A Practical Home

is one that suits your needs, is economical to build, inexpensive to keep up, and is comfortable to live in. It should be conveniently arranged and it ought to be attractively designed.

This two-story house is a practical home. It is nearly square, without "gingerbread" features. It can be built of ordinary materials. Standard Designs of Curtis Woodwork are used throughout the interior. A bright reception hall permits direct access from the kitchen to the front door. A large living room, a dining room with built-in sideboard and a bay window, a well lighted kitchen, and large front and rear porches make up the main floor.

Upstairs there are three bed rooms—two of them with cross-ventilation and light—and a bath room with a closet.

Can you imagine a more desirable home? Come in and let us tell you more about this design, which is "Dover City." Let us show you photographic pictures of its exterior and interior and of the Curtis Woodwork designs.

Chandler Six $1795

Famous for Its Marvelous Motor
The Most Closely Priced Fine Car

Now that you are ready to buy that new car to find one that gives you so much in mechanical excellence and in beauty and comfort of bodies at so fair a price as does the Chandler Six.

Search the whole market if you wish. Search for such a motor. Search for such a sturdy chassis. Search for such features of ESSENTIAL design: Bosch magneto for sure ignition, silent chain drive for motor shafts—three chains running in constant spray of oil, solid cast aluminum motor base extending from frame to frame, annular ball bearings to carry the power back to the rear wheels with the minimum loss through friction.

The Chandler is the most closely priced fine car in the American market. A determined Chandler policy, pursued now for nearly six years, has made it so.

When you really know the Chandler Six, no "competitive" car will interest you. Cars for which you are asked to pay more will not interest you.

No other car, in the whole medium-priced field, offers you such a motor. No other offers you such features of essential, high-grade design and equipment.

Its handsome bodies are mounted on the one famous Chandler chassis.

The Chandler leads today just as distinctly as in the years past. And now, entering its greatest year.

Chandler Is Back to $1795

Asking you to pay more wouldn't give you more. To mark up the price doesn't make a car better. The Chandler is sold at a closer price than any other fine car. You can prove this by your own comparisons.

Hundreds of Users in This Vicinity Can Tell You

What Is the Difference

And will tell you that it LASTS LONGER, keeps engine cooler, gives better compression, hence more power, and by using the correct weight for YOUR motor (as we have determined by experiments under working conditions) practically eliminates carbon with the long string of mechanical trouble which it causes. But for your benefit would be pleased to have you read further.

Gasoline, Kerosene, Lubricating Oils, as well as many other articles are taken from petroleum, commonly called crude oil. There are many grades of crude oil but they are generally classed under two heads, known as Asphaltum and Paraffine base. The Paraffine base crude is the most valuable. It might be well for us to state here briefly the processes through which the crude oil passes in the production of the various products.

The crude oil is placed in large tanks and heated to the point of evaporation, the lighter oil passing off first in the form of vapor which, after passing through condensation coils, are known in their order as Benzine, Gasoline, Kerosene, Distillate Oils. The heavier oils remain in the tanks and from them are taken the Lubricating Oils.

We wish to impress upon your mind the difference in treating these heavier oils that remain in order to put them in the proper condition for Lubrication Purposes.

Paraffine Base Oils

The Paraffine Base Oils are prepared fit for service by the process of filtration, which removes all sediment and impurities, producing an oil composed of very fine globules, which have a great power of adherence and withstand an extraordinary high degree of heat.

In this connection we wish to state there is a great difference even in the grades of paraffine base oils coming from different oil districts. Up until this date, the oils from a certain district in Pennsylvania are conceded to be the best.

To get a good oil you must have

An Oil With a Low Gravity

An Oil With a High Fire Test

An Oil With a High Viscosity Test

T. V. B. Pennsylvania Oils possess all of these qualities.

In order to determine the quality of an oil it is necessary to be familiar with the following terms:

Gravity means the weight of an oil compared with water. It is usually expressed in degrees. The higher the degree the power the gravity or "body" of the oil.

Let me tell you here that an oil does not necessarily have to be THICK or HEAVY in order to have a low gravity test. This is contrary to what the majority of people have been led to believe by the salesman selling low grade oils, just because an oil is "thick" or "heavy" it is an indication that it will wear well.

Fire Test establishes the degree of heat at which an oil will burn. At this point the oil begins to decompose and soon loses its lubricating qualities and value, in other words the mineral fats completely burn out. Fire test is one of the most important points to consider in buying oil.

Viscosity is the degree of fluidity of an oil or its internal friction. An ideal lubricant is an oil with viscosity and one which has the greatest adhesion to surface.

A variance in any one of the above is detrimental to its working qualities. For instance—you might have an oil with a low "gravity" and a high "viscosity" test, but the fire test would be so low as to render it unfit for use. Many salesmen talk fluently on any ONE of these points but are "at sea" when taken collectively.

Asphaltum Base Oils

The greater per cent of oil coming from the asphaltum base is made up of crude oils and the method of refining the lubricating oils is radically different from that used for paraffine base oils. In addition to filtering it is necessary to treat same with acids to remove the impurities which acid also tends to destroy, the lubricating qualities.

In order to stop or retard the action of the acids it is necessary to introduce other neutral agents. Through chemical action these leave deposits in the oil having a deteriorative effect upon the metal with which it comes in contact, and is the source of many different troubles when used in internal combustion engines.

Some of the greatest faults are: The necessity for using large amounts, a tendency towards gumminess with the attendant troubles; low fire tests resulting in overheated engines and loss of power, and eventually expensive repairs.

We wish to say here that many oils are called Pennsylvania Paraffine base oils which are NOT—in other words they are a mixture of paraffine base and asphaltum base oils and are put on the market for profit taking only, giving satisfaction in the proportion in which they are blended.

T. V. B. American White Auto Oil is guaranteed to be THE VERY BEST oil it is possible to make from American crude, hence our trademark—T. V. B. It is almost water white in color, made from the very best Pennsylvania crude and is sold under a positive guarantee where a high grade oil is required or desired.

T. V. B. Tractor Oils are sold under the same positive guarantee and I will endeavor to tell you something of interest in regard to tractor oils next week.

course in steel. As these industries increase their volume of output mills will assume an unemployment will be taken up. This, however, is a forecast rather than a review.

Bad road conditions have reduced the volume of country retail buying from that of the corresponding week and throughout the northern states of last year. Wholesale business is confined to actual consumption or unexpected or abnormal. But this reduces the volume of business the party of retailers to buy in small quantities and often rather than in large quantities and seldom. The belief that the long expected change in price level is a hand presents many from taking even a business chance on long time orders.

Word From Paul Pearson. Word has been received from Sergeant Paul Pearson, son of Rev. and Mrs. P. Pearson, of Concord, that he is now at Lintgen, Luxembourg, and is doing communication work.

Paul left the United States May 26, 1918, and landed in France on June 12. After finishing his general training at Camp Valcartier with the heavy field artillery, he left for the front.

The first firing in which he participated was the bombardment, September 14 and 15, in the St. Mihiel drive. He was in the drive at Ansbrey September 22 to 26, their success occurring on Hill 209. They moved up twice in this drive, the second position being at the cross roads of Cheppy and Verry.

This position was held as "Hells Valley" and Paul said it surely deserved the name for here they had to face the German army, and that it seemed as if they could not escape from that front with his life.

He was in the operations west of Verdun, September 26 to October 11, and in this his company, the 124rd Field artillery, was cited for bravery.

He is now in the reserve and hopes soon to be able to get home. He expects to see the Rhine and Holland, and probably sail from Rotterdam.

Trade Confidence.

Sioux City Journal: The past week has been marked by a decisive strengthening of the tone of business in a portion of the New-England territory. The industries involved are cottons and woolsens, with leathers following in the distance. The improvement was not pronounced nor diversified, but was sufficiently strong to be noticeable, and the scattered locations of the individual industries showed a widespread tendency to increase output. This improvement was confined to New England. The rest of the country had no marked tendency to resume normal conditions.

The interesting feature of the improvement of last week is that the portion of the country involved has maintained the greatest conservatism ever since the armistice was signed.

It is too early to determine the extent of the influence on business and industry which the sealing of steel prices will bring. Had this matter been taken into consideration, the spring building campaign would have been much larger than it is—and much larger than it possibly can be starting at this time.

Whatever effect the reduction in steel prices causes will be scattered over many lines. It is not improbable that supply shortages will be forced downward as a result of the Vigorous attention to dragging the roads of the county following the late rain, will greatly facilitate travel. Rain was needed to dissolve the mud and make effective springing possible.

Spring, Neb., having a population of 300, has had to be plowed in the streets this spring. Six blocks will be paved as a starter. This will encourage and stimulate Carroll. Unless Wayne pays attention, it will lose the distinction of being the only unpaved town of its size in the state. This would be unfortunate.

We believe an active and aggressive women's club, generally representative, such as was organized here on Friday, is the best means for the development and progress of Wayne materially and otherwise. Women are usually in favor of improvement, and are able to contribute to the needs of a community.

A soldier returning from an eastern camp contributes to the Nebraska Farmer an article pointing out the superiority of the country produce of Massachusetts and Virginia to those of Nebraska. He says the rural highways in the states mentioned are hard-surfaced, either macadam or concrete, and are usually used. He also found concrete roads and sand and gravel roads. As a result of this improvement, farmers are able to get to town in any kind of weather to buy supplies or market produce. He emphasized the need of permanent road building in Nebraska to facilitate travel and bring town and country closer together.

Conditions at the state school for girls at Geneva, as shown by recent investigations, are deplorable. The course should be remedied without delay. The Omaha Women's club urges that a woman be placed at the head of the school, and that the state should punish an inmate of the institution. The club thinks some one who can get the girls and sympathize with them should be placed in charge. The club further asks that a woman be appointed member of Nebraska's board of control. Manifestly, the school should be more closely inspected so that conditions like those revealed at Geneva may be avoided in the future.

The world is having a strenuous struggle, bringing order out of the chaos of war. The struggle is being waged by the nations. It is followed by wild and dangerous bolshevism. The savage elements are expressed in bolshevik mobs. Orderly society which supports orderly government, manifestly and fortunately dominating the United States, must be made to dominate the world if it is to have enduring peace and universal freedom. Hungary and Russia are the chief serious threats to the movement for peace. Consideration for the rights of people everywhere must be insisted upon from all existing nations. It is the duty of civilization to root deep enough in the world to insure the establishment of systems guaranteeing security and human welfare.

TEACHERS' SALARIES.

It is pointed out by the field secretary of the National Educational Association that teachers' salaries are entirely too low. Railroad employees receiving less than $250 a month are receiving a forty per cent salary increase. Teachers are receiving on an average less wages than railroad employees receive the increase. An educational bulletin is being issued against the league as now planned. This is the usual public enlightenment. The public is becoming enlightened. It is the duty of the league to present to the public a clear conception of the league far truer and clearer than that of most of the critics. It has been tearing the plan to pieces before mighty audiences. The public has seized upon the central, all-important principle: the common interest of peace and justice, and the right to judge their own causes. They have agreed to submit them to the test of a referendum. The common interest of peace and justice, and the right to judge their own causes, have been examined, and agreed to put constraint upon those who break the covenant. Save our nation from the danger of a referendum to right understanding, the people have for much the greater part rejected the false interpretation of the league as a conspiracy. The league of nations must be created, it will be created, for without it the world will be exposed to the most serious dangers, of which there is no other preventive.

"DAYLIGHT SAVING."

Farming communities do not receive the full benefit of daylight saving. The first step is to get the clocks ahead and cutting up the hours off the end of the work day. Many manufacturing centers where many people are employed the day gives some advantage. This comment on the "daylight saving" is offered by "Calf's" views. The opposition to "daylight saving" comes almost wholly from the

It is much the same with other summer work on the farm, weeds are cutting down. The morning is not a good time for this work unless the land is very dry and the heat intense. Weeds pulled or hoed in the afternoon will grow and grow if the weeds are wet with dew. The hotter the sun the easier the job of the weeder and cultivator.

THE CHURCH SUPPER.

Most people have long frowned on the church supper, as a costly and unsatisfactory way to raise money. The expense and annoyance do not justify such results. Instead of a church supper, involving a great deal of work and expenditure of nerve force, with a minimum of sociability, there is a growing belief that when funds are needed, the heads of households belonging to the parish, should dig into their pockets and produce the required amount. Of this is evidenced by the following editorial in the Rolfe Arrow:

"Why is a church supper? A family of four is worth of grub, or thereabouts, then takes the bunch to the supper and pays more than the amount to buy it back. It is double taxation without doubt, and in addition there is a nerve tax for those who have to prepare the meal. Altogether it ought to be worth $5 to the church. Why then, do we escape the worry and strain of helping to put on one of these suppers, but do not contribute to the supper? The woman's control of the foodstuffs in her homes, but not always of the pocketbook. This is the reason for the church supper. Some say the social feature is another reason for it. It has been our observation that there is no social feature about the church supper, and that the women meet to wash the dishes and clean up after the supper is over. That is about the only place. From a financial standpoint the church supper is a failure, if you consider the fact that the church is a failure; but perhaps it will always have a charm for men and women who do not like to do it. It will continue to exist, but candidly, the supper and the church are two different things. It is a credit method of financing a church, and it is dispensed with and men ought to do it. They pay a percentage of their income for church purposes. The church is a failure, and it is purely social affairs, and should be under the head of entertainment, rather than finance. A social feature which has been tearing the plan to pieces before mighty audiences. The public has seized upon the central, all-important principle: the common interest of peace and justice, and the right to judge their own causes. They have agreed to submit them to the test of a referendum. The common interest of peace and justice, and the right to judge their own causes, have been examined, and agreed to put constraint upon those who break the covenant. Save our nation from the danger of a referendum to right understanding, the people have for much the greater part rejected the false interpretation of the league as a conspiracy. Compromise Bill.

Lincoln, March 26.—The senate and house conference committee of the general substitute bill for a compromise measure and the compromise bill will be passed today. The compromise bill retains much of the original house bill and also some of the senate substitute bill. The Catholic have succeeded in getting the amendment which was much desired incorporated in the compromise bill. A bill for submission to Nebraska voters in 1920 of a constitutional amendment that would permit women to enjoy full voting rights was killed today when the committee of the state legislature decided that action on the measure should be indefinitely postponed. The committee voted to dispose of the bill in this manner because legislation has already been enacted for a constitutional convention, which will be held at Lincoln next December 2, at which time suffragists will have the opportunity of asking for a popular vote on the measure. A convention which will not be held from complete suffrage. At present Nebraska women have only partial suffrage rights, being prohibited from voting for constitutional officers.

The Lincoln consolidation bill was passed by the house this afternoon after being amended so that suburbs shall decide for themselves whether they shall become a part of Lincoln or not. The amendment was strenuously opposed by Lincoln friends of the bill.

The house today amended the being bill so that new business shall not have the security of the state guaranty fund until they shall have been in business for two years.

A Suggestion.—If the nations of the old world wish to create a league to safeguard liberty for them to go, they think that is the best method to avoid war. Then, in order to make such a league effective in preventing war, let the United States declare that it supports and defends the principle upon which the league is formed; that it will regard an attack upon that principle as an attack upon the world as an attack upon itself; to be dealt with as it seems best. A league of old world nations, backed by that declaration from the United States, would be effective in preventing wars against liberty. The Monroe doctrine would remain intact and new business shall not have the security of the state guaranty fund until they shall have been in business for two years.

Normal Notes.

Word comes that Professor E. E. Laska has sailed for Paris on the Levanthan. His address is Y. M. C. A., 12 Rue D'Augustine, Paris, France. Dean Hahn attended the North-western Teachers' Association of Iowa at Sioux City and gave several addresses before different sections of the meeting. Harold G. Croghan, a junior at a year who enlisted in the army about a year ago and has been in a camp in Georgia, has returned to the institution to complete his course.

Professor Teed visited schools at Columbus last Friday and went from there to David City, where he spoke before a meeting of the school officers. Association of Teachers, held on Saturday. Professor O. H. Venner of Lincoln, who is in charge of the movement for religious education in Nebraska, spoke in chapel Monday morning of problems of reconstruction.

The Senior and Senior-Junior net teams entertained the Senior Sophomore and the Junior basketball teams at the gymnasium last Friday evening. The coaches, Miss Weid, Miss Smithers and Mr. Sabon, and the cheer leaders, Mr. Maxwell, were the guests. The evening was spent in contests of athletic nature, after which delicious refreshments of appetizing character were served. Made candy were served in the recreation room.

Sergeant Charles Meeker, a student in the Normal, who has been assigned to France, spoke in chapel Wednesday morning, relating many interesting incidents of his experiences in France. He was in the fighting at St. Mihiel and in the Argonne forest, where he suffered a wound to the shoulder from the gas shell which Roy Reed, of Winside, Neb., and a graduate of 1916, was killed. Albert Hering, another graduate of the Normal, dressed Mr. Meeker's wound at the first aid station. After spending three months in the hospital, Mr. Meeker was given transport to the U. S. A. and he is now rapidly regaining his strength and health.

Country Club Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Wayne Country club was held at the city hall last evening. J. W. Jones and E. Hafford were elected directors. The financial report for the year showed that the club treasury was in a healthy condition. There are 125 active members on the roll. No extra assessments were necessary to get through the year. Prospects are favorable for an increased membership in the coming year. The directors elected the following officers: John T. Burgess, president; Craven, vice-president; B. W. Ley, treasurer; Mrs. M. J. Morrison, secretary. Board of directors for the year will be: C. H. Fisher, C. M. Craven, John P. Bresler, S. P. A. Hafford, E. G. Gamble, J. W. Jones, and J. B. Hafford.

Medals From Captured Guns.

A telegram has just been received from Mrs. Mary Syon, treasurer national woman's liberty loan committee, stating that the national medals made from cannons captured from the Germans during the recent war, are being made for the use of the Liberty loan committee. The medals will be awarded for efficiency in work and will be a much coveted decoration. Mrs. Syon will receive her full quota. The woman's committees of the state are being gotten into shape rapidly, and the intensive organization is being perfected in the various counties. These much prized medals will be on exhibition in the near future.

An error was made by the society in last week's paper concerning the dinner party given the Wakefield pastors and their wives. The function was given by Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Matthews, announcing the death of their daughter, Mrs. Nancy Daniels, at Grand Falls, Minn. The Wakefield only three weeks ago on her way to her new home. Her friends here regret to hear of her death.

Mrs. Busby Hostess.—Twelve ladies were invited to the home of Mrs. Charles Busby Saturday afternoon for an informal social time. After seeing and visiting, a covered dish luncheon was enjoyed. Mrs. Elmer Jones of Laverne, Minn., was an out of town guest.

Celebrates Anniversary.—Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Sar entertained a few friends and relatives at a 6:30 o'clock dinner Tuesday evening, the occasion being their tenth wedding anniversary. Seated at the table were: Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hesse, Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ekeroth, Mrs. Agnes Kindstrom, Mrs. A. Halberg and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Sar and family.

A Kitchen Shower.—Miss Mamie Anderson was given a delightful party Saturday evening by Miss Myrtle Mitchell and Miss Bernice Beebe at the home of the former. The guests numbered fifteen. They were kept busy during the evening by lively games and entertainment. A small wagon decorated in the bride's colors, pink and white, was brought to the bride-to-be loaded with gifts, which she opened, revealing an assortment of kitchen utensils. The hostesses served a two-course luncheon.

High School Notes.—There will be no school Friday, tomorrow on account of the teachers' meeting in Norfolk. The teachers from this place are planning to attend the meeting. The first boys' basket ball team played the first team at Dakota

KISSEL AND INTERNATIONAL TRUCKS

"The Kissel Custom-built Speedster is shaped like a snub-nosed bullet and capable of going as if it had been shot from a gun. In color it is a "hazy" car of light yellow with the low hang of a racer. To add to the sport of riding in it at top speed (somewhere around 90 miles an hour) it is equipped with two collapsible seats which can be pulled out over the running board, thus bringing its capacity up to four passengers. Its appeal is altogether youthful. An ambition to own one of these models is on the same plane with that of the brave heroes who fight with each other for a chance to be the first "over the top" in a trench raid. It is a tin car for dodging speed "cops" or running down income tax collectors."

Comparative Prices.

Norfolk Daily News: A comparison of the prices of grain and farm products this year, '18 compared with this time last year and in 1914, the spring preceding the war, shows nearly everything higher now than previously, although some staples are lower than last year. Hogs are now selling on the markets at $17.75; last year they were $15.25 and in 1914, were only $7.85. Oats are being sold in the elevators now at 60 cents; last year they went to 75 cents and in 1914 were 33 cents.

Corn is selling at $1.30 to $1.43 an advance over the dollar price last year, which was almost double the 55 cents paid in 1914.

Eggs are 30 cents lower than last year, when it was $1.60 and in 1914 it was 50 cents.

Wheat is being regulated by the government as to price. In 1914 it was $2.01 and this spring is $1.49 for No. 3 grade to $1.18 for No. 1 grade. In the poultry department a general advance is shown, hens selling for 24 cents, in comparison with 10 to 12 five years ago. Roosters, when the poultry houses are paying from 16 to 20 cents for, brought only 11 to 16 cents last year.

Cream has risen greatly in price. It is now selling for 67 to 69 cents, while last year it sold for 42 and in 1914, it brought only 23 cents. Butter has taken a correspondingly heavy jump in price.

Navy beans are a common food which has lowered since last spring, when they sold for 18 cents per pound. Now one can secure them for only 10 cents a pound.

Last year's apples and potatoes both sold for around $3. Now potatoes are $1.40 per bushel, and small apples are 5 cents apiece and large ones are two for 15 cents.

The Farmers' Place.

Nebraska Farmer: It is safe to conclude that the solution to the economic problems which are shaking the entire population of the world today, will not be along the lines desired by the radicals on the one side, namely, monopoly; neither will they be along the lines desired by the radicals on the other side, namely, bolshevism. We may safely expect a solution to occupy ground some place between these two extremes.

The most radical advocates of trusts and monopolies say if we are to have independence we must not curtail in any way the individual's right to do as he pleases with his money-making enterprise. They claim that all incentive to initiative will be destroyed if the opportunity to make a profit for those who have a capital. They picture as a result inefficient industry and maintain that inventive genius will be dormant because there will be nothing to stimulate it to action.

The bolshevik and his kin maintain on the other hand that if an individual is born in this world he is entitled to a share of the wealth of the world. They do not recognize industry or effort, maintaining that all individuals are equal both in ability and enterprise, and hence should be treated as equals. If they are not equal, they say it is not the individual's fault.

The representatives of big business are, for the most part, those who own lots of property. They are capitalists and they are employers. The representatives of radical bolshevism, on the other hand, are usually people who own no property, not even their homes. Many of them are perfectly willing to remain in their present state unless they can better themselves either without effort or by revolution.

We have in this country a great middle class of people—people who have ambition, people who own their own homes, and people who do the same time labor as these people have respect for property; they do not want to destroy initiative, and they are perfectly willing to allow ability, industry and initiative reasonable compensation. We find a large number of these people among the laborers, we find them among the employers of labor, and we find many of them in the rural sections.

It is unreasonable to suggest that the solution to our economic ills must be worked out by the farmers? Farmers are laborers; Farmers are employers of labor.

Farmers are property owners. Farmers know that a man who works with his hands should be paid, and they know what a reasonable wage should be. They know what it means to direct a complicated business. Farmers also know that business cannot be operated without capital, and they know that if capital is put to work it must receive its pay. Why, then, should we have a final and effective solution suggested by the farmer?

A Beautiful Bungalow

When you build that home you've dreamed about, you want more than a shelter from the weather.

In this bungalow you get beauty both inside and out, comfort and convenience on the interior. Study the floor plan. Notice the reception hall and the wide front entrance. The interior picture shows you only a part of the living room and its fireplace. Note the convenience of the built-in dining room sideboard.

There are a clothes closet, two cupboards and a double window in the kitchen. It is easy to reach the basement from the outside stairs from the kitchen. The rear bed room has cross-ventilation, and the front chamber has a daylight closet. The bath room is accessible from both chambers.

This beautiful bungalow is only one of many we can show you. We have other types, too—semi-bungalows, cottages, story-and-a-half, and two-story houses. Come in and see them.

UNCLE WALT

THE POET PHILOSOPHER

THE CALLING VOICE

"Somewhere a voice is calling," I hear the plaintive cry, when evening shades are falling, and dusk is dim and gray; it's sung by youth and maiden, who, lightly near their years, who are not heavy laden, and worn by toil and tears, I see my daughter dolling herself in costly trills; somewhere a voice is calling on me to put the balls somewhere a voice is saying, "Your stand-off's gone to seed; come either and be the man of the house, that we need." My folks are always falling for rags and druggets nice; somewhere a voice is calling on me to raise the price. I sit and brood and ponder beneath my big and cone and long to be jigger yonder where all the planets shine. For life is sad and bitter, a long and weary road, and one who's not a quitter must always bear a load. There is no time for stalling, no pause for rest or fun; somewhere a voice is calling for more and still more moon. The good sport bears his burden, and hopes that when he dies he will receive as glib a free pass to the skies. Where silver streams are flowing by Eden's verdant hills, he'll hear no voice calling on him to pay the bills.

THE READING HABIT

I feel sorry for the wight who can't sit down with a book, and experience defeat in his cozy ingle. He can't wrestle with the books, storing knowledge in his head, but must play a game of cards or on yawning off to bed. Let me have a stack of tomes, piled about me on the floor, tales, biographies and some, and my heart will crave to sit up and read. Then the weary world will seem as blazed in my way. It may be that the night hours will not dream, but will seem like humber, and I shall be glad to talk a crack with the book, or to listen for the sound of the river throated locks. The book does bridge where, more or less. All the games I know are lost when the temperate hours cut down, and there is no place to go. Bring me then a stack of books, who's my neighbor yawns and nods, and the evening to me looks like a present from the gods.

CRAZY SIGNATURES.

I have a strange quarrel place; it is absurd and disgraceful, and sane men seldom need it, but I would like to climb the frame of that car. Then the weary world will seem as blazed in my way. It may be that the night hours will not dream, but will seem like humber, and I shall be glad to talk a crack with the book, or to listen for the sound of the river throated locks. The book does bridge where, more or less. All the games I know are lost when the temperate hours cut down, and there is no place to go. Bring me then a stack of books, who's my neighbor yawns and nods, and the evening to me looks like a present from the gods.

SURE CURES.

There is a cure for every ill that gives your frame a wrench, a porous plaster of a pill, a capsule or a strength. No matter what disease you have, some detrieger will get to you of a healing salve that makes you anguish fly. Some folks are always falling for rags and druggets nice; somewhere a voice is calling on me to raise the price. I sit and brood and ponder beneath my big and cone and long to be jigger yonder where all the planets shine. For life is sad and bitter, a long and weary road, and one who's not a quitter must always bear a load. There is no time for stalling, no pause for rest or fun; somewhere to spend a restful night, nor dream of alligators, and then to have an appetite for steak and eggs and fatters. It's good to have a bone or two, to have a kopeck handy, that will not go for some one's brew, some brand of gin or brandy. The hydram draws no gilded boys, no dead game sports surround it; but it increases human joys, when once the snark has found it; when once he's learned to like the juice that from the hydram trickles, he has to wonder why the deuce he blew for beer his nicks.

Having your house wired by folks who know their business is not a thing to be dreaded. It can be done with far less mess and fuss than you put up with in having the house papered or painted.

We can wire your house in two or three days and leave not a scar on your wood-work or plaster.

There's no dirt, nor any inconvenience to you and the cost is less than you'd expect.

We will come and tell you exactly what it will cost if you wish.

Seed Corn for Sale.

We have about 100 bushels of choice Reid's Yellow Dent seed corn for sale. This corn was all cold-selected in September, raked and thoroughly air dried.

We have been growing this corn on our farm since 1907, and it was thoroughly acclimated.

At the Nebraska State Corn show held January, 1918, our Reid's Yellow Dent won first premium in the honorary class, the sweepstakes for the best yellow corn and the grand championship for the best corn of any variety grown in Nebraska.

Drive over and see our Reid's Yellow Dent seed corn; we will be glad to show it to you. Price $5 per bushel (cash or order). Seed house on home farm, three-fourths mile south of Altona. Address Charles Roggenbach, Wisner, Neb. M275ad

WOOZY WILLIE.

We'll better watch the former kaiser, or he'll be back on Nebraska's throne; we leave him free—it might be wiser to house him in a shack of stone. Some dozen keep of ancient matters with woe, ever drunk disease, "That's easy," said the doc, "you hick; men's judgment is so poor, they always wait till they are sick before they take the cure."

BOOZE AND WATER.

Old Furry Red is on the blink, his kish will soon be trotted, but water is a goody drink when it is not diluted. Oh, water makes no strong appeal to sports all soaked with whiskey; they want a drink that makes them feel obnoxious and frisky. But soon 'twill be a grounding case, as thing of water drinking, man can't buy bitters for his face, or get the same by winking. And this will rack full many a mite to some make life distressing; but soon the red nosed sports will find that hydants are a blessing. It is a noble thing to see, at noon, with buoyant body, and have no sore and bloodshot eyes, no headache loud and gaudy. It's fine

How Great Organization Reduces Cost

ARMOUR and Company grew to be a great business institution by saving the things that formerly were thrown away on the farm.

Pig bristles on the farm are worthless. Through our methods they are utilized in brush-making. Certain glands in hoofs, once thrown away when the farmer did his own killing, are now made into medicinal preparations of high value. Even the hoofs and bones are turned to commercial use. Each of these products is useful, add something to life, health or comfort.

Edible Pork Products

- Lolaits
- Skidlers
- Spurders
- York Tins
- Spore Pills
- Medals
- Trimmed Neck
- Bone
- Boston Style
- Butts
- Cal's Butts
- Bliss Butts
- Neck Ribs
- Ham Butts
- Rough Sides
- Hams

Insoluble

- Blefin
- Lead Oil
- Dresses
- Gibs
- Covers
- Leather
- Hard Considers
- Phosphate of
- Brillies
- Granulated Bone
- Brushes

The farmer shares in the returns from all these products. If it were not for the idea of this organization and the facilities for transforming every usable ounce of the hog, the packer would either have to charge the public more for pork or buy hogs from the grower at a lower figure.

The value of anything depends upon its ultimate usefulness. It is only because concern for Armour have been developed to secure the utmost utility out of the livestock they buy that it is possible to pay farmers more for their animals and yet provide food for the public at true-value levels.

With large volume it becomes possible to make the "busy" investments in machinery and equipment necessary to develop new processes and new products. Often it costs hundreds of thousands of dollars in research and experiment before a single pound of some new product can successfully be put upon the market. Such preliminary work is usually beyond the scope of institutions which lack these facilities.

It is in this way that the fundamental benefits of big business are made available to the public. It is a service that both saves for you and adds to your comfort and health.

You can continue to enjoy this service and add in extending it still further by buying Armour-Oral-Label foods on your table.

BOY "DROPPED INTO MONEY"

New York Youngster Found Floors of Deserted House Fairly Strewn With Bank Notes.

A cool chutz was a prosaic substitute for Aladdin's lamp, but one found by a New York boy delivered the goods as satisfactorily as ever did the old oil-burner. The youngster, whose name, observes the Kansas City Star, Vincent Anastasio had been dazing his playmates with great rolls of $10 bank notes and pockets full of jewelry for several days when the police learned of his suddenly acquired riches and took him into juvenile court, where he told of discovering his treasure-trove.

He was playing in a New York East side street the other day when he fell through a coal hole. There wasn't much in the cellar to excite his interest, so he tried the upper floors of the house, which he found to be deserted. There he told the police, he found rooms with their floors strewn with money, $5 and $10 bills had been welded and thrown in every corner, and jewelry littered the dressing tables.

Investigation by the police verified the boy's statement. They learned that the house had been occupied by Mrs. James Sandman, a widow nearly 70 years old who had died a few days before. The boy was the first person to enter the house after the woman had been removed to a hospital and the money, thought to be rents from her tenants, had lain where she had thrown it on the floor as she retreated.

WHITE TRIBE IN CHINA HILLS

Are Said to Resemble Anglo-Saxons, and Are Noted for Their Ferocity.

A tribe of white men whose chief characteristic is their ferocity and cruelty has been found in the western mountains of China. Dr. Joseph Beech, president of the West China Union university, Chungking, China, who recently arrived in this country to aid in the Methodist Episcopal centenary campaign for $85,000 for missionary work at home and abroad, tells also of another race of white men, who greatly resemble Bohemians, to be found in the great hills.

There are 40 or 50 different tribes Doctor Beech said, "All speaking different languages and differing in their appearance in the mountains of west and southwest Szechuan. On our maps these tribes are called a part of China, but they are really independent, and have fought the Chinese from time immemorial."

One tribe, resembling Anglo-Saxons, lives in the district of Sung Pao. It is described to be as a collection of large men, tall, broad, and of a ruddy complexion, who are really independent, and have fought the Chinese from time immemorial.

Taking Out the Squirt

It is a sign of the times that a man who hurrying through his breakfast to get downtown, has had to run for the car with one eye blinded by a generous stream of very hotly juicy grape fruit as he stepped an overman of pressure. Department of agriculture experts have taken out the squirt, as it is called, from the grape fruit, which is so popular as the grape fruit and as resembling a ripe orange. It requires no sugar and the pulp is so tender that it can be eaten without having previously cut the segments.

Recovered pocket piece.

An Odd Fellow's pocket piece, with an inscription showing that its owner had belonged to Keystone lodge, in Bethlehem, Pa., was picked up on a battlefield in France and eventually came into the possession of G. L. Fox of Houston, Mo. An article about it was published in the Little aluminum disc was copied in the Houston Times and a puzzle was sent to the lodge in Pennsylvania. Mr. Fox of the Times, later received a letter from the secretary of Keystone lodge stating that the piece belongs to Walter Schaefferberger of Bethlehem, and that if Mr. Fox would send the disc to him he would see that Mr. Schaefferberger got it after he returned from France.

To Recognize Scarlet Riders.

Canada's scarlet riders, the Royal Northwest-mounted police, who left the donkey to distinguish themselves further on the battle-field of France, basis, according to an announcement by government officials. Squadrans of the famous riders, who for years have patrolled the prairie mountains, forests and arctic wastes of Canada, will be returned from overseas and permitted to join their old force, which will be recruited to twelve hundred men.

Trade With South America.

South America looks to us for many manufactured articles it once purchased abroad that in the last two years or six-trade with that continent has more than doubled. And we are returning the compliment by sending southward heavy orders for raw materials.

Burns Kerosene!

Saves Fuel Cost!

The selection of a tractor is an important business matter. Buying a tractor calls for a considerable investment. Satisfaction from the investment demands that you get back through the service of the tractor all of the money that you expend, together with profits in proportion. First, last, all of the time—the tractor you choose should be a dependable profit-maker.

A Three-Plow Tractor

The Waterloo Boy is a 12-25 H. P. tractor—the size demonstrated by experience to be the most successful for average farm. It has ample reserve power for prompt utility whenever needed, but the important fact is that it will deliver its rated power at all times. It pulls three fourteen-inch plow bottoms (through ordinary soil), or nine-foot double section furrow, or two binders through heavy grain; and it does other field work in like proportion.

Everything that can be done on the farm by horses or by a heavy duty stationary or portable engine, the Waterloo Boy Tractor is capable of doing, up to its rated capacity.

Every part of the Waterloo Boy can be reached through easily removed inspection plates.

One of the most practical qualities of the Waterloo Boy is its ability to stand the strains of power-giving in hard work.

Let us cease to play at the task and every-thing be motivated by its accomplishment. Our quota for the Methodist mission is sixty, and we are 25 per cent church. Will we be content with that? Let's make it 100 per cent church. There are such a number of us who have received but forty-two cards back. I have plenty of pledge cards and will be glad to supply you.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church. (Rev. N. Serres, pastor.) Special services at the Lutheran church Sunday morning at the usual time. In the afternoon of next Sunday, March 31, the proposed campaign for a three million dollar endowment fund will be carried out in this congregation from 2 to 6 p. m. This endowment fund is for use in educating pastors, teachers, professors and the laity. Remember "God loveth a cheerful giver." In the evening of next Sunday, a special thanksgiving sermon will be preached. On Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, a special Lutheran mass meeting will be held at Lutheran church. Seven lay members will speak. Everybody is cordially invited to attend. The Lutheran Ladies' Aid meets on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry Paulsen. In the evening of Thursday, 7:30, special Lenten services. Spews at 10:00 for the crucified and come to hear these sermons. Catechism instructions on Saturday at 2 p. m. Singing on Friday evening 6 o'clock.

School Notes. The attendance of the primary room was very good last week. The fourth grade is making weather charts for this month. Miss Ostrander is again in school after two days' absence on account of sickness. The attendance has been very good in third and fourth grades the past week. High School Inspector W. E. Voss, spent Tuesday afternoon inspecting our schools. Henry Peterson reported the high school basket ball boys' trip to the Lincoln tournament, last Friday afternoon. The third grade wrote bird compositions. The best ones were written by Sigel Atkinson, Helen Davis and Winifred Stephens. School will close for the week of Wednesday evening in order that the teachers may attend the North Nebraska Teachers' association, which convenes in Norfolk, March 27-29.

The pupils of the grammar room were invited to the second intermediate room last Tuesday morning to hear the talk given by Lieutenant Woodhiser. All enjoyed the talk very much. Marion Garwood, who represents the Carroll high school in the North Nebraska high school declaratory contest, will appear on the after-noon program which will be held in the auditorium at Norfolk Thursday, March 27, 2:30 p. m. A committee, from Miss Linn's room was appointed to take a bouquet of sweet peas out to Lois DeWitt, who has been very sick. The delivered the flowers Friday evening and found the little patient much improved. The fifth and sixth grades enjoyed their talk on "Modern Warfare" by Lieutenant J. L. Woodhiser last Tuesday morning. Lieutenant Woodhiser has seen two years of overseas fighting in connection with the heavy artillery and his talk was interesting as well as informational.

Methodist Church. (Rev. F. E. Sala, pastor.) It was a pleasure to welcome so many of our friends Sunday morning. There was almost a capacity congregation. Grunde Jones gave an exceptionally fine four-minute talk. Friends, are you reading the literature you have been receiving through the mail? We are doing out utmost to keep you acquainted with the urgent need of developing our spiritual powers as well as consecrating our material resources to the supreme task of making democracy safe for the world. If Carroll meets her lowest quota for pledges for intercessors, she must have at least one hundred. As yet, only forty-seven enrollment pledges for the fellowship of intercession has reached the pastor. Please mail or hand in your pledges. Our quota for the life service is fifteen. All of the pledge cards so far are from the younger members of 15 years or under. We thank God for these but we must wait for these to prepare. Where are the high school graduates and college folks? What are you doing to make the harvest, who will go and work to do it? A call for loyal soldiers comes to you one and all. Soldiers for the conflict, will you heed the call? Will you answer quickly, with a hearty "Yes" to the question, "Will you be enlisted as a volunteer? A volunteer for Jesus, a soldier for truth. Others have enlisted, why not you?

Obituary. Joseph Benjamin Mattingly a resident of Sholes for his last fourteen years, passed away at his home in Sholes, March 26. The funeral was held at the home Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. F. J. Sala, pastor of the Carroll Methodist church. Interment took place in the Randolph cemetery. Joseph Benjamin Mattingly was born at Rock Springs, Ky., in 1850, and died at the age of 70 years. He was united in marriage July 30, 1875, to Miss Margaret Payne at Bloomington, Ind. Dividend night, March 24, was well attended, some eighty members being present and a very good time was had. There were some forty new applications passed upon and the homestead is very much alive and growing very rapidly and as each day goes by it brings us nearer to the close of our great membership contest and all members are requested to do their share of bringing in new members for the grand prizes are open to all, so get busy, you may be the one to get the largest prize. It being dividend night, the cash dividend was given to all present and much delight was manifested as each in turn received his or her dividend in cash and as the flower dividend was next in order on the program of the evening, they all donated their dividends to the flower fund. On Saturday evening, March 22, the box social was held and after a very delightful program, the kind we very kindly consented to act as auctioneer for the occasion and when it comes to selling the well filled, beautiful lotions and keeping the crowd in good humor, Mr. Ellis certainly takes the prize, and while this was our first attempt at anything of the kind, we will in the next future give another social evening, so watch these columns for announcements. There was something over $80 received on this occasion which went into the homestead's general fund and the committee certainly is to be congratulated on the splendid success they attained. The next meeting night will be on April 4, and all who at that time want to pay their April dues also must attend the ball, so getting in as the correspondent will have her receipt books there and it will save a lot of time and labor and all we get from the ball is paying the first of the month, there will not be the danger of forgetting to pay the last of the month, so let us get the ball rolling.

AGRICULTURE NOTES.

Working for Better Poultry.

Quality, as well as quantity, is the object of the poultry drive now being conducted by poultry specialists of the United States department of agriculture. Special emphasis was placed on increasing production. This being accomplished, the poultry specialists, working in co-operation with the state extension forces, now urge the replacement of mongrel stock with standard-breed stock to improve both production and quality.

"Beating Swords Into Plowshares."

Uncle Sam now will use the raw material that was to flow Germany off the map for fertilizer, instead of making high explosive shells out of it he is putting it on the land to feed the food and cotton.

Notice.
The state of Nebraska, Wayne county, ss.

At a county court, held at the county court room, in and for said county of Wayne, on the 12th day of March, 1919.

Present, J. M. Chery, county judge.

In the matter of the estate of Herman Westehold, deceased.
On reading and filing the petition of Mary Westehold, praying that the instrument filed on the 12th day of March, 1919, and purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased, may be proved, approved, probated, allowed and recorded as the last will and testament of said Herman Westehold, deceased; and that the execution of said instrument may be committed and that the administration of said estate may be granted to Mary Westehold, as executrix.

Ordered, that March 31st, A. D. 1919, at 11 o'clock a. m. be assigned for hearing said petition, when all persons interested in said matter may appear at a county court to be held in and for said county, and show cause why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted; and that notice of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, be given to all persons interested in said matter by publishing a copy of this order in the Wayne Herald, a weekly newspaper printed in said county, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing.

J. M. CHERY, County Judge.

M2715: Forgot What He Needed.

From the Republican, Mt. Gilead, Ohio: The editor had an interesting experience a short time ago, when a young gentleman came to this office and asked for a copy of the Morrow County Republican. He examined it carefully, when a copy was handed him and then said: "Now I know!" "What is it you are looking for," we inquired. "My wife sent me a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and I forgot the name. I went to several stores and the clerks named over everything in the line on the shelf except Chamberlain's. I'll try again, and I'll never go home without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy." The Republican would suggest to the proprietors of stores, that they post their clerks, and never let them substitute. Customers lose faith in stores where substituting is permitted, to say nothing of the injustice to makers of good goods and the disappointment of customers.—Adv.

Bad Taste in Your Mouth.

When you have a bad taste in your mouth you may know that your digestion is faulty. A dose of Chamberlain's Tablets will usually correct this disorder. They also cause a gentle movement of the bowels. You will find this to be one of the best medicines you have ever become acquainted with.—Adv.

THE TITAN 10-20

Has a Transmission System that Delivers Power Developed by the Engine, to the Drawbar, with the Highest Degree of Efficiency

Double Chain Drive to Rear Wheel

Power is transmitted to the rear wheels through chains and sprockets. This gives a very serviceable drive for the tractor for many reasons. It is easier to keep it in alignment than a gear drive, and if slightly out of alignment it will work well, whereas gears would wear out rapidly under such conditions. Repairs for a chain drive cost much less than for a gear drive. If a tooth is broken out of the large sprocket on a Titan 10-20, the tractor will still operate fairly well, and will enable its owner to continue his work and suffer no loss because of delay, but if a tooth is broken out of a gear it is in most cases ruined, and means that the owner must stop work until the part is replaced. Repairs to a chain are trifling matters, should they be necessary, and much less expensive than repairs to gears. A Titan 10-20 will stand hard, gruelling work, day in and day out. It stays on the job. Is that the kind of a tractor you want?
