MAKER FARMERS DIG-UP.
Hastings, Neb., Nov. 7.—A self appointed band of 300 representative citizens of this county, late this afternoon surrounded Henry Lammer, an alleged Liberty loan slacker. Following threats of violence which were made late this afternoon, Lammer was taken to the headquarters of the Liberty loan committee, where a pledge of $5,000 was made by him. Six hundred bonds under pressure.

The Lammer are reported to be among the wealthy farmers of Cedar county, Neb. Henry Lammer, when solicited during the fourth loan drive, refused to subscribe to the bond. He was subsequently arrested by the county sheriff and taken with the county council of defense, he issued instructions to a bank to secure for him bonds to the sum of $5,000, the amount of his assessment.

Feeling has been high in Cedar county against the brothers. The case proved that the war was brought a large crowd on the streets and the apprehensive Henry Lammer evaded the bond.

Both men, born in the United States, inherited a large estate from their father, now deceased, who was born in Germany. Sixteen per cent of land are owned by the two men, who are stock raisers.

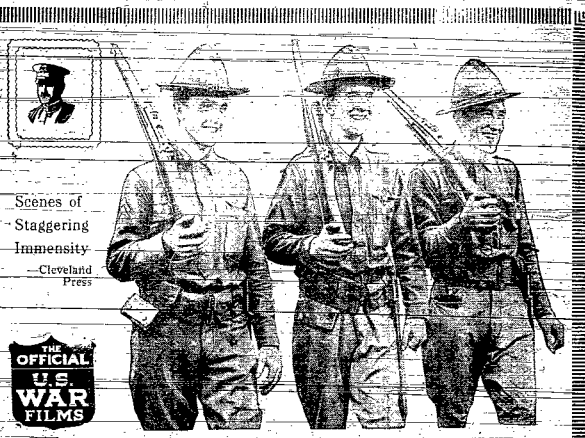

Henry Lammer, who is 35 years old, has two sons who are in the military service in the contingent leaving Hastings next week.

NEBRASKA GROWN SPUDS

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 13.—Pooled carlot purchases of Nebraska grown and graded potatoes are urged by Gaudin W. Wattles, federal food administrator for Nebraska.

Mr. Wattles is making this recommendation through the county food administrators of Nebraska and is asking them to urge upon the retailers of their counties these pooled purchases.

Such purchases, says Wattles, will decrease the cost of potatoes and should enable the consumer to buy at less cost. Retailers of the cities and towns of the state are urged to get together and buy Nebraska potatoes and to divide them after shipment.

Investigations by Wattles developed the fact that a large part of the cost of potatoes to the consumer comes from duplicate and unnecessary transportation and from additional expense in handling small shipments. By the pooled carlot purchases these items will be practically eliminated.

This recommendation of Wattles is a part of his campaign to get potatoes to the consumer at less cost than formerly. It also guarantees the quality of Nebraska potatoes, and requests Nebraska distributors to head their head that the ally is ready to buy and distribute the Nebraska need of success?

TEACHERS' CONVENTION.

At a recent meeting of the executive committee of the Nebraska state teachers' association it was decided to hold the annual meeting in Omaha, December 26-28, with Hotel Rome as headquarters. The meeting was to have been held November 6-8, but was postponed on account of the epidemic. It was thought advisable to hold the meeting during holiday week so boards of education would not need 160 grant leaves of absence to teachers while school was in session. Practically the same program as arranged for the November meeting will be carried out, including the Stanley-Thibault entertainment which will be tendered the teachers by the bureau of publicity.

SHORT ON HELP.

We are short on help, so have your Christmas photos made early. Have them made now. If you wait until December, we will not be able to finish them all. Help us, and save yourself a disappointment. Your friends can buy anything you can give them, except your photograph.—Craven Studio. 0174d

THE FLEMING TRIO

Artists of National Reputation

JONES BOOK AND MUSIC STORE will present Mme. Shank, the gifted mezzo soprano, and the Fleming Trio in a recital at the opera house on Saturday, November 16 at 8 p. m.

Mme. Shank, who was formerly associated with Henry W. Savage in his operatic work and was one of his most popular prima donnas, has subsequently sung in our most prominent church choirs and for years has organized and directed great choruses and musical spectacles. Her wide experience has given her a sense of dramatic and musical values and a knowledge of stagecraft that is unerring.

Mme. Shank has had the advantage of the best musical training which this country and Europe affords, having had a course in the Chicago Musical College and also been a pupil of Maestro Ciccio Sebastiani and Maestro Giovanni Roderi, of the Conservatory of Naples, Italy.

The fact that Mme. Shank is to appear with the Fleming Trio, lends added interest to the event.

The Fleming Trio is composed of Miss Marie Fleming, piano, Miss Florence Fleming, cello, and Miss Ethel Fleming, violin.

They are not only native Americans, but their education and training, musically and otherwise, has been in America. They are, therefore, thoroughly typical of our own country and like many of the prominent concert musicians before the public today, are a wonderful example for their age, of what can be accomplished artistically and musically in our native land.

Each member is an artist doing individual work of high order. Their ensemble is unexcelled and together they form a delightful combination of musical talent.

Their repertoire includes all the Standard Trios, arrangements and a wide variety of solos from the different periods and schools of composition, all of which has been acquired through diligent study with the best teachers.

Mme. Shank and The Fleming Trio

Mme. Shank has received many flattering criticisms of her work. At a recent inaugural at Des Moines, the Register says: "To say that she delighted the great audience does not express it. She both delighted and charmed her hearers by her sweet voice and her charming personality. She had the wisdom to make the right selections. Her first number was, 'Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean.' In response to calls, she sang 'Auld Lang Syne,' 'Home Sweet Home' and 'Iowa Beautiful Land.' She had the members standing on their feet in enthusiasm. All were glad that Senator Gliffhard moved that a vote of thanks be spread upon the records of the joint convention. If Mrs. Shank had been nominated she could have been elected to anything short of United States senator."

Percy Hammond, noted critic for the Chicago Tribune says of one of her operatic successes: "Mme. Shank is pictorial as Natalie, and sings the songs of that role more skillfully than they were sung here by her predecessors."

The Musical Courier says: "Her voice has a special individuality and a call all its own.—She sings good literature, enunciates and pronounces properly—as she must do before educators—is a musician, and has a pleasing personality."

The Fleming Trio were featured at the New York Hippodrome the past season for seventeen consecutive weeks and have also appeared at the following noted places, along with big artists of more advanced years, Metropolitan opera house, Manhattan opera house, Shubert, Hudson, and Globe theatres.

The New York Morning Telegraph says of their New York Hippodrome appearances: "The Fleming Trio, Miss Marie Katherine Fleming, Miss Ethel Georgette Fleming, Miss Florence Fleming, proved the greatest act in their music arranged for cello, violin and piano. Each of the young ladies displayed a quiet poise and a self contained ability that seemed little short of astonishing in girls of such comparatively young age. The fact that they played on Saturday evening at a reception given at the home of Mrs. Wm. K. Vanderbilt, Jr. in honor of the ambassador to Germany, James W. Gerard, is an added proof of their capabilities."

The Bridgeport, Conn., Post, says of the Vanderbilt recital: "The Fleming Trio, well known in New York City, as instrumentalists in exclusive circles, are artists of rare training and an excellent technique. Miss Marie, pianist, Miss Ethel, violinist, and Miss Florence, cellist, with lovely tone coloring and exquisite ensemble work, played 'Estes,' by Gamme, 'Rosary,' by Nevin and the 'Torch Dance' from Henry the 8th, Miss Florence in cello numbers showed wonderful sustained tones in the 'St. Sams,' composition. The Trio played on Saturday evening for Mrs. Wm. K. Vanderbilt, when James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany was the guest of honor."

The Fleming Trio have also played for Navy Y. M. C. A. giving over fifty concerts this last season in the Brooklyn Navy Yard, war ships, transport ships, receiving ships, etc.

They have played for the National War Work Council giving over twenty-five concerts at Bedlow's Island, Governor's Island, Camp Mills, Mingoia and other camps, entertaining over one hundred thousand soldiers, sailors, and officers, thereby doing their bit for Uncle Sam. They have also played for a number of Red Cross concerts in New York, New Jersey and other states.

The recital at which Mme. Shank will appear will be unique in several particulars, for she will perform the hitherto unknown feat of singing a duet with herself. This is possible only because of Thomas A. Edison's New Musical Art—Mme.'s Re-Creation. Mr. Edison has perfected a musical instrument which actually re-creates musical, vocal and instrumental, with such fidelity to nature that the Re-Creation cannot be distinguished from the original. Mme. Shank will illustrate this by singing in direct comparison with her own re-created voice, so that two Mme. Shanks will be heard.

Music lovers should derive solid satisfaction from the program that will be rendered by Mme. Shank and the Fleming Trio. The Fleming Trio are perhaps no less popular. They are artists of unusual ability and delightful personality and will receive a hearty welcome.

Best authorities say there will be further advances, especially on tea, coffee, and spices, and we should not look for declines on general food lines for a year or possibly two. In war or peace, people assume the Basket Store always has a store of bargains. Here they are for

CHASE & SANBORN'S

At the Old Prices "SEAL BRAND" COFFEE

When you buy a can of coffee with a Chase and Sanborn label on the outside, you are absolutely certain of getting your money's worth. For 30c, 45c, or 50c, they give you the best coffee it is possible to produce at the price. So 30c, 40c or 50c of a square deal reputation is behind every package. We get this coffee fresh every week and advise our customers to buy their coffee as they use it from week to week, because all coffee loses one-third of its strength when it has been roasted over 30 days. Buying coffee in 10, 15 or 25-lb. lots is one-third waste for the average family.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

Early days from the Wayne Herald, November 17, 1898:

Mrs. S. B. Russell arrived home from a business trip to Omaha. Her son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Will Richardson, November 13.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. C. Wrightman, November 13, 1898.

Miss Nieman is visiting in Wayne with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. G. Nieman.

Miss C. M. White attended the national W. C. T. U. convention held in St. Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. Galusha of Monroe, Wis., visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Miller.

Mrs. Haveret Laughlin went to Fremont, Mo., to see her mother who was seriously sick.

A large gathering attended the laying of the corner stone of the new Presbyterian church.

James Wachob arrived here from Alliance City, Tenn., to visit his brother-in-law, N. Chace.

The residence of Judge Hunter, T. W. Moran and E. E. Reed were quarantined for diphtheria.

Messias Winters and Hammond entertained a large number of friends two evenings of the past week.

Harvey F. W. Burdick and Dr. H. G. Leisenring were appointed commissioners of insanity by the court.

The 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Moran died November 11, from diphtherial croup.

Herman Midder, James Peterson and Charles Johnson gave a turkey and oyster supper to a number of friends.

Messias Bressler, Welch, Fucker, Williams and Dan Harrington were guests of Mrs. J. D. Haskell at Wakefield, at a pleasant afternoon party.

Miss Beatha Armstrong has completed arrangements for holding a dancing party during the winter. The first of the series of ten lessons will be given in the opera house.

William Baumgardner and family returned from a business trip to Omaha to make their home. Mr. Baumgardner purchased the farm which adjoins to E. J. Wagner's south of town.

F. M. Sreen purchased the dwelling on the west side of Frank Leuk's residence property and moved it to his lots between the court house and opera house. An addition of four rooms will be built.

From Ponca Journal, November 16, 1898:

The paper city of Curlew, which made so much excitement in the county twenty years ago, was located about three miles from the new town of Harrington. It is certain that Harrington will not follow in the footsteps of its landed but fraudulent predecessor.

The bill of extending the Ponca line of railroad, has been revived. It is reported that the extension will be made in the spring, and that it will be by the way of the Axtell valley, passing through New Castle on the route. This extension will be a great benefit to the western part of the county.

On Thursday evening of last week, the first passenger train ran into the new town of Harrington, Cedar county. Trains were to run regularly thereafter, leaving Harrington at 7 o'clock in the morning and arriving at Sioux City at noon, and returning in the afternoon, getting to Harrington at 7 o'clock in the evening. Harrington has now about 300 inhabitants, and is still growing.

Of the towns of Dixon county, Ponca is the largest. It has 1,200 inhabitants, and is indeed a place of wonderful prosperity. It is the market town for an immense territory. It is the center of all the people who throng the streets and do the great business of the merchants. Doubtless the building up of Hartington will cut off some of the trade which has heretofore come to Ponca from Cedar county. But what it loses by Harrington, it will doubly make up by the great increase of settlers in its own neighborhood. Ponca has grown more this season than before in three years, and its business has increased in proportion to its growth. In the southern part of the county the town of Wakefield also has made a splendid market. Less than three years ago there were now 600 inhabitants, and in its rush and animation resembles a large city instead of a village on the frontier.

CONCORD NEWS

C. R. Borg made a business trip to Omaha last week.

Marion O'Brien was a Wakefield passenger last Tuesday.

Last Tuesday Judge Koehl received a telegram announcing that his son, Louie, had lost his life on the battlefields of France. Mr. and Mrs. Koehl have the hearty sympathy of the entire community.

Word has been received that John Doyle, formerly of this place, now of Fort, Neb., died at his home on October 26 of influenza. His wife was Miss Ellen Johnson, daughter of Mac Johnson of Concord. She was 50 years old and left no mourners.

Last Sunday afternoon a meeting was held in Concord in the interest of the United War work committee. The meeting was addressed by Rev. C. W. Livers of Allen who in a very forcible manner presented the needs of the work. His address was brief and attentive audience.

Can an Old Battery be Repaired?

That depends:

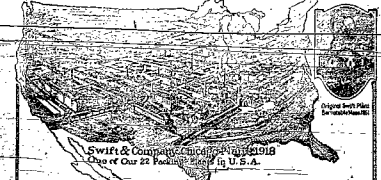

- on how old it is
- on how well you've taken care of it
- on how soon you let the Willard expert locate the trouble and correct the fault.

Nobody can repair a battery until he finds the trouble, and nobody can correct a big fault as easily as he can a little one.

If you suspect any little battery troubles you'd better drive around and let us find them. Ask for the booklet "A Mark with a Meaning for You."

Swift & Company
Has Not "Jest Grown"

Swift & Company, in fifty years of well ordered growth, has become one of the great national services because it has learned to do something for the American people which they needed to have done for them, in the way in which they preferred to have it done.

It has met each successive demand, in the changing conditions of national life, by getting good meat to increasing millions effectively, efficiently, economically, and expeditiously.

The Swift & Company packing plants, refrigerator cars, car routes, branch houses, organization, and personnel of today are the practical solutions, born of practical experience, to the food problems of half a century.

Because of all these elements working in correlation and union, Swift & Company is able to supply more and better meat to more people than would have been possible otherwise, at a net profit per pound of meat so low (a fraction of a cent) that the consumer price is practically unaffected.

Strip away any portion of this vast, smooth-running human machine, and you make a large part of the meat supply uncertain, lose the benefit of half a century of fruitful experience, and scatter the intelligent energies of men who have devoted a life work toward meeting the needs of a nation in one vital field.

The booklet of preceding chapters in this story of the packing industry will be mailed to you upon request to Swift & Company, Union Stock Yards, Chicago, Illinois.

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher

DISORGANIZED

The world is upset, and out of jumble system has been made and the goods we ordered do not come, and never will be delivered— but this is the reason—there is no order and tear it, until it is found, just simply grin and bear it. The price of everything is high, and the outlook is distressing, the best you can do is to wait, and all our needs are pressing— Perhaps your neighbor has a groan, but you should never share it, rise smiling from your dewy couch, and simply grin and bear it. The stores are full of awkward ideas, and all their stocks are useless—the heavy-handed farmer works repairing clocks and watches, the outside of their brother jobs, and their all declaim in front of the repine and hand out sobs; just wink and grin and bear it. We all are doing what we can to keep the some-gets-burnings—and grappings wash pot and pan, and uncle does the churning; unwonted tasks upon us tossed, we take the yell, and wear it, and if our efforts seem a frost, why, comrade, grin and bear it.

THE UNHAPPY LAND.

Most workers pull down princely wages, reward of honest sows; the milk in the hands, and the old ones must take what they can get. The man who comes to do his churning draws many honest a rise, and an old moments he is roaring, because of meager pay. At times I hire a learned mechanic to tinker round my old machine, and the price is high, and gives my soul a pain. The butcher, grocer, and the baker have hiked their prices—high, and I'm afraid the undertaker will do the same when I die. On everything the price is higher, except on deathless poems, and hard cash hardly finds a buyer for products of their domes. My wife declares she needs a bonnet, she's worn her lid three years, and it is now a thing of smiles and tears; and it fetches in same fluid, a roll of good long grain, you'll have a better price than I can get for the market place. I flout it, among the shopping gens, but not at home seems to count for more than a wash-water. They've raised the price on hens and hares, so not all the things in the grow, but carrying and carrying, the horse won't bring ten cents a horse.

THE WAR LORD.

The war lords had had their day, he flaked his clearing spear; he by the nations used to say, "a most imposing neighbor. He's talked of wounds and death and scars, until our hearts aching doubled; he certainly looks much like Mars with Vulcan intermingled. He poses as the Ancient Hun, Attila, bold and haughty; of course he means to kill in this—he's merely rather dour. In times of peace the nations glare and at Midland and his passings; his war lords still work as hard as the solemn Titus, disinclined. And while the nations grined and smirked, and though themselves in clover, the Kaiser and his cohorts worked to put their war graft over. They put it over, good and strong, they caught the long nap, and since times, the years spring up as since Bill began the scuffling. It's easy now for us to say, "We've learned our lesson funny and never again can royal say spring-stuff so wild and wooly." Alas, but we forget so soon, as Giovanni said, "I'm warning you, a corn that hurts at noon remembered in the gloaming." We'll have long years of peace again, we're at the peace, for if any war lord's strutting them for just work and chortle?

GOOD FOR US.

The rain is falling as I write, the cold November rain; it is a black and cheerless night, and tomatos on my fire roof night, and make a noise nearby. The rain is pelting, rattling, down, I hear it splash and beat; and I'm unwise to wear a town and read my spangled dressing gown—this rain will help the wheat. All things unpleasant do us good, so the doctor says, instead of using sticks for food, we ought to have a view of wood, or just some prairie hay. To tetter in a chair and rock is pleasant, I must say, but all the doctors come and knock and say, we ought to go and walk a hundred miles a day. If there is something we despise, that is the stuff we need; sometimes I think that life is a fake, a rather very jest; my spirit feels a throb, an ache, for everything I ought to take is something I don't want. I know I've seen a man from the U. S. who water gone to work, it grieves my heart, it makes me sure and, "stare" I've "gastly" been. I know it, what do we know

WHAT'S THE USE.

The man in power make sad mistakes, and we can rant about their mistakes until the well known wrinkles on their face, but what's the use? The government, in awkward hours, is largely in red tape, and we can kick ourselves with crepe, but what's the use? Why not assume that we are to do things that the best he can? We can adopt the other plan, but what's the use? A lion and things were left undone, in our eyes, we've wasted our money, and we can snort around like fun, but what's the use? Our air-ship program fell, again, and we're held up this and that, and we can lecture through a hat, but what's the use? With Bill's vim we're getting there, our contrails hanging in the air; we still may wear the brow of care, but what's the use? We shook off all our pure triumphs and went about our work; we still may talk of soap and broth, but what's the use? We can't even get our bread, and our old eggs. Hunder seemed the worst, and into tears we still may burst, but what's the use? There are a million reasons why we ought to join a brass egg, but what's the use? Our every thought and every word should be uttered with gratitude, in doubts and fears we may be stewed, but what's the use?

NOVEMBER.

November is here, with landscapes dear, and winds that chill the human gland; they seem to sigh, as they sigh, "Clearing meagre, but winter's hizzard!" The trees are bare, as in despair, before the winds they weep and utter; the skies are bleak and often leak a bit of clear denatured water. November is here; the autumn year is growing sickly, faint and sticky; he'll cash his checks and join the wrecks in time, a world famous beyond quickly. Thus years roll on; they come, they're grater, they seem to linger for a second; they come and grin, and they're all in before their curves are fairly reckoned. A year quite new looms up in view, a year that's held his lineage clear; so full of pop and his long and clever, I'd think that he would his forever. But while you look he shrinks, gazook! The bloom is from his cheek departed; he sinks grown lean, and he's seen a gutter bent and broken-hearted. November's here, the birds are set, the flowers, indoors, are all dried, the birds are gone from hedge and lawn, the seasons' flies have all been swatted. The sheep, the fat, much talker, too much lying; Thanksgiving Day, not far away, looms up as something worth awaiting.

In accordance with the wishes of the government, the Variety Store has displayed toys and holiday goods earlier than in former years. Toys are moving very freely already, and considering the fact that certain lines of toys are very limited in quantity, it would be advisable not to delay toy purchases very much longer. The toy purchases of the Variety Store are about all in now, the goods are on display and you can have the pick of an ample line of Dolls, Games, and Toys of all kinds. But one thing is sure, the lines will be broken earlier this year than in former years.

Buy Your Toys Early Buy Them Now

If you desire, I will stock up your purchases ahead for you and hold them until you want the goods.

I have in stock 15 100-PIECE DINNER SETS of different patterns, ranging in price from $18.50 to $28.50. If there is any thing a woman takes pride in, it is her dinnerware, and no matter what else is amiss, when visitors come, she will certainly apologize for a broken or patched-up dinner set. The sets in stock now are all of the very latest patterns, good decorated with lattice, conventional, or flowered borders; up-to-date, pleasing, and such that any woman can be proud of. If interested, I come in and look them over. Pick out the one you like best. I'll give "him" the tip, and he might remember it when he looks around for a Christmas present for you.

There is one other line I think I can take pride in showing to my customers and that line is CHINA. I never had a better and bigger stock of Christmas China than this year in spite of a decided shortage of this class of goods. China is a popular line used for gift purposes. It will be more so this year, because it is not only a useful, but on account of the scarcity, it will be a somewhat exclusive and more appreciated present. The prices of China at the Variety Store are absolutely the same this year as last year, because by far the largest part of my China was bought and intended for sale for last year's Christmas season, but did not arrive until late last summer.
