FARMERS MEET TO CORRECT A FAULT

Stringing Electric Wires in Proximity to Telephone Lines Causes Serious Danger.

Injury to the Service: Farmers Adopt Recommendation to Separate Lines and Put Telephone Wires in Cable.

A meeting of farmers from south of town was held at the city hall yesterday afternoon to remedy an objectionable condition brought about by stringing electric lines in proximity to telephone lines.

In addition to injuring the telephone service, the electric wires, carrying large voltages, would cause damage if they should happen to fall and come into contact with telephone wires.

It was pointed out that the electric lines had caused a great deal of damage or perhaps serious injury to individuals.

An engineer of the Nebraska telephone company, recommending that all the telephone wires be put into a cable on one side of the road, and that sufficient space be left between the opposite side of the road and the recommendation, after due discussion, was accepted.

The plan will protect the public and a safeguard against future danger.

AN IMPOSER
Randolph Times: Last Saturday a stranger appeared at the home of Mrs. M. Swanson and demanded the summons and the man acquired for Mr. Swanson. He was sent that day to the county jail. The man then said he was a government agent, that Mr. Swanson had sent in a check to the collector since in payment of his income tax, but had signed the check in lead pencil and that the government would not take it—this was a very serious charge, he said, and would Mrs. Swanson please sign her husband's name in ink.

The story was made very credible. The man possessed a good appearance and the lady had to do so and it was all straight. She was finally induced to sign.

In a little while Mr. Swanson came home and was told of the occurrence. He at once sought Deputy Collector Head, who said that such a thing could not be true that Mr. Swanson's business was all settled, and that the man was evidently an impostor. The city banks were alerted and no check had been presented, but each bank was notified to stop payment on such a check.

Mrs. Swanson was not sure whether the paper she signed was a check or not. It seemed larger than an ordinary check, but she is pretty sure that her husband's name appeared thereon in lead pencil.

Mr. Swanson is at a loss to know what to do. He has no check-books and thinks the paper may have been an order for goods, perhaps a note, or something at least from which the impostor expects to derive financial benefit. But in that case Mr. Swanson says he will have had to sign it. Mr. Goff is inclined to think that when Mrs. Swanson was so reluctant to sign and evidently suspicious, that he got cold feet and left town on the train—which was then waiting to leave. Any way the incident will serve to warn others of any like similar games.

RULES

Rules for battery care are simple and few. Remember and follow them, and your battery will have better health and longer life.

1. Make hydrometer test. If reading is no higher than 1.275 use starter and lights as little as possible for a time.
2. Add distilled water to each cell every two weeks, so that solution just covers battery plates.
3. Never put acid into your battery.
4. Watch your ammeter and always be sure that you are putting in a little more current than you are taking out.
5. If hydrometer reading does not come up to 1.275 drive around and have your battery inspected.

Farmers' Grain Elevator

With a Capacity of 30,000 Bushels

Will Be Ready to Receive Grain Friday, January 31

WE HAVE just completed one of the largest and best grain elevators in this part of the state. The building is 34 feet long, 30 feet wide, and 95 feet high, and is constructed of the best lumber on the market. The exterior is covered with best quality sheet iron, with a fireproof roof of asbestos. Everything modern and up-to-date has been installed to handle grain. We are equipped to unload, as well as load, by means of machinery set in motion by two electric motors, making it possible to handle 2,000 bushels an hour. We have installed a model cleaning apparatus to be used in separating the grain from the chaff. The Farmers' Grain Elevator was built by the seventy-four stockholders of the Farmers' Union, and no expense was spared in making it a substantial structure and one that will meet the needs of the farmer in every possible manner. Our old building will be torn down and converted into coal sheds.

We sell all kinds of Coal, Feed, and Grain, and pay the highest market prices. A carload of Block and Barrel Salt is due to arrive this week. We can save you farmers money on salt.

Get next to the Union policy; you will like it.

Chicago Daily News: "Before the war an unsuccessful attempt was made to popularize American roasted peanuts in Germany. While one would not suggest using undue force upon a conquered people, one might hint that roasted peanuts go hand in hand with the higher civilization, and that, ersatz kultur and animal fat, having filled Germany, that nation should be glad to nourish itself upon peanuts and the true light.

Sioux Falls Press: More talk of shooting up railroad freight rates in order to make up the deficit of the past year. The president appears to have been in error when he intimated in his annual message that there was no reconstruction problem in the United States.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES.

(From Ponca Journal, February 1, 1912.) The telegraph line between Ponca and Martinsburg was finished last Thursday and messages have since been sent between the places. The offices at this town are at the post office and Porter & Bowman's office.

The office in Martinsburg is in Mr. Lockwood's store. It was hoped the line will be a source of profit to the owners.

A glad runaway team came plunging down Third street on Monday with the tongue from a wagon or bob sled attached to them, indicating that the remainder of the outfit had evidently "fallen by the wayside." The refractory steeds were finally stopped, but not until they had become fagged out. The owner of the team was a Swede whose name we did not learn.

Mr. C. W. Smith, who went to Montana a few weeks ago on a visit to his son, returned last week. He had a safe journey and a pleasant visit and returned satisfied more than ever with Dixon county, which, for agricultural purposes, he deems far ahead of any country he saw during his absence.

Among the places visited in Dixon City, which contains about 6,000 inhabitants, and is a very active business town. Fully one-half of the citizens are Chinese. Butte City is on the western side of the backbone of the continent, and the water runs towards the Pacific. The business of that part of Montana is mainly mining. The country is very rough, mountainous, and the valleys are narrow and deep. For a man who desires to engage in the business of farming, that is living on a few miles distant from Butte City, will return to Dixon county in the spring.

BURLESON'S AUTHORITY

Minneapolis Journal: The hasty manner in which Mr. Burleson took over the control of the wire companies as a "wart emergency measure" after the war was over, has not yet been satisfactorily explained. But now that he has gone farther and roused the sleeping dog of state rights, his authority will be closely questioned in the courts. Each state's control of the telephone business within its own borders has long been established, and it seems doubtful if it can now be successfully superseded, especially since there is no real war emergency to which to appeal.

BANKRUPTCY PETITION.

Norfolk Daily News, Jan. 24: Eding S. Morgan of Corroli, formerly Eding S. Howens, by profession a physician, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in federal court here Wednesday evening. She gives as her reason for entering bankruptcy poor health and few assets. Her debts are recorded in the petition at $2,840 and a few miles distant from Butte City, will return to Dixon county in the spring.

MODERN ARTILLERY

When in March last the world was told of a gigantic gun which would throw shells nearly 100 miles, many people were skeptical. The whole thing seemed absurd. The CHIRO-PRAC TICAL SPINAL ADJUSTMENT can be compared to the working of Modern Artillery. It immediately releases the latent force which is an inherent part of all living matter, stirring dormant matter to life and action. And its value in the restoration of conditions wherein normal functioning of the various organs may be resumed is testified to by thousands of chronic invalids who have regained normal health through its agency. ### FROM LEO E. PRYOR.

The following letter has been received by Mrs. M. A. Pryor from her son, Leo E. Pryor, who is with the American expeditionary force in France:

Monday, Jan. 6, 1914.—My Dear Mother: Well, I am back again from the front, having been here practically two weeks taking in the sights and things of interest. I am pleased but tired out, and hope that this finds you well and enjoying good health. I surely had a wonderful trip; presume that you received the card I sent you from Luxemburg. I was there for Christmas evening.

My trip as a whole was as follows: I can't tell you many details. Went first to Virrie, Baroic, Toul, Pirey, Seppechey, Diecourt, Mont, etc. here the crown prince had his famous dug-outs, then St. Mihiel where the Americans made their first drive, then through Argonne forests and to Verdun and through the forests Hindenburg line and out on Don't Man's hill where a million French and German men were killed, and then over the famous hill 304, then across to Metz and Nancy and Luxemburg, where we stayed three days, then to Conflans and Sedan, through a little edge of Belgium, then to Stenay, France, Dun, Sarre, and back down home again. I got some few souvenirs from off the battlefields and out of the hands of dead soldiers that were not yet buried. Out on parts of the battlefields they had not yet buried the dead, although all the Americans had been buried. Then I got some few buried. The year previous in this same war and had been unearthed again by large shells exploding and blowing them up out of the earth again, such ghastly sights I never saw or could not even imagine that they could be so fearful. This one particular battlefield was all blown up. The dirt from one shell hole would be overlapping another shell hole and the snow all soaked. The winter season here is mostly rain and sleet, no sunshine at all.

Well, the details of the trip I shall keep until I am home, which I hope will be within the next month or two, although we may be here in France for a long time. Nothing special will be done until after the peace terms are more nearly settled. I am writing a letter arranged.

We are going to move to Metz in France, some time this week, and there do some hospital work. It will be slight however, as there is little to do, and most of the patients are now on their way to the states. I have not been to Paris yet, but I go to Paris in there to see the town and just round there shortly when we get down in the more southern part of France. This is the first place to see anything doing any work at all since we have come over here.

We are well, believe me and have no reason to complain at all. I was homesick Christmas in being under the circumstances could not be helped, but hope it will be the last one when I will be so far away. I feel rather wonderful at times. Though I spent Christmas eve in Verdun, had Christmas dinner in Metz, and spent the evening at Luxemburg, some traveling. Was at mass Christmas morning in a partly demolished cathedral at Verdun that was built in the ninth and tenth centuries—a wonderful edifice and a shame that it had to suffer such vandalism.

The president was through our town while I was away, so did not get to see him, but he is having a rousing reception wherever he goes and it is surely great the way the people here will cheer for Wilson and the United States, and even the Germans I have met up with on the trip are friendly towards America. That is the last thing one would expect. They also give America the sole credit for their defeat, too. Said we shot too straight and often and never stopped chasing them once we got started.

Well I must close for the present. I sincerely hope that you and all the folks are well and getting on fine and dandy, and would like to be home, and you may rest assured that I will return the first opportunity that I have, although I have no reason to complain over here. My address will be the same as before. You need make no change in my address, but write to you, I am, your loving son,

Leo E. Pryor.

Word From France.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Branaman will be pleased to know that letters from their son, Perry, to France in April, 1918, December 13, 1917. Perry enlisted from Plainview, in the medical detachment of the army and was sent to France in April, 1918.

In June he was placed with the Twenty-sixth New England Division. He saw service at four fronts, Toul, Chateau-Thierry, St. Mihiel and Verdun and was at the last named place when peace came.

At Marcheville and Reaume on September 25 and 26, they were under a terrific artillery bombardment, lasting nearly twenty-four hours and under intense machine gun fire and in hand-to-hand fights with grenades, rifle pistols and bayonets and among others, the following citation was made:

"Private Perry W. Branaman 101st ambulance company. I have read with much pleasure the reports of your regimental commander and brigade commander regarding your gallant conduct and devotion to duty in the field on September 25 and 26, 1918, aiding the wounded under heavy enemy fire, saving St. Mihiel sector, and have ordered your name and deed to be entered in the record of the Yankee division." (Signed) C. R. Edwards, Major General.

AGRICULTURE NOTES

$172,806 Saved by Selling Slacker Hens.
A saving of $172,806 worth of grain was effected by the culling out of slacker hens in forty-five counties of Missouri, as the result of a poultry-culling campaign conducted by the United States department of agriculture and the state college of agriculture. The demonstrations were attended by 174 persons. A total of 7,383 flocks were culled, representing 444,446 hens examined, which resulted in the elimination of 282,698 low-producing hens that otherwise would have been permitted to remain on the farms as consumers of grain. The estimated saving probably is $172,806. It was assumed that each culled hen would save $1.00 for her keep after February 1, which is probably not the case.

Helping to Keep Roads Open.

Help given last winter by the weather bureau in keeping the Lincoln highway open between Harrisburg and Dittling, Pa., during the season of heavy snows is being arranged this year for portions of New York and New Jersey. The bureau has called the attention of its officials in charge of stations to the service they may give the public by co-operation with state highway commissions, automobile associations, and others in keeping open main highways, especially those used for rural excursions, motor-truck, and parcel-post routes. The work in the winter of 1917-18 was in co-operation with the Pennsylvania state highway commission. Reports of the amount and condition of snow were made by the assistant superintendents of highways at points along the Lincoln highway to the weather bureau office at Pittsburgh, which bulletined the reports to the press, automobile clubs, and motor-truck associations. The office in charge at Pittsburgh also was in charge of the heavy snows for the mountain regions of western Pennsylvania, based on the state forecasts. These were furnished to the aviators and reported to the state superintendent of highways, who gave instructions to his assistants for keeping the routes open.

How Kansas Fought Grasshoppers.

It is estimated that Kansas farmers last year lost $5,000,000 on wheat and alfalfa as a result of grasshopper poisoning, a large part of which was due to a campaign begun last spring through the co-operative efforts of the United States department of agriculture, state agricultural college, and local county agents. A grasshopper survey, made in the spring, showed that they were present in sufficient numbers to make necessary a summer campaign against the hoppers. Plans were made immediately to carry on this work through meetings, demonstrations, and personal farm visits for individual demonstrations, and appropriate window displays in towns. A close watch of the grasshopper situation was kept throughout the entire season, and in the fall the poisoning campaign was continued, and the disk of land to destroy eggs was advocated also. To teach the advisability of the latter, demonstrations were held in the field where patches of grass were dug up and the grasshopper eggs which they contained were shown to farmers. Over the field or fence row was disked to show how the eggs were destroyed. Fifty-one such demonstrations with an attendance of 120 were held in many counties both bran and poison were brought co-operatively and distributed to farmers through the farm bureau organizations. By one getting the materials received directions for mixing and applying them.

GERMAN REASONING.

Kansas City Star: The German government has announced that it is giving up the factory machinery and railroad equipment carried away from France and Belgium there won't be any left for German industry. If this keeps on the allies will have to call in their best aviation or German troops get away with its insanity after all.

HARDLY SUITABLE.

Kansas City Times: When the Sinn Fein envoys arrive in Paris will they present to the peace congress as they credentials, the report in the Times case showing Germany's activity in the Dublin insurrection?

TIME TAKING CARE OF BILL.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: William Hohenzollern is said to have spent ten years since he fled to Holland. At this time the problem of what to do with him will be solved automatically.

OVERLOOK THE ENEMY.

Washington Post: The enemy would like nothing better than to let us forget the enemy. The advocates of complete publicity forget that there is an enemy.

HAPPINESS HUNTER'S PARADISE.

Indianapolis News: If a person is interested merely in the pursuit of happiness, Berlin affords the best opportunity for a prolonged hunt.

LONG ON IMAGINATION.

Springfield, Mass., Republican: Imagine Paris try! The anti-social league of the world doesn't hesitate to.

LIKE THE MILLS OF THE GODS.

Minneapolis Journal: The mills of the peace conference grind slow, but they are going to grind exceedingly fine.

THE KINGS DEPART.

Chicago Daily News: Of course a cat may look at a king, but it will have to hurry.

Splendid Offering for Grand Island—The annual show and sale put on by the Nebraska Hereford Breeders' Association at Grand Island, Neb., has become a real classic in Hereford circles in the west. There is much rivalry among the breeders because of the showing of the sale entries and competition generally is very keen in the several classes, each breeder striving hard to produce an animal good enough to head one of these classes. This little show has had the effect of bringing out a better quality of breeding of exceptional merit—one that greatly surpasses in quality the average community sale. Buyers should remember that at the Grand Island show, much of the state's best beef and mutton and nicely-fitted cattle is sold annually. This is easily one of the leading events in point of interest to both buyer and seller held in the state of Nebraska, where so many good herds are produced. With 150 head listed for their February 13-14 sale, all choice selections from around twenty-five prominent herds and virtually all animals of good lines, prospective buyers surely will recognize the fact that there will be unusual opportunities to secure just about what they want. So far as the bloodlines are concerned there is hardly room for improvement. The catalogue shows a great wealth of fashionable Anxiety blood, with some Fairfaxes. This promises to be the association's most successful event.—C. A. METSKER.

For catalogue of the greatest offering ever presented by this association, address

Insure Your 1919 Feed Bill

Never before has every kind of feed been so high in price as it is today, and it will continue to be for a long time to come. Whatever insures the feed bill is a better investment this year than ever before... The silo is a good investment at any time; it's a better investment this year. Early buyers get the best service, the best workmanship and a liberal discount from regular prices.

A Good Combination:

The "Everlasting" Silo and the "Climax" Ensilage Cutter

The "Everlasting" is the only tile silo in the world that is built with a channel steel door frame providing for steel-reinforcement of every layer of tile—it is guaranteed air-tight, wind-proof, fire-proof, and rot-proof. It needs no repairing. The "CLIMAX" ensilage cutter operates with less power than any other—it cuts and elevates silage in one operation and the ensilage is always cut clean—not hacked or torn into unequal lengths. Both "Everlasting" silos and "Climax" ensilage cutters are made in sizes to suit every farmer.

we know how to do it. Let us look you over once in a while. A missing cylinder or a bad spark plug may be the trouble. Call us today.

PERMALIFE SAVES TIME
The exchange requires but fifteen minutes. If you use an ordinary storage battery, your car is tied up for 24 hours or more every time it is recharged, unless you go to the expense of renting a battery to replace yours temporarily.

PERMALIFE SAVES MONEY
The cost of PERMALIFE exchange is $1.25 every where which is the same as the average cost of recharging an ordinary battery. One offsets the other.

You never have to pay for inspection or repairs; never have to rent a battery while yours is being charged; every two years, the average life of the ordinary storage battery, you save the cost of a new battery; and your car is always in service.

The ordinary type of a storage battery costs about $32, and to make it last two years, it must be overhauled at an average cost of $10, making a total cost of $42 for two years. This cost distributed over the two year life of the battery makes your battery cost you $21 a year, exclusive of recharging. Assuming that you had your ordinary battery recharged four times yearly at $1 for each recharge, you have a minimum yearly cost of $84.

BUSINESS HALTING.
Sioux City Journal: The conditions in trade and industry show the same tendency to avoid calamities, as existing Saturday night of the last two months. Warm weather, over large portions of the north has caused a heavy slump in the retail trade compared with that of normal years. Late winter trade, which is the principal influence in the retail business after the usual season, is being held up almost entirely lacking, and the advance of the season is such that at best there can be but a fraction of this trade realized before the spring showings are on the counters. This condition is reflected in the wholesale trade and buyers are keeping out of the market for replenishing stocks. Coupled with the adverse weather conditions is the necessity of prices which still prevail, and the caution which compels careful business men to keep from under what might be an avalanche of falling prices while loaded up with goods purchased at higher quotations.

The increasing amount of labor caused by the strike among the chinery in the manufacturing centers of the east is becoming more serious as the returning soldiers are being discharged. The recruiting of the war department that soldiers may remain in the army and that their dependents will continue to receive their allowances until the soldiers are able to secure employment, will create the immediate danger of unemployment. But the scheme is criticized and does not get to the root of the trouble. There must be employment at fair wages before the labor question is solved. But to employ labor there must be a demand for the products of labor at remunerative prices. Lacking one, the other is impossible.

The opening of the agricultural season, and the consequent strike, a certain amount of labor. But until farmers have some foundation upon which to base their judgment of possible prices, they will not know what to do in the way of planting. The guaranteed price of wheat for the current year will induce many to plant more acreage of spring wheat as possible. This is the only product the price of which is guaranteed.

The whole business condition depends on a possible reduction of prices. The buyers have the cash and need not be anxious of general demand. They are not wasting money on unseasonable purchases. But there is no stagnation. The problem of the reconstruction basis without counting bank, by having large stocks of high priced supplies on hand when war prices once become a reality.

REMARKABLE PROGRESS.
New York World: Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, German foreign minister, at the beginning of the war, announces that he has become a convert to President Wilson's plan for a league of nations and a just peace, which shows what defect will do for a Prussian who in 1914 thought that the only way to make peace was to kick one's way through treaties and neutral countries.
