The Grates of a furnace are more important than you perhaps think. In order to give you the best grates for fuel economy and convenience, the has four triangular bars, cast very heavy and rigid. Teeth or fingers extend from the three sides and are close enough to burn small coal economically. Each bar operates separately. Ashes can easily be removed without disturbing the fire. Where two or more grates operate together, many "live" coals are shaken into the ash pit—just as much heat is wasted. The COLONIAL way is the saving way.

Each does not come out into the cellar when shaking the grate. The ash extends through the door frame and the ash pit is dust tight.

COLONIAL grates are easy to replace if necessary—just remove two screws—even the fire need not be disturbed.

Count 'em! We'll tell you about the many other COLONIAL Pipeless features and its FIVE-YEAR GUARANTEE.

Accessory Service Important.

This year one of the important considerations in buying a car will be the service which the various accessory manufacturers will be able to provide for the convenience of the motorist. Accessory service has always been important, but with many service organizations depleted during the war and not yet built up, it behooves the prospective automobile purchaser to look carefully into the opportunities he will have to secure service on the accessories of his car.

Because of this fact the Willard Storage Battery company lost no time in rebuilding its service organization and in having a car will be the service which the various accessory manufacturers will be able to provide for the convenience of the motorist. H. H. Hahn of Oakland, Oakland Independent. The commencement speaker this year was H. H. Hahn, dean of the normal school at Wayne. Mr. Hahn made no attempt at oratory, but spoke forcefully and instructively on how best to perform the duties and tasks of reconstruction times. In order to meet the requirements, he said there must be considered—physical, mental, and moral, and he summed them all up in true Americanism. In regard to the first point, physical, war showed us what weaknesses we are, since of the men who passed through the draft machinery, thirty-three and a third per cent were found unfit for army or navy service. Training did something to rectify some of the weakness disclosed, but the condition shows plainly that more stress must be laid on physical upbuilding. This building up is not a thing that can be done quickly. To a certain extent it must be inherited. One should be able, as the old witticism goes, to select one's own ancestors. The "goodness" of this physical weakness is shown in the appalling rate of infant mortality. There are 400,000 deaths annually of persons under 10, and 100,000 never live to be a year old. And nearly all of these deaths are due to preventable causes. Mr. Hahn spoke of efforts made to get medical inspectors in schools. In Illinois the legislature was asked for $150,000 for this purpose, but the senators refused to give it. The superintendent of instruction then wrote a parable, detailing how a widowed mother sought aid for her sick child. The city, county, state, and the federal government expressed regret that they could do nothing for her. Then in the same community a cow was taken sick with a mysterious illness. The county agent, baffled, sent in a call to the state for expert aid and the agricultural department of the government sent experts to study the case. For it was feared that the disease might spread and cause untold loss. This parable was printed and a copy was placed on the desk of each legislator. They quickly saw the point, and the sarcasm of the added injunction, "Be a hog." They promptly made an appropriation of $150,000. In speaking of mental or intellectual training, Mr. Hahn says he is aware of the criticism that the present system of teaching in public schools does not fit a pupil for vocational training, which he admits. Except in normal training, no vocational training is aimed at in the schools. But courses are tending more and more to the vocational and in less than ten years, he says, there will be vocational training in every high school in the United States. Common school education must necessarily be general and introductory. Therefore he urged that the students continue their studies. As regards the moral education, he pointed to the German educational system as one gone wrong, because it left the moral side of it out. He scolded also holdovers, the W. W.'s, and Non-Partisan Leaguers, who are ulcers on the body politic, and are due to a lack of moral education. The home and the church can better inculcate morality than the school, and he showed that each of these institutions has a different kind of morality. The party habit plays in morality was touched upon, and the speaker said that this belongs under the physical division rather than the mental or moral, as repetitions of an act register on the nerve cells until they respond more easily after every repetition.

The Same Germany. Philadelphia Public Ledger: Germany sent experts to study the case. It was feared that the disease might spread and cause untold loss. Merely Beginning. Check Forger Caught.
Norfolk News, June 7: August Burmeister, an escaped patient from the Norfolk state hospital was in Wakefield Thursday evening and secured $25 in cash from the R. E. Strawn grocery store through the mediation of a worthless check. He was later arrested at Emerson. The check was drawn on the First National bank of Wakefield. Burmeister gave his address as West Point.

August Burmeister has been a patient in the hospital here for many years. His malady is "check emasing," according to the hospital authorities and every once in a while he escapes and lives in the belief that he has money in many of the banks of the state. He then proceeds to fill out blank checks and cash them. On this occasion he secured a key in some mysterious manner and on Monday night he unlocked the lock of the heavy screen which enclosed the porch of the male ward. Fastening two bed sheets together, he was able to let himself to the ground. Twenty minutes later the hospital authorities knew he had escaped and made a search for him. While Burmeister was cashing his check in the Strawn store at Wakefield, resident recognized him and warned the storekeeper who later notified the hospital authorities.

WORLD'S RECORD IS BROKEN BY TANLAC Bottles Sold in Four Years Would Reach from New York to Denver, Colorado.

Four years ago, very few people had even heard of Tanlac. Today it unquestionably has largest sale of any medicine in the world, and is as well known in Canada as in this country.

Up to January 1, the total sales of Tanlac amounted to approximately twelve million bottles. The demand has not abated since then, during the first ten weeks of this year over one million bottles were sold and distributed in the United States and Canada, the exact figure being 1,206,186 in three months.

At this rate, therefore, the sales for the present year will amount to a more than five million bottles. This will mean that 17,000 bottles of Tanlac will be sold during every day of the year, or 2400 bottles for every business day of working day.

The demand for Tanlac has become so great that the sale is instead of a noteworthy fact that the leading druggist jobbers everywhere now buy Tanlac almost exclusively in carload lots. To supply the Eastern trade alone, requires from forty to fifty carloads per year. Jobbers of the middle west are selling from seventy to eighty cars per year.

The well known drug firm of Hissig-Ellicott Drug company of Memphis, Tenn., has sold over forty carloads since the introduction of Tanlac in that state four years ago. Within the past ninety days, ten carloads of Tanlac have gone to supply the demand of British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Alberta, and Manitoba, Canada.

Tanlac is composed of the most beneficial roots and herbs known to science. The formula complies with all national and state pure food and health laws of both the United States and Canada, and absolute merit and merit alone is responsible for its phenomenal and unprecedented success.

UNCLE WALT THE POET PHILOSOPHER

HIGH PRICES. The prices still are higher than ever. They are three times what a night, and when I make a payment for groceries or raincoat, I think I'd like to die. To earn my meager dollars I sell down many collars, and I'd like old Sam Hill; what wonder I'm disgusted if weekends find me huddled when I show my bill to the cashier. They say we ought to make the dime and great and nickel, against the rainy day; but when we've paid the baker, and squander the under-leaves, there's naught to put away.

WEATHER. If I could run the weather for seasons two or three, a medal made of feather and donkey heads to me. The climate now presented strikes as being bad; most men are disconcerted, and some of us are paid. When sunshine's badly needed, the rain falls every day; the fields by hard work seeded, are abandoned and washed away.

WORKING. In wartime's long and dreadful night they told us we must work or fight, and so we worked or fought; now tasks man secured a gun, and sought the spoor of vandal Hun; the balance of us wrought. We fat men left our gilded lairs, our hammocks and our easy chairs, and filled the fertile soil, we pawed ground and trilled our song, and tried to show the passing throng new curves in honest toil.

CHRONIC CONSTIPATION. Perhaps you have never thought of it, but this disorder is due to a lack of moisture in the residual matter of the food. If you will drink an abundance of water, eat raw fruits and take out of the exercise you may be able eventually to overcome it entirely.

It costs so much to stay on earth we have no time for hours of mirth for dreams or idle games; we have no time for languid ease; we have to work like bumblebees around our pollinating frames.

But scores of merchants are now building delivery prestige for their stores, because they have eliminated all tire worry. These car owners are making use of a new principle of tire construction which gives them 5,000 to 15,000 more miles from their tires—at only 1-2 the cost of other tires. They are using Gates Half-Sole Tires, which, because of this new principle of construction, give them double tire mileage. Do Not be Starved for Music. MUSIC is an essential to the right kind of existence. Mr. Thomas A. Edison has said to us: "Give every honest man and woman a chance to have good music in the home."

The New Edison "The Phonograph with a Soul." is the world's most wonderful musical instrument because it gives you in your own home every form of music, just as the music is heard on the world's great opera stages and concert platforms.

We have the New Edison variety of beautiful cabinets. Come to our store and make your selection. If it is not convenient to pay cash, tell us confidentially what terms will be convenient.

LACKEY STARTS FOR HOME

Wayne Man in Educational Work in France to Soon Return.

Prof. E. E. Lackey of the Wayne State Normal faculty, for some months doing educational work in France, writes a series of interesting letters to his family in Wayne. In one of them he said he expected to ship his "week" on his return here. Among recent letters from him are the following excerpts:

Beane Presses, April 10, 1919.
My class in geography there were fifteen men from all parts of the A. E. F. and representing nine different states. Clerks, farmers, iron molders, teachers, mail clerks, etc., represent occupations some were following in the U. S. A. They are all mature men, several partly laid, and all seem to take an interest in the class-work. We are using Tarr & McMurray's advanced book in geography. I took the class for a field trip around the old wall and moat which surrounded this city for centuries for its protection. The men hope there will be other opportunities for them, and I think there will be. Visited Hotel Dieu where there is the wonderful picture of "The Resurrection" by a Flemish painter. It is said P. Morgan offered more than $100,000 for it. It beggars description and must be seen to be appreciated. I am now going to get some colored reprints of it.

Tuesday, April 15, 1919.
I have the most interesting class now of any I have had. Each is loaded with a fund of experience and is glad and willing to cooperate in making the lesson a success. I feared at first these men would be so absorbed in getting home that they would not try to interest themselves in geography, but I've got the goods that make them forget for the time being at least. They are so enthusiastic and all want to talk at once. I cannot help contrasting the enthusiasm of these fellows of mine with the men in several classes I visited last week where the teachers read some lectures they had prepared. Why not give the student the opportunity of self-expression? That is what develops him—and that is the end in education.

April 16, 1919.
Took my class of twenty-six men for another field trip. Got a big sack and took them all in one load. The weather was a little raw but we had a good time, and the boys liked it.

April 17, 1919.
Had an illustrated lecture in class today. Two men lectured on two pictures while they were on the stage. One brought a Sam Brown belt and shoulder strap like the officers wear. The government requires us to wear them. Took off all my signs and insignia. That was necessary, too. It is now 10:25 p. m. here, but only 4:25 in good old U. S. A.

April 18, 1919.
Took my class for a walk today. We lined up in front of the gate to a fine chateau and had our pictures taken. We visited a blacksmith and implement shop and studied the gravel pit where they get out material for making roads, streets, and buildings.

April 19, 1919.
Went to Allery this afternoon to see the Saune river, preparatory to taking my boys on a field trip.

April 20, 1919.
Visited some large quarries and stone mills. The methods used in getting the stone out are quite ancient. No hoisting machines are in use. The most interesting piece of hoisting apparatus was one operated by a tread wheel in which enough people, men, women, and children could walk to operate the machine which lifted the large stones. After the rocks are hoisted to the stone mill, they are cut into proper size blocks. This is done by an endless wire being drawn by machinery over the stone which is fed with sand and water which furnishes power. It is said the large rock used for the Statue of Liberty came from these quarries. This rock is a limestone, metamorphosed enough to take a good polish.

April 21, 1919.
General Pershing and Secretary of War Baker were here today on Pershing's special train. Classes continued until 1:45 a. m. when each teacher took his class out to Pershing Field to hear Secretary Baker speak. It was an excellent address dealing with the education of all American youth. He said we are now pioneers in a brand new innovation in education, that had the greatest of possibilities for the future. He said this was the first experiment of the kind ever tried in the history of the world and was being watched with the keenest interest by all the nations.

April 22, 1919.
Dr. Evans of the history department talked to my class on relations of geography and history. He said the decisive battle between Caesar and the Gauls was fought near Dijon which is a little north-west of here. Was in the observation tower looking at the Alps over the Saune river. I found Lee Smith of Wayne also looking for the Alps. He is the first Wayne county or Wayne man I have seen or heard of since leaving the U. S. A.

April 23, 1919.
Took my class in a truck on a forty-mile trip today. Crossed the Saune at Allery on the suspension bridge. Went over the crest of the Saune and came back through a large forest. No vineyards across the river, but all farm land. Saw at least forty teams of oxen plowing and only two teams of horses. Saw some fine illustrations of hop culture. We had an excellent meal and road all the way. The valley of the Saune is mostly stony and not suitable for cultivation.

April 24, 1919.
The University of Nebraska alumni and students had a meeting this evening and organized into the "University of Nebraska Association of the A. E. F. University." We made Professor Fogg president. Twenty-seven men here, enrolled in the club, met—two women. Miss Long of Madison, a cousin of the Cravens.

April 25, 1919.
Today marks the end of the first two-week training school. Had some very interesting pupils, from all parts of the United States, and several from Germany. Each one has some personal experience to bring into almost every discussion. Everyone shook my hand goodbye in the club, not a few women. Miss Long of Madison, a cousin of the Cravens.

April 25, 1919.
Got orders to go to Dijon and Issur-Tille to inspect and supervise work in geography. Five are going in the party, each to observe different lines of work. I was made leader of the party. About 400 German prisoners were marched by train past our barracks this evening.

Do Your Building Now

The demand for lumber and building material is greater than ever before in the history of this country.

If you contemplate building of any sort you are strongly advised to do it now as there is a general forecast of a scarcity this fall. You will gain nothing by waiting for a drop in prices as the demand for material is too great and the majority of the lumber mills have orders on their books for six and eight months ahead.

Our stock of lumber and building material is of the best and we can give you the best of service at this time.

Come in and inspect our materials and look over our plan service for that new house.

ACCIDENT PROVES FATAL

Plainview Priest Falls Under Wheels of Train at Laurel.

Plainview, Neb., June 10.—Rev. Father Jageman of this city died in a Sioux City hospital Monday night following injuries he received at Laurel during the afternoon when he fell under a Burlington train and one of his legs severed. Father Jageman was on his way from Plainview to Harrington and was getting off the train near the Laurel Harrington station when the accident occurred. The station was closed a few days ago when the M. & O. took over the Burlington business.

When the passenger-train stopped just west of the Burlington depot to whistle for the crossing Father Jageman who was unaware of the change decided that the train was passing his depot. He made a rush for the platform and in some unexplained manner he fell and rolled under the wheels of the last car of the train. One of his legs was severed and he was declared to be suffering from internal injuries when help came. Doctors gave him first aid attention and the train was held and he was rushed to Sioux City for further attention.

It was reported at Laurel that the train was in motion when Father Jageman fell from the car and tumbled to the platform. The train, however, was not moving fast.

Senior Endeavor at 7 o'clock in the evening. All young people invited. Evening prayer service at 8 o'clock. Subject of the evening sermon, "The Rewards of Service."

Methodist Episcopal Church. (Rev. D. W. MacGregor, Pastor.) The Sunday school program on the first program last Sunday morning that has been put on before a Wayne audience in years. The committee in charge of Children's day program was given a vote of thanks by the large congregation present.

The children and young folk did their parts exceedingly well. Come to Sunday school next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. We extend a cordial invitation to the normal students to worship with us. 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. the pastor will preach. Come to church next Sunday.

The young people in Epworth league and Intermediate league at 7 p. m. Dean J. H. Hahn led the Epworth league last Sunday evening and that means they had a great service, with a great leader and helper of young people.

Improvements are to be made on the church building, by way of new steps and railings at front entrance, and the painting of window frames and cornice work of the church.

First Baptist Church. (Rev. Robert L. Pratt, S. T. M., Pastor.) The pastor appreciated the good attendance of Sunday morning in view of the inclement weather. He believes that next Sunday morning will see even a larger number present, whatever the weather may be.

Our Junior contest which began Sunday, aroused Group C so that they won eight points against four, the next highest group. But three Sundays remain in which to make a record. Groups A, B, and D should try much harder to make a high score next Sunday.

Miss Mabel Hanson will lead the Senior society at 7 next Sunday.

We cordially invite all young people not enrolled elsewhere to attend.

Much has been said during the war about the meaning of the Cross of Christ for today. The minister will discuss this subject at the evening service at 8.

You may meet some people who are laid, awful laid; don't move on that account; try and make them better. Don't keep shoving and kicking; extend the glad hand and help them up. If the Declaration of Independence don't suit you write another and have a celebration every day; enjoy yourself and hurrah, laugh, get other people laughing; be as chipper as a dog with fleas—they make him lively; Don't kick.

English Lutheran Church. (Rev. J. H. Fetterall, Pastor.) The bible school convenes promptly at 10 a. m. We have a place for all who desire to take advantage of the united study of the Word. There is no valid reason why young and old should not acquaint themselves with the eternal truths now studied in the Sunday school. Get the habit of being regular.

Hours of worship with sermon—11 a. m. and 8 p. m. We give a hearty invitation to all, especially to those who have no regular church home; to come and worship with us. We have no ambition other than to help you to a life that satisfies.

We are glad to welcome the Normal students into our midst. As always, we will be delighted to have them attend all the services of our church, especially those who are of our household of faith.

Luther league meets at 7:15 p. m. These meetings are intended to develop the young people of the church. If they fail to achieve their purpose, it is not because we neglect the splendid opportunities of ferred in these meetings?

Mrs. Frank Sederstrom will entertain the Ladies Aid society next Thursday afternoon.

—Nor a Candidate. Lincoln Journal: Senator Hitchcock went into the ditch against the suffrage amendment along with Penrose, Lodge, Knox and the southern bourbon. This ought to dispose of the rumor that Senator Hitchcock is a presidential candidate.

More Than a Forecast. "Buy coal now," says Harry Garfield, but the admonition is not a weather prediction.

MCGREGOR'S EXPERIENCES

Relates to Herald Reporter Some of Things He Saw Overseas.

Captain W. E. MacGregor of the Illinois National Guard, thirty-three years of age, arrived from Camp Dodge for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. MacGregor. He has a furlough of fifteen days, which he will return to Camp Dodge for discharge.

Captain MacGregor landed in New York May 22, a year to a day from the time he landed overseas. He wears on his victory bar three bronze stars which signify the three major offensives in which he took part in the Somme offensive, which lasted from July 4 to Sept. 10, the Meuse-Argonne drive, and the battle of Woerwe.

Captain MacGregor served four months with the Australians on the English front. The Australians are fine-spirited and ready fellows and were well liked by the American-English officers, especially early in the war, were classified according to their worth and received commissions accordingly.

Four o'clock tea was served to the British officers in the trenches. Captain MacGregor also served in the seventeenth French corps. The American boys considered the English as their worth and the French, but fraternized better with the latter. The French are wonderful in their artillery, having the best in the world, and the Americans received most of their training from the French.

At the time of the signing of the armistice, Captain MacGregor was engaged in the battle of Woerwe, opposite Metz and only two hours distant by automobile. His division went over the top the morning of November 11, and twenty-seven men and two officers were killed in the last hour before the signing of the armistice reached the front. Over seven hundred men in his division were wounded or killed during the last three days.

After receiving the news, the Americans and quiet were tearful. The armistice would be signed and for five or six days, the infantry stayed right where they were in the trenches in order to be ready for an attack, as they did not trust the Germans. There was no move on the part of the Americans until the Germans were ordered out of their trenches to proceed to Germany, and then the Americans followed them.

On the evening of November 11, the front was lighted up for miles by flare lights shot off by Americans and Germans celebrating the armistice. Army bands played behind the trenches and the talent of the various organizations held concerts in the towns where the streets were ablaze with bon fires. The majority of the infantrymen were glad of the end but some of the artillerymen and soldiers who had not reached the front were disappointed to see that they would be saved by the cessation of hostilities.

Inquisitive Germans came over to the American trenches directly after the armistice was signed, but the American boys were forbidden to converse with them. The Germans in this sector were large soldiers of the Prussian Guard, mingled with mere boys of fourteen to sixteen years of age. All were thin and weakened by their meager rations of black bread and cabbage.

Captain MacGregor secured a German prisoner named Steve Argonne, who had lost it. However, he has one which was given him by a soldier from Lorraine who was French but had conspired to serve in the German army. When the Germans were obliged to retreat, they tore the shoulder straps from his uniform and broke his sword, but he retained some of his equipment and presented his bayonet to Captain MacGregor. It is a cruel looking blade with a saw-like edge, designed to make an ugly wound. It fits in a sheath which is worn suspended from the belt.

Prompt Cutting Means More Alfalfa.

Experiments conducted at the Nebraska agricultural experiment station indicate that alfalfa produces more if attention is given to the proper time of cutting. Tests were made for total yields per season when alfalfa was cut two, three, four and five times. It was found that three or four cuttings, depending on the season, gave the largest yield for that section of the state in which the experiment station is located. "Forage crops" experiment station bulletin 169 says there are two indexes for the proper harvesting time. They are the appearance of the first bloom and the starting of a new growth at the crown and lower part of the old stems. Cutting should begin at the appearance of either these. Experiments also show that cutting the hay into the stack or barn at the proper time means a saving of more leaves, which form 50 per cent of the value of the hay. In good drying weather a half day or less in the swath and a day in the windrow will ordinarily do. Rain or dew is more likely to cause mold in the stack than-moisture in the plant. It is often better to stack a little green, and let the hay brown cure than to have it rained on or lose too many leaves.

Washington Information

Congressman Robert E. Evans sends the following information for Herald readers: "Blank affidavits and claims for additional travel pay will be furnished to all army men honorably discharged since November 11, 1918, upon application to the War Department office, director of finance.

There are on hand at the navy yard, Washington, D. C., 131 memorial tablets made from metal recovered from the wreck of the old battleship Maine, together with one ventilator, two deck plates, and three powder tanks.

These tablets and the material mentioned are to be disposed of in accordance with the Act of August 22, 1912, which is quoted as follows:

"The secretaries of war and navy are authorized to cause to be made from any parts of the wreck of the Maine or its equipment that are suitable for the purpose, tablets for donation as relics in conformity with the provision of the Act of December 22, 1911, making appropriations to supply urgent deficiencies; provided, that the cost of such tablets may be charged against any unexpended balances of appropriations heretofore made for the removal of the wreck of the Maine and that the municipalities and other localities receiving such tablets shall repay the cost thereof, which cost shall be reimbursed to the proper appropriation."

The estimated cost of the tablets is about five dollars plus the freight or express charges from Washington to destination.

Destructive. Knoxville Journal and Tribune: When Bureau gets through with the telephones it looks as if there won't be anything left but the receivers.

A Great Joke. Omaha World-Herald: Uncle Sam is sure to have a laugh over the suggestion from Berlin that he and poor, down-trodden Germany form a partnership.

AIRPLANE HAS ACCIDENT

Aviator Unable to Fly at Randolph Celebration Friday

At the home-coming celebration in Randolph last Friday an aviator scheduled to give an exhibition suffered an accident with his air craft and was unable to make the flight. The fact that the ground was soft caused the machine to catch one of its wings in a barbed wire. This resulted in a wreck that made flying impossible. It is understood that the aviators have sold so many rides at Randolph that they will take a plane there to accommodate the crowd as soon as possible.

The balance of the entertainment at Randolph was derived from music and dancing. A large crowd attended.

Model "B" 1 1/2-Ton Worm Drive Motor Truck

In the early days of the motor truck, the burden of its advertising was "TRUCK versus HORSE!" Today the enlightened business man no longer questions which of the two is the better for his hauling. He now figures which of the various makes of motor trucks offer him the most for his money and the greatest profit in operation.

He has learned that the pleasure car chassis with a commercial body on it is not fit for the job of transportation any more than a go-cart would answer the purpose of a wheelbarrow. He knows now, that profitable transportation requires a motor truck that is a motor truck from the ground up.

That is the sort of a motor truck we have built in the Model "B" 1 1/2 to D-E worm drive. Like the rest of the D-E line it was built for hard and exacting service—to yield the greatest revenue possible that can be derived from a motor truck.

THE McCORMICK No. 6

Is not a McCormick No. 4 mower made over. It is a new mower with all the good features of the No. 4 embodied with many improvements added.

NOTICE THESE GOOD POINTS

Countershaft Easily adjusted.

The outer end of the countershaft is kept in place by washers and cotter pins. This construction makes it possible to make an adjustment on the countershaft in a few minutes. You will notice also that the adjustments are made from the outside of bearings, which is a desirable feature.

FLEXIBLE GAG ARRANGEMENT

To do good work under all conditions, in rough meadows as well as smooth, a mower must have a flexible gag arrangement. It must be possible to raise the bar reasonably high without increasing the angle between the pitman and knife.

The McCormick No. 6 is an improvement over most mowers in this respect. The cutter bar can be raised to the first notch, and if necessary to the second notch while the machine is in operation. The cutter bar has the same angle in both positions in relation to pitman and coupling bar. You will appreciate this extra high life in rough, stony, or stumpy ground, or in going across a newly cut field and crossing windrows.

McCORMICK SELF DUMP RAKE

The McCormick self dump rake will meet your requirements under all conditions. It has gained a reputation in every locality for durability and ease of operation. It dumps quickly, and the teeth return to the ground close to the windrow. As the rafe fills, the cleaner rods float above and retard the hay so that it does not roll into a rafe form.

WHEELS INTERCHANGE

The wheels of the McCormick rake interchange so that when one side of the racket is worn the wheels can be reversed, giving practically the wear of two rake wheels in one. The wheels have staggered spokes and heavy steel tires. They are large and keep the rake running smoothly when on rough ground. The inside racket is covered with a shield which prevents the hay from winding or interfering with the tripping device.

AGRICULTURE NOTES.

"Egg Day" in Oregon.

The farm bureau of Jackson county, Oregon, is operating in this district a new egg-marketing plan that is meeting with success and winning the co-operation of the business interests of the county. A "egg day" each week is known as "egg day" when farmers deliver their eggs to a central place, where they are culled and cased, the actual cost of candling and crates being charged against the farmer according to the number of eggs that he brings to market. The eggs are then sold to the highest bidder, and have brought an advance of from six to eight cents a dozen over the prices received before this plan was used.

Poultry Profitable Sideline.

A net return of new $30 in two and one-half months from a sideline on the farm is the record made by a Glendale, Ariz., poultry raiser who is carrying on his operations under the direction of a poultry extension expert of the United States department of agriculture. In connection with this record, the farmer kept a flock of 210 hens, which produced an average of 10 dozen eggs during the four winter months. During February the eggs brought an average of 55 cents a dozen, or approximately $150, while the total bill, including the feed for the young chicks, amounted to $20. The following month the flock showed a profit of a little over $100. During the month of April the gross receipts were $27.50. In April the extension specialist conducted a culling demonstration on this farm and weeded fifty-six birds from the flock. The culled hens were kept in a separate pen for a week following the demonstration, and they practically no return in egg yields. This indicates, the specialist says, that the remaining 154 hens probably made the record with which the entire 210 had been credited.

Disease Losses Decreased.

Every kind of farm animals had a mortality from disease during the year ending in the spring of 1919 below the average of the preceding ten years; with here and there state that did not conform to this general fact for the United States. The reports of the bureau of crop estimates, United States department of agriculture, give to horses and mules a loss from disease amounting to only 1.57 per cent in the preceding year, the ten-year average being 1.91 per cent; cattle, 1.73 per cent compared with 1.98 per cent; swine, the low rate of 4.14 per cent, compared with 6.68 per cent; sheep, 1.97 per cent, compared with 2.59 per cent; and lambs, the low rate of 4.83 per cent, compared with the eight-year average of 5.76 per cent. On account of exposure, the cattle losses of the preceding year, 1.58 per cent, are above the ten-year average of 1.43 per cent; but the sheep losses of 2.51 per cent were below the average of 2.86 per cent. In number of animals, the farm horses lost from disease during the last year were over 415,000; cattle, from disease and exposure, nearly 2,247,000; swine, from disease, nearly 3,128,000; sheep, from disease and exposure, nearly 1,636,000. The money loss due to these mortalities is not reported but computed at the average head value for all animals of each kind, the aggregate would amount to more than $300,000,000.

Much Rodent Poison Used.

In one March order the Montana state agricultural college sold 15,000 pounds of rodent poison last to county farm bureaus of the state. The state college has erected a special building where the gopher, poison bait is mixed and sold at cost, averaging about 15 cents a quart. The county agents are co-operating with the college and are obtaining bait for rodent control campaigns. Where there are no county agents, orders are handled by local farmers' organizations.

All aboard for the centenary celebration to be held in Columbus, Ohio, June 20.

The Ladies Aid met Wednesday afternoon in the church for the regular business meeting.

The business outlook during the last week has materially brightened. Rains in the west and south have been both injurious and profitable.

The crop in the south has been injured and the wheat harvest in the southwest has been delayed by the persistent moisture. Clear weather will permit the resumption of harvesting operations which had just been started.

The cotton handicap, though it will improve it. The maturing of the bumper wheat crop in the southwest, has been a help.

The probability of increased prosperity. Trade has improved, but the corresponding five months in 1915, previous conservatism than of present prosperity.

The retail trade is limited buying of the last six months has resulted in depleted stocks which must be replenished to meet current demands.

With this improvement in retail buying, both jobbing and wholesale business have shown an increased volume.

The change of seasonal goods has added to the demands for replenished stocks. As indicated by the business survey of late week, trade gradually is becoming convinced that present prices will prevail for a considerable time, and less conservatism is found in future orders.

The small number of failures during May has resulted in increased confidence in the stability of business in general. May failures reached the lowest point in six months, only 442 being officially reported in the United States.

The liabilities involved were even more gratifying. The total amount of bankruptcy liabilities for May was lower than for any month since June, 1913, and with the exception of that month, they were smaller than for any month since September, 1905.

The decrease in the liabilities the first five months of the present year is 75 per cent over the corresponding five months in 1915.
