Every One a Good One—You Should Make it a Point to Attend Every Night

ON THE SCREEN

MISS LOVE WINS SUCCESS.
Bessie Love, the star of the Pathé picture, "The Great Adventure," is a celebrity now, with a salary which a bank president might envy, but she still is very young and all girl. It is not her that no longer had the kind of New York on her face, but a few weeks ago then she was asking directions as to how to get to the Zoo in Central park. And finding it she spent a whole happy day feeding peanuts to the monkeys and riding on the elephant.

The little star is unopposed and her directors have an easy time with her when they are working the picture. She is not temperamental, is just as charming in real life as she is on the screen, and all who have seen her are unanimous in their praise that "The Great Adventure" shows her in a most congenial role that of a young girl who gets a chance to travel the world, and in a comedy and soon becomes the favorite of the whole company. And eventually she becomes the star for the manager says: "While she is earning and counting, she certainly gets across!"

A NOVEL PICTURE.
Appearing in her latest photoplay "Mr. Fix It," as the exponent of the theory that happiness is a habit and comes only to those who habit themselves to it, comes Douglas Fairbanks will be seen in a new and novel character creation vastly different from those of the wild West in which he recently has been seen with such success.

The scenes of "Mr. Fix It" are located in the home of wealthy residents of New York, and are in a round fever of hearts and things. There is much bickering, petty hatreds and jealousy among these aristocratic men and women, but "Mr. Fix It" enters a magical transformation takes place. He is a genial, smiling chap who laughs and conducts himself in a manner that makes all the sternest criticisms of the elderly maidens and aunts of the contracted couples. This does not dismay him on what, for he is a right clever fellow, and by practical illustrations of his philosophy, the result being a series of mild-provoking developments which afford infinite amusement to all who behold them.

An exciting scene in the picture is a battle between "Mr. Fix It" and several gangsters in the slums. As the picture climaxes down the side of a house on a clothesline and swings across a street on an election banner. This is said to be one of the most thrilling stunts Mr. Fairbanks ever has performed.

MAE MARSH IS GODMOTHER
Miss Marsh, the Goldwyn picture star, is godmother to Company B, 145th Machine Gun Battalion, stationed at Camp Kearney, Cal. Last week she was called to work on "The Glorious Adventure," her latest Goldwyn picture. Miss Marsh received a letter from one of the company's sergeants inviting her to post and confer with an appeal that she show her compassion and accept. So touched was the famous screen star that she immediately telegraphed an hour after the letter was received a telegram reading, "I accept. What does your company need, and how can I help?" The letter was being transmitted to Camp Kearney.

Miss Marsh is now spending her evenings gathering delicacies, candies and sweets for the boys of the regimental banquet on the coast. Before a reply to her telegram from Company B was received a parcel containing the following things, cat biscuits and some baseball paraphernalia was on its way.

Miss Marsh proposes to be a godmother in the fullest sense of the word. She has made plans to send a package to her boys every week until they leave the coast for France and promises not to forget them when they are "over there."

Miss Marsh is doing her bit in other ways. The Goldwyn star raised a regimental banquet and party by her stirring appeal to audiences in a Baltimore theatre. Only recently her plea to audiences in a Buffalo theatre, raised a sum of the sale of $18,000 worth of war savings stamps.

"COLONEL" MARY COMING.
In the past year the public has referred to Mary Pickford affectionately as "Dor" Mary. America's Sweetheart is like the "Colonel" Mary, for Miss Pickford is entitled to that honor, it having been conferred upon her by Colonel J. J. Dillmore, commander of the 14th Regiment Field Artillery, when she recently adopted that splendid body of young American soldiers at Camp Kearney, Calif. On this occasion Miss Pickford gave 1,200 small bags to her godsons, and also a handsome silk stand with silver plate. They in turn, gave her a beautiful loving cup, while she officiated at a football game and later was the honor guest at a regimental banquet and ball. Miss Pickford's popularity is not confined to the soldiers who are preparing to go to the front, but to millions with other parts of the world only in this country, but abroad as well. Miss Pickford is soon to be seen in this city in her newest Arcraft picture, "Miss," based upon Bret Harte's delightful story of the days of '49 in California. She appears in this picture as a homely girl, brave, resourceful, kind and tender-hearted. Her characterization in this picture will add to the gallery of portraits a distinguished figure that will serve to largely increase her fame and popularity.

ANOTHER FEATURE ROLE.
As a South Sea islander, HAWAKA plays his way through the attractive picture which will appear in which is his latest Paramount picture. With a large company of actors, cameramen, directors and others, HAWAKA traveled from San Francisco to Honolulu for the filming of this production. Both Miss Loomis, who appeared with HAWAKA in "The Bottle," and "The Pioneer," and "The Secret Game," are to be found in the cast, which includes many of the screen's most popular players.

"THE HIRED MAN"
A typical Charles Ray picture-off with the gun at the jump, a mad dash and a whirlwind romance, and a somewhat different part for the young star, who as the hired man on Caleb Endicott's farm falls in love with the beautiful daughter of his boss, and wins her love, and an education for himself, despite the opposition he meets at the hands of her father. A story which will take you back to your childhood days on the farm, with a real old-fashioned "huskin' bee," a barn dance with a barrel of cider and all the trimmings.

"SELPHISH YATES"
Selfishness is the theme of this latest picture with William S. Hart again in the role of a bad man, who is regenerated through love for a noble girl. Hard-hearted and selfish as he was, Selph Yates could not resist the sweetness of Mary Adams, even though he tried very hard to be cruel and mean to her. But when he was struggling in the arms of "Rocking Chair" Riley, he realized how much the little girl meant to him, and if it hadn't been for the plotting, Selph might have been killed on the spot. As it was he went to his doom in another way, and Yates and Mary found their happiness at last.

ANITA STEWART.
"Anita Stewart" is a child in years, but remarkably learned and wise in the most delicate and subtle of the hardest of roles with ease and plays them with the finish and acting of one twice her age. What a wonderful thing it is to be as young as she is, and to be entrusted with such parts as she has shown she is capable of playing!

"It is heart-breaking to please and tenderness that completes the charm."

MAE-MARSH.
Mae Marsh. Does everyone remember "Little Sister," in "The Birth of a Nation"? As if any one could forget this lovely bit of femininity, who was the very life of this wonderful picture. She is always so sweet and dear that one longs for the sight of her at all times.

MOVIE DICTIONARY.
Automobile—A modern contrivance invented to help a person get up a big bluff. Also a first aid to the un injured. The first thing a player buys when he or she becomes a star is a car. There are two kinds, Fords, and all others.

Bigot—The other fellow.

Coquet—A female general who builds her fame on her behavior. The Coquetry—the ammunition she uses which is more deadly than shrapnel, judging from the army of men that fall before it. Woman's natural inheritance.

Cowboy—a hero. He is always brave, virtuous and daring. He seldom loses a fight. His only occupation is killing Indians, rescuing pretty girls and chasing villains.

Democracy—A form of government in which every man is to be treated with equal respect, but a great improvement on the kind that we are now threatened with.

Excuse—Convenient behavior. Particularly those examples we see in every photoplay.

Flirt—Something that is seen on the screen, but not in the real world. Any player who can become a popular star without a press-agent.

Friend—A bridge that spans the river of disappointment.

Idiot—The star of the play who always takes the center of the scene and insists that any other players must keep in the background.

Idiot—One who disturbs everybody around him by reading the titles that fall before it. Woman's natural inheritance.

Idiot—One who disturbs everybody around him by reading the titles that fall before it. Woman's natural inheritance.

MOVIE DICTIONARY.
Kinetoscope—Boston for movies. Leader—The printed words in a photoplay that are supposed to say what the actors can't act. Since we go to see a play, not to read a book, readers such as sweet, lovely woman that it seems a pity that she is always cast for such villainous parts. Oh, that she could be shown as she ed, but simply grew, in spite of all we could do to stop it.

Movie—The Bernhard of the films.

Obesity—See Arbutucke.

Powder—A substance applied to the face to stop up the pores of the skin, to make old women a little more ugly, and young women a little less pretty. But it's the fashion, so you'd said.

Q—See the Answer Man.

Rag-time—A kind of classic music that the pianist plays to accompany their scenes and other solemn occasions in the pictures, probably because it's so heart rendering to most railroad cars.

Sympathy—The one charitable gift of some people. Much needed by certain of our screen comedians, and even more so by most of our comedy writers.

Toilet—The arsenal of coquetry. See Coquet.

Whisky—Trouble put up in liquid form.

CLARA K. YOUNG.
Clara Kimball Young is an actress of no small importance, and her renown has been honestly gotten with her. Tall and stately, she has proven herself capable in any role.

"Her overpowering presence would not be idology to kneel."

PAULINE FREDERICK.
Pauline Frederick is as well known to theatre goers as the president of the United States is to the people all over the world. She is a wonderful interpreter of roles, and plays them all with a delightful touch.

"Graceful in sight and elegant to thought."

BESSIE BARRICALE.
Bessie Barricale is made up of cleverness, sweetness, versatility, beauty, grace, and everything else that's nice. She is lovely and one of her pictures is a delightful surprise. None know just what to expect, but they do know that they are going to be royally entertained.

"She whom tears and smiles make equally lovely may command all hearts."

EDNA GOODRICH.
Edna Goodrich, one of the most beautiful American women, and long famed as an actress both on screen and stage. Her pictures have been delightful and full of the finest of acting. It's a delight to watch her.

"A beautiful woman is the paradise of the eye."

FANNIE WARD.
Fannie Ward will always be an intrigue, although she can take an emotional part without seeming of force. She's such a pretty little thing, too, that one longs for the screen to see and show Miss Ward "really" in a picture that might let her know personally their great love and admiration for her.

"So fair to worship; too divine to love."

Wallace Reid, who is at present appearing in "Kismet Jones," will make his next screen appearance for Paramount in "The Thing We Love," with Kathryn Williams. It was with the production of this picture that Lou Tellegen returned to the field of directing photoplays.

"The Great Love," which D. W. Griffith produced of "Hearts of the World," "Intolerance" and "The Birth of a Nation" has recently completed for release by Arcraft, is claimed to be the most startling picture of the period, largely because of the fact that it includes among those who took part some of the foremost titled women of Great Britain—those women who have laid aside all thought of class distinction to participate in the work of war relief.

In "Green Eyes" her new Paramount offering from "The Ince studio, Dorothy Dalton has as her leading man Jack Holt, than whom there are few more capable or appealing actors on the American screen.

The Diango Film Corporation has started work on a new episode serial by W. A. S. Drake, George Larkin and Ora Careo, who handled the principal roles.

MRS. M. A. PHILLIPS WRITES

Former Wayne Woman. Tells of Trip Through Michigan Forests.

Excerpts from a letter recently received from Mrs. M. A. Phillips, formerly of Waynes, but now in newspaper work at Iron River, Mich., will be read with interest by her friends here. Iron River, Mich., July 28, 1918. I have just returned from a fifty mile auto ride through these beautiful hills. The roads are gravelled and then covered with tarvia and are like paved streets all the way. We drove over to Crystal Falls, about 18 miles east of here in the afternoon. Part of the way the road drove through fine clearings where the timothy and clover are just ready to cut for hay. My! but it is pretty. Not big fields like in Nebraska, but little irregular patches in the low places where clearings have been made. Out of those we go into a forest where the trees are so dense it looks dark and deep and a little way back from the street. Great tall straight trunks! It is no wonder to me now where all the telephone poles come from. I think one would see enough in a day's drive here to stretch wires from coast to coast and then hardly touch the forests.

In one place we came out of the dense woods to a clearing made by a forest fire. Acres and acres with not a tree standing, just blackened stumps. About two weeks ago, a young man working not far from here taking out logs found himself being overtaken by a forest fire. He drove his team to the mud, and managed to save them, but, was himself very badly burned about the face and hands. He is in the Stambaugh hospital now. It is in the north woods that so many people are killed accidentally by hunters. You know we read of those things in the papers every fall during the hunting season.

After supper we drove around Sunset lake. We were on the east side of it just as the sun went down. There are big trees on either side of the horizon that threw the reflection of all that crimson and gold and royal purple on the water that were scarcely a ripple, and a sight to delight the gods.—just one sea of shimmering sparks. Then the background of dark pines with their blue haze and the road winding away ahead of us lined on either side with tall blossoms somewhat like the old-fashioned sweet william, only a delicate lavender gave just the touch of needed fire to the picture. At one place there was an open spot of perhaps two or three acres just matted with ferns. In the open spots there were patches with brown by the frosts for he had frost night before last! Can you imagine it?

The roadsides in many places are lined with red raspberries just getting ripe. Then there is a taller bush loaded with red berries that grows like the elder berry. Oh, there are so many things to make the landscape pretty that I looked till my eyes were tired.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES.

Early days in the Wayne Herald, August 11, 1908:

Clyde Reynolds and Charley Seace attended the convention at Omaha.

G. W. Crossland was in Carroll paupering the church at that place. Miss Reba Naugle entertained a party of friends at a six o'clock tea at her home.

Miss Maude Britton enjoyed a visit from her cousin, Miss Litts of Abeline, Kans.

Mrs. H. H. Swan and two children went to Cedar Rapids, Ia. to visit relatives.

The farmers of Wayne county have nice bank accounts as a result. Miss Minnie Gaertner left for Canton, Minn., where she expected to make an extended visit.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Theobald left for Chicago to purchase a line of merchandise for their store.

Miss Lulu and Miss Grace Nehrls entertained a number of lady friends at an afternoon party.

Miss Theo Seace was elected teacher in a school in Cedar county three miles north of Dixon.

Twenty-five little folks were invited to the home of Glen Duerig to help him celebrate his sixth birthday.

Miss Maude Benschoff had the misfortune to dislocate her knee cap and as a result was laid up for several days. Prof. Conn left for O'Leary, Colo., where he accepted the position as principal of the schools for the coming year. Clint B. Slater of Sioux City, formerly of Wayne, was married to Miss Grace A. Gilman of Sioux City August 18. Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Savidge returned from DeLoit, Neb., where they attended the funeral of the former's mother. J. R. Manning, G. P. White, H. C. Wolfe, G. W. Yaryan and A. J. Swartz of Carroll, attended the county convention held in Wayne.

The fields of corn show that an immense crop will be gathered this season. There can be only one fear in the corn question, viz, that the frost will not hold off long enough. If there is no hard frost within the next three weeks, Dixon county will show a magnificent corn crop.

Mr. Chapin returned on Wednesday evening from a visit to Bart county where he had been on a few days' visit. During his absence he looked over that part of the Indian reservation which is about to come into market. He describes it as beautiful land, rich, well watered, and in all respects desirable. It has been appraised at from $3 to $10 per acre, and an account of it shows a magnificent corn crop.

Now Pays Big Profits

A good spreader more than paid its way when corn was 50c and wheat $1.00 a bushel. Now it pays big profits. Corn belt farmers, using Low Cloverleaf spreaders, harvest as much as 32 bushels more of corn off properly-manured acres than do those not treated with the spreader. Best of all, no more power or help is required to produce the increase. The spreader actually saves power, labor and time while increasing the yield from every acre on which it is properly used.

Low Cloverleaf Manure Spreader

The Low Cloverleaf is a wide spreading, easy running, light draft, narrow bow spreader, made in three handy sizes—small, medium and large. The wide spreading device catches the manure as it comes from the header, breaks it up into still finer particles, and throws it out beyond the wheel tracks in a wide, even spread. This is the kind of fertilizing recommended by all the authorities.

The entire load is spread in 3 to 5 minutes. The machine runs easily and lasts a long time because the working parts are all securely fastened to a sturdy steel frame which keeps them all in place and in line.

The Low Cloverleaf spreader does the work as it should be done. This year of all years you will profit most by using a Low Cloverleaf. Immediate delivery. Place your order now.

JOY COMETH.

The dawn of peace is coming soon; I read it in the stars and moon, and I'm a full grown seer; I read the planets, sick as grass, and I predict we'll lack no victor in June the 12th, next year. Then will be paid a handsome price for every little sacrifice that now may chafe at it; we'll have real bread of wheaten flour, and all we want is that glad hour when peace gets in its work. Then we may seat ourselves for grub, and not be told by water dum, "You can't have bread today; it is the food director's wish that you should fill yourself with fish and watered consommé." Well, we'll wear silk shirts if we elect, and no one will denounce, object or say it is a sin; we won't be subject to arrest if we should have our trousers pressed, or wear a plate glass pin. We'll motor on the village green, and burn up all the gasoline we can afford to buy, and none will say, "You help the Hun whenever you old boy run!" Shame, slacker, go and die!" When peace brings in her sunny days, we'll all get back to normal ways, and all this life of our shoulders be bestowed with fortitude sublime; when peace comes back we'll all be gay, and glad, saying, "Hello! Callay!" and have a holly time.

THE FLYS.

The pesky flies, in endless herds, have put me on the blink. I can't find the proper words to let just what I think. I wonder if the swat crusade has thinned their ranks at all; I wonder if it really does make them on the wall? For long, sad years we've fought the flies in every way we knew; we've soaked the brutes between the eyes and poisoned quite a few. We've blown for swatters hard earned monies that should have gone for pies, and now that all the time we have we've thinned our flies. We've caught them in a patent case, we've crushed them in their tracks, and often, in a scathing rage, we've slain them with our hands. We've slugged them on the cellar stairs and on the pantry shelves; we've punished them with chains and chairs until we sprained our wrists. We've bested the flies as they tread with pitfall and with gin, and spread our rangelook abroad to hope the blamed things in. And we've our labor thrown away, our anguish all in vain? The flies seem just as thick today, as hopelessly insistent. Around me countless legions arise, and buzz and scot and hum; I courted millions million flies, and still new legions come. And I suppose they'll still be thick until there comes a frost. For sale: A brand new sweating stick, at less than half its cost.

WARTIME PIES.

The wartime pie is a disaster; me thinks its crust is made of plaster, the filling isn't sweetened rightly, for sugar must be handled lightly. I eat my pie of peach or cherry, of apricot or loganberry, and in the eating find no pleasure, but rather an anguish without measure. It tastes as though the peach or cherry were doped by an opiate. How long, I ask, while I am eating, will armies on red fields be meeting? How long will colonels and commanders, and all potential Alexanders across the battle field go scouring? Because of them we are degrading rough pies which look like iron wedges, and set our teeth on brittle edges. Because some kings and kindred pieces of war are consuming bits of leather, all riveted and glued together. Because the Kaiser had a vision, a dream in which he saw his dying, a dream of German flags a-floating wherever human skulls are voting, from far Cathay to Athalasso, from Cork to Omaha, Nebraska, we're eating pies which break our jawbones and send us waiting to the sawbones. The grip of war our souls is pinching; we're brave and strong, but not unflinching; some burdens are to sore and grievous to bear without a sigh believe us. We miss the pie that mother made us, and who, I ask you, shall upbraid us?

IN OTHER DAYS.

It seems so strange how we would talk, in older times, of cheap affairs. How we would argue round the clock, concerning oil well stocks and shares! And often, when the evening came, we sat before the kacker store, and talked about the baseball game, until our lugs and heads were sore. If Johnny bought a motor car, that was our theme from sun to sun; we'd talk the blamed thing all part, and show just why it wouldn't run. The weather was a daily text, and we denounced the groundhog's game; and then the crops we'd take up next, and they would last till bedtime came. And still we meet at close of day, and gossip all the evening through; but no one quotes the price of hay, or bres the weather in review. The trifling matters of the town no more engage our anxious thought; we speak, until the moon goes down of Ter-off, and the price of the thing. Oh, what if Jenks has swiped a cow, or beat a neighbor in a trade? Such things won't draw attention now, when we're in the thing. Oh, what if Jimmy Sam has announced that he will run for county clerk? Until the measly foe is trounced, we care not for the thing. But now the nation's sword is bared, and other topics make us sick.

SIX OF THEM.

"My six boys are safe in bed," cheerfully the laundress said, and she would sleep and snore, while the world is splashed with gore. German angels guard their sleep, which is rest, calm and as they dream of wienervurst. Some men's sons, I have been told, lie in couches wet and cold, all in clothing wet with blood, plastered over with muck and mud. That would be a beastly fix; I am thankful that my six sleep in peace and comfort here, dreaming of a beer. Eitel Fritz and Wilhelm Fred, each is in his truckle bed, each securely in his cot, guarded by our some men's sons, shattered by the foe men's guns. Have been cast in trenches deep, there to find their krautified boys; painless sleep each one enjoys; six fat princes in a row; where do smoother princes grow? German seraphim are night! Sleep, my sons, while others die! While boys of coarser blood groan and perish in the mud! All the world is full of groans, all the world is white with bones, racked with anguish and with fears, and how thankful I should be, that my sons are here with me, while the girls and boys—Wilhelm Fred and Eitel Fritz—

THE GIVERS.

I'm proud of all my fellows; they dig and dig, dig again to help each worthy cause; they are a credit to the race; they shell out coin with princely grace, like Santa Claus. One "driv" comes on another's heels, and we are asked for many wheels, that we may squelch the Hun; and men who haven't much spare, whose shelves are peradventure bare, keep digging up the mon. We have to cut out this or that, a car, a picnic, or a hat, this or that, to make the kind of noise one makes when helping out the boys in far-off field and camp. The man who earns his pig and gre pays by toll so hard it makes him gray, will split his little pie; the woman who goes out to scrub, or works around a steaming tub, chips in, with beaming smile. I know a man who wrought for years like Adam's yoke of sorrel steers, that he might own his shack; at last, the final payment made, he kept some joyous years and laid the burden from his back. And then upon his mind it dawned that every man should pay a hand, and in our struggles share; and so he sought the loan graft men, and put the mortgage on again, and laughed to see it there. The proper spirit is abroad; no loyal man will hula his wad, while there's a Hun about; we do not contemplate a strike; the more we give the more we like this thing of shelling out.

STUCK BY LIGHTNING.

Pierce, Neb., Aug. 3.—Mrs. Leo Steinkraus, living eleven miles west of Pierce, narrowly escaped death by a stroke of lightning Sunday afternoon. She and her husband and Miss Martha Steinkraus were sitting on the porch, when the storm came up. A bolt of lightning passed directly under Mrs. Steinkraus' chair splitting a plank of the porch over which she was seated and killing a kitten. Mrs. Steinkraus was stunned by the shock and rendered unconscious, but is almost recovered now. The bolt took a peculiar course through the house. It entered the kitchen, tearing off the plastering and knocking down the stove pipe and wiring. Running down the stove it glared to the linoleum on the floor and following the border took a south direct-

This Farm Owner's Profits Assured

His crop is going to be in at the proper time—the soil will be properly prepared—and he won't be worried about the labor shortage. By using the Titan 10-20 Tractor he has placed his farm on a definite and economical commercial basis. This means maximum production at the lowest operating expense.

The Titan operates equally well on kerosene and gasoline. On every size farm—in every kind of soil the Titan 10-20 has proven its value. Assure maximum profits from your farm this year—

With a Titan Tractor and Oliver Plows

The Oliver Plow is recognized as the tractor plow—built especially for that work. The Oliver organization has utilized an experience of 60 years as plowmakers for the world, in producing a plow that conforms to the unusual requirements of tractor service.

It has great strength. It is easy to operate—a simple trip rope controls the plows from the tractor seat. The plow points enter and leave the ground first, which insures uniform furrows. Further, the combined rolling Coulters and jointers bury all trash and stalks in the bottom of the furrow.

A good tractor—the Titan 10-20, with a good plow—the Oliver. That is the ideal plowing outfit—the outfit that you want—this spring! Let's talk it over.

MUST EAT LESS SUGAR.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 7.—Nebraska's allotment of sugar for the month of August is 4,153,000 pounds, one-third less than the amount we received in July. This cut of one-third means that Nebraska consumers must reduce their consumption one-third if everybody is to have sugar throughout the month. The new regulations are: Householders may buy two pounds this month for each person in their household. In cities and towns they can buy only two pounds at a time, no matter how large the family. Customers living on farms may buy five pounds at a time.

Public eating places may buy 2 pounds for each ninety meals served. Less essential manufacturers may have one-half the amount they used in the corresponding period last year. For canning and preserving purposes housewives may have what they actually need. To get this sugar for canning they must secure a certificate from the county food administrator or his representative after complying with the requirements of the administrator. "There are no exceptions to these regulations," said C. C. Law, deputy food administrator, "and any report to the contrary must be given no consideration."

IT'S ALL THE SAME.

New York World: "Our forefield guard" of the German war bulletins as a sweetened substitute for rearranged to the ears of the German people is equally acceptable to the allies as long as the "foretold" keeps moving backward.

Cure for Dysentery.

"While I was in Ashland, Kansas, a gentleman overheard me speaking of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes William Hitchlaw of Des Moines, Iowa. "He told me in detail of what it had done for his family, but more especially his daughter who was lying at the point of death with a violent attack of dysentery, and had been given up by the family physician. Some of his neighbors advised him to give Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, which he had, and fully believes that by doing so saved the life of his child. He stated that he had also used this remedy himself with equally gratifying results."

A Bilious Attack.
When you have a bilious attack your liver fails to perform its functions. You become constipated. The food you eat ferments in your stomach instead of digesting. This inflames the stomach and causes nausea, vomiting and a terrible headache. Take three of Chamberlain's Tablets. They will tone up your liver, clean out your stomach and you will soon be as well as ever. They only cost a quarter.

There is a Right and a Wrong Way to Use the Telephone

The wrong way to get a telephone number is to call from memory—to "take a chance"—to trust to luck that your memory doesn't play a trick on you with the fickle figures of a telephone number.

The right way is to look in the telephone directory, make sure you have the right number and then give it to the operator slowly and distinctly.

The right way saves annoyance to you and helps build up a higher grade of telephone service for everyone.

Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Dow Dycar, Mrs. Lucie, who attended the Epworth assembly, C. E. Benschow and Art Auker. Chautauqua has come and gone, and, taking it as a whole, it was well spent. On the whole, it was well done. The crowds were rather small, but we must remember this is a very busy time for almost everyone and it is hard to get time to attend. He who finishes his work before taking time to play, and although the talent was not just what one would find in this part of the state, the boys and girls did so good a chautauqua this year that a contract has been signed with the Standard Chautauqua company for a similar entertainment next year.

Junior Chautauqua Picnic. No one enjoyed the chautauqua more than the juniors. Miss Phillips was a splendid instructor and was assisted by Miss Josie Carter, Ruby Reed, Paula Mittelstadt, and Abbie Lound. Saturday evening on main street the juniors had a street parade. It was indeed a very impressive parade. In the lead, two marshals on Shelland ponies, and consisting of Red Cross nurses, soldier boys, boys and even the volunteer fireman. On Monday the juniors had a picnic dinner on the school house ground at noon. A real picnic, beginning with songs, games and practicing the Red Cross taught by Miss Phillips and ending with a big dinner.

To Keep Farm Records

Now that farmers have to account to the government for their earnings, improvements, etc., it is important in view of the many duties they have to perform, to simplify the means of keeping record, and this store has just added to its stock copies of "Walgren's System of Farm Accounts."

OUR ARMY IN FRANCE.

From a statement by Otto H. Kahn of New York upon returning from the American front in France: "I cannot find words to express the depth and intensity of admiration for the spirit, the morale, and the achievements of the American army. It is difficult to speak of our boys and their leaders without using language which sounds rhapsodic and which yet is no more than the bold and sober truth. I have met a great many officers and men on the boat going over to Europe, and I have seen them in the lines of communication and at the front. Everywhere I found the same simple and unostentatious, yet grim and determined, and full of life and vigor, and the honor and glory and safety of America; everywhere the same modest, sympathetic, and soldierly bearing, and keen and quick insight into every aspect of the same note of splendid and eager courage, of willing discipline and service, of uncomplaining endurance under hardships and discomforts, of buoyant good nature and humor, of clean and kindly thought and feeling.

There is grateful acknowledgment in the army of many things admirably done for the welfare of the men. And there is universal understanding as to how far and how nearly possible to prevent it, the home authorities have not permitted politics to touch the army, and that merit is sought for, recognized, and rewarded.

I did not hear a single real complaint except on one minor score—and on that the complaint is almost entirely unwarranted, and the general inappropriateness and discomfort of our army uniform, which, by universal verdict of our countrymen and of those of other nations, is both the least well appearing and the least practical of all uniforms. There is also some grumbling about the tardiness in making payment to soldiers, and about the slowness with which mail is handled—the latter a really serious grievance, for prompt and frequent communications from and with home is of great importance to the morale of the army.

In addition to the magnificent record our army has already made as a fighting force, and the promise, amply warranted, of further great achievement, the capacity which our West Pointers in command of the great army bases have demonstrated for far-sighted, broad-minded, boldly conceived planning to coordinate work and for efficient business organization is nothing short of marvelous.

I am pretty familiar with big organizations, and I have seen nothing which impressed me more, and very few things, indeed, which impressed me as much as the work planned, executed and administered at the French harbors, at our bases and along our line of supplies by that great chief, Gen. Pershing, and the officers who he has placed in direct charge. Nor have I met any worker or better posted or more hard working men than those at the head of special departments of the army with whom I had occasion to come into contact.

And from what I have seen at that and elsewhere the same spirit of devoted unselfish service, and of intense, unsparring, ceaseless effort pervades the navy.

An immense debt of gratitude and recognition is due from the nation to its defenders. They have won golden opinions wherever they have been in Europe, they have been a revelation to our nations, they have shed lustre upon the name of America.

No American can see what our army and navy are doing in Europe, in the best way of fighting and planning, constructing, administering, no one can see their morale, spirit, and behavior without being deeply thrilled with pride and gratitude.

No American can come in touch with the affectionate admiration with the best way of fighting and planning towards our country without feeling even more profoundly and reverently than before the pride of being an American citizen, and without being stirred by a solemn sense of the obligation to do whatever he individually may be capable of doing to aid and to help himself, north, south, east or west, in peace, and in earnest and sincere help, however manifold and humble, towards the realization of her high ideals and lofty mission.

FORECAST.

This will be the way of it. You shall have the sun of it. There will be a garden green. And a kitchen white and clean. There will be some room with chintz. And a few well-chosen prints. There will be some chairs as kind as are verses to the mind. There will be whole shelves of books. And a tree for wrens and rooks. And for leaves to wink their twinkling.

Through our window in the morning. And the sea somewhere below. Whispering soft and sad and slow. And a pier for takers' carts. Traveling from foreign parts. I shall have a pipe to smoke. And I sit beneath our oak. And your fingers will be busy. With the stitch that makes me dizzy. And the children will be chubby. But a shelt and just as grubby. For it's hard to keep them tubby. If you wish them as they are. And at night we'll see our stars. Yes, our own peculiar stars—burning silver in the heavens. On a world released from war. Yes, I know, that's far, so far. But that still will be the way of it. Any you shall have the say of it! William Rose Bennett in the Century Magazine.

SPRIT OF OUR FIGHTERS.

Chicago Daily News: Foreign opinion concerning the attitude and demeanor of the American fighters at the front is worthy of special remark. These new and strange soldiers naturally have been studied with great curiosity not only by the French, but by the British, Italian, Australian and other observers. It is not without significance that all the verdicts agree on essential points.

What, then, in the opinion of foreign observers, is the spirit of the American fighters that are giving so good an account of themselves in France? The Americans, it is asserted by these observers, are very quiet, very earnest, grim and determined. They are that they have a terribly difficult job to do and they are intent on doing it well. They have no doubt of the result and they do not stop to think or talk about the cost.

An Italian writer calls the American soldiers "grusaders," but notes that they avoid rhetorical phrases and boasts. They have clear vision; they know they are right and are fighting for righteousness, and this is enough for them.

This vision, this conviction that they are doing a necessary, a whole, some a noble work, that there is nothing selfish, sordid, mean, dishonorable about their enterprise gives America's fighting boys the high courage and the unflinching steadiness and perseverance.

We who take so much pride in the boys who give our blood to fight for us should continually search our own hearts and ask ourselves whether we are doing our work at home in a way that is worthy of the boys who are now fighting and supporting our boys with a loyalty and earnestness at all comparable to theirs? Are we putting aside all thought of undue profit, of politics, of partisanship, of ease, of personal renown? Are we, from the chief executive down to the humblest workman, earnestly giving to the country and its cause the best that is in us? Are we doing our full duty whole heartedly or are we permitting or committing ourselves to shirkness, inefficiency, inertia?

These splendid young soldiers are setting a fast pace for us here at home. It will be shameful if we fail to do our best to support them in the same high, self-sacrificing spirit that they show in fighting for their cause and ours.

WRITERS AND WRITING.

Bixby in Lincoln Journal: Arthur Brisbane is said to be the highest paid editorial writer in the world. It has been said that the Hearst papers pay him $7,000 a year, and theater tickets besides. If called into court, Mr. Brisbane might testify that editorial writing does not pay. He has been told that some of us do not receive as large salaries as he does. That is why he believes it does not pay to write editorials, and one might do better keeping chickens or selling bananas. Brisbane has a style of his own. He approaches nothing by indirection. He scores, denounces, and is plain, pragmatic, emphatic, scientific, and sane—a part of the time. Jay E. House who runs a column of his own in the Daily Tampa Capital, finding that his style doesn't please all the people all the time, has undertaken to adopt that of other famous writers in the hope of striking something that will give general satisfaction. His first attempt is an imitation of the Brisbane editorial in the short treatment of several snappy themes, follows:

A woman who is suing for DIVORCE in Shawnee county says her husband CURSED HEK, HUSBANDS, FOLLOWS, NOT course their wives. It provokes bad feeling. Besides it is PROFANE to do so.

In Grace Park Sunday, just east of WHEATON the people stand hundreds of men and women went in SWIMMING. It was very HOT, and those who went in came out much REDDER. The largest lady's bathing SUIT was purple in color and attracted SOME attention. It is good to go in SWIMMING on a HOT day.

THE GOVERNMENT plans to raise the price of sugar one cent a pound. Think of the STARVING MOTHERS who are being hit by the thin, pale, wan and anemic YOUNG WOMEN who will be crushed into submission by this BLOW at human liberty. What it says that people should not HELP THEMSELVES to it?

THE EAST SIDE will hold a community SING tonight. It is a fine thing for COMMUNITIES to get TOGETHER and lift their VOICES in glorious song. Every community should sing and sing often. Many are so WEIGHED DOWN by the burdens of life that they have no HEART for singing.

Mr. Burdson has been placed in charge of the TELEGRAPH AND TELEPHONE lines. When we talk over the telephone, or use the telegraph wires now we are thus helping toward governmental operation of these UTILITIES. Let us not forget to use the telegraph and telephone wires FREELY. It is only by such methods that we can get into immediate COMMUNICATION with distant places.

These "pointed paragraphs" remind us of an occasion rising forty years ago when we wrote a long letter. Every other day and addressed it to "The Hon. Bates, Chain Lakes Center, Martin County, Minnesota." We wrote with a pen and underscored everything bearing on the subject of vital interest to the both of us. If it were to mention the love that "can never die," love and never were underscored for caps, and the rest of the sentence went in italic. Now the average writer gives his reader credit for intelligence enough to judge the part of emphasis in a sentence, and the weight that should attach to it, but Brisbane is no average writer.

BRITISH DOGGEDNESS. Chicago Daily News: In the meantime the British keep on fighting and not saying much about it.

Ginghams and Percales For School Dresses

Yes, just a few more weeks and school bells all over the county will call some 2,000 children to their books. This means that every girl must have two or three dresses besides aprons and a good supply of underwear. On our shelves is a big assortment of neat 36 inch percales in both lights and darks, and a full line of Glenrick ginghams has been billed out for immediate delivery.

Attractive Patterns Galore

Never before have we selected such a display of ginghams and percales. And the prices are not much higher than formerly. Plaids are the thing, and the combinations of colors are exceptionally good this year.

Shoes and Stockings

Sturdiness characterizes every pair of boys' and girls' shoes in the house. They are made on lasts fashioned for comfort and service. No "pinchey" toes or heels that hurt.

And as to stockings, we have them all weights; the extra heavy for growing boys, medium for the kindergartners.

Furman will be with us on Sunday evening, as per program in another place of this issue, and will remain with us to conduct the fourth quarterly conference of our church year on Monday at an hour to be announced later. All official members are asked to make a special effort to be present at this last and most important business meeting of our church year.

Orientation Stars.
The part which gestures plays in Oriental dance is set forth in a recent Hindu volume, which says that there is a fitting gesture to represent every emotion. The gestures, in fact, are described as dead-and-dumb alphabet of the soul. There are nine movements of the head, corresponding to nine emotions mentioned by the Hindu; 23 movements of the body; 23 movements of the stoma hands, and 24 or 26 of the double hands, etc.; also "hands" denoting animals, trees, oceans, etc. For example, a certain position of the hands denotes a certain emperor, caste, or planet. The translator says rather sadly that only a few of our audience can appreciate Indian "actor's art."

New York World: Complaint is again made against the American uniform but not one word against the man inside of it.

ONLY HUMAN BEINGS CRUEL

Proud Man the Sole Living Creature Capable of Deliberately Inflicting Suffering on Others.

A cruel person is one who exerts in the pain, mental or bodily, suffered by another. Cruelty has its basis in anger (and this is related to the combative instinct), though there is a cold-blooded form of cruelty which may be enjoyed without any objective feeling of anger. Henry Campbell writes in the Lancet, London.

Cruelty, implying as it does self-consciousness—the ability to realize the feelings of others—is essentially a human attribute. Children who impale frogs and eviscerate flies cannot be said to be cruel for they know not what they do. Not are the lower animals cruel, seeing that they are wholly unconscious of the sufferings of others. Thus the charge of cruelty against the carnivorous is unjust. These animals generally destroy their victims outright and in the rare cases (e. g., cat and mouse) where they prolong the suffering they have no knowledge of the pain they are causing. When, therefore, we stigmatize the conduct of the cruel man as "brutal" it wrong the brute.

The animal which attacks another, and in so doing causes pain, merely responds to a blind, unthinking instinct; but man, proud man, who looks before and after, is able to realize and take pleasure in the pain he deliberately, and by subtle means maybe, sets out to cause. It is clearly absurd to speak of his conduct as "brutal." Rather should we call it devilish, the devil usually being credited with a goodly share of intelligence. We must cease to flail the brutes by designating the basest acts of man as brutal. As a matter of fact, they cannot be charged with nonmoral conduct, seeing that they are devoid of self-consciousness.

CURE FOR LITTLE AILMENTS

Real Trouble Can Usually Be Depended On to Make One Forget the Smaller Ones.

Man and animals alike, it's wonderful what a shock will do to heal our errors and our weaknesses. The only thing that ever stopped Uncle Bill in an argument was a dishpan, or some heavy, blunt instrument clouted over his brow and in his confusion, he was some arguer, as his scars attest.

Here is the case of the blind man in San Rafael, Cal., who fell 40 feet off the roof of his house, and found his eyesight restored; Aunt Ellen, who was bedridden for years, was the first person to reach safety when the house caught fire, and her bad hip has been practically all right ever since; you remember that crippled negro who beat even the dogs home when the barn caught on fire.

A lot of us have troubles that are little real troubles; when we are fed a little in our minds we forget the smaller ones. There is, perhaps, an opening for a man who can throw him or a cliff, or break him over the head with a brick or a crowbar—anything to wake him and make him aware of his small worries, and heal his diseased mind.

"Because," Jely has been busy with riddles. "Now," she cried and held up for public inspection the legend, "Why did the orange ice cream?" printed in large letters. "Because it saw the sausage roll under the table," she said. "My own is much better," announced Jely, evidently bursting to declare it. She was cordially agreed to do so. "Because it saw the sausage roll under the table," she said. "My own is much better," announced Jely, evidently bursting to declare it.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Dolph and two nephews, Mr. Jack West and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Buskirk, jr., and C. W. McGuire. Miss Mary Bressler spent last week with her friend, Miss Edith Williams of Wakefield. Mr. and Mrs. D. Herner left Monday for a reunion of the former's relatives in Pennsylvania. Leonard Chambers visited with Leslie friends last week. Sunday he conducted services in the absence of the pastor. Mrs. Lydia Sellers and daughters of Wayne, returned home Sunday after a week's visit at the Geo. Buskirk, sr., home.

MAKE PETS OF HORNBILLS.
The slow hornbill, one of the comparatively fearless birds and is easily killed. The male is fond of perching on the tops of tropical trees and making a noise like a young puppy. The natives in Africa had young hornbills eagle-eyed. They dig the birds out of the tree nests when quite young and raise them on milk and berries in their huts. When grown the hornbill remains attached to its foster parents and will eat the same dishes. Left free, the hornbill comes and goes much as does a pet and remains about the hut until the first nesting season when it goes away with one of its kind, rarely to return.

HARRY TIDRICK

Twenty-nine Years in Wayne County

Democratic Candidate for County Commissioner Third District

Mr. Tidrick comes before the voters of Wayne county for the first time in asking public support for a county office. Though he has served as assessor and road overseer for many years at the earnest solicitation of friends, he has not until now entered the field for a county office. His large and successful farming and fine stock raising interests offer undoubted evidence of his good judgment and business ability. He will, if chosen commissioner, carry into the office the same high standards of business which he has followed in private life.

SIMPLE THINGS WORTH WHILE

Many Make Mistake of Thinking Happiness Comes Only From Material or Outward Conditions.

Why should you care to be pestered with a large bank account or distressed by a house full of servants? Ask the Albuquerque Evening Herald, which says: "I have seen and have neither of these and they called their place of abode Paradise. Few people have made such a mistake of living well. They learned the secret by taking wholly on the condition of the pocketbook. This is most certainly a mistake. Happiness is not born of material wealth. It is largely the result of a purely mental process. Amid the duller threads of duty it is well to weave one bright strand of sunshine—to take a little sunshine with your daily food. You can soften the sound of cad and car in the street; you can bring to melody a bird's song heard in the fields on a summer afternoon in childhood. It is sweeter to your soul—it is more precious than is the railroad that you own yourself. Take a day off and go out to some cemetery where you may reflect on the brevity of life and the importance of things pertaining to the pocketbook. It is better that you go before it comes your turn to ride out there in the big limousine than to haul its load back again. Don't wait until you own your private automobile, but go while you are able to walk and run. Don't wait until you have learned much of life. Scan all the virtues inscribed upon all the headstones by loving hands—and among them all there is one that is the most precious—a million dollars or a docked tail horse or a brownstone palace or a 12-cylinder car or a "handsome" wardrobe. No! The headstones usually tell you only of those things worth white.

For Representative

Nels J. Johnson Yields to Wishes of Friends in Becoming a Candidate

On behalf of my friends I have filed as a republican candidate to represent Wayne county in the state legislature, and if I am elected I will do my best to represent all the people.

If elected I will heartily favor any measure that will support the government in prosecuting the war to a successful end and thus insure the future freedom and opportunity of the nations of the world. I don't want the support of any voter who is not 100 per cent American.

In the legislature I would expect to look out for the best interests of the state and particularly Wayne county. I will take a watchful interest in the welfare of the State Normal at Wayne and be on the alert to favor measures that will promote its growth.

As a servant of the people, I will do my utmost to serve them at all times.

Nels J. Johnson

TO HASTEN THE COUNT.

Battle Creek Enterprise: The initial try-out of the new law which provides for double election boards will be made at the coming primary election, August 20. The law, which was passed by the last legislature, provides that in all precincts in which more than 100 votes are cast, the last general election, the clerk of the district court shall appoint both a receiving board and a counting board, each to consist of three judges and two clerks. Four hours after the polls open the county board is to start its work; from that time on whenever twenty-five ballots have accumulated they will be counted. That portion of the count which is made between 2 and 5 p. m. is not to be open to the public, but will be witnessed only by one accredited representative of each party who must take care not to reveal any information regarding its progress until the work of the board is completed. Any violation of the order carries a heavy fine.

LANSDOWNE.

Kansas City Star: If you ever looked out the window of an express train and saw an elderly lady with bird cage and an umbrella, signaling it to stop and pick her up at a crossroads, you have an accurate picture of how Lord Lansdowne looks to the Englishmen he is calling upon to stop fighting.

WORKING OVERTIME.

Duluth News-Tribune: Some of those American fighters were on the job thirty hours without a break. You couldn't hold them down to an eight-hour day with galling guns when they see Fritz in the offing.

AT PAR.

Omaha World-Herald: Liberty bonds of the 3 1/2 per cent issue are selling at par on the New York stock exchange. Liberty itself is quoted at par, too, since the Huns collapsed at Soissons.

ASKING TOO MUCH.

Grand Rapids Press: It seems that Mr. McAdoo's throat is troubling him again and we have insisted all along that with all his other work it was unfair to expect him to call the stations.

HE'S A DEAD ONE.

Kansas City Times: It is believed that if the crown prince were to come up for re-election again he would not carry a single division of the army in the Reims-Soissons salient.

IT'S TOO BAD.

Minneapolis Journal: Frightful suffering we are undergoing in having to eat honey and regan on the breakfast table.

PRINCE IS OUTCLASSED.

St. Paul Pioneer-Press: If anybody puts anything over on the boys from Iowa he's got to be smarter than the crown prince.

Medical Explanation of Work Performed by Fluid Which Bathes Brain and Spinal Cord.

Until very recently the exact role played by the cerebro-spinal fluid—the watery substance which bathes the brain and spinal cord—was understood. But nowadays it is a common practice among surgeons to squirt drugs into the tissues containing this fluid or to inject a drop or two of it for examination.

The Journal of the American Medical Association, commenting on an address by Dr. W. H. Calkins before the Royal Society of Medicine, says he describes the cerebro-spinal fluid as an ideal physiological solution to which the equally sensitive nervous system is always bathed.

This fluid does not, like the lymph, arise from the blood by exudation of serum through the walls of the capillaries, but is the product of the secreting cells of what are called the choroid plexuses in the ventricles of the brain. The pressure under which the fluid always exists is due to the secretory pressure of these cells and not to the blood. And there are scarcely any proteins found in it. Halliburton says that in order to keep out the harmful proteins, which would poison the nerves, the harmless ones also are almost completely excluded.

The membranes that line the spaces in which the fluid is found seem to permit substances to pass from it to the blood, but to be impermeable (except for oxygen) in the direction from the blood to the fluid. The value of this arrangement is that when poisons enter the blood, as they do so easily, they are kept away from the delicate nerves.

Kansas City Star: Britain has put 7,000,000 men into the war; the arrangement is that when poisons enter the blood, as they do so easily, they are kept away from the delicate nerves.

Remarkable Beliefs That Have Been Firmly Ingrained into the Conscience of Mankind.

Mr. Ernest Young, who went to Spain to organize the educational system, explained at Logron recently some curious beliefs held by the citizens there. He related that he had experienced considerable difficulty in teaching them the rudiments of logic. They held that the earth was flat because the priest had told them so. It was

Resolution adopted by the Dodge county republican convention, July 20, 1918:

"We desire to express our approval of the candidacy of Ross L. Hammond, one of our fellow citizens for the high office of United States Senator, and cheerfully offer him our support. For nearly forty years he has been prominently identified with leading institutions. He has thus materially assisted in the development of our industries and has never failed to do his utmost to promote the highest local and state interests. In his long and successful newspaper career he has been a leader in all movements that have given strength to the moral foundations of the community. Always a student abreast of the economic and political issues of the day. In public life he has been efficient and upright. His relation to labor has always been one of sympathetic concern. Himself a farm owner, his interest in agricultural problems and his greatest Nebraska industry has never failed. In his attitude toward the present great war he has shown the highest patriotism. His courageous and vigorous discussion of war problems and his loyal support of the war program have been a real public service. His visit to the battle front in France and Belgium has, we believe, fitted him to deal more intelligently with the big war questions. For all these reasons we commend Mr. Hammond to one who, in our judgment, as neighbors and friends, believe he would creditably serve the state and nation in the office of United States Senator."

THE FIELD OF BUSINESS.
Sioux City Journal: "The government continued during the last week to extend its control over industry and labor. Industrial conditions as a whole were good. Progress was made in the scheme for drastic taxation under the new revenue bill. Various commercial and industrial reports were uniformly favorable. The stock market was lethargic. Money rates continued firm. Another upward swing of grain prices was registered.

A feature of the week in the securities field was the exceptional report of the United States Steel corporation of earnings for the second quarter, the net earnings being approximately $62,500,000 after deducting $91,000,000 for current amortization of the steel corporation announced its seventh wage advance to employees since January, this advance being 10 per cent and bringing the aggregate of increases to 75 per cent. The effect of this report on the stock market was inconsequential, however. The midsummer dullness was not to be disturbed.

Time loans continued to be quoted at 10 per cent, with interest available. Call loans were made Monday at 4.3-4 to 6 per cent, but dropped by Friday to a range of 4 to 5 per cent. International bonds for the week tended to be firmer. The Liberty issues also showed some strength, the untaxable 3-12s, going to 102, Liberty bonds of the 4-per cent issues ranged between 93.10 and 94.46, and those of the 4-1-2 per cent issue between 95.02 and 95.10.

Loans by the American government to France, Belgium, and Serbia raised the total of loans to the allies to date to $6,000,000,000. The treasury department announced that the Fourth Liberty loan campaign will open September 28 and close October 19. It will be $5,000,000,000 and the rate probably 4-1-4 per cent.

Professing as the revenue measure by the house ways and means committee was such as to bring the prediction that the bill will be ready for submission when congress reconvenes August 19. Doubling of the present tax of tobacco will be recommended. Gross sales of manufacturers and importers of automobiles, piano players, phonographs, cameras, sporting goods, and other luxuries will be lifted for taxation on about a 10 per cent basis, as compared with the present excise tax of about 3 per cent. Theater admissions will be more severely taxed, and brokers will be hit also. A 1 per cent tax on retail sales by mail order houses doing a business of more than $100,000 annually is favored.

Telegraph and telephone companies are being urged by Postmaster General Burleson to pursue to executive order. This action followed labor difficulties. The government also assumed control of labor recruiting for war industries, establishing thirteen recruiting districts, and fixing quotas for the states on the basis of population. The initial call for essential laborers on Iowa is 5,805, on South Dakota 1,350, on Nebraska 4,185, and on Minnesota 9,405. Railroads and farmers will obtain their labor by other methods. A shortage of about 1,000,000 men in war industries was indicated. The threatened strike of Great Lakes seamen was called off. The national association of railway and utility companies urged the government to form a national public utilities administration to deal with questions of rate increases, as made necessary by wage advances.

Plans were made to provide the shipbuilding industry with a reserve of steel, and it was made plain that reduction of steel supplies to non-essential industries is to be continuous.

The government bought 510 locomotives and will order 10,000 freight cars for service in France. Government expenditures for July, while below those of June, averaged $40,000,000 a day, including loans to the allies which average $10,000,000 a day.

Print paper makers asked the federal trade commission for another price advance, to which the publishers entered objection.

The American and Cuban governments are to fix the basis of sugar prices for the new crop. The retail price will be somewhat higher. Some relaxation of rules against use of wheat flour allowed by the food administration. The cotton crop showed further deterioration. Corn prices moved upward from a Monday closing price for August deliveries of $1.52 3-8 to a Friday closing price of $1.57 3-8 at Chicago, and then weakened. September deliveries closed Monday at $1.75 7-8 and Friday at $1.70 1-8 with a drop Saturday. Oats were strong in sympathy with corn.

AS TO FOREIGN LANGUAGES.
Under date of August 3, the state secretary in St. Louis, Missouri, issued the following statement in regard to the use of foreign languages:

Applied to religious instruction it is intended that the study of German and all other services shall be conducted in English, excepting that for the old people unable to read, write, speak or understand our language, and those only a special service shall be arranged. To this end, any hour may be set agreeable to the pastor and congregation any day or place. In many foreign-language churches over the state, where, for instance, the regular Sabbath services are held at 11 o'clock, the old people referred to above are given a special service at 10 o'clock, the old follows the main service in English, which those who do not yet understand English are especially urged to attend in order to familiarize themselves with the language of the country. This plan is being followed quite generally with gratifying results, and if the ministers will make their announcements accordingly, they will thus guarantee the constitutional right of religious worship, and give due response to the popular demand of our citizens for the exclusive use of the language of our country. This plan in no wise interferes with the religious liberty of anyone.

Applied to the use of the telephone, it is manifest that one unable to use our language cannot be denied the right to converse in his native tongue, and that the rule must be accorded; but those who speak English must not be given this privilege. The State Council assumes that the County Council, being conversant with local conditions, can best administer the terms of the proclamation, dealing with the infractions thereof as in other matters pertaining to the defense work.

RENEWED TESTIMONY.
No one in Wayne who suffers backache, headaches, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Wayne woman's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Wayne resident can doubt.

Mrs. Henry Hansen, says: "I was subject to spells of backache for a good many years. Sometimes it went months at a time, and then all at once it came on. I think the cold weather and over-exertion is what caused it. My rest at night was broken by the pain in my back. I had been that way for about three weeks last spring before I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They made me feel a different woman." (Statement given June 25, 1907.)

Uses Doan's Occasionally.
On July 15, 1916, Mrs. Hensen said: "I occasionally use Doan's Kidney Pills when I feel my kidneys need attention. They keep them in good condition so that I have no more serious kidney trouble."

POLITICAL ADVERTISING POLITICAL ADVERTISING Candidate for Republican Nomination

For United States Senator Congressman Charles H. Sloan

Was four times elected Congressman in Fourth District with increased majority each succeeding election. In 1916 ran nearly ten thousand ahead of his ticket. Only Republican Congressman from Nebraska in its fifty-one years of history who attained membership on Ways and Means Committee, the most important Committee of the House of Representatives, and the one having jurisdiction to prepare and present tariff, revenue and bond bills.

FOR OFFICERS' TRAINING—Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 5.—Three hundred and twenty-five applications for admission to the Central Officers' Training camp, which now open the fifteenth of every month, have been received by Col. H. L. Roberts, commandant of the university regiment and in charge of posting on applications. The camp is for the purpose of training candidates for officers' commissions in machine gun, artillery or infantry. They are located in the southeast corner of the state.

An ANGUST CONCEPTION.—Samuel Taylor Coleridge, poet and essayist, writing some 75 years ago, said: "The possible destiny of the United States of America as a nation of a hundred million of free men, stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific, living under the laws of Alfred and under the influence of Shakespeare and Milton, is an august conception."

SAVING AND SERVING.—By economizing in consumption and with the resultant saving purposing the government's war securities the American citizen performs a double duty. The citizen and the government cannot use the same labor and material; if the citizen uses it, the material and the labor cannot be used by the government. If the citizen economizes in consumption, so much material and labor and transportation space is left free for the government uses. And when the saving effect is turned to the government more money is thus placed at the disposal of the government.

OLD LEMON EXTRACT.—Aussworth, Neb., Aug. 5.—James Duncan, a farmer living near Johnson, was arrested Saturday on the charge of handling intoxicating liquors, and following a plea of guilty was fined $100 and costs on one count and the others were dismissed on the promise of discontinuing the business.

PIERCE GUARDS REPORT.—Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 5.—A report has been received by Gov. Neville from F. G. Pepper, home guard captain at Plattsmouth, Neb., that the guards have been assisting in harvesting the small grain crop. He says: "The total number of acres we have shocked is 1,100; total money received for the same, $436. Turned over to the Red Cross, $327. Turned over to the Y. M. C. A., $109; grand total, $436."

SHAM AEROPLANE BATTLE.—Omaha, Neb., Aug. 5.—A sham aeroplane battle on September 1. The show will be put on by the British mission. Three planes will demonstrate killing in action according to the day's casualty report from Washington. He was the son of a widow living about eight miles east of Irvington and was in the first draft.

THE HUN A HUMORIST.—Nebraska Farmer, Aug. 5.—This is being with the enemies of the country all powers are being driven back on all fronts. Instead of reaching Paris, as they expected when they started the best week they have been thrown back for a substantial loss. Instead of capturing Venice and Rome, they are being thrown back to the Alps. Instead of holding the line in the Balkans, they are steadily being crowded back to the sea. With these facts before us, the peace proposals submitted by way of Spain, are indignant to say the least. First Germany wants no annexations or indemnities in the west. Notice she says "in the west." When she was talking peace with the Jews, detested Russia, she said she wanted no annexations or indemnities in the east, but she finally got them. What reason do we have to believe that her action would be different on the west front than it has been on the east?

HAS FRUIT DRYING PLANT.—West Point, Neb., Aug. 4.—The Elka Evaporating company's plant at West Point is now in full operation, drying large quantities of fruit and vegetables. The concern is owned exclusively by West Point and was started by a local man in the drying problem.

PRESIDENT ON MOB SPIRIT.—"I have called upon the nation to put its great energy into this war and it has responded—responded with a spirit and a genius for action that has thrilled the world. I now call upon you, my men and my men everywhere, to see to it that its laws are kept inviolate, its fame untarnished."

WOUNDED IN ACTION.—Hastington, Neb., Aug. 3.—Eugene Bryant, son of County Judge Bryant, was slightly wounded July 13, while in service in France, according to a letter just received by his mother. He was shot in the leg while on duty in a listening post. The young man reached France June 5, after having had a difficult time in enlisting owing to a defect in one eye. He was rejected several times and finally went to Illinois where he joined a national guard company.

WHEAT WELL DEVELOPED.—West Point, Neb., Aug. 4.—Wheat and corn in this county show a larger yield than was anticipated. On Conrad Fisher's farm, west of town, a ten-acre field of spring wheat gave twenty-two bushels per acre. In Logan township Frank Kafka had wheat that yielded twenty-four bushels per acre and the yield in every case noted was extra fine, the grain being plump and heavy.

SKIDDOO!—Minneapolis Journal: "Black Americans" cried the foe. Then there was a rush and a list of names. Instead of German high over the horizon.

PRIMARY ELECTION AUGUST 20, 1918

PRIMARY ELECTION AUGUST 20, 1918

Think It Over

When you employ a man to work for you, his fitness for the job at hand is given special consideration. Use the same logic when voting, as every officer is nothing more or less than a servant employed by all the people.

- 1. I am in the prime of life, full of vigor, and feel that I have the ability to "put it over."
2. I have been a resident of Wayne county 14 years.
3. My business experience has necessarily put me in touch with men in the various walks of life.
4. Taking that into consideration, I feel that you will agree with me when I say that, that I am well qualified to ferret out the law-evader.
5. I believe in catching the law-evader first—then giving a fair and impartial trial—not waiting to give the criminal a chance to "cover up."
6. I believe that numerous petty acts allowed to go unpunished will eventually result in a serious crime being committed.
7. To catch the crook you must know the methods used by that class.
8. I believe in giving all a fair and square deal, and, if elected to the office to which I aspire, will continue to do so—but the person who commits a crime at 12:30 a. m. can figure that I will be on the job at 1:05—not a day or so afterwards.
9. "DO IT NOW" has put more criminals where they belong than "WAIT AWHILE" ever has or ever will.
10. "All men are created equal"—but some men are better qualified for certain positions than others. THINK IT OVER.

PERSONAL APPEARANCE.—Mrs. Marie Weekes in Norfolk Press: What a factor personal appearance is in the success or failure of the individual! With what care boys and girls should be taught how to dress and care for their person. Nebraska's most successful country newspaper man gauges the worth of girl applicants for places on his newspaper staff by the way they comb their hair. A girl desirous of the opportunity afforded her in this particular man's employ lost out because her hair was not arranged pleasingly. She has real ability in the newspaper line, too. It may be a far stretch from one's particular Dutch bread and pompadour to her human interest story, her ability to write advertising, but it is the things like this that mean opportunity's knock at your door.

UNPLEASANTLY SUGGESTIVE.—Omaha World-Herald: We doubt if Althea Hobenzollern likes to read the details of the death of Czar Nicholas which are now being related.

Dan Burress preached in the Methodist church in Carroll Sunday morning and evening in the absence of the pastor, Rev. R. J. McKenzie, who is attending the Epworth assembly at Lincoln. Next Sunday Rev. E. E. Carter will have charge of the services.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Jones and son, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Robinson, motored to Randolph Sunday and attended the club luncheon.

Mr. Steve Davis was a visitor in Sioux City Saturday.

Mrs. D. L. Hiller was doing business in Sioux City Monday.

Bonner Morris drove to Norfolk in his car Friday and accompanied home his two children who had been in the General hospital receiving medical treatment.

Miss Margie Davis left Saturday for Red Oak, Ia., to visit relatives. Before returning, she will visit the whole sale milinery houses to select her fall stock for her store here.

Miss Margaret Bigelow of Topeka, Kans., who had been visiting in Carroll with her niece, Mrs. Vaughn Williams and family, left Thursday morning of last week.

L. K. Christensen sold his land in the north part of Carroll, just across from the railway tracks, to Chris Hansen of Winslow. There were nearly thirty-five acres in the piece which sold for $11,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meyers, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Will Nissen left last week for an outing in the west. They expect to make a trip through Yellowstone Park and visit other scenic interests.

Mr. and Mrs. O. T. McVay of La Verne, Minn., who had been visiting relatives in this vicinity left for their home last week. While here they purchased 160 acres of land, south of Randolph, which belonged to Mrs. McVay's brother, J. L. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Atkinson left in their car last Thursday for Bertrand, Neb., to visit relatives for ten days. Mrs. W. R. Olmstead assisted in gathering the local news for the paper during Mr. Atkinson's absence.

Mrs. Mary Williams of Vicks, Ia., who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ed Davis, and other relatives in this vicinity for five weeks, left for her home Saturday. Her grand-children, Miss Edna and Miss Nellie, accompanied her to Wales for a visit.

Miss Nellie and Miss Emma Texley of Newman Grove, sisters of Dr. Texley, who were visitors here last week, left the latter part of the week for St. Joseph, Mo., to visit the wholesale milinery houses and select their fall millinery for the store.

Miss Clara Linn arrived home Friday from Chicago, where she studied music this summer. Miss Mabel who is also studying in that city, remained for a longer time. Miss Eunice Linn who was being spending most of the summer in Denver, arrived home Friday.

Rev. and Mrs. B. J. McKenzie and family left in their car last Thursday for Lincoln to attend the annual Epworth assembly. The family encountered a car trouble on their way to Wayne when one of the axles broke. Garage men from Carroll were called and the car was soon in running order again.

Mrs. Amy English and Miss Hazel Frink, nieces of Dr. A. T. Tuxley, who had been visiting in Carroll a few days, returned home Sunday. Dr. and Mrs. Tuxley accompanied them to Newman Grove by automobile. Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Perant and daughter, Miss Josephine of West Point who were also guests at the Tuxley home, returned home Wednesday of last week.

Missionary Meeting.
The Woman's Home missionary society of the Methodist church was entertained last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Roe. About fifteen members were present and a very interesting program was given. The lesson study was conducted by Mrs. Mat Jones.

To Begin Tour.
The Welch singers leave the first of next week for the southern part of the state to fill engagements at ten different towns. This is the first tour made by the Welch sextet and their many friends wish them success on their trip. These singers are well known in this part of the state, having taken part at many patriotic meetings the past year.

EIGHTEEN YEARS ON ISLAND.
Experience of Indian Woman Makes That of Robinson Cruise Appear a Mere Incident.

It would appear that Alexander Selkirk's brief stay on Juan Fernandez island was but a trifling incident compared with that of a woman on an island opposite the Californian peninsula.

It seems that the Catholic fathers at Santa Barbara were once transporting the natives of the island of St. Nicholas to the mainland. Among them was a mother who discovered that her babe had been left behind. She begged that the vessel might be put back, but the captain refused. She then leaped into the sea to swim ashore, but as a storm prevailed, all on board thought she was drowned.

Eighteen years elapsed and a company landed on the island. They found traces of life, and after a long search discovered the woman and took her with them. The poor woman never found her babe, but had managed to live in comparative comfort, though very lonely. After her long life in the cave she could not endure the confinement of a house, and soon sickened and died.

UNNECESSARY.
Philadelphia Public Ledger: The Germans are reported to have been ordered to fire on the Red Cross, but in the light of past events such an order seems rather superfluous.

Annual Picnic

Preious Stones in British Crown.
There are no less than 8,000 stones in the crown of the British king. Some very famous jewels are included in this number. One of these is a large heart-shaped ruby, given to Edward, the Black Prince, in 1357, by Don Pedro of Castile. Another precious gem of the crown is a huge sapphire, bought by George IV. The remaining jewels consist of 1,863 brilliant diamonds, 1,272 rose diamonds, 347 table diamonds, 277 pearls, 16 sapphires, 11 emeralds and four rubies. Complete with its white silk lining and purple and gold crown weighs slightly more than 89 ounces.

Chinese Canals.
At what period the Chinese began to dig canals, there is no authentic record to prove. Sometimes it seems as if these remarkable people must always have had canals and other works, so long have they been familiar to them and so well established have they been as a part of the country as the men from the Occident first visited it. One thinks of the Grand Canal of China and the Great Wall of China together, although, of course, they have nothing whatever to do with each other, except that they are both ancient and remarkable works of the Chinese people.

Don't Envy Others.
Idle women, or women who seem to be spared anything that savors of work, are never happy or satisfied. Persons who live aimless lives simply cannot be happy.

Let the woman given to envying those "fortunates," but in reality lazy and listless individuals, ponder seriously over this truth, become interested in some worthwhile duty of the hour, and try to forget herself. If she does this she will not find any time to waste in idly wishing, but, on the other hand, will experience a contentment delightfully new and satisfying.

Glassmaking Old Industry.
Glassmaking in Venice is of remote antiquity. By a law of November 8, 1261, the authorities of Venice, to avoid the risk of fire, ordered the glassmaking industry to be transferred to the adjacent island of Murano. Ever since Murano has been the most important center for hand-made glass and glass-bend manufacture in the world.

Julia Faye, just now working at Morocco studio, and one of the prettiest and most "usable" of the young players at the Lasky plant in Hollywood, is busy collecting members for the Motion Picture society for War service these days. The Lasky home guard are her especial province and no mere male can resist a smile from Julia, but "shells out" at once.

Wheeler Oakman who has been playing with Edith Storey, has given up a long-term contract with Metro to enlist as a private of artillery.

A private review of "We Can't Have Everything," Cecil B. De Mille's new Artcraft picture, disclosed the fact that it is above all an unusual picture, so different, indeed, that it may be termed an absolute novelty in screen offerings.

The Famous Players-Lasky corporation has just purchased the screen rights to "The Silver King," one of the greatest successes in the history of the English speaking stage.
