When the history of the vanished frontier, so pregnant of perils and picturesque characters which contained the pioneers in their march toward the sun set, in the days of gold, finally is withdrawn, it is inevitable that the wide Western characterizations of William S. Hart shall exercise a powerful influence upon the historian. The agencies of conception and faculty to truth, these impressions are unrivaled, and they are rapidly becoming standard upon which the popular estimate of the characters may be truthfully based.

It is conceded that Mr. Hart's portrayal of various western types long since extinct, is as near the thing as art and historical research can suggest. Old professors who have seen Mr. Hart in his western pictures, assert that he is the realization of the "spirits of the old days of romance which have vanished before the relentless march of civilization." In "The Tiger Man," his latest dramatic production, which is so presented at the Crystal Theater soon, he presents a new creation, clear-cut as a cameo and as convincing as any which the heretofore has yielded.

"The Tiger Man" is a handi of a type not often seen in pictures. He meets his fate in the person of a pretty young woman, the wife of a minister of the gospel. He forces her to leave her husband for himself, but when she attempts suicide to escape the horror of his touch, his slumbering soul, steeped in crime awakens and he is returned. To aid her religious designs he cheerfully surrenders himself to the authorities, but she is unconquered of the great sacrifice he has made in her behalf. The various scenes of the picture are thrilling to the degree that the heart and the heart interest is well sustained.

"FATTY" MOVIES STUDIO.

"Roscoe" Fatty Arbuckle has removed his company to the Dianda studio, Glendale, Cal., where his new pictures are rapidly being made. It will be a Mexican border story requiring space and an atmosphere unobtainable at Long Beach. However, the comedian retains his office home and beach privileges in the latter city and the move is only temporary, though the company may not return to the beach if other arrangements are made. The organization has no connection whatever with the Dianda company, other than to rent studio space.

Meanwhile "The Cook," Arbuckle's very latest Paramount laugh-getter, has been completed and is ready for release. Arbuckle believes it will prove to be a unique and unusual care has gone into the making of the picture which, it is said, abounds in original novelties, embracing all kinds of stunts in the end scene and along the "Pike" which is another Coney Island.

The new location is said to afford every facility for solid and spectacular, being in the foothills with mountains for background and with much open country covered with untrammeled and with many old structures and heavy timber.

"HUCK AND TOM"

A tale of absorbing interest, known to moviegoers, is to be the attraction at the Crystal Theater soon. This is "Huck and Tom," or "The Further Adventures of Tom Sawyer," the story of Mark Twain's immortal book "Tom Sawyer." Young Mr. Pickford appeared some time ago in Tom Sawyer, and his success was so great that he has already decided to continue the production in a second five reel picture, so great was the popularity of the first, and so much material was left over from which to draw. Tom Sawyer, aided and abetted by the irrepressible Huck Finn, indulge in thrilling and humorous antics for solid and spectacular, including a murder and being able to save a man's life by their testimony, as well as being marooned in a cave and that had been hidden there by robbers. The cast is especially good and the production was directed by William D. Taylor, who also directed "Tom Sawyer."

"BILLIE BURKE STARS"

The romance of consent life and its inevitable effect upon a girl, whose romantic disposition is whose chief characteristic, is admirably brought out in the story of "Let's Get a Divorce," the latest Paramount picture, starring Billie Burke, the dainty star recently seen here in "Ivys' Daughter." In this photoplay Miss Burke appears as a young woman who to relieve the humdrum existence which her husband indulges in secret flirtations of a certain type. She is a romantic element that has been planned especially for her benefit, and is happy for a time in the love for her husband, until he settles down, she

MARGUERITE CLARK

Marguerite Clark, the daintiest, most charming and lovable of all the screen stars, is to appear at the Crystal Theater soon in her newest Paramount photoplay, "Frenchie, Grandville" Barker and Laurence Houston in which she appeared on the stage a few weeks ago. Captain Bedford is set on a prominent merchant of Cincinnati, Ohio, but it is a safe wager that her recompense for acting before the alluring eye of the camera is greater than her respected, doubly received for his business. She is the only member of the family, being married early in life by this virulent insect and the symptoms become evident in her childhood—not so

Do you believe in ghosts? If you are one of those material minded persons, who insists that there isn't so much as a ghost, you had better take a final squint at the lively antics of the something or other which cavorts around in a variety of convincing poses.
The story is set in the town of Wild Bryant Washburn in the role of a scion of a wealthy family who has paid more attention to cabarets than to capital. There are many women and their friends to avoid a murder in which a gang of bad men from the Mexican border have a hand. But Bryant has one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fourteen, fifteen, sixteen, seventeen, eighteen, nineteen, twenty, twenty-one, twenty-two, twenty-three, twenty-four, twenty-five, twenty-six, twenty-seven, twenty-eight, twenty-nine, thirty, thirty-one, thirty-two, thirty-three, thirty-four, thirty-five, thirty-six, thirty-seven, thirty-eight, thirty-nine, forty, forty-one, forty-two, forty-three, forty-four, forty-five, forty-six, forty-seven, forty-eight, forty-nine, fifty, fifty-one, fifty-two, fifty-three, fifty-four, fifty-five, fifty-six, fifty-seven, fifty-eight, fifty-nine, sixty, sixty-one, sixty-two, sixty-three, sixty-four, sixty-five, sixty-six, sixty-seven, sixty-eight, sixty-nine, seventy, seventy-one, seventy-two, seventy-three, seventy-four, seventy-five, seventy-six, seventy-seven, seventy-eight, seventy-nine, eighty, eighty-one, eighty-two, eighty-three, eighty-four, eighty-five, eighty-six, eighty-seven, eighty-eight, eighty-nine, ninety, ninety-one, ninety-two, ninety-three, ninety-four, ninety-five, ninety-six, ninety-seven, ninety-eight, ninety-nine, one hundred.

devotes more serious attention to his writing than to his book. She then strikes up a flirtation with an officer of the forestry service, and believing herself to be madly in love with him, she bears her dissonant stock in trade in order that she may marry the man of her choice. He apparently consents to this on the advice of his sister, Yvonne, and it is this ready consent which ultimately produces a change of sentiment in Cyprienne's heart, and brings her to a stern realization of her duties to her husband and of the unchangeable love for him that she entertains.
This picture is an unusually attractive one and its various scenes are splendidly portrayed by a capable cast of players, among whom are John Milern, Pina, Sessal, Helen Tracey and Wilmet Melby.

DOUG FAIRBANKS COMING
When Douglas Fairbanks was making his athletic stunts in "Say Young Fellow," his latest starring athletic series of prominent society women of Los Angeles motored to Pasadena where the residence of a wealthy citizen was employed as a background for some of the scenes depicted therein.
In order to perform his athletic feats effectively before the camera it was necessary to transport three truck loads of powerful Cooper-Hewitt photographing lights, which rendered it possible to "shoot" these scenes after sundown. The society women and their friends to avoid a murder in which a gang of bad men from the Mexican border have a hand. Wallace Reid has almost completed his new Paramount picture, which has a working title of "Too Many Millions." James Cruze directed this being his first picture for Paramount. There is said to be a great element of surprise in the picture, which is largely comedy and gives the star that same opportunity to display his natural gifts for making fun in a refined way, that were so strongly evidenced in "Blue Kid," "Xantippe" and "Less Than Kin." Dorothy Dalton has finished "Viva la France!" and declares enthusiastically that it will be one of the greatest stories which she has ever appeared for Paramount. The beautiful Thomas H. Ince star is particularly impressed by the magnitude and splendor of the theme embodied in "Viva la France!" Ethel Clayton makes her debut in a Paramount star, and incidentally her re-entrance into motion pictures after an absence from the screen of several months, in "The Girl Who Came Back," which is scheduled for release September 24th. East Bennett is getting on splendidly with her newest Paramount picture, "When Do We Eat?" The relation of this expression to the hands of the clock is a mystery. Perhaps he is getting on better than he is.

Along the lines of the railroad in central and southern Nebraska, lands, uncultivated and unimproved, are readily selling at from $6 to $10 per acre. They are purchased by people coming to this state in search of homes, and they pay $10 per acre for land which is no better, nor really so good, as that which could be purchased in Dakota, Dixon, or Cedar counties for one-fourth of that price. The fact is that eastern people are led by the lying representation of the railroad land sharks of southern and central Nebraska, to believe that the country up here is a desolate waste of sand, and utterly worthless for farming or stock raising. Could immigrants be permitted to learn of northern Nebraska, its well-watered prairie lands, and its healthy climate, nine-tenths who are induced to settle in southern Nebraska would come

What is the latest railroad news? This is an inquiry which comes to the lips of nearly everyone. The latest railroad news, so far as we have heard is that the C. C. & B. H. is all right and is going ahead this fall. It is to be hoped this news is reliable. We understand the sale of the road has been made, the money paid over and everything harmonious and satisfactory among all parties. That in a short time work will be commenced, the road widened to standard gauge, and both branches of the road pushed forward as far as possible this fall. If this is the program, St. James on the main line, and Lee Grove on the branch, will no doubt see the cars cars before winter. As we understand it the company which has the lease of the St. Paul and Sioux City company has an abundance of money to rush the work along, and is in all respects the reverse of the puny and unreliable little company we first stated it. We learn that in some respects the route will be somewhat changed from the line contemplated by old Davenport and his pals when they had hope of it. Here junction will be at Jackson, thereby saving nearly a mile of distance and avoiding the immense expense of a trestle going for three-fourths of a mile. From Ponca, instead of the road going up through the Aoway valley and through Newcastle, it is rumored that it will be run up the South Creek valley, as far as Martinsburg, from thence up the Daily valley to its head, and that from there it will strike the Bow valley in Cedar county. All these rumors, however, may be unfounded.

A pleasant surprise party was held at the home of Mrs. James Wright for Mrs. H. C. Wright. The evening was spent in cards and visiting. Mr. and Mrs. A. A. WHEAT FLOUR MAY NOW BE USED WITH LESS SUBSTITUTES

ADMINISTRATOR ANNOUNCES SWEEPING CHANGES IN EFFECT SEPTEMBER 1.

MIXED FLOURS PERMITTED

Consumers MAY EITHER Buy One Pound of Substitute With Each 4 Pounds of Standard Wheat Flour, or They May Buy Regulation Mixed Flour Instead—But the Only Exception.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 1.—Sweeping new regulations governing the manufacture and sale of wheat flour have been promulgated by Herbert Hoover, United States Food Administrator, and are announced by Gordon W. Mullis, Foodstuffs Food Administrator for Nebraska.

The new rules are effective September 1. The new rules affect consumers through all product outlets, wheat flour, and all distributors. The outstanding features of the new rules are:

FIRST—Consumers may now buy flour in substitutes with each four pounds of standard wheat flour in place thereof, they may buy regulation mixed flours, milled according to the new regulations, without substituting.

SECOND—Millers are permitted to manufacture mixed flours which must conform to the specifications laid down for standard wheat flour. These make it unnecessary for consumers to buy substitutes if they use the mixed flours. However, if they buy standard wheat flour, they must buy flour in substitutes with each four pounds of standard wheat flour.

THIRD—Mixed flours cannot be sold at a higher price than the price charged for standard wheat flour. This ruling standardizes the price of substitutes and prevents the possibility of substitutes.

FOURTH—The amount in pounds of flour which may be substituted is not less than one pound for every two pounds of standard wheat flour for a family for thirty days. Consumers, however, are requested to use wheat flour in the use of wheat flour.

FIFTH—The new substitutes are: Corn flour, new milled, barley flour, bran flour, and sweet potato flour, new; wheat flour, rice flour, oat flour, flaxseed flour, and meal, peanut flour and rye flour or meals. All these flour substitutes are in the proportion of one pound of substitute to four pounds of wheat flour. In the proportion of 2 pounds to 3 pounds of standard wheat flour. There are no other substitutes than these named here.

SHARE OUR SUGAR WITH THE ALLIES

British-Get Two Pounds a Month. French Pound and Half, Italians One Pound.

GERMAN SUPPLY PLENTIFUL

All Nations Permit Use of Sweetening for Home Preserving Purposes.

America's new sugar ration of two pounds a month per person is equitable when compared with the sugar ration enforced by rigid governmental orders in England, France and Italy, nations with which we are sharing sugar.

Formerly classed as a luxury, sugar is now a war essential. The fair and just division of this essential is the basis of the various allied food control laws.

The United States Food Administration has asked this nation to observe a voluntary sugar ration of two pounds per person a month.

In the other countries at war with Germany such one of the scarce articles as sugar—whether for the households of both rich and poor, or in the hotels.

England today has a sugar ration of two pounds per month per person. In France the ration is a pound and a half and in Italy it is one pound a month. And the prices in allied countries are from two to three times as high as in America.

If you go to a hotel in England or France these days and order tea or coffee, your check absolutely no sugar with it. If you want sugar you must bring it with you.

In England it is allowable to use one ounce of sugar for each person in the preparation of each luncheon. In France many persons carry little sacharine tablets about with them for use in hotels and England rich and poor must take their sugar with them if they wish to have sweetened tea or coffee.

Before the war started France had 625,000 acres devoted to sugar production. By 1917 the French sugar acreage had decreased to 180,000 acres. Today the French man or woman with a sugar card has no assurance whatever that she or he will be able to actually buy sugar. To buy it, one must first find it.

Italy has "State Sugar." Especially drastic regulations govern the use of sugar in Italy. Its manufacture, distribution and sale are closely controlled, and by actual curbs taken over by the state.

Saccharine is permitted to be sold and used as a substitute for sugar, and the government manufactures a mixture of saccharine and sugar called "State Sugar," which is largely used.

German Sugar Ration Adequate. Germany, before the war, produced a great surplus of sugar and exported large quantities. Today the Germans have virtually gone out of the export business, but have plenty of cheap sugar for home use.

Wholesale prices prevalent in the allied nations, according to information received by the United States Food Administration are as follows: England, 10 cents a pound; France, 12 cents; Italy, 20 cents.

While these high prices are being paid abroad the American wholesale price is being held at 7 1/2 cents.

Harry McMillan left today on a visit to Glen Rock, Pa.

Conserve Your Money

It is just as vital that the wealth of the citizens of this country be conserved as that any other necessity be conserved to aid in the winning of the War.

Money is the greatest requirement of the Government; the absolutely paramount commodity, the essential thing which we can all have a part in providing.

The Capital Issues Committee Was Created to Help Conserve Money

The Capital Issues Committee has legal jurisdiction over all issues in excess of $100,000 and has requested that all issues of $100,000 or less be submitted to the District Committee for approval.

It will be regarded as an unpatriotic act for any stock to be sold which has not received the permission of the Capital Issues Committee, and all citizens are asked to cooperate with the Committee by refusing to buy any stock which has not been submitted to the Committee and received the proper permit.

Insist Upon Seeing the Permit Before Buying Any Stock

When you are asked to buy stock or bonds in any company, insist upon seeing the permit of the Capital Issues Committee for its sale. Do not accept any statement that it is all right, that the permit is in the offices of the company. DO NOT BUY ANY STOCK unless the proper permit is produced for your inspection.

Do not trade your LIBERTY BONDS for any stock, no matter if a permit for its sale has been issued or not. The boys at the front have enlisted for the duration of the War. Surely you should enlist your money without reservation.

You owe to the Government your co-operation in providing the money needed to carry on the War, and the Capital Issues Committee helps you to avoid non-essential investments.

Please do all that you can to assist the Government in this direction.

Saving Sugar Saves Shipping

AMERICAN families would have less sugar than the people of war torn France, if we depended entirely on our home-grown sugar stocks.

Approximately 75 per cent. of our sugar is shipped to our shores. We produce about 1,000,000 tons of sugar a year. Our imports from abroad amount to over 3,000,000 tons a year in normal times.

The United States Food Administration asks each family to limit its use of sugar to two pounds per month per person for household use. The military situation demands that every available ship be placed at the disposal of the Army or Navy. When we save sugar, we save shipping.

SHOES MAN IN SERVICE.

Mrs. Ida Closson Clark of shoes has received from her brother, Sergeant Warren Closson, stationed at Camp Dix, N. J., the following interesting letter:

Camp Dix, N. J., Sept. 3, 1918. Dear Samantha: Well, here we are almost the end of the country to what we were when you last heard from me, and it is as different as the horizon.

We had a wonderful trip. I wish I could tell you what a wonderful country you and I have. I can't say any more. It is almost beyond the dreams I had. But I will do my best to give you some idea of what I saw and what I felt.

Of course, we have had to leave our sandy home for the past year. About 3 o'clock we struck El Paso, and our first Red Cross canteen.

We did not wait long here but some were our way across the big state of Texas, and that state is big in more than size. From that time we started out from El Paso until we left it at Texarkana, it was a continual ovation. At Sweetwater, Texas, a regular demonstration was given us.

We traveled across this big state for over 100 miles. On our second day we struck Ft. Worth and stopped over and took a bath at the Y. M. C. A. During this night before we got to Ft. Worth we passed a burning oil well. And it was some sight, soon after leaving Ft. Worth we struck Dallas, but did not stop there. In fact our stop was at Ft. Worth, Kansas, we crossed into Arkansas and here changed engines. Our ride through this state was almost wholly at night. But along about 2 o'clock in the morning we struck Little Rock. I was a trifle nervous and happened to be awake. I only saw the station and it is built down under a big stone arch.

Our next stop was at Memphis, Tenn., and here we had another lay-up. Again the Red Cross was in evidence. I sent you a card from here. Here it was a case of genuine southern hospitality. It was real, too. From Memphis we started out with Nashville as our next stopping place. Now I imagine that this was one place I wanted to see. And it seemed to me almost as though I was on my birthplace. For over fifty years ago our father was risking his life to save the same country which is in danger now. At Chattanooga we saw Lookout Mountain and Mt. St. Louis. In the country up on the mountains you could see the different monuments erected by the states, whose men gave up their lives in that terrible fight.

Looking up the sides of that green mountain it did not seem possible that men went up it under fire and lived to see the top. But they did. And if they were not afraid then, why should I be now?

Right straight through the heart of Dixie we went. And from the time we started west in Omaha it was one continuous ovation. Old negro hammers, young pickaninies, black wenchies, all danced and waved their hands with the bravado showing to beat the band.

From Tennessee we went into Virginia at Bristol. This town is half in Tennessee and half in Virginia. It was a beautiful town. Our train rolled on. It was beautiful country. Green and velvety, and those homes just shouted "Confederate." After traveling through the south for seven days I can't help but see why and how they fought so hard in 1861-1865. This country was worth the life of any one of their men or our own. Now and Nebraska, but to mention those other northern states, and you or any one else can readily see that any man who dies, not want to go is a coward.

Of course when it was Virginia we were traveling through, every one was anxious to know when we would get into Washington. Just as we approached Alexandria, Va., the porter of our car came and called me so I was up and in the mess car when we pulled into the most wonderful city I have ever seen. To me it is the mecca of my dreams. All my feelings and being are centered there. If Washington fell our cause would be lost, and here I was, just an ordinary farmer from away out in Nebraska, standing in the shadow of the steeple. I could not say a word. There rose the magnificent dome of our capital building and towering almost to the heavens was the dome of the men who first created our government, those heroes of Bunker Hill. Oh, but it was good to be there.

From Washington we started out over the Pennsylvania railway for Baltimore. Down through Maryland, My Maryland, into Delaware and Wilmington, after Peapack, Crumlin. And during our ride here we saw a monster naval collier loading at a wharf, also a shipyard with many masts, but not sailing. It was launched. But to me one of the things that will live longest in my memory was the sight of a gray haired father sitting under the shadow of a service flag with three stars, and one of them was golden. He stood there with tears rolling down his face and one could understand his feelings. On the way home now, and may be more. Of course, I will miss him, but sergeant in my country was welcome to him and the rest, and if they will only take care, they can have me too. I can't say how much I love you and I love that and more which I can't say.

From Philadelphia has come the story of the young sailor leaving before the Liberty Bell and praying, "Help me to make good." And it was in Philadelphia that this incident took place. It happened, they have always said, that the old Quaker City was asleep. It is so then it is now a giant awakened. Through the heart of the city we went and everywhere we were greeted by cheering people—and thousands of them, too. It was Labor Day and there were large crowds.

I almost forgot to tell you of one incident, and when I tell you of this I am going to quit. As we passed through Wilmington, Delaware, the Labor Day parade was passing. As the head of the parade came to our train it stopped and so did the parade. The band struck up "Dixie" and it soon was drowned in the cheering. And this time I have tried to tell you about, happened in a country where troop trains are as common as peas.

One more thing: As we passed through Texas a train was on the side track for us to pass. At the end stood a grey haired man in soldiers' clothes, but off and at salute as we passed. Two gold stars were on his shoulder. A major general of our army at salute to us!

A BOX FROM HOME

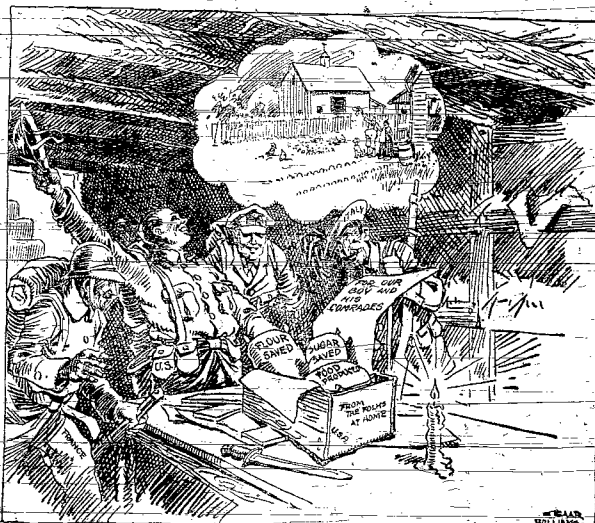

Illustration by Gae Williams, Division of Propaganda.

Food savings of millions of Americans during our first year of war enabled this government to send enormous food shipments abroad for our fighting forces and the Allied nations. Our savings in cereals—out of a short crop—amounted to 154,900,000 bushels, all of which was shipped to Europe. We increased our meat and fat shipments 844,600,000 pounds. This was America's "box from home" to our army abroad and the civilians and military forces of the Allied nations.

bride and groom are well known in this community. Corporal Beckman, before entering the army, was manager of the Beckman Brothers' farm near Laurel. Mrs. Beckman has lived near Wayne all her life and has had an active part in the work of the church and in the social affairs of the community. During the past year she has been giving music lessons in the country. Corporal Beckman and Mrs. Beckman will leave for Camp Funston Saturday where the bride will remain for the present. The many friends of the bride and groom extend best wishes.

WHERE MEN WASH DISHES.

The Outlook: In these days, when the man's part has departed to the nutrition analysis or the hospital no rightminded man will object to sharing the household tasks with his wife at least in the extent of wiping the dishes. If there be any recalcitrants; this passage of the bible may be read to them. Incidentally it indicates the masculine procedure in the washing of dishes according to the Hebrews: "I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipeth a dish, wiping it and turning it upside down." (2 Kings xxii. 13.)

Ottawa Farm Elevators

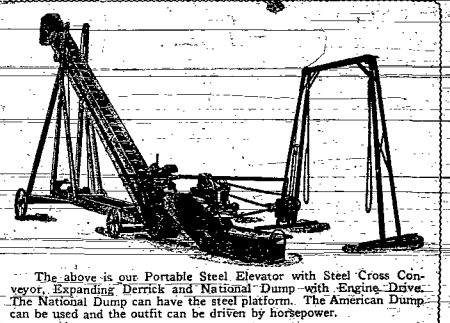

Are you going to Buy an Elevator? If So, do Not Fail to Investigate the Ottawa

In 1900, or eighteen years ago, the Ottawa manufacturers started the farm elevator business. Since that time it has been their chief aim to keep the lead in design, quality, and variety of their goods, and they are very confident they have succeeded in each of these particulars.

Every crib or granary built on the farm in the Middle West today is designed to use an elevator in connection with it. The economy in building, as well as in gathering and handling the crops, calls for this. No matter what shape or design the crib is, the use of the shovel for filling it is never thought of. Elevators can be bought cheaper at the Brune & Co. Quality Store in Winslow than at any other place in the county.

Manure Spreaders

Litchfield and John Deere spreaders are the popular kinds carried at this store, and their merits and prices should be investigated before buying elsewhere. Now is the time to buy a new spreader, and Winslow's big implement store is the place to buy it.

The above is our Portable Steel Elevator with Steel Cross Conveyor, Expanding Derrick and National Dump with Engine Drive. The National Dump can have the steel platform. The American Dump can be used and the outfit can be driven by horsepower.

FROM GEO. J. CHURCH.
Geo. J. Church who is in the service in France, and whose wife will be commended as Bessie Crockett writes home folks as follows:

France, Aug. 11, 1918.

Dear folks at home:

I shall write you soon about things I see nowadays. A battle above the clouds every day, the anti-aircraft guns in action. It surely is worth a great deal to see and hear the machine guns work in the air. Sergeant miles above our heads last night a battle lasted for ten minutes or more.

This is a grand day, so warm, and the sun is very bright. Just three miles away are the first line trenches. I will go back again soon, and by the time this reaches you I will have served my time on the line, and if good luck is with me, I will be back in the rest camp for a month or so.

There is nothing to buy here but a few nuts and tobacco when in a village and they don't have nearly enough to go around. I purchased the tokens I am sending you from a wagon that goes through the villages selling such things.

We had an air raid last night, and the dirt from the shells sounded like hail on the roof. The search lights lit up the sky. The airplanes were busy and the rattle and clatter of the machine guns made it intensely interesting for awhile.

We sleep with our gas masks right by our heads and carry them every place we go. I have worn my gas mask only once and gas is the worst kind of all. A gas shell landed just outside this village yesterday, but did no damage nor frightened anyone.

It is certainly a wonder how the men here notice the danger. If you could see us, you would not think by our actions that we were in battle or rather in the range of machine guns and expect of any moment to be called upon. When going to the front we laugh, sing, and joke with each other.

We are getting a few prisoners now and then and they are glad to come over, too. Two came over to our trenches last night and gave up.

Aug. 13, 1918.

Dear Ones at Home:

I have moved since I wrote the other letter and am now living in Auguston, wherea coonies and rat keep company with us. The rats are very large and tame, also. Was awakened yesterday morning by dirt falling in my face. A rat was scratching about.

Since I have sat here writing these few lines, three shots from our big guns have passed over my head on the way to visit Fritz. I guess he likes it for he has not answered as yet. We are holding our own. We always go forward and never back. Got back to St. Etienne, France Church, American Expeditionary Forces, Somewhere in France.

Perfect Music Re-Creation

A Hundred Years Hence

The world will still revel in the beauty of Anna Case's voice

Yes, a century from now, when a new generation refers to the primitive days of 1918, the great diva's superb voice will thrill vast audiences. Thanks to the genius of Thomas A. Edison it has been Re-Created and preserved in all its glory for our descendants. The men of tomorrow will hear, not a mere imitation; you understand, but the voice itself—pure, bubbling and spontaneous. For it has been Re-Created on

The New Edison

"THE PHONOGRAPH WITH A SOUL"

This means that it has been Re-Created with such fidelity, so perfectly and completely, that no human ear can distinguish artist from instrument. The famous Edison tone tests have proved this beyond question. Before audiences totaling more than 2,000,000, great artists, stars of Metropolitan Opera, have sung in direct comparison with their own voices on the instrument. And not one listener has been able to detect a shade of difference.

Come into our store tomorrow and hear Anna Case on the New Edison.

"THE PHONOGRAPH WITH A SOUL"

This is the marvelous instrument which Re-Creates the singer's voice with such fidelity that no human ear can detect the artist from the New Edison. Before audiences totaling more than 2,000,000 people, great artists—stars of the Metropolitan opera—have sung in direct comparison with the instrument and challenged the listeners to distinguish a shade of difference. And not one listener has been able to tell when it was the living voice he heard and when the Re-Creation.

More than 1,500 music critics—the most confirmed of skeptics—have been forced to admit that Thomas A. Edison has finally achieved what was believed to be impossible—Music's Re-Creation.

CONSERVATION PROGRAM.
 Omaha, Neb., Sept. 18.—General economy in the use of all exportable foods without definite restrictions, elimination of waste and prevention of unnecessary consumption is the new food conservation program for 1919 as outlined by Gurdon W. Wattle, federal food administrator, at a meeting of county food administrators in Omaha last week.
 Mr. Wattle announced the new program upon his return from Washington, and urged the immediate acceptance of the new policy. His message was heard by 119 food officials of the state, which included chiefs—county administrators.
 In summarizing the food regulations, he stated that all restrictions had been removed from meat, that the entire allied world was on an 80-20 wheat basis, and that the only definite rationing which would be continued for the present was the two-pounds per person per month sugar allowance.
 While the United States has a greater amount of food to supply the allies than ever before, greater stock and the voluntary saving of wintering little grain from about him in the inglenook, will tell with pride of how in the great war he proved himself almost as good a soldier as a young dry goods clerk from America—with six months training.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.
 This is not only one of the best and most efficient medicines for coughs, colds, croup, and whooping cough, but it is also pleasant to take—which is important when a medicine must be given to young children. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been in use for many years and has met with much favor wherever its good qualities have become known. Many mothers have given it their unqualified endorsement. Wm. Scruby, Chillicothe, Mo., writes, "I have raised three children, have always used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and found it to be the best for coughs, colds, and croup.—It is pleasant to take. Both adults and children like it. My wife and I have always felt safe from croup with it in the house. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy contains no opium or other narcotic.—Adv."

The Kissel engineers specified steel-side rails of high carbon contents in the Kissel frame, and Chrome Vanadium steel in the springs. This Kissel quality in all the vital under-surface parts, keeps the Kissel Kar a stranger to repair men.

QUITE A DROP

Washington Times.—What a change in the tone of the German Kaiser and his ferret-faced child, the crown prince. The crown prince, retiring discreetly, is talking "human kindness." He would not hurt anybody. It is quite possible, he said. And his proud father, who started out talking of world domination, and his mailed fist, has come down to "successful defense." Quite a drop.

WHY SAVE IT?

Chicago Daily News.—An attempt is being made to save the face of the German crown prince, according to cable dispatches. In the name of art and beauty, why?

War Time Sweeteners

AMERICA has several excellent war time sweeteners that will be used largely during the shortage in the sugar supply.

They are maple sugar, syrups, honey and molasses and may be used in preparing desserts and other dishes requiring sweetening.

When a cup of syrup or honey is used to replace a cup of sugar the liquid in the recipes should be decreased one-fourth.

One-third of a cup of sugar is equivalent to one-third of a cup of honey, about one-half cup of syrup and about one-half cup of corn sugar. One-fourth of a cup of sugar is equal to about one-half cup of syrup or one-third cup of corn sugar. One tablespoon of sugar is equal to one tablespoon of honey, about one and one-half tablespoons of syrup and one and one-half tablespoons of corn sugar.

Sugar may be saved by the use of raisins, dates, figs, dried fruits and fruit pastes used on the breakfast cereals.

Fruit marmalades, butters and jellies should be used to take the place of the ordinary sweetening at a meal and not as accessories to it. Fruits may be preserved without sugar. It may be added when sugar is more plentiful.

Preserving demands this year a thin syrup instead of a heavy syrup.

If sugar is used one-half of the amount may be replaced by another sweetener.

Drying is a means of preserving (without sugar) apples, cherries, strawberries and black caps.

When ready to use they may have added the needed sugar in the form of a syrup. When sugar is more plentiful fruit juices may be made into jellies or may be used as fruit jellies with or without sugar, as beverages, fruit gelatins and frozen desserts.

Fresh fruits supply the place of sugar in the diet. They should be used freely. Desserts where sugar is scarce may be made of gelatins, junclets, custards, puddings and cakes.

THE FIELD OF BUSINESS.
St. Louis City Journal: Interest centered during the last business week in the rising price for hogs. There was a steady gain up to Friday, when the high mark of $20.15 was reached. Several lots of hogs were sold at the top price, but large receipts during the week estimated at 6,000, sent the price down and Saturday's quotations opened at $20.10. Chicago showed a steady market at $20.70. A government proclamation was issued on Friday making the operations of packers on live stock markets subject to federal license. This puts the packers in the same class and subject to the same regulations as stock yard firms and dealers.
The government report on corn was the signal to let loose the bears, and they hammered the price down several points in Chicago, early in the week. Friday there was an upward tendency and the market closed strong, with October 15, 1918, a large purchase of 100,000 bushels of wheat account stippled the price of this grain. Provisions finished 5 to 10 cents higher, probably an account of Mr. Hoover's statement that the prices will need 100,000,000 bushels of wheat, including pork products and vegetable oils. Cattle receipts at Sioux City were fair for the week and prices have fallen steady.

The situation in the cotton market is still one of uncertainty. The new crop will be 4,000,000 bales below the early estimates. This will lack a considerable margin in the amount of the extraordinary demands of the government. The government has appointed a committee to advise on the general situation and, if necessary, the president will fix a maximum price. This the growers will object to. They have already profited against a fixed price. They point to the fact that in 1914, when the crop was so large that it sold down to 6 cents, the growers asked the government to fix the price at 10 cents. This the government refused to do and the growers cannot see why it should be done now. But as the war needs will require the greater part of the entire crop it is likely that the government price will rule. And the cotton grower will pay higher prices for cotton goods.
In New York a firmer tone in general business conditions is reported, with big buying of merchandise. It is reported from Washington that the government has purchased the entire crop of Cuban raw sugar at 5 1/2 cents a pound, F. O. B. ports of departure. The purchase is said to have been made in behalf of American, British, French and Italian governments. The new crop will be available in December. Reports from California indicate that the prairie crop has been badly damaged by unseasonable rains, the estimated loss being 25 to 50 per cent, according to localities. The government had contracted to take 51,000,000 pounds and none will be permitted to go out of the state, on civilian orders, until the government contract is filled.
An interesting feature of the week was the registration of military service of 14,000,000 male citizens. This was accomplished without any friction and without disturbance of business. The new administration bill to free Liberty bonds from federal taxation has passed the house and gone to the senate. The design of the measure is to stimulate the sale of the fourth series of bonds to the amount of $6,000,000,000, which begins September 28.

FORTUNATE.
Alexandria Herald: The rail employees under German ownership are certainly lucky. They have received two boosts in salary since the government took control of the roads, and the public is paying the bill in advanced passenger and freight charges.

THE WORLD'S STRUGGLE.
Omaha, Neb., Sept. 18.—If we send 4,000,000 men across, the great war will probably result in a complete victory for the allies in 1919. Gordon W. Wadley, federal food administrator, told his county officials that was the consensus of opinion in Washington and that his efforts are being directed to that end.
The Americans are doing great work over there, Wadley said. They were the first to turn the Germans back and change the entire aspect of the war. They marched through retreating columns of tired and war-worn German warriors at Cateau-Thierry and crushed the best German regiments. Their victory put new heart into the French.
Small tanks used by the French are working havoc with the Hunns. They are a big improvement over the larger tanks in that they move more rapidly and are down the hills and over the rough ground. The present German defense methods have been practically rendered useless by the tanks.
The outcome of the Russian situation is of more importance to America than to any other nation engaged in the war. If Russia should go under a German domination, we would have built up from across our western frontier a menace such as we have never dreamed of.
Small settlements with Russia under German domination will leave the United States in a helpless condition as far as our western front is concerned.
Difficulties in labor will increase as the new draft is felt. We must meet these as they have met them in Europe. The men must be taken by women and children. In Germany, France, and England, children and old men are raising the crops and doing all the work incident to home life.

The Branch House Man

This is one of the Swift & Company Branch House Men.
They are all pretty much alike in the way they feel toward their work—and that is what this ad is about.
They know that most people couldn't get such good meat promptly—nor in good condition if it weren't for the branch houses of which they are in charge.
They know that the branch house is one of the most important links in the chain of preparing and distributing meat for a nation.
They know that Swift & Company must have its branch houses run at the highest notch of usefulness; that even a Swift & Company branch house won't run itself, and that it is up to the branch house man to run it properly.
Any branch house man who doesn't see his work in this light is transferred to some other place with Swift & Company to which he is better adapted.
They are picked men, these branch house men. Every time you sit down to a steak or chop, or cut of roast, you can give a grateful thought to the whole crew of them.
And remember, in a general way, that everything that makes life smoother and more convenient for you is made possible by the thoughtfulness and effort of a few people of whom you have never heard.
