CARD OF THANKS.
We wish to express our heartfelt gratitude to the many kind friends who extended sympathy and assistance during our late bereavement in the death of Miss Agnes Spitzberger. Mrs. William Spitzberger and Family.

DESERTION IS CHARGE.
Hartington Herald. A big husky guard from Camp Devins, who looked admirably fitted for the part, arrived last Saturday to take Ed Dickes, the deserter back. He remained in the city over Sunday, and the two left Monday morning, being accompanied as far as Sioux City by Chief of Police Peare.

The guard told people here that this was the third time he had been after Ed Dickes. He said that Ed was making good as a soldier, and that he was well liked until he got married, and that after that, he went to pieces. He said he married some girl in New Jersey. He denied that Ed was a sergeant, as he claimed to be. He said that the regiment had been very kindly dealt with on previous occasions, but that this time he would probably receive more severe punishment.

Ed Dickes himself seemed to be very little concerned about the situation, and to still think that his sentence will be a light one.

CEDAR COUNTY BOYS.
Randolph Times: Two more Cedar county boys, both from near Hartington, gave their lives as soldiers of the United States. Bernard Hortolosa, a member of a machine gun company in the 16th infantry, was killed in action October 9. His parents live near Hartington, and he enlisted the week following the outbreak of the war. He was injured in May during an action again September 25. The other young soldier was Albert Weiger who died October 22. He was a member of the 88th Central Postal Directory and was in the Cedar county draft of last May. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Weiger.

C. T. KOUNTZE NEW WAR SAVINGS HEAD.
C. T. Kountze, vice-president of the First National Bank of Omaha has been appointed director of war savings for the state of Nebraska, taking the place of Ward M. Burgess who was called to Washington some months ago by Mr. McAdoo to become head of the national war savings committee.

Mr. Kountze has been serving as acting director of War Savings for Nebraska since April.

John Boyles has been appointed vice-director and Lloyd H. Mattson public director for the state. C. E. Wray remains as executive secretary.

The people of Nebraska have supported this war activity more enthusiastically and with better results than it has been supported in any other state in the union, and the plans adopted by Mr. Burgess early in the campaign have been carried out with unusual success by the executive committee and the county chairman for war savings and first directors of war savings societies of all the counties in the state.

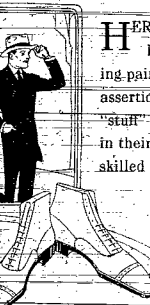

The so-called "Nebraska plan" for the sale of war savings stamps proved so successful in Nebraska that it was afterwards adopted in all of the remaining states west to Washington primarily for the purpose of putting over this plan in the other states. The work proved so successful that it was the result of Mr. McAdoo he remained in Washington and took over the direction of the work throughout the country.

Gov. C. K. Egan has been appointed director here, is also rendering valuable assistance at Washington.

The executive committee urgently desires that the purchase of war savings stamps be continued both by direct purchase and through societies. We have an immense army in Europe and an enormous expenditure for the next year, and the savings made through the purchase of war savings stamps are a material factor in raising the necessary funds for the government. The executive committee strongly urges our people to continue the purchase of stamps and also request the aid of the State Board of War Savings except through a direct purchase.

Beyond the Shadow of a Doubt

Acute cases are often relieved by CHIROPRACTIC SPINAL ADJUSTMENTS in one or two adjustments. In cases of long standing, the vertebrae have often changed by long continued pressure and time is required to get them back to normal condition and to restore the freedom of the nerves. That this can be done has been proved beyond a shadow of a doubt in ninety per cent of the cases adjusted. If you are sick go to your chiropractor and have him take off the pressure and you will be well again. Get right and stay right.

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher

THE KRONPRINZ

His voice for war was always lifted, as on his futile course he tried. He promised men: "When I am Kaiser, in war I'll be the early riser." He visioned conquest on the morrow, and gave no thought to rest and sorrow, to do the work the world should suffer exalting such a pesky duffer. They say that Bill Kronprinz, the son of Kaiser, didn't want to bother, until he saw the Kronprinz getting all kinds of glory and of getting; then, jealous of the ruffled smarts, he came and joined the decorated party. He was the Kronprinz more than Billy, he gives me famous advice and chills. No matter who may be appointed, the Kronprinz shouldn't be permitted to dwell in Germany and twitter near the bloody-minded emperors. If any subtle hint and improve him, if to some island we remove him, there he may live in cave of coral.

quarrel. While he's at large, he froth and bubble, there always will be threat of trouble. So let us place him in the penitentiary where he can never be a wiser.

EARLY SHOPPING

We'd do our Christmas shopping early," said Kaiser Bill in the White House when I saw him in the White House. "It is a time for us to be retreating, we can't spend lavishly, that's sure, while hunger has a hand wrenching the rights of our German poor. Some simple gifts—none ostentatious—for friends who have been lead and true; our giving these will seem as gracious as though a lot of money we blew. A can of oatmeal soup for Liza, who let the tail go with the hide, will cheer him up, when you're mostly, since he saw all his triumphs slide. For Purpur, too, soup would be fitting—the kind that's made of many beads; he spilled our beans and sent home flogging when he set forth his shrimps. Mock Tartie soul will give to Hilden, for he's a mockery, the only, we thought him bigger than a hound, and find him smaller than a shrub. Beef soup will do for Kronprinz. Pretty, for he will be glad to eat it. He should, too, might have won this war, already, had we but kept him out of sight. A can of soup for Jerry, follow, clam chowder for the stiff for Max, for they have dared the shot and shell, and how before them Prussian shells.

So, let us go and see the grocer, and buy what you see has in stock; before the allied guns draw closer and shoot the helmet from "my black."

SAFE TRAVELING

It fills me with a caution, that I have crossed the ocean, we you may sail the ocean and have no thought of doom; we'll board the vessels named "The Liverpool and London and avoid not trip of gun on our heads, a heavy tumb. The terror of the waters has had its little day, the storming of the land, the can make the business pass. We'll have a good time, and how long the journey, nor have a fear that leads us to cross the briny sea and mournful sea and visit Island-Christy, and may the Zoulet Zee; but thinking of the dangers awaiting pilgrim strangers, and giddy ocean rangers, had put cold feet on me. I curbed my lust to wander so far off shores and seas; I couldn't bear to ponder on sinking seven miles, it was against my wishes to act. I thought of billows dark, of yielding up my liver to some abnormal shark, of dying in a quarrel that might bring a movement beyond the ocean, all silent, cold and stark. But soon the ocean highways will be as safe again as are the country byways, the myrtle-shaded lane; and we our grips may carry, and buy new hats in Paris, a white in Brussels turt, and snoop around in Spain.

POOR ME.

Soon, I shall hear the soldiers' toll of mighty deeds they've done; how they have dared the shot and shell, and how before them Prussian shells. I have begged not one's I would shut see the hero here with port and front of Mars, the man who knew no craven fear when prodded with a lance or spear—and I can show to weep! The man who sailed the waters deep will tell strange tales to me; and I shall feel an odd, little clean, my little to cross the ocean. I have not crossed the sea. The airman soon will with us tread, their voices will resound; they'll tell of triumphs overhead, and I'll be filled with grief and dread—I've never left the ground! Oh, weary days are coming soon, for men to fight to fight; a melancholy lay they'll croon as they sit on benches that are green and weep through rain. What a thrill! stamp and did without flinching? The man from battlefeld and cut out pie and cake? The man who pile up bits of steel and lost an arm, a leg, or head, will say my host's a fake. I've done my best; mine's a crack, but it should be so small, for when the boys have journeyed back I know I'll want to hunt a crack, in which a gent may crawl.

COMING SIDESHOWS.

The future, sideshows will be great. I venture to predict they'll make an artist strut his pace, their widders to depict. The marvels of the olden days will to the dump have sunk, the bearded dame and crowned boys, the living skeletons. There'll be an end to tattooed Greek Cretans, beautiful, and with the house of other freaks will vanish from our view. I see the bricker at the door lift up, his mine's a crack, but it should be so small, for when the boys have journeyed back I know I'll want to hunt a crack, in which a gent may crawl.

thing! A lot of monarchs out of work, two Kaisers and a king! Such marvels as are here, I wish, you'd see them in person. Come in and see the mailed fist that nips all feet feel cold. We have a pair of submarines, the kind the Prussians built; and you may look upon the beams the German Kaiser spilled. We have about a million maps that show what Wilhelm planned, and byways of lace and paper scraps, and swords to beat the band. Come in, come in, and spend your time in profit, while you may. It only costs ten cents, a dime, the show pulls out today!

CHANGE OF SUBJECTS.

We've talked so long of shell and shot, of captains and of kings! The time has come at last. I want to speak of other things. Look upon our thoughts from Petrograd to Philadelphia, we need peace, peace and neat them bad, and hence this stirring poem. For years we've struggled through the "luck," in bitterness and grief, and only said, "they were stuck." It is no time to beaf. We flourished through the muddy pools, across the reefs and bars, and lost our "nurses and cars." We said, "Until this war shall cease, out woe's can't be discussed; but when arrives the dawn of peace, our sufferer's, our spirits may be jarred. We've railed so long at Kaiser Bill that we may think it safe to talk of gratitude down a hill, or fling up a voice. But it were to talk good roads instead of bones and blood; the farmers cannot haul their mules' traces of cowboys and mud. There is no bottom to the pit when comes a sudden shower; I cannot scorch so. I would like, a fifty miles in honor, we've held so long on treason vile, it's hard to break away; but we should talk a crack, in which a gent may crawl.

If you hate a man, he is liable not to know it, and this is the rule of life.

In making up the personnel of the peace commission, we would have chosen Root or Tall, in both. Neither has an equal in world diplomacy.

We hope in the definite peace arrangement, the Turks will see the futility that their main sport in the future will not be the torture and murder of Armenians. The world should be permanently relieved of the mob brutality which the Turks were wont to frequently visit on innocent and unoffending people.

A contribution to today's Herald advocates one women's club as a means of more effective public service. The coming period of reconstruction offers a field for real effort on the part of the women of every community, and our correspondent thinks one strong organization could do better than a half dozen of most small ones. Wayne has more women's clubs than any town in the state, so we would guess.

A recently published map indicating dry and wet states, shows prohibition to have gained greatest territory through the west. Wet counties used to have more saloons and gambling dens than any other day, and they were run wide open and unregulated. Prohibition regarded a man who didn't drink as lacking in acceptable sociability and friendliness. In due time, the excess of personal liberty in the west shocked inhabitants into insisting on the liquor traffic, entirely by itself—just tonight, we receive. As a consequence, the west is now almost dry. The east which has always surrounded the liquor traffic with its restrictions, is moving more slowly toward absolute prohibition.

AS TO RECONSTRUCTION

Mr. J. G. W. Lewis Calls Attention to Need of Local Effort.

Reconstruction is the key word of the hour. The writer recently attended the State Convention of the Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs, an organization representing more than 10,000 of Nebraska's thinking women. The entire three and a half days program was given over to the problem of reconstruction. The theme was presented from every standpoint—what must be done internationally, what must be done by the nation, by the state, by the city, and by the small town in this big problem of reconstruction.

The thought occurred to me that perhaps we are sometimes more willing to look at the matter from a long distance angle than we are to take a nearer viewpoint. Of course we admit the wreckage must be cleared from the land "over there" that it may be made ready for the planting of crops; homes must be rebuilt; returning disabled soldiers must be cared for as nearly well as possible; they must be helped to find their places in the normal life again. Omaha must find and fix its several hundred women who are to be ghettoized from war service at Washington or other places; but what about our little towns and counties? Is there any reconstruction problem for Wayne? There surely is.

What about our boys who are soon coming back to us? What about the boys who have been with us all the time—the "antiques" given out by army health officers are rare, and there is no reason to doubt them, the boys coming back will be a cleaner bunch morally and physically than when they entered the army. Are we going to keep them so? Wayne county has received hundreds and thousands of dollars to be used in providing recreation and wholesome pleasure for them here. After much difficulty she was issued her passport, thanks to the American Red Cross, who interceded himself in her case. Arriving in her beloved France, she was confronted with the fruits of the Kaiser's mad military adventures. Madame Zard, buried herself in a little town, and in a few days she was the establishment and maintenance of a V. M. C. A. The boys themselves to whom the V. M. C. A. and like organizations have meant so much since they have been in military service, will be ready to a man to support such institutions.

Another reconstruction problem presents itself—a new problem at all, but brought more to the fore because of rapidly changing events. Would it not be a timely undertaking for the women of Wayne to band themselves together in one great Women's club with unlimited membership. There might be several departments if that were desired—say, the departments of music and art, civics, home economics, literature, etc., but all having one underlying purpose—to make our ourselves smoother monthly—and monthly to work out our home, school, and community problems. In unity there is strength and with all working unitedly for the same ends, there is no limit to what might be accomplished. Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis.

rebel, Madame Zard arrived in America about nineteen months ago and since that time has appeared as soloist with several of the symphony orchestras and in concert work in the great educational institutions and for many of the allies. More than $15,000.00 was placed to the credit of this fund by this patriotic and generous French artist. Madame Zard not only contributed her time and talent to this great cause, but she paid all of her own personal expenses during the tour.

Evans of Dakota City, congressman-elect from this district, confesses that he received the surprise of his life when he discovered that he had been elected to succeed Dan A. Stephens in Congress. LETTER OF GRATITUDE

The pupils in the primary department at the Presbyterian church are giving a very successful Sunday for the support of a little French orphan, Emile Rau. Mrs. A. V. Welch, the superintendent, who spent a few weeks ago, received a letter last week from the child's mother, in which she expressed her appreciation for the help the Americans have given. The letter, which was written in the French language, has been translated as follows:

Genev, N. C. 11.

Dear Little Friends:

This is the name of little Emile Rau to whose aid you have come. I have received the second quarter's money, which I owe to your generosity. Let me on this occasion again say to you how much I thank you.

And you also share in a day so memorable, when our cruel enemies have finally bowed their heads. On this day of joy when the bells of our churches send forth the joyous orphans, Emile Rau, Mrs. A. V. Welch, the superintendent, who spent a few weeks ago, received a letter last week from the child's mother, in which she expressed her appreciation for the help the Americans have given. The letter, which was written in the French this war (for we believe it at hand) will not return to me the papa of my little Emile, but I shall have at least the satisfaction of knowing him avenged; him, who wounded the first time, was treacherously killed by them by a ball full in the chest; according to the statements of his companions in arms.

I must tell you dear little friends, that with year-forty-five francs which I have just received, I bought a hood and cloak for my little Emile to protect him from the cold in going to school, and that he is very proud to say that it comes from his little friends in America. Thank you for him and for me, you and your teachers, to whom I send my best regards and my best wishes for happiness--Widow Rau.

Dear Little Friends:

With all my heart I thank you, Emile Rau.

Your Battery Needs Special Care in Cold Weather

In cold weather, constant spinning of a stiff motor quickly discharges the battery. With the temperature at freezing point, your battery is less able to do this extra work. Frequent inspection is imperative if perfect battery performance is to be expected.

Drive here regularly. Let our experts guard the health of your battery. No matter what make of battery you have, we will inspect it free and handle repairs and recharging at reasonable prices.

DISTRIBUTOR Store Your Battery Here

If you lay up your car for the winter, don't leave your battery to take care of itself. Bring it here. At nominal cost, we will give it proper care this winter and return it in the spring ready for use.

When you need a new battery, buy a Prest-O-Lite—a better battery for your car.—We have the correct size.

 Just pure water - no acid. Add a little every week or so and you'll sidestep a lot of battery trouble.
 Or bring your car in and we'll do it. Be sure to drop in at regular intervals and let us test the battery.
 Ask while you're in about Threaded Rubber Insulation. Don't forget to mention that you want a copy of the booklet, "A Mark with a Meaning for You."

THE FOOD PROBLEM.
 Omaha, Neb., Dec. 4. - Effective December 1, the certificate plan of handling sugar to dealers is abolished and hereafter all dealers in sugar are to be licensed according to requirements, announces Gordon W. Wattles, federal food administrator for Nebraska. No more sugar certificates will be issued by the food administration for Nebraska.
 The rescinding of the certificates comes because of a cessation of sugar in the beer and confectionery producing sections. In order to get distribution throughout the country, it is deemed advisable that restrictions to dealers must be removed.

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 3. - Conservation for world's relief is the food program for this week, announces Gordon W. Wattles, federal food administrator for Nebraska. All women's organizations, churches and schools are asked by Mr. Wattles to impress the importance of food conservation.
 "It is necessary that we feed the world," said Mr. Wattles. "We are not asking the American people or Nebraskans to deprive themselves, but we are asking them to eat wisely and not to eat any more than is needed. Remember there are more than 200,000,000 people who must be fed and they are looking to us for food. The allies will be fed first, then the neutrals, then the enemy countries."

CHACE & SANBURN'S SPLENDID COFFEES AT THE OLD PRICES!

No advance yet because we had contracts placed for some time to get to come. Five grades to choose from at 25c to 45c and everyone the best coffee to be had at the price. You can get and everyone on your coffee by buying not over two weeks supply at a time. The government, in buying coffee for the Army, found it wasteful to buy more than one week supply at a time. The coffee lost one-third of its strength when kept over 2-3 days.

A vigilance committee in the vicinity of Ansonvorth, this state, are having a considerable amount of sport hanging horse thieves in that section of the county. They are said to be the few remaining members of the notorious "The Middleton band."
Owing to the fact that a barber shop has recently been started in Wakefield, the Star is jubilant and enthusiastic. Its hanging lamps, cozy chairs, mirrors, and marble bowls are said to be ahead of Stone City, and no doubt are precursors of the growth and greatness which Wakefield is to have in the near future.
Stomach Trouble.

The Adolph Meyer family will soon be able to move into their new modern home.
The members of the H. H. S. packed and shipped ninety dozen cookies to the orphans' home in Council Bluffs, last Saturday. Contributions from several ladies outside the club were gladly received. The packing was in charge of Mrs. W. F. Buckton, assisted by Mrs. Will Watson, Mrs. Ed Grier, and Mrs. A. E. Halladay.
