"My Country 'Tis of Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty."

I pledge allegiance to my flag and to the Republic for which it stands; one nation indivisible with Liberty and Justice to all.

What a tough job it is to convince others that one is busier than anybody else in the world.

The way boards of health have been taking precautions against the spread of Spanish influenza ought to make short work of the disease.

If a man wishes to buy a farm he may ascertain its worth by consulting the card of application over to the council of defense on which is based the purchase of liberty bonds.

The man who charges lack of duty to others in the war, is likely to be more at fault in that respect than the one accused. A man suspects another of failure to fully meet patriotic obligations, and convicts him without a shadow of evidence, and the one thus acting as judge, jury and executioner, is often guilty of the very shortcoming which he lays at the door of a neighbor.

The annual delinquent tax list whose publication commenced in last week's Herald is revealing evidence of the prosperity of Wayne county. Most of the property affected for sale to satisfy unpaid taxes is the same as in former years. The farm descriptions appear. Twenty-five years ago the delinquent tax list was a voluminous and fearful document.

The school of a neighboring town is considering a plan to have all teachers and students wear prescribed uniforms. The uniforms are of different colors, and the problem of what to wear, often up to a girl, would be solved. The uniform would serve economy, and operates against unwholesome vanity and envy. One would wear no better clothes than another. It would be a leveler and unifier. It would augur for equality in democracy. Besides, one could recognize teachers and stu-

Variety Store News

The Council of National Defense urges that as much Christmas shopping as possible be done during October and completed by November 1st. All gifts be confined to articles of usefulness—the only exception to this should be in the case of toys for children. Candy and cigars are dealers do not hire any extra help or lengthen the hours at Christmas time.

The government considers these restrictions necessary to carry on the war successfully and it is up to us all to co-operate with the government.

You can find a good stock of Christmas goods in this store already. I will enlarge it from week to week, and it is up to you to prove your patriotism by doing your Christmas shopping now.

Beginning next Saturday, I will have a special Doll Week. All dolls are American made. American in design, material and style. Prices run from 45 cents to $3. And let me tell you one thing: The prices during doll week are lower than they will be afterward.

Received some bargains in high grade porcelain dinnerware. Mayflower pattern, cups, saucers, dinner plates, bowls and platters, only. Bowls and platters are 35 cents each, cups and saucers and dinner plates, bought in equal quantities, $1.75 the set.

dents by their uniforms. On first thought, we believe it is a move in the right direction.

In the absence of payment the municipal authorities should at once take the streets and promptly draft after a uniform. The way streets should be better-served than the country roads. The business district should be paved to avoid distressing lumps.

Germany's proposal for an armistice for the purpose of negotiating peace terms will of course be refused. Germany sees the handwriting on the wall and hopes to save as much as possible from the ruin which it caused. It would now juggle over terms in the hope of advantage that would satisfy home people. The Kaiser is still boastful and arrogant, according to his latest note to his army and navy. The allies will stand for no diplomatic parley around a peace table. They will insist upon unconditional surrender from the German government, and then name terms of settlement. And such surrender is only a question of time; and not a very long time according to present indications.

If possible, Wayne county's non-resident land owners should be compelled to contribute for town in accordance with acreage here the same as other property holders. Non-resident owners share in the increased values and rich harvests yielded by this county, but seldom do anything to assist in the enterprise of local people. Non-residents are on hand to gather and bear elsewhere profits from the land, but as a rule are not heard from on a substantial expression of public spirit and progress is requested. Bond sales for instance, should as a matter of justice, draw from non-residents a showing of purchases in Wayne county in accordance with land holdings here.

The patriotic record of republican congressmen and republican newspapers is a complete refutation of the suggestion from some democratic politicians that loyalty to the government is better expressed in voting for democratic candidates. Republicans are manifestly as devoted to the cause of the government and as self-sacrificing in the prosecution of the war as the members of any other party. Any democratic politician who suggests that his party is more loyal than another, suggests division on a patriotic issue, and such division does not exist. If democratic candidates are not able to win votes without casting unfair reflection on an opposing party, they should be content to not win them.

According to reports from the battlefields of France, the war is proving effective in breaking down religious prejudice. Ministers are rendering patriotic service, rabbis and priest and protestant minister have laid aside church restrictions, and are working together for the material and spiritual good of men. It looks as though they would be able in the future to labor for one goal without begging over non-sensentials. It looks as though the regions of the world would evolve from the crucible of war in a condition better able to convince and lead with spirit of unity rather than to rorize and drive with material dogmas. It now looks as though it would be unnecessary to have a separate sect for the members of each religious belief.

The president's note to Germany refusing an armistice and asking for explanation is generally commended by the press as shifting the burden of responsibility on the enemy's shoulders. It is pointed out that the note leaves no chance for Germany to build up morale by telling its people that the United States will not consider peace until the swaggers of German militarism this is the way many would feel like framing the note. "Unconditional" surrounded here or in Berlin, now or later. But considering the likelihood of a trick on the part of Germany in the hope of going before its people with evidence to bolster up the claim of a defensive war, the president's diplomacy is no doubt the most effective sort. It is believed it will make it impossible for Germany to charge the allies with prolonging the war.

The Omaha Bee calls attention to the scarcity and high cost of apples in Norfolk, and intimates that if the apple crop in Wayne county were as great as the report indicated after it got fairly started, all our neighbors would have to do would be to reach over into this county and help themselves. The way Omaha newspapers have put Wayne county into the apple-growing class speaks volumes for their potency as advertising mediums. In this article we have decided to argue the editorial writer on the World-Herald apple wagon for Wayne county, and would invite the writer in order in barrel, car, or train lots, to write to him. We believe he will take the time to write you that he made the original report—strong—and that the Wayne county crop, thus a trifle overestimated, is now entirely exhausted, much to his regret. In addition, postmasters and others who have been receiving letters

THE BUSINESS RETROSPECT
"Sioux City Journal." The feature of the market last week was the decline in the price of corn which reached approximately 8 cents in November futures. The first bearish results followed the news of the collapse of Bulgaria. This was largely profit-taking and was followed by rallies of short duration and limited range, though November touched $1.32 shortly after Monday. Monday, a decline of 7-8 cents from Saturday's close. The general belief that the war was nearing an end influenced the market and caused further general declines in prices until Thursday the market was weak and by Friday the bears were in control. Bearish crop estimates added to the cause of the decline toward the end of the week.

The hog market, probably influenced by the bear movement in corn showed a decline during the latter part of the week. While the May market was firm, the days following showed a steady decline from the prices of the previous week. Monday's range of prices were $18.50 to $19.25, while those of Saturday were $18.00 to $18.50. Light demands by both shippers and packers during the week, with a slight increase in the receipts at the Sioux City yards, were minor influences in the price decline.

Bank clearings show a healthy, and in some instances an abnormal increase. New York was the only center in which there was a decline over that of the previous week. This was 85 per cent. Dallas showed an increase of 406 per cent. Kansas City 327 per cent. Omaha 427 per cent. and Minneapolis 56.6 per cent. Sioux City showed 181 per cent increase.

The price of cotton dropped $6 a bale following the announcement that the government would fix the price of this commodity. Hoarding and speculation have been responsible for the inflation which has sent the price of this commodity skyward to unprecedented heights were reached.

they go pelting for the Rhine. How does the pious kaiser feel, as he hears them drop their steel and strike the hardest kind of nation? Where is his good old German gott? When victories were coming thick, twas "Me und gott" that did the trick, and now that every written sheet brings Wilhelm tidings of defeat, he'll doubtless think that phrase is rot, and charge up all the blame to gott. Can any nation hope to win, that quotes Jehovah with a grin?

CORN PONE.

Some loyal woman from the south should teach us how to make corn pone, the kind one pushes in its mouth on hot farewells to grief and groan. All kinds of breads being made to take the place of wheat loaves; inventive women are arrayed around the nation's cooking stoves. I've eaten bread composed of rice, I've eaten bread made of bran, and some was punk and some was nice, and some was but an abominable piece of stuff they called corn bread the kind that helps to win the war, and it outweighed a bar of lead, and tasted like execution. Down in the south they make corn pone that soothes the soul, it is so nice; a pampered monarch on his throne might envy one who has a slice. I had southern pone to eat, I would not care a five-tooth comb, if all the mills quit grinding wheat until the speckled cows come home. Ason a northern woman cries, "I know just how that pone is made; I've been down south, and I am wise to all the secrets of the trade." And then she tries to show her skill, and makes corn bread that I would like to shovel into Kaiser Bill until his works went on a strike. We can't make some deserving fame, all honest northerners allow: I wish some loyal southern dame would travel round and show us how.

PERVERSER NATURE.

The mountains have no valued crops, that drought might put in wrong; and there the rainfall seldom stops, the whole blamed summer long. I spent the summer in the hills, hard by Long's famous peak, where creditors with ancient bills for me in vain would seek, and every afternoon it rained, no chance to rain was skipped; the thunder grumbled and clattered, the lightning flashed and zipped, no combed, gleamed as the steady stalks along the torrent's path; oh, there was nothing there but rocks, and rocks don't need a bath. And on the plains, not far away, where crops man needed grew, the fierce sun journeyed day by day, through cloudless skies of blue. The farmers looked for signs of rain, they looked, and looked, and sighed, and all their looking was in vain; their crops curled up and died, their crops curled up and died, alas, while in the mountain land, I Pluvius was cutting grass to beat the cornet band. The ways of nature both-er men, in this strange world of ours; the rocks are soaked and stand again, while cornfields part for showers.

VON HERTLING.

Von Hertling would berate us, he says, with sigh of pain. "Our ene-

UNCLE WALT The Poet-Philosopher

THE HERO.

For years I'd loafed around the town, without a thing to do, and held the steps and railings down, and begged a smoke or chew. With other gossip I was wont to argue by the day, and always liked that sort of stunn, although it didn't pay. But Crowder thundered, "Work or fight" and meant just what he said, and now I stagger home at night, and worn out go to bed. Each day I face a grievous task that makes my backbone ache, what greater sacrifice I ask, could, any mortal make? They miss me at the check-er games and on the bleachers cold, where all the idlers draped their frames in happy days of old. They miss me where they're playing pool, they miss me where they bow, for I am toiling like a mule, with sorrow in my soul. They miss me at the corner store when all the guffers meet, to thrash old topics o'er and o'er, as grangers thrash their wheat. They miss me at the village kirk when oyster feasts are held; for I arose and went to work when Crowder up and yelled. I wonder when the war is done if people will forget how I have labored in the sun and left a trail of sweat? Will pretty maids put leaves of oak on my heroic dome, or will I seem a foolish joke when soldier boys come home?

IN DAYS TO COME.

Wonder what we'll talk about, when peace is here once more, can we discuss our aches and gout, as in the days of yore? Of course the war will be discussed for long years, three or nine; but some day 'twill grow stale and must take in its glory. And when war talk has had its day, and has become a thing in the olden time? Can you sit down with torpid friend, your back against a wall, and talk for long, long hours and end, about a game of ball? And will you ever do you think, wear out your trusty throat denouncing some long winded gink who'd like to have your vote? I wonder what will be our theme when war's been dead so long, it seems much like an evil dream that made a night go wrong. It's hard to think of growing gentils in all the years to come, discussing pieuses or cents, or pups or chewing gum. But doubtless in a little while we'll sing the same old time, the same old themes will be in style, for we forget so soon! And you will spend a lot of time discussing gnats and fleas; and I will write a noble rhyme about the gracer's cheese.

WHERE IS HE?

The Germans bow or never, from they make a batch of every stunk; their morale is to pieces shot—where is the good old German gott? The term is Kaiser Bill's, not mine; I do not think it good or fine; it is irrelevant, profane, the output of an added brain; but if there is a German gott, who smiled on all the damage wrought, and would the German crumies allow, where is that good old gott right now? Perhaps he's tired of standing back of such a false and cruel pack, of Prussia's stained, dishonored flag, of Wilhelm's loud and endless brag, in which gott takes a second place. If Hohenzollern shows his face, The Kaiser's hosts are on the run, they're losing all the ground they won, as "Kamerad" they fleetly whine, as

Never Put Acid Into It

Don't monkey with Acid.
It won't strengthen your battery.
It won't ginger up your starter or brighten your lights.
It won't put fire in your spark.
But it does burn the life out of the plates—increases the need of repairs—makes your battery cost more and makes its life shorter.
If you think your battery needs acid, come in and get an expert opinion.
Ask for a copy of the booklet—"A Mark With a Meaning for You." It tells a vital story.

What Is the Telephone Company?

This company is not the cold creation of a statute, called a corporation—it is an organization of human beings.

The company is a partnership of brains, money, and muscle, united in the interests of the common good.

There are more than 130,000 men and women in this and other states who own Bell Telephone stock. More than half of the men employed by this company are stockholders. Employees are permitted to become stockholders by buying stock gradually out of their earnings.

Our employees and officers are a democracy of workers—trustees for those whose savings have made this company possible, and trustees for the public, whom the company serves.

All of us—employees, officers and the public, are guardians of each other's welfare, and shareholders in the prosperity our combined money and labor produce.

The success we have had, we believe, is because our business has been conducted along these lines, which we believe to be the policy any company must follow if it receives and merits the good will of the public.

...all hate us with hatred that's insane!" Of course we ought to love them, the Germans, rank and file, and Bill, who reigns above them, with eagles on his tile. And in the past we thought them an honest, kindly race: until they showed, dot rot them, our views were out of place. And even when they slaughtered like butchers ran amuck, till France and Belgium tottered beneath foul blows they struck, we said, "It is their prices who make of us a frightful business all are quince; but Germans are all right." Oh, we were slow believing how vile the Teuts could be; although there were weat-weeing like pirates through the sea, although with glee inhuman they plied the sword and dirk on babe and priest and woman, and gloried in the work. Since that war, Bill, its morning it's been the Prussian plan to view with jeers and scorn the laws of God and man. Oh, sure, we ought to love them, the whole blamed filthy nest, Red Bill, who rules above them, Van Hertling and the rest. Love them, who have been clothing with dead the land and seas?—But love must turn to loathing when facing brutes like these.

Can Now Eat and Sleep in Comfort
If troubled with indigestion or sleeplessness you should read what Miss Agnes Turner, Chicago, Ill., has to say: "Overwork, irregular meals and carelessness regarding the ordinary rules of health, gradually undermined it until last fall I became a wreck of my former self. I suffered from continual headache, was unable to digest my food, which seemed to lay as a dead weight on my stomach. Since that war had and my complexion became dark, yellow and muddy as I felt. Sleeplessness was added to my misery, and I would awake as usual. I went to sleep. I heard of Chamberlain's Tablets and found such relief after taking them that I kept up the treatment for nearly three months. They cleansed my stomach, invigorated my system, and since that time I can eat and sleep in comfort. I am today entirely well."—Adv.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

The Wayne Herald, October 13, 1898.

S. King of Bloomfield was the guest of J. D. King in this city, on Friday.

D. J. Cavanaugh and wife of Windsor went to Omaha, Monday, to see the exposition.

F. M. Skeen sold R. Phallen the Homer Shields 80-acre farm north of town. Consideration $2,800.

Mrs. Beswick and family left for Hartington Monday morning where Mr. Beswick has been for some time.

Poultry market October 13, 1898: spring chickens, 42c per lb.; old hens, 4c per lb.; old roosters, 2c per lb.

The Wayne Corn Palace band was royally treated by the citizens of Sioux City during the carnival, a fact that will ever be remembered by the boys who have become very much attached to Sioux City and her people.

Tuesday, October 11, 1898, at the home of the bride's parents in this city, occurred the wedding of Mr. Ralph Grier of Blunt, S. D., and Miss Lena Hitchcock of Wayne.

Rev. Thomas Dittell of the M. church performing the ceremony. On Saturday afternoon Mrs. W. O. Gamble entertained friends in honor of Mrs. Thos. Vachob. At six o'clock a very pretty dinner was served, the hostess being assisted by her daughter, Anna, and Mrs. Elgerott. The guests were Mrs. Frances Wachob, N. Chace, Tucker, Wright, Lev, J. Wheeler, Davies, Fisher, Knox, Montgomery, Phil and Bennett.

There is no need of becoming alarmed on account of the few cases of diphtheria that have appeared in the city. They are of a very mild form and due precaution has been taken to prevent the spread of the disease. Only five cases have developed: Two at Mr. Flings, the little daughter of Robt Mellor, and the little sons of A. A. Welch and T. W. Moran. These residences have been quarantined. There need be little fear of the appearance of any more cases.

From Ponca Journal, October 12, 1883.

It is a great pity that the mail route has been changed which used to run from this place to Martinsburg and from thence to South-creek, Hawkeye Spring-bank and on to Wakefield. Before the discontinuation of these routes letters and papers for these places placed in the post office in the morning were reasonably sure of getting to their destination the same day. Now, however, the case is different. The mail goes only to Martinsburg and mail matter for Spring-bank, Hawkeye and South-creek goes on a long and round about journey. Thus, a letter for Spring-bank rides on the east-down-as far as Coburn Junction in Dakota county. It there changes cars and ambles along on the other road until it reaches the town of Hubbard. At that place the letter is placed in the mail bag destined for Spring-bank. Twice per week this mail bag starts out from Hubbard and moves towards Spring-bank. If fortune in all respects favors the letter it will get to Spring-bank in three days after it leaves Ponca. Very often the journey occupies a week. The distance from Ponca by the old route to Spring-bank is some 12 or 13 miles. The new route is four or five times that distance. The present arrangement is very inconvenient for the citizens in the southern part of the county; in fact, it is, as we are informed, a great nuisance.

VOLUNTEER, SPECIAL CALL.

WAKEFIELD BOYS INJURED.
Wakefield, Neb., Oct. 9.—Ward came to Wakefield that three Wakefield boys had been wounded in France. Tipton Emmons had been heavily gassed, Arrog Tietgen severely wounded and Chester Jensen wounded.

Bronchial Trouble.
Mrs. A. E. Sidenberder, Rockfield, Ind., states:—"For an attack of bronchial trouble which usually assails me in the spring, I find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the only thing that gives me relief. After using it for a few days all signs of bronchial trouble disappear."—Ady.

The bride wore a white dress of silk and georgette crepe, and carried a bouquet of white roses. A wedding dinner was served at the ceremony. Table decorations were in patriotic colors. #### MEETING IN WAKEFIELD TUESDAY RESULTS IN ORGANIZATION.

At a meeting of the representatives of the associations represented in the United War Work campaign held in Wakefield last Tuesday, the Wayne directors were appointed as follows: A. R. Davis for the Y. M. C. A., Miss Rachel M. Fairchild for the Y. W. C. A., John Shannon for the National Catholic War Council, Dr. C. T. Ingham for the War Camp Community League, Mrs. C. A. Chace for the American Library association. These directors will constitute a Wayne County board, which organized Tuesday to prosecute the campaign for funds. Wayne county's quota is $19,903. Judging from past experience, Wayne will go grandly over the top when the big drive comes.

OCTOBER PRICE FOR HOGS.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 9.—Eighteen dollars, fifty cents per hundred, Chicago basis, is a fair price for hogs marketed in October, according to announcement of Gordon W. Wattle, federal food administrator for Nebraska. This price is made to cover hogs farrowed after the announcement made last fall by the food administration that an average of price of thirteen times the value of the corn fed would be a fair price. But do not expect that the set price will maintain from day to day, says Mr. Wattle. "But the average should be maintained at that figure during the month. The price will fluctuate according to the receipts on the market and also according to the grade of the hogs. But at the end of each month the Chicago basis should be the figure for the average purchases. The food administration also announces that it will attempt to maintain a minimum of not less than $15.50 per hundred as long as the war lasts. Naturally the prices will in the main be much greater."

NO-PROGERMAN PARTY.

Sioux City Journal. The determination of all the people to win the war expeditiously and successfully should not be divided at this time by any partisan political campaign. But it should be understood that any attempts to create the impression that one of the two great political parties of this country is pro-German is dangerous. The German emperor and his counselors are too busy just now to give much attention to politics, yet Dr. Davis, the American dentist who was on intimate terms with the emperor states that he kept close watch over politics in the United States and understood the policies for which each party stood. To indicate that the election of a candidate of any party would be a success for the German cause is to send abroad the idea that the American people are divided on the prosecution of the war. Instead, it must be understood there is no party division on this question. It would be far more convincing to the emperor if he were informed that no matter which party won in the elections there would be no change in the nation's course towards Germany in the war; that the course is national not partisan. Emperor William should know that a jury drawn from either the democratic or republican party or from both parties would pass the death sentence on him with equal unanimity.

The danger lies in the possibility of a reconstruction of the import declarations that the success of one party or the other is in favor of against the prosecution of the war. The history of the present congress has abundantly demonstrated the support of every war measure by the minority party. Those whom the president has opposed for rejection on grounds of un-Americanism belong to both parties. Germanism has been a personal, not party, determination of the emperor. Election of candidates of one party will give encouragement to the kaiser merely because of the party affiliation of such candidates. It is not only casting aspersions of disloyalty upon nearly one half of the electorate of the nation, but is dangerously misrepresenting American patriotism and sentiment abroad.

sufficient seed corn to plant two crops. This would insure a crop of 400 but for the following in case of failure. Each farmer was to be listed as to whether or not he had gathered his seed corn, and it was hoped that the men growers would respond without exception. The Iowa plan was supported by the federal and state governments, and was endorsed by all organizations interested in food production.

Corn Diseases Studied.

Investigations of the root, stalk, and ear rots of corn, started last spring by the United States department of agriculture in cooperation with the Purdue University agricultural experiment station, in Indiana, have resulted thus far in a survey which shows that the root rots are present in all of the corn-growing states and that the careful selection of disease-free seed is an important means of combating this and the other rots. The use of infected seed is responsible for the introduction of the diseases. Their chief effects noted readily are blighted plants, spindling stalks, and stalks with the ears either partially formed or completely rotted, resulting in barrenness. Sweet corn, it has been found, seems to be more subject to these rots than field corn, and especial care should be given in a selection and care of seed.

Wage War on Barbary.

The Nebraska State Council of Defense has issued a report to the effect that all common barbary, which harbors rust and causes its spread to wheat and other cereals, must be removed from the state. The order states that "summary action" will follow on the heels of all cases of common rust springing from the council made an appeal to the public to remove the offending bushes, but a few individuals did not put much faith in the relationship of the barbary rust and that of wheat. Such negligence as a result of the order, will no doubt realize that the people of Nebraska are in earnest about this barbary business and prefer to grow wheat. If any type of ornamental shrub is desired, it is advised by the United States department of Agriculture that Japanese barbary, which does not harbor wheat rust, be planted. Other wheat-growing states are "on the job" in the campaign to eradicate the barbary. The states of Montana and Wyoming have both decided that their agricultural future will be brighter if the common barbary is excluded, and have issued guarantees to that effect. In Colorado, the amended pest law gives all the legal authority necessary to compel owners to eradicate the bushes, and the state is now having legislative power to support

HELP IS SCARCE

Let Us Show You One of Our Corn Pickers

Let us show you a way to get around the labor question. One way is to invest in modern labor-saving machinery, for instance, a corn picker. Yes, a McCormick field picker will solve the corn husking question cheaper and better-by far, than could be done by human hands, all of which we can prove to you.

FIRST—Every draft makes labor scarcer, therefore you must use more modern machinery in order to get on producing, and thereby help win the war and at the same time help gather your harvest. So why hunt-and-worry looking for some one to help gather your corn when a McCormick field picker will gather it for you in a surprising short time with less expense and its all-arms on the job. With a little care, the McCormick picker will last for years. Gets all the corn on the stalks; leaves most of husks on stalks; takes what little shelled corn there is and puts it in the wagon with the ears.

SECOND—Stop and figure for instance you had 160 acres of corn yielding on an average, 35 bushels per acre, a total of 5,600 bushels. At 8 cents per bushel would amount to $448 and board for men, while a McCormick picker would cost you $450 delivered to you at your place and business.

THIRD—McCormick pickers are built to last. All main bearings are roller bearings which mean long life and also a light draft machine. Five horses will handle it any where. It is backed up by the International Harvester company, which means service.

The Meadows Farm Elevator

The Elevator That Pays Its Way

Don't Scoop

Handle Your Grain With a Meadows Elevator

A Meadows elevator will make more money for you than any other grain elevator because it is built to satisfy and to meet your demands. In building cribs, it is the foundation, roofing, and flooring that costs you the most money. If you use a scoop or an inferior elevator you have to build low cribs, but if you use a Meadows elevator you can build one crib for all of your grain, both ear corn and small grain. You thereby save the cost of one or two foundations, floors, and roofs. This is another way in which the Meadows elevator makes money for you. With large cribs in which to store your grain, you do not need to sell direct from the field, but can hold for the best prices. By holding your grain for favorable prices, you may times make the price of both elevator and a crib. Large cribs for storing grain are made practical by installing Meadows elevators. Another big saving is in repairs. You will need very few of them for Meadows elevators. In many large factories the repair end of the business is one of the most profitable parts, but, frankly, we will say that if we had to depend on the repairs we sell for profits, we would go broke. A Meadows grain elevator will not be an expense; it will be one of the best investments you have ever made.

Don't lag behind! Don't work at a disadvantage! Don't depend on muscle to do the work that the elevator will do better, quicker and cheaper.

Muscle-Saving Machinery

In these days when work is plenty and labor is scarce and high, the "hired man" problem looms up like a specter on the busy farmer's horizon. The farmer who provides himself with muscle-saving machinery not only gets the pick-of-men, but he cuts the corners of cost and time and makes more net profit on his crops than his neighbors who farm "by hand." Foremost among the modern inventions for saving time, money and muscle is the Sandwick Farm elevator—a machine that relieves farm help of the laborious, muscle-straining, back-breaking work of unloading corn and small grain from wagons to granaries, bins and freight cars. This work comes at the climax of crop-gathering, when nerves and muscles are already strained to the breaking point, and when every minute counts. Probably as hard work as there is on the farm is where you, your family or hired hands have to shovel the corn into the crib. It means a constant bending, pushing and raising that tires the back and arms and makes every muscle of the body ache. It is exhausting, laborious drudgery for even the strongest men. It is a job nobody likes and that most hired men despise. Yet such is the need of help and haste at corn husking time that even the young boys are forced to do this work that is almost to much for men.
