Great by Large Crowd on Arrival Here Friday from Wakefield on Special Train

SPEECHES BY SOLDIERS URGED TO Complete Task of Winning War—Tank Puts on Show on Main Street.

The government tank, out in the interest of the victory loan drive, reached Wayne on a special train from Wakefield, Friday morning. A large crowd had gathered to see the war machine. Some of the speakers in an appropriate reference to the accomplishments of the war.

Private Kennedy who lost one arm in overseas service, spoke first. He said he wished to speak for the benefit of the boys in the trenches and nurses who had rendered their service. He said it was now up to the people at home to complete the task.

M. O. Cunningham who is a son of the Cunningham family of Wakefield, spoke of what had been done and would be done to safeguard democracy and freedom. He said that the government is performing the giant tasks performed by the United States in the war.

John Abbott concluded the speaking. He pointed out the intention of Germany for world domination and emphasized the fact that the United States intended to save the allies from their fate.

At the time of America's entrance into the conflict, it seemed that sufficient help could reach Europe in time to render effective service. During a similar period in the past, the British shipped 50,000 soldiers to Africa for the Boer war, the United States landed 2,000,000 men in Europe for the late war.

The exhibition was highly appreciated.

PRELIMINARY TO PAVING NECESSARY DRAINAGE Provided for in Proposed Issue of $37,000 in Municipal Bonds.

At the regular meeting of the city council Tuesday evening the petition requesting a special election to vote bonds in the sum of $37,000 with which to establish a system of storm sewers preliminary to paving, was granted, and Monday, June 9, was fixed as the date for the election.

Adequate drainage to avoid future damage is recognized as necessary by most people and it is believed those who want paving will, even though now in doubt as to the time to do so, elect to have the money to make it pay.

Our reputation for fair dealing and reliable goods, coupled with the De Laval record of service and durability, has made the De Laval Cream Separator the leader in this community.

COST—That's what you put into a cream separator.
VALUE—That's what you take out of a cream separator.
 Value in a cream separator depends upon the amount and the quality of service you get out of it.

Because it lasts fifteen to twenty years the De Laval is the most economical cream separator to buy. If you consider its cleaner skimming, easier running, greater capacity and less cost for repairs, the price of the "cheapest" machine on the market is exorbitant in comparison.

With present high butter-fat prices and the scarcity of labor this is truest than ever.

We'll sell you a De Laval on such easy terms that it will pay for itself out of its own savings.
 We want to see you the next time you're in town.

Democratic View of Burlington, Iowa
 Several weeks ago, possibly there are stations in which Albert Steyer Burlington would be a conspicuous success, but the postmaster generalship is not one of them. He has industry, ability, grit and determination, but above all else he is accomplished in the genteel art of making enemies.

The review of Mr. Burlington's public career appearing elsewhere in this issue is almost convincing as an indictment of his temperament and practices than of the policy that has kept him so long in office. He is the coldest contradiction of the Wilson cabinet. Being everlastingly at war with nearly everybody else, he is always at war with himself and he cannot help it.

A democrat, he is also a reactionary. He has no more favor in his own eyes than among republicans—an intermediary between capital and labor, he is disliked by both; a government newspaper, his control of the wires has driven every other doctrine of state socialism to despair.

To expect a man like him to conclude to be impotent when he would be politically masterful; to disturb and distract when he would be diplomatic and to set everybody by the ears when he is making the most elaborate plans to be ingratiating—in all of these things we have Burlington and Burlington.

It is not to be expected that the capital for any purpose without counseling congress or driving its members into stultified silence. It is Burlington who cannot attend a meeting of the cabinet without awakening the wrath of his associates. He is worse than tactless. He has a positive genius for that kind of dominance which leads inevitably to destruction. He is irritable himself and he is the occasion of irritability in others.

Some such men have been wise in council, but it is not true of Burlington. His advice is apt to be as bad as his manners, and some of the most grievous errors of the present administration are attributable to him. In particular, he is said to have inspired the president's lamentable partisan appeal last October for the election of a democratic congress.

With the postal service disorganized, inefficient and chaotic, Burlington's methods are erecting similar conditions as to telegraphs and telephones; and yet, the facts all being against him and the party being against him, business being against him, labor being against him, and his party being against him, he remains the one engaged of the present system and stands alone in the administration in urging its adoption of a permanent policy.

By common consent, Burlington is held responsible for much of the criticism, many of the enemies and not a few of the difficulties that Mr. Wilson has encountered. He has no friend in public life except the president who keeps him in place. What is his explanation? Why is he the attraction? Better men, more useful men and more adaptable men are dismissed into private life every day.

For Constitutional Convention.
 Lincoln Journal, April 24.—Prof. J. G. W. Lewis, head of the history and political science work in the Wayne normal, has been mentioned enthusiastically by the newspapers of Wayne as the type of man to lead to the constitutional convention. After reading the matter about he was in Lincoln early in the week. Prof. Lewis said that he would be glad to serve in this body if the people of Wayne county decided to send him. As to the work of the convention in general he said: "I believe that the people of the state are becoming interested in the coming constitutional convention and that the general spirit of this body will be progressive. It would seem to me that the amendments formulated should build on foundations already laid as far as possible, and the relations of the body of men by specifying details can devise a self-regulating political system. In particular, direction must be given to the legislature and the people must not relax their hold on the legislative function."

"Presumably, some of the major points for the attention of the convention will be the subjects of taxation and finance, the short, legal procedure and the subject of markets and exchange. Probably such questions as the direct primary and equal suffrage from the amendments they have had from both major parties, should be regarded as settled already. However, it will accord with the spirit of the work of the convention to the people so that they may accept it in whole or in such parts as they do approve."

Do You Enjoy Life?
 A man in good physical condition is almost certain to enjoy life, while the bilious and dyspeptic are dependent, do not enjoy their meals and feel miserable a good share of the time. This ill feeling is nearly always unnecessary. A few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets to tone up the stomach, regulate the digestion and regulate the bowels is all that is needed. Try it—Adv.

Willard STORAGE BATTERY SERVICE STATION

If Your Battery Could Talk

One thing it would say is: "Don't starve me."
 Another: "Don't let me die of thirst."
 A third: "Test me often with a hydrometer."
 Those are all simple rules, and easy to remember, but to your battery they mean the difference between a long life and a short one.

There are other things that ought to be kept in mind if you look after your own battery. It will pay you to ask us what these are the next time you come in for a hydrometer test or to have distilled water put into your battery.

Japan and Italy act a good deal like sharp hand traders. When they see they cannot get everything they want, they get back into the harness and pull with the rest of the world.

People who criticize because news that would injure innocent members of a family, but would yield no benefit to society, is not published, should try to think how they would feel if they were in need of the blanket of charity.

The sun pranced out from behind the clouds yesterday, and elderly people who had seen it before were not surprised at its appearance. Younger folks who had been born and reared since its former appearance, were somewhat alarmed at first, but with the aid of explanations from experienced heads, they soon calmed down and grew used to it.

The streets of Wayne have been considerably improved. It is not known though they are still not so smooth as one would go to sleep dreaming over them. One handicap which the city is working on, the streets is having only one team which is manifestly inadequate. It might be advisable for the city to add one team and buy a tractor. A tractor could do more work than a dozen horses, and wouldn't have to be fed and watered and carried. The purchase of a tractor for street work might well be considered.

Chadron is just completing, to be ready for use next month, a municipal building costing $30,000, and a federal building costing $75,000. The Chadron water system is to be enlarged to supply a population of 20,000. Like many other towns, Chadron does not hesitate to improve notwithstanding high prices for labor and material. Increased coal incident to improvements is not sufficient to meet when everything is high and money is plentiful. It is the supply of money, not the coal and hard to get, less cost for building operations would cause greater hardship than now.

The question of voting bonds to provide storm sewers as an essential safeguard to paving will be put up to the city June 9. The need of the proposed drainage should and will be explained to people who are in doubt. With accurate water property taxes care of grading will prevent paving and once started, paving will spread like wild fire. Every property owner will pay for it and will be glad to pay for it. Ladies who can vote on the proposition, are expected to help carry it. The city seldom has a woman whose fine taste will not lead her to support any feasible plan to improve the city.

BUTTING IN.

It is regarded a high crime to interrupt a clerk who is selling a full load of goods. In the case of a deal of an agent who is chasing a deal for the sale of a piece of property, it is also considered bad taste to butt into the conversation of people who seem to be talking things over privately. It is not essential. However, in a newspaper office it is different. As Walt Mason explains in his unique style in the course of an article in the current American. Teaching that one point he says:

"The man can maintain a calm, unflustered front while working in the great crowd of small busy desks; nevertheless, he can be placid and serene anywhere. That is the final and crucial test. There have been many strong men reduced to physical wrecks under the strain."

The small town newspaper office is as public as the union depot or courthouse. People take a short cut through it when they are going to the city jail. They use it for rest rooms. They go there to trade watches and eat sandwiches. The editor of the metropolitan newspaper may have a private office, but the small town editor must keep close to the front. He must do his work in the fierce light that beats through the windows. He must know Tom, Dick, and Harry by their respective names and preferential treatment when they come in, each making editorial. All his subscribers feel that they have a right to be in the building and all its conveniences and appointments, and they camp around on his chairs, and swipe his stationery, and sample his alfalfa cigars, and peek at the exchanges, and put their feet on his typewriter, and refuse to believe for a minute that he has anything important to do."

AS TO DISCRIMINATION.

The editor of the Aurora Republican, former president of the state press association is one of a number of Nebraska publishers. Every attention to the question of discrimination in the acceptance of advertising as suggested by the Herald a few weeks ago. It is a subject in which publishers and advertisers and the general reading public are alike interested. Authority granting the second class mailing privilege should also be interested. The editor of the Republican says: "The Wayne Herald invited discussion of the question whether country newspapers should restrict their advertising patronage to their own localities. The Republican held to that idea for a good many years, but has changed its mind. In addition to the excellent reasons advanced by the Herald in support of a contrary policy, chief of which is the legal obligation to treat everybody alike, assumed in connection with the second-class postal privilege, we believe that a newspaper's duty to its readers is at least equal, if not paramount, to what it owes its advertisers. Newspaper readers have learned to study the advertising columns as carefully as the news reports and editorial features; it is a part of the service for which they pay and which they have a right to expect. To turn down a legitimate commercial announcement simply because it comes from outside a certain territory (if it could be lawfully done) would be almost a great offense, in our judgment, and to suppress a news report for fear of offending a good local advertiser, we do not feel we can do justice to our readers by declining business that may be offered by any reputable concern, no matter where located."

GERMAN HELMETS ARRIVE

Six to Be Distributed by Lot Among Wayne County Precincts.

W. F. Wilson, county chairman of the Victory loan drive, has received seven German helmets, six of them for distribution in Wayne county. The county chairman is asked to select a helmet for himself and distribute the others. Mr. Wilson says the helmets will be given away by casting lots at the conclusion of the Victory loan drive.

Four thousand helmets captured from German heads during the war, will be given away in the federal reserve district. Each state, district and county chairman will receive a helmet "as a souvenir for his part in the war." The German helmet is a less dominant piece of military that it formerly was.

War Veterans to Organize.

Steps will be taken at St. Louis May 8, 9, and 10, to organize a non-partisan and non-political association of the veterans of the great war, and accordingly a state convention will be held in Lincoln May 3. Each county is asked to send delegates. Wayne county should be represented at Lincoln.

The Simplicity of Chiropractic

Chiropractic is so simple and so reasonable as a Science that it must appeal to you. To you as a spring round the stalk of a plant, you know the result and you can no more escape the impingement of your Health than can the plant if your trunk nerves are squeezed. To remove this pressure is the work of the Chiropractor by Hand Adjustments of misplaced vertebrae in the spine. Here you wonder how the Adjustment is done at the spine? It is because in no other place do the trunk nerves pass between bony surfaces that are liable to become misplaced and squeeze them. Lay aside Prejudice, the child of ignorance, and investigate Chiropractic. Then come and get well.

M., in Wayne County, Nebraska, and that he left surviving him as his only heirs at law, Ellen VanFleet, his widow; Estie VanCrum, his daughter; Ella V. Henley, his daughter; Maud VanFleet, his daughter; and Morgan M. VanFleet, his son. Said Charles A. Kinney in his said petition further alleges that he is the owner of said real estate and is in the possession thereof, and that all of the debts, claims, and demands against the estate of said John R. VanFleet have been paid in full. And further alleges that no application has ever been made in Nebraska for appointment of an administrator for said estate. Said petitioner prays for a determination of the date of death of said John R. Finding a Market for the Producer

WITHOUT a market, agriculture could not be the basis of our national prosperity that it is. Marketing turns production into wealth and those agencies that help producers find profitable outlets are important aids to the country's welfare. Stripped of all discussion, the function of the packers is to find markets. Because of their success in doing this, Armour and Company are today "The American Farmer's Biggest Customer."

Outlets must be maintained for normal supply. Foreign sales must be developed for excess yield. In a shortage of any product, economical alternatives must be distributed to relieve the need and to keep markets ready when the yield is again heavy. Fresh commodities which will not bear transportation, and would be unprofitable to produce, must be packaged for reserve use elsewhere. The means of manufacture and sale of all by-products. And these are among the services which Armour and Company render—one of the economic reasons why we handle food in so many different forms.

To perform efficiently, our entire system has to operate as a whole. It will not function piecemeal. Our preparation plants, at points where crops are grown, would become choked without our four hundred branch Houses absorbing production. Our Branches, carrying the several days' reserve supply, must make a well-situated independent of railroad uncertainties, must continually wage a competitive fight for sales. We must finance proposals for the thirty, sixty or ninety days necessary—pay cash for raw products, and then prepare, transport, and sell on customary credits. Our refrigerator cars have to be steadily carrying the supply forward to the tables of the nation. As the Interstate Commerce Commission in its report of August last says:

"The carriers (railroads) of the country could not so effectively handle the enormous refrigerator car equipment as is now done by the intervention of private owners. The best packer could no more do business on an economic and efficient basis without his private cars than he could without his modern equipped refining or packing plant."

Marketing, however, does not consist merely in taking what producers offer and selling it. Scientific selling must begin with the best grouping of those foods the country most needs. To this end our Farm Bureau was inaugurated—as a point of contact with growers and to help bring about a better understanding of mutual problems.

And it is largely because Armour and Company are thus constantly working to market the products of the American farm that you are sure of adequate food supplies. Understanding this, you must appreciate that in asking your dealer for Armour Products you are lending your support to a system that works to the country's economic good and to your own best interest.

You Must Plant It Right

BEFORE you can raise a bumper crop of corn, you must plant the seed right. This can be done only with a planter that fits your particular kind of seed.

C B & Q Corn Planters

are equipped with every convenience to make corn planting a pleasant task. There is a plate for every size of seed. Besides this, the planter is simply durable, and accurate. It plants corn as you want it done. Every bill checked evenly, planted at just the right depth, and covered carefully.

Why C B & Q Planters Drop Kernels Accurately

To secure the best planting results all seed corn should be graded and seed plates selected that will fit the size and shape of the kernels to be planted. The planter then has an even chance to perform its work.

On the C B & Q planter the plates are operated directly from the solid steel axle. The drive chain is always kept taut by an automatic chain tightener, which prevents any loss motion in transmitting power.

This construction all has to do with the efficient working of the plates and the valves of the planter. The plates operate exactly on time so that the desired number of kernels are delivered to the upper valve, and are there waiting to drop when the valve is tripped. The valves have a force feed action—in other words, a plunger which forces the kernels out together and into the bottom of the furrow.

The action of both the plates and the valves is positive. The power is dependable. The gears are carefully cut and therefore mesh properly, insuring a high percentage of accurate dropping for this planter. Adverse field conditions are met successfully by the C B & Q planter.

One of the strongest features of the C B & Q planter is the combined variable drop and clutch. The clutch is built into the dropping mechanism in a way that is simple and effective. By means of the variable drop, 2, 3, or 4 kernels can be planted in each bill and the change can be made from the seat without stopping the team. The clutch is positive and accurate.

This is one of the strongest features on the C B & Q corn planter. Automatic marker requires no attention at the end of the row.

You can use edgedrop, flat-drop and full bill drop plates in the same hopper without any change in the mechanism.

Double the Value and Pleasures of Your Old Home

A STUMBLING BLOCK is a comfortable porch, with a vestibule entrance and a trap front window. Cell-like living and dining rooms were converted into delightful living quarters by a bookcase colonnade opening a "bonny" nook with a charming fireplace and window seat. Housework was made easier by a built-in sideboard in the dining room and by permanent cupboards in the kitchen. The rear stoop was converted into a stable screened porch. A medicine cabinet was built-in over the bath room. The front bed room was given a daylight closet.

These things were done to this old house—and they double its value and comforts. Perhaps your old house needs to be made new. Let us help you do it. We will give you some suggestions for doubling the value and pleasures of your old home. And we will tell you how much it will cost.

has, on account of the ever increasing volume of all branches of the automotive industry, found it impossible to continue with it in a general way. Since the truck unit manufacturing and sales end has grown to such an extent that I cannot do justice to that part and general repair at the same time, I have decided that it is best to discontinue the repair end of the business and devote my entire time to that branch which is most in line with my plans for the future. This change will also allow us to render better service to our customers, on all lines that I have built or sold and on what we expect to build and sell from now on.

For the past year I have been building and have placed within Wayne territory, a good quantity of truck units and a reasonable number of Chalmers cars (with the famous hot-spot manifold) all of which are giving excellent results, and whose users are all boosters. We expect to continue the manufacture of the truck unit in three capacities, but with some moderate improvements and with the additional feature of pneumatic equipment, which is optional, at a price.

In addition to the Chalmers cars and truck units, we have the Huber tractor, which ranks high in the tractor field, and the Clydesdale truck, a truck absolutely in a class by itself and without peer.

We shall continue with a good line of staple accessories, and are in a position to sell you guaranteed tires at a price that will be cheaper, in most cases, than having your old tires repaired.

Our business will be carried on under the name of R. A. Clark Co., and don't forget that "Clark Did It" and will continue to do it, so that when you are in the market for accessories, a truck unit, touring car, truck or tractor, remember that it's R. A. Clark Co. for service because we are equipped to deliver it, that valued assistance which is as worthy of consideration as the product you seek to buy.

Thanking you for past favors and assuring you that we are in a position to serve you in a bigger and better way, we are, yours eventually

AGRICULTURE NOTES.

Army Trucks for Federal-Aid Roads

An extra contribution of material is coming into the hands of dollars will be made by the federal government to road building in the states through the terms of a recent amendment to the federal aid road act empowering the secretary of war in his discretion to transfer military equipment not needed by the army to the department of agriculture for use in highway construction. The judge advocate general's office of the war department has decided that the material so transferred cannot be charged for. The war department has transferred the bureau of public roads that it has a large number of surplus motor trucks available for this purpose, and state highway departments are now being asked by the bureau what quantities they can put to use. The bureau of public roads officials believe there will be sufficient to meet all demands from the states. The trucks and other military equipment transferred by the war department must be used only on federal aid projects and cannot be sold by the state after they are donated from the federal government.

More Gardens This Year.

The fact that the war is over does not mean that folk are going to stop making gardens. The interest that thousands of patriotic gardeners had last year seems to be growing instead of lagging, and their enthusiasm has attracted others to the gardening habit. A report from the Iowa state club leader shows that the enrollment in city garden clubs in that state indicates a marked increase over last year. Up to the last of March the enrollment in Des Moines showed 2,000 more members than were registered a year ago. Of 107 Iowa cities reporting, 97 had already purchased more garden club supervisors for the summer, more than twice as many as had paid supervisors last summer.

County Bureau Has Exchange System.

The members of the Jasper county Iowa farm bureau are enthusiastic over an exchange system which is said to be one of the most efficient of the kind in the state. Through it all sorts of farm products are transferred among members. Recently 46 bushels of clover seed were sold to the farmers of that county at a saving to the farmers of from $3 to $4 a bushel and a head of cattle were exchanged. The county exchange list is issued once a month. About a week before each of these issues all the notices listed in the previous issue are returned to the publishers. If the articles to be listed in the next exchange, these notices must be returned. Summary of the exchange is printed in a quarterly-page advertisement in each of the five county papers.

Better Meals for School Children

An effort to secure better noon-day meals, with at least one warm dish, for school children is receiving the attention of some demonstration agents, county agents, and school officials in Iowa. "Farmers warm water for cows in winter, and heat coffee for hogs in winter, and heat coffee for themselves when lurching out in the timber during the wood-cutting season, but too often allow their children to eat cold food at noon day after day," says an Iowa county superintendent who strongly advocates school lunches for country school children. "Something warm at noon will benefit the children physically and mentally. They will also learn something of good-food principles, serving, and table etiquette if the right teacher is on the job."

Trade Shows Firmness.

Sioux City Journal: Trade and industry have followed divergent courses during the last weeks. Industry, especially in the iron and steel groups which are the barometers of industry and generally of trade, have been lethargic, while farm products, especially those which showed a pronounced firmness and slight expansion. The expansion is found mostly in the agricultural sections, including the northern area of the south and the corn area of the middle west. Weather conditions in both these areas are favorable on the whole, while anticipated high prices and large acreages of both crops assure a good monetary return—whereas the present expansion of trade is based. The expansion is more preliminary than actual. The increased trade is caused by the advance buying in preparation for the spring and early summer work. But the volume is based on ultimate prospects.

Much of the Victory loan is being absorbed by the public so that banking interests will not be required to draw heavily on their institutional resources to meet the government requirements. The transfer of private deposits to the Victory loan fund will reduce the banks' resources temporarily, but as the funds will return in a short time to the circulation of the country through payments by the government for obligations already made, no serious or permanent change in these resources will result. Except at devaluation and demobilization points and in a few of the industrial centers, the "boom" is being absorbed without difficulty. In fact, in many instances the demand for iron is greater than the supply. Some uneasiness prevails lest the adjustment of wages create labor disturbances which may be inimical to a return of normal conditions, but with the growing impression that the European demand for American commodities, especially food and building materials, is supplied, present prices will hold, there is a tendency to adjust all conditions to the purchasing power of the dollar.

The reaction from such a position may give trouble later, but at present it has the appearance of relief and will become a part of the reconstruction policy.

Cause of Headache.
By knowing the cause, a disease may often be avoided. This is particularly true of headache. The most common cause of headache is a disturbance of the stomach or constipation, which may be corrected by taking a few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets. Try it. Many others have obtained permanent relief by taking these Tablets. They are easy to take and mild and gentle in effect.

Ford Achievements

Bangalore, India, January 3, 1919.

To the Ford Auto Company, Detroit, Mich.

Dear Sirs: I was reading a few advertisements of different papers on autos, pertaining to what they have done in this war. But nothing about our little Ford. So I'm writing you a few lines as follows:

In France 700 cars out of 1,000 were Fords.
In Italy 850 cars out of 1,000 were Fords.
In Egypt 990 cars out of 1,000 were Fords.
In Mexico 999 cars out of 1,000 were Fords.

Under British capture, the first car in Bagdad was a Ford.
The first car to cross the Persian Mountains was a Ford.
The first car in the genuine Garden of Eden was a Ford.

The first car in the Hoyaland was a Ford.
Lines of communication contained Fords by the hundreds from Bagdad to the Black Sea.

I have seen the Fords used as tanks, armoured moving forts, electric light plants, water pumps, ambulances, supply cars, and lots of other things, and they were always ready for anything at any time.

These statements are facts as I have served in action all through the countries named. And I name the Ford the best auto in the world. The Iron Mule With-a-Kick. I remain,

Your friend,
BOSUN GILBERT.

P. S. Also when we captured Kut, the first thing we landed on was a Ford with nothing left of it but its under frame, bare wheels, and engine. Forty-five minutes afterwards, Mr. Ford was manning a machine gun, and was on the chase of the retreating Turks and the Cobra Hun.

Some Record

The above tells its own story. We have not added to, or detracted from it, one word or syllable, and it is doubtful if a higher tribute could be paid to the sterling merits of all around dependability of a motor car than that coming to the Ford car through this simple letter from a soldier, who would not have the opinion he has of the Ford car if he had not seen it deliver a service unexcelled, not only in the history of war, but in the history of peace.

A Good Corn Planter is One of Your Best Friends

There is a big difference between the yield of crops planted with an inaccurate planter and one that is accurate. You use the same amount of seed—but the difference in the crop often amounts to as much as five, six or seven bushels and more bushels per acre.

Here is a point we want you to think over. If a planter misses only fifteen kernels in every 100 hills there is a loss of five bushels per acre in the yield.

The accurate planter avoids that loss—it proves to be one of your best friends because it does faithful work and saves you money.

We want to show you the John Deere No. 209 Corn Planter—a planter that has built a first-class reputation because of its accuracy. It is just as accurate as the human hand.

You can plant 2, 3 or 4 kernels when changing seed plates or stopping the planter. You can change from hilling to drilling instantly. You get nine different drilling distances without changing the plates.

We will be glad to have you call and see why this planter has been tested the accurate planter. Putting it into your field this year may save you a lot of money when you gather your crop at any rate. We'll be glad to see you, even though you aren't ready to buy now.

The following facts should be brought to the attention of the members of this congregation: We are responsible for 300,000 Chinese children and we are now only giving for 25,000. To erect a justice school in China will cost only $50 a month and will cost only $1,000. In Africa, we are responsible for the welfare of 12,000,000 and we care for less than 10,000.

We have twenty-five in that country, and $200 will pay the salary for a year of a native teacher. A dormitory can be built for $100, India has 50,000,000 children and 100,000 who depend on the Methodist church at large for their training and education.

Telephone Rates Must be Higher

Increased Operating Expenses Require More Money. Telephone expenses have gone up rapidly the last few years.

Telephone rates have not advanced in proportion to the cost of furnishing the service.

The cost of furnishing telephone service has advanced because of the increased cost of material to the telephone company and the increased living expenses of the employees.

Everything realizes the necessity of paying more for rent, for food, for clothing, for wages and for transportation.

The telephone industry has been affected by the same conditions which have produced higher prices in all the necessities of life.

If this Company is to continue to furnish dependable telephone service to the public to cover the cost of as will produce a revenue sufficient to maintain such rates providing the service.

The Land of Opportunity Kit Carson County, Colo

Located in the Rain Belt of Eastern Colorado

This land produces more wheat, rye, barley, and oats per acre than eastern Nebraska, where land is selling for five and six times as much. Alfalfa grows equally as well as on your $250 and $300 land.

Corn will yield from twenty to fifty bushels per acre, depending on the manner of cultivation. With this combination it makes the ideal stock-raising country, as cattle, horses, sheep, hogs, and poultry are free from the many diseases so prevalent in the east.

Burlington, the county seat of Kit Carson county, is located on the main line of the Rock Island railway as it enters Colorado from the east, and the markets are brought very close to us.

Denver, Colorado Springs, and Pueblo on the west, Kansas City, Omaha, St. Joseph, and Chicago on the east afford an excellent market for both grain and stock.

Kit Carson is especially favored when it comes to climatic conditions. The air is very invigorating, and never heavily laden with humidity as in the eastern localities.

The altitude of this county is 4,150 feet.

As in eastern Nebraska and Iowa, settlement means higher land values. The same conditions exist here as in western Nebraska three years ago, where lands are now selling from $85 to $150 per acre, that you could have bought then for $25 to $50 per acre.

Prices are mounting upward rapidly and purchasers of this land at present prices will double and treble their money in the next year or two.

Land is now selling for from $25 to $30 an acre for the choicest farm land, but will not stay at that price for many months, and those who have money to invest or who want an ideal farm home will do well to buy at once.

The original purchase by the thirteen large real estate firms now operating in Burlington is now nearly exhausted, and this will mean you will have to pay from $10 to $20 more per acre in the next sixty to ninety days.

ment has led me to see it in the past few months I have spent over here. I merely wish to be of some benefit to my Nebraska friends in making up their minds regarding the great questions that are coming before the American people. The one thing that has impressed me probably more than any other is the system of education here. I wish to call attention to how the German government has succeeded and will succeed in carrying on her world-wide propaganda and without doubt she has organized a foreign propaganda along the same lines. When you are in conversation with one of these Germans and you ask him who is to blame for the war he will tell you the headstrong crowd of politicians and that the Kaiser did not want the war. The German resident will also say that the Kaiser is a good man. The Germans are unanimous on this point. All answer the same question in the same way. They are taught and made to do just as their burgomaster commands. They do not think for themselves. You could not make them think the Kaiser was anything but a good man. I have talked a lot of them and asked them the same question and invariably gotten the same answer. This comes from being governed and controlled by the mailed hand of the Kaiser, which is as strong today as it was four years ago, and these Germans in their crafty way are looking for almost, for the probability that the world realizes, to the time when the league of nations, as it is now proposed, will be another scrap of paper.

I believe that you get from these people by talking to them just what the leaders of Germany think. Recently I have been asking them what they thought about the league of nations, whether it was a good thing for Germany or not, and when you question the more intelligent ones closely they will cite you to Russia with the remark that Russia it will be of no use to count. I take it from that that the high Germans figure that they have got their propaganda going in Germany, Russia, and Austria will declare the league of nations a scrap of paper and that then the world will see a war that will compare to the late one, as the late war would compare to the Civil war. I am not a pessimist about this. I am an optimist, for I certainly believe that if the allies want peace and want it securely and honestly, they must solve the Russian question. Russia is illiterate. The people are as helpless to hand themselves as a nation could be. They are certainly not fit for a government like ours, and the world knows that Germany has got the jump on the allies in the way of propaganda and I certainly believe that the allies have got to cripple Germany in some way, so she will not be able to spread her propaganda and defeat the plan for a league of nations. I certainly believe we should have peace first and let the world get in motion again and settle down and take a calm view of what is best, for if we don't I can see sad, dark days in a no great distant future, and I fully realize that America stands today the balance of power, and I do not want to see that balance of power taken from her, for we know that we will never start a war for gain and we never fight for anything but love of country and our liberty.

No other nation stands on these principles and as I see it we do not want to relinquish these principles and lay ourselves liable to going into a league of nations if there is any chance whatever of jeopardizing our position as we stand before the world. Not one nation in Europe knew what we could do or how soon we could do it. We did not know ourselves, but we have demonstrated to the world that whenever we see our right and liberty in jeopardy, we as a nation are with more than we ever thought and as we look at the facts as they really are, we know that it is a great advantage for Europe to have us as a league of nations when they will have in a way some control of our power and as we ought to see and our people will see after they have studied this league of nation idea, that without Russia under a stable government and a friendly nation to the peace of the world idea and with Germany and her propaganda in full swing as it is Russia today, the chances of the league of nations going when the world wants and what it should be, are not as good as though Russia were in the hands of the better class of people and had a safe and sane government, and I do not believe that we ought to hand ourselves to an agreement under the present conditions of the world. We will know what the readjustment of European affairs is going to be in other words: let us have peace and let Germany pay for all she has cost the world, give her and her propaganda out of Russia. Let government of her own without, the hand of Germany to guide her pernicious principle among the Russian people for they are there, and it will be there unless the rest of the world sees that they are driven out. I certainly believe that these Germans will have full control of the Russian situation if the rest of the world does not cultivate the proper feeling among the Russian people. Respectfully yours, C. E. Closson.

The Life Beyond.
(Sixty in Lincoln Journal.)
There is no death. Life is continuous, unbroken, unbreakable. Death does not change the real man, his desires, his thoughts, his disposition are the same; he has merely lost his physical body—Annie Besant.

But, Annie, think what the loss of the body means to the sordid man who lives after the flesh and has no higher aims and ambitions than to harvest the fruits of other men's toil. When the profiteer dies he does not rest more than his boss and the flesh that hangs to the earth. What has he to live for after he is dead and the probate court has the last word as to the disposition of unearned increment he thought was his? Will not his proud spirit writhe convulsively when from the "shining shroud" he takes inventory of the ravages of the inheritance tax upon his estate?

Oh, Annie, if there be no death, as typified by fall: If when we lose our final breath we haven't lost it all. What will the next conditions be for those of coarse and low degree?

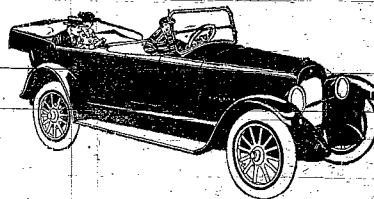

And what will be the hapless state of Europe on the other side of one whose heart is full of hate and head is full of pride. Who has more of which to boast when he is nothing but a ghost.

Dear Annie, tell me, are you wise in what you write to me? Or do you merely dogmatize? Of things beyond our ken? We hope that this is thus and so. But is there any way to know?
