lay, which is now being cut is immense.

From Pioneer Journal, July 19, 1883:

During the storm of Sunday night a house in Wakefield was blown down, badly injuring two men.

Al Emerson in this county on Thursday morning of last week, an unsuccessful effort was made to burn the store of W. C. Paul.

We understand the work on the extension of the railroad from Wakefield still continues—it is now said that the road will not go through Norris, but will make a new town about two miles from Norris.

Many of the citizens of this county are contemplating buying some of the Custer reservation lands as soon as they come into market. Dr. De Bell, the physician at the Winnebago and Omaha agencies, stated recently to a reporter of the Sioux City Journal that the lands would probably be on the market about October. The lands have not yet been appraised, but will be soon. He thought the price that the appraisers would set would be about $40 per acre. He stated that the balance of the reservation—the part not offered for sale—is being divided among the heads of the families of the tribe—140 acres to each.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE Campaign to Raise Fund in Nebraska for Reconstruction.

The Salvation Army proposes to make a drive in September to raise funds for reconstruction and relief service work in Nebraska. There is so much to the credit of the organization's service during the late war, that the campaign promises to have very easy sailing.

As to the merits of the organization, The Literary Digest of June 7, presents the following among other references:

The drive is quite naturally the occasion for pausing to review the work of the Salvation Army in the war, and the peculiar position it has attained thereby. We have already reported that the $3,000,000 asked in the drive was to eliminate the need of the appeals of the Salvation lassie with her tambourine. The tribute paid the Army by The American Hebrew (New York) is one that covers the case:

Seldom has it been the good fortune of any organization to stand upon its side so much co-operation. There is a halo of good will about the Salvation Army. It has earned a reputation abroad for the sort of humanity that knows no danger and that recognizes no arbitrary dividing lines of creed, race or color. Under shelter the Salvation Army lassie distributed these famous doughnuts, now traditional, which go to the fighting soldier, man, grime and agony of warfare a reminiscent touch of the home he was defending. Her sweet presence made her homely gift a super-warrior; a man fighting for the women folk loved and the simple things which for him spelled civilization. No wonder these men who have come back can not speak too highly of the Salvation Army and its workers. Without detracting in the slightest degree from any of the other welfare agencies, it may be said that all of them the men and women of the Salvation Army were the most unselfish, the most altruistic. In no way of the others the administrative machinery was too cumbersome, too evident. You heard the wheels of philanthropy creak. It is exactly the thing which makes organized charity at times so repellent to a sensitive person. You can not take the emotions, translate them in terms of mathematics, and yet keep them the same. The Salvation Army worker knew only one terrific driving force in spite of the fact that there is discipline of a high order in this organization—the force—within, conscience; and only one law, the law of the helping hand. We rejoice with the Salvation Army in the thought that the tambourine will no longer be necessary to coax vehicles out of the paths of passers-by. The world is always slow to appraise favorably, and sometimes its verdicts are frightfully erratic and capricious. But in the case of the Salvation Army, we have no doubt that the new valuation of its work will be lasting. The success of its drive will be a practical assertion of humanity's 'Credo' that good must not perish from the earth.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

Early days from the Wayne Herald, July 16, 1902: P. Olmstead purchased a half section of land in Hand county, S. D. during his recent visit to that section.

W. H. Nangle and wife of Sioux City, were here over the Fourth for a visit with his parents, Mr. and E. J. Nangle.

F. M. Skeen sold today a quarter section, the ne of 10-72-2, near the German church northeast of the city to A. J. Erickson for $7,200. Mrs. F. A. Dunn of Kansas City is visiting her sister, Mrs. F. H. Jones.

Mrs. C. A. Chace and children spent the Fourth with relatives at Sioux City.

Geo. Lundberg and wife of Lyons spent the Fourth here with Mrs. Lundberg's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Lundberg.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wollert returned home Monday from Council Bluffs, where they have been visiting with relatives and friends.

A very pretty wedding occurred at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Williams, on Friday morning at which time their daughter, Ethel, was united in marriage with John Lotz of Trenton, Mo. Only the immediate relatives were present. The happy couple left in the afternoon for the groom's home.

J. P. Gaertner has been moving his stock of furniture from the Boyd annex and has also been receiving a large influx of new stock. There is no disputing the fact that Mr. Gaertner has one of the most commodious and best arranged establishments in northeast Nebraska, and the largest and best line to select from.

The crop prospects in Wayne county are never better at this season of the year. Wheat and oats are very heavy, and although there has been some complaint of rust it has been confined thus far entirely to the blades. The recent heavy rains have made the flax. The cold time retarded the late corn but the early corn is too high for cultivating, and a large portion of it has been laid by. Potato prospects predict that the price will be low for any profit to the dealer.

The Joy of Living. To enjoy life we must have good health. In some respects this meeting will be as trying as the one just over at Versailles. It promises to be even more bitter in spots. It is a thousand times that the man in the White House used so much open diplomacy in Paris that he has none left to employ on a co-ordinate branch of his own government.

was hurt and not a single case of damage reported. During a celebration in the old days of sailboats by which various degrees of madhouses were developed and bellicose propensities inflamed, police officers were kept busy quelling disorder and making arrests. Everybody was peaceful and joyful.

The death of Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, prominently identified with the movement for equal suffrage among the women, was a vital link in a chain of events which had begun with the woman who achieved fame and performed signal service to society through a long series of years and a long account of her life. Her first year as a school teacher she received only $1 a week and waited eight miles to get to college and complete a course in theology. There she struck a snag in an attempt to be ordained as a preacher from an "academic state to a vital political force."

How to Get Along. E. W. Howe. Not much sense is required to "get along." Some of the best advice that has ever been given has been quite prosaic, but they could be depended on for industry, politeness, an "fairness, a respect for other people's property, ten, his trouble is lack of industry, fairness, politeness, thrift, temperance. I know noted men whose careers have been brilliant and whose names are known enough to be reliable.

Philatelic Collector of the War. Many stamp collectors like to append labels to their stamps and some especially like the stamps of some animal, or birds, or even ships. An individual collector would like to have a collection of war stamps. Some of the stamps which were included all war tax issues, all stamps overprinted for use in occupied territory, and some which were the use of expeditious forms, and envelopes, etc., bearing the cancellations from field post offices and air stamps. Similar to money stamps, war stamps to make their appearance were those introduced by Australian soldiers in the Pacific. Other early arrivals were the German postcards for use in Belgium, Poland, Lithuania and France. Similar to money stamps, war stamps were imposed on the conquered by Bulgaria and Austria.

Pictureque Welcome. When mayors and city committees plan welcome-homes for the soldiers returning from the front, they are to be met by a great general plan, but Montgomery, Ala., put some new wrinkles into the welcoming of the Alabama soldiers. Similar to money stamps, war stamps to make their appearance were those introduced by Australian soldiers in the Pacific. Long-Lived Legless Men. Other conditions being equal, a man who has lost one leg was likely to live longer than if he had lost two, and if both legs were amputated he would probably live longer still, declared Colonel Owenshaw, when the pitiful report of the physical reason advanced for his statement was that the heart had to carry the load of the extremities, and if the extremities were cut off, the heart would not have to work so hard.

Longer Life Promised. Minneapolis Journal. Old age is said to be due to a decrease of water in the system. Life will be much longer, however, is supposed to be to tackle and support the cause of prohibition, together with other matters that have been pressing on the attention of the legislature in the spring. It will be a hot session in every respect, if present weather conditions keep up.

It is gratifying to note that there was no accident and no cases of loss at Wayne during the recent fair. Notwithstanding the presence of a multitude of automobiles, no one was hurt and not a single case of damage reported.

Librettist Writes Humorously of His First Play

Producer Seemingly Had Forgotten All About Work He Pronounced "Great," and It Was Finally Returned to Composer.

"I never shall forget," said Bida Dudley, author, "the first time I tried to write for the stage. It came along like this: J. J. Rosenthal was staging a musical show with the intention of taking the old stage as it had become of late. At this particular time he needed a lyric for his show. We met on Broadway and he gave me a cigar. "Bida, he said, 'can you write me a song?'" "No," I replied. "God," Jake asked yelled, "for the very first time looking for. All the songs you can write me dozens of songs. That's the trouble with them. They're too cocksure. When you get home tonight write me a lyric on 'Love. Do you like tomorrow?'" "Well, you know," Jake I replied, "originally I was a telegraph operator and then a grain buyer out in Kansas. However, if you insist, I'll take a chance. I'm game. I'll write the show."

Just Missed Seeing Father. Little Child Reported From France Shows That Political Trickery Is Not Unknown There. When it comes to the matter of political trickery, modern nations one after another have been doing it with a pleasant memory of the native village community, its discussion of community affairs in a kind of village forum, its dances on its children's playground under the lantern tree. He learns also that many of the villages have a social club for men and that the farmer, who is a crafty marksman with bow and arrow, takes great satisfaction in belonging to it.

Sunlight Not Good Germs. Sunlight as a germicide proves to be less efficient than was expected, according to a report made by scientists in temperate regions that has been commonly supposed. In his experiments in Algeria, M. de Lacroix, who found that only protynged or dried exposure to sunlight destroys bacteria, and that its action is chiefly confined to the surface, and that in the dark, the bacteria which he cultured on the surface, while they were slightly more powerful than their color, bacteria are chiefly killed by sunlight, and that in the dark they have failed to show the bactericidal action so generally credited to them, the ultra-red also being found to be active in this respect.

By Naval Precedent. It is a curious anomaly of the seafarer's life, says the New York Herald, that an officer who attains as Lord Jellicoe and Sir David Beatty have just attained, the rank of admiral of the fleet, is required by the rules of the service to resign his command, the rule may have been designed to eliminate old seadogs who had become too ancient to be able to do the work, but it is to be hoped that it will be amended to permit its application to men like Jellicoe and Beatty. By the unprecedented rapidity of his promotion, Sir David has attained his sea rank at the age of forty-eight—in the prime of his life. The army is free from this service precedence rule, for the rank of field marshal—which is higher than that of admiral of the fleet—is awarded by the king, and the king is free to bestow it as he sees fit.

Somebody Is Lying. Excerpt of a conversation between Jim Neill and his wife, the editors, Phil Ewing of the C. R. yard. "The fool kid didn't have sense enough to get out of the shop before the night when he felt the floor giving away from his feet and of course, when the old magnet added 'the magnet will pull your feet under you' carrying down the shop, the kid went with it. The worst of it was the stranger couldn't turn off the same time as the magnet and he was carrying the piece on top of him at the same time."

Swinging the Ax. Uncle Joe Cannon was commenting on a certain governmental bureau which is making public bureau the thing thoughtfully by himself. He was a man in that department. They said he would tend his resignation. And he did it. He said he would tend his resignation, "kiss the kids and go home."

MALEKULANS NOT ALL BAD

Pugacious South Pacific Islanders Scrupulously Hostile, Though Careless of Human Life.

The sending of a small naval force to the island, in the New Hebrides, for the protection of planters against the natives, brings some incidental information about a peculiar people with the unfortunate fame of being the most bellicose inhabitants of any island in the South Pacific. Shackleton's island was the scene of the joint control of France and England, and at intervals some display of force has been necessary to make the islanders respect the joint representation of a military intervention. Despite their reputation for pugnacity, however, there is much to be learned from the natives. The natives are remarkably honest; the traveler who goes among them knows that there is no fare as regards transportation; he is in no danger whatever of losing his personal property. And if he is careful not to irritate his hosts, he is likely to come away with a pleasant memory of the native village community, its discussion of community affairs in a kind of village forum, its dances on its children's playground under the lantern tree.

UNCLE WALT THE POET PHILOSOPHER

GRIEF.
The world would not object to grief, if man would keep it in his soul; but when he's sad he wants to be fed, and spring a lively rigamarole. Grief, like a case of ich, spreads around from man to man, grieves the poor man and the rich. One peevish guy who wears a frown, who has a grievance in his mind, can push himself around the world and leave a trail of gloom behind. It is a weakness of the race, which should be hopeful, blithe and gay, to trot off to the walling place of some cheap skates who will do the way. Some have to struggle to be glad, it costs an effort to be gay, but it is easy to be sad, if some poor fish will have a sigh. Don't trot your trouble to and fro; it isn't fair, you must agree, to dump a wagonload of woe, and spoil a happy day for me. How often I have left my shack as happy as a basking shark, to find some reuben in my track, who greeted me with blue countenance. If I exulted in the sun that shed its beams and made things gay, he'd say, "I'll bet nine kinds of moon there'll be a rain ere close of day." Say pleasant things; they cost no more than growthy words, that spoil men's peace; the man of troubles is a bore, and bores should all be fried in grease.

LUCK.
I often hear of lucky guys, for whom the fates have no rebuke, while some laboriously rise, they gain the summit by a fluke. They wander gaily up the road, unscathed, untroubled, while luckless men are chafed and wearied by their load, and lost, or foundered in the fen. But when I meet the lucky cuss, and analyze and parse his curves, I find he's like the rest of us—he only gets what he deserves. He is a gent who simply gets to gain an honor or a buck, and so he chinks, while also rans are grumbling sorely of his luck. He is a hosting delegate who is resolved to work and win; he moves along while others wait for some fake ship to saunter in. His whistling ardor never flags, he yields to no faller.

circumstance; while human failures shake their rage and say they never had a chance. The kind of luck this fellow sees will stick with him through life. I guess, for it is based on that which were to come to mind success. The fater with the gilded brick may think he's lucky for a day, but all his profits, van-shall quicken and all his honors fade away. Luck's not confined to neighborhoods, to humble shack or fretted hall; if you're the guy who has the goods, you'll find luck at your beck and call.

VACATION.
And now the city dweller dreams of forest, moors and lonely fens, of speckled trout in mountain streams and rufous deer that roam the glens. When summer comes with brassy skies, who does not long for things like these, for outings where the mountains rise, or in the shade of forth-trees. And surely men who toil and spin for weary months, and give their best, when rattled by the city's din, should have one month of helpful rest, where Nature does her smoothest work, and man would come back wearing bells, to do his stint as shipping clerk. One month of camping in the wild, the office chairs all left behind, and man would then be reconciled to his demotion, beauty grind. One month of trapping grizzly bears, of catching codfish in the sea, of chasing bobcats in their lairs, and man would do the work of three. Though earnestly we workers try to plan out fine vacation schemes, the cost of living is so high we have to take it out in dreams. The grocer and the butcher still insist on having all we earn, so we pass up the windstop hill, the wood-land and the brace and burn. The iceman and the plumber come to tell how much they think we owe; in vain the scented berries hum, we can't enjoy them as they blow.

REVENGE.
Whoever said, "Revenge is sweet," had no experience with foes; his guess was wrong, yet men repeat his idle words in verse and prose. If some one does you grievous wrong, you'd like to rend him limb from limb, perhaps for years you yearn and long to throw the harpoon into him. The vengeful (thought) you entertain don't do you any good at all; kindness alone is safe and sane, old sors are poor things to recall. Perhaps at last you have the chance to punish the who did you harm; you prod him with your poisoned lance, and find the trick has little charm. In fact, you feel as small as a mouse, when you have squared an ancient "hare," as though you'd run a submarine for "Wilhelm, Frossak,"—castoff bait.—The "Johnnie" catches the pointer pup, and ran the blamed thing off his legs; I vowed he'd take the mite dog, and drink the wormwood to the dregs. But when I'd thought for half an hour, I saw how vain were loud lamentations; I found "Revenge is no-sin," and it was worth but twenty cents! My foes may hand be jolt and jar, I do not let my blue blood boil; forgetfuls is better than nursing grudges till they spoil.

REST.
The sun is rising in the west—a first rate place to set—and 'neath my tree and vine I rest, all bathed in honest sweat. The sky is grand, with colors blent in strange and gorgeous tones; and I am feeling quite content, for I have earned three-bones. There's nothing half so sweet as rest, when you're done with his chores, and has his wages in his vest, and credit at the stores. There's no such thing as rest, by George, unless it's earned by toil; by swinging hammers at the forge or scrapping with the soil, by doing something that's a strain on nerves or mind, or thews, by digging holes, in rain, or chasing after news. There are a thousand varied brands of rest—some are fallacious, and some must labor with their hands, and others with their gall. But only those who do their best, whatever their trade, can know the luxury of rest, for wearied mortals mend. The moon is rising in the east—a bully place to rise—and I have had my frugal feast of codfish, haddock, and pie; and now beneath my tree and vine I rest in divers styles, and watch the planets as they shine, and send them back their smiles.

BEAUTY.
The fatal gift of beauty came to friends of mine, but I was not to have a broad and sawed-off frame and misfit features, fierce to see. When I was young, I vexed me sore that I was lacking charm and grace, that in the summer months I wore nine million freckles on my face. The months wore on, the swift years fled, and I was busy molding verse; and often to myself I said, "Old Time can't make me look much worse." And gazing in the looking glass, I gave me gooseflesh—and no blues, the months might whiz, the years might pass—I had no dazing charms to show. My lovely friends were in despair, when crow's-foot came around their eyes, when they beheld a new white hair, they filed their bouquets with the thistle, and I walked and walked the fook when baldness overtook his head; and Venus wrung her hands and swore she swills her nose was growing red. It's tragedy and worse than that when Time and Beauty have a bout, and sylph-like beauties grow coarse and fat, and Triton is falling out. The man who has a homely map may think he's out of luck at first, but when time comes, he'll find a lovely chap to dare the far, to do their worst!

SELF POISONING VERY PREVALENT
Auto-Intoxication, or Slow Self Poisoning, Cause of Most Ill Health and Disease.
Advanced medical authorities assert that auto-intoxication is the foundation of most of the chronic diseases to which the human flesh is heir. This condition is nothing more or less than the slow self-poisoning of the vital organs produced by the excessive mental and physical strain which we are fastened to undergo, which renders the organs lame and inactive, and permits toxins—actual poisons—to be generated within man's own body.

Usually the trouble starts in the intestines; sometimes it starts in the stomach, liver, or kidneys, but in any case the blame lies with the faulty method of living, and may be traced to overeating, excessive nervous strain, lack of exercise, or other causes. As a rule, it is the more important organs that suffer the initial damage and when they falter or fail in their duties the body fits up with aches and pains, and the victim often yields to the baneful influences. Bright's disease, heart trouble, high blood pressure, neuralgic affections, and other troubles are frequent result of self poisoning or auto-intoxication.

A tired, draggy feeling of the body, sluggish and aching memory, intense nervousness, headache, stomach and bowel troubles, poor circulation, imperfect digestion, constipation, and depression are common symptoms of auto-intoxication, and nine out of every ten of the American people are like this.

Tanlac, the powerful reconstructive and systematic tonic was designed especially to overcome these very troubles. There is not a single portion of the body that is not benefited by the helpful work of this celebrated preparation, which be-

ABOUT COAL

Hard Coal, Soft Coal or Coke

All reports, government and mine owners and operators tell that the shortage coming winter promises to be greater than two years ago—Why? The labor problem is assigned. Miners are quitting and migrating back to the other side of the point, and promise to do so in increasing numbers as soon as peace is completed. They are planning to demand a 25 per cent increase in wage—a six-hour day, a five-day week—and if it must be paid to keep them going, coal supply will be short, the prices raise.

Just now we have a supply, and can fill your order promptly at a fair price—a money saving price, and you should not neglect to get the winter coal.

THRESHERS—We can supply you with that excellent coal for your work, the Yough-ehany.

Composed of the most beneficial roots and herbs known to science, it enables the stomach to thoroughly digest the food, thereby permitting the assimilable products to be converted into blood, bone, and muscle. It overcomes the weakness, the cause of disease, vigor and elastic. It keeps the mind clear and energetic, throws off the symptoms of nervousness and indigestion. It builds up the constitution weakened by disease or mental and physical overwork. It is a sure and un-failing source of comfort to those who are suffering from the effects of nervousness and overwork.

That Tanlac does these very things is proved by the fact that it now has the largest sale of any tonic in the American market. Millions have used it with the most astonishing and gratifying results.

Keep Up Insurance.

To all soldiers, sailors and marines... Many soldiers, sailors and marines, who have been discharged from the service, are permitting their insurance to lapse.

It is not true that war risk insurance is to be turned over to private companies. The government retains control and gives you the benefit of the work and expense to carry your insurance.

The reason the government is furnishing you insurance at less than cost is because you risked your life for the nation or were willing to risk your life.

Reinstatement of lapsed insurance is allowed up to nine months of the first day of lapse.

Where the insured has paid no premiums since discharge. If not discharged more than three months, the policy may be reinstated.

If discharged more than three months and less than nine months, insured must be in as good health as at date of discharge.

If discharged more than nine months, insured must be in as good health as at date of discharge.

January 1, 1919, the insured may be reinstated at any time before September 1, 1919.

Where the insured has paid the first premium due after he was discharged but failed to pay some of the later ones.

If less than three months behind in premium payments and insured is in as good health as when policy lapsed, he may reinstate without medical examination.

If more than three months behind in premium payments and insured is in as good health as when policy lapsed, he may reinstate without medical examination.

Where the insurance has been forfeited, cancellation may be reinstated on condition similar to the above.

If the policy holder is unable to pay the amount of war risk insurance he carried while in the service, he may reinstate part of it from $1000 up to $10,000 in multiples of $200.

Where the insurance has been forfeited, cancellation may be reinstated on condition similar to the above.

Mrs. Burn's Letter. Here is a letter that is certain to prove of interest to people in this vicinity, as cases of this sort occur in almost every neighborhood, and people should know what to do in like circumstances.

Savannah, Mo., Oct. 12, 1916. "I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured my flux (dysentery). I had another attack of the same complaint some three or four years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy to dozens of people since I first used it."

Punishment and Little Else. Washington Post: It is infinitely to be regretted that the Versailles treaty is not a true treaty of peace, amity and friendship.

It is not. It cannot be made a treaty of friendship with a nation of barbarous assassins who proclaim their intention to violate the treaty.

It is a formulation of terms of punishment and little more. Let it be put into effect, and let the officers charged with enforcing it be on their guard against treachery.

THE COMING CONVENTION

Candidates Who Want to Help in Constitution Making.

Lincoln Journal: Avoiced candidates for the state constitutional convention are so numerous as might have been anticipated at this time, with two organizations at work getting out men for delegates, but their loving friends are busy with their names. The next month, however, will witness the entry of several hundred gentlemen into the race. Under the law, the petitions cannot be filed before next Wednesday, July 9, and must be on file by the 9th of August. The primary is to be held in September.

Each representative district elects as many delegates as there are representatives. No primary will be held in any district where the number of candidates is not more than twice the number of delegates to be elected. Where the number of persons filing petitions equals or exceeds three times the number of delegates, to be elected a primary will be held, at which twice the number to be elected shall be nomi-ated. The final weeding out is at the November election. Nominating petitions must contain the names of 5 per cent of the number who voted for representative in the district at the last election.

Nothing has been heard from Douglas county, where slate-making is said to be in progress. In Lancaster there are twelve candidates. The organization which is known as the committee of one hundred has brought out A. E. Sheldon, N. Z. Snell, C. C. Flansburg, F. M. Coffey, W. F. Dale, and Mr. Parmenter. Others for whom petitions are now in circulation are T. J. Doyle, Senator C. Petrus Peterson, W. A. Sellick, John M. Stewart, Walter L. Anderson, and J. S. McCary.

But One in Richardson. In Richardson county, A. J. Weaver's name is the only one heard here at Lincoln. In Cass county the name of C. A. Rawls is mentioned. J. C. Dorr of Pawnee is a candidate. In the district of Seneca and Richardson—J. O. Shroyer, one of the Farmers' union leaders, is in the race. Edgar Fern of Auburn is also on the list.

The name of S. S. Stewart of Tecumseh is also heard.

Members of the legislature who will be relieved of legislative duties before August 9, threaten to include the list of delegates. Representative Henry Behrens of Beaman, float representative from Stanton and Cumming, has a petition out for delegate, and is the only one in the district.

Information is to the effect that Senators Cordeak, Chappell and Hoagland will be candidates. Representatives Strong of Valley county has also entered. Representative Soren M. Clark, who has been in the legislature from Howard and county for ages, has announced his candidacy for delegate. Representative Matthewson of the Fillmore, Clay, and York district, has a petition out. It is also understood that Dr. A. C. Jensen of Clay, one of the house leaders, is in the race. A. H. Byrum of Bloomington, Franklin county's representative in the house and one of the big men in it is reported to have no opposition. Merrick county, where Representative Theo. Osterman, democratic floor leader, is long has a handful of candidates. Osterman is listed as likely to enter. There are already Becker, Clark, and Clark of Silver Creek, somewhat known to fame. Wooster was named by the non-partisan league at a convention where fourteen delegates were present. He easily defeated John F. Hoeltz, also a one time representative in the legislature. E. R. Ross, an attorney of Central City, is regarded as certain to enter.

Former Senator E. L. King, one of the progressive leaders of that body, is understood to have Polk county pretty solidly, although former Representative Norton's name has been mentioned.

Seward county has a candidate in the person of K. S. Norval, an old and established leader. J. J. Ross, as has also been named, but he isn't acting like a candidate, having just departed for a two month summer outing in Minnesota. R. C. Roper of David City is a candidate for the float district of Butler, Seward and Saline. In Burr county Herliert Rhoads, the county attorney, has a petition in circulation, according to reports. Dodge county has a candidate in S. S. Sider, a prominent attorney, and it is also said that Clarence Reckmyer may conclude to run. W. P. Warren of Dakota County, former U. S. States marshal, is being boomed from his position but it is not known if he is a candidate.

I. D. Evans, former representative from Adams county, who lives at Kewanee, is on the list. Ben McClellan of Jefferson county is mentioned. Frank E. Edgerton, former deputy attorney general, now plugging weight and fame as an attorney at Aurora, is a candidate from Hamilton county. In Gage county L. W. Cobby, veteran lawyer, is the only strong candidate mentioned. A strong effort is being made to induce H. E. Sackett, former state senator and a leading progressive, to enter from that county.

Former Lieutenant Governor Edgar Howard is regarded as an almost certain entrant. Judge I. L. Albert has been mentioned but what his intentions are have not been disclosed. Fred A. Wright, a leading attorney of Scottsbluff, is a candidate, and the name of Editor Eugene T. Westermelt has been heard. Prof. J. C. W. Lee of Wayne is regarded as a likely candidate. So is C. M. Lemar, former representative from Saunders county, who now lives at Humphrey and will run as a float from Platte and Madison. H. Halderon of Newman Grove is a candidate for the Madison county place.

George H. Hastings who was attorney general of Nebraska twenty-two years ago, has a petition in circulation in Saline county. In Boone county, A. W. Ladd, editor of the Alliance News, a leading progressive, is to have former Representative Jim Auten, a non-partisan leaguer, as his opponent. In Washington county the only name heard is that of Don C. Van Deusen, editor of the Blair Pilot, a former representative and a progressive leader.

At a meeting of progressives held in York the other day Judge Arthur G. Wray was selected as the candidate for the float district with Clay and Billmore and H. V. Price of Lockridge township the candidate from York county.

Some former wardens of the state penitentiary, is mentioned as a candidate. In Furnas county, B. F. Butler, a lawyer of Cambridge, who has just been named president of the district bar association, is a candidate. In Cass county Senator W. L. Taylor and J. D. Ream, the latter head of the state grange and a member of the state executive committee of the non-partisan league, have been named by a convention as candidates, Custer having two. In Dundey and Hitchcock counties, Representatives C. T. Jenkins of Taylor and Harry Lehman of Culbertson are candidates. In the Thomas, Hooker et al district, former Representative E. A. Reiser of Deuel, once a preacher and now a lawyer, and Dan F. Osgood of Hyattsville, attorney at large, have been named. Lincoln lawyer C. H. Cornell of Valentine, head of the water power development and a former state senator, is backed by his friends from Cherry, but he is not a candidate.

The race is entirely non-partisan, and no political party designations will be attached to the names or appear on the ballot. Where the candidates are named by one county only, they file petitions with the county clerk. Where there are two or more counties in the district, they file with the secretary of state.

Let the Good Work Proceed.

It is rather hard on the countries to which they return, but that is where they belong. There is no room in America for such as they.

DEATH OF AN OLD SETTLER

Archibald Lindsay Passes Away July 4 at Home in Wayne

Archibald Lindsay who had lived in this country thirty-five years, coming here from Pottawattamie county, Iowa, in 1884, died at his home in Wayne Friday, July 4, at 9 o'clock. He was nearly 79 years old. He had been in failing health for several years, and it is said worry over the war and anxiety to do more for the government's cause proved a great burden to his enfeebled condition. Funeral services were held at the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. S. X. Cross, assisted by Rev. John W. Beard. Mr. Cross preached the sermon.

Mr. Lindsay was born November 3, 1840, near Woodstock, Ill., where he lived until the Civil war broke out and he answered the call of his country. He was the fourth child of a family of seven children, all of whom had gone before. He was married to Mary Bloom of Woodstock, January 31, 1872. To this union were born six sons and daughters, all of whom were at his bedside when he came. They are the following: H. E. Lindsay, T. B. Lindsay, H. C. Lindsay, Mrs. A. G. Wert, Mrs. Stella Chichester, and J. A. Lindsay. Besides his sorrowing wife and children, he also leaves sixteen grandchildren.

Mr. Lindsay united with the Presbyterian church early in his life and remained a faithful, consistent member until his death. In his home he was always a kind and loving father. He was a citizen of the highest type, and always loyal and helpful friend. He will be remembered with warmest esteem.

shall include in the call to be made later.

Although Governor McKelvie's announcement did not give the purpose for calling the special session, it generally believed, however, he will ask the legislature in his call to be issued later, that they ratify the woman suffrage constitutional amendment and re-entire the administrative code bill passed by the last session. As a referendum to the code bill has already received more than the required signatures the referendum would hold up the code bill for two years.

Where Some Car Owners Cheat Themselves.

"Battery manufacturers estimate that the average car owner gets about two-thirds of the service and life of which his battery is capable," says Mr. J. A. Curson, local Willard service station dealer.

One of the reasons for this, according to Mr. Curson, is that the owner does not form regular habits with regard to battery care. He will, for instance, add water every week just as directions say as long as his car is new. But after he has been driving his car a while, he begins to slip and adds it only every two weeks, or every three weeks, or perhaps even lets the battery go a month without attention.

Fortunately a battery will stand an enormous amount of this neglect before the effects begin to show, but they are sure to become apparent after a while.

The only way to keep any battery in shape to give all the service it is capable of, is to add water at regular intervals just as long as you own your car. Then if you make hydrometer tests regularly, be sure that you are keeping the charge up where it ought to be. If you go to the battery service station the minute anything seems to be wrong, you can be fairly sure that your battery won't do the unexpected thing and go back on you just when you need it most. Moreover, you can be certain that you are giving it the sort of treatment necessary to prolong its life.

Extra Session of Legislature. Lincoln, Neb., July 8.—Governor McKelvie of Nebraska announced today he had decided to issue a call for a special session of the Nebraska legislature to convene July 28. The purpose of the special session, the announcement says, "will be to pass upon the questions which will include in the call to be made later.

COAL SHORTAGE NO DREAM

An Appeal to Governor to Assist in Informing the Public.

Lincoln, Neb., July 7.—Parties who neglect putting in their winter's supply of coal may find themselves shivering next winter, according to a committee of coal men who called on Governor McKelvie Monday to enlist his assistance in bringing conditions before the public.

The committee, consisted of H. B. Miles and Howard Rathburn of Lincoln, and S. W. Reynolds and A. B. Carrie of Omaha. To newspaper men before seeing the governor the committee said that conditions turned from a year's service overseas.

AGRICULTURE NOTES

"Dip That Chick!"
 "Dip that chick!" It isn't done just for the sake of making a rhyme for "dip that chick" either. Dipping chickens is likely to be more general than dipping cattle, because the chicken house is a more widely distributed insect than the cattle tick. The "dip" consists of 1 ounce of sodium fluoride to the gallon of water, which should be at a temperature of 70 to 85 degrees. The dipping should be done on a clear, warm day—never on a cold day. The old way of getting rid of chicken lice was by dusting with dry sodium fluoride. It was effective, but in the case of large flocks it was slow and wasteful, a great deal of the dusting material being inevitably lost. Experiments in dipping were begun by the United States Department of Agriculture in the laboratory of the office of insects injurious to domestic animals. Bureau of Entomology at Dallas, Tex. The experiments proved successful and the results promise a sure and speedy means of getting rid of one of the worst pests of poultry.

Why Horses Wear Nose Guards.
 The horses are wearing nose guards these days in the northwest. It isn't that somebody has developed cavalry football, neither is it that northwestern horses are given to the fault of stumbling and mashing their noses. It is to prevent the laying of eggs on the horses' lips by the worst, probably, of the three American species of hot fly—the nose fly of horses. This fly is confined to the north-central and northern Rocky Mountain states. Its egg-laying habits differ from those of the other hot flies, making it more difficult to control. The common hot fly lays its eggs mostly on the lower lip. It is to prevent the most common one, known as the throat bot fly, lays its eggs mostly on the throat and lower jaw.

ing over these surfaces every seven days with a rig dampened in a 2 per cent carbolic acid mixture. But the nose fly lays its eggs where they can not be got at by this method—on the short hairs of the lips just at the moisture line. The United States department of agriculture recommends two types of nose guard—or, more properly speaking, lip guard. One is a wide piece of leather attached to the bridle or halter and covering the lips. The other is a somewhat complicated box arrangement that permits grazing. But complete effectiveness is not claimed for these measures. The extension workers of the department of agriculture insist on administering carbon bisulphide—"light" life" to the horses in October and November, horse owners the country over, and a dependable veterinarian working together. The carbon bisulphide, in three 3-ounce capsules an hour apart, is given by means of a "soluble gun." If the capsule breaks and the carbon bisulphide gets into the lungs of the horse, death results. That is why the extension workers insist on having the medicine given by a veterinarian.

Inspire me with the glory of thy cross, that I may not feel the burdens of the world's weak ones. When I have reached the power of universal charity, I shall be made divine in thee.

Saving North Dakota's Wheat.
 There is a grasshopper outbreak in North Dakota. Left alone it would destroy the bumper wheat crop in the greatest of all spring wheat growing states. In the old days practically complete destruction in the half of the state infested would have been inevitable. Now entomological experts of the United States Department of Agriculture, who are working in cooperation with the state agricultural college, feel confident that the crop will be saved. The poisoned bait method is being applied. The state is spending $200,000 in the purchase of poison material. In one county 120 engage seeders are being used in broadcasting the poison. The campaign will be in many particulars a model of grasshopper control work, and the North Dakota agricultural college is making motion pictures of it, which will be available for instruction purposes in thoughts straying from the streets to the trenches, from the desk to the dugout, from the office to the shell-pocked fields, where the wind breathed through the grass in the windbreaks, the places in which the victor poked fun, before the war, at the farmer. He was supposed to be uncautious and gullible—a child of nature. He cleaved a straw and pulled his beard, and greeted his boots and rose by lamplight, and was a man with a hoe among the herds and orchards, a man to whom the great round world was a blank page or a distant myth.

Now that is changed. The farmer is an applied scientist, whose opinion is sought and respected, with whose vote lies the balance of power, in whose hand, as it is many or fewer, is the feeding or starving of the nation. For millions during the war like has been a grim, unmitigated quest of food. The farm has had to yield by intensive cultivation many times its former produce, and marketing in haphazard ways has made the farmer a man of science and transportation. Farm work and farm life utilize every last development of engineering. The machinery has revolutionized farm labor, and electricity and gasoline are the greatest of all hired hands. The motor car, the tractor, the dairy machinery, the telephone are commonplaces where once they were unknown.

The demobilized fighter no longer regards indifferently or scornfully the chance the farm holds out to him. If he is not aware, he can learn from such a booklet as this before us what a prospect of health and wealth the farmer has open to him. The fields are clamoring for him—fields where the battle is for life and not for destruction.

Bryan Fights Alliance.
 Lincoln, Neb., July 7.—William Jennings Bryan in an address at the Lincoln Commercial club today declared he would fight President Wilson's proposed alliance of Great Britain, France, and the United States as earnestly as he would back of the league of nations covenant.

"The thing that leads me to support the league of nations," he declared, "compels me to oppose the alliance of the United States to any other nation. The alliance discredits the league and raises the presumption that the biggest nations in it do not have faith in it. It provides a league without a league, that cannot fail to arouse justifiable anger of other nations and lead to trouble."

Mr. Bryan asserted the proposed alliance puts the United States in the hands of other nations, whose interests are not the United States' interests, "and lets these nations use our army and navy to further their special interests."

"If the menace against France is real," he continued, "we will go to the aid of France anyway and an alliance is not necessary. God forbid that we should let England and France decide when we should take up arms."

—Mr. Bryan, who is touring the country talking on the league of nations will leave for Spokane, Wash., tonight.

De Palma's Packard Equipped with the "EXIDE"

The International Auto Race held at Sheepshead Bay, June 14th, has caused much comment in the automobile world. The marvelous test performed by Ralph De Palma has naturally called for criticism of machines.

De Palma won the 50-mile race in a Packard Racing Car, breaking the world's record. He averaged 113 miles an hour throughout the greater part of the race.

To the spectators the excitement was intense, the first 25 miles of the race were remarkable. Twelve times around the 2 mile track four high-powered racing cars swept along at break-neck speed, almost wheel to wheel. Sixty thousand persons were held breathless, for it looked as though any moment the cars would crash together.

In the thirteenth lap De Palma shot right ahead of his competitors and gradually increased his lead. His car at this time reached a speed of 140 miles an hour!

"Think of the enormous strain on man and car to accomplish this wonderful feat!" said Mr. Vern Fisher, manager of the local "Exide" Service Station, commenting on the race. "Every detail of the car was as strong as every nerve of the man—through all the successful tests that the 'Exide' Battery has gone through, it gives me the greatest pleasure to think that De Palma's car was equipped with an 'Exide' Battery. This goes to further prove the endurance of the 'Exide' Batteries."

HOSKINS DEPOT BURNED
Morning Blaze Believed to Have Started in Freight Room.

Hoskins, Neb., July 8.—Fire, believed to have originated in the freight room of the destroyed M. & O. railway depot, here early this morning. The blaze was discovered by Nelson Foreman Richie, who immediately gave the alarm. The fireman was sleeping in the bunkhouse adjacent to the depot, when the smell of smoke permeated his nostrils and awakened him to investigate. Smoke was pouring from the depot windows. Richie sounded the call for fire immediately. The heavy load of water, it was impossible to save the structure.

The fire started at 5:30 o'clock, and by 7:15 the depot was a mass of smouldering ruins. Only the company's books and records were saved. A lumber yard one hundred yards distant was threatened for a time but was saved by a change in the direction of the wind. If the lumber had caught fire, it is believed the whole town would have been destroyed.

Hard Hit by Fall

Randolph Times: Last Friday a little before noon a storm came up quickly about Randolph with some bad-looking clouds. Rain fell, but the storm passed away without much being thought of it until word was received that quite a little hail fell on a strip of country northeast of Randolph. The farms of A. F. Wintz and Math Thies seemed to be about in the center of the hailed district.

At Mr. Wintz's place the corn was stripped and about 20 acres of oats were pretty well beaten down, and his line garden is about ruined. At the Math Thies place the oats field north of the house was pretty well knocked down and corn was stripped and Mr. Thies' garden stuff was badly damaged.

John Schlichting, Anton Schrad, Mike Hosch, and Joseph Sohler were also visited by the hail to some extent, but so severely as at the Wintz and Thies places. The corn being young, will come on with favorable weather, but has had a severe basket. As to the oats it is doubtful if much of a crop can be recovered in the places where it has been beaten down the hardest. A little of the least damaged may be saved.

The strip was small is lucky. Only part of the farms were damaged except the A. F. Wintz place and the storm pretty well covered all his land.

The Business Outlook. Sioux City Journal.—There was the usual slackening of business during July 4 week, and usual slowing up of commercial activity. The usual holiday coming on Friday, boards of trade and many other public business activities closed on Thursday—evening—until Monday morning. In the industrial centers attention was diverted from business to a policy of preparing plans against anarchists who were believed to be ready to inaugurate a nationwide reign of terror. Industrial plants were believed to be the special victims marked for their vengeance, and from one end of the country to the other, business executives and their forces devoted the days preceding the holiday to the organization of security methods against the Reds. Business naturally suffered from the resultant lack of attention.

The sporadic Fourth of July was about the same as in former years, there was less demand for fireworks because of the high cost of material, but the other half-day supplies were in greater demand than in the years immediately preceding the entrance of the United States into the war. In gen-

The McCormick Binder Saves

When it Down and Tangled Grain

When it comes to cutting extremely short grain, or grain that is tangled and lodged—yours or theirs, the binder must have exceptionally rigid reel with a wide range of adjustment.

The Reel on the McCormick Binder can be adjusted very close to the guards, so that the operator can force short grain, or grain that is lodged and tangled, on to the platform canvas. There is never any accumulation of grain in front of the cutter bar. No matter how badly the grain is down, the MCCORMICK binder picks it up and binds it all.

It is the unfavorable season that tries the worth of a binder. The MCCORMICK stands the test. Come in and let's talk it over.

McCormick Elevator Turns the Trick

Did you ever go into a field of grain where one side was tall, heavy, and perhaps lodged? Then on the other side find the stand thin, short, and over-ripe. It's a pretty hard matter to set your machine so that it will take care of such conditions without loss from shelling or without clogging, isn't it? Here is where a MCCORMICK binder proves its true worth.

The McCormick Has an Elevator that Floats at Four Points

This means that if the grain is thick, tangled and matted, the upper elevator will expand to allow the increased volume to pass through, and then drop back to its original position for short, thin grain. There are no changes or adjustments to make—the movement is entirely automatic. Come in and see how simple this valuable feature is.

Work Offered

1. A two year program for eighth grade graduates from rural schools who are at least sixteen years of age and who desire to teach in the country districts. This is an intensive course intended to train country boys and girls for service in country schools.
2. A program of one year intended to prepare those who have completed a high school of eleven or twelve grades and who desire to teach in rural schools or village schools. On the completion of this course the individual receives a general elementary state certificate good for three years.
3. A two-year course intended for graduates of four-year high schools. On the completion of this course the student receives a first grade state certificate and after two years of experience, a professional life certificate.
4. A four-year program for high school graduates. The completion of this work leads to the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

Special departments are maintained in music, manual training, household economy, art, commercial work. Those who complete this work secure a special supervisor's certificate.

Unusual advantages are offered to young men and young women having high school education who desire to take advanced work but are not preparing to teach. Such students select the work in which they are most interested.

During the winter beginning on the Monday following Thanksgiving, special classes will be organized in which are offered short winter courses for young men and young women who can spend but three or four months in school during the year. All young men in Wayne county should avail themselves of the unusual advantages offered in this line in the State Normal School.

Special Advantages

High school graduates receive their instruction from heads of departments and special teachers rather than from tutors and assistants as is so frequently the case in large institutions.

Young men, as well as young women, will be interested in the State Normal's excellent gymnasium, calisthenics room, lockers, shower and plunge bath, and dressing rooms. There are few schools in the West that can boast of such excellent equipment for physical training. This work is in charge of Arthur C. Serfling who is one of Professor Stagg's students in physical education in the University of Chicago. Recreation and physical training are recognized as very necessary features in a student's education. They are both encouraged and controlled by the State Normal School.

Recognition of Work

The work of the State Normal School is recognized by the state departments, state institutions and colleges everywhere. All work that is done here receives full credit for entrance to other educational institutions.

Expenses

There are no tuition charges. However, there is an entrance fee of $5.00 which gives the student life membership in the school. Laboratory fees are nominal. Board at the dining hall is $4.00 a week. Rooms in the halls are 60c to 75c a week; this includes steam heat and electric lights.
