Skrells Writes Report About Improvements. Drainage Needed, but Original Plan Could be Modified.

George Y. Skeels, civil engineer of Sioux City, presents the following report following his investigation of conditions here with reference to the need of drainage improvement to paving:

Sioux City, March 27, 1919.—Messrs. J. H. Foster, C. M. Craven, C. E. Carhart, Wayne, Neb. Gentlemen: In response to your request, I have carefully examined the plans for a storm water sewer system in your city furnished by your engineer, and find that they are not satisfactory.

I understand that petitions have been referred to that city and some adjacent streets be paved this year, and the examination and inspection was made with a view to determining whether or not a storm water sewer was necessary before paving.

Such a condition would involve damage to units until it was corrected. An examination of the plans leads me to believe that they could be modified considerably and still take care of the water.

Yours very truly, G. Y. Skeels.

WINNERS IN THE CONTEST

O'Neill, Coleridge, and Albion Take First Prizes at Norfolk.

(Norfolk Daily News.)

O'Neill carried off the oratorical honors at the north Nebraska high school contest held in the Norfolk auditorium Thursday afternoon, and night when Asaeln Whelan of the O'Neill high school won first prize in that class by his splendid delivery of the oration, "The Independence of Cuba." Ted Gibson of Coleridge with "Ira and Con" won the first prize in the humorous class, and Sybil Barrett of Alhion, with "Helen Thayer," won the first prize in the dramatic class.

Thirty-One Schools Represented.
Thirty-one schools were represented in the big contest which attracted unusual attention. The auditorium was comfortably filled at 2:30 Thursday afternoon when the first selection of the declamatory program opened. When the night session began at 7:30 Thursday evening there was hardly a seat left in either floor of the theater.

Standing room was at a premium in the night. Each contestant had a large following of backers. The awarding of the nine medals came at a late hour due to the length of the program.
The judges had some difficulty in recording marks for contestants due to the splendid showing in several of the numbers and the contest this year developed some real orators. The first prize winners were not so difficult to select. The judges declared. The pronunciation and articulation, carriage and gesture records this year are practically as good as a year ago. The general display of oratorical ability has been highly complimented by experts who were in the audience.

From Peace to War.
B. L. T. in the Chicago Tribune. The peace conference may become a war conference.
B. L. T. in the Chicago Tribune: What shall it profit the allies if they gain the war and lose the whole world?

Carroll Girl a Winner.
The other winners in the oratorical class were Harry Carson of Norfolk, winner of second prize with "Americanism," Dean Shaffer, St. Edward won third prize with "Man Without a Country," Frank Mitchell of Stanton won second prize in the humorous class, his subject being "In Honor of Columbus," Marion Garwood of Carroll won third prize in the humorous class with "On the Baluster," Huber Addison of Newcastle won second prize in the dramatic class with "The Boy of Capata City," and the third went to Mary Bost of Walthill whose subject was "Sombre."

The musical program which accompanied the contest was especially good. The Stanton high school octet was recalled several times by the audience. Misses Edna Cook and Fayne Smithberger and Charles Lively gave vocal solos. Music was also furnished by the Madison high school orchestra.

The judges of the contest were: Mable E. Brown, Sioux City, Ia., Rena Gilman, Lincoln, Neb.; and Florence Buck, University Place, Neb. Hugh J. Boyle of Norfolk was referee.

A Battery You Don't Have to Think About —or Talk About

If you are one of the great majority who won't even read about "electrolytic" grids and patent insides, you will be tickled to death to leave all that, including the care of your battery, solely to us.

About the only angle of the battery question that seriously interests most motorists is the importance of getting one they don't have to think about or talk about.

If you feel that way, you can leave it to us to produce the evidence that Prest-O-Lite is the one battery in that class.

The Prest-O-Lite Battery has exceeded in every competitive test—it has more pep, power and endurance. There is a correct size for every car.

By calling on us for free inspections and distilled water when needed, you can forget there is such a thing as battery trouble.

We are offering you real relief from battery worries. Give us a chance to show you how well we can serve you.

Mr. Tractor Owner Is It Economy

To invest $1,500 or more in what you consider a good tractor and then figure that you can economize by using cheap or inferior grades of oil to lubricate the same?

The fact of the matter is (and many Wayne county tractor owners have found it out) that it is economy to use T. V. B. tractor oils because they save you money. How? Well, let me ask you a question: Wouldn't you rather pay a few cents more and KNOW that your engine was getting the proper lubrication, and be free from the worry and expense of extensive repairs? Taking a period of three years for instance, don't you think it is really a matter of dollars and cents in your pocket to use "THE VERY BEST"?

Buy T. V. B. Pennsylvania Tractor Oils Because

FIRST. It is a paraffine base oil, consequently works clean and is free from a tendency to gum.

SECOND. It is a HIGH FIRE TEST OIL. (Compare it with others) and it insures a cooler engine, greater compression, hence more power.

THIRD. It has a high viscosity or friction test which together with the high fire test insures the maximum of service.

FOURTH. Under actual working conditions it has been demonstrated T. V. B. TRACTOR OILS will last ONE-THIRD LONGER than others. The wearing test is the only REAL test as to economy. The best way to prove it is in your engine.

Remember we sell you an oil that fits YOUR tractor—we do not guess as to the proper weight to use. Is it reasonable to suppose that the many styles of tractors with the various types of engines and oiling systems could all use the same oil to advantage?

Therefore remember our slogan: "An Oil that Fits Your Motor Works Like a Shoe that Fits Your Foot"—And we guarantee it.

Let Your Motor Be the Judge—It Knows

UNCLE WALT THE POET PHILOSOPHER

WINTER'S BACKBONE.

Let glad words be joyously spoken, let bonnets be thrown in the air, the backbone of winter is broken. It is broken to some can repair. Farewell to the sleet and the drizzle, may springs will presently come; old winter's frost and a fizzle, the limit of all that is hum, I see in the heavens a token that spring will have with the goods; the backbone of winter is broken, the birch will sing in the woods, Farewell to the coughing and sneezing, to wintering ailments all know, to nights that are age-long and freezing, to winds that are plaster-cake-sticky. I've feared that all overcoat oaken would hold me ere winter was done; the backbone of winter is broken, make way for the soft, the old sun! Make way for the roses and lilies, make way for the grass and the dew; the spring has given us willers, but winter has given us better than any. From Hannibal clear to Hoboken let's lift up a rapturous song; the backbone of winter is broken, the backbone that hung on so long.

RURAL DELIVERY.

In winter, when my temptress rages, I sit in my upholstered cage, before a cheery blaze, and think about the postmen bold who, in the blizzard raw and cold, undaunted, go their ways. I see them as from town they go, to journey thirty miles or so, set heavily on country roads, and wish I had Milton's lute, that I might sing, with proper fire, some eclogical odes. When wintry tempter rips and tears, we snuggle down in cozy chairs, and read detective tales; but on his route, the postman goes, and faces every wind that blows, and the ice and the wintry gales. Through every kind of misfit storm, while others bask in houses warm, the postman has to chase, the sleet is made of frozen rain and where it hits it leaves a pain—all day it swats his face. The snow lands on him by the peck, the rain is running down his neck. Dame Nature's maddening tears; still, still he drives through mud and sleet; his shoes are full of frozen feet, and sleet is in his ears. He carries a hundred bones a day, alas, alas, his meagre pay deserves the country's scorn; his children cry in vain for pie, for he has just enough to buy his pony hay and corn.

THE FURNACE.

I have closed the furnace door till King Winter has returned; and the ashes on the floor represent the coin I've burned; countless tons of costly-coal have stripped down my meager roll; oh, give whiskeys, how my soul for the breath of spring has Yearning! There's a sort of solemn bliss when we close the furnace door, knowing that all temptresses will show cold no more many winter days must pass, we shall not owe a lot of grass, grow a lot of ferns, etc., we've seen the old man's face. Oh, the future has a third and a hunger out of sight; feed it, I don't think 't would burst, and it will have appetites, ward the snow in the show, you must feel the greyly may all the day and half of winter. It's a Mulatto, he's made a success every hour; taking from a weary harem money that he need not clear, money that he need for loans and for bets and party frosts; and it doesn't care three hours that you need is dire and dire. I've saved my own overcoat, put a mortgage on the bull, that the red and glowing throat of the backbone might be full, so, I'm glad that stunt is over, till again the blizzard roars; Spring is smiling at the door and she seems to be all wood.

HOME TO ROOST.

All odd things come home to roost, and the case—mud, mangle and distress—of I give right costs a boost, through selfish motives, more or less. A man must have a fair amount of the good in his journey here, must have high credit in his town, and in the country far and near. A chap may think he'll put across a horse, but some-one else's good name, but all the profits are a loss for he has soiled his snowy name. Some day when he would make the race, or crown, or county clerk, his misdeed swats him in the face, and spoils long years of good work. I'm old and full of virtue now, but never the I care to hear of how I kidnapped Johnson's cow, upon a distant bygone year. I stand in the State school, and hand out oys and maxims fine, and while I thus expound and drool, I hear kids whisper, "Johnson's kid!" I might be honored, now, I'm gray, and have a halo 'er my brow, but for that dark and fateful day when I cloped with Johnson's cow. We say a man can live it down, if he should cheat or lie or steal, but better is the white renown that has been earned in honest conceal. The evil birds are all unloosed in our old age, a noisome host, and they come flying home to roost, just when the blameth things hurt the most.

THE BUNDLE.

By careless judgment and thrift, by management and care, I've raised a bundle of my own, and my bones are there. While others had a bulgy time and made the goblets clank, I labored hard, and my bundle, and store it in the bank. Through burning days and dismal nights I toiled with weary tread, while other fellows saw the stars and stained the landscape red. So I detest the whiskered pup who comes from state saloons, to say we ought to divvy up our store of minnyes. We will attach a fancy name to creeds he may parade, but it's the same old holdup game the thieves have always played. The same old hopes forever burn in lawless people's souls, to gather coin they do not earn, and swipe their neighbor's rolls. So long as there's a planet here, some men will practice thrift, and other men, with chests or beer, will talk and loaf and drift. And while this planet shall abide the bums will always say, that shady fellows should divide or give their wad away. I've pushed the plow and plied the flail and groomed the setting hen, and trimmed the tree, and split the rail, to gain my iron end. And all my good nights may roar, may threaten, plead and whine, and thunder loudly at the door, but what I have is mine.

APRIL.

When April comes the wellworn hums with cries of many gladnesses, the Winter's past and Spring at last has come to ease our sadness. The birds return with songs to burn, and frolic in the maples, the farmer shows his oats in rows, and hay and other staples. When blizzards whoop around the coop it's hard to keep on smiling, but April days soothe weary jays, with zephyrs most beguiling. We're tired and worn ere to his bourne old Winter has departed; while his snow and sleet have chilled our feet and left us broken-hearted. Despair he springs but April brings a salve and our hearts are bright and sunny, it's quiet at last, and all the world enthuses. The ancient cry of beary eye folks, his warty wingers, and his wings along with laugh and song, a caution to all sprinters. The man of aches whose groaning makes a discord of existence, forgets disease and laments the freeze that comes from some blue distance. The chronic grouch forsakes his couch without a hint or hello, and throws his hat and kicks the cat and seems a sprightly fellow. Oh, April ends our woe, my friends, the woe that comes from being the wrong kind, knows sweet content and like a dinger dingsh.

For a Quicker Start

When you start your car, don't try to do it all with the starter button, for that only wastes current. Prime your cylinders and then:

1. Set your controls right, with retarded spark and throttle slightly open.
2. Use your choke to get a richer mixture and quicker explosion.
3. Throw out the clutch and take some of the load off the engine.
4. Then—and not till then—step on the button, and away she'll go.

There are lots of other little wrinkles that prolong your battery's life and make car operation easier. Drop in and let us post you on them.

May Keep Uniform.
Randolph Times: There has been considerable discussion as to whether or not an honorably discharged soldier could retain his uniform. The war department has made ruling that each discharged soldier may keep his uniform. This fact is set forth in a letter received by Private William DeKey who wrote the war department on the matter. The letter is as follows:
Omaha, March 25, 1919.
Mr. Wm. B. DeKey,
Randolph, Neb.
Replying to your letter of March 23, 1919, you are advised that honorably discharged soldiers are permitted to permanently retain the complete suit of outer uniform clothing, including the overcoat.

Iroquois Chief: Let us have the peace treaty and chew over the league of nations plan later. It is nothing but stubbornness to insist that the league of nations plan, over which there is such a wide difference of opinion, should be made a part of the peace treaty, which everybody is agreed upon.

Expanding to Meet Public Needs

THE packer is a purveyor of foods. Largely dependent on him are the producer, the retailer and the consumer. The farmer looks to the large packing concern to provide outlets for what he raises. The housewife relies upon the packer for an important part of her daily food supply. Retailers expect prompt service and regular deliveries. Thousands of workmen are given gainful employment.

Of all industrial undertakings none so closely allied to the comfort and security of the nation.

To meet these responsibilities successfully makes large scale operation imperative. For, in order to buy from the grower whenever he is ready to sell, Armour must have a national market to distribute foods everywhere. And conversely, to make food supplies certain, Armour must be able to buy in many producing centers.

Serving both producers and consumers, it is evident that such a business must be conducted fairly and beneficially to all in no other way can its business be justified. In no other way could it have thrived.

But to carry out its uses fully, the responsibilities of the business must be met by the responsibility of those it serves. In its own interests the public must give big business the opportunity to perform the service which is very properly expected of it.

With a multitude of problems to be solved in national collecting and distributing, a complex though smoothly working system has, been evolved in the Armour organization through the course of years. Each part dovetails in its work with the rest. All are dependent upon and inter-related with the others.

Food plants would be unable to give stock-crowns outlets without the branch houses which are continually competing for trade. And neither the producing plant nor the distributing branches could operate on an efficient and economical basis without the modern refrigerator cars directed under a single management which controls their movements.

In short, the Armour system is the outgrowth of national needs—a system which can give maximum service only as a whole—and that remembered, would fall to live up to the requirements which the country and city public today demands.

If people talk rash through a meter and had to be paid for according to rates charged for Wayne electricity, there would be a good deal less of no value said.

With plenty of opportunities for employment at good wages, there would seem no excuse for idleness and yet there are able-bodied loafers in every community.

The idea of course is to get ahead of the sun in rearranging time. If it were not so, the president and congress would have the sun speed up. It will be remembered that Louisiana stopped it once. No one will contend that the hands of our government are less powerful than Joshua.

There is nothing now for the city council to do, looking to drainage and paving but to figure out approximate needs and order a special election. It will then be up to the people to say what they want. The council cannot responsibly do less nor more than grant the privilege of popular expression. With such opportunity, people will either endorse or disapprove and the trust accept results one way or the other.

Early in the week there was an acrimonious dispute between the roads in the country and the streets in town as to which were the worst. Neither had been perceptibly dragged and they were never more evenly matched nor more equally unwinning. Dragging to follow subsequent rains will determine the relative audience of town streets and rural highways with reference to bumps and declivities.

Wayne can easily be made a town three times its present size within a few years by exercising due enterprise and turning opportunities to advantage. We have the resources for a town of 10,000 prosperous and happy people. We have the county seat, State Normal, unexcelled public school system and an intelligent citizenship, and we are surrounded by the richest farms and the most progressive farmers in the state. Town property is not only safe, but a profitable investment. All these things being true, why not loosen purse-strings and do some needed building and improving?

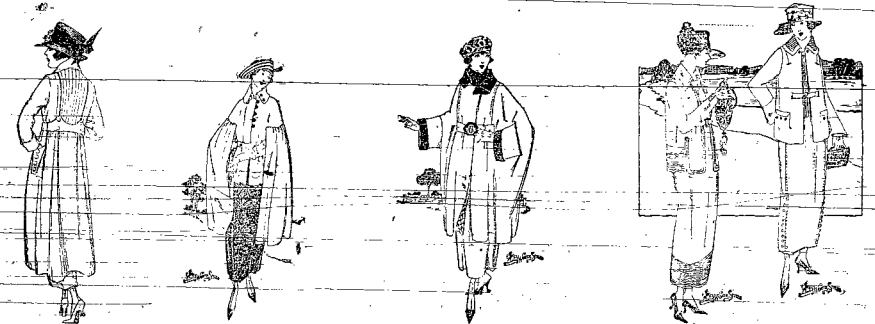

The Methodists' in and around Carroll are evidently live wires, and are willing to pay their way into heaven. They have subscribed $20,000 a year for five years for the centenary movement. They will make a total gift of $100,000 for the purpose mentioned. Carroll centenary work is not restricted to the Methodists. The town proposes to pave Main street and is now moving in that direction. Encouraged by its success in getting the state and the railroad company and Carnegie to make improvements here, we wonder if Carroll and Wakefield and Wakefield could be persuaded to pave Wayne! The different towns ought to be able to see the advantage in having due improvements in the largest town to which they could point with pride and without apology.

Clocks were generally set ahead Saturday night, to comply with a law, passed and applied a year ago to help the war, but which congress neglected to repeal in the hurry and hubbub of its closing days around March 1. All day Sunday people were adjusting themselves to the change. The average stomach, accustomed to regularity, did not yearn for hash an hour earlier in the day. It took a little time to train organs of digestion to accord with the new arrangement. Roosters still crow according to the old time and it will take a few weeks for them to get used to the new order of things. People in a farming community don't change their country, but they have to abide by it in order to be harmonious and agreeable. It is said 1,250,000 tons of wheat saved the war, and the daylight law, though we doubt if one pound were saved by reason of it in Wayne county.

A gentleman told the Herald his wife's experience during the war. He said that he had never known a man who had one or more boys in the service in France. This mother had a son in the service. He got up in the morning and retired at night with the boys in mind. Their pictures on the wall caught his eye. He went to look at them before she turned off the light in the hope of sleep. Every waking moment, he breathed anxiety and

A number of original selections, given by members, spot, mustably inclined, created lots of fun. A fine was imposed on any member failing to appear on the program.

It is eminently worth while for the stock breeders to read over the advertisement of John S. Lewis, Jr., in today's Herald. It will be found on page eight of the second section. Mr. Lewis is calling attention to the superior blood lines of his herd of Short horns, and to the fact that breeders wanting stock may wish to consider buying from him.

Baptist Church.

(Rev. M. O. Clemmons, pastor.)

At the Baptist church last Sunday and will preach again next Sunday at 10:30 and 7:30. In the morning the subject will be "Christianity in World Reconstruction." The evening services will deal with the "Victory Campaign." No member of the congregation can afford to miss these services as the subjects are vital in the affairs of the kingdom.

Mr. Clemmons who is here as a visitor for the pastor over the Wayne church, has recently come from Arcadia, Florida, where he was the representative of the war department commission on training camp activities in war camp community service. He had charge of the social and recreational activities for the soldiers of Dorr and Cataraun aviation fields in that town.

Before his enlistment in that work he was pastor of the Grandview Baptist church in Kansas City, Kas. and for a time was secretary of the Kansas City mission society. He holds the A. B. degree from Ottawa university, the B. D. from the Kansas City theological seminary, has completed courses in the polytechnic institute of Kansas City, Mo., and has completed the work required for the earned degree of doctor in theology. He has been a pastor in Kansas for ten years, holding parishes in Wilmore, Dodge City and Kansas City.

Plans for pronounced advance in the Sunday school are being made. All Baptists and others without church homes in Wayne are cordially invited to join in.

The Skeptical Are Convinced

The man who said the world was round, the man who discovered the circulation of the blood, the man who invented the first horseless carriage, all these were ridiculed, scoffed at and jeered, were called lunatics and other opprobrious names. So it has been with the disciples of CHIROPRACTIC, the greatest HEALTH SCIENCE ever known. They, too, have been laughed at, ridiculed and persecuted. However of late years CHIROPRACTIC has in common with other great discoveries has advanced rapidly and through merit in Adjustments prejudice has been dispelled because of thousands of patients who have been blessed with HEALTH AND HAPPINESS by using CHIROPRACTIC SPINAL ADJUSTMENTS. chard, and Nora Lundberg, and Will McCabe.

(From Ponca Journal, April 3, 1919.)
The night following town election day, was celebrated in due and ancient form. Boxes and barrels were thrown into the street and the devil danced generally.

The rush of immigration to this country from abroad the past few months was immense. The railroads cannot furnish cars enough to accommodate the constantly increasing tide.

Ed Myers commenced to officiate as brakeman last week on that fragment of Vanderbilt which runs into this town from Sioux City, and on Friday he had his fingers smashed while coupling cars in Cavington.

To show how a man can prosper who has nothing to start on except energy, we call attention to the case of S. Wyman who left here three weeks ago. He went to Kansas, bought and took a homestead. Within a short time he sold his improvements and claim for $300. Then he took a tree claim and pre-emption. For these claims he has been offered $1,500, but has refused to sell and is making many improvements, and will make his home there. In addition, he has six head of cattle and came here this week to buy more. Thus from a penniless condition he is in a short year well off and will very likely in time become one of the rich men of Kitcox county.

Unmerited Poverty.

(Nebraska Farmer.)
It is hard for an American to admit that even a good suggestion can come from a king, but this seems so possible when the king lives in a democratic country like England. At least it was the king of England who first said, as far as we know, that we should make it our duty to do away with "unmerited poverty."

We all desire to eliminate poverty as far as possible. This is the reason we organize charity associations to help take away its sting. We have heard many theorists talk about doing away with poverty entirely. The socialists want to do something of that kind. The I. W. W. has some such notion. Even the bolsheviki have the disease in an exaggerated form.

Poverty is the result of some cause, either avoidable or unavoidable. Perhaps sickness makes it impossible for the poor man to work, and hence he must stay poor. Perhaps poverty of his family or poverty of his land makes it necessary for a young man to spend his untitled time securing money at unskilled labor for their living and hence he remains poor. Perhaps one has an inherited weakness, either mental or physical, for which he is not in the least to blame, and so must remain poor. Or perhaps one is ambitious, industrious, and honest, and still finds no opportunity for honest employment at a reasonable wage. If there are any of these things that keep people poor, they must remain poor. It is probably people of this kind who might be placed in the class of those who have unmerited poverty. These people deserve support from society.

We have, however, another class of people who have merited poverty. They have invited it. They seem to welcome it. In fact, sometimes it would appear that they have gone in a round about way in search of it. They may be lazy, they may be indifferent, or they may be foolish, but these things will not place them in the class where society owes them any particular obligations. In fact, society would be doing itself an injustice if it provided an easy livelihood to those who merit poverty, just as much as it will do injustice to itself if it does not provide for those of unmerited poverty.

Fooling Away His Time.

Prussian Bluff?

Chicago Daily News: As time goes on the Hungarians are beginning to look more and more like a stage managed affair, under the direction of Prussian experts.

Sioux Falls Argus-Leader: The league of nations may yet prove to be the most expensive "trick" ever attached to any bill in the entire history of the world.

Bolshevism's Objective.

St. Paul Pioneer-Press: It's so plain that there can't be a league of nations without any nations, and it is these that bolshevism is attempting to destroy.

You Are Interested in Fair Telephone Earnings

When you have money to lend, you naturally seek that investment which promises the highest return with the same degree of safety. So do other people.

Because all investors do this, it is necessary that the earnings of the telephone companies be such as will promote confidence rather than discourage the investment of money in their securities.

Telephone companies when privately operated have no guarantee against losses, nor are they assured any specific rate of return upon their investment.

The rates of telephone companies must be such as will produce sufficient revenue to pay their employees fair wages, maintain and operate their property in a manner that will insure good service, and pay the investors a reasonable return on their money.

The destruction or serious impairment of public confidence in the securities of telephone companies by too low rates or too exacting public regulation would discourage investment in the telephone business.

And extensions and improvements necessary to meet the constantly expanding needs of the public for telephone service can only be made through the investment of new money in the business.

Unshaken Testimony.

Time is the test of truth. And Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test in Wayne. No Wayne resident who suffers backache, or annoying urinary ailments, can remain unconvicted by this twice-told testimony. Mrs. Ira Hoshaw, Wayne, says: 'I was confined to bed several weeks with a severe attack of grip. Upon recovering I found my kidneys had become weakened. I was a great sufferer from sharp pains about the small of my back and lameness through my loins. My head throbbed for hours at a time and I couldn't rest well at night. After trying various remedies a few days, the backache left me and my kidneys were strengthened. In three weeks all my annoying urinary troubles had disappeared. My kidneys trouble I may have.' Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Hoshaw had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

Do You Sleep Well?

To be at his best a man must have sound, refreshing sleep. When wakeful and restless at night he is in no condition for work or business during the day. Wakefulness is often caused by indigestion and constipation, and is quickly relieved by Chamberlain's Tablets. Try a dose of these tablets and see how much better you feel with a clear head and good digestion.

Nothing New.

If I were a Farmer.

If I were a farmer I would keep at hand a few reliable medicines for minor ailments that are not so serious as to require the attention of a physician, such as Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds and croup. Chamberlain's Liniment for sprains, bruises and rheumatic pains.

Chamberlain's Tablets for stomach troubles, biliousness and constipation.

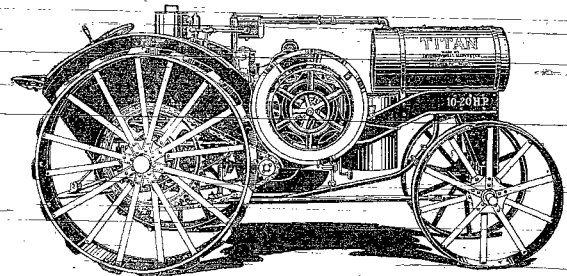

By having these articles at hand it would often save the trouble of a trip to town in the busiest season or in the night, and would ensure me the slightest ailments as soon as they appear, and thereby avoid the more serious diseases that so often follow.—Adv.

For Bilious Troubles.

To promote a healthy action of the liver and correct the disorders connected therewith, Chamberlain's Tablets are excellent. Try them and see how quickly they give you a relish for your food and banish that full and stupid feeling.—Adv.

LAND VALUES WILL GO UP

One Man Predicts Prices Will Advance to $500 an Acre.

C. A. Kull in Omaha World Herald: Farms lands west of the Missouri river at $500 per acre mean a great deal more to the owners than the fellows who have always cried that lands are too high now. We have always heard this story and always will from the fellows who have no land and never will have any.

That land here in northeastern Nebraska will sell at $500 per acre and more is as certain as the sun rises again. We have as good land as can be found anywhere with a most remarkable subsoil that forms the best Nitration reservoir possible. Think of it—non-traditional crops that every inch will produce sugar to a depth of over 700 feet. Remember! That it is only 100 years ago that Thomas Jefferson, with his wonderful foresight, bought this land from France and sold it to the people of the colonies were going to him because they said there would never be people enough to fill this vast wilderness. Look at you today!—You see the finest farms to be found anywhere, and the lands worth up to $200 per acre with an average of about $125 per acre. Lands to the east of us are as high as $500 per acre, and in Europe lands cannot be bought at any price. Land is the basis of all wealth. Do you want your part of this wealth?

We hear it said, "If I had the opportunity had had twenty-five years ago, I would show you." We will hear this saying twenty-five years from now. It is pluck that makes opportunities, but the question is: Have you pluck? Today lands can be bought with less money and on easier terms than ever ago. Do you get that?

You can buy land today cheaper and on better terms than when your father bought his land. An man with pluck and from $3000 to $5000 can buy and eventually pay for one of these good farms, and then he is better fixed than 85 per cent of his fellows. Now, you may say, "How do I know where to go to buy land?" This is surely important, for you know that if you lose your $2000 to $5000 it will be much harder to start all over again. You must rely upon experience of the past and not think that you can change conditions of a locality.

Remember when looking for lands, if you want corn land, stay in a country where the rainfall is twenty-five inches or more and the altitude is less than 2000 feet. Be sure that the subsoil is a good yellow clay. If you want grain and grass, stay in the rain belt. Be careful not to get too flat lands that have no outlet for filling out drainage, because frogs and mosquitoes do well on flat wet land that cannot be drained; grain does not.

Northeastern Nebraska has more acres of first class land than any other state in corn, alfalfa, cattle and hogs at less expense than any other area of equal size. The reason for this is, that the country is uniform in quality, there are no very bad places, and there are so small compared with the good lands that one would not notice them at all. Especially is this true of the Logan valley, which touches several counties, and is without a doubt the richest farming valley anywhere in the nation. The clay subsoil is very porous to a depth of 100 feet or more, any part of which will produce a crop, and also acts as a reservoir to supply plants with moisture during a dry spell and when it is wet it will take care of all the water that falls on it. Therefore, if the top soil is properly cultivated, a crop can be raised with very little rain, and a crop failure is unnecessary. This soil is highly adapted with time, which is very essential to the continuous production of crops, especially alfalfa and sweet clover. Lime counteracts the acid which forms from cropping land and it keeps up the fertility of the soil.

This land can be farmed for a thousand years and will be as good or better at the end of that time as it is today providing that the farmer will rotate the crops and raise clover and alfalfa.

Regarding drainage, this part of the state is especially favored, there being numerous small streams of fine water between the slightly rolling land. There is a good fall and any lands that are too wet can be easily reclaimed by proper tiling, the soil being such that the water percolates through it very easily to the tile.

To appreciate this part of Nebraska one should travel through the middle states from the gulf to Canada and from the eighty-fifth to the one hundred and fifty meridian, making observation of the soil, climatic conditions, trees and crops, and they will soon come back and say as is above stated, northeastern Nebraska is the best of all.

The prices of lands in this part of the state range from $100 to $300 per acre and with proper farming will pay good interest on the investment, besides the advance in value. Another thing of vital importance is the splendid market and transportation facilities, surpassed by none and equalled by few.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our thanks to our friends and neighbors for their kindness during the sickness and death of our sister-in-law, Mrs. Ed. Abbott, A. J. Chance and family.

Improved Business.

Sioux City Journal: Slight but encouraging changes in the better trade conditions were in evidence last week. Both wholesale and retail buying showed larger volume for the preceding week. This improvement was in part due to near ideal weather conditions in the southern portion of the country, wheat and corn, where the planting prospects were exceptionally good. The closing of farm operations took place in the latter part of the week, and the Government announced a labor in these regions, in connection with the Government.

Other influences joined with agricultural prospects to add an optimistic condition to the business outlook. There was an increased demand for iron and steel, traceable to the actual or near actual stoppage of the building season and to the new prices which were announced by the steel trust last week. The opening of great lakes navigation by the Government, in the northern trade, has more influence this year than in the past because of the difference in water and railway rates. The Government operation of the railroads.

Government reports for the month which show increased in the wholesale price of woollens, food and metals, though these changes are but a few points. The month is the one in which there is a downward instead of upward of level, and that the changes cover the things in which the business man is most concerned. The current market prices for most of the commodities which enter into the living of the people are 105 compared to 100 March of last year, or about a 5 per cent decrease.

Wool, purchased by the government, in the past, was sold at public auction last week, brought higher prices than were expected. This indicates that the cost of the wool will be much higher until the supply of raw material is increased by the present year's clip. The absorption of 100,000 pounds of copper owned by the government by the copper trust has not in any manner changed the prices of products into which copper enters.

Celebrate Golden Wedding.

Mrs. Walter Harburt of Carroll, was the guest of honor at the route home from Westfield, Mo., where she attended the golden wedding anniversary celebration of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. The following account appeared in The Index, published in Hickory county, Mo.

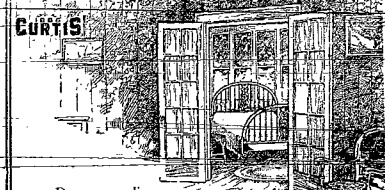

"One of the happiest events of the season occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Abbott on Saturday, March 15, 1919, when celebrating their golden wedding. The bride was beautifully gowned in purple messaline, trimmed in the same buttons that she wore on her wedding day, and she carried a bouquet of white and red flowers. The groom wore a gray suit mounted with a silver pin that he had purchased during the Civil war. The decorations were set out in blue and white and gold, a home spun hand woven counterpane was an addition that was novel. The bride's mother-in-law, Mrs. Ed. Abbott, mother-in-law, and a beautiful piece of work. The guests from afar were two daughters, Mrs. Sula Barker and Mrs. Charles of Eureka Springs, Mo., and Mrs. Ed. Wenger, brother-in-law. The bride's father-in-law, Mr. M. S. Spoor and family, another daughter, who resides near her parents. Their two sons, William and Charles, also at another daughter, Mrs. Sidnie Spoor of North, Mo. were not able to be present.

Forty-one dollars were received in one, five and ten dollar gold pieces, a diamond ring, gold watch chain, an aluminum kettle, a gold towel and a beautiful (shaw) knit in gold and blue were among the presents. As the day was warm, a party of young folks were spread south through the house where the happy young folk couple led the way and the guests followed in an orderly manner, an accompanying table that was fairly groaning under its weight of good things which they haven't space or time to enumerate. It was felt that all did ample justice and were loath to leave to make room for the children. The bride's cake, a mixed one, was decorated with white with gold trimmings with the figures 1869 and 1919 in gold on the top. Several pictures were taken and the afternoon was spent in singing and social conversation. The guests departed about 4 p. m. wishing Mr. and Mrs. Abbott many more happy and prosperous years. The bride's father-in-law and feeling that a very happy day had been spent."

Released From Navy.

Mr. J. M. Gustafson spent Sunday in J. M. Gustafson's mother, Mrs. Clara Gustafson and other relatives. Mr. Gustafson had recently been discharged from the service. For over a year he was stationed at the Great Lakes training station as chief quartermaster in the motor ship. The men in that department took care of all the repairing of the airplanes except the motors. Mr. and Mrs. Gustafson went to Bloomfield Tuesday evening to make their home. Mr. Gustafson will resume his work as contractor and builder.

Cushman Does More Light Plant

Light and Power

The Unit Belt Type Electric Lighting Plant in One Plant

The Standard 4 H.P. All Purpose Power Plant

Why the Cushman "Does More"

It does more because it gives you both portable Light and Portable Power in one plant, in the most compact, efficient and convenient form ever devised.

It does more because there is less vibration with a belted outfit like the Cushman, and consequently less adjustment, repair and service are required.

It does more because every part is get-at-able. It is not necessary to "tear down" the plant to correct any trouble.

It does more because the same engine—the 4 H. P. Cushman All-Purpose Engine—may be used for work all over the farm, or to be attached to binder, pointo digger, corn loader or other machinery.

It does more because other machinery may be run from clutch pulley on engine at the same time. The batteries are being charged by Belt from fly-wheel side of engine. It is the most flexible outfit.

The Cushman Self-Starter

permits the Cushman Plant to be started, stopped and operated by a woman or child. It is the only starter that automatically releases engine compression and turns on off oil. Engine started from switchboard, by pushing a button.

We have a Cushman "Does-More" Light Plant ready for demonstration. Please call and see it.

Laurel Advocate: The Wakefield Republican has raised its advertising rate to twenty cents an inch; the Enterprise and Alien News have each had that rate for more than a year. It's worth it. The advertising columns of a newspaper are its "stock in trade"; the same as a merchant's goods on the shelves of his store. The Republican of Wakefield only came up to the twenty-cent rate the first of this month, but since then has had more advertising than ever.

WAYNE WOMAN PRESIDENT
 Miss Edith Beechel at Head of the Teachers' Association.

Miss Edith Beechel, member of the Wayne State Normal faculty, was elected president of the North Nebraska Teachers' Association which met in annual session at Norfolk last week. C. A. Mohrman of Neigh was elected vice president. F. C. Grant of Randolph, secretary, and E. R. Rogers of Piler, treasurer. The place of the next meeting will be determined by the executive committee.

Saturday's Norfolk Daily News gave the following account of the meeting:
 For the first time in thirty-three years a woman was put at the head of the North Nebraska Teachers' association when Miss Edith Beechel of the Wayne state normal school was elected president at the business session of that organization held in the auditorium of the historic high school building late Friday evening. The selection of Miss Beechel was unanimous after a stirring nominating address by E. B. Rogers of Piler, who declared that the women have been doing 99 per cent of the work in the public schools and that the time had arrived to give them official recognition. In nominating Miss Beechel, Mr. Rogers declared her to be one of the foremost women educators in north Nebraska. The seconds to the nomination came rapidly and there was considerable enthusiasm in carrying the motion to close the nominations immediately after Miss Beechel had been nominated.

Business Session Advanced.
 The business session was advanced by an agreement made during the afternoon general session and a small gathering of teachers, a large number of them men, attended it. There was no opposition to the apparent agreement of officers for the ensuing year and it was declared to be one of the most amicable elections ever held by the association.

A resolution was adopted asking the state legislature to act favorably on senate file No. 189 which carries a revision of the certification of teachers. The resolution followed in address by Prof. U. S. Conn of the Wayne normal in the opposition to the extraordinary long list of certificates. The list of certificates now approximately thirty-two different kinds of certificates issued to teachers. The new measure, he declared would eliminate many of these certificates and would tend to raise the standard of teachers. He admitted that the elimination of the low grade certificates was cut off many of the teachers who are not progressing in their work.

Prof. E. M. Gregg, president of the State Teachers' association, made a plea during the afternoon for larger membership in the National Educational association on the grounds that the association was helping to bring the teaching profession to a higher plane. It was reported that every teacher in at least three Norfolk schools now hold membership in that organization and that a large number of those attending the convention were applying for membership. The question of bringing meetings of the state teachers' association to at least five big centers of Nebraska, including Norfolk, was discussed among the teachers.

They declare that at the present time only a part of the teachers of the state receive benefits from the state pension plan. It was declared in four or five parts of the state the benefits would be more general. 450 Teachers Register.

A total of 450 teachers registered before adjournment at noon Saturday, according to the report of President Simon. The low number of registrations was declared to be due to the abnormal school year caused by the influenza epidemic and other conditions which affected the schools. Some of the speakers to close the schools in order to allow teachers to attend the meeting.

Rev. T. L. Lewis of Omaha talked to a crowded house in the auditorium Friday night when the evening of the general session of the convention was opened. He discussed many interesting problems of reconstruction.

The second session of the convention was held in the auditorium theater Saturday morning. Among the speakers during this session were: C. A. Palmer, director of vocational education, who spoke on "The New Education"; a young legislator, George E. Harlin of the Kearney state normal and Dr. J. L. Meriam, department of education of the Missouri state normal, who spoke on "A Real School For the Real Boy."

High School Section.
 "Waste of time in class room," was the subject discussed in the high school section by Dean W. S. Russell. Harold Smith of Albion talked on "The Development for Citizenship." This paper was discussed by O. H. Binson of Osmond. Hazel V. Williams of Wisner talked on "Supervised Study in High School." His question was discussed by G. H. Tyle of Laurel. A. M. Nelson of Harrington told of "The N. E. A. at Chicago."

Among those speaking in the mathematics, science and industrial training section were: Mary L. Lee of Piler, Supt. R. Rogers of Piler; Prof. J. H. Hunter of Wayne state normal, Miss Hattie Crockett, Stanton; Prof. I. H. H. Wayne state normal and Supt. C. A. Otravayee, Meadow Grove. Miss Marjorie Beeler of Norfolk sang a vocal solo at this meeting. Among questions discussed were: More Practical Mathematical Courses in High Schools; "Present Tendencies Toward Industrial Education," and "High School Course in Physics."

The grammar school section was opened with music arranged by Miss Katherine Miller of the Norfolk schools. Reading in the upper grades, the socialized recitation method, the high school teacher expects of the grade teachers and methods of measuring grades of pupils, were topics discussed here. Those participating in the talks were: George E. Martin, acting president of the Kearney state normal; Miss Elsie B. Williams of Albion; Miss Mabel Miller; Emerson; Supt. Clarence E. Linton, Lyons.

the case attracted wide attention. Owing to its importance Judge Welch and Judge Allen heard it jointly.

When the first jury was drawn Monday, Attorneys Doyle and Peterson of Lincoln filed a demurrer to the information filed by County Attorney Leamy. The court sustained the demurrer, and Dean was released only to be arrested again on a new complaint filed by Leamy. He had his preliminary hearing in county court Monday afternoon and was bound over by County Judge Heath. When the case came up in district court next day, Dean's attorneys again filed a demurrer, but the court overruled it and permitted the county attorney to amend the information.

Earlier in the morning the jury, which went out about 5 o'clock on Wednesday evening, was brought into court and asked what the prospect was for an agreement were. The answer was that the chances for verdict were poor. The court sent the jury out again, but after another session the jurors were called into court and discharged. It is reported that the vote in the jury room stood six to six.

Dean, a resident of North Dakota, was arrested last April by members of the Plainview home guards. He was accused of making statements questioning the right of the government to conscript and Soldiers of the American first and second army divisions who were brigaded at the battle of Soissons with the shock troops of the French army, state that of the 100,000 men who were killed, 80,000 went into action with them, only eight hundred came back. The losses among the Americans and the French have been proportionate. The purchase of Victory notes will help to pay for the peace which we enjoy today, and help to pay for the cost of which it is necessary to sacrifice.—Woman's Victory Loan Committee.

The Human Sacrifice Has Ended.
At the rate of deaths which was maintained during the period that the American expeditionary forces were in France, it is estimated that the war continued for six months longer, or until the eleventh of May, 1918, there would have been 600,000 and dead. If we include those killed in action and those dying from wounds. Germany has been proportionate. The preparation of this side, including the ships, munitions, aeroplanes, and the million or more men in uniform, has done a great deal of relief work among the poor of America's warring across the sea.

In buying the Victory notes we foot the bill of the war. The money brought about the speedy end, and saved the lives of at least 100,000 men. Four your whole soul into the Victory campaign, let's finish the job, let's pay the price of peace and have no obligations hanging over us. It's your duty and mine.—Woman's Victory Loan Committee.

L. T. Cooper, Noted Philanthropist Gives Large Part of Income to Charity.

Not in recent years, perhaps has the coming of any public character aroused such widespread interest as has the proposed visit to Omaha and other western cities, of L. T. Cooper, the millionaire philanthropist.
Mr. Cooper is described as one of America's foremost leaders of advanced thought, and his work is familiar to charity workers over the entire country. His southern representative while in Houston, Texas, was J. B. Jackson, who, through the personal direction of leading charity workers, one thousand dresses of excellent quality to poor women and children. To San Antonio, the following week he donated another thousand dresses to the poor of that city, and a few days later four hundred donations were provided by him for the poor women and children of Galveston. Ladies prominent in social life and many prominent citizens of these places assisted and co-operated with Mr. Cooper's representative in this worthy cause.

Similar service was also performed by Mr. Cooper in Memphis, Birmingham, Atlanta, Little Rock, St. Louis, Chicago, Jackson, Nashville, Knoxville, Linton, Macon, Savannah, Montgomery, Mobile and Augusta, and his establishment of the famous free bread line at Louisville, where he distributed 50,000 loaves of bread a day.

When asked to explain this record breaking demand, Mr. G. E. Willis, international distributor of Tanlac, said: "There can be only one possible explanation, and it can be told in one word 'merit.' That tells the whole story. No preparation, no matter how extensively advertised, can possibly meet with such phenomenal success unless it possesses extraordinary curative power."
Tanlac is sold upon thousands of testimonials, that it has been relieved of disease after years of suffering by its use.

Obituary.

Mrs. Ralph Park, formerly Etta Ann, Blake, who died March 29, at her home northwest of Wakefield, was born in Wayne county, Nebraska, January 26, 1849.

Her parents moved on to their old place north of Wakefield in Union county when she was a baby a little over a year old, and here she grew up and all her life was spent in this community.

She was married to Ralph Park on March 10, 1868, and they had eight children, seven boys and one girl and two girls' all of whom, with their surviving father survive. The children are: Floyd, William, Loren, Eugene, Roscoe, Frederick, Edna and Winson. Mrs. Park is also survived by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Blake, of Holt county, Nebraska, and is the first of thirteen brothers and sisters to pass into the beyond.

The surviving children and their families are: William Blake, of Holt county, Neb.; Frank, of Rock county; Mrs. Della Koldstad, of Holt county; Edward Blake, army surgeon, of York county, stationed at Brookings; Mrs. Myrtle McCullough, of Dixon, Neb.; Mrs. Bert Sibrant, of Rock county; Mrs. M. C. Winkler, of Holt county, and Lee, Pearl, Bessie, Gladys and Guy, of Holt county.

Mr. and Mrs. Park went to their lake home and a half miles north and three and a half miles west of Wakefield when they married, and this was their home until just before last Christmas, when they moved to their new home in the same neighborhood and just two and a half miles northeast of the old place.

For some time past, Mrs. Park had not been in the best of health, and about two and a half years ago an operation was performed which seemed at the time to be successful. Further trouble supervened, however, and on the eighth of October last, she went into a hospital at Sioux City and underwent another operation, which again was only partially successful. It transpired that cancer was the disease which she suffered from, and though everything possible was done to help her, it seemed that nothing in the world could cure her. On October 28, she returned home from the hospital and took to her bed, remaining there until she slowly and gradually passed away, and passed into the better land at the age of 39 years 2 months and 3 days.

Along with her husband, Mrs. Park united with the Methodist Episcopal church of this place in June, 1909, and since had been a faithful and conscientious Christian, striving ever to serve God and her fellows, and greatly enjoying her church fellowship.

Funeral services were held at 10 o'clock Sunday morning at the home of Mrs. Park, and were conducted by Rev. Frank Williams. Burial was in the cemetery.

The Kissel Custom-built Speedster is shaped like a snub-nosed bullet and capable of going as fast as if it had been shot from a gun. In color it is a "luscious" eye of light yellow with the low hang of a racer. To add to the sport of riding in it or top speed (somewhere around 90 miles an hour) it is equipped with two collapsible seats which can be pulled out over the running board, thus bringing its capacity up to four passengers. Its appeal is altogether youthful. An ambition to own one of these models is on the same plane with that of the brave heroes who fight with each other for a chance to be the first "over the top" in a trench raid. It's a fine car for dodging speed "cops" or running down income tax collectors.

Who was Santa Claus' mother? Mary Christmas.

She was a devoted wife and mother, finding her greatest joy in the unceasing and untiring service of her loved ones. Her loss is very heavy, humanly speaking, and they will have the sympathy of the whole community.

The funeral took place on Tuesday last, when deceased's pastor, Rev. Frank Williams, held a short prayer service in the home prior to conducting the service in the church at Wakefield and preaching a special sermon on the words, "We shall go to her, but she shall not return to us." The choir sang appropriate songs, and Rev. George Bennett rendered a sweet and comforting solo. Beautiful floral tributes covered the casket. Interment followed in the cemetery.

AGRICULTURE NOTES. More Hogs Ride Trucks to Market. Motor trucks are being used more extensively than ever before to haul hogs to market, according to reports by representatives of the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture. During the period beginning with October and ending with February, just past, the proportion of wagon and truck hogs in the total receipts at the Peoria, Ill., stockyards was nearly double that for the corresponding five months two years ago.

A total of 50,380 hogs were brought to the yards in wagons and trucks during the five months of the past year—about 10 per cent of the total receipts, as compared with 16 per cent for the same period a year ago and 10 per cent two years ago.

Increased production and attractive prices, no doubt, were responsible for some of the increase, the reports say, but there is a growing tendency to send hogs to market in motor trucks instead of by rail where the distances are not too great. This tendency is also shown at other markets. At the Cincinnati yards, for example, 139,372 hogs were brought in by truck and wagon during 1918, as compared with 77,232 arriving in similar conveyances in 1917.

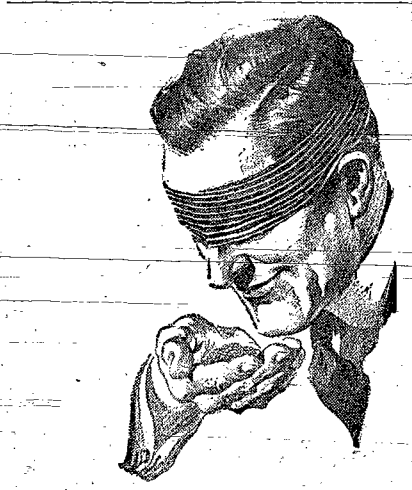

Helping the Melting Pot Melt. One of the best ways to start Americanizing aliens in this country, the United States department of agriculture believes, is to teach better standards of living. For that reason the home-demonstration agents under the direction of the United States department of agriculture and the state colleges will devote much time in 1919 to foreign women. The instruction given by the extension workers is carefully adapted to the tastes and habits of various nationalities. In Newark, New Jersey, the majority of the foreigners are Jews, Italians, or Poles. The care taken not to offend is more than compensated by the cordiality accepted the home-demonstration agents. Work with Jewish people is confined to subjects usually taboo, such as necessary dietary laws. One of the Newark home-demonstration agents, a Jewess, has income as well as food and living. The right kind of diet to give children of various ages is taught wherever necessary, and coffee-and-tea-drinking by children—common in foreign sections—is discouraged. The Jewish diet usually lacks fruit and vegetables, so the extension workers emphasize their value in the menu.

Soldiers Interested in Farming. At Camps Upton-N. Y., Dix, N. C., Camp Grant, N. C., Gordon, Ga., Lee, Va., and Meade, Md., the soldiers about to be discharged have displayed great interest in buying and renting farms as well as securing positions with reputable farmers. Many of the discharged soldiers have already obtained allotment through the efforts of the office of Farm Management of the United States department of agriculture in co-operation with the department of labor. Farmers the country over are hiring as much labor as their spring work justifies, and there is a big demand for farm labor in approximately all agricultural sections. Oregon, which recently had a large labor surplus, now is in the market for more farm help, while Nevada stockmen are in need of more than 600 cowboys, sheep herders and farmers. Ohio farmers need half a thousand helpers, according to most recent reports. The first refusal of these positions is given to the soldiers at the various camps, and if the department of agriculture is unable to obtain the necessary men from the army camps the requisite labor is secured through other channels. All conditions seem to indicate that there is plenty of farm work for all who are interested and competent in agricultural activities.

Saving Money by Killing Rodents. Farmers are averaging a saving of $20 for every dollar invested in killing rodents in campaigns conducted under the supervision of the bureau of biological survey of the United States department of agriculture, co-operating with the state extension service and other state organizations. Projects have been

Put the Tractor to Work

THE TITAN 10-20

Is Superior to Other Tractors in the Following Respects:

DOUBLE CHAIN DRIVE

Power is transmitted to the rear wheels through chains and sprockets. This gives a very serviceable drive for the tractor for many reasons. It is easier to keep it in alignment than a gear drive, and if slightly out of alignment it will work well, whereas gears would wear out rapidly under such conditions. Repairs for a chain-drive cost much less than for a gear drive. Repairs to a chain are trifling matters should they be necessary, and much less expensive than repairs to gears.

AMPLE COOLING CAPACITY

The engine is cooled by water circulating from a tank having a capacity of 40 gallons, which is a sufficient supply for long runs without refilling.

This engine has been built from start to finish to operate on low-priced kerosene (coal oil), or distillate. It is not a one-time gasoline engine, built over to burn kerosene. It does more than burn it, more than to simply run on kerosene. It delivers its full rated horse power and does any kind of work within its capacity on any kind of oil fuel above 39 degrees Baume gravity. This includes all the oil fuels from gasoline down to low-grade kerosene or distillate, as it is usually called.

Champlin Clark for the League

Springfield, Mass., Republican. Indorsement at Worcester of the president and the league of nations could not have been much more complete. If he strikes the blow for the democratic insurgents in the house who are objecting to his leadership, the credit for his utterance is partly his own. Mr. Clark is a fairly good politician and he knows his Missouri. The fact that, having waited a month, he has come over to the other side of the road from Senator Reed, on the league issue, may be significant of the drift of public sentiment.

developed in western states to destroy ground squirrels, prairie dogs, gophers, and jack rabbits, and in the past season over 17,000,000 acres were given a first treatment with poison—and about 3,000,000 acres were re-treated in follow-up work with an estimated crop saving of 3 to 20 per cent. In many places from 5 to 20 per cent of the acreage of certain crops are destroyed by ground squirrels and prairie dogs. An efficient method of insecticide against these rodents is the use of strychnine and secalin. It is an important factor in the farm program. In Kansas, pocket gophers, damaged the alfalfa crop, valued at $50,000,000, in 1917, at least 10 per cent, making a loss of $5,000,000 during that year. In New Mexico, the loss of the pasturage capacity was reduced at least 6,000,000 acres by prairie dogs, and that if these rodents were eliminated the pasturage would carry not less than 400,000 additional cattle or 1,500,000 sheep. The biological survey has co-operated with many of the states in the purchase of strychnine and secalin to eradicate these pests and the western campaigns are planned so that the farmer get the benefit of the government contract rates. In Idaho $6,000 was saved on the strychnine supply last year through this arrangement.

From Hen to Kitchen, 3,000 Miles. Eight thousand miles to market is a long way for a turkey to travel, but when eggs make such a long trip it is "going home." These eggs—3,500 cases of them—came the way from China to New York City via Vancouver, and traveled slowly by boat and train.

When they arrived at New York they were examined by a representative of the bureau of markets, department of agriculture, who reports that the eggs were packed in a safe manner and that the domestic trade but made of heavier material, resembling pine, of about the same thickness as is used in domestic export cases. The average net weight of eggs per case was about forty pounds.

The Chinese eggs were of a deep brown color and slightly smaller than the average domestic egg. The shipment showed losses of—From under the eighteen cases per case showed quite a heavy shrinkage, while others were very full.

Chinese were weak in a number of eggs, and when they were broken showed very watery, though the
