Morehead, former governor, has probably won in the democratic race for nomination as senator.

In the democratic gubernatorial contest, Gov. Keith Neville continues to hold a commanding lead over Charles W. Bryan, while Samuel McKelvie is running far ahead of Walter Johnson for the republican nomination for governor.

WEEK-END TOURNAMENTS

The Local Golf Players Will Contest for Red Cross Medal.

The Wayne Country club will hold a series of Red Cross golf matches for prizes beginning next Saturday.

The first three of these contests will be handicap medal play matches and will continue on Saturday.

Prizes for each contest will be 50 cents to each contestant and the prize each week will be a Red Cross certificate. All the players will be handicapped to even and the ability and the contest will also be a blind bogey contest. Eighteen holes will be played but only nine of them will count for prize and no one knows until the contest is over which nine it will be.

This will be followed by a match play tournament for a Red Cross medal and the runner-up will win a certificate. The handicaps will be changed each week as the committee in charge gets a better line on the abilities of the various players. Following this tournament it is planned to hold a full open tournament for the club championship and a Red Cross medal will be the prize. Fees will be charged to enter all of these events and the total receipts will be turned over to the local club of the Red Cross. The medals are now on display at Morgan's Toggery, and the secretary would like to see any clubs wishing to take part in this tournament, Saturday.

ANNUAL OLD SETTLERS' PICNIC ON AUGUST 28

Windsie Preparing Program of Entertainment for Day.

The annual old settlers' picnic for the county will be held at Windsie on Wednesday of next week, and the people of the enterprising city have planned an appropriate program of amusements. The Savidge Amusement company will be there with its carnival during the week, and on the day of the picnic will be cooperating with Windsie people in making the occasion a success. Prizes have been offered for the best floats and the best decorated automobiles in the parade. Judge William V. Allen of Madison will give a speech, and his familiarizing with the early history of north Nebraska will make for rural experiences and observations very interesting. Prizes have been offered for races and other contests. A baseball game will be a feature. The Savidge band will furnish music.

Windsie is devoting a great deal of attention to plans for the picnic, and expects to make it a greater success than any heretofore held. A large number of people are attending in large numbers. The time will be well spent. The complete program will be found with the Herald advertising on pages 2 and 3 of the second section of today's Herald.

people, and hence we must keep up the schools at all times."

When asked if our higher institutions are suffering great loss to numbers, Dr. House replied: "It is true as to young men, but women have come forward in large numbers to take their places. At Wayne we lost only a fraction of our former attendance. We have about a thousand students during the year, perhaps a few more than that number."

In answer to the question: "Isn't Wayne a young school, and how about its prestige, and do your graduates easily secure positions?" Dr. House replied: "We have more calls for our graduates than we can possibly supply and always at excellent pay. The initial salaries run from $80 to $125 a month. Why should we not have prestige? The state supports the institution, pays liberal salaries, erects the finest of buildings, equips them with the best and best appliances. Our teachers are from such notable institutions as the University of Chicago, Columbia university, University of Nebraska, Lehigh Stanford university. The course of study is the same as that of Peru and Kearney, the same board hires the teachers, the salaries are equal and the equipment at Wayne is newer. The diploma is a life certificate good anywhere in the United States."

"As to living expenses, tuition free, textbooks free, board $3.50 per week, furnished room $0 to 65 cents. Can you live as cheaply at home? We could not but for the fact that the state does not want to make money out of the young people. It wants to educate them. Every cent paid for board goes to feed the students."

To the question, does the war affect your course of study? Dr. House replied: "Only by increasing the attendance in the department of service. Also, we teach them how to win the war, more about society, international relations, etc. I wish everybody in northeastern Nebraska would visit Wayne State. They would be proud of their school."

The Times editor has great faith in the Wayne Normal. We believe it is a great educational institution located in a good, clean town that can be readily reached by railroad. Northeastern Nebraska people who desire to send their children to normal should send them to Wayne—where they get the same advantages received at any other normal school.

SUGAR.

The sugar situation is gradually getting worse and we are facing an absolute shortage. Nebraska's loyal consumers are requested to consume only two pounds of sugar per person per month. The following section reasons will show why the request is made and the seven suggestions will assist materially in making the two pound request practical:

Seven Reasons Why.

Our great war program has reduced our sugar carrying fleet.

The sugar requirements of our Overseas Army are very large.

Our own sugar crop is less than we anticipated.

The small island, Cuba, must feed the world with sugar.

We have diverted 80,000 tons of sugar shipping in order that Belgium may have food.

Germany have destroyed sugar beet fields and factories in northern France and Italy.

More than 50,000,000 pounds of sugar have been sunk off our shores by German submarines.

Seven Ways to Save.

Use fresh fruits without sugar. Cook dried fruits without adding tional sugar; they already contain sugar.

Can more fruit without sugar; put on fewer jams and jellies.

Use less sugar in tea and coffee; you will soon learn to like them better this way.

Avoid such sugar luxuries as candy, cakes, chewing gum, sweet drinks and sodas.

Use honey, maple sugar, and syrups and other sweeteners when available.

Cut out all desserts or other dishes that require much sugar.

ANOTHER BOOSTER TRIP

Pure Bred Stock Breeders' association to Tour County, Oct. 8. A meeting of the Wayne County Pure Bred Stock Breeders' association was held at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the city hall. The meeting was devoted almost entirely to making arrangements for the annual booster trip. The date for the excursion was set for October 8. The trip will be to visit the herds belonging to the members of the association and inspect their stock. The Carroll Welch band will accompany the boosters and other entertainment will be provided. A picnic dinner will be enjoyed at noon. In case of blowouts and other emergencies, an expert will be along to make the necessary repairs. All persons interested in live stock are cordially invited to join the crowd. The members assure the public of a better showing of stock than was made last year. Representatives from some of the larger stock farms in the country will be present. The trip which was considered very helpful last year promises to be more successful in many respects than this. At the meeting Saturday, Fred Wentz was elected as a new member of the association. Mr. Wentz is a breeder of Hereford cattle and has a good foundation for a strong herd. He recently paid as high as $1000 for one cow.

AMUSEMENTS ARE ESSENTIAL IN THESE STRENUOUS TIMES

Our government has erred in many ways through seeing mistakes of our British cousins. From the beginning of our entrance into the fray there has been a tendency to encourage amusements. In the recent "fight or work" mandate the actor finds himself in an essential position. In the hour of trial and portation the government has been as liberal as possible with traveling attractions. By example as well as by precept the high officials of the state that the people find amusement and it must be said the people have accepted the suggestion.

Must the theater circus not only be useful things, but next to the actual fighting, there are probably few things more useful or more necessary. This is the case with blood after a most careful consideration of the whole field. Those things which can for a moment or two relieve the minds of the people who are oppressed with the tremendous climates that are happening daily in Europe, the awful and terrible things which are in prospect—those things are among the most useful things in the world just now. They are useful not only in that they relieve the minds of the constant contemplation of world misery, but because through that relief they permit a tired, worn and beleaguered man to see things in a new way, more capable of considering in a useful way the problems of the war that are presented to each and every one of us. They help the nerves to recover some of their energy, and they form a type of emotional reaction which is absolutely essential to the well-being as well as to energetic and worth-while work as a nation.

There are few institutions more worthy, more patriotic, more likely to build up a good, wholesome right thinking, right acting, body of citizens than a circus, or a theater. It is announced for Wayne, Saturday, August 31. Support it. See it. And all this is totally aside from the tremendous contributions to all forms of war work that have been made by the actors and musicians of the country. Support them and they will give you credit for it. Probably already given as much as any class of people in the country.

When the Yankee Robinson 3-ring wild animal circus comes on there will be more new genuine novelties than ever before offered in a tented program. It now has the country's greatest and weight wrestler. His name—Steve Savage—though not generally well known to the sporting public, is highly respected, if not feared, by the more illustrious mat men. Savage is performing with the circus, agreeing to throw any local man in fifteen minutes or forfeit $100. He will be at the big tent both afternoon and night.

Savage's most noted performance was in February, 1915, at Chicago, when he made Wladek Zlyszko, the famous Pole grappler, quit—in twenty-eight minutes. He also claims victories over Charles Cutler, Martinson and Freeberg. He declares that he had a match with Decker, the Dodge, Neb., champion, but that he was unable to do so at the last moment to take on "Strangler" Lewis.

The Monopipe Furnace

Steel construction is gas tight construction. The Monopipe Furnace was practically the first pipeless furnace to be placed on the market which was gas and smoke tight.

Prior to the advent of the Monopipe all of the pipeless furnaces were of cast construction—containing many joints—which had to be filled with cement. Sooner or later, usually sooner, the cement cracked and became loosened—then the owner's troubles began. Smoke and gas often filled the house and dirtied walls, draperies, etc. It is bad enough for grown people to breathe gas occasionally—for children it is permanently harmful.

The Monopipe Furnace is built of heavy steel plate, cold riveted under enormous pressure. There is not a single joint from which gas, smoke or dirt can escape. Look at the cut shown in this ad. The double feed door permits the use of large chunks of coal or wood. The indirect radiator on the back gives an added fire travel of several feet, thereby extracting all the heat out of your fuel before it enters the smoke pipe. Every Monopipe Furnace is equipped with a large moisture pan for supplying the necessary amount of humidity to the warm air.

It will pay you well to investigate thoroughly the merits of the Monopipe before placing your order for a pipeless furnace.

been. We're going to fight for France—that magnificent nation of heroes—bleet white defending civilization against the power of the east. We're going to fight for England—which chose the path of honor—black-tinted with despair, when the little nation she had sworn to defend was set upon by a wild beast. We're going to fight for Italy, which took up the cause of right against the power of wrong—while she thought she knew the cost must be. We're going to fight in defense of those principles of human liberty which were laid down nineteen centuries ago by the first great teacher and preacher of human rights, the Man of Galilee. Every iota of the philosophy and creed of hate, and blood, and violence, and bestiality, and diabolic cruelty, and human enslavement that mark every footstep of the Kaiser and his cohorts of Hell—are in direct and damnable opposition to every thought, every word, and every deed of the Man of Galilee.

There is, therefore, no fight of democracy against autocracy. It is no battle of nation against nation. It is a struggle of man against man. It is a struggle between right and wrong; between the philosophy of Jesus Christ and the powers of evil, through the earthly defenders of each.

And we're going to fight, fight, fight side by side with our fellows in the cause of humanity, and we've no vestige left on all this great earth, of the powers that—defying God and man—precipitated this catastrophe of blood and tears.

There is only one sentiment in this whole broad land today, and the man who does not recognize it must indeed be deaf, dumb and blind; and that sentiment is a dogged determination deep down in the very bowels of every man, that we are going to fight until we have justified Italy, saved England, swept immoral France free of the Hun; liberated Belgium; avenged the country's blood in the most heinous crimes of Germany against civilization; broken the Hindenburg line and swept the army of the beast off chaff before the wind; humbled the empire of hell; and please God the earth of the Kaiser and all it's fell bred. If anyone asks you, 'tell him that is what we're going to fight for.'

SAVE ICE

The local ice situation is such that we are facing a probable shortage. Everyone is urged to be as saving as possible with this important commodity. A chunk of ice can be made to last much longer if it is wrapped in a gunny sack soaked in cold water. If a gunnysack is not available use several newspapers. Let every consumer practice the greatest care and strictest economy. It may become necessary for us to limit the amount of ice, or even deny it altogether to the soft drink and ice cream counters in the city. It may become necessary for us to limit each household to a specified amount per week. We hope no such steps need be taken and we believe it can be avoided if everyone will do his utmost to save.—J. H. Kemp.

I pledge allegiance to my flag and to the Republic for which it stands; one nation indivisible, with Liberty and Justice to all.

The streets of Wayne are so unfamiliar to the lumpy that the danger of fast automobile driving anywhere in town is materially reduced.

However the primary vent and however the election goes in November, prosecution of the war will occupy chief attention and continue unabated until America and its allies triumph over the Prussian tyrant.

In his speeches treating of the war, Strickland Gilliland advises people not to devote time and energy to worrying until the great conflict is over and the world has been freed from autocratic governments. He thinks people should not get worried and fear until after the war, and then yield to such useless amusements if they are so disposed. In the meantime, the urge is to devote mental and physical energy to winning the great conflict.

The corn crop in northeastern Nebraska is luxuriant and bountiful, and it is to be regretted that similar bounty does not prevail in every corn growing district in the state. To much corn cannot be grown and the price would be high even though the Nebraska yield surpassed all records. While we are pleased over the good fortune of the north part of the state, we feel regret over the shortage in drought-stricken sections, not only because of the financial loss, but because unprecedented crops are needed to meet unprecedented demands.

"Down and Out at Forty-five" is the title of an article in the current number of the American, written by Walt Mason and treating of his life. Reason for the selection is explained in this brief concluding paragraph: "Now, there would be no sense in writing or printing such a story as this unless, it has a moral. The editor of The American Magazine believed my story might have value as showing that a has-been can come back—and that is the moral." He means his first experience in newspaper work, and tells how he learned the booze habit as an acquisition deemed necessary at the time. He also explains how his companionship with "red" liquor kept him down until eleven years ago, when, at Emporia, he reformed and started reformed. Then as a literary star, he mounted high and became popular, prosperous and happy. While he was depending on the money he made, he was happy, he explains. Publishers appreciated his wonderful talent and unsurpassed capacity for good work, but, as he explains, they did not consider him a reformer. His good resolutions were not strong enough to resist the whisperings of alcohol, and he would not work long until he would feel the temptation to give up and out. The publisher of the Herald was editor and manager of the Beatrice Daily Express at the time he was in charge of the paper. He left that city for Kansas. We had always admired Mason's literary style, and against the advice of the publisher, directed employment to write a half column a day. Later he offered his services as reporter to the Express for $8 a week, and we were anxious to employ him, though could not do so without overriding the wishes of the board whose opposition was based on the very ground which he now offers as cause of failure. He explained the old and pernicious theory that drinking is an essential to becoming a good mixer or a successful reformer. He is a shrewd fellow, and what a man, hatched to the booze habit, cannot do. He also shows what a man, freed from the habit, can do. He attributes to strong drink his failure to get anywhere in forty-five years. Once rid of the habit, his great talent sprang into proportion and he won the liberal reward that was deserved.

Social Forecast.
The St. Mary's guild is meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. L. Richardson, in the north part of town.

A. C. E. Social.

The members of the Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church entertained the Wakefield C. E. society Monday evening. About forty young people gathered at the church for a social. Entertainment had been provided. After several hours of fun, light refreshments were served.

With Mrs. McClennan.

One of the most interesting meetings of the Ladies' Bible Study circle was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles McClennan. An unusually large number were present and a most helpful lesson was led by Mrs. Carl Clasen. Following the lesson a reception was given in honor of Mrs. T. F. Bracken who moved Wednesday to Emerson, and Mrs. Harry Perrell who moved to Sioux City. A program of music was enjoyed after which Mrs. E. B. Young in a few well chosen words presented each of the two new members with a hand-painted china. Mrs. W. L. Sears was present at the meeting and read the last letter written to her by her sister, Private Irwin L. Sears who was killed in action July 27. The letter contained some very interesting accounts of the boy's experiences. The next meeting of the circle will be with Mrs. E. B. Young next Wednesday afternoon instead of Tuesday. Herbert Qoms of San Marcos, Central Nebraska, is present and gave an address. It is hoped that a large number will be present.

NORTHWEST OF TOWN.

Jamie Grier is recovering rapidly from his fall last week in which his arm was broken just below the elbow.

John Halladay, formerly of this vicinity, leaves next week with the Cedar county boys for service for the summer.

Mrs. J. N. Halladay returned to her home Sunday after spending five weeks in the Wayne hospital, taking medical treatment.

There will be a dance in A. E. Halladay's barn Saturday night, August 24. Winside music, to start at 10 o'clock. Everybody welcome.

George Hoeltdt, jr., is visiting relatives in Minnesota and Montana and at Sidney, Neb. George expects to leave next week for army service. Elza Kelley who went to Camp Riley in July is now at Camp Meade. He writes that he will be well pleased with the camp and with his work.

The Ladies of the Mount Hope circle met this week with Mrs. Herbert Lessman. They are preparing articles to furnish a room in a hospital in France.

The members of the Junior Red Cross of district No. 61 are proud of the fact that they could turn $50 to the comfort kit fund last week. The money was made at the hospital given by the members some time ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mellick and children, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Halladay and children, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Quist and son, Mrs. J. N. Halladay, Roy Halladay and Marion Quist were here last Sunday at the W. S. Young home.

The ladies of the H. H. S. met last week with Mrs. Oscar Jonson. Red Cross sewing was done. The members are planning a sale of home-made articles for some time soon. The next meeting will be on August 29 at the home of Mrs. Dear Hanson or Mrs. Harry Lessman, both of whom live in the Concord vicinity.

and were the election today, tomorrow, or any other day there would be no question as to the result. Who would vote to eliminate the Basket Store? We know of a very few, but we refer to housewives, breadwinners, the manpower of the community who are actual producers; that's the class of fellows who will vote to make the Basket Store a permanent institution, and today are giving its loyal support. This store has the positive distinction of having the largest farmer patronage and trade outside Wayne territory of any store in Wayne county—and why is this? A CASH SYSTEM properly applied to a thorough first-class stock which has been bought right and selling at a very conservative margin is responsible for the Basket Store's success.

When You Start for Town, Stop at the Basket

There will be items in your order which you are sure to buy cheaper than you can elsewhere. If you are buying flour substitutes, we guarantee to save you money on 75 per cent of them, and there are many items which we are selling at before-the-war prices. We buy for cash only and our goods cost less than our competitors, and naturally we sell them cheaper. These are only a few reasons why we ask you to stop at the Basket. If you fail to accept the suggestion then we both lose.

21 Ounces Pure Jam in Mason Jars

$1,000 worth will be placed on sale at $5 per dozen, and continue for one week, beginning Friday morning. This is the second $1,000 shipment this month and we are desirous of having one dozen Glencio pure jam in every home in this community. The factory has advanced Glencio Jam $1 per dozen and the sugar shortage makes it probable that the factory will be closed for the season. Patrons having orders on file please call for goods. Those who are contemplating placing an order may have the opportunity of securing any of the eight kinds at the old price, $5 per dozen.

Heinz White Pickling Vinegar

Heinz vinegar through its use and advertising is well known to every housewife. Why Heinz Pickling Vinegar is better may be answered by every lady who will use one gallon in her pickling. This should not be confused with ordinary white vinegar. Heinz Pickling Vinegar is distilled in manufacture and the three-year aging creates a rich and mellow flavor to your pickles you are unable to secure with any other vinegar. Heinz Pickling Vinegar for sale in bulk, 60 cents per gallon. See our window for display of Heinz Vinegars.

Farrell's Nut Margerine

is not a butter substitute—it's a butter successor. Nut Margerine contains no animal fat, a pure vegetable product and when colored is better than butter. It's better because it's always uniform, sweet as a nut, properly salted, and will maintain its shape at a temperature at which butter will melt. None but Nut Margerine is served on my table. We use it because it's better and costs less. That's two good reasons. Ask about it.

Every Day a Barrel of Auto Oil

Every day we sell fifty gallons of auto oil. An 8-year-old schoolboy with a pencil and pass book could sell our auto oil at a last year contract price. Since auto oil, 50c per gal. in lots of fifteen gallons or more. When this lot is sold we must advance to the market which means 20 cents per gallon or more. Auto oil will advance to $1 per gallon in less than a year.

Mazola Oil

If you saw it demonstrated last week, you saw how nicely it fries doughnuts, how it takes the grease out of a shortening and of olive oil for salad. A 35-cent can of Mazola will go as far as fifty cents worth of lard. Mazola is made from corn—a pure vegetable shortening. A trial will convince a good cook of its superiority. Any size cans, pints or gallons.

White Corn Syrup

will help you save sugar. This syrup has spared no expense to secure white syrup. While many stores have been out, the Basket has at all times a supply to meet the demand. AGRICULTURAL NOTES. Farmers raising Northrup supply. Farmers are becoming more independent in regard to food supply than they have ever been since the war. A Federal license system of a field man of the United States department of agriculture, who recently returned from an inspection trip in New York and the England states. Farmers in that territory who have never before raised wheat, barley, and buckwheat are growing small patches of such crops for their own use.

Aids Canada in Farm Survey Work. A representative of the United States department of agriculture was in the States returned from Canada where he assisted in outlining proposed farm survey work. The Ontario Agricultural college has had representatives in this country to study our methods of conducting farm surveys, and similar methods are to be used in Canada. A study of the costs of different types of farming is to be made with a view of determining the best farm practices.

Turn Rabbit Pests into Profits. Fully 200,000,000 wild rabbits are killed in the United States every year according to estimates made by the Biological Survey of the United States department of agriculture. Many jackrabbits have not been utilized in the past. If all the rabbits killed were consumed, they would represent between 200,000 and 300,000 tons of valuable food, and trappers and hunters are taken to insure the collection of skins, these alone would have a value of $20,000,000. The biological Survey has been studying the possibilities of having western farmers in coping with the rabbit pest. In view of the probable economic value of rabbit meat and fur in the coming few years, the energies of the farmers and trappers will be directed to the conservation of this important resource. Already a number of establishments for collecting, dressing, curing and shipping rabbit meat are in operation in western centers. As in Australia the transition of the wild rabbit in this country from pest status as a pest to source of profit is assured, it is believed. Training Kitchen for War Workers. The department's demonstration and training kitchen in Washington conducted by the boys' and girls' section of the office of extension work north and west is one of the important training and demonstration activities. During the last year 73 state assistant state county and local leaders of boys' and girls' work have been given special training in this kitchen on methods of conducting war-saving demonstrations in canning, drying, and freezing and it is also the center of instruction in other activities of the boys' and girls' clubs, such as garment making, pottery, corn and potato demonstrations. The record of the boys' work just completed shows that 496 complete demonstration work units and 25 regular training courses with 10,000 leaders have been held. The leaders carry this instruction to the thousands of practical Americans enrolled in the distance of extension work. How Town People Aid Farmers. How the little town of Delhi benefited by the C. S. King and the New York State Farming Demonstrations, the surrounding community is securing much-needed labor is told by a representative of the agriculture department of agriculture, who has recently returned from an inspection trip in that district. The local commercial club of Delhi has organized a committee of the best men of the town who are willing to do farm work after 3 o'clock. The farmer who needs help telephones to the club and at 3 o'clock the volunteer workers climb into automobiles and report to his farm for a half day's work. About 35 business men have been placed on the list of men who have recently returned from an inspection trip in that district. The local manager has set the example. He spends one day helping each of the farmers in his congregation.

THE FIELD OF BUSINESS. Sioux City Journal: Rapid progress by the house ways and means committee on the new revenue bill, which will be ready for submission probably late this week, was one feature of the last week. Conferences between Secretary McAdoo and the committee led to practical agreement on a plan for heavy taxation of war profits, and increased levels on excess profits, with an alternative agreement which will enable the government to apply the war profits tax or excess profits tax, as either will produce the most revenue.

Secretary McAdoo has proposed framing and enacting the bill so it will be disposed of before the next Liberty loan campaign starts. Chairman Kitchin stated that the full $8,000,000 asked by the treasury department will be provided for, and that of this total about $3,000,000 would come from excess and war profits. The government's plan for a flat 80 per cent tax on war profits was adopted. For purposes of deducting war earnings, it was agreed to divide businesses into three classes—financial and transportation corporations, for which the deduction will be 8 per cent; manufacturing, farming and general business, for which the deduction will be 10 per cent; and mining and other hazardous businesses for which the deduction will be 12 per cent. The tax on excess profits, as agreed upon by the committee, will go up to 60 per cent on profits above 20 per cent. Call loans opened the week at from 5.34 to 6 per cent, and then stuck at 6.34 per cent without change. Reports of extreme stringency, however, were deprecated. The war finance corporation announced a reduction from 6 to 5 per cent in the annual interest rate on short term advances to banks for crop purposes. Railroad shares were comparatively active in a sluggish stock market, some rails touching record marks for the year. Despite activity of U-boats, marine preferred went up slightly. Reports of crop damage by heat, particularly in Iowa, balanced later by beneficent rains, caused the grain market to fluctuate. September corn closed Monday at $1.62, 1/8 to $1.62 3/8, and Saturday at about the same figures. October corn brought up to $1.63 3/8 at closing in Chicago Monday, and on Saturday closed at $1.63 3/8. Hog at one time touched $20.15 at Chicago, featuring provisions. No. 2 white oats, cash, went up from 67 1/4 to 69 cents during the week. Crop conditions and other factors produced a rather conservative tone in business lines. War orders, as usual, dominated.

TRANSPORTING TROOPS. The world has been astonished at the great number of American soldiers transported to Europe in the last half year. The number now approximates 1,500,000, and the loss

Service Station Prest-O-Lite Storage Battery Why a "Battery Service?" Because the thousands of storage batteries in use on cars today require certain care and periodical tests to keep them in condition. To do our bit in serving the thousands of car owners who look to "The Oldest Service to Automobile Owners in America" for advice and expert assistance in battery matters, we have equipped ourselves to represent the Prest-O-Lite Co., Inc., as an Official Service Station for this district. We are running the kind of a service station you will appreciate. It is our policy to give the kind of service that will make every customer a permanent one. Service on all Makes of Batteries No matter what car you drive, you are invited to call on us to inspect and test your battery. We make no charge for this service. We render it gladly as a feature of Prest-O-Lite Service. We also recharge and repair all makes of batteries. Eventually you will need a new battery. When you do, we will be ready with the correct size—a Prest-O-Lite—the one battery for those who haven't the time nor inclination to study the mechanics of a battery or assume the care of one. We want to serve you because we know we can serve you better. We are looking for a chance to prove it. Performance the Greatest Oakland Virtue

The owner of an Oakland Sensible Six never fears to put his car in competition with another.

He knows that the car he drives is equal to any demand he may put upon it—that performance is its greatest virtue.

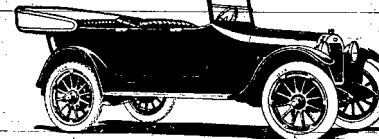

The high-speed overhead-valve engine of this Oakland Sensible Six delivers at 2600 r. p. m., one full horsepower to every 48 pounds of car weight.

No motor in the world carries less weight per horsepower than this—none is spryer, more efficient, more saving.

With a speed range of from 1 to 55 miles an hour and a trigger-quick acceleration, it is still very economical.

It delivers from 18 to 25 miles on every gallon of gasoline, and its even power draws the greatest possible mileage from the Oakland's oversize tires.

We know you will like this new Oakland—for its comfort, its ability, and its value.

The New Edison is a Vital Factor in the Nation's Life

THE NEW EDISON is a refining influence; it really enriches the life of the family which owns it. Unlike talking machines and other devices, which merely imitate music, it actually re-creates the singer's voice. And it does it so faithfully that no human ear can distinguish between artist and instrument. The famous Edison tone tests have proved this to more than 2,000,000 people. As a result one never tires of it. The novelty never wears off, any more than the novelty wears off Paggiacci, Aida or any other great opera. Music is one of life's greatest resources. And in the New Edison you have music—the world's greatest music, interpreted by the world's greatest artists. Not an imitation, you understand, but a Re-Creation. And never was the solace of music more needed than now—in this time of stress and anxiety. Don't figure money spent on a New Edison as an expense. It's a profitable investment. It keeps you and your family at home where you don't spend money. Call at our store and hear a demonstration

The Edison Tone Test Answers Your Question

"What instrument shall I buy?" That's been your question. And the Edison tone test has answered it. The tone test has proved that an instrument has finally been perfected which Re-Creates the singer's voice so faithfully that the human ear cannot distinguish between the renditions of the artist and those of the machine.

From the New York Evening Mail

"At no time in its history has the world stood more in need of healing influence, of sweetening in its bitter cup, than now.

"Make it a point to hear all the good music that you possibly can. It will be well worth your while to banish, be it for ever so brief a time, the menacing shadows that war has cast over the lives of us all. The glimpse into bright regions of therapeutic music will make you stronger to deal courageously with the grim realities. It will renew your faith in the future. It will strengthen your determination to do your part to bring that future nearer and more certain.

"Hear all the good music that you possibly can."

DUKE MEMORIAL SERVICES

Memory of Irwin L. Sears is Appropriately Remembered.

A large crowd gathered at the Baptist church Sunday afternoon to pay due honor to the memory of Private Irwin L. Sears who died in action for his country's cause in France on July 27, 1917. J. W. Lewis presided, and following the singing of "America" and the invocation by Rev. J. E. Jordan, made brief remarks, calling attention to the great sacrifice the departed young man had made. He quoted from Theodore Roosevelt who had said that each one after the war would want to be able to say he had done his part to prosecute the war. He spoke of the deceased as one who had done all he could.

Hays Main, classmate of Irwin L. Sears in Wayne, gave a brief account of the young man's life. Following a solo by Eva Hughes, J. H. Kemp gave the memorial address as follows:

Mr. Chairman and fellow citizens: We have met to pay tribute to the memory of Private Irwin L. Sears. It is right and proper that we should honor him for five who can do or say can neither add to nor detract from the honor that is his. The lavish hand of Providence has been so generous upon the sons of men than that which is now, and beneficent shall be the generous portion of Private Irwin L. Sears.

To me, his name and features and form are familiar. I remember him as a high school student, having known him intimately for five years in the local public and high school. As has been pointed out by his classmate, he was a good student, a fine athlete and popular with both teachers and fellow students.

Having been born and reared in this grand American Republic, he had the American spirit for five when his nation became a party to the world war, he chose to spend the strength of his young manhood to support the flag and principles of our government and to preserve liberty while our enemy's flag is only feared. A republic increasing in strength and confidence, solving the problems of civilization and hastening the coming of an universal brotherhood. A republic which is today shaking thrones and thrones is destined to dissolve aristocracies. A republic gradually, but surely, becoming the supreme moral factor in the world's affairs, and which is destined to be the world's dispenser of justice. A republic that is destined to become the model of future governments, that the people of all the world may enjoy the same blessings which are accorded our people. A republic that speaks with authority and that will establish a peace that will be permanent and that will make the world safe for helpless old people, defenseless women and innocent babies.

Do you wonder, then, that our boys fight so bravely and so well? Do you wonder, then, that it is impossible to find a single cowardly drop of blood which our enemies are guilty of? The spirit exhibited by the American boys in the training camps is beautiful and inspiring. I quote from a letter by an American soldier to his mother in Illinois:

"And let me tell you right here, mother, dear, that you or anybody else at home there doesn't know what real patriotism and love of country is. You haven't any idea. Why, you can't imagine what a great, wonderful, perfect country the United States is. You can't realize what it stands for and means to the human race until you get over here and get a good perspective on it."

"Mother, I love her with my whole soul and body. When I am standing retreat at night and hear the stars twinkling in the sky, and I think of the first thing that comes to my mind is the Statue of Liberty; then I think of our wonderful cities—New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Washington and President Wilson and the wonderful cause that all our millions of Americans are willing to give up everything for. Oh, mother, we're all lucky merely to have been born Americans."

"Talk about waves up your spine and swelling to the eyes! I just get over here in Europe and look back over miles of water at the most wonderful, biggest type of nation based on liberty and justice that can be conceived! Why, mother, that statue of Liberty and the American flag must have been designed by God Himself to stand for everything that is worth while in life."

"Since I've gotten over here I feel more pity than anything else for the boys that are sitting over there sporting silk shirts and ties. I'd rather be hanged for murder than be in the slightest figure in the greatest necktie tallow in the world to be able to stand up as a soldier here in France and be a part of the greatest country engaged in the most honorable thing a country ever undertook."

"At that you cannot realize my feelings of love and respect for the old U. S. A."

"And you never hear any fellows sneering at such stuff any more, either. You know, they fight so valiantly—the words 'United States of America' mean."

"End of speech for tonight!"

"Lots of love."

This letter is characteristic of all the letters written by our boys to their homes and friends, and now we understand why they fight so valiantly, so courageously, so successfully. Their own ambition and prayer is to "make good."

The spirit of our boys is well illustrated by the young soldier in Wisconsin who when bowing by the Liberty Bell, concluded his prayer with "My God, help me make good."

The American Spirit Speaks: "To the judge of right and wrong. With whom fulfillment lies, Our hopes and our own power belong. Our faith and sacrifice, Let Freedom's land rejoice! Our ancient bonds are riven, Ours to be or ours to choose. Of good or ill is given."

"Not at a little cost, I'm ready by prayer or tears. Shall we recover the world we lost In the drugged and doubting year. But after the fires and the wrath, But after the seas of our pain— His mercy opens to us a path To live with ourselves again."

"In the gates of death rejoice! We see and hold the good; Bear witness, earth, we have made our choice."

For Freedom's brotherhood, Then praise the Lord most high Whose strength has saved us whole, Who bade us choose that the flesh should die And not the living soul!"

Ronald Kipling: Addressing my words to the mother and sisters of Private Irwin L. Sears, I want to state that your son and brother has earned for himself the same respect and honor in the hearts of the American people and the allied world. There is no doubt in my mind that he too prayed to his maker to help him "make good" and he made gloriously good. Because of his love for you and his country and flag, he made the sacrifice. You can well be proud of him and the record he made. He did his utmost that the war program of our own and our allied governments might be achieved. And this war program will be achieved. The Star Spangled Banner which will be played by our bands in Wilhelmstrasse, Berlin and the American flag will float before Potsdam Palace. And on that program will share the glory and honor that will be the line of the American soldiers and the allies of our allies.

Fellow citizens, I can so here publicly commend the wonderful fortitude exhibited by the mother of Private Irwin L. Sears in her time of bereavement. She has yet two other sons in the service and she is living for them and giving them the encouragement that every mother desires for her older sons. Many mothers have already and many more yet will through the same experience that Mrs. Sears has passed through the last week and to all such I commend her fortitude.

The brave souls who have gone to sacrifice their all, if need be, for our common cause, are fine examples for all of us to emulate. We cannot all go into the training camps and trenches, but all of us can be good fathers at home, and it is imperative that we pledge anew to our country's cause, our lives, our fortunes and our honor. Our utmost is the best that can reasonably be expected from each of us in promoting all the war activities that comprise the allied war program. Let us fully appreciate the blessings of liberty which are ours. Thank God for George Washington and the spirit of Revolutionary days which made our nation and government possible. Thank God for Abraham Lincoln and the sturdy Americanism of Civil War days that preserved us a nation. Thank God for Woodrow Wilson and the American spirit that are sustaining the principles of Jesus Christ and civilization. Thank God for President Irwin L. Sears and his devotion to our cause. Let us pledge anew our full and sincere devotion to the end that tyranny and tyranny may be crushed; to the end that the Christian principles of democracy may become the universal law of all the nations of the earth; to the end that the world may be made safe for humanity.

AGAINST SELLING BONDS. The local council of defense has received the following letter: Lincoln, Neb., August 13, 1918. Dear Mr. Chairman: It has been brought to our attention that a great deal of traffic is being carried on in Liberty bonds that stock selling companies are accepting them in exchange for stock certificates and that merchants and others are receiving Liberty bonds in exchange for merchandise. This practice should be promptly discouraged and it should be made quite clear that commercial organizations encouraging this practice and individuals accepting it will if they continue expose themselves to undesirable publicity. It should be the duty of the county councils of defense to give the widest circulation to this request and where there does not seem to be a willingness to comply, they should take such action as the circumstances warrant and whenever the cooperation or assistance of the state body is desired it will be promptly given. Very truly yours, Roll M. Joyce, chairman.

ORDER RAISED. Omaha, Neb., Aug. 21.—The order prohibiting the Jern Burns-Baking company of Omaha from baking anything except bread and rolls has been raised by Washington, upon recommendation of the food administration for Nebraska. The Burns company used an excessive amount of flour in their cake and pie department for which they were closed for eleven days. The order raising the ban was made because it was felt the company had been sufficiently penalized; that their offense was not intentional; and that their saving in the bread department warranted leniency. The company, however, must use 13 bars less in August to make good their excess.

WHY SOME EYES ARE RELIEVED BY GLASSES WHILE OTHERS ARE NOT

Because some people investigate the knowledge and ability of the man that fits their glasses, while others do not.

The price paid for a pair of glasses does not signify the quality.

Quality depends entirely upon the skill and knowledge of the Optometrist who does the work.

I invite you to look over my record.

I took two complete courses in optometry and then appeared before the state board of examiners and passed with the highest marks in my class of twenty-five. Since then I have returned and taken another course in optics and have spent my spare time in study and research work.

I am the only optometrist in this city that has passed the state examination.

If relief from eye strain is what you want come here and you will get it.

I GUARANTEE THIS STATEMENT.

of eggs into a car consigned to Omaha. Inspection at destination showed that the eggs in 180 of the cases were in bad condition. Good eggs were substituted for the bad ones and a fine of $300 imposed. This fine has been paid and the money turned over to the Red Cross.

The food administration holds that there is no excuse for any merchant or commission man sending bad eggs to market at this time. The government regulation requires that where eggs are bought by merchants or commission houses, they shall be conditioned, and only such eggs as are pronounced good shall be paid for.

MAKING SERVE BEEF.

Omaha, Neb., August 21.—All restrictions on the serving of beef by public eating places and in the homes have been removed by the federal food administration for Nebraska, upon advices from Washington.

Until further notice, beef may be served at all times and at all meals with no restrictions on the amount.

The ban was raised because of the great amount of cattle going to markets and also because of the fact that sufficient beef is available to meet the export demands. The voluntary conservation has met the demands, says the food administration.

Consumers and public eating places, however, are requested to buy the lighter cuts of beef, and leave the heavier cuts for export.

SUGAR FOR PRESERVING.

Omaha, Neb., August 21.—More rigid supervision of the distribution of sugar for canning and preserving purposes will be exercised during September than heretofore, according to the announcement of the Federal Food Administration for Nebraska.

The state's allotment is one million pounds for this purpose and it is probable that allotments will be made by the Omaha office to counties on the basis of population.

September ordinarily is one of the heaviest canning months of the year. Much fruit comes in and besides a great rest of canning vegetables is done during the month.

These fruits and vegetables must be saved and the housewife must cooperate with the Food Administration to make the sugar go round, says the Food Administration. It is urged that just enough sugar be used to properly preserve the fruits and vegetables. Additional sugar can be added when they are ready for consumption.

AIR BATTLES IN OMAHA.

On August 30 ten American aeroplanes and three British planes will fly from Kansas City to Omaha and give a two-day exhibition in the latter city. They will then proceed via air to Des Moines. Omaha has been designated as one of the principal air stations of the coast to coast official air highway to be operated after we win the war. An aerial mail service from Omaha to Chicago is one of the possibilities of the near future.

ALWAYS FORWARD.

ON THE SCREEN

MARY WILL BE ROUGH GIRL
The next addition to the list of notable characterizations of Mary Pickford, which in recent months have made her more secure than ever her fame as the greatest of all screen stars, will be Bret Harte's western masterpiece, "M'Liss," which was adapted by Frances Marion and produced under the direction of Marshall Neilan.

In the title part, "M'Liss," the untutored, unkempt child of the hills, caring for her dissipated father, and gradually succumbing to the refining influence of the new school teacher, but the trend of the story is far from being passive. "Bummer" Smith heir to a large estate for the possession of which, "M'Liss" is conspiring. He has Smith murdered by a Mexican bad man, and Charles Gray, the school teacher, is arrested as the assassin. Miss assists in Gray's escape, the subsequent establishment of his innocence, and the love existing between them is thereby cemented. "M'Liss" is filled with strong dramatic action and the heart appeal is irresistible. Supported by an excellent cast of players, Miss Pickford's characterization in "M'Liss" will doubtless rank as one of the best she has essayed since "Tess of the Storm Country."

A FASCINATING STORY.

Two women and a man. The situation as old as the hills, but new because of the treatments as the varying shapes of the hills themselves. In Sessua Hayawaka's latest, Paramount release, "Queen in Dodging a Million" and "The Floor Below" makes the piquant start wary of doing anything which might be thought unbecoming. But she did it and finally, however. How was this brought about? By money of course, Madge Kennedy, watching Mabel Normand, Queen in the scene and knowing of the latter's steadfast efforts to sell "The Venus Model" quietly spoke up and

SURPRISES DIGBY BELL.

Lon Chaney, who plays the role of "Killer" Lawson in the five-part jewel offering "Pay Me," has an enviable reputation as a character actor. His stage career began when, at the age of ten, he ran away from his home in Colorado Springs, Colo., and became a stage hand. He appeared recently in a feature with that veteran actor, Digby Bell, who took a great liking to Mr. Chaney and "rescued" his "stagehand" from the work of the young man. Mr. Chaney invited Bell to his dressing-room and showed him the still pictures of over a hundred characters which he has played since entering the profession. The friends enjoyed a rare old chat about the fascinating art of make-up. The next day Chaney gave the veteran the surprise of his life, when he knocked upon Mr. Bell's door and on being told to enter, appeared as an exact replica of Mr. Bell himself. The older actor declared that it was the clearest piece of flattery of his whole career and that he really had an uncanny feeling as if he were looking at himself. Such is the art of Lon Chaney in the realm of make-up.

COMING NEXT MONTH.

If there had been any one thing lacking completely to endear Jeanne d'Arc to the hearts of the people, it has been overwhelmingly supplied by Geraldine Farrar in "Joan the Woman." We have Joan the Mystic, Joan the Martyr, the Savior of France and later the Saint; but the girl's heart, the frailties of common humanity always have been wanting in the make-up of the heroine. Even the higher Joan of the comedy Queen adds to the white superiority of her pedestal.

Add to this the pleasurable fact that Geraldine Farrar plays the humanized Joan—plays it with a depth of feeling and power of mimetic expression that are almost beyond reproach, and it will be understood how lovely and needed a thing is this simple femininity in Joan. She is already beautiful; this new strain of womanliness makes her glorified.

REFUSES TO GO STUNT.

Mabel Normand, usually to be depended upon to do any stunt which is higher than a comedy Queen in picture, refused flatly to act in a certain scene of "The Venus Model," her newest Goldwyn production. Why? Because it was undignified. She was required to slide headlong at great speed down a winding chute in a factory; but her success in watching Mabel Normand, Queen in "Dodging a Million" and "The Floor Below" makes the piquant start wary of doing anything which might be thought unbecoming. But she did it and finally, however. How was this brought about? By money of course, Madge Kennedy, watching Mabel Normand, Queen in the scene and knowing of the latter's steadfast efforts to sell "The Venus Model" quietly spoke up and offered to buy $100 worth. Then Mabel Normand, with a cry of delight, dashed to the head of the chute and later, when all was ready, plunged down. She didn't mind it at all.

"PLAYTHINGS"

Marjorie North was sure that Gordon Trenwith would marry her. It was the only honorable thing to do, and, of course, she knew that he was a man of honor. But when her baby was born, without the decency of a name, she realized that the man she loved was yellow under his veneer of suave kindness and that he had used her for the playing of one of his many "playthings."

Yet in the end she saw happiness with a good man who was big different from anything that he has ever done and it stands out because there is incorporated snappy action, originality of theme, rapid succession of logical events and an ideal role for Sessua Hayawaka. He is allowed a certain latitude in interpreting the featured role that is almost without constraint. Opportunity has been thrust at him and he has taken a firm hold on each as presented to him, and has obtained from each the very best in dramatic presentation. The story, impersonations and production are characterized by strength—there's a punch in every scene.

"WHY AMERICA WILL WIN"
A private screening was given the career of the great American commander from his West Point days right into Berlin.

CLARA K. YOUNG GOES EAST
Clara K. Young is due to set sail for her way east, after a triumphal tour of the western coast, and is said to have had one continuous ovation from start to finish. Miss Young comes to New York to go over plans of her forthcoming productions under the management of Harry Garson, who is also on his way east in connection with his various business interests. Miss Young's next picture will be a film version of "The Man Tamer," adaptation for which has been made by Kathryn Stuart. This will be followed by "Cheating Cheaters," one of the most valuable stage properties that could be secured for presentation in pictures. Following "Cheating Cheaters" Miss Young will produce "The Road Through the Dark," by Maud Radford Warren; and Marah Ellis Ryan's "The Soul of Rafael," the first story by this celebrated authoress to be seen on the screen. Miss Young will return to California in three weeks to continue her production work.

picturization of what America has accomplished in its shipbuilding program.

Scenes in several of the leading shipbuilding plants will be shown; the busy thousands of workers, the colossal machinery by which the labor of creating ships is expedited, the ships in various stages of completion and the thrill that goes with America's new Leviathans of the seas as well as the small ships that will help Columbia to "bridge the sea." America's warships, including torpedo boats, submarines and the tiny "chasers" will be shown, and Uncle Sam's success in keeping a constant stream of men and supplies going to France will be strikingly visualized. What this success means is illustrated by the fact that soldiers are now going abroad at the rate of 300,000 a month, and during the month of June a million tons of freight were landed in France.

RHYMED REVIEWS.

I used to like Red Riding Hood, and sigh for Cinderella. But now that I'm a man full-grown, I find I love "Prunella."

For Cupid aimed his arrow—and the arrow found its mark; And I find my heart is captive to the charms of Marguerite Clark.

Let other fellows rave about their Mays and Sues and Dollies, And celebrate the maidens who inhabit Ziegfeld's Follies.

I pledge you one who's daintier, one who is far more sweet; And I know the nation joins me in a toast to Marguerite.

Her eyes are like the lightning, and her grace is like the fawn, And her tears are like the raindrops and her smile is like the dawn.

So again I raise my glass to her and venture to repeat, That there is no other maiden can compare with Marguerite.

Portraying one of the most arduous roles of her entire career, Elsie Ferguson will be seen as Nora Helmer, the chief character in "A Doll's House," an Artcraft picture directed by Maurice Tourneur from the celebrated play by Henrik Ibsen, the greatest of modern dramatists.

Vivian Martin, the charming Paramount star, is soon to appear in a film version of William J. Locke's novel, "Wivette," which has been a form has been exceedingly popular. It is expected to make a most entertaining picture.

enough to realize that one mistake was not beyond forgiveness even in the woman he loved. How Marjorie North's goddess of heart triumphed over evil and brought her safely into the harbor of happiness is shown graphically in "Playthings," a Bluebird photoplay in which Fritzi Burnette stars as Marjorie North.

HIDDEN PEARLS.

Beulah Marie Dix has given Sessua Hayawaka a story, which when told on the screen affords one of the best bits of entertainment in the Japanese actor and his support have been permitted to give for some time. The author has furnished an important element which is necessary for Mr. Hayawaka to reach the hearts of his audience, and that is sympathy. It is a little this week of "Why America Will Win," the picture based on the life of General Pershing, at one of the projection rooms of the Fox Film corporation. The screening was attended by officials of the Fox corporation and the film is now being cut and finished for showings early in the fall.

"Why America Will Win," it is said in a statement by the Fox corporation, will prove one of the most timely productions ever released, for when it is shown this season it is expected that American and allied troops will be continuing the victories which they have just scored on the Marne. "Why America Will Win" is described as a photo-drama of victory, and it will carry into every theatre in the country the message of victory for the Allies.

Based on the life of General Pershing, the production which was directed by Richard Stanton, fol-

Ottawa Farm Elevators

Are you going to Buy an Elevator? If so, do not fail to investigate the Ottawa.

In 1897, or eighteen years ago, the Ottawa manufacturers started the farm elevator business. Since that time it has been their chief aim to keep the lead in design, quality and variety of their goods, and they are very confident they have succeeded in each of these particulars.

Every crib or granary built on the farm in the Middle West today is designed to use an elevator in connection with it. The economy in building, as well as in gathering and handling the crops, calls for this. No matter what shape or design the crib is, the use of the shovel for filling it is never thought of. Elevators can be bought cheaper at the Brune & Co., Quality Store in Winside than at any other place in the county.

Manure Spreaders

Litchfield and John Deere spreaders are the popular kinds carried by this store, and their merits and prices should be investigated before buying elsewhere. Now is the time to buy a new spreader, and Winside's big implement store is the place to buy it.

The above is our Portable Steel Elevator with Steel Cross Conveyor, Expanding Derrick and National Dump with Engine Drive. The National Dump can have the steel platform. The American Dump can be used and the outfit can be driven by horse-power.

The Hawkeye Truck company is in receipt of its third order for trucks direct from the purchasing department of the Standard Oil Company's office in Chicago. The last truck is ordered to be delivered at Madison, S. D. This is a degree of recognition extended to comparatively few truck manufacturers and is a fine tribute to the product of this local industry.

Immediate Deliveries Hawkeye Trucks

Hawkeye Trucks

Made in Sioux City

Are good enough for the Standard Oil company; ordered direct by purchasing department in Chicago.

Repeat orders from the Standard Oil Company is Proof That Hawkeyes Must be "Right"

We have our THIRD ORDER direct from the purchasing department at Chicago of the Standard Oil Co. If the construction of HAWKEYE TRUCKS had not been right, we would not have received the first order. Receiving the second order, and now the third order, proves they have found that HAWKEYES "make good"—they have passed the severest test possible—tried out by daily use and not found wanting.

The Standard Oil Company is one of the most critical buyers in the country—they keep exacting records of cost of up-keep—operating cost, etc.—The Hawkeye is good enough for them—it ought to be for you.

We also have Hawkeye Model L—Two Ton Chassis

Four-Ply Copper Clad Walls

See the four-ply walls of the Copper-Clad. Other ranges have three-ply walls. The inner fire lining, then the asbestos, then, flat against the asbestos the outer casing or iron range body. When the fire is made the moisture in the asbestos is driven to the cold side against the outer casing and there it starts rust.
Notice the copper sheet between the asbestos and body in the Copper-Clad. Copper won't rust, so the sweat from the asbestos can't do any damage.
Notice the domes on the sheet of copper. The tip of these domes all that touches the outer casing or iron body, and all around and between is a dry air space that keeps the iron body dry and insulates like double windows or a thermos bottle.
The domes make the air space and the air space saves a shovel of fuel every meal—three a day—over a thousand a year. You know what an air space between two windows does, or between two walls of any kind. So it is in the Copper-Clad Ranges—to hold the heat—to prevent its waste, and to keep the iron body dry so it can't rust out from the inside.

Come in and see the Asbestos Sweat, then you will know for yourself what this four-ply wall of the Copper-Clad means

SATURDAY, 31 AUGUST

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

From the Wayne Herald, August 25, 1898:

Miss Mary Mason returned from a visit in Ohio.

Phil Sullivan topped the market with a load of hogs.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Williams August 20.

A daughter was born August 22 to Mr. and Mrs. Alex Suhr.

Several young people enjoyed a dance held at the Frank Northrup home.

Edward Philles and Miss Ethel Norris went to Omaha to attend the exposition.

The Wayne Corn Palace band was engaged to play in Sioux City during carnival week.

Harry W. Gamble left for Omaha and from there expected to go to Kirksville, Mo., to attend the college of osteopathy.

Mrs. Walter Weber and Mrs. Robert Uter entertained a large number of their lady friends at the home of the former.

Harry Tucker and son Will of Buffalo, N. Y., and David Tucker of LaCrosse, Wis., visited the family of their brother, A. L. Tucker in Wayne.

Walter S. Taylor of Wayne and Miss Lucy Cross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Cross, were married at the home of the bride's parents in Columbus, August 27.

Guy Wilbur went to Omaha to meet his son George on his way home from Chickamauga. George was in a hospital with a fever for two weeks and is still very weak.

Miss Maude Britton and cousin, Miss Lena Litz, gave a sunflower party to a large number of their friends. Miss Maude Reynolds assisted the young ladies in entertaining.

Nels Grimsted, A. A. Welch, Dr. J. Williams, E. Cunningham, John T. Bressler, Judge Norris, and Edward A. Lundberg went to Norfolk to attend the congressional convention.

The 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. Munson, living nine miles northeast of Wayne, died from diphtheria. Two other children in the family were also suffering from the disease.

The Acme club held a pleasant meeting at the home of Mrs. E. B. Crawford. Mrs. M. S. Davies, a former member, was present. At the close of the meeting the ladies selected supper.

The old soldiers held their annual picnic in Grimsey's grove. A program of music and speeches was given. Hon. J. F. Norris gave the main address. The Wayne glee club sang several selections. Comrade Ferguson sang "Marching Through Georgia," and the old soldiers joined in the chorus.

A Bilious Attack.

When you have a bilious attack your liver fails to perform its functions. You become constipated. The food you eat ferments in your stomach instead of digesting. This inflames the stomach and causes nausea, vomiting and a terrible headache. Take three of Chamberlain's, but they must realize that the Tablets. They will tone up your liver, clean out your stomach and played off in France.

You will soon be as well as ever. They only cost a quarter.

ANOTHER WORLD SERIES.

Dallas Morning News: Of course it is all right for the major leagues to finish the season on September 1, but they must realize that the world series is even now being played off in France.

SWIFT & COMPANY

Packers' Costs and Profits

How much do you think it costs—

- To dress beef, cure hides, and prepare all the numerous by-products?
- To cool the meat for two or three days before shipment?
- To freight it to all parts of the country in special refrigerator cars, iced daily?
- To carry it in hundreds of branch houses, each with its refrigerating plant?
- And to deliver it to the retailer—sweet and fresh—in less than two weeks after dressing?

Swift & Company did all this for you in 1917 at an expense of less than 2 1/2 cents per pound of beef sold, including an average profit of 1/4 of a cent a pound.

Swift & Company, U.S.A.

From the Ponca Journal, August 21, 1918:

If the railroad is pushed along according to present program, and a first-class road built, farming land will double in price within a year.

The parties who started for the Black Hills last week are going by way of steamboat as far as Fort Pierre at which place they will hitch up their teams and go overland. The Black Hills country is filling up very rapidly.

Daniel Sullivan of Badger Creek, two miles from Ponca, has a cow which about three weeks ago had seven calves at one birth. They were all perfectly formed and about the size of rats. They were, however, dead when born. Perhaps you won't believe this. If you don't, inquire of Mr. S. He will tell you the same story, and will also corroborate it by showing you the cow. At any rate it speaks well for Nebraska's capabilities as a stock-raising country.

That Northern Nebraska is destined to be a fruit country second to no locality in the east or west, is a fact which we believe will be demonstrated beyond question within the next ten years. In Dakota country, for instance, there are now some forty or fifty orchards, many very large, and of various kinds which have received any kind of decent attention are bearing fruit. And the apples raised are not the scrawny little scrub which cow countries are generally found, and which require teeth of flint to successfully attack them, but are of splendid flavor, and as handsome as those in the garden of Hesperides. As a sample, one day last week, Mr. George Blessing, who lives between Jackson and Dakota City, brought into the latter place a large wagon load of apples to sell. These he raised on his farm, and are but a small part of those he will raise this year. He of course found a ready sale for them for they were the most magnificent apples we have seen this year, and as fine as we ever saw anywhere. They were very large, perfect in form and color and excellent to the taste. But this is only one instance. Other orchardists are producing an abundance, and ere long a wagon load of apples which now is so rare to be seen, will be as common as it used to be in old times in the east.

Willard STORAGE BATTERY SERVICE STATION

Why Worry About Insulation?

There's only one time that you ought ever to think about insulation—that's when you buy your battery.

Right then is the time to remember that Threaded Rubber Insulation is the most important battery improvement in years—and the greatest trouble-saver.

Remember that it can be had only in the Still Better Willard Battery.

You'll know the Still Better Willard by the Mark that stands for Threaded Rubber Insulation.

Come in and ask about this battery; and get a copy of the booklet "A Mark with a Meaning for You."

The Titan 10-20 has a transmission system that delivers power, developed by the engine, to the drawbar, with the highest degree of efficiency

Double Chain Drive to Rear Wheel

Power is transmitted to the rear wheels through chains and sprockets. This gives a very serviceable drive for the tractor for many reasons. It is easier to keep it in alignment than a gear drive, and if slightly out of alignment it will work well, whereas gears would wear out rapidly under such conditions. Repairs for a chain drive cost much less than for a gear drive. If a tooth is broken out of the large sprocket on the Titan 10-20, the tractor will still operate fairly well, and will enable its owner to continue his work and suffer no loss because of delay, but if a tooth is broken out of a gear it is in most cases ruined, and means that the owner must stop work until the part is replaced. Repairs to a chain are trifling matters should they be necessary, and much less expensive than repairs to gears.

A Titan 10-20 will stand hard, gruelling work, day in and day out. It stays on the job. Is that the kind of a tractor you want?

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher

GONE TO WORK

The village pool hall looks as bare as banquet hall deserted; the bathers used to gather there, unwashed and hand-shirted. But Crowder's order "Work or fight," broke up their long vacation, and now the pool hall is a sight, a scene of desolation. The railings of the courthouses square are shorn of all the slouches who used to drape their persons there and air their woes and grievances. They hung there in the hot sun, content with their condition; to sit and let their whiskers grow was all of their ambition. Fighting they had no excess; their faces showed dejection; they menaced three tobacco juice in every bland direction. But now they're working by the day, they're plowing and they're hoing; they're rearing up two bales of hay where only one was growing. To cultivate the fertile soil I see them daily; farming, their bones are creaking as they toil and they are hoarsely swearing. The dungeons of the village jail are empty now, and dreary; no Richard Eyes within them, and no Wilhelm who are weary. The slaves who used to heat their wives and steal their neighbors' chickens are driven now like the dickens. The war is shaking things around, from old time ruts it's tossed us, and when it's done it must be found it's worth what it cost us.

THE KAISER'S DREAM
The kaiser dreamed that he would reign from Naples to Alaska; his subjects would be found in Maine, and up in Athabasca. He'd ride in state through Boston town and swager in Toronto, and see the people kneeling down—where has the vision gone to? Oh, Wilhelm, as some liver-wart one night before he tossed us, and when it's done it must be found it's worth what it cost us.

POOLED AGAIN.
Said the kaiser to his men, "Go and wade in gore again. At this juncture for the French, we've been them white and Americans won't fight—it's a cinch. You have heard these Danke chaps are just suffering for scraps with the Tent? I am Wilhelm, always right, and I say they will not fight, worth a hoot. There is but a handful here, and money grubbing gent; they can't fight forth eighteen cents, take my word: do not fear that bunch of jays, with their awkward backwoods ways—it's absurd. I will stand upon this hill, I your kaiser, Unser Bill, on its brow; and I'll watch your mighty ranks going through the yielding Yanks, like plow. Here I take my kingly stand with my scepter in my hand—go ahead! I will keep you in my view while the grim fields you strew, while in your dead." Then the kaiser leapt from his hill saw his mighty legions people kneeling down—where has the vision gone to? Oh, Wilhelm, as some liver-wart one night before he tossed us, and when it's done it must be found it's worth what it cost us.

How About That Spreader?

Do you remember whether that manure spreader worked tip-top the last time you hauled last spring? If it didn't, it will pay you to have it overhauled and repaired before you start to clean out the yards this fall. Nothing is more provoking than to get on a big load and discover that the machine refuses to spread or that some weak part has broken. Let us save your trouble.

they struck their hardest trots, hitting that the highest spots, as they biked. Who can tell the kaiser's woes as he watched the scene below, red and wet? But the yankees, full of vim and vigor, make a hit with him, may he be.

GERMAN EFFICIENCY.

I hope this country of the free will never know efficiency as Germans understand it; for it has made its sponsors' name a thing of hissing and of shaming was surely Jonah's plan in it. Efficiency that doesn't heel the treaty or the written deed, the solemn pledge and promise, may be a great and useful thing as viewed by our average kind. But a doubting Thomas. And this efficiency that made of frightfulness a ghastly trade, and rioted in fury, may do a steady thing, and wise as viewed by Kronprinz Friedrich's eyes, but I am from Missouri. Efficiency that's built on hate, that tries to blind a nation's eyes with cooked up fact and fall, may suit the bone-head Teuton race, but as for me, you'll have to place the blue prints on the table. Efficiency that boasts of power and falls down at the seventh hour in every big endeavor, may please old Hindenburg and those who have hypnotized our foolish foes, but it would suit me never. Efficiency that has no soul has put the Prussian in the hole, has made our land and body, and the wiser cry of men. "This world will not be clean again until he has been created."

BE CALM.

It is not wise for us to say, when things begin to come our way. "The foe is on the run; we've kicked his pants and made him howl; we have our grip upon his jawl; it's good night for the Hun." Four years ago, along the Marne, they'd united their forces, and they'd been thought of war near done; and I recall how people cried, "The Teuton's crumpled, canted, hog-tied!" The victors is now they're being it from an old fat pite to sound a loud, discordant note, when all the joy, bells ring, but there are weary eyes, bent, with blue of the old men and dead, defests, and everything. It is not wise to get too gay, for when reverses come our way, we'll feel them all the heavier, and when the blazes reverses come, it is not wise to be too gloom, too sick and sad and sore. We'll win the war, that much is sure, but till it's won we must endure suspense and grief and pain; extremes of joy, extremes of woe don't help a friend or hurt a foe; let's be safe and sane. Let us be calm and do our bit in any niche where we may fit, in cooking room or camp; let's do our duty; full and fair, and when we have some coin to spare, buy one large green thrip stamp.

FREEDOM.

Here we are free to come and go, and do all kinds of knitting, and while we lay no statutes low, our course is right, and fitting. I pack my grip and journey forth, on impulse or suggestion; and if I journey south or north, no guy has right to question. And every time I touch the earth, where'er I may determine, I thank the gods who ruled my birth, that I am not a German. I'd have to have my course laid down by some unborn official to resemble a kaiser's former rebuking and judicial. I'd hate to have to sign my name to forty kind soft papers, before allowed to play my game and cut my useful capers. I'd hate to come when prices call, and go when they do; and that sort of thing would stir-by-gall-meat-inks. I couldn't stand it. Here we are free to live our lives with no avengeing; we're no bulls and heat our wives, and no one's interfering. No cheap policeman comes along and puts me in the cooler, because in some imaginary way I've violated a ruler. My little home my castle is, where rhythmic storms are brewing; no punk inspector thrusts his pig in side to see what's doing. But if the kaiser comes to reign, from o'er the Prussian border, I will not dare to chant a strain, without a written order.

Strictly Cash

On account of the high cost and scarcity of labor and materials, due to the war, we must necessarily go on a strictly cash basis.
