THANKFUL THRIFT.

The nation has been taught the value of thrift by saving, safe saving, secure investment—in the war. We must not suffer a defeat. Our part in the future prosperity of our country is as great as the part we took in winning the war. One of the best ways in which to assist in insuring prosperity is practicing thrift. A thrifty nation is a prosperous nation.

It is practical to make 1919 a year of thankful thrift. To do this we must not get into our systems the epidemic "I'm-thoughtless." This epidemic could easily sweep the country if we all do not make a determined stand to do our part in helping the government discharge obligations arising from the war. Not to do this is not only poor citizenship but shows intolerance toward our allies.

Money is gold. It takes sand to hold it. Wise buying may not mean spending less but certainly means getting more for the money.

Every year practice judicious buying—wise saving and safe investment—make them your watchwords.

That they may not be mere words the government is issuing another series of saving stamps as a stimulant to saving and are absolutely safe—absolutely dependable.

Make your pledge through your society to buy as many stamps as you did last year. Then buy them.

Georgia Has 8,678 Boys in Pig Clubs. Swine worth half a million dollars were introduced into the pig club members during 1918. Four years ago there were no pig clubs in the state, but under encouragement from the college of agriculture and the United States department of agriculture 8,678 boys in Georgia are now enrolled in these organizations. Their beneficial effect on the swine industry of the state may be judged from a summary just received by the department from its pig-club in Georgia. Outstanding progress is reported as follows: "The increase in final value of hogs raised by pig-club boys in 1918 over those in 1917 was more than 56 per cent. Pig-club boys won seven ribbons and $305 in prizes in the open ring at two Georgia fairs. The increase in number of purchased hogs raised by pig-club boys in 1918 over 1917 was more than 506 per cent. The state champion was the 11-year-old son of a one-horse farmer who bought his pig at an auction sale for $27.50. She is worth $300 today. Six pig-club boys in one county will start hog farms in 1919. All of them began with one small pig."

Wisconsin Digs Out the Barberry. Nine of the 12 infested areas in Wisconsin have been freed of the common barberry, the ornamental shrub which harbors the black rust of wheat and other small grains. In a few years it is expected that the entire state will be clean of infection. Early settlers in Wisconsin introduced the barberry, the fruit being used in wine and jelly making. Their children and children's children are now working assiduously to eradicate it because it menaces food production. The Madison Park and Pleasure Drive association has hired laborers to dig out over 25,000 barberry seedlings from its driveways. Both urban and country dwellers have vigorously battled the barberry during the last year. In some instances bushes have been destroyed which had previously persisted in certain locations for over half a century. Birds have spread the barberry seed to neighboring farms and woodlands from infested premises. The campaign for barberry eradication was not begun any too soon in the opinion of the state and federal specialists. It is believed that in a few years the entire state of Wisconsin will be free of the pest which would have been almost prohibitive.

DEATH OF MRS. V. CARLSON

Passed Away Monday, January 9, at Home North of Wayne.

After a brave struggle for five months more than a year, death came Monday morning, January 20, 1919, to relieve the suffering of Mrs. Victor Carlson, nee Berg, two and a half miles northwest of Wayne. A few years ago she felt a slight indisposition but with no thought that it was anything serious she went immediately to a Sioux City hospital for treatment. An operation was advised at once to which she submitted. The gravity of the operation was not suspected by her nor by the surgeon at the time. It proved, however, that she had contracted disease, cancer, had already made inroads that the most heroic surgical efforts could not circumsvent.

In a few weeks she had recovered sufficiently to be brought home and her many friends entertained the hope that she was on a fair way to recovery. But the disease had so ramified her body that signs were soon evident that the operation came too late to remove the cause. She gradually declined and since last June was, for the most part, confined to her bed. Her friends at this time with friendly hands ministered to her for comfort, she was a great sufferer until the end came to release her spirit at the age of 48 years, 8 months and 22 days.

Her maiden name was Hilma E. Christopher and she was born near Wyoming, Sweden, April 28, 1870. At the age of sixteen she came to America, making her home with Victor at Moline, Ill.

She was united in marriage to Victor Carlson, June 24, 1895, at Omaha. They immediately came to Wayne county, settling on a farm where they have resided ever since, except a few years spent abroad. Early in life she united with the Lutheran church and when she came to this county she transferred her membership to the English Lutheran church in Wayne, of which she remained a devoted member to the time of her death. She was of a modest, retiring and devout demeanor and she served her church and community with becoming dignity. Her cheerful disposition won her many friends. Everyone who shared her hospitality was impressed with her kindness and anxious to make others happy. The creed of her heart was translated into practical life. Her faith is now a vision.

She is survived by her husband and one son, Arthur; one brother in Moline, Ill., and one sister living in Virginia, Ill.

The funeral services were conducted in the English Lutheran church in Wayne, Wednesday afternoon, 2:30. A large concourse of friends gathered to pay their last tribute of respect to one who was a true friend and a good neighbor. The mortal remains were laid to rest in the family lot in beautiful Greenwood cemetery.

ROOSEVELT MEMORIAL.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 20.—Gov. Samuel R. McNeil yesterday issued a proclamation designating Sunday, February 9, this year, that "Roosevelt memorial day" throughout the state of Nebraska may unite in paying tribute to the memory of one who so well characterized our nation's ideals.

The proclamation follows: "Our country confers few honorary titles upon its leaders. It uses few medals as symbols of outstanding fortitude or distinguished service. But it does deeply revere the memory of those whose lives and acts embodied the principles for which the blood of the nation has again and again been sacrificed. "On January 6, 1897, President Roosevelt was struck a. The flags of the nations of the world stood at half mast and the heads of thoughtful people everywhere were bowed in deference to his passing. His was a life of exceptional leadership and distinguished service to his country."

No monument will adequately symbolize the characteristics of this illustrious American—nor would it be his wish that such artificial effort should be made to perpetuate his memory. He believed in, and loved to see, the men who were virile and real—the expressions that came from the heart.

"Therefore, in order that the people of Nebraska may unite in paying tribute to the memory of one who so well characterized our nation's ideals, and in keeping with the act of Congress, signed February 9, 1919, "Roosevelt Memorial Day" throughout Nebraska. It is my sincere wish that all people of this country should solemnly observe that day in fitting manner."

Only an Edison Artist "Dares and Does" Submit Her Voice to This Test

Other artists won't, and the "talking machine" makers are afraid to compare voice and record-side by side. We prove that the Edison is natural—just like the original voice of the singer.

Don't waste your money on a "talker." All talking machines are unnatural, hollow-sounding, and Punch and Judy-like, and their makers know it, and lack confidence in their own machines.

This great singer and numerous others of the world's great artist, who have publicly sung in concerts—duets—side by side with their own voices on the Edison gave full proof that you should buy only the New Edison. Ask for a demonstration. Write for catalog.

Anna Case, America's greatest soprano, whose voice is recorded exclusively for Mr. Edison's instrument, has publicly sung with her own Edison Re-Creations to prove to her audience that they could not tell when she and the instrument were singing in unison, and when only one or the other was singing.

Buy an Edison; then you will have real music in your home. The Edison is a musical instrument. It positively is not a "talking machine." There's a difference. "Real music at last!"

ON THEIR WAY.
Cleveland Plain Dealer: Another of the horrors of space will be the first photographs received in this country showing the president in the act of eating spaghetti.

THE BROAD POLICY.

The fact that you disagree with whom over one thing is no reason to oppose him in all things. The man you don't like a man from one angle is not good ground to dislike him from all angles. One who is the broadest-gauged and the most open to the world, dignities and appreciate the useful though criticizing the objectionable. The broad and sensible policy is well expressed in an editorial reference in the Lincoln Journal to the feeling between President Wilson and Colonel Roosevelt. The Journal says in its comment on the death of Roosevelt, President Wilson created his own with serene in preparing the ground for harvest reaped after the ex-president's retirement. "You men could hardly be more unlike in temperament than these two David Lawrence, who was a France for student when Wilson was a Princeton professor and who, as a newspaper correspondent has been close to the incident throughout his administration, insists now that Wilson was a great admirer of Roosevelt at many points. Since becoming president, says Lawrence, Wilson frequently spoke in the kindest terms of Mr. Roosevelt and while he sometimes was irritated at the colonel's blunt criticism, the president seldom personally avoided either of them, and seldom commiserated with him."
President Roosevelt did, it is felt they have a very important part to play. When he was in office, he became an national politician. Mr. Wilson was a believer in the president's duty to cast the national point of view as against of small interests. He was to command the youth in their own interest. He was to command the youth in their own interest. He was to command the youth in their own interest.

of common knowledge. Good examples, here, for us of smaller folk.

"Hearts of The World."
"Hearts of the World," the creation of that marvelous wizard of the screen, Mr. D. W. Griffith, might never have been, according to the statement of a close personal friend of Mr. Griffith, had not the Germans introduced the use of poison gas in the war. This act and many more of equal barbarism and horror have drawn down the hatred of the world upon the Hun and were he to him when the day of final settlement comes and a peace table is heard the uttermost for his crimes.
Just prior to the battle of Ypres, Mr. Griffith was in London arranging for the premier of "Intolerance." His masterful handling of that subject drew enthusiastic praise from every class of the English metropolis and it was not long before he was visited by four "Peaceable" representatives of the United States who were drawn into the struggle the picture would be a failure and hesitated to accept the commission as it might, at the same time, jeopardize the neutrality of his own nation. Then came the first of the diabolical gas attacks at Ypres, deadly death, poison gas were released towards the unsuspecting Canadians, men, in whom the sporting market lived, even that had of blood and aud, and who would sacrifice their lives rather than take an unfair advantage of their foe. Thousands were struck dead in their tracks, while those who survived an immediate death suffered torturing fires of their very throats as they were presented at the production of the picture that is now the outstanding sensation of the screen. All who have seen the masterpiece agree that "Hearts of the World" is the epic of the present war and that its spirit is what dominates the after world.

"Hearts of The World" will be presented at the Auditorium Theatre, following the "The Fighting Mad" on Friday, 27 and 28, twice daily, 7:15 and 8:15. Every man, woman and child with a drop of patriotic blood in their veins, thousands were struck dead in their tracks, while those who survived an immediate death suffered torturing fires of their very throats as they were presented at the production of the picture that is now the outstanding sensation of the screen. All who have seen the masterpiece agree that "Hearts of the World" is the epic of the present war and that its spirit is what dominates the after world.

LAND INNOCENT OF BATHUBS

In Turkey the Stationary Tub, So Familiar in Western Lands, Is Absolutely Unknown.

The Turk in spite of his constant bathing (having been enjoined by the Mohammedan religion) has no stationary tub with water in it. Turkish houses are quite innocuous plumbing, says Edith Gilfeila, in an article on the colorful ancient capital of the Ottoman empire.

"They do not sit around a table on a table but on cushions around high table trays. All over the near east they have two meals. Breakfast is sort of movable feast up to eleven o'clock containing such as fruit and various hot breads. The Turk is enabled to sustain life until his dinner at sunset by drinking flour-water soup of thick, but heavily-sweetened oil of this."

SOLDIER OF FORTUNE PASSES

World Soon to Have Little Use for Plotter-Character Whose Fortune Was His Sword.

If it shall now come to pass as it will may, that there shall be an end put to war, the old-time soldier of fortune will become an extinct species.

The world, of course, can get along very well without him, and yet we will miss him. There is a very ancient institution, indeed. He was with Alexander and Caesar, Napoleon, the emperors and the kings of every nation upon the sun and elsewhere.

"He has got a fine, though, while it lasted, and it did last a long time, at that. For there was always, somewhere, a job waiting for him. If things went stale in the East he could cross over to the other side of the world and find another banner unfurled before him."

SURELY POSSESSED OF NERVE

How Apparently Embarrassed Man Thanked Kind-Hearted Girl Who Paid His Fares.

Miss Doris Paulina is a front-runner and the other day she liveried right up to her nose. She boarded a night car for an excursion to her home town. The middle-aged man had just written the New York Times correspondent of the Pittsburgh Dispatch. As she entered the car she became one of the platform audience to an altercation in progress between the conductor and a well-dressed, middle-aged man who gave every evidence of being a member of the elite.

"This is where Miss Paulina stepped her way into the spotlight. Noting the man's discomfiture she politely offered him the contents of her handbag. He accepted with protestations of gratitude and insisted upon having her name and address. When she related the story to her friends in the city they agreed she had made a financial coup, and that she would surely be rewarded by a handsome gift and perhaps even to the extent of the middle-aged one's will.

A learned professor often became so interested in his lecture that when the noon bell rang he kept the class five or ten minutes over the hour. Some of the students decided to give him a gentle hint, and accordingly bought an alarm clock, which they set to go off precisely at noon, and the next time they came in to one of his lectures placed it on the desk, trusting that as he was somewhat absent-minded he would not notice it. When the noon hour struck the alarm clock went off with a crashing, very quietly the professor waited until the alarm was over; then, turning to the class, he said: "Gentlemen, I thank you for this little gift; I had quite forgotten it was my birthday. An alarm clock is something my wife has been wanting for some time. It is a very kind remembrance from your parents. Please calmly proceed to finish the demonstration."

Children's Diseases

Most diseases from which mankind suffers could be prevented if the influence of the spine as a causative factor were recognized. About ninety-five per cent of all diseases in children and adults are dependent upon traumatic causes. In children falls and recklessness in play are responsible for nearly all the trouble they suffer from, as the control of children during play is practically an impossibility therefore, to forestall the possibility of disease in children, parents should insist upon an examination of the spine being made every six months. IMPROVEMENT IS VITAL

Department of Labor Urges Revival of Building Plans

Reconstruction plans of the department of labor have for America perhaps the greatest development of public works and big ever projected. A greater and better America is the object of this vast campaign. The building program contemplated by the department will mean a transition from war to a peace basis; it will furnish employment for large numbers of the men who are demobilized from the war; it will stimulate the war industries; and it will stand after the readjustment is completed, as a monument to American labor and enterprise. It will mean a tremendous addition to the material wealth of the country and to its public resources.

War-time labor requirements made new building, except upon government work, out of the question, and as a result America's population is living in too close quarters. Moreover, the cessation of building has caused increases in rents, which have become in many places abominably exorbitant. For the national good, this readjustment in the normal housing program must be more than made up. In making it up there will be created a need for labor that will assure employment to the men who have been fighting so bravely to make the world safe for democracy.

More than a resumption of building operations is sought. An extension of the program so inclusive that it will include the erection of every building that is needed everywhere, the prosecution of public works, the erection of public buildings, and the construction of more time minimize the difficulties of transition from war times to the normal organization of the country. Keep industry humming in the line of the government. If every man takes a hand in the building campaign, the department of labor believes, this aim will be made good.

Mr. Ellison praises the climate at Thermopolis and the surrounding scenery. He gives special emphasis to the quality of the hot springs at Thermopolis, the people's hobby to the springs on

Plans and Specifications Made to Order

On account of the signing of the armistice, I have been released from the Motor Transport Truck service under the U. S. M. C. A. war work overseas. Therefore I am now returning to my business of General Contractor, Carpenter and Builder.

Building construction work has almost over-night leaped from a non-essential classification to the greatest of all activities. In the initial order of the War Industries board lifting the ban on prohibited businesses, and industries, construction work was first on the list of releases and within a week all restrictions on private or public construction were removed.

And that was not surprising for every student of the problems of reconstruction has predicted in his calculations that building would be the greatest of activities of the early peace times. Every indication points to these predictions coming true.

Soon there will be an unprecedented rush of building and the manufacturers of building materials will be expected to be almost to fill the rush of orders not only for the construction work to be done in this country, but for the rebuilding of France and Belgium. Almost every ship that sails for Europe will carry a full cargo of building material, supplies and equipment.

It is idle talk to be talking of waiting for the report of this commission or that commission to proceed with the work of reconstruction. Only the solvent minded individual is content to sit back and wait for some body of men to do his thinking for him. The problem of construction or reconstruction is an individual problem.

The man who has been intending to erect a new building or alter or remodel an existing structure but who has deferred his work either because of the ban on construction or for certain other reasons, has exceptional opportunity for doing something definite now.

I have been watching this matter of building materials very closely and I find that many of the best authorities agree that the prices on building materials are not likely to make any decided change in the near future, perhaps not for some years to come.

On the other hand, it is possible, considering the high rentals prevailing that buildings erected now at the present prices of materials will produce a greater return to the owner than a building erected two years hence.

From every point of view, economic as well as social, it is the best of judgment to have plans for building made now, so that every individual will at this time put into actual practice a bit of work that is going to be a step towards the great work to be done. Such action will help to stabilize industry in this period immediately preceding and which will follow the formal declaration of peace.

Let us build—Let us create—Let us begin now our plans of construction and reconstruction, also our plans to provide employment for the returning warrior and for the loyal patriots who remained behind and helped make possible the great success of his brothers in arms across the seas.

Trusting to merit a share of your building construction, I will endeavor to give you honest service, best of workmanship and materials and prices right.

I wish you one and all a HAPPY AND A PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR.

Very truly yours,

C. CLASEN

Get the habit of bringing your car to us. When your car is sick, bring it to us. We can fix it. Buy your gasoline and oils here.

PERMALIFE SAVES TIME.
The exchange requires but fifteen minutes. If you use an ordinary storage battery, your car is tied up for 24 hours or more every time it is exchanged, unless you go to the expense of renting a battery to replace yours temporarily.

PERMALIFE SAVES MONEY.
The cost of a PERMALIFE exchange is $1.25 every where—which is the same as the average cost of recharging an ordinary battery. One offsets the other.

You never have to pay for inspection or repairs; never have to rent a battery while yours is being charged; unless two years, the average life of the ordinary storage battery, you save the cost of a new battery; and your car is always in service.

The ordinary type of a storage battery costs about $32 and to make it last two years, it must be overhauled at an average cost of $10, making a total cost of $42 for two years. This cost distributed over the two years' life of the battery makes your battery cost you $21 a year, exclusive of recharging. Assuming that you had your ordinary battery recharged four times yearly at $1 for each recharging, you have a minimum yearly cost of $22.

SOLDIERS' INSURANCE.
Treasury Department, Washington, Dec. 4, 1918.—To the Soldiers and Sailors of America: As Americans I am proud to tell you that the United States government has a grand total of almost thirty-seven billion dollars. You owe it to yourself and to your family to have on to Uncle Sam's insurance. It is the strongest, safest and cheapest life insurance ever written.

For your protection, Uncle Sam has established the greatest life insurance company in the world—a company, as mighty as generals, and as democratic as the United States government itself. Just as Uncle Sam protected you and your loved ones during the war, so he stands ready to continue this protection through the days of readjustment and peace.

The privilege of continuing your government insurance is a valuable right given to you as part of the compensation for your heroic and valiant services. If you permit the insurance to lapse, you lose that right, and you will never be able to regain it. But if you keep your present insurance by the regular payment of premiums you will be able to change it into a standard government policy without medical examination. Meaning you can keep up your present insurance at substantially the same low rate as ordinary life insurance, twenty-payment life insurance, maturity at age 62, and other usual forms of insurance. This will be government insurance at government rates.

The United States government, through the bureau of war risk insurance of the treasury department, will safeguard you and your loved ones with the same care and purpose of a republic grateful to its gallant defenders. To avail yourself of this protection, you must keep up your present insurance. Carry back with you to civil life, as an aid and an asset, the continued insurance protection of the United States government.

Hold on to Uncle Sam's insurance. W. G. McAdoo, Secretary.

Swift & Company's 1918 Earnings

How They Affected You

During the twelve months ended Nov. 2, 1918 (its fiscal year), Swift & Company transacted the largest volume of business on the smallest margin of profit in its history.

Profits of the meat business—under regulations of the United States Food Administration—were limited to a maximum of 9 per cent on capital employed but not to exceed 2½ cents per dollar of sales.

Swift & Company in the regulated departments earned 7.57 per cent on capital employed and 2.04 cents per dollar of sales, but of which had to be paid interest on borrowed money and taxes. Here is how these earnings affect you.

Live-Stock Raiser—

Swift & Company killed 14,948,000 head of livestock, which weighed alive, 4,971,500,000 pounds.

Swift & Company made a profit of only a fraction of a cent per pound liveweight.

Consumer—

The sales of our meat departments were 4,012,579,000 pounds on which our earnings were less than ½ cent per pound.

The per capita consumption of meat in the United States is given as 170 pounds.—If a consumer purchased only Swift & Company's products he would contribute only about 78 cents a year, or 1½ cents a week as profit to the company.

ANDERSON BROS. WINSIDE, NEB. are agents for the "NASH SIX" Let them demonstrate its superior points. The Nash Value and Volume Idea To build cars of exceptional value to sell at a price which large volume production alone makes possible is the Nash idea. This means a better car at a lower price. It is this idea which has produced the splendid Nash Six at a price that makes it one of the best automobile values on the market today. If twenty-five thousand and more Nash Sixes were not being turned out this year its price would have to be many dollars higher. No other organization is better fitted to build a great volume of high quality cars. Four-Passenger Car To those wanting a car which combines many of the conveniences of both the touring car and roadster, without the passenger capacity of the former, yet with more seating capacity than the latter, the Nash four-passenger car will appeal. The Nash Six Sedan Comfort for five passengers, all year round, no matter what the weather, is provided by this handsome Nash Sedan (Springfield type). This car combines many of the best features of the inimitable with the good qualities for all-around service of the Nash touring car. The Nash Six - Beautiful, Comfortable, Powerful These prime qualities you look for in a motor car are beauty, comfort and power. These three qualities are well combined in the Nash Six. You will like its beauty of line from radiator to tail light. Its double-coated, varnished body, deep Nash blue, pencilled with gold, is swung low upon a clean, strong chassis of 12 1/2-inch wheelbase. The Nash airline body is so designed and constructed as to offer the latest possible resistance to the atmosphere when the car is in motion. Its well-upholstered seats are deep and wide and so shaped that they form a restful support for their occupants. Both back and front compartments are roomy and the car carries five passengers with space to spare. Long semi-elliptic springs for a car of this size, 240 inches in front and 56 inches in rear, let the car take its passengers over the road most comfortably.
