of discovering the most perfect baby; this one will attempt to reveal to parents any defects that may exist in the little one, that they may be given immediate attention.

It may be asked, why should Baby Week be observed here where healthful conditions prevail and good health abounds? Is this not intended rather to benefit children in crowded cities than in such communities as this? Strange to say, for Nebraska the present death rate for children less than one year of age, is three to five in favor of the cities. It is there that nurses and doctors are more readily secured, that the water supply is kept pure, that sanitation is enforced, that milk is tested for disease bacilli, that knowledge of the best methods of caring for health of both mother and child is most thoroughly disseminated.

Let every mother in Wayne county set aside any self satisfaction or prejudice and see to it that her child is weighed and measured, and if possible further examined during baby week. Let no child be neglected in these respects lest some unsuspected ailment or defect remain undiscovered. The government has asked it. Let no one fail to respond.—Mrs. M. A. Phillips.

PRaises RED CROSS.

Copy of the following letter commending the service of the Red Cross has been received by the Wayne County Red Cross:

"H. P. Davison, Chairman, War Council American Red Cross, Washington, D. C.

"Our people may well be proud of the record of the Red-Cross. It could best be told by the widows and orphans of our gallant allies, and by the mutilated soldiers to whom it has ministered in giving prompt and efficient relief. The Red-Cross has won the eternal gratitude of millions of people. The armies of France from commanders down testify to the great good it has accomplished with our own rapidly increasing forces in France. The care of our own men now becomes the most important object of our solicitude in this great work. The Red-Cross is indispensable."

THE RED CROSS CAMPAIGN

Report of Results in Wayne County Made by the Chairman.

The county chairman of the Red Cross campaign makes the following report. The report from each district is on file and will be kept as a permanent record. A separate deposit has been made for each district. A carbon copy of each deposit slip, containing the name of each person signing a check, is also on file. These slips are in envelopes, each envelope being marked with the number of the district. It can thus be seen that in case of error in this report, the error can be easily found.

The most difficult matter to adjust is the giving to each district its proper credit for the hogs which were donated. Several districts reported hogs which had been sold earlier in the year; a few reported hogs which are to be sold later. It was impossible to distribute the credits properly to each district. However, the shippers have sent in lists to the newspapers and the names of the donors are to be published elsewhere in this paper.

District 15 gave the largest number of hogs. It contributed twenty-five from Wakefield, and fifty-six hogs, bringing $1,792, average $32. Two cars were sent from Wayne, 118 hogs and one sheep. One hog died before it was shipped. One was thrown out by the buyers in Omaha. This left 116 hogs. The sheep brought $26. The hogs brought $4,141.78.

For hogs, Wakefield..... $1,792.00

For hogs, Wayne..... 4,141.78

Sheep, Wayne..... 26.00

Total..... $5,959.78

The following is the report of the cash received. In several cases the cash contributions appear small, but in those districts the donation of hogs was large.

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher

THE VALID REASON.

The men who deal in salted meats once found in me an easy mark; they sought me by my trees, and wings and left my wallet stripped and stark. And agents for the works of Pope, of Scott and Moore and Berlin Clay, were wont to hand me flimsy diaries, and bear my hair earned roll away. And people often passed the hat, to build a home for fillet dames; I lacked the nerve to cry out "Scat!" I fell for all their threadbare games. The agents still are running loose; they seek my cottage every day; but now I have a good excuse, and show them from my door away. I say to them, "In normal times I'd buy your junk and make no roar; you know I always spilled the dime, right cheerfully in days of yore. I'd gladly buy a ton of books, and I'd go in for mining strong, but I must use my change, gazooks, to help the Red Cross cause along. I'd buy my duplex lamps, your patent substitutes for hard, but every month I buy thirty stamps, and paste them on a printed card. I hate to turn you down like sin, I'd like to gladden all your days, but I must help the allies win, with all the coin that I can raise. No odds how I treat the Red Cross fee, they do not pay the ground or swear; there is no come-back in my spite; it stops all argument right there.

ABDUL THE DAMNED.

I stood by Abdul Hamid's grave, far from the world war's storm, and saw the rotting mummies wave above his sleeping form. By all the nations; he was damned, when he was on his throne, the world pronounced him doubly damned, and named him with a groan. Now all unburied Abdul lies, in his eternal sleep, and greater criminals awe and he looks pretty cheap. And Abdul had his points, methinks, some virtues him adorned; he was not the same coward cowardly as he scorned. He did not bludge to wade in sin, he wallowed in his shame; he did not say, with evil grin, that others were to blame. He did not pierce a country's breast with snick-erstick or creese, and swear he always did his best to keep the world at peace. He did not, from his filthy den, watch babes and women shoot, and harrow up the souls of men with talk of Me and Gott. The dripping sword, the burning brand, were busy 'neath his flag; but not a moment did he stand to spring the kultur gag. I stood by Abdul Hamid's grave, and said, "I must admit he didn't nicely behave, and failed to make a hit; we should not judge him here below, he's reached a higher court; but, lined up with 'one King I know, he was a dead game sport."

AN IMMORAL MAN.

Old Hittinberg, whom Teutons praise, should draw ten dollars or ten days' fine, name each day, in lurid tints, appears in all the public prints, and always linked with some punk deed that makes the reader's blood tingle. He is so keen to fight and slay, he desecrates the Sabbath day, and makes men in the trenches work, who'd rather be attending to their best interests. He never ceases some new disturbance of the peace is charged against him every day; he chews the statute books away. Discouraging freemen is his bid; although there is in every great a law forbidding men to shoot—but laws don't worry that old Tent. He trespasses on farmers' land, and spoils the crops to beat the band. "No Hunting" signs he doubtless sees, for they are nailed up on his trees, but signs don't stop this lawless Hun, with his long range breech loading gun. We may be sticklers, even cranks, but we are weary of his pranks. A little housewife now and then is rebuffed by the wiser men, but when a cut-up takes no rest, but plays his tricks with growling zeal, and spoils our hats, and steals our sheep, and fires our whistles while we sleep, our patience soon or late will fail, and we'll resort him to the jail.

THE WOODS FULL.

If there's a neighbor you dislike, don't let him make you sneer; don't think about him while you like to do the useful chore. Forget him and his evil ways as you weave to and fro; the woods are full of worse than jays whom it is good to know. If some one shows a tightwad soul when war demands are made, and claims the stickler for his roll. It would not be dismayed. The country will not go to smash because of a knifing lad—who glues his fingers to the grass, and sticks their straggling heads. The woods are full of loyal agents who always have the price, when asked to dig up planks or cents, or make some sacrifice. The woods are full of the boys who say, "What can a fellow do to help our soldiers far away, or split a Tent in two?" Don't think that treason's growing rank, that every man is vile because some noisy, noxious crank gets up and spouts a while. Don't think our institutions punk, our bullet-riddled band to be broken down; a fellow in Pohunk was ridden on a rail. The woods are full of delegates who make it plain, I wist, that in these brave United States great hearts and souls exist. Our eagles soar on noble wings, and do their martial stunt, but we won't see these real things, if we for buzzards hunt.

OBEDYING ORDERS.

The soldier's told to march ahead, and marches, with upping tread, to meet his fate; he doesn't say, "Let's argue this; to me there's something seems amiss; let's get it straight. Oh, colored man, get out here, and fresh it out for half a year, its cons and pros; if you can prove your orders wise, you'll see me like a veering rickshaw in the face. I have some maps we herb may scan, and if I should endorse your plan, I shall obey; but if I find your wares are crossed, and if your plans should melt like frost, why, then, good day!" The soldier does not talk like that; he drops not through his pipe tin hat, but makes salute and goes where he is told to go, perhaps to face a frenzied foe, and shoot a Tent. And we old boys who do not fight because of wrong or right or sight, and whiskers gray, should join down what we're told to do, by Washington's official crew, and then, when we are told to cut out pie of shun the ham; let us like soldiers play the game; we is enough that orders came from the file Sam. They say, "Cut out the pie of shun the ham; this command I do not meet with wily spiel; I chew no cheap, disloyal rap; I merely take a byrnap fork and eat." I sprang to my feet, my diamonds should be pawned, that I may buy another bond; I seek the gems; no foolish protest from my rise; I sprang to my feet, forsake and no why, no haws and hems.

TALKING TOO MUCH.

I often wring my hands and mourn, and oftentimes I get in dutch, and all the troubles I have borne have come because I talked too much. I can't restrain my eager jaws, when there's a chance to spring hot air; I argue every human cause, and every subject, everywhere. The less I know of the theme, the more warm platitudes I shed, I talk until my hearers scream, and bounce a brickbat on my head. I used to have good friends in town, and with high class men I was in touch, but now they always turn me down; it is because I talk too much; I see our leading business men conceal themselves when I draw near, they will not show themselves again until they find the landscape clear. When I arise to hand out slush, to make a little money, my auditors get up and rush for all the fire escapes in reach. I know it's my besetting-sin; this thing of talking all the day; but I know at the same men begin, it's mighty hard to break away. I'm always trying to reform, but when I see a chance to talk, I go around and rant and storm, and push pink language around the neck. Then people bat me on the dome with wooden leg and club and crutch, and tell me I should toddle home, and stay there, for I talk too much.

REFURBER'S SALE.

I pledge allegiance to my flag and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice to all.

The resolutions adopted by the republican convention in Lincoln this week give chief prominence to support of the war, and voice determination to urge forward the conflict until Prussianism has been effectually crushed and a world peace has been removed. The public will appreciate and applaud the firm and uncompromising words of the convention.

Late news dispatches mention another outrage perpetrated by the German army in deliberately shelling an American cemetery near the front in France. It is said that the grave was torn up four times. In sharp contrast with such barbarity, the same report says a captured German officer who died of his wounds was given a Christian funeral and was buried in an American cemetery with the grave marked the same as the others. German force is charged with savagery and cruelty. American force is threatened with the goal of mercy. One proceeds from needless watoreacy and the other from a progressive and humane democracy.

Memorial day is given new and more real interest by reason of the great war in which we are now engaged. The struggle to preserve the union over fifty years ago has been brought nearer to the hearts of the present generation on account of the world struggle to preserve and extend democracy and insure the future of our peoples. The legions of departed veterans of the Civil war will be charged with new patriotic fire, and while bestowing honor on those who were first to engage in the struggle to bring hope and perpetuating national independence and security.

Rev. J. A. Allenbach who was deposed as pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church at Lincoln because of declining to appear on the platform at a patriotic meeting, has been asked to return to the pastorate on showing that his refusal was not due to lack of patriotism, but to religious reasons which would not permit a member of the Missouri Lutheran synod to take part in any meeting participated in by Jews or Catholics. Granting that he is sincere in lifting his nose scornfully at other religions, we think his bigotry is altogether out of accord with the principles of Christ whom he professes to follow, and while we cannot understand the reasons of religious thought and practice vouchsafed in America. The minister was not asked to worship with the two sects to which he objected.

He might as well wrap his coat tails about him and withdraw from the fourth of July celebration because people not holding his religious belief were taking part. We are sorry for the mental narrowness of an individual who presents such a ground. It is awfully thin and pitifully archaic.

DEFEAT GERMANY FIRST.
Henry Ford is not for peace until German autocracy has been effectually defeated and peace can be made permanent with assurance of freedom for all the world. Mr. Ford has enlarged his automobile plant at Dearborn to turn out war equipment, and is making an institution to the limit of capacity in the interest of prosecuting the war to a satisfactory conclusion. Lasting peace cannot be had until the utter overthrow of Prussian tyranny. That is the thing for which Henry Ford, like all true Americans, is devoting every possible resource and bending every possible energy. Mr. Ford expresses himself in the following cablegram which he sent to a British news syndicate:

"I am a pacifist so earnest for peace that I am fighting for it to the limit of mental, physical and financial capacity. America is inspired with the same spirit. American industries are aflame with efficient activity; the earnest work of our great industrial leaders is seen everywhere, and all the resources, wealth, genius and manufacturing forces of our nation are united for the largest possible production of war strength."

"We stand with our heroic allies, confident of victory. Hold, for we are coming. America will fight to the last cent and the last man that every sort of militia may be swept from the world, and a permanent peace established by international law that can be enforced; for the suitable arrangement of the three great arts of peace—agriculture, manufacturing and transportation—that the glorious privilege of work and play be open throughout the world to every man that he may live on his own land and in his own home."

ONE UNION EXPRESS.
Washington, May 29.—One union express for the United States was formed yesterday by agreement between Director General McAdoo and the Adams, American, Wells Fargo and Southern Express companies. This transportation business will be merged under a new private corporation with a capital of more than $300,000,000 to be known probably as the Federal Express company. George C. Taylor, now president of the American, will be head of the new concern.

Effective July 1.
"After July 1 the combination becomes effective, shippers will direct shipments "by express" without regard to company and soon thereafter the various lines of separate companies will begin to disappear from wagons, stations and cars.

The company will be the express carrying agency of the railroads, operated privately, but under contract to turn over 50 per cent of their gross revenues—more than $200,000,000 last year—to the roads for transportation privileges. Three smaller railroad owned companies, the Western Great Northern and Northern, may join the combination later.

May Raise Rate 10 Per Cent.
A pending application for 10 per cent increase in rates before government operation of railroads for the express combination was contemplated, will be passed upon soon by the interstate-commerce commission.

More than 100,000 employees of the four companies are to be retained under the new corporation and their wages will be raised in many cases according to Mr. Taylor.

Hope to Save Millions.
Through the economies by the common-use of wagons, trucks, distributing stations, city offices, warehouses, railroad cars and other equipment and the simplification of accounting, the merged companies hope to save many millions of dollars and to render better service.

ATTENTION.
Ordinances of Wayne prohibit fast or unsafe driving of automobiles on the main road and unnecessary noise strictly prohibited. Cars must not be parked closer than 15 feet to any crossing. All turns must be at right angle intersections. All persons will be obliged to protect the public and avoid accidents by complying with the above. Persons violating the ordinances or law will be arrested and prosecuted.

SOCIAL NEWS

The St. Mary's Guild will meet Friday afternoon, May 31, with Mrs. Dennis, who lives on north Main street.

A Farewell Picnic.
A party made up of ten couples enjoyed a picnic supper at the country club last Thursday evening in honor of F. O. White and Frank Roe who left Tuesday for Camp Dodge. A following an elaborate supper a pleasant evening was spent in dancing, croquet and target shooting. Late in the evening ice-cream and cake were served by Mrs. F. L. Blair, Mrs. Perry Theobald and J. R. Almond.

Bible Study Circle.
The Ladies' Bible Study circle met Tuesday afternoon with Miss Beck at the A. S. Mitchell home. A large number of members were present. After the lesson had been studied, several letters were read and the president's proclamation for a day of fasting and prayer was discussed. The service was held at the Methodist church at 10 o'clock this morning.

Farewell Dinner.
Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Rennie entertained the latter's parents and brother, Albert MacGregor at a 6 o'clock dinner Wednesday evening in honor of the latter who will leave Friday for Fort Logan, Colo., where he enlisted in the heavy artillery. In the center of the table was a large bowl of American beauty roses. Nut cups and place cards were decorated in the national colors. Following a three-course dinner, Albert was presented with a wrist watch, sweater and several other useful articles.

Honor Scoutmaster.
A group of boy scouts planned a party Wednesday evening on their scoutmaster, Albert MacGregor, who will leave Friday for Fort Logan, Colo., where he joined the heavy artillery. The party was held in the social rooms of the Methodist church where a jolly evening was spent in games. Dr. J. H. Linson, who recently returned from the Philippine Islands gave an interesting talk to the boys. He showed them several curios, among them knives, flags, pipes and shoes, which he brought back from the islands. Albert was presented with a scouter's kit a gift from the boy scouts. At the close of a pleasant evening refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Shower for Bride.
Mrs. J. S. Liveringhouse and Mrs. John Dennis entertained thirty-five young ladies Friday evening at the L. E. Panabaker home in honor of their daughter, Miss Cora Panabaker, whose wedding to Roy Carter will take place June 1. One of the principal features of the evening was a mock wedding, the bridegroom being composed of the following: Miss Ethel Glasser, best man; Mrs. Hazen Atkins, bridesmaid; Miss Lavinia Giese, bridesmaid; Miss Ethel Miller, best man; Miss Martha Resold, best man; Miss Viola Will, father of the bride; Miss Myra Bell, ring bearer; Miss Dorothy Kugler, flower girl; Mrs. J. S. Liveringhouse, best man; Miss Griggs, disappointed lovers. After the ceremony, the party went to the dining room where useful and dainty gifts were arranged in the center of the table. At a late hour the hostesses served light refreshments.

Informal Reception.
An informal reception in honor of Miss Ella King Morrison who will soon leave for canteen service overseas was held in the parlors of the Boyd hotel Wednesday afternoon from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock. The guests included the members of the surgical dressing classes and friends and were received upon entering by Mrs. E. W. Huse, Miss Ella King Morrison, Mrs. C. E. Carhart, Mrs. J. J. Bressler and Mrs. J. Woodford Jones. During the affair, social conversation and victrola music were enjoyed. Light refreshments of punch, wafers and mints were served. Present were: Paul King, Mrs. W. E. Jenkins, Mrs. A. R. Davis and Mrs. C. H. Fisher, Mrs. A. Orr, Mrs. D. W. Kline and Mrs. C. R. Bowser. The hostesses are trying out this pleasant function. The members of the surgical dressing classes and executive board presented Miss Morrison with an aluminum face wrist watch. The parlors were decorated with bouquets of peonies, snowballs, carnations, and gladioli.

TABACCO A NECESSITY.
Philadelphia Public Ledger: Many private agencies have worked to get their tobacco to the boys in the trenches. Only the most bitter enemies of Lady Nicotine will object to a regular tobacco ration served out by the government. There is no reason why the men in khaki want nothing else so much.

EVERYBODY SATISFIED.
B. L. T. in the Chicago Tribune: To be tucked up, says Rose Pastor Stork, second most popular and tremendously more effective. So everybody is satisfied all around. It looks to us like an ideal arrangement.

O. C. Lewis

For SHERIFF

O. C. Lewis who filed Tuesday for the republican nomination for sheriff, has been a resident of Wayne county for thirty-two years. Mr. Lewis came from Red Oak, Iowa, to Wayne county in 1886, first locating on the Wadsworth ranch where he spent two and one-half years. Then he bought a farm in Brenna precinct where he lived for twenty-one years. His next move was to a farm which he bought one mile east of Carroll. There he lived until five years ago when he retired from farming and moved to Wayne.

Mr. Lewis is well known in Wayne county, and is highly respected for his industry, sterling integrity and courteous and friendly manners. As a pioneer, he saw the county transformed from a wild and untamed prairie into the garden spot of the world. He has been actively identified with the growth and development of Wayne county from its early settlement.

Mr. Lewis is deserving as well as thoroughly competent. His friends believe he will make an efficient officer, and that duties devolving on him will be most satisfactorily discharged.

He said he had a pleasant trip across and the boys were well and happy. Immediately upon their arrival at a French port, a little old woman in a dwelling home near by, came out and the boys waved and waved the stars and stripes. Loud shouts and cheers went up from the boys aboard the ship, who had just arrived from America.

A RELIGIOUS MEETING. Editor Wayne Herald, Dear Sir: Would kindly beg you to give space to the following notice. The rural community situated about midway between Hoskins and Winislae during the last few days witnessed a gathering of men, which we deem worthy of being brought to the notice of the citizens of Wayne county in general. We refer to the meeting of Nebraska class, Synod of Northwest of the Reformed church, which dates its origin from the great reformation of the 16th century, and brought about by such men as Zuingli, Calvin, and others. The aforesaid meeting was held at the residence of Rev. F. P. Franke of Harvard, Neb., on the evening of Thursday, May 23, in a tent erected on the premises of Ulrich Ferry, erected for that purpose. After this meeting was called to order by the 1st year's president, the aforementioned Rev. Franke, an election of presiding officer for the year was held, resulting in the reelection of same, the meeting was then adjourned until Friday morning, 8:30 a. m., whereupon the necessary business was disposed of with due order and dispatch. Evening services were conducted by Rev. J. Schmalz of York, preparatory sermon delivered by Rev. J. Arnold of Lincoln, Neb., Saturday morning, 8:30 a. m., the business meeting was closed in the usual manner. That the brethren, nine ministers and eight elders, representing as many churches, are loyal and patriotic, as well as the members of the two congregations of the entertaining charge, was noticeable by the fact that a meeting had been put upon the program for Saturday in the Frieden church to the northwest of the town of Hoskins, where the pastor in charge, Rev. A. E. Hamman lives. Rev. R. Birk of Sutton, Neb., delivered a glowing appeal for service at the front and in the rear, upon the topic "Service of the Field and at Home," which kindled and fanned the fire of patriotism in many a heart of the large audience present. Rev. J. Dohler of Belden, Neb., spoke on the Red Cross origin, purpose and present utility and needs. Evening morning communion services were held in the above mentioned tent, the church being considered too small for the members who attended from both congregations, though over ten miles apart. Rev. Theo Mueller of Yutan, delivered the sermon on this occasion, Rev. J. Brown of Duron, Neb., assisting. A collection of $50 was taken. In the afternoon a classical Sunday school convocation was held, attended by a goodly number of friends of the work. Every congregation was represented by pastor or elder, and responses from all in ten minute speeches were heard. A collection for the Red Cross work was taken with a result of $55. An evening service of missionary character was held also upon the same evening. Rev. J. Schmalz of York, Neb., delivered the message. The Ulrich Bros., rendered valuable services in all those gatherings by singing splendidly rendered songs for the occasion. We would again thank the membership of both these churches for the splendid entertainment and spirit of hospitality shown to the visitors.—By Committee on Publication, Theo. Mueller.

A FAREWELL AT PIERCE. Pierce, Neb., May 29.—A farewell reception was given forty-one men, who left Tuesday for Camp Dodge, Ia., by hundreds of persons from all over the county. The occasion was held from the courthouse to the depot, led by the Pierce band which was followed by the Home Guards soldiers leaving for camp, and lastly, citizens. At the depot speeches were made by Rev. Mr. Dains of Pierce, and Rev. Mr. Shantz of Osmond. The band played patriotic and stirring music. Members of the Red Cross gave the soldiers baskets of lunch and comfort kits. This was one of the largest crowds which ever assembled here to bid farewell to the soldiers. GIVES ELECTRIC MOTOR. Mrs. Douglas Smith of Florence, Neb., a sister of Walter Weber of this place, donated an electric sewing machine motor to the Wayne Red Cross chapter. The new device was installed Wednesday afternoon. The workers greatly appreciate this new equipment, which will mean a saving in work in making the garments for the soldiers. NONESSENTIAL. Chicago Daily News: This war discharges railroad pretexts with less ceremony than is shown to office boys, the latter not qualifying as nonessentials under Mr. McAdoo's rating. STALWART AND UNSCRATHED. Philadelphia Public Ledger: A long list is given of the "hochwuhlgeworen" who have perished in the war. But the Kaiser's six stalwart sons remain without a scratch. Proper Food for Weak Stomachs. The proper food for one man may be all wrong for another. Every one should adopt a diet suited to his age and occupation. Those who have weak stomachs need to be especially careful and should eat slowly and masticate their food thoroughly. It is also important that they keep their bowels regular. When they become constipated or when they feel dull and stupid after eating, they should take Chamberlain's Tablets, to strengthen the stomach and move the bowels. These are easy to take and pleasant in effect.—Adv.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES.

From the Wayne Herald, June 31, 1900:
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bebe visited friends in Stanton.
Mrs. F. E. Strahan and Mrs. S. R. Theobald visited friends in Sioux City.
The Royal Neighbor lodge held a necktie and apron social in the lodge hall.
Mrs. Miller went to Sioux City and accompanied his wife home from the hospital.
E. P. Olmstead was in Charles Mix county looking at land with the intention of buying.
A social meeting of the federation of women's clubs was held at the home of Mrs. Verwilliger.
George L. Cook went to Carroll where he had a class of twenty-five taking instruction in instrumental music.
Miss Fannie Skiles gave a picnic to the pupils of her room, at the "cut-off lake," near her home north-east of town.
Mrs. Acker shipped 174 head of hogs, upon which he realized $2,300. Of the number sold only five were over 9 months old.
Mrs. Laughlin purchased the abstract books of Guy R. Wilbur and is prepared to furnish abstracts upon application.
Mrs. Charles Smith who visited her sisters, Mrs. R. E. K. Mellor and Mrs. H. P. Wilson and brother, H. S. Ringland, left for her home in Colorado Springs.
Mr. and Mrs. J. Bressler went to Birmingham, Pa., to see their daughter, Miss Maude Bressler, graduate. Before returning they expected to attend the republican national convention.
Agent H. C. Baird and wife of the insurance agency were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Brosser. They were on their way home from Plambrau, S. D., where Mr. Baird had been on official business.

From Ponca Journal, May 29, 1879:

Several Indians with their squaws and papooses, have been camped in the forest of Covington this week.

The last branch of industry in this town is that of catching young wolves and retailing them at 75 cents apiece.

Yesterday, the thermometer indicated in the shade about 100 degrees of heat. If the wind had not piped up, people would have melted down into their hives.

The river is cutting into Covington very disastrously. The railroad depot is being moved some distance back, and the sidetrack was taken up on Tuesday. Covington will soon become one of the towns which was, but is not.

At the Winnebago agency, where two white men have been murdered lately, a red man, which an Indian is in jail at Dakota City, the noble red men are getting up on their high heels and dignity and propose to make an onslaught on the whites. If they can't murder a few pale faces for amusement, they are going to know the reason why.

Temperance Lager Brew

Make It In Your Own Home In a Few Minutes, From a Pure Malt and Hops Extract

These are the days of temperance drinks. Although non-alcoholic malt beverages, "near-beers," etc., are now being sold in bottles everywhere, they all lack a certain indescribable snap and flavor. But you don't need to miss these desirable qualities. You don't need to put up with those flat, tasteless, lifeless substitutes.

It is not generally known that a genuine malt and hops brew—non-intoxicating, but with all the cheer and invigorating—can be easily made at home. Most people think that such a brew can be made only by a brewer. But a wonderful new process enables you to make, at small expense, as palatable and satisfying a drink as you could wish for. Just get a package of from any druggist and follow the easy directions which accompany it. You mix the Extract with 7 gallons of water—and you produce, at small expense, a most delicious, sparkling, temperance lager, entirely unlike the usual insipid substitutes.

It satisfies the palate perfectly. You will like it better than you did the old saloon beverage—and it will be far better for you. Malt and hops make the most healthful drink. Your homemade temperance lager will be rich in nutritious properties, and you will like it better than anything you ever drank.

You can keep it in bottles to be used freely by your family and friends whenever you like. And think how cheap it is! You can make this tasty, "tangy," foamy, invigorating temperance lager for

About 22 Cents Per Gallon!

A package of Peerless Malt and Hops Extract—enough to make a brew of 7 gallons—will cost you but $1.50. Where could you ever get a perfect beverage as cheap as that?

Try it now! You will be delighted. Remember, you will like it better than injurious alcoholic saloon stuff. Yes, you will like it better. YOU WILL LIKE IT BETTER!

the telephone one day; the girl at central listened to all they had to say.

"Hello," she heard the Kaiser's voice, his Old Man Satan home? Just tell him this: It's Kaiser Bill that wants him on the phone."

The devil said "Hello to Bill," and Bill said, "How are you? I am running here a hell on earth, so tell me what to do?"

"What can I do?" the devil said, "my dear old Kaiser Bill: if there's a thing I can do to help you, I sure will."

The Kaiser said: "Now listen, and I will try to tell the way that I am running on earth a modern hell. I've saved for this for many years, and I've started out to kill; that it will be a modern job, you leave to Kaiser Bill! My army went through Belgium, shooting men and women wherever we were up the country, and blew up every town. My Zepps dropped bombs on cities, killing both old and young; and those the Zepps didn't get were taken out and hanged. I started out for Paris with the aid of poisonous gas; the Belgians, damn 'em, stopped me, and wouldn't let me get into the country. The rines are devilish, why, you should see them fight, they go sneaking through the sea and sink a ship at sight. I was running things to suit me until a year or so ago, when a man called Woodrow Wilson wrote me to go more slow. He said to me: 'Dear Will, it's up to you to make you sore, so be sure to tell your U-boats to sink our ships no more. We have told you for the last time, so dear Will, it's up to you, and if you do not stop it, we have got to fight us, too. I did not listen to him, and he's coming after me with a million Yanks in the country from homes near the sea. Now that's why I called you, Satan, for I want advice from you. I knew that you would tell me just what I ought to do.'"

"My dear old Kaiser William, there's not much for me to tell, for the Yanks will make it hotter than I can get you in hell. I've been a mean old devil, but not half as mean as you; and the minute I get you here, I'll give my job to you. I'll be steady for your coming, and I'll keep the fires all bright, and I'll have your room all ready when the Yanks begin the fight, for the boys in blue will get you. I have nothing more to tell. Hang up the phone and get your hat and meet me here in hell."

PASTOR DENIED LICENSE

Rev. Frank Klineschewsky of Tilden, Refused Privilege.

Neigh, Neb., May 28.—The case of Rev. Frank Klineschewsky of Tilden, who was seeking a license to preach, occupied the attention of both judges of this district, W. V. Allen of Madison and A. A. Welch of Wayne, a greater part of yesterday.

Evidence was introduced by several members of the county council of defense and F. L. Putney of Tilden, showing that in their judgment the action and attitude of the pastor in conversation and under oath were unpatriotic and of a pro-German nature.

Refused to Make Patriotic Address.

The pastor was not only examined by the county attorney, L. E. Jackson, but also by Judges Allen and Welch. During the course of the examination Mr. Klineschewsky was asked why he did not make a patriotic address when an invitation had been extended to him by the people of Tilden. He replied that his synod did not allow him to make such an address. His attorney, Jack Koenigstein, assisted him out of this predicament by having him make the statement that it was political speeches that the synod objected to. It is said, however, that the political phase had nothing to do with the conversation that the pastor had with F. L. Putney, being of a patriotic nature, and nothing else.

The following question was asked the pastor by District Judge Welch, which he evaded: "In your prayers before your congregation, did you pray to Almighty God that America may win this war?"

Not Allowed to Preach or Teach.

At the conclusion of the case the court gave the pastor no license to preach and renew again within ninety days if he so desired. In the meantime, however, he is not allowed to preach or teach.

The evidence introduced showed that the pastor made regular reports to the captain of the Neighs home guards by order of the council of defense. Attorney Koenigstein wished to have this modified for his client, but he was informed by the court that they did not interfere with any of the rulings of the County Council of Defense.

NO SOFT TEETH.

It is a common mistake to think that the teeth of some people are more subject to decay, because they are soft.

Dentists know that this is not true, because chemical analysis of thousands of teeth, from different mouths, fail to show any noticeable difference in structure.

The only reason why teeth decay in some mouths and not in others is because, one is clean and one is unclean—This does not mean that one person is of unclean habits and the other clean, but that there is an abnormal condition of saliva caused by a faulty diet, or ill health from other causes.

With a proper diet and good health the teeth would be self-cleaning and practically free from decay.

I also had terrible headaches and dizzy spells and was bothered a lot by other distressing symptoms. Doan's Kidney Pills strengthened my kidneys and drove away the pains from my back. The headaches left, too, and my health in general was improved."

On July 15-1916, Mrs. Schmalstieg said: "I am still recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever I have any kidney disorder I get them at Felber's Pharmacy and they drive away the trouble."

MUST STOP USING WHEAT

People Asked to Abstain from Flour Until Next Harvest.

Omaha, Neb., May 29.—Nebraska's families are asked to forego the use of wheat flour until next harvest. This appeal is made by Herbert Hoover, federal food administrator, and Gordon W. Wattle, food administrator for Nebraska.

Mr. Hoover's appeal was read from the pulpits of Nebraska last Sunday. The appeal copy of which follows, lays special emphasis on the necessity of saving wheat flour.

"The confidence of the United States food administration that the people of the country would respond enthusiastically and wholeheartedly upon presentation of the facts to any necessary request for reduction in consumption of food has been fully justified. We have demonstrated our ability not only to think together but to act together. This response of the people is the reason for the present appeal.

"Our work is not yet complete. In spite of the encouraging results of our efforts, in spite of the fact that our export of foodstuffs are constantly increasing and are approaching the minimum requirements abroad, the need for renewed devotion to the present pressing needs of all of the requirements of the food administration should be constantly observed there are certain matters which I desire to stress at this time.

"In the case of meat and meat products the necessities for shipment abroad are very great. Whereas the allied consumption has been reduced to an average of one and one-quarter pounds per person per week, we are today enjoying an average of about three and one-quarter pounds per person per week. This diversion is iniquitous. An understanding of these facts will justify our request that the consumption of all meats, including poultry, as nearly as possible be reduced to two pounds per week per person over a year of age.

"In the case of sugar we are embarrassed by the necessity of using ships for carrying our supplies and feeding the allies and in consequence we must be sugar with economy. We must emphasize the importance of canning and preserving on a large scale among our people this summer and our available sugar must be conserved for this purpose.

"But the situation with regard to wheat is the most serious in the food supply of the allied world. If we are to satisfy the minimum wheat requirements of our armies and the allies and the suffering millions in the allied countries our consumption of wheat in the United States until the next harvest, must be reduced to approximately one-third of normal. It is impossible that we should fail in this crisis. For each of us who can personally contribute to the relief of human suffering it is a privilege, not a sacrifice. All elements of our population cannot bear this burden equally. Those engaged in physical labor need a larger bread ration than those in sedentary occupations. Because of the constant daily employment of women and the lack of home baking facilities many households in large urban centers require a food ration already prepared, such as the bakers' standard victory bread loaf. Furthermore we must constantly safeguard the special requirements of children and invalids.

"To meet the situation abroad and to prevent suffering at home it is imperative that all those whose circumstances permit shall abstain from wheat and wheat products in any form until the next harvest. It is realized and deeply appreciated that many organizations and some communities have already agreed to follow this plan. Faithfully, Herbert Hoover.

THOSE WHO SELL EGGS.

Omaha, Neb., May 29.—Retail dealers of Nebraska, who sell eggs to any other than a consumer, must take out a license, which will be issued by the license department, food administration, Washington, D. C. Practically every retailer in Nebraska in foodstuffs buys eggs from farmers and ships them to commission houses in the larger cities. Merchants doing that kind of business must go under license. Only if their sales are limited to the consumer, they are not required to license. This ruling was announced by Gordon W. Wattle, federal food administrator, following President Wilson's proclamation of May 14.

Only About Half the Steer is Beef

Live Weight 1200 pounds

100%

Dressed Weight 672 pounds of Beef

56%

When Swift & Company buys a steer weighing 1200 pounds, only about 672 pounds goes to market as beef; the other 528 pounds consists of hide, fats, other by-products, and waste.

When the packer pays 15 cents a pound for a steer, he sells the meat to the retailer for about 24 cents. But the packer gets only about 6 cents a pound for the other 528 pounds.

This means that the packer gets about 16 cents a pound for all the products from a steer for which he pays 15 cents.

The difference of 1-cent-per-pound covers the cost of dressing, preparation of by-products, freight on beef to all parts of the United States, operation of distributing houses, and leaves a net profit of only about 1/4 of a cent per pound on all dressed beef sold.

Large volume of business and utilization of parts that were formerly wasted, make this achievement possible.

Multiplying Man Power and Horse Power

HOW MANY TIMES have you balanced the risk of your harvest against the value of your over-worked horses? How are you going to solve your labor problem? How are you going to insure steady power, indomitable when the thermometer mounts in July, economical when it is working—costless when there is nothing to be done?

Our suggestion is to secure that five-year tested farm power unit—the Parrett Tractor.

With the Parrett a boy can do a man's work. Its sensitive governor adapts the fuel consumption to the job in hand—using only as much as is actually needed. It follows the furrow, straight and self steering. No special hitch is required. On the belt it can handle a 20 to 26 inch separator or do any other belt job requiring equal power. It can turn the soil from three mold boards clean at 2 1/2 miles per hour. It burns kerosene successfully, economically. It is built to pay dividends and to pay for itself.

We are no more enthusiastic about this Parrett Tractor than its thousands of owners. We are backing it, endorsing it, and assuring you of its perfect service. Multiply your farm's producing power this year with a Parrett. We will give you a demonstration whenever you say.

ALL PHOTOGRAPHS IN ONE

All Over Town People Are Talking About the New Brunswick

THE new Brunswick Method of Reproduction has met with instant acclaim. And music lovers predict for THE Brunswick complete leadership. Never before have people known such an advanced type of photograph. It lacks all the crudities of yesterday. Tone is more natural than ever before. The most difficult selections, such as piano and orchestra, are played with absolute fidelity.

The Brunswick Method of Reproduction includes THE Ultona. Now all records can be played in the exact way each requires. A turn of the hand and the proper needle and diaphragm are presented to each type of record.

Heretofore one-record instruments have prevailed. Some require attachments. None of the leading phonographs can offer the advantages of THE Ultona.

Your ideas of photographic values are bound to change now. You cannot be satisfied with yesterday's standards. Times have changed.

Come in today and hear the wonderful Brunswick which is made by THE Brunswick-Balke-Coller Co. See if you do not agree that it is the most perfect.

FOSTER-NIELSEN

The marriage of Curtis Paul Foster, son of J. H. Foster of this place, to Miss Leona Nielsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Nielsen of Norfolk, took place at the First Baptist church in Norfolk, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, the Rev. Wm. Benjamin, the pastor, officiating. Only the immediate families witnessed the simple but impressive ceremony. In place of a shower bouquet the bride carried a small testament bound in khaki, which she gave to her husband to carry with him to France. Following the ceremony Miss Lillian Benjamin, sang a beautiful solo entitled, "My Soldier." Following congratulations and good wishes, a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents.

The young people drove to Wayne Sunday by automobile where they visited at the J. H. Foster home until Tuesday when the bridegroom left for Camp Dodge, with the Wayne county soldier boys.

Mrs. Foster lived in Wayne for several years and while here made many friends. The bridegroom is the youngest son of J. H. Foster. Their many friends extend heartiest good wishes.

ECHTENKAMP-SCHMIDT

The marriage of William J. Echtenkamp to Miss Pearl Schmidt took place last Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the German Lutheran church, northwest of Concord, Neb. by the Rev. Wm. Knute, pastor of the church and performed the ring ceremony in the presence of nearly a hundred friends and relatives. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Echtenkamp who live six miles north of Wayne and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Schmidt, living three and a half miles east of Concord. The young people were attended by Miss Clara Echtenkamp, sister of the bridegroom and Harry Knute. The bride was charmingly dressed in a gown of white messaline with lace trimmings and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid's dress was of willow taffeta.

Following the ceremony, the guests went to the home of the bride's parents, where a wedding dinner was served. The young people will go to home keeping on the bridgegroom's farm five miles northwest of Wayne. Their many friends extend congratulations and best wishes.

DEATH OF MRS. D'HAVEN

Mrs. Wilbur DeHaven of Harrison, Neb., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Ferrell of this place, died at the Mayo hospital in Rochester, Minn., Friday morning from tuberculosis of the kidneys. The remains were brought to Wayne Saturday, on the way to Harrison for burial. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon. The deceased was 42 years of age. She leaves besides her husband, four children, two boys and two girls. She had been a constant sufferer for several years, and seven weeks before her death was taken to the Mayo hospital for treatment. Four weeks ago she underwent a critical operation. Besides her family she leaves her parents, and two brothers, T. C. Ferrell and H. R. Ferrell, both of Wayne and two sisters, Mrs. Dell DeHaven of Hay Springs, Neb., and Mrs. Kelly Gossard of Winnebago, Neb. The sorrowing family have the deepest sympathy of their Wayne friends.

SOCIAL.

Pre-nuptials.

The social functions of the past week have centered around Miss Mae Howard whose wedding will take place Wednesday June 6. Last Wednesday afternoon V. H. Ranson entertained a large party of young ladies in honor of Miss Howard. The guests fashioned a little book, on the pages of which were pasted silhouettes, representing the daily routine of the housewife, such as Monday, washing; Tuesday, ironing. Each guest brought with her a tested recipe which was copied and put into a recipe file which was given to the intended bride. At the close of a jolly afternoon the hostess served luncheon.

Miss D. C. Patterson entertained a few married ladies in honor of Miss Howard Saturday afternoon. The feature of this occasion was a shower of kitchen utensils, which the guest of honor received. At an appropriate hour, the party was seated in the dining room at a table which was elaborately decorated in pink and white crepe paper. A tiny doll representing the bride formed the centerpiece.

Mrs. R. H. Mathewson was hostess at a shower Tuesday afternoon to a party of intimate friends of Miss Howard. Each guest was asked to bring a tested recipe, which was given to the bride-to-be. She also received a shower of dainty handkerchiefs as remembrances from her girl friends.

A picnic in honor of Miss Mae Howard was given by the members of the primary department and teachers of the Presbyterian Sunday school, Wednesday afternoon at the church. Miss Howard has been a teacher in that department for several years.

Receives Call.

Prof. M. C. Zerke received a message Tuesday from Richard Co., Ill., where he registered a year ago, telling him to report at that place, May 28, at 4 o'clock. Zerke did not reach him in time, he wired the local board to that effect. He has not yet received an answer to his message. Prof. and Mrs. Zerke left Wednesday morning for Tekamah, Neb., the home of the latter's parents.

Observe Memorial Day.

Appropriate Memorial Day exercises were held in the Wakefield auditorium this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Patriotic music was furnished by the Wakefield military band and the high school chorus. The home guards attended in a body and assisted in carrying out the program. The address of the day was delivered by Dr. Jenks of Omaha. At the conclusion of the speech, a parade was formed and marched to the Wakefield cemetery, where a short service was conducted by the pastors of the different churches. The graves of the Civil War veterans were decorated by a number of little flower girls.

SWEDISH SYNOD MEETS.

Report of Annual Conference at Oakland Last Week.

Oakland Independent? The Nebraska Conference of the Swedish Lutheran Augustana Synod, is now in session here for its thirty-second annual meeting. Opening meetings were held Wednesday evening. Ministers gathered in the church parlors for the session of their own, while in the auditorium the laymen held a meeting at the same time. The latter was an interesting meeting. After an introductory address by Chas. Monson of Oakland, there was a general discussion on proper spirit in religion, in which were brought out some very searching questions. One of the impressions was that it is not only ministers who can speak well, but also a number of the laity.

At the morning session Thursday, Rev. C. T. Carlson of Shirley, vice-president, preached the conference sermon, and Mrs. Herbert Bennett sang a solo. Dinner was served in the church parlors to 275 people, some of them home folk, but most of them visitors. There are new arrivals on every train, and the attendance promises to be one of the best on record.

Thursday afternoon was devoted to conference business. The president's report was read and referred to a committee. A committee was appointed to draw up resolutions of loyalty and devotion to the president and the country. Members of this committee, which was to report last evening, are: Rev. E. G. Chiswick, Rev. E. G. Knock, Dr. N. A. Nelson, and Chas. G. Nelson.

Officers were elected at this session as follows: President, Rev. C. F. Sandahl of Oakland (re-elected); vice president, Rev. J. T. Kraft of Wakefield; secretary, Rev. E. G. Knock of Lincoln; treasurer, Chas. Monson of Oakland. The only new official is Rev. Kraft. At the same time the W. H. & F. M. held a session in the Mission church. Miss Marie Hones spoke on "Woman's Work in the Home, State, and Church." A brief history of this society is given below.

In connection with the meeting of the Nebraska Conference of the Augustana Synod in the Swedish Lutheran church, which is being held this week, sessions are also held by the Women's Home and Foreign Mission Society. This society celebrated its Silver Jubilee last year. It was organized in 1892 during the meeting of the synod in Lindsborg, Kans., by 50 women. The sole aim of the society is to aid the women of the Augustana Synod together for greater missionary zeal and sacrifice. Mrs. C. A. Ewald of Chicago, has held the office of president since its organization.

During its 25 years of existence it has gathered no less than $192,282 for home and foreign missions. It contributed $10,000 toward a hospital in India, built a chapel in Porto Rico, and is building a hospital in China, which when completed will cost $120,000. Funds are now in the treasury, with which to build, we own the area is over a dispensary, chapel, widow's home, and a zenana home in India, and a school for girls in China. Through its "dime book" branch, it supports a medical missionary in India and two deaconesses in China. The society also supports 9 native workers, 17 British women, 12 boys and 35 girls in India, China and Porto Rico. The society publishes a monthly paper, and a biennial calendar. Its membership is now about 14,000 annual and life members. The annual membership is 30 cents, and life membership $10.

To further the work every conference has organized a conference division, districts have formed district branches, and in congregations mission societies are formed, or the work done through the regular ladies' societies.

The women of the Nebraska conference have from the beginning shown an interest in the work. Among the fifty charter members, four were from Nebraska, viz. Sister Mattie of Omaha, Mrs. C. H. and Miss Julia Sodergren of Bertrand, and Miss Augusta Stenholm, now Mrs. J. H. Fodman of Wahoo. At the first annual meeting a report from Herrand was given showing a contribution of $54.70. Considering that the entire income of the society for that year was only $755.00, this amount was quite creditable. A conference organization was perfected during the conference meeting at Malmo in 1906. The first years of this organization the meetings were held very irregularly but since 1913, well attended meetings have been held every year in connection with the conference meetings. The conference now has a membership of 912 annual, 121 life, and about 150 Junior members.

Why You Should Own an Oakland

EXCEPTING only the element of utility, cost of operation and maintenance is today the most important factor in the satisfactory ownership of an automobile.

In the design and manufacture of the new Oakland Sensible Six, this factor has had the most earnest and expert consideration.

The primary purpose of Oakland is to build the maximum capacity for service into its product, but the aim to make this service economical is second only to this.

As a result this new Oakland Sensible Six delivers the highest usefulness to the owner with an economy unique in the present car field.

The high-speed overhead-valve Oakland engine is immensely powerful and efficient, delivering 44 full horsepower at 2600 r. p. m. or one horsepower to every 48 pounds of car weight.

BECAUSE of the light weight of the Oakland Sensible Six and its generous tire equipment, owners regularly report tire mileages of from 8,000 to 12,000 miles.

Why You Should Own an Oakland

This unusual ratio of power to weight makes for extreme gasoline mileage; owners report from 18 to 25 miles per gallon under ordinary conditions.

The finely-made chassis is uncommonly simple and strong, and has behind it the compelling endorsement of three years of satisfactory service.

The slightly body is swung on long springs over a generous wheelbase, insuring full comfort; it is unusually roomy and accessible, and is upholstered with genuine leather throughout.

This new Oakland Sensible Six is handsome in proportion and finish; it is swift, serviceable and saving—the sort of car you should own.

As a perfected example of scientific light-weight construction, high power and speed economy, its value is not equaled in the present car market.

The McCormick No. 6

Is not a McCormick No. 4 mower made over. It is a new mower with all the good features of the No. 4 embodied with many improvements added.

NOTICE THESE GOOD POINTS
Countershaft Easily adjusted

The outside end of the countershaft is kept in place by washers and a cotter pin. This construction makes it possible to make an adjustment on the countershaft in a few minutes. You will notice also that the adjustments are made from the outside of bearings, which is a desirable feature.

FLEXIBLE GAG ARRANGEMENT

To do good work under all conditions, in rough meadows as well as smooth a mower must have a flexible gag arrangement. It must be possible to raise the bar reasonably high without increasing the angle between the pitman and knife.

The McCormick No. 6 is an improvement over most mowers in this respect. The cutter bar can be raised to the first notch, and if necessary to the second notch while the machine is in operation. The cutter bar has the same angle in both positions in relation to pitman and coupling bar. You will appreciate this extra high lift in rough, stony, or stumpy ground, or in going across a newly cut field and crossing windrows.

McCormick Self Dump Rake

The McCormick self dump rake will meet your requirements under all conditions. It has gained a reputation in every locality for durability and ease of operation. It dumps quickly, and the teeth return to the ground close to the windrow. As the rake fills, the cleaner rods float above and retard the hay so that it does not roll into a ropy form.

WHEELS INTERCHANGE.

The wheels of the McCormick rake interchange so that when one side of the ratchet is worn the wheels can be reversed, giving practically the wear of two rake wheels in one. The wheels have staggered spokes and heavy steel tires. They are large and keep the rake running smoothly when on rough ground. The inside ratchet is covered with a shield which prevents the hay from winding or interfering with the tripping device.

No machines equal McCormick sweep rakes and stackers for economy when stacking hay in the field. No other method equals this in saving of time and labor.

McCormick sweep rakes are made in nine styles, so that every field condition can be met successfully. They will gather hay from either swath or windrow.

THE BARBERRY MENACE.

On account of the fact that the barberry bush is a great menace to wheat, the Herald is asked to republish from the Farm, Stock and Home, the following treatment of the subject:

Acting under orders from Uncle Sam and the United States Department of Agriculture, the great spring wheat region of the upper Mississippi valley is now engaged in the task of getting rid of one species of the barberry bush except only the Japanese. Because plant pathologists have proved that the black stem rust of wheat, a fungus disease, spends one stage of its life cycle on the leaves of the barberry, the shrub has been condemned and is being destroyed as an effective means of stopping the ravages of the rust—so destructive to our grain crops.

Minnesota and North Dakota have taken the lead in the fight against the barberry. After the outbreak of rust in 1916, that is said to have caused almost 200,000 bushels of wheat to be lost in the United States, North Dakota passed a law provided for the eradication of the barberry, as doubtless most readers of the Farm, Stock and Home know. Just a few weeks ago the Minnesota Commission of Public Safety issued an edict against it as a necessary war measure—a protection for the wheat crop against an enemy as dangerous as any Hun with a firebrand or bomb in his hand.

Iowa, Governor W. E. Harding has issued a proclamation calling upon all loyal citizens to eradicate the barberry. In every state in which the barberry harbors the rust—which means the spring wheat section of the country—a campaign of one sort or another is now under way against the barberry. Dr. E. C. Sabinson of the Minnesota College of Agriculture has been put in charge of the national campaign.

But suppose all the barberry is dug out and destroyed and all nurserymen have refused to sell any more—then will the black stem rust of wheat disappear? That is the question that a good many people are asking. Won't the rust go on just the same after the barberry is gone?

Here is a man, say, who has just built a new home. He has had the lawn planted with beautiful shrubbery. Here and there are barberry bushes. To tear them out will destroy the whole scheme of things and set back his plans for a shiny lawn. Or perhaps another man has a large estate that has been planted to barberry for many years. It seems a great sacrifice to tear it all up. And what about parks, cemeteries and country clubs?

"The answer to these questions is that we do not know whether complete eradication of the barberry will mean practically complete elimination of the rust or not," says Dr. E. M. Freeman, authority on plant diseases at the University of Minnesota. "In all probability, the rust will still continue after the barberry is gone. But this we can say: The barberry spreads the rust. It takes it in early spring, develops it before the wheat stalks are out of the ground, multiplies it by the thousand or million and scatters it broadcast to find the wheat.

"There is no doubt about the role that the barberry plays. And we know that every barberry bush in this year of 1918 that is torn out by the roots and burned is not going to spread the rust. With our largely increased wheat crop, with a nation's destiny depending upon this wheat, we should not hesitate about the way we treat the barberry. It is a sprightly Hun that deserves no mercy. We can't afford to take any chances with it."

Then there is the example of Denmark to prove what getting rid of barberry will do. A Danish law was passed in 1903, requiring that all barberry be eliminated from the country. Before that time the grain fields had been ravaged year after year by this black stem rust. Since that time, the rust has grown less and less until in recent years there has been almost none.

"There is no reason for keeping the barberry anyhow," according to Dr. Freeman. "At the best it is but a second-rate ornamental shrub and has no other purpose. For every barberry torn out, another shrub could be planted that would serve better. For instance, the Japanese barberry is immune to the rust and it makes a better decoration."

This Japanese barberry, known by botanists and nurserymen as Berberis thunbergii, is a small shrub that branches a good bit. Its bark is fairly dark, the leaves are smooth edged, the flowers and bright red berries come in clusters. The berries are usually single. It is easy to tell from the common barberry that is to be eradicated. This barberry, known as Berberis vulgaris, grows in tall bushes, each long stem carrying three pointed spines. The leaves have spiny edges and the flowers and fruit come in current-like clusters. The wood and roots are yellow. The purple leaved variety also, and in fact any variety except the Japanese shrub, is eradicated.

During 1916, the black stem rust of wheat damaged the grain crop of the United States to the extent of 200,000,000 bushels. Minnesota alone lost something like $30,000,000 from it. The Dakotas likewise were losers to the extent of many millions of dollars. A similar outbreak in 1918, with wheat so high priced and so precious, would do incalculable damage. A whole country Hooverizing would do well to save 200,000,000 bushels of wheat in a year. It would be criminal neglect to fail to take a precaution that could render inefficient and largely prevent the recurrence of any such loss in wartime.

The barberry should be eradicated at once. Early in May the leaves of it will be attacked by the rust spores, emerging from the winter stage where they have been dormant on straw and stubbles. Once on the leaves, the spores will germinate and release a different type of spore that will attack the wheat or other grains. If no grain is at hand the rust attacks the grasses such as squirrel tail and bromo. By means of these it can be carried from barberry bushes through city streets to the country, or along roadsides, or along fence rows, to wheat fields.

Rust spreads like wild fire, once it leaves the barberry and attacks grains or grasses. If weather conditions are right, a single spore reaching a field of grain can destroy hundreds of acres in a short time. A single front yard hedge in the center of a city as large as Mankato or Fargo would endanger every field of grain within fifteen miles. Under these circumstances, it will be an act of patriotism for every factory bush owner to make himself a vigilance committee of one to get rid of said barberry bush at once.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.

Notice is hereby given that the board of county commissioners, the county assessor and the county clerk will sit as a board of equalization commencing on Tuesday, the 11th day of June, 1918, for the purpose of equalizing the valuation of personal property of the county, as returned by the precinct assessors. Any and all complaints on the assessment of personal property, or any complaints made on real property which was assessed in the year 1916, showing an error on the face of the assessment must be made at this time, and all complaints will be heard at this time.

All that are assessed are especially urged to call and inspect the books relative to their assessment, as this will materially aid us in avoiding any gross errors.

The board will continue in session for not less than three days and all complaints or protests must be made at this time.

THE EXTINCT HOBO.

Minneapolis Journal: The Hobo American is an extinct species. In other words, the tramp is gone. The vast number of his tribe at the height of its prosperity may be guessed from the fact that about 5,000 vagrants were killed every year while stealing rides on trains or resting on tracks. One sociologist estimates that in the golden age of Hobodom the tramps numbered half a million in the United States.

Two things have helped to make the tramp species extinct. One is the fact that the younger tramp element has gone to work. One sociologist estimates that in the golden age of Hobodom the tramps numbered half a million in the United States.

Public opinion no longer tolerates "handouts." When a man when work is already plenty enough to make loafers and panhandlers the worst of slackers. The public was "easy" while men were really unable to obtain work, but when work everywhere actually bodes for men, the public sensibility hardens up considerably. The trouble of living becomes much intensified for the tramp, too, by its high cost. Bread is no longer as free as the air and the meat for the sandwich filling has become too precious a commodity to give away to men who will not work to get it. So the era of the tramp passes. And what is more, the outlook for universal training and plenty of work for all after the war gives promise that the hobo will be exterminated for good and all.

The new spirit will hardly tolerate professional slackism. States everywhere are passing laws compelling able-bodied men to work, whether they have money enough to live on or not. The idler, rich or poor, grates on the burning spirit of today. If they won't work of their own initiative they must be led to it.

incalculable benefit to the section that has been suffering.

"The Sandhill region of Nebraska is coming into its own," said the speaker.

"The sand mills have been spiked time and again this spring, and as a result the pastures are in fine condition. The alfalfa never looked better, and it is easy to see a constantly increasing acreage each year.

Fine Wheat.

"I have seen no finer wheat than the immense crops I saw in Box Butte county Wednesday in a couple of auto drives that permitted me to see practically all of the wonderful wheat in that county. I was with the delegates to the associated commercial clubs convention at Alliance when they drove to Antioch to see the great wheat plants there. It was a revelation to most of them. Incidentally Antioch now has a population of 3,000 which is an increase of about 2,875 in less than three years.

"From personal observation and from conversation with a great many wheat growers and others, I am led to believe that the government wheat estimates for Nebraska are much too low.

"A most pleasing fact is the apparent increase in the number of cattle in the great grazing sections and the noticeable improvement in the breeds.

"It was raining at Alliance at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, raining there when my train left for Lincoln, and it was raining in Lincoln. And there were evidence of rain all along the road. We used to speak of 'million dollar' rains in Nebraska, but millions are small things these days. Nebraska is enjoying half-billion dollar rains this week."

The Only Real "Honest to Goodness" Gasoline Saver for Ford Cars on the Market

The Burke Economizer, now known as the "Burke," is a new device recently invented by W. T. Burke, a traveling hardware salesman of Clinton, Oklahoma, for the purpose of converting the hot air steam and vapor from the radiator through the engine, and thereby increase power and mileage and keep engine cool and free from carbon trouble. The present supply is made only for the Ford, but the Burke may be used on all cars and gasoline engines as soon as suitable connections are made.

First Successful Device of Its Kind

For several years scientists and mechanics have been working on a theory to reduce the high cost of motoring, and other uses of gasoline engines by converting and utilizing the natural properties of water, and their labors have been rewarded with some degree of merit, but Mr. Burke's invention is the first production of real merit on this theory which has proven a perfect success under all kinds of tests, and which is absolutely free from objection. As a traveling salesman, Mr. Burke used a car and was several months testing out and perfecting his device, in a practical and every day service over all kinds of roads and under all kinds of weather, winter and summer. It has now passed the final test by a large number of practical every day users and is being demanded by the trade faster than the factory can turn them out.

Why Does Every One Quickly See the Real Merits of the Burke?

Why do you pour hot water on your carburetor on a cold morning? To get heat. Why is the hot air pipe on every car you see? To get heat. Why does your engine work better on a damp day or after night? The moist condition of the atmosphere. These are common facts known to almost every one. Knowing these facts, the fundamental principles of the BURKE at once suggests themselves. By its use you get both hot air and the moist air, produced by the engine's own heat, and free from carbon and gasoline vapor necessary to the operation of the engine is reduced by the steam and vapor taken from the radiator by the use of the BURKE and the result is that you get twice the amount of mileage.

Removing and Preventing Carbon

For many years it has been admitted scientific fact that moisture and steam converted into the engine crumbles and prevents the accumulation of carbon, but until the BURKE was invented there was never a plan known by which this might be accomplished and at the same time not obstruct the necessary merits of the gasoline. Lack of ignition was the main obstruction, but in the BURKE this obstruction is completely overcome. Car owners know too well how often the engine must be torn down and carbon removed at the expense of several dollars, and in many instances the engine never works well after being torn down. By the use of the BURKE the steam and vapor is taken automatically into the engine and these troubles and expense are eliminated.

The Class of People for Whom the Burke was Made—Caution

The Burke is intended for the man who is really willing and wants to economize and save. If you do not give a snap whether you make 15 or 30 miles to the gallon, or whether your car runs badly or not, or whether your engine must be torn down and cleaned once a month or not, we advise you not to buy the Burke. On the other hand, if you are willing to join President Wilson and the great host of American citizens in the economy and conservation of the wealth of the Nation as well as the individual saving to yourself, we advise you to buy a Burke. The National Fuel Administrator recently said, "If each car owner would save one quart of gas a day it would win the war," and if he saves three, or four gallons a day it will win him a bank account.

The Burke Carries an Absolute Guarantee

You take no chance in the purchase of a "Burke" because there is an absolute money refund guarantee in writing given with each sale if purchaser desires it. Here it is:

Results Guaranteed or Money Refunded

To _____ purchaser.
The above named person having purchased from the undersigned a Burke Economizer for the sum of $75.00, the BURKE MOTOR ECONOMY CO., (Inc.) of Clinton, Oklahoma, hereby guarantees to him that the "BURKE" when properly used, will produce an evenly running engine; will moisten and remove and will lessen the accumulation of, carbon in the engine; will spray engine with vapor and prevent excessive heating, and will save 35 per cent of gasoline. (Many users have saved 100 per cent.) This guarantee is based upon the agreement that the purchaser will keep his engine in good condition; will use the Burke a reasonable length of time under the instructions of the undersigned, and will act in good faith with the company in trying to get the results desired. Should the purchaser fail to receive the benefits herein guaranteed he will report the same to the company by letter or otherwise, stating fully the nature of the trouble experienced, whereupon the company will give further instructions to cure the defect. Should the purchaser, upon further effort, still fail to receive said benefits he will take his car to the nearest agent of the company who will make therewith a test of the Burke, and if the purpose of purchaser, gasoline used at expense of company, and if the same fails to give the benefits herein guaranteed the agent from whom the Burke was purchased will refund the price paid, upon the return of the Burke in good order.

"Last winter when my little boy had the whooping cough I gave him Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Mrs. J. B. Roberts, East St. Louis, Ill. "It kept his cough from getting so bad that he could not sleep, and relieved him of those dreadful coughing spells. It is the only cough medicine I keep in the house because I have the most confidence in it." This remedy is also good for colds and group—Adv.

FRED SCHROEDER.
Randolph Times, May 22. Last Sunday afternoon the Presbyterian church was crowded with those of our citizens and friends from country and surrounding towns, who came to the last tribute of respect that the living can pay to the dead, the occasion being the funeral services of the late Fred Schroeder. The funeral offerings were beautiful, the music was touching and the occasion was one that brought home to each person the brevity of life.

Here was a man stricken down in the very prime of life, his greatest usefulness before him. Death came upon him quietly and peacefully, like the sleep of a child. In fact, it was hard to realize that the spirit had left the body, so composed was his countenance and so peaceful his face. Married less than a year ago, to the lady of his choice, and having recently purchased a business, life led pleasant outflow.

The funeral sermon of Rev. Bridges was spoken of by all as being as splendidly fitting. The sermon was comforting to the sorrowing relatives—the aged mother, the widow for many months, his sisters and brothers.

Burial was made in the Randolph cemetery where the body of his father had laid to rest about six years ago.

The following obituary was read by Rev. Bridges at the funeral service.

Fred Schroeder was born in Cedar county, Iowa, in 1882, and with his parents moved to Pierce county, Nebraska, in 1898. He attended the rural school for seven years, afterward attending the Plainview Normal school from which he graduated in 1905. He operated in the implement and grain business at McLean for about ten years. He was married to Miss Katherine Pierce in September, 26, 1917. Last year he was elected as an officer of the Farmers' State bank of Randolph and recently sold his interest to go into the grain business at Sholes. He leaves besides his wife, a mother, two sisters, and four brothers.

SERGEANT HAVERSTEIN.
Randolph Times: At 10:15 today Sergeant Paul Haverstein, a veteran of the western front in France and a member of an engineer company at Camp Perry, Ohio, arrived in Randolph. He was met at the station by uniformed Home Guards, the city mayor, and council, the band and citizens.

Sergeant Haverstein was dressed in the regulation uniform. His cap was the French style; he wore in the front of the middle of the steel helmet; he carried his army rifle and hung about his neck his gas masks ready for adjustment. He carried a gas mask which he made a picture very similar to those seen of the American soldier in France. He was the real article, and he responded to questions, and the band played and F. A. High introduced Sergeant Haverstein, who left the message that the boys were cared for in France, that they were being looked after and the Allies would win the war. He was an entertaining speaker and gave many of the humorous bits to war. He gave some of his own experiences and told many things of interest. He put on the gas mask, both English and French models, and explained their use. He closed with good words for the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A. and other relief societies, and made an earnest plea for more enlistments. The talk was splendid.

He closed with a few minutes as the time was noon and rain threatening. He drove home some plain truths and uttered his words in a temporarily paralyzed voice. On the whole, the affair was a success.

CLIFFORD HAMMOND SHOT.
Randolph Times—Clifford Hammond, born in Randolph, the son of Harry Hammond, the nephew of the Hammond brothers of this city, and a grandson of S. W. Mosher, was wounded by a prisoner of war, Young Hammond in the navy and the following dispatch tells of the incident.
"Ttica, S. D., May 16.—That the fighting front in France is not the only place where American soldiers are in danger of being shot, is shown by the experience of Clifford Hammond, a Yankton county young man. In a letter to the home, folks from his station in a navy yard at the United States, he states that he is in the hospital recovering from two bullet wounds, one in the arm and the other in the hip. His arm was hurt by the enemy's bullet from the bullet which struck it. Efforts are being made to remove the bullet. While young Hammond was on duty at the navy yard, a prisoner turned a Colt gas loose and young Hammond received two of the shots before he could get out of range.

RAINS SOAK STATE.
Omaha Bee, May 29: The rain of Monday night extended out over a large portion of the state, according to reports of the railroads.

On the Union Pacific main line all the stations between Omaha and Grand Island and between Grand Platte and Cheyenne reported good rains. Between Grand Island and North Platte none was reported. "It has been the first thing that ever happened," said the Central Freight Agent Lane. "We had just held our breath as long as we possibly could and the rains of the last week came just in the nick of time. I could hardly believe my eyes when I looked up the rainfall up to May 20. It was 41 of an inch from May 1 to 20, a small fraction of what we should have had. But now we are fixed up. The soil and subsoil are saturated. Rustures are green and luxuriant and the yield of growing wheat and corn are in fine shape."

"We got a report from our Kansas City office stating that the Kansas will produce 100,000,000 bushels of wheat this year on 7,000,000 acres. That is nearly 15 bushels per acre, which is going strong for Kansas."

TO THE POINT OF SACRIFICE.
Daily Money Tribune: One dollar is not given more than $2 if you are able to give more. The limit to Red Cross giving is not what you can afford, nor what you can easily give. It is what will mean a real sacrifice; it is what will make you go without something you really need.

WORSE TO COME.
New York World: That food shortages in Russia grow worse is inevitable. That they will grow worse for a year to come is likely. Men do not starve when they do not sell food for money that has no value.

Iroquois Chief: There is really no occasion to become alarmed over the prospect of disloyalists being elected to congress. We would like to see the color of the man's hair that could get the vote of an eastern congressional district if he showed a disposition to cotton up to the kaiser in preference to Uncle Sam.
