A local physician pronounces poverty a disease, and a good many to have it. He appears unable to prescribe a cure.

Now that the exigencies of the war are over, those who failed to work during the strenuous period are probably hopeless cases and will forever remain idle.

Following the report that the ex-killer was writing his autobiography came a report that he had attempted suicide. It is no wonder the review of his life, incident to his literary spasm, made him want to get off the earth.

German officers complain that General Foch was not overly cordial at his meeting to arrange an armistice. Recollecting the atrocities the German army dealt out to Belgium and France during their previous four years, it is no wonder the French commander felt rather cool.

The demand for universal military training promises to grow. In the same line, it is also noted that Major Crowder predicts that as the result of his experience, the superior type of conscription over an old-fashioned volunteer system as the don't error in the way of procrastination. He put off appointments unnecessarily and painfully long. The longer the delay, the longer the string of applicants for each place. Delay not only intensified disappointment to those who failed, but planted a feeling of resentment in the breast of each one who was finally appointed because he had not been given the job sooner. In taking plenty of time, they pleased no one. Profiting by his mistake, succeeding governors have acted promptly in making appointments.

CHRISTMAS

The commemoration of Christmas which comes next Wednesday, should bear more the real spirit of the occasion than any since its foundation. The Nazarene whose life is given special emphasis at this time, was the originator of pure democracy. He was the world's greatest altruist. He was unselfish. He was tolerant, forgiving, kind and generous. His character was a reflection of the highest and noblest conception of civilization. Intervening centuries of war and conquest and materialism have not dimmed theuster of the founder of Christianity.

Any one capable of clear analysis should bear in mind the real spirit of the occasion than any since its foundation. He was unselfish. He was tolerant, forgiving, kind and generous. His character was a reflection of the highest and noblest conception of civilization. Intervening centuries of war and conquest and materialism have not dimmed theuster of the founder of Christianity.

This Christmas season should be the best in Christian purpose and resolve since the Christian era began. After having been torn and scourged by war for four years, after breaking down imperial ambitions, liberating enslaved subjects and safeguarding the democracy of all ready free people, the world more eagerly attuned to the Christ life, has good reason to rejoice and look forward with new hope.

AS TO PRACTICAL AND USEFUL GIFTS, the Variety Store carries so many different lines that you will no doubt find something suitable among the hundreds of articles in stock. I would call the attention especially to ALUMINUM KITCHENWARE, where you will find prices very attractive.

A pardonable pride I am taking this year in the rich stock of CHINA and DINNERWARE I am carrying. In spite of adverse conditions, this stock is larger, fancier and better than it ever was.

The display of CHRISTMAS ORNAMENTS, POSTCARDS, and CANDIES will be larger toward the end of the season, and the stock is ample enough to fill your every need.

RAILROADS BUSY.
Norfolk Daily News, Dec. 19. With the lifting of shipping control off of grain--especially wheat--and permits being issued by the shipments of wheat, railroads are being heavily taxed with shipments of all classes of grain. The new order is good until January 1 when it is expected that it will be extended. Farmers who have had their orders because of the control committee's order against too liberal shipments are now sending it out from all sections of the Norfolk territory. The movement coming through Norfolk over the Northwestern railroad, indicate that the committee great buy country, west of Norfolk, has been extremely liberal in continuing very good permits for wheat shipments. The shipment of merchandise is and many carloads have been sent holding up well, according to reports through on their way to the grain centers of the country.

With the progress of the Christmas holidays, passenger traffic too of the shipments have been reported to have taken on an unusual amount and that most of the other half of activity, although this has been made more noticeable by the movement of discharged soldiers from the last few days and indications that the good weather conditions with a fair market price is resulting in the clearing of many farms for fall stock.

W. B. Bixby in Lincoln Journal: The wicked war had right of way—men died to do and die for it, and now they refuse to lay, and eggs are scarce and high. For reasons I assume the same—there must be some reason why not lay, and now they will game is wilder than the deuce. I do not know exactly why we suffer this extreme—the spotted cows are getting curd; their milk contains no cream. I hope this true, and such preachers tell about a fund of bliss; I know it does not pay to dwell in such a world as this.

HOHENZOLLERN UNDER THE LAW.

Omaha Bee: The address of the Dutch ex-keiser brings out some of the least points that must be noted. This arises a picture of the arrogant, cruel despot, the international bully and braggart, many a time, who has so flagrantly and persistently violated the laws of his own country. A few months ago only he acknowledged his own guilt, and the only sense of right that held him back from the commission of his "invincible" army. Treaties were scraps of paper, international law a fiction, and his actions were those of a man, can appeal to it and be certain it will not be violated in letter or spirit. The Hohenzollern empire will be dealt with by civilized nations according to their usages, that right may be upheld.

MEARS AT LINCOLN.

Lincoln Star, Dec. 11: Representative Grant S. Meers of Wayne county who has been writing letters for himself and family during the legislative session, was in Lincoln on Wednesday forenoon as favoring the election of Representative E. E. Mr. Meers did not attend the special session of the legislature last spring, as he was in California at the time. But he intends to be in his seat regularly the coming winter.

Representative-elect W. F. Pilley of Baxter county, who has been in after, accompanied Mr. Meers to Lincoln, and the latter will help him to learn the ropes. Both men are Republicans.

STATE SENATOR-ELECT

State Senator-elect L. D. Barr, Republican, who lives on a Pottawattowam county farm but has his post-office address at Liberty, in Fremont county, was being piloted around the capital Wednesday forenoon by Harry C. Lindsay.

THE FLU AT NORFOLK.

Norfolk, Neb., Dec. 14: The Norfolk schools were closed at noon Saturday because of influenza, one of the principal of the high school, eight teachers and a large number of students are sick with influenza.

The school will remain closed until January 6. The health board after threatening doctors with prosecution unless they reported influenza cases for quarantine, announced Saturday that the supply of quarantine cards had been exhausted and that if more cards had been reported since the board started its fight against influenza through quarantine, one hundred dollars would be paid for each quarantined. Most of the cases are said to be mild.

THE BLACK MAN'S SHARE.

Springfield, Mass., Republican: While the colored people of the United States are still in the hands of the colored man in his home abroad, during the war, India has furnished 22,400 soldiers to the British empire for service in Belgium, Mesopotamia, Palestine and other places. The history of the colored races in this world should be written in large letters, so that the white man who thinks that he did not do it all.

GERMANS AT SCHOOL.

New York World: Under Sir Auckland Geddes's plan that Germany shall pay part of the costs of the war with labor in restoring the damage wrought in Belgium and France, the Germans will be taught that they can't rebuild a city with a cannon.

ALL PASSING THE BUCK.

Sioux Falls Argus Leader: The Government has been so busy that it's pretty well agreed that they started the war, but they stuck to the habit of passing the buck when it comes to the responsibility of the individuals who were responsible.

RIGHT YOU ARE, BILL.

St. Paul Pioneer Press: The Kaiser was right in saying he had friends in America, but as fast as they were discovered they looked out through prison bars.

DO YOU REMEMBER.

Monarchs' hour: Many a young fellow remember the light blue overcoats of the old soldier during duty for several hard winters after the civil war?

YOU NEVER CAN TELL.

Omaha World-Herald: One water-suspected contagious fever is such that the Germans would welcome allied troops anywhere in Germany.

FROM DIES TO CROSS RAILS.

Omaha World-Herald: The Red Cross cheerfully mothers the world.
