Unit to Consist of from 100 to 150 - Advantages to Students - October 7 Registration Closes.

On Monday of this week, President S. C. Conn of the Wayne State Normal School was in Minneapolis conference with the Adjutant General, Regional Director for the Student Army Training Corps, Dr. Nicholson recommended to the department that the Wayne State Normal be authorized to establish a unit, and on Tuesday a telegram was received from Adjutant General Harris approving the recommendation.

Those who are eligible to membership must be high school graduates, physically able for military service and between the ages of 18 and 40. Details cannot be announced until the arrival of the Adjutant General. The student will be expected to devote one-third of his time to military tactics and the remainder of his time to academic subjects.

It is expected the unit will consist of from one hundred to one hundred fifty men. The best accommodations can be given in the building.

The purpose of the unit is primarily to discover material for official training. It is an excellent opportunity and a privilege which no government has ever offered so generally to its men.

Registration blanks may be had by writing or calling at the State Normal school office. The last day for registration will be Monday, October 7.

Business men were called to meet at the city hall Tuesday evening to hear the Adjutant General and discuss unit here and to find out what they could do to be of assistance in developing the institution.

These inspectors will examine all car lot shipments of potatoes and issue certificates showing grades and conditions of the potatoes. Sixteen Good Reasons Why You Should Buy The Riverside Aer Duct

COME IN TODAY AND SEE FOR YOURSELF

H. B. CRAVEN, Wayne, Neb.

"JUST FOR TONIGHT"
 Tom Moore's first starring vehicle is this delightful story of a man who is as full of the adventurous spirit, that he gets into all sorts of dramatic situations as the result of his desire to live. Theodor Whinnery, Jr., was a most determined young man and when the girl whom he had asked all hid her identity from him for some mysterious reason, Theodor made up his mind to find out what it was. Also there was the mysterious theft of the Blackburn jewels. And then there were a father's rights in a valuable mining stock certificate. All together, it was a nice fat job that Theodor had picked out for himself. But then that was what he liked.

"HUCK AND TOM"
 Being the first adventures of Tom Sawyer, need we tell you more? If you didn't see Jack Pickford as Tom Sawyer, you still have a chance to redeem yourself by seeing him in "Huck and Tom" after he and Joe come back to the presence of their own mutual friends. If you want to find out all about Tom and how he got into mischief, and what to do with a "tom-killer," you haven't got a pain and how to enter Tom's cave without getting that creepy feeling coming and see it all on the screen, and renew your acquaintance with two of the most delightful of Mark Twain's sclerogated-by-heroes.

"THE KINGDOM OF YOUTH"
 We don't really believe that Madge Kennedy is grown up despite the fact that she wears her hair up and pretends to be dignified—something and everything. Madge thinks because she's the personification of youth, beauty, and charm, and all of those things that belong to children, she's a young girl. But in this story of Ruth Bette and her husband, Jimmy, Madge just seems to be a slightly older girl, wearing a little more of a "grown-up" look. Ruth and Jimmy have a quarrel, and Ruth goes off in a huff and falls into the lake and is rescued by her friend, Captain Vernon Castle, of the Royal Flying Corps.

"THE MYSTERIOUS CLIENT"
 This is one of the very best pictures in which a young man has disappeared; full of thrills, excitement and unexpected turns and giving the versatile star opportunity for the display of her best acting talents. Miss Castle appeared just before the death of her husband, Captain Vernon Castle, of the Royal Flying Corps.

"DOUG FAIRBANKS"
 Douglas Fairbanks' new photoplay, "Say Young Fellow," is described as perhaps the most novel in which he ever had appeared. In this photoplay Mr. Fairbanks portrays the role of a wisecracking optimistic reporter of a newspaper in a small city who wins distinction by interviewing a millionaire who not only has never been interviewed before, but who announced that never would submit to reportorial inquisition. How Mr. Fairbanks, known as the "young fellow," gets under the millionaire, and obtains the story he is after, is said to be a highly interesting development new to modern motion picture "news" writing. The assignment prompts his admiring city editor to give his another and more difficult one. He sends his "young fellow" to a neighboring town where he is to expose a fraudulent scheme in connection with a factory. Then enters in quick succession the villain, the reporter and the rich villain have several encounters which will prove as diverting to the audience as those taking part therein. When every effort of the young reporter and his efforts of the young reporter to expose the fraud he finds rampant in the vicinity are nearly frustrated because of a misconception of the real situation, the girl appears and by her aid all is set right and the reporter wins his fight. There are several thrilling scenes in the development of the story Mr. Fairbanks, as the young reporter, sees scenes and tall bow windows, vaults and all the things that make up the other athletic feats of the most surprising character, at a meeting of the villain and his friends battles desperately with an army of factory employees, finds a perilous perch over revolving flywheels and busy machinery, comforts a sweet spinster, overcomes the villain and finally wins the girl. Aside from Mr. Fairbanks' magnificent play, "The Champion," which he and other capable screen artists appear in Mr. Fairbanks' success. The picture was excellently produced and the photography by Hugh McCaughey is exceptionally fine.

"FAIRBANKS WILL PLAY IN 'ARIZONA'"
 What is considered the most important announcement to come from the Douglas Fairbanks studio is the statement that arrangements have been completed with Augustus Thomas to picture his famous stage success, "Arizona," in a feature release.

A letter of suggestion from the author prompted Fairbanks to originally consider playing "Arizona" the play that has been for years received annually by stock companies throughout the country, with the same success that originally enjoyed during its record-breaking engagements in New York.

Augustus Thomas personally filmed "This same play four years ago, using a camera which was the most mechanical and photographic advancement during that time selected Fairbanks to produce a new screen version of the play.

Douglas considers this a great compliment from Augustus Thomas, whose stage record has earned for him the honor of being referred to as the great American dramatist. These are exciting days at the Fairbanks studio. It has always been Douglas' ambition to play "Captain Denton" and his interest in the play is therefore unusual, devoting all his time to the development of the screen version and the casting of parts.

"LES MISERABLES"
 William Fox has an odd way of doing that which is out of favor and falling away with it. Every one says that morbid tales should go abandoned during these dark days and yet here we have Victor Hugo's age story of Jean Valjean pictured for us in all its multiplicity and as popular as anything on the silvered today. It is a masterly production of a tragic tale, "Crescendo" and the atmosphere of rural France and Paris during the revolution is caught in a splendid semblance of verity which places its director, Frank Lloyd, in the foremost ranks. William Farnum as the starving peasant, hood-torn convict, reformed gentleman, broken-down and discarded by his nemesis, Javert, does give really great work, while his make-up is that of an artist. Mr. Fox is to be congratulated upon the splendid popularization of one of the greatest classics.

"SAY YOUNG FELLOW"
 Doesn't that title sound just like Doug Fairbanks? Well, it is, too, only you will find our athletic star in a somewhat different role in this story—that of a young cub reporter whose smiling optimism wins him a host of friends, and the confidence

"DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS"
 "Say Young Fellow" is the story of the city editor. When he is sent out to cover a certain assignment, however, his enthusiasm almost ends his journalistic career. Then the girl happens along, and, well, you can guess the rest. It's Fairbanks all the way through.

"LES MISERABLES"
 Just as Victor Hugo's world classic Les Miserables, is the strongest human story ever written, so William Fox's faithful screen adaptation of that master production comes to the Crystal Theater on October 2 and 3 without question the most absorbing film drama in years. William Farnum, famous for his interpretation of rugged roles, appears as Jean Valjean, Frank Lloyd is the director. The whole play revolves about the suffering and the sacrifice of Jean Valjean, a young peasant of southern France, who is condemned to the galley for stealing a loaf of bread for his wife and children. His original sentence of imprisonment was later extended to life because of thirteen years because harsh treatment leads him to repeated but ineffectual attempts to escape. Jean Valjean escapes from the living grave with his soul embittered. He takes up a new life without enthusiasm, his heart dead, his whole being inflamed against society. The thoughtfulness of a bishop who gives him food when all others drive him from their doors, shows him a new way. He is converted to the cause of right. His conscience becomes his guide.

Through the years that follow, Jean Valjean lives under an assumed name. His life is purified, and he is eventually accepted as a good citizen of the country. His life is full of sympathy and benevolence cause him to be known throughout the district and he is elected mayor of his town. Jean Valjean's name has been arrested as Jean Valjean, the ex-convict. Jean is torn between the desire to do what he realizes he should and the desire to let the past be buried now forever. After an all-night struggle with himself, he decides to renounce his life of respectability. He makes known his real identity to the authorities. He is arrested once more but his old-time cunning manifests itself again, and he escapes.

For many years he evades pursuit. He adopts a title and the daughter of a young worker in the factory which he owned in Marseilles and whom he married. He is his arrest. This girl, Cosette, who later falls in love with Marius, a dashing revolutionary leader of Paris. Though he knows that he is sacrificing his own happiness and the one he loves with his whole soul, Jean Valjean goes at the risk of his life among the rioters in the streets of Paris, rescue the wounded Marius and brings him back to Cosette. Valjean also frees Javert, the police inspector whom the revolutionists had murdered, and the one who has haunted him from the day he was first sent to the galley. In return for this generous and unexpected act, Javert afterwards gives Jean his own freedom.

The last year of Valjean's life are spent in loneliness and poverty. He has abandoned everything—his fortune and her Marius may not want. The two find him one morning sobbing softly in the big chair in which she sits with the little ragged dress that Cosette wore as a child. They understand then, but it is too late. The great heart has slowly broken and Jean Valjean has passed on.

"BESSIE BARRISCALE SEVERS PARALTA TIES"
 Bessie Barriscale, the popular Paralta star, has just completed her final production for the company and has severed all connection with the Paralta organization. Miss Barriscale's final Paralta play is "The Heart of Rachel," directed by Howard Hanson, who has also been in charge of the production of others of her recent successes. No announcement has yet been issued as to her future plans, but it is expected that she will immediately organize her own company.

"JACK MULHALL SIGNS WITH LASKY"
 Jack Mulhall whose work as a leading man is well known, has just signed a contract to appear in Paramount pictures for six months.

"LES MISERABLES"
 Les Miserables, the most melodramatic of all Victor Hugo's melodramas, has been pictureized by William Fox with William Farnum playing the role of the immortal Jean Valjean and will be shown at the Crystal Theater for two days, October 1 and 2.

"THE MOTION PICTURE NEWS CALLS 'HEART OF THE WILD' ELsie McGUIRE'S BEST VEHICLE." So will you after you see it. You'll see it all right in the Crystal Theater. And soon.

I pledge allegiance to my flag and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible with Liberty and Justice to all.

To people who want us to supply them with Wayne county apples in car lots or less. Please forget it. A minister in a neighboring town is going to preach on "The Sin of Knowing." We feel in no danger of being hit.

The campaign for the fourth liberty loan, which starts next Saturday, will be the biggest one yet, and people are facing it with a confident and resolute spirit that is sure to prove a giant winner.

Prince Charles of Rumania gives worthy evidence of some democratic ideas and distaste for the restraints of the king business. He has married a woman without royal sanction and while he has been sentenced to seventy-five days in prison for violating senseless rules, he is establishing a precedent that is amply worth the penalty.

President U. S. Conn of the Wayne State Normal has worked incessantly and satisfactorily during the last few weeks in behalf of the establishment of a government military unit in connection with the school and his success, just realized, should and will draw to him many deserved encomiums. President Conn is always on the job, and his special triumph as one of many gained under his momentum for the school. The state as well as the local community has good reason to feel confidence and pride in the head of the institution.

What is called Spanish influenza is epidemic in this country, especially in the cities, where many deaths have been caused by it. The disease is reported in Sioux City in mid form. One physician there says his patients are suffering from old-fashioned grip. Another physician says hundreds of colds in Sioux City will not be serious if given proper attention. It would seem that Spanish influenza, grip, and colds are rather closely related, but that the latest and most fashionable thing to have now is Spanish influenza. If a person catches one of any one of the three, he will, of course, select Spanish influenza. Grip has held attention for many years, but will now have to take a back seat.

Most people are going forward at a good speed and making big gains in their carrying of increased burdens incident to the war, in helping along with war policies in addition to solving multiplying personal problems. The course of making ends meet. This condition which taxes people's endurance, should call for the greatest kindness one for another. People should not so much seek causes for fault-finding as opportunities to render assistance. Most people are doing their best, and their efforts should not be weakened by shafts of trivial criticism. People should curb the spirit of envy and jealous hatred at least until the war has been won and the status quo has been restored.

An article in Wednesday's Sioux City Tribune attracted attention at anyone who burns waste paper. It says: "There should be no waste paper, that the junkman cannot salvage. Waste paper is a good money. Waste paper can be turned into thrift stamps." The article declares: "A paper famine confronts our country. The paper shortage is a general and sweeping crease are easy to make, but a feasible way to conserve waste paper is to burn it. There are many places where there are no junkmen to buy it, it is not so easy. Nearly everyone in a town like Wayne would be glad to give and accept of thrift stamps if someone would call and get it. One who gathered and shipped a carload from here some months ago, after the effort was not justified by returns and the effort did not attempt a second shipment. Conditions may be so different now, however, that the task would be sufficiently remunerative for the one undertaking it. People as a rule, knowing the shortage, would much rather save and donate waste paper than burn it, and only an opportunity to do so is needed.

The German imperial chancellor complains in an address to the press that no points in his peace proposal have met the approval of President Wilson, and then the chancellor boasts of what the submarines are doing and will do. Unbusiness for consideration of peace terms entirely out of commission to the United States, to wear up to his imperial highness is so certain of success at arms, he should not wear his hair over failure of the United States will some peace feeler. He should understand that we are too busy making arrangements to put tyrant Prussianism entirely out of commission to fool away time talking peace on a basis that justice and civilization would spurn. If the chancellor thinks the United States will come to a promise with a government that has outraged innocent and unoffending nations, and that has driven most of the world into war, he will have to change his note. He will find the United States, now in action, will not quit until the defeat of the enemy is complete, and acceptance of America's terms is unconditional.

If we had come from Germany, no one could feel more deeply chagrined at the government of that country than we. We would be incensed because the land of our nationality had made kinsmen and former countrymen suffer in a despicable and inexorable way in world conquest. We would have bitter abhorrence for a government that would sacrifice its people and territory and outrage the rest of the world for an unworthy end. We would, quite as much as the natives of other countries, want to see a thorough house-cleaning—see imperial tyrants and addle-headed crown princes swept into the abyss of eternal nothingness, and the whole world of free peoples everywhere. If we had come from Germany no one could be more anxious than we for an early and crushing overthrow of the diabolical dynasty that has authorized wholesale and universal assault and murder. And that is exactly what many citizens of German extraction think.

The Meadows Farm Elevator

The Elevator That Pays Its Way

Don't Scoop

Handle Your Grain With a Meadows Elevator

A Meadows elevator will make more money for you than any other grain elevator because it is built to satisfy and to meet your demands. In building cribs, it is the foundation, roofing, and flooring that costs you the most money. If you use a scoop or an inferior elevator you have to build low cribs, but if you use a Meadows elevator you can build one crib for all of your grain, both ear corn and small grain. You thereby save the cost of one or two foundations, floors, and roofs. This is another way in which the Meadows elevator makes money for you. With large cribs in which to store your grain, you do not need to sell direct from the field; but can hold for the best prices. By holding your grain for favorable prices, you many times will make the price of both elevator and a crib. Large cribs for storing grain are made practical by installing Meadows elevators. Another big saving is in repairs. You will need very few of them for Meadows elevators. In many large factories the repair end of the business is one of the most profitable parts. But, frankly, we will say that if we had no depend on the repairs we sell for profit, we would go broke. A Meadows grain elevator will not be an expense; it will be one of the best investments you have ever made.

Don't lag behind! Don't work at a disadvantage! Don't depend on muscle to do the work that the elevator will do better, quicker and cheaper.

Muscle-Saving Machinery

In these days when work is plenty and labor is scarce and high, the "hired man" problem looms up like a specter on the busy farmer's horizon. The farmer who provides himself with muscle-saving machinery not only gets the pick of men, but he cuts the corners of cost and time and makes more net profit on his crops than his neighbors who farm "by hand." Foremost among the modern inventions for saving time, money and muscle is the Standard Farm Elevator—a machine that relieves farm help of the laborious, muscle-straining, back-breaking work of unloading corn and small grain from wagons to granaries, bins and freight cars. This work comes at the climax of crop-gathering, when nerves and muscles are already strained to the breaking point, and when every minute counts. Probably as hard work as there is on the farm is where you, your family or hired hands, have to shovel the corn into the crib. It means a constant bending, pushing and raising that tires the back and arms and makes every muscle of the body ache. It is exhausting, laborious drudgery for even the strongest men. It's a job nobody likes and that most hired men despise. Yet such is the need of help and haste at corn husking time that even the young boys are forced to do this work that is almost as much for men.

UNCLE WALT

The German mother lost nine sons all stalwart young upstanding Huns. She wept beside her bed for months and months and returned no more; the burden of her grief and care seemed greater than her soul could bear; her face was wan, her eyes were black, her hair grown snowy in a week. But now the postman comes and cries, "Here's something that will dry your eyes! A letter with the Prussian coat—now may your woes go galley west!" With awe the mother takes the missive, and she seal she breaks. Great Wilhelm Kaiser of the Huns, has heard about her nine lost sons, and he has sent a work of art to soothe and heal the broken heart; it is a photo of himself, fit for the mantle or the shelf; majestic, beautiful and grand, it is autographed by his own hand. The mother dries her scalding tears; she and the postman give three cheers; their arms in ecstasy they lock, and my worthy spouse, and I shall send them forth to die; perhaps the Kaiser, in reply, will send a photographic view of Kronprinz William Friedrich, too!"

BE PATIENT.

Be patient when the days are hot; soft weather soon will find the sports with snow and ice and kinglets; be patient. It does no good to human hicks to rant and kick against the pricks; it will not help the fry brought down by stress of times like these things are upset, but it won't help to fume and fret;

serenity's the one best bet, be patient. What if a soubrette costs you more; if prunes are dearer all the more; if the tub is changed by a roar, be patient. What if the measly profiteer is growing richer every year? The day of woe for him is near; be patient. What if there's a chess and wrongness, mercy. "Oh, Lord, how long!" The arm of retribution's strong; be patient. "There's no occasion for despair; the night is dark, but the morning's fair, and things are right side up with care; be patient. His vain to hunt around for grief. His vain to fend your rage and bawl; if things are rough, there comes relief; be patient. These are the times that try the soul; the cheap skates with themselves condole; let brave boys laugh when in the hole; be patient. Oh, grin and bear whatever; don't you hang back along the road, and have a flag on your abode; be patient."

CLOSER TOGETHER.

Since our daddies died at Valley Forge, before they'll be submitting to that old homehead German German who then was ruling Britain, a sort of coldness has obtained between two mighty nations. Our bonds of friendship all were strained, though we were blood relations; it took another German king (with soul for war expanding) between these mightier nations, to bring the perfect understanding. Our banner floats or English domes; the common foe for delving; and over countless Yankee homes the British flag is flying. The soreness that once time we knew the German Kultur smothered; our friendships sealed with blood, and true, and we are close as brothers. We sing with them, "God save the King," and raise our glad koinonle; and they make the rafters ring with good old Yankee "Doodle." We're hugging and waving like bet, and o'er that heaving ocean, we stretch our hands, already wet, with brotherly emotion. When Kaiser Bill has quitted the fry brought down by stress of weather, he'll look at Brit and Yank and say, "I brought the two together!"

er!" And that will be the correct pill the sickest dose of bitterness; if he went down old Kaiser Bill of other kindly critics!"

THE SILENT GENERAL.

Napoleon of the great renown was fond of sounding phrases: "The sword—the pyramid—the look down," in Egypt, hot as blazes. He liked to hit a haughty pose and try to look as stately as some huge Alp. These kind of snags advertised it greatly. As great general as he now deals the iron rations, in charge of France's destiny, and that of allied nations. Great Foch who bears the biggest load that ever mortal carried, who chased the Teutons down the road, all rattled, beaten, harried! He is so busy with the Teut, the flood of vandals darning, he has no time to elocute or do some oratorizing. He hasn't time for gems of thought, like that old sport—Reno; he's got to see some Prussians shut, to keep Huns in a frenzy. Of high remarks, he's not the fount, like orator and writer. "Realities are all that count," observes that grand old fighter. The fight is hard, the way is rough; the foes are stubborn stayers: "we came, we saw, we conquered," snail! will do for grandstand players. Reverses of the fourteen count, our own are growing fewer; realities are all that count." Foch tells the inter-kings and seething variant nations, viewer. He is so busy banning he has no time to think up things for schooling declamations.

USHOOSY THEM ALL.

The fires of commerce have to burn, the wheels of industry must turn, though all our strong men should stop, and leave the cities and the farms and cross the ocean's briny, tough to, show the Hun where he gets off. The mills must grind the stones, along through all the young and stalwart go. So any man who has his head may find a place to earn his bread. The eripiles, who in and smelching variant nations, fled from our busy ways, have found a useful place at last, wherein they may forget the past. A man may have his bread and butter, then a shly of sundry hands and feet. The halt, the spavined and the lame, once more get in life's busy game, and earn their share of useful money, and help to overtake the Hun. Old granddaddy, who's been shivered for years, and who encountered heartless jeers, when he insisted, and neglected, that the slow motion wheat has left his chair and telegonk, his spectacles and dog-eared books, and now he's showing all the town that he was once a leader. The world won't stand for wasted men, until Sweet-Peas comes back again. That member of the human race who has been so long in the face, has strength to do some helpful stunt and aid the armies at the front.

THE GARDENER.

The man who doesn't do his bit is worthy of no pardon—and I feel chesty. I admit when I survey my garden, I always had hottest hot. The world won't stand for wasted men, until Sweet-Peas comes back again. That member of the human race who has been so long in the face, has strength to do some helpful stunt and aid the armies at the front.

errest toil it took to keep them growing. My grapes and squash and cabbage died, but I have compensation, my dandelions are my pride—the finest in the nation!—stam and view my handiwork with wholesome satisfaction, and how I loathe the sickening stink who took my money, getting a maximum in less than enough of greens to feed his own gross body, and though I rather slump on beans, my jimson weeds are gaudy.

WALTER SAVIDGE AMUSEMENT CO.

Wayne Fall Festival September 30 and October 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5. The Walter Savidge Amusement company opens an engagement in Wayne on Monday, September 30, this being the final week of the season. Since leaving Wayne the company has played a season of twenty-three weeks to the greatest business of his career, and this in the face of war conditions and activities, demonstrates that the national board of defense was right when it ruled that amusements are a necessity at this time. While this is the closing week, the company will come here intact. Nothing will be lost. Each and every feature will be presented as completely as in other cities. The Savidge Players will hold forth in the big tent, presenting a splendid repertoire of New York and Chicago's latest dramatic successes. The order in which the repertoire will be presented may be seen in another column of this issue. The midway with its many alluring features will be in full swing each night. The Ferris wheel and merry-go-round will be in constant operation. A new feature that has never been here will be presented daily and hand covered by the Savidge Concert band. In closing, Mr. Savidge wishes to thank his many friends and neighbors for the loyal support they have always accorded his attractions in Wayne.

UNSHAKEN TESTIMONY.

"Time is the test of truth. And Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test—since 1889. No Wayne resident who suffers backache or annoying urinary-ills can remain unconvinced by this twice-told testimony. Mrs. Ira Hoshaw, Wayne, says: "I was confined to bed several weeks with a severe attack of grip. Upon recovering, I found my kidneys had become weakened. I was great sufferer from sharp pains across the small of my back and lameness through my loins. My head throbed for hours at a time and I was unable to get to sleep at night. After taking Doan's Kidney Pills a few days, the backache left me and my kidneys were strengthened. In three weeks all symptoms of kidney trouble had disappeared. Mrs. Hoshaw gave the above statement in August, 1910, and on July 15, 1916, she writes: "I took Doan's Kidney Pills on hand at the time, getting them at Feltner's Pharmacy. They keep me in good health and I am enjoying an abundance of kidney trouble I may have." Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mrs. Frankshaw had. Foster-McLibur Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N.Y., U.S.A."

From Power Journal, September 28, 1893:
The growth and prosperity of northeastern Nebraska, is illustrated by the numerous towns that have sprung up within its borders. Each comparatively short time ago, Wayne, Wakefield, and other villages of considerable importance were unknown. They have attained to goodly proportions and attracted the attention of distant communities through their sudden and rapid growth.
The work, however, is not exhausted. In Cedar county have lately been established two or three towns, which had fair to good prospects at this point of the year. This is particularly true of the village, which from its geographical position can hardly fail to become the chief town of Cedar county, and one of the finest if not the principal town of northern Nebraska. The work of settlement and consequent development seems to extend westward along the line of northern Nebraska.

Probably a very large proportion of the emigration to the state during the past eighteen months has been received by the northern part of counties, and the tide of emigration has fair to take the same direction for some time to come. The advantages and natural resources of this section of the state long unknown, are now becoming known and appreciated. The villages that are being established and the farmers who are occupying the land are laying the foundation for us to trust, in future years, prove as prosperous a community as any in this or any of the rich and populous Mississippi valley states.

Wayne county, Nebraska, the oldest and prairie of which petition is an article of state in and of the South half (24) of the northeast quarter (NE 1/4) of section twenty-three (23), township twenty-six (26) north of range four (4) 2nd Meridian 6th P. Each of you are required to answer and petition on or before Monday, the 21st day of October, 1918, otherwise judgment will be entered against you as prayed in said petition.
Dated this 15th day of September, A. D. 1918.

AN APPEAL FOR CLOTHING

Aid Asked for Destitute of Belgium and Northern France.

A drive for clothing to be sent to the destitute of Belgium and Northern France is being conducted this week under the direction of the Red Cross. Headquarters to handle local contributions of clothing have been opened at the store building across the street from Miller's grocery. Mrs. T. W. Moran is chairman of the Wayne committee.

"Back of the German wall that has hemmed in Belgium and part of northern France, ten million men and women are in need of clothing, and we who are left outside can hardly appreciate in what dire need these people are for lack of necessities. Stocks of clothing and raw material are long since exhausted. There are no imports other than those the committee has in Belgium, and these never have been sufficient. The world is now short of both clothing and raw material, so the commission can no longer discuss what is needed. But you can give it.

"Every household in the land has some spare clothing, worn or outgrown, that is little used, but desperately needed by the destitute. This extract from a letter of a well-known lady of Brussels, shows the conditions. "I will give up to 125 francs ($20) for new or worn bed sheets. There is an intimate need for every sort of garment, blankets, sheets and shoes.

"The very wonderful results of the clothing drive in Belgium, assisted in helping to meet the demands, but when we realize that there are ten million inhabitants in the occupied regions, and that Belgium is not only a world for protection against the rigors of winter, it is seen that we cannot see too much. As long as the war lasts, Belgium and occupied France depend chiefly on America for aid. To insure the steady supply of garments which are so much needed, we appeal to the patriotic and sympathetic American public to give, and give largely."

Strahan of Wayne, and he is a young man of integrity, energy, and system and accuracy, and the good wishes of Wayne friends will be fully realized.

THE FIELD OF BUSINESS.

Sioux City Journal: Improved weather conditions and continued cheering news from the war front had a depressing influence on the grain markets, which gave the bears another opportunity. Corn touched the lowest point of the season, November 18th, at $1.45. One of the reasons for this is the belief that there is a much larger stock of old corn in the country than advertised. This is anticipated that a large amount of this will be thrown on the market soon. The hog market sympathized with corn. The market for hogs is anticipated to be a boom, with bulk of sales at $19, or a shade better.

The market for cattle was well advanced in the week, heavy stock being in brisk demand under slightly lessened receipts, while heavy weights slumped off a trifle. In the local market, the principal change was in the increased number of range cattle received. The run of range cattle is now at its height and will likely continue until severe cold weather sets in.

The order to close down the breweries on December 1 has been largely discounted and no serious effect on the business of the country is anticipated. Milwaukee, Chicago and St. Louis are the principal cities directly affected by the new order. The closing down of the breweries will throw out of employment 30,000 men, but there is so much war work to be done that the men will be called for other employments at more lucrative wages. The brewers themselves will stand to lose a large part of their property cannot be easily fitted for our industries. Not only the machinery and fittings will be made worthless, but the buildings are not adapted for factory purposes owing to the lack of windows, which cannot be overcome without tearing them to pieces. The brewers are somewhat doubtful of the summary nature of the order and are not sufficiently recovered to make any plans for the future. The war news has had a bullish effect upon the New York stock market. Quite a substantial improvement has been noted in the volume of trading during the week. A buoyant market has induced vigorous buying which continued throughout the week with steadily higher prices for leading stocks. The price for the Dow Jones index advanced 1.38 points, closing at 110 1/2. Other good properties showed a conservative advance of from 1 to 2 points.

The sensation of the business week was the news from Washington that President Wilson had decided to free the price of cotton and place the entire crop under government control, in spite of the opposition of southern planters. This decision was reached after consultation with senators and representatives from the cotton growing states. The shortage in the new crop is still placed at between 500,000 and 600,000 bales. The price to be fixed will be named later. No doubt the price will be a "fair" one to all the interests concerned, though it is not likely to please everybody. Other interesting features of the business week was, first, the president's answer to the Austrian peace note, which was that the factors in stiffening the New York stock market. Local interest, of course, centered in the Interstate Fair and stock show. The committee of the fair were gratified by the attendance for the week passing all former records. The display of live stock was remarkably fine and the public interest in it was maintained.

THE NEED OF A HELL

Broken down by the war. Sept. 21, 1918.

Dear Mr. Guse: I have read with a great deal of interest your poem "The Hell of the War" and poetry. I submit, without any qualms of conscience, that I am not very guilty. You seem to have overlooked the fact, however, that most of the present day poetry serves a great theological purpose. No man can read much of it without becoming a firm believer in the future judgment. Surely, Frank French.

THE WHITE HOUSE WASHINGTON

Again the government comes to the people of the country with the request that they lend their support to a more liberal scale than ever before, in order that the great war for the rights of America and the liberation of the world may be prosecuted with ever increasing vigor to a victorious conclusion. And it makes the appeal with the greatest confidence because it knows that every day it is becoming clearer to thinking men throughout the nation that the winning of the war is an essential investment. The money that is held back now will be of little use or value if the war is not won and the selfish masters of Germany are permitted to dictate what America may and may not do. Men in America, besides, have from the first until now dedicated both their lives and their fortunes to the vindication and maintenance of the great principles and objects for which our government was set up. They will not fail now to show the world for what their wealth was intended.

MAN SUFFERS FATAL FALL

Under Wheels of Loaded Wagon, Chas. Brown Breaks Back.

Charles Brown who is employed on the farm of James Grier, five miles north of Wayne, died in the Wayne hospital late Saturday night as the result of a broken back sustained by falling under the wheels of a wagon load of coal which he was hauling to the farm. While driving down hill, the wagon fell and in attempting to get out of the wagon, the young man slipped under the wheels. Rev. F. J. Jordan, the young man's pastor, furnishes the following obituary:

"Charles Milton Brown was born in Nebraska, York county, Pa., on November 16, 1889, and died at the Wayne, Neb., September 21, 1918, at the age of 28 years, 10 months and 5 days.

"His death was due to injuries which he received in a runaway when the loaded wagon upon which he was riding went over his body Saturday evening. He was almost senseless when the fatal accident occurred. He was brought to the local hospital and everything was done that possibly could be by Dr. S. A. Lutzen, but it was too late. He died that same evening at 11:45.

"Mr. Brown was the son of John and Catherine Brown who live in York county, Pa. He lived most of his life in his native state, but came to Nebraska and stayed for almost two years. Later he returned to Pennsylvania and came to Nebraska again May 1, 1915, in which state he has resided ever since. On November 20, 1915, he was married to Miss Grace Billee of Pennsylvania.

"John's brother joined the Lisburn church of Goshute, Combed county, Pennsylvania, in the winter of 1914, and was baptized into the fellowship of the Wayne Baptist church during the fall of 1916. Since that time he has been a good and consistent member.

"Mr. Brown seemed always to be of a happy disposition and was very considerate of his wife and little son at all times. He was tried perhaps as few men are with afflictions and sorrow, and yet through it all he hoped for the best with strong confidence in God. He tried always to exemplify the life of his Master. At his death he was acting superintendent of the Liberty Union Sunday school northwest of town.

"Saturday night when the accident happened he realized his time was short and talked to his brother Morris, who had all his own work, especially as he very solemnly, as Mrs. Brown and his little son Raymond. He told his brother that he was prepared to meet his Maker. At his request, his pastor prayed with him while he lay in the hospital.

"He leaves to mother, Mrs. Brown, his wife, and son Raymond, aged 2 years, also father and mother. He is survived by five brothers and one sister. His brothers are George Haler, Mechanicsburg, Pa.; Morris Brown, Harrisburg, Pa.; Frank Brown, Lucknow, Pa.; Howard Brown, Hastings, Pa.; and Elwood Brown, who is at the present time in Camp Lee, Virginia. His sister, Mrs. Clara Brown Gross, lives at Alliance, Pa.

"A short funeral service was held at the Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. F. J. Jordan officiating.

"Mrs. Brown accompanied the remains of his brother back to Pennsylvania Monday morning. He will be buried in the Andersontown cemetery in York county, and the services there will be conducted by his former pastor, Rev. Mr. Heighes."

INJUNCTION IS GRANTED

Nebraska State Teachers' Association Case Heard in Court.

Following a hearing in the district court at this place, Saturday, the suit brought by Supt. J. A. True of McCook, to secure an injunction against the officers of the Nebraska State Teachers' association to prevent them from holding auxiliary meetings of the association outside of Omaha, was decided by Judge A. A. Welch in favor of the plaintiff. The plaintiff contended that the proposition to hold auxiliary meetings at Hastings and Alliance was contrary to the constitution and do not violate the constitution.

Prof. F. M. Gregg of Peru, president of the association, was present in the interest of the defendant. A. R. Davis represented the defense and Mr. Wertz of Schuyler, looked after the interests of the plaintiff.

The officers of the association held that auxiliary meetings at different points in the state carry out the idea of a chautauqua circuit, serving more teachers with less expense and do not violate the constitution.

Prof. F. M. Gregg of Peru, president of the association, was present in the interest of the defendant. A. R. Davis represented the defense and Mr. Wertz of Schuyler, looked after the interests of the plaintiff.

Why Batteries Wear Out

There are two reasons; the normal wear that goes on slowly, and the rapid wear that's due to abuse, as when you—

- Spin-spin-spin—a cold motor
- Let the plates starve for want of charge
- Forget to add distilled water.

You expect normal wear in batteries as much as you do in tires—but if your tire was flat you wouldn't keep running on it—

Drive around this way, and we'll tell you how you've been treating that battery, and how you can postpone its old age.

Ask for our booklet, "A Mark with a Meaning for You"—it tells what's back of the Willard Mark.
