How often we hear that remark! It is amazing to note the many cases of stomach trouble and nervousness that can be traced directly to eye strain, caused by muscular imbalance.

The majority of headaches, backaches, tired nerves and muscles are due to eyestrain. We have the experience and ability to determine whether glasses will improve your general health. Can you afford not to investigate?

LIBERTY BONDS.

We bought our bonds in times of peace, in 1914, Uncle Sam said, "I guess we'll say to all our bonds." "Good night." We need the coat for gasoline, for suits of clothes and shoes and ties, for playing the slot machine, and buying fireworks for the kids. "I'm so anxious to unload their precious bonds they scarce can wait; they want to scorch along the road that takes them to the poroussage gate, and so the price of bonds is down to figures low I've seen them skid, and gents are hawking them in town, and asking us to make a bid. The wise man buys in, but he can't get better have those bonds than what; the seller is an also ran who'll never live on Easy street. A little while and men will wade buy the bonds to have and hold, and owners will remark "Oodfish!" They'll wonder more how than mind of it. How foolish are the sons of men, how fatuous, so help me John! If they have fourteen bonds, they care not for the rainy day—the day they're living is serene, and so they throw their bonds away, that they may burn more gasoline. All heedless they whoop along, and put a mortgage on their coops, and sell their thrifftainers for that they may gayly top the loops.

GOOD WORKMEN.

When I am sick in pink condition, when I am lame and blind and deaf, I hate the best physician, then if I die it's not my fault. The big physicians charge like thunder, they charge each time they draw a breath, but they give value for the plunder, they show us how to sidestep death. When my old boss on a picnic, with muscadine, took me to his house, I hire the best mechanic that our small village can produce. He has no confidence in my abilities, or so selfish, I sometimes think; but he can fix our boots and barges when they are strictly on the blink. Some folks here on a picnic, but when we count the final cost, and his expenses running deeper, the tinhorn workman is a frost. The tinhorn workman badly latches all things entrusted to his care, he spoils our pants and hats and watches, and bungles when he cuts our hair. When I decide to paint my stable, I'd hire a Titan at his best, some grand old mason, amply able to make any wall seem a jest. I patronize the ablest baker that in this country hamlet dwells, and when I die my undertaker must be the one who's wearing bells.

THE WAGON.

In the past I've begged the booters to get on the cart and ride. I have cried, "Oh, pickled snozers, have some decency and pride! Why force a horse a jug on, why be cruel for evermore?" Come and mount the water wagon, I beseech and I implore. "Now, I need no longer worry over their folly and disgrace; they must ride on that old surfer, for it is a groundhog case. Soon the Rum Holes will be closing, and the wet mud squatters in there to spend the long hours doing his old works with Holland gin. Soon all the wet mud squatters in there to more shall thirstily jakes help themselves to brimstone biters till they count their private snazks. So I now denounce the wagon till the welkin, out of plumb, for all men must ride the wagon in the happy days to come. I am done with ferry preaching, printing out the drunkard's doom, done with begging and beseeching when a friend has nose blubber. I don't roast the brimstone fagon, roast the wicker demijohn, for all men must ride the wagon, and the time for talk is gone. There is no such thing as choosing, though the snob be hot and sore; there has come an end to boozing, and the wagon's at the door.

HATING AND WORKING.

Since you ask me, I'll admit it, that I hate the horrid Hun; I suppose I'll never get it, still my earthly course is run. But there are some tasks awaiting which demand my earnest care, so I try to do my hating when I have an hour to spare. When I've held my growing letters, and the twilight hour is come, then I join the village hater, hating till I'm out of plumb. One must strive to earn his wages ere he looks away his time; to indulge in snail races always strikes me as a crime. There's a time to talk of treasons of the king who lost his crown, so I join the village hater, when the fat old sun goes down. Then I've done my daily labors, I have earned three honest bones, I can gossip with my neighbors, talk in loud triumphant tones. "All the day I'm busy eating patent churns and things like those, and I leave the start of hating till the evening whistle blows. Then you'll see me stand orating loudly by the village dump, telling how I will be hating Huns till Gabriel blows his trumpet."

ENJOYING LIFE.

It is good to see some plunder, save a part of all we earn, so that when we're old as thunder we may have some coin to burn. Oh, it makes a man disgraced when his age is eighty-nine, and he finds himself so busted that he cannot buy a shine. But to save like some blood and guts, I consider vast and wrong; blowing in some coin is wiser, for a man is dead so long. This old world's a duty of beauty, but soon it will pass away, and we have done our duty, we should go ahead and play. When we've earned our daily wages, we should be for pleasure, and consider the prophets and the sages say the dead are dead so long. Let's be happy while we live, living on the selfish way, but a friendly handout giving to the more unlucky guy; let's do something for the heathen, make their lives one grander, and let's be happy while we're breathing, for we'll all be dead so long. Let's support all worthy causes, help when the demon of the world is smiling Santa Clauses, when we go among the poor; let us, merrily skedaddle with the transient human throng; Death is ever in the saddle, and we'll all be dead so long.

WALT MASON'S BIRTHDAY

(By William Allen White)

In October, 1907, there came to Emporia riding in a buckboard behind a spry little pony a middle-aged, pudgy, clear-eyed man to take a job on the Gazette. I was not at home. He was a mail order. I had known of Walt Mason on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Journal, on the Washington Times, on the St. Joe papers for twenty-five years. When I heard he was looking for work he didn't have to look further. I wrote to him to go to work and draw what he thought right. After he got home three weeks later I found he had been drawing less than $5 a week. It paid for his board.

He liked the town, and he wanted work in a country town and wouldn't discuss wages. I didn't, either, just what the man regarded as work on the Gazette to fill his writing orders. He was drawing $20 a week, which is fair for a country town, where he built a twelve thousand dollar house and paid for it out of his monthly earnings. And he has the same habit now, he spends no time in hating people. He had when he was a kid, but he says now it means nothing to him—save for the good it will do. Since he quit working regularly for the Gazette he has often come in to the office and has done a day's work or a week's work or even six months' work when I have been away, but my money never was good to pay for it. If he had needed the money, doubtless he would have been glad to get it. But he has not.

A simple, kindly, old-fashioned gentleman is Walt Mason. I have never heard him after an oath, or speak an improper word. He has small use for the cult of reform, and less use for reformers. He pays his debt scrupulously. He keeps his word, sincerely. He stands by the right side of wrong, though thick and thin. He is as mild spoken as a woman, and as fearless in taking a position as any army. He has cultivated the art of friendship, and spends no time in hating people. In Emporia, where he found his best fame, he is beloved by everyone. If he has in the whole town one enemy I have never heard of him. We feel here in Emporia that the inspiration of a quiet, orderly, simple hearted community was what he needed to bring out the best that is in him. In being proud of Walt we Emporians are proud of ourself.

According to news reports, West Point has just received a considerable number of new recruits, and spring and other improvements are planned. Wayne is ditto, and it does not propose to let itself out of the woods in the matter of development.

If the young man who was doing out of the pocket in Wayne Tuesday, had known how easy the editor is to work he would have subscribed for the Herald for a year and issued a check for $10.

The scarcity of labor on farms in this country, towns and the idleness in cities should be a suggestion to the latter, but it won't. Some people would rather live in want and misery in great cities than in plenty and comfort in a rural community.

These are the closing days of school and programs incident to annual commencement are being given. Instead of the erstwhile ones on "Beyond the Alps" let us have one or other more or less timely subjects by graduates, we have chapters and speeches by high-brow orators.

"As mayor and head of the municipal administration," J. H. Keely is anxious to see a record of achievement with efficiency in all branches and extravagance in none. Members of the council manifestly short with the week's determination. Looking after the business of the city and rendering necessary service calls a good deal of personal sacrifice on the part of mayor and councilmen. But a responsibility assumed should be a responsibility discharged and a good deal of well, regardless of direct compensation, helps spur one to highest, noble and greatest effort. The administration, as intimated, promises to be constructive and progressive, and under its leadership, there is no reason to believe the city will make long forward strides during the coming year.

Representative Mondell of Wyoming said in his opening ways to deal with spreading bolshevism that "the greatest of all crimes in a free country" under a government of, for and by the people such as ours is the preaching and practice of the doctrines of anarchy and violence.

During the war in many localities in this country there were occasional outbreaks of mob rule and anarchy. The tendency on the part of law-abiding law and order men is to be zealous, often from motives of personal prejudice and hatred. Rather than any progress, it is difficult for the government to keep in check during the stress of the day. The task of winning the war, the cultivation and manifestation of the mob spirit is now expressed in bolshevism and anarchy which to eradicate will require prompt and effective action by federal authorities.

Unless we have obedience to law, we would soon have no order in society, and the government for which we make sacrifice to sustain and perpetuate would be as good as annihilated by disorder and chaos. We must have laws and courts, and we must uphold the orderly processes of government. Bolshevism or anarchy is an enemy that must be crushed.

Secretary Daniels is quoted as saying that the captured German navy should be sunk as a great lesson to the world. Daniels said that something that may be turned to use would seem to involve unnecessary waste. Would a probability lessens justly annihilation of millions of wealth that could be turned into profitable channels? It would seem better for the victorious allies to convert the ships of the captured navy into merchantmen to help solve the shipping problem. It is reported that the German navy is to be replaced with the boats of the navy now in custody. The lesson might not be as effective, and useless loss in a world that needs all possible wealth in its reconstruction, would be avoided.

The report of the court-martial of an Ansley, Neb., young man in France, published in today's Herald, shows one of the mistakes incident to the war. The young soldier, burdened beyond physical endurance, fell asleep while on guard duty, and was sentenced to two years in prison. The main fault would seem to lie with the commanding officer who, perceiving the boy's physical condition, "impossible" for him to meet the requirements of military discipline. One who has offered his life to his country, being the breast to the bullets of the enemy, manifestly should not be thrown in prison, because nature, exhausted could not respond to the needs of the moment. The boy who has intended to do right, and whose record is otherwise good, should be honored and rewarded, not disgraced and injured. This boy and others in a similar plight will no doubt be exonerated, and restored, unharmed, to their country and friends as soon as higher authorities are able to review the facts and take action.

Next Sunday is Mothers' day and people will on that day give more attention to mothers than usual. When mothers, maternal and complete political equality, they will no doubt establish a "Fathers' day." The worthy father is deeply entrenched in the situation of the individual, and deserves consideration. A mother is seldom unworthy and rarely suffers lack of warmest love and solicitude. Every child whose soul is not entirely dead to public impulses, cherishes thoughts of mother whether she be living or to time or eternity. Mother is often neglected, but never forgotten. A man never forgets so old or so long crossed in any manner as he is allowed to spiritual considerations, that he does not become attached to fondest recollections of the mother who brought him into the world, who watched over him when he was sick, who bolstered him up with courage when he was downhearted, and who sent him forth to fight with words of blessing and confidence and good cheer. No love is so penetrating or so dependent as the love one feels for his mother, and the love a mother feels for her offspring.

Good Groceries are Always Cheapest

Because They Go Farther

A can of good fruit or vegetables will feed more people because the cans are packed solid with food and are not one-third water.

A pound of good coffee will make more cups of coffee.

A sack of good flour will make more bread.

Because They are More Nourishing

Compare the food value of a solidly packed can of tender, juicy corn, peas or tomatoes with the cheaper grade variety vegetables, in which you often find pieces of husk, cobs, stems, and other waste material. Compare the food value of a can of the best fruit put up in thick sugar syrup with the cheaper fruits put up in sugary water.

Because There is No Waste

You don't have to throw out or lose anything when you buy good groceries. Good food is eaten and enjoyed and is healthful, while cheap food is often left and thrown out.

Buy These Brands of Groceries And You Will Get the Best

RICHHELIEU

The name Richelieu on a can of fruit or vegetables is a guarantee of the finest foodstuff put up. This is a fact that has been known to every grocer in the country for the last thirty years. We are fortunate to have the sale of these fine goods for Wayne. Hundreds of families here have bought them of us for years and will have no other brands. You will like them and find them most economical to use.

Chase & Sanborn's Coffee

To insure getting the most and best coffee for your money you will find it safest to buy—As coffee that is to choose a good reliable trade-marked coffee and stick to it.

That is why we buy Chase & Sanborn's. Years ago, when we began the grocery business, we found out they were the largest and best, thought of coffee firm in the United States—because they had always given their merchant customers the best coffee they could get anywhere for the money.

We couldn't tell how good a coffee was by looking at or smelling the beans—neither can any other groceryman. We had to trust the firm that sold us and so do you. So if you want the best 30, 35, 40, and 50-cent coffee you can buy just come in and ask for a pound of Chase & Sanborn's in any one of these grades, and you will be sure of getting your money's worth.

Here's a thing or two worth knowing about coffee. No merchant can blend and roast coffee to compare with the coffee roasted where they have gas and very few merchants even try it. Also, coffee that has been in a store over 30 days has lost a big part of its strength. For that reason we buy our coffee often and you will be able to get more cups of coffee from a pound of it than from one and one-third pounds of old coffee.

Pillsbury's Flour

There is a best in flour just as there is a best in wheat and in milling machinery.

Pillsbury's has been known the world over as the best flour obtainable.

State to Get Coal Refund.
Lincoln, Neb., May 18.—The state board of control is in receipt of a copy of a letter written by the United States fuel administrator at Washington in the Victoria American of this country. It advises that the contract to furnish coal to state institutions at a certain price was nullified when the government set a specific price on coal.

This will mean that under the government fuel administrator's ruling the Victor-American company will be required to return to the state some $1,800. The state board of control had a contract with the Victor-American company to furnish coal at the Grand Island, Kearney and Hastings institutions at $2.20. The contract was made in September, 1917. Soon afterward the government reduced the price to $1.60 a ton. The company kept on billing the coal at the contract price.

The state board afterward raised the question with the Nebraska administrator, John L. Kennedy, who in turn took it up with the Washington office, which prompted the ruling set forth above.

Under this ruling, many private concerns probably will be entitled to a return of the difference between contract and government prices also.

Will Make Improvements.
West Point, Neb., May 13.—The new city council organized this week with the new mayor, John C. Clatsop, in the chair. The prospects for the new municipality indicate that many improvements and luxuries will be carried out during the term. Among these are the commencement of paving operations in several districts, the completion of the organization of the waterworks system. Mayor Clatsop enters the office with a very decided bent for public improvements and has with him a very intelligent and determined council. The first paving ordinance ever passed in West Point will be put into effect on Tuesday evening. A tractor has been bought by the city for street work. The new council are: Dr. G. Collins, M. M. V. Scott, and P. L. Beyer; the officers appointed by the mayor are: City attorney, John H. Lindate; city physician, Dr. F. J. Kellar; street commissioner, Fred Schneider; water commissioner and waterworks engineer, Kimball B. Bill; no appointment has yet been made for the police force.

Doctor Uses Airplane.
New York, May 13.—Purchase from the government of several million dollars' worth of airplanes, the majority of them flying machines used during the war, was announced today by the Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor company. Between 1,000 and 1,200 planes are being taken over.

It was stated that some of these machines would be put to use by former army officers and others who plan to purchase them from the Curtiss people. Oil prospectors in Oklahoma and western Texas want machines in order to speedily reach prospective claims on land where oil is struck in isolated districts. The Curtiss company in Nebraska will use a machine to visit patients in semi-rural areas. This manufacturer uses machine to superintend its contract oil plantations in the south.

New Disease in Wheat.
Chicago, May 17.—Although wheat in parts of Illinois, together with a lot of vigor in the plant, are reported due to an affliction hitherto unknown in this country. In a statement today B. W. Snow, a crop expert, says that the condition as investigated, is due to fungus which attacks the roots of the plants. In Australia it is known as "take all" and in France as "foot rot".

The modern Miller estimates the area affected by the disease as 300,000 acres.

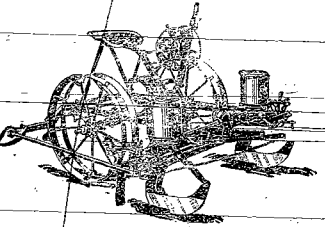

Cause of Headache.
By knowing the cause of a disease may often be avoided. This is particularly true of headache. The most common cause of headache is a disordered stomach, or constipation, which may be corrected by taking a few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets. Try it. Many others have obtained permanent relief by taking these Tablets. They are easy to take and mild and gentle in effect. Adv.

Notice of Hearing.

You and each of you are hereby notified that John A. Romberg has been appointed administrator of the estate of said Ross C. White, and that he has filed in the Court of Wayne County, Nebraska,

At the time of her death, she was seized of real estate in Wayne County, Nebraska, including the west half of the northwest quarter (w 1/2 n 1/4) of section twenty-six (26) township twenty-six (26) north of range three (3) east of the 6th P. You Must Plant It Right

BEFORE you can raise a bumper crop of corn, you must plant the seed right. This can be done only with a planter that fits your particular kind of seed.

C B & Q Corn Planters

are equipped with every convenience to make corn planting a pleasant task. There is a plate for every size of seed. Besides this, the planter is simple, durable, and accurate. It plants corn as you want it done. Every hill checked evenly, planted at just the right depth, and covered accurately. The automatic marker, the simple clutch, the accurate valves, are features we want to talk to you about before you buy. They are features that are worth money to any corn grower. Come in and see us soon.

Why C B & Q Planters Drop Kernels Accurately

To secure the best planting results all seed corn should be graded and seed plates selected that will fit the size and shape of the kernels to be planted. The planter then has an even chance to perform its work.

On the C B & Q planter the plates are operated directly from the solid steel axle. The drive chain is always kept taut by an automatic chain tightener, which prevents any lost motion in transmitting power.

This construction all has to do with the efficient working of the plates and the valves of the planter. The plates operate exactly on time so that the desired number of kernels are delivered to the upper valves and are there waiting to drop when the valves are tripped. The valves have a force feed action—in other words a plunger which forces the kernels out together and into the bottom of the furrow.

The action of both the plates and the valves is positive. The power is dependable, the gears are carefully cut and therefore mesh properly, insuring a high percentage of accurate dropping for this planter. Adverse field conditions are met successfully by the C B & Q planter.

One of the strongest features of the C B & Q planter is the combined variable drop and clutch. The clutch is built into the dropping mechanism in a way that is simple and effective. By means of the variable drop, 2, 3, or 4 kernels can be planted in each hill and the charge can be made from the seat without stopping the team. The clutch is positive and accurate.

This is one of the strongest features on the C B & Q corn planter. Automatic marker requires no attention at the end of the row.

You can use edgedrop, flat-drop and full-hill drop plates in the same hopper without any change in the mechanism.

IMPLEMENTS AND TRACTORS

ELIZABETH FORD
(By Wallace Irwin)

We carried her over the sea, we did.
And taught her to help, help, help.
A cut of hair, all neat and trimny,
But full of American pep.
Recruited into the Corps she was—
She came of her own accord,
We flew in that big bomber and the anchor
And named her Elizabeth Ford.

Cute little Elizabeth, dear little Elizabeth—
Bonnie Elizabeth Ford.
She was short and neat but her nose was 301
Flor the Hindenburg line—O Lord!
She faced it like the soldier's son.
These days she plumb'borther.
Doo spunky Elizabeth, Hunky Elizabeth,
Spunky Elizabeth Ford.

We took her along on our hike, we did.
And a wonderful lot her she did.
She'd carry physicians, food and munitions,
Generals, water or tea.
She could climb a bank like a first-rate tank
And she'd deliver the word about her throats
When we touch our steel helmets to "Semper Fidelis," Remember Elizabeth Ford.

Cute little Elizabeth, dear little Elizabeth
Bonnie Elizabeth Ford.
She took her eggs in machine gun heats
And on bullet-proof roads she chored.
Where the Devil's Hounds were rest on the grounds
Of a section of France restored.
Who'd they call her? Spunky Elizabeth,
Spunky Elizabeth Ford.

But 'twas on the banks of those murder-wellows
Which they don't say pronounce blood;
We were sure to knock silly the hopes of Prince Willie
And turn 'em around a q.
We prayed for men and closed our throats
With a waterless cick—Good Lord!
When out of a crater with red radiator
Climbed faithful Elizabeth Ford!

Cute little Elizabeth, dear little Elizabeth,
Bonnie Elizabeth Ford.
With a cylinder-skip she had made the trip,
Water and cartridge stored.
With her hood a wreck and broken neck
She cracked like the cotton-bale.
Hunky Elizabeth, Chunky Elizabeth,
Spunky Elizabeth Ford.

When they towed her out of the town next day
Said Corporal Bill, "Look there!"
I know of one hero who shouldn't draw zero
When they're in prison the Cross of Guerre.
Who led the guys that's startin' the Huns
Plumb back to Canal du Nord?
So when they'd he'd son 'n' he tied to the bomet,
Of faithful Elizabeth Ford.

Cute little Elizabeth, dear little Elizabeth,
Bonnie Elizabeth Ford.
Where shrapnel's mauled her we've now overhauled her.
Her wheels and her gears restored.
Her record's clear the way to the Cross of Guerre.
And we're seeing the Dutch War Lord
A note by Elizabeth, Chunky Elizabeth,
Spunky Elizabeth Ford!

The Best Investment in the World is Land

There is no excuse for not owning a farm in the best part of Colorado.

The land is rich and fertile, no hot winds to burn your crops; plenty of rainfall in the growing season and prices and terms are within the reach of all.

Thousands of dollars will be made this year in buying Kit Carson county land and this may be your last opportunity to own a farm in a level land, good soil, where rain is plentiful and crops are abundant.

We invite you to investigate and compare our land with any in the west at our expense.

Take It Out of Politics.
 Sioux Falls, S. D., May 4.—The suggestion, that the league of nations be taken absolutely out of American politics, is a good one. America is much more interested in making a wise decision in this matter than in helping or hurting the delegates of some political party. Our feeling is that all would have been correct even if it had been the consideration of the league of hot.

nicious pact at a party caucus does not appeal to most people.

Correct Either Way.

Kansas City Times: Berlin reports describe the attitude of French toward the German peace delegates as being "cold but correct." Our feeling is that all would have been correct even if it had been the consideration of the league of hot.

New Wirthmor Waists at $1.50
 New Welworth Blouses at $2.50

As advertised in the May issue of the Ladies Home Journal have just been taken from their boxes and will be placed on sale tomorrow. They are quite the prettiest and distinct Blouses in these modest prices that have ever come our way—they establish a new and higher standard of values for these two nationally favored lines.

WIRTHMOR WAISTS, AND WELWORTH BLOUSES always have much to commend them, and we believe that if every woman was acquainted with their exceptional worth, their attractiveness of style, their superb workmanship, as well as with the happy and wholesome conditions under which they are made, they would purchase them repeatedly, just as the great army of admirers are now doing the nation over.

Another very important thing to remember in regard to these Blouses is that the same new styles are placed on sale in our store on the very same day that they first make their appearance in the recognized style centers of the country, and that they are always sold at the same moderate price.

SOLD IN JUST ONE GOOD STORE IN EVERY CITY, AND IN THIS CITY SOLD HERE ONLY.

MEETING OF WOMEN'S CLUB
Report on Sites for the Proposed Community Building.

The Women's club met in the city hall Saturday afternoon and devoted chief attention to reports of a committee appointed to investigate sites for the proposed community building, and to reports of delegates who attended the recent district meeting. As to a site for a community building, the reports were considered, but no definite action was taken. Mrs. William Beckenhauer, reporting the proceedings of the district convention, told what the clubs of the district are doing. She said they were usually engaged in Red Cross work.

Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis gave a review of the lectures of the convention.

A twenty-minute program was given by the girls' quartet of the Wayne State Normal, as follows: "Maid of Tokio," by quartet; "Till We Meet Again," by Fern Rahn and Nadia Aldison; "The Bell of Seville," by Ina Hughes; "O, Tell Us, Merry Birds of Spring," by Ina Hughes and Dorothy Bessie; "The American's Come," by Fern Rahn; "The Merry Shepherd," by quartet.

Miss Nora Fegan accompanied the quartet on the piano.

The resignation of Mrs. E. J. Deville as secretary, was accepted in view of her removal from the city, and her successor was elected in the person of Mrs. Homer Seace.

The club will meet again in two weeks, and will then consider questions looking to the improvement of the city.

The Postal Service.

Lincoln Trade Review: For three years people excused the constant sanctions in loss of service in mail matter because of was time. None would complain. It is generally known that clerks in postoffice over the country-railway mail clerks have been overworked. Service everywhere was indistinguishably equal with lack of interest in cheap economy; this, too, in days when the mails were never before so important or large in volume. They could not possibly have been built up at the expense of other service because of inadequate help and inadequate facilities to handle overworked and underpaid postal employees have grown discouraged and lost their energy and incentive through attempted standardizing methods that were misfit in their application, making of trained and capable employees limited machines, and destroying the spirit of people who have more intelligent knowledge of what public service is and ought to be than those who have dictated working methods from a bureau at Washington.

When there is given full consideration of the decline in postal service, the losses that have come through incessantly delayed mails of conditions that grow worse instead of better, months after people forget poor service because the nation was at war—the wonder is that the cry against the postoffice department and its business methods has not long ago become as nationwide as it has become the last few weeks. It will take years of the greatest effort on the part of the most capable men to put the postal service in efficiency and morale back to where it was when the present control came into office.

Intercol. Language Law.

Lincoln, Neb., May 2.—Attorney General Clarence A. Davis has recently made public an interpretation of the recently enacted law regulating the use of foreign languages in schools, in which he gives the opinion that the new statute does not interfere with Sunday schools or Saturday classes in churches, where the instruction is purely of a religious nature.

In other instances, he says, the law absolutely forbids the use of any foreign tongue giving instruction, either secular or religious, in public schools or other schools that take the place of public schools.

Captain John W. Beard.

The Sioux City Tribune of Saturday evening makes this reference to Captain John W. Beard who spoke at the Presbyterian church in Wayne recently:

The romantic life of Capt. John W. Beard, chaplain in the United States army, who is visiting in Sioux City, rivals in excitement the plot of a fiction novel.

It is a long way from skinning sheep in a packing plant to becoming one of America's foremost "Hoity toities" wearing a cross de guerre, and yet in the life of Captain Beard the road has not been so long. Here is the story of his life. Captain Beard was reared in Sioux City, receiving his education in the public schools. During his spare time he worked at the Carhart packing plant. Before attending college he worked as a laborer at the packing plant for one year. He then felt a strong call to the ministry and prepared for his mission by attending Beulah V. M. college at Storm Lake. Later he attended Lake Forest college and completed his theological work at the Omaha seminary. He was assigned by a Presbyterian church at Hiram, Wash. Here Captain Beard began his notable career, soon becoming pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Hiram, which is the largest church of that denomination in the city.

Was Lumber Jacks' Sky Pilot? Beard left Hiram and toured the lumber camps of the sound peninsula, proclaiming the gospel to the lumber jacks.

For eight years Rev. Mr. Beard alternated between his church at Hiram and the lumber jacks, then came the war. Feeling that he was needed in the army, Rev. Mr. Beard offered his services to the government.

He was assigned to the 91st division, then in training at Camp Leitch. His popularity with the boys soon became a fact, and he was sent to the camp, particularly after many of the lumber jacks whom he had befriended when a sky pilot were sent to Camp Leitch.

In June the 91st division was sent overseas and after a month's training back of the lines his organization, the 340th machine gun battalion, was sent to the front in the Michiel sector.

After seeing fighting on this front he was assigned to the Argonne forest and engaged in some of the hardest fighting of the war for sixteen consecutive days.

Given Captaincy on Field.

It was during the Argonne battle that Lieutenant Beard was recommended for a captaincy because of his bravery in rescuing wounded and burying the dead while under fire.

From the Argonne his outfit was sent to the Ypres sector in Belgium. Along the Ypres and Scheldt rivers they fought the loche and for his exceptional work and valor Captain Beard was awarded the croix de guerre. He was gassed and wounded, but almost disabled but remained with his men and recuperated only a short distance in rear of the lines.

Notebook saves His Life.

The striped boll which wounded Captain Beard would have struck him in the heart had not a notebook and letters carried in his pocket warried off the bullet. He was badly bruised and lacerated.

Seen Buried Dead Blown Up. "The loche evidently had me spotted that day," said Captain Beard. "For every time I moved a shell would light on the spot I formerly occupied. I could bury a soldier and the Huns would sight the grave and blow it up. Several times, in which I placed Americans that morning were blown up."

Preferred to Go to Prison.

Lincoln, Neb., May 2.—Herschel Wendell, 17-year-old highwayman, who was the leader of the trio of youths who held up and shot Francis Dornan, the night of April 6, was disappointed when Judge Mor-

"At Versailles"

Kansas City Times: Step by step the Germans—who do everything that way—have followed the undeviating program—all German proposals that are laid down by them in 1914 until now they have arrived at their grand objective. They are at Versailles. That is where they started for. They are there to make a treaty. That was their purpose when they started. How those German plans will work out, to be sure, will show what you can do by following a system.

High Operating Expenses Increase Telephone Rates

Telephone Revenue Must Cover Operating Expenses

Your business will fail unless you take in enough money to pay your expenses.

So will any other business.

The necessity for enough revenue in any business to pay operating expenses needs no explanation.

For several years the cost of providing telephone service has been advancing with the increasing cost of material to the telephone company and the higher living expenses of employees.

Everyone realizes the necessity of paying more for rent, for food, for clothing, for wages and for transportation.

The telephone industry has been affected by the same conditions which have produced higher prices in all the necessities of life.

If this Company is to continue to furnish dependable telephone service to the public it must obtain such rates as will produce a revenue sufficient to cover the cost of providing the service.

The Seniors are busy working on their class plays for the entertainers which they expect to present Friday, May 16. Watch for further announcements.

The returns of the first eighth grade examinations were very gratifying. There were fifteen from the Carroll school who took the examination. Only one failed in any subject, while the others failed in a very few, some in one subject only. A second examination will be held at the Carroll school.

Grammar Room. Those receiving perfect attendance certificates are: Edna Jones, Leslie Belford, John Ernest, Willie Ernest, Wilma Francis, Alice Garwood, Jimmie Fredrickson, Russel Jones, Elva Jones, Tony Cook, Hilda Francis, Mirtreda Francis, Virginia Jones, Alfred Hellwig, Genevieve Wilcox, Elmer Woods, and W. D. Sata. Per cent of attendance was 95.

Hula Church of the second intermediate term was absent all last week.

John D. Garwood was a visitor in the first intermediate term one day last week.

Victim of Military Court.

Battle Creek Enterprise: "All ready to leave for home after having taken part in the fighting in which his division, the 35th distinguished itself, Louis Gibson, former Amesley, Neb. man, was suddenly arrested in March, tried, convicted on a charge of being absent at his guard post in camp last August and even after a plea for clemency by his division commander, was sentenced to two years in prison, says the Lincoln State Journal.

The Amesley Herald, commenting on the case, calls the court martial system "a system patterned after the German army making an officer, whether he is a West Point graduate, product of the '90-day system, all powerful, a court from which the enlisted man has no appeal." The disparity of the sentences imposed for like offenses is cited and examples given. It is stated that friends of the man are making an effort to have the sentence lightened, at least.

The letter written by Private Gibson to his wife at Amesley, Neb., just before he was taken to the prison camp to serve his sentence, follows: Dear Sweetheart: Have just finished a little note to you and give it to Todd and as I am through packing will write some more and give it to a friend and he can mail it to you as soon as he gets to the U. S. Of course I will write to you and send it through the mail, but they think I want to say may not pass the censor. I may not write things but I don't know which one will reach you first so will tell you that you are important things. Honey, they don't take this long. I am sure God-to-bear-up-in the hardship this news will impose on you. I am here to be sent to the American prison camp near Bordeaux for two years. Dear, this is a long time but it could have been worse. The charge was sleeping on a cot (Article 89) but I was so tired and had been awake so much I couldn't stand it any longer. It is a well known fact that it was the common for someone to be found asleep on duty as we were so short of men and the work had to be done, but for some reason they made an example of me for the whole thing. Everyone says it is unfair, but of course no one could say anything unless it should be taken up by the people of Nebraska and Kansas.

The officials find everything over here to suit themselves and the enlisted men have no chance for justice.

This happened on August 17, while we were in the Western mountains. I have never mentioned it because I didn't know how it would turn out, and anyway, I didn't want to worry you about it. I am not ashamed of it and hope you can see it in the same light that I do. I will not have time to write all the folks but of course I want all to know about it. You can tell anyone you care to as far as I am concerned, not that I have lost hope of self-respect but tonight I have done my duty and have been selected to suffer for the effect it would have on the army to help maintain discipline.

Well, anyway, it will be over some time, and maybe God will see fit to give us a brighter day. Of course I am quite a disappointment, but I get to come home with the rest, but I can stand my part all right, if I could only lift the burden from you and your mother.

Honey, I wish you would stay with her this summer and winter, also if you don't feel like staying for you are certainly welcome and you and mother can comfort each other.

One thing more and I will close for this time. It may comfort you to know that some action may be taken by my friends, as soon as the Thirty-fifth division gets home.

John Deere New Century Moline Cultivators

The factor of greatest importance in producing a good crop of corn on fertile soil, with a well prepared seed bed, is the killing of the weeds. Weeds deprive the plant of moisture, light and food; all of which are absolutely necessary for the production of crops

Points to Remember

Points to Remember

Simplicity

The John Deere Va-Leverless cultivator is the simplest form of riding cultivator yet devised. It works just like walking, except that you can sit in a comfortable seat instead of walking across the field all day.

The width of tread may be easily and quickly changed. A variation of 14 inches is provided, adapting the cultivator to wide or narrow rows.

Even Penetration

Easy and even penetration is insured by the rig couplings and the section of the shovels. The rigs have only one point of connection with the frame, consequently are not influenced by the swerving of the team on the wheels passing over uneven ground.

Adjustable Balance

The balance is adjustable to the weight of a heavy man or a small boy. Simply lengthen or shorten the connection between axle and front arch. No tools needed—a tail nut does the business.

Combined Riding and Walking

Don't overlook this point—You know how tired you get if you ride all day, as you have to do with most cultivators of this type. With the VA you can walk when you get tired of riding or ride when you get tired of walking.

Steele and Malleable Construction

Steel frame bars and malleable iron castings give the necessary strength without useless weight.

Miss Jane A. Delano who for several years has directed the nursing activities of the American Red Cross, died in a French hospital April 15.

Miss Delano left for France in the early part of January to reorganize the nursing forces there, but very soon after she arrived overseas was taken sick. Her illness continued in operations and was reported to be convalescing. The report of her death came as a distinct shock to her hundreds of friends in this country.

It was under Miss Delano's direction that more than 30,000 nurses were recruited through the United States Red Cross for service in the army and navy. She was one of the foremost figures of the nursing world and was recognized as one of the leaders of her profession in this country.

Miss Delano was born in Watkins, N. Y., in 1856. Her father was killed in the Civil war, and she was raised by her grandfather, a Baptist clergyman. The call to receive suffering humanity came to her while still a young girl and after her preliminary education she began first hereself.

Her work in Jacksonville finished, Miss Delano was called to Bigge, Ariz. in 1889, to establish a hospital for one of the big copper companies. Two years later she was made superintendent of the Nurses Training School of the University of Pennsylvania.

MRS. CHAS. PEEDEN GAINS 27 POUNDS

Twice Examined and Each Time Told Operations Were Only Hope.

"I have just finished my third bottle and have gained twenty-seven pounds," was the reasonable statement made by Mrs. Chas. Peeden, residing at 530 Hill street, Hazlett, Mich. Mrs. Peeden is one of the best known and highly respected women of that thriving little city, where she has made her home for a number of years.

"When I commenced taking the medicine, I felt comfortable. I weigh 125 pounds and never felt better in my life. For years I have had a bad form of stomach trouble, constipation and pains in my side and back. At times the pains took the form of torture and I was once examined and told that I had appendicitis and that an operation would be my only hope. I had fallen off my feet on account of my stomach points and was so weak I could hardly get around.

"I had no appetite at all scarcely, but after taking the medicine I did eat and would cause gas to form in my stomach which gave me palpitation of the heart, sick headaches and a dizzy spell about the head. When the sick came on I would get awfully nervous. I worried about myself and I could rest and sleep but I could not get any sleep.

"I had fallen off until I was almost skin and bones. I was almost unable to get up and was almost unable to eat. I had a dread of the future and could get nothing but the operating table and the knife. I had a dread of the future and could get nothing but the operating table and the knife. I had a dread of the future and could get nothing but the operating table and the knife.

"I never returned for the operation. A night after the operation I felt better. The medicine seemed to take hold right at once. It had a soothing effect and in a few days I felt the pain at all. I was so happy over the wonderful improvement in my condition that I sent for my neighbors to tell them how much better I felt. I went and got another bottle of Tanlac and have just finished taking my third bottle and feel like I have gained all over again into a new woman.

"As I have said before, I now weigh 125 pounds, and my appetite has been as rapid as that of my clothes are big enough for me. I will have to make them all over again. I now have a good appetite and my husband says I am simply eating him out of house and home. I have even gone back to my office, which I was told not to touch. Those terrible pains in my back and head have all disappeared and I sleep like a child. I am no longer nervous and when I get up mornings I feel refreshed, cheerful and bright. I am now able to attend to my household duties and I feel that I have recovered. He will be glad to see me and my recovery is the talk of the neighborhood. I do nothing but relax all day long over the recovery of my health, and praise Tanlac to everybody.

"I feel as good as if by magic from the operating table and the knife that you may publish what I have said; you may, if you will, tell the world suffering as I was, to come and see me and I will be glad to tell them all about my case."

Tanlac is sold in Wayne.

Can Chaos be Worse?

Kansas City Times: Another thing about the Russians that we can't get our heads around is the fact that they seem to have the chaos which will still surely result if the bolshevik government isn't saved. Chaos won't be any more, but we wonder what the Russians compare to so admirably with bolshevism. From the way they speak of it, it must be as bad as severe as honest toil.

Some Business Spots.

Stone City Journal: A survey of business during the last seven days has disclosed some marked physical improvement except in the agricultural outlook. Iron and steel are dark spots in the business situation. Neither has recovered from the collapse of the inflation developed during war times. The difference between the conditions which then prevailed and those which prevail now is so great that the change is not only difficult to make, but its accomplishment would be disastrous in some ways. Wages established on the inflation cannot be lowered to what they were before the inflation because the cost of living has been blocked up to the same level as wages. To lower wages in iron and steel with the high cost of living as it would transmute a chaos which would spread to every industry in the country. There is no philosophy in the acceptance of activity in iron and steel as the better solution of the problem than the collapse that would result from the sudden reduction of wages. An adjustment in other lines will in time permit a readjustment in these industries which will avoid the collapse and a general recovery with as little loss as possible.

Indications from Europe are that the steel mills of that continent including those of Germany, will cure a large portion of the orders for material needed in rebuilding this waste. This will give employment to Europe and it is to be desired. In the case of Germany it will open the way for the payment of its war penalties. Once Europe is able to pay its war penalties, this country must fall because the supply will be greater than at present, even if the demand is not. In this connection the government estimate of 900,000,000 bushels wheat crop passages in 1919 is a very reasonable estimate of bread and meat regardless of the demands for foreign consumption.

the prices of other grain and livestock following that of wheat.

These elements of trade and industry are future, but present public confidence is based upon them and business is being gradually adjusted to the prospects. Labor troubles, so far as real labor is involved, is an element to get more adjusted to conditions under which labor must operate, and to get wages on a balance with the cost of living. This is to avert the anarchistic element, the action of which is founded on the desire to develop territorial instead of secure interests.

Both wholesale and retail trade are holding their own. Advance in neither branch is the advance pronounced. There is a developing firmness, disclosed by comparative figures, showing that the nervousness of the earlier months following the armistice has passed. There is a conservative spirit, but it is not blended with the uncertainty that has held back orders and handicapped retail buying in the past.

Miss Pierce Speaks.

Omaha, Neb. May 3.—Mrs. M. D. Camara, director from Nebraska in the general federation of women, returned from a tour of the district convention of the Nebraska federation, April 22. She reports an interesting program, noting especially an address on art by Miss Martha Pierce of the Wayne Normal school. Dean W. G. Hastings of the college of law, University of Nebraska, gave a comprehensive discussion of the league of nations. Miss E. E. Johnson, chairman, was elected president of the district for the coming year to succeed Mrs. E. B. Penny of Fullerton.

Ridicule.

Dr. Frank Crane: Ridicule is the sharpest weapon of the soul. It is a poison arrow, its wound does not heal clean, but festers. Sometimes its use is permissible, to slay a humbug; for there are some forms of smug mania that call themselves religious, and some egotisms that masquerade as dignity, that can only be reached by ridicule.

To Consolidate Schools. Lincoln, Neb., May 6.—Within less than five years, according to State Superintendent Clemmons, every rural school system will be composed of consolidated school districts, maintaining modern school buildings and with facilities sufficient to handle actual grades and vocational studies.

Mr. Clemmons and his deputy, John Spedic, expect to spend most of their time this summer organizing the state organizing these districts.

Mr. Clemmons returned from Hamilton county, where a district was organized out of five present districts, and where they expect to have completed a $99,000 modern school building before September. He went to Shubert, where a consolidated district is being formed from six present districts, having a grand total of $65,000 with 225 students, and will start with the regular high school courses. Mr. Spedic is in Lincoln county where three districts are being organized.

Last year, fifty-two consolidated districts were formed in the state, with an assessment valuation of $12,180,000, and up to date sixty-two have been organized, with about thirty applications made in the office, missing on being organized at once. Mr. Clemmons expects a total of about 200 such districts by the close of this year. A rough estimate places the total which may eventually be organized when the system is complete of about 1,500.

Politics Charged. Lincoln, Neb., May 6.—The question of whether the Non-Partisan League and the Farmers' union really friendly has been widely settled, at least, it being understood that C. H. Gustafson, president of the Farmers' union, has withdrawn from the action of the recent Beer-belt-in-Lincoln, which would invoke the referendum on the new income law, but with a withdrawal in order to help the Non-partisan league put across its referendum to recall only a part of the income law.

Mr. Gustafson's resignation nomination for state officers below governor.

It is understood that the Non-partisan league favors the referendum only on the convention part, leaving in that part relating to part of the income law.

Mr. Gustafson gives as his reasons for withdrawing from the committee which would invoke the referendum on the entire law, that it seems to be interfering down to a matter of politics and being a reaffirmation, he does not propose to fall into any trap.

Mr. Gustafson's withdrawal was reported in a Lincoln newspaper, W. E. Ougley, former
