Let Music Brighten the Lives of Your Children

AFTER all, it's not the school training, but the home atmosphere which molds the child. Children brought up in a cultured home betray that fact during their entire lives. It leaves a lasting imprint.

A home with any claim to culture is a home in which good music is enjoyed and understood. A child whose interest in music is fostered will become a man or woman who possesses a resource which makes for lasting happiness. You want to give your children every advantage. That is just one more reason why you want

PALMER METHOD CLASSES

Students at Normal Compete for Writing Certificates.

In the commercial department at the Wayne State Normal this summer, under the direction of Prof. L. M. Martin, interest has been stimulated by the rivalry among the penmanship students for the securing of certificates in the Palmer method of writing. Remarkable progress was made by the classes, which were made up of beginners in this method, considering the fact that practically only six weeks of work were given.

Among the seventy-eight students completing the term's course, fifty received credit of two hours, and two were recommended for Palmer certificates. Four judges from the faculty and one from the student body examined the papers of the students to decide which should receive credit, which had made the most improvement during the term and which were the best writers. The judges were: Miss Edith Beechel, Miss Rachel Fairchild, Prof. A. C. Serling, Prof. H. H. Hickman and Miss Irma James. The prize for the most improvement was awarded to Miss Belva Nickel. The three other ranks in improvement were given to Miss Billie Sofermose, Miss Julia Douglas, and Mrs. J. Galspice. The four who were classed as the best writers in order of their excellence were: Miss Belva Nickel, Miss Charlotte Emde, Miss Margaret Hanson and Miss Louise Nelson, the two former being recommended as candidates for the Palmer certificate. Their work has been forwarded to headquarters at New York for consideration, but notification has not been received as to whether certificates will be granted to them.

Two of the penmanship students, Miss M. Bacon and Miss Etta McKinney, who already hold Palmer certificates, took the teacher's course in the work this summer.

Result of Damage Suit.

Randolph Times: Our readers will remember that about two years ago, Bert Casey, accosted by V. J. Gropper on the street near her home on the south side, appearing suddenly as a frightening Mrs. Gropper by both his actions and words so that she became ill, such illness being traced directly to the action of Casey. Bert had tarried long and industriously that day with the brand of trouble-making wet goods dispensed at Osmond in the first parlor of Wm. Mladý. From the report of the case in the State Journal, the evidence showed that Casey had become so thoroughly wadded that the barkeeper had refused to sell him any more whiskey, but let him sober up on beer. The plan didn't work out just right, and he arrived in Randolph there was "much" to be desired along the line of sobriety.

Under the law a saloon-keeper is held responsible for whatever damage his brand of drinks incurs, and in this case the supreme court says the evidence is such that Mladý will have to come across with $5,050, to settle the claim of Mrs. Gropper. If Mladý don't make good their $5,000 which is the sum for which they signed his bonds. After being through both the district and supreme courts we presume the matter is definitely settled in this award to the woman.

With ex-saloon keepers now dealing in near beer that has no kick, no rigors or arrests, or damage suits or financial other kind, it is not wonder that many of them express relief at the change.

Speak Well of Teacher.

Fairfax News: It is very important of the new employment of a new teacher in a neighboring town an exchange says. If parents will speak well of their teaching force, pupils will get fifty per cent more benefit from their efforts. To rob your child just criticize his teacher. To double the benefits from school, praise his teacher. And this is a piece of sound wisdom. More public schools are raised by unruly parents than by unruly scholars. When parents will stand solidly with the teachers very little serious trouble will arise. The habit of publicly criticizing the teaching force of a public school is one of the surest methods of robbing the teacher of the respect and confidence of his pupil, and when that is done the teacher's usefulness is over. With the cooperation of the parents even a poor teacher may serve a good purpose, but without it the best teacher on earth cannot succeed.

Laurel Advocate: A. B. Clark is in town today, having just returned from three months in his Los Angeles home. He came alone and will stay about a month, looking after his farms and disposing of some of them. Going to cut out by his care, he says. Eventually he expects to dispose of all his holdings, including his residence in Wayne, and retire to California to spend his remaining years. Says he's knocked about this old-world dream of a number of things for fifty years and more and realizes that if he intends resting it is high time he sets out to do it. Not an Authority. Washington Star: That young man had been married just a week, but had commenced to spend his evening at the club. He was enjoying a friendly game of whist when the question of marriage was mentioned in a casual way by one of the company.

This remark brought the young man to a sense of his position, realizing an old man across the table, he thought he would extract from him a little information. "Mr. Oldwood," he said, "how long does a man have to be married before his wife agrees with him in everything?" "I am sorry, my boy," replied the old man, "very sorry, but you'll have to ask someone else. You see, I've only been married forty years."

War's Balance Sheet.

New York Tribune: On the debit side:
 Killed, 70,000,000.
 Crippled, 20,000,000.
 Homes destroyed, 1,000,000.
 Money loss, $120,000,000,000.
 Anarchic conditions over one-half of Europe and with difficulty kept out of the remainder.
 A social quackery which plies its trade among peoples confused by losses that are repairable only by industry and thrift.
 On the credit side:
 A demonstration that liberty is so prized that to save it, no sacrifice is too great.
 New proof that man is a moral being and reacts to moral ideals.
 A greater sense of fraternity among brothers of the soul who fought together.
 A chance that the lessons of the war will so sink in that hereafter gigantic evil would be stopped before it gets afoot.
 A generation capable of performing the prodigies marking this one may claim it is master of its fate, and hence, not far distant, the day when the mark of the beast will be gone, but forever remaining, the glorious memory that he was successfully resisted.

The Gospel of Works.

Bixby in Lincoln Journal: On the subject of "Work" Dr. Frank Cagne takes the sensible view that at no time of life should it be abandoned. Aunt Marie Willson of Potsdam, New York, celebrated her 100th anniversary on the 28th of last October. A willing worker all the days of her splendid life, her only sorrow at the present time is that she can't see to help about the house. If she might still wash dishes, sweep and do a little sewing, life would not seem so barren to her. A life of idleness means degeneration, intellectual and physical stagnation, uselessness, worthlessness.
 Get busy, then, my noble friend
 With faculties alive,
 And toil away to some good end
 As long as you survive.
 Work till the sun sinks in the west,
 And night and silence call to rest.
 So many things to do and bear
 In life's uncertain course;
 Don't think that you have done your "share."
 And like a balky horse,
 Stop with your "burden" in the road
 And let your team mate drag the load.
 Get busy, there is work to do
 For all who have the strength.
 Keep at it till the day is through,
 And when night falls at length,
 Kind nature will make full amends
 In a sweet rest that never ends.

Women will cut a good deal of figure in the next presidential election. It is believed they will hold the balance of power.

There isn't a roof of level road between the postoffice and the golf links and the whole thing ought to be paved to inspire the motorists with satisfaction.

It happens every mid-summer that people in the corn belt become frightened at the crop being laid up and destroyed. As the hot blizzards from some southern inferno sweep over the growing fields from day to day, people become anxious and uneasy. But it takes a good deal of heat to seriously hurt corn, and moisture has never failed to come in Wayne county to insure a good yield.

The department of journalism of the University of Wisconsin, located at Madison, has written the Herald for information about the methods it has used in its development. This story reminds us that success in any line of endeavor, whether it is on the farm, in the shop, office, store, bank, factory or newspaper plant depends chiefly on the application to duty, prompt collections, prompt payment of obligations, complete, impartial and honest service to the public.

It is reported that the non-partisan league will make a fight to prevent coming consent legislation in Nebraska, and write into the document the policies which it advocates. We do not believe the league ought to be controlled by any one organization. If it were, the constitution would not treat all classes and conditions impartially, and justly, and would not breathe the spirit of equality which is the boast and pride of free America.

Facts are coming to light regarding mistreatment of soldiers overseas. Charges of brutality are now being sifted by congressional committees and it is hoped the guilty will be severely dealt with. American boys went overseas to fight the European war, and they were treated by supercilious military leaders. The task was great enough to leave home and friends and accept the risk of death and without unwarranted and unnecessary affliction. Those responsible for the mistreatment of our boys ought to be made to feel the resentment and punishment of American justice.

Prices are running at such high tide that people are often perplexed to know how to figure a balance sheet. The only remedy is to charge the other fellow is charging too much. We are not getting enough in comparison. That is the way some of the truck and grocery stores are charging all the traffic will bear. If he isn't going the limit, he is simply mistaken in judgment. We have heard of stores where they could save more when prices were way down. In the course of time the pendulum will swing the other way. Prices will come down when these same people will say they could save more if prices were high. Like the weather, the condition of the times varies greatly, and what we have, we are likely to not want.

NO ROOM FOR SNOBS.
There is no room for snobs in America, but there are some here, as evidenced by an article in Sunday's Sioux City Journal, describing the pathetic incident of the defeat on 14,000 soldiers who were returning to their homes from the battlefields of France. The boys came out of the lowly ranks of the Cavalry. One, on guard in an upper deck overheard a woman say: "Let's go down tomorrow, and watch the cattle feed." They remark from a female snob was quickly spread among the 14,000 heroes who had fought with the banner of the American flag. The woman, Mrs. Teas Thierly and St. Mibell. The words were afterwards explained to the sergeant-major by the statement of the officer that they treat the men like cattle on this ship. However, the characterization snobs are the ones who are to be feared. While they know that Americans as a rule honor them for their brave deeds and courageous and heroic service, they are afraid that any human biped, even with impoverished brains, could so far forget could become so oblivious to the feelings of the brave and intelligent young patriots who offered all on the altar of a righteous cause.

Some women have no sense. Some men are ditto. If by inheritance or Reitzel's philosophy is sound, that he has been trained in the law, spent some years in the military and has been for some time on the lecture platform, so we anticipate that he will bring a "nut cracker" with him that will be sufficient at least to open up to view the meat in this topic he is to discuss. Do not be surprised if you find some good stories scattered along during the discussion.

some inscrutable streak of luck they become rich. They are apt to break into so-called upper society, and then become snobs. A snob affects superiority without ground. A snob, knowing absolutely nothing, offends by painful vacuity, evaded nerve, bald presumption. Good reason for the existence of a snob is inconceivable. Not only every soldier, but every civilian, every lover of worth and merit—loathes the snob. People who fought in khaki or labored at home for a free and better world, have no more use for snobs than they have for fleas or cooties.

BIG EXTRA ATTRACTION
Added to Chautauque Program by Management—United States Major Coming.

Major Arthur S. Libby, interpreter on the general staff of the United States Army, French instructor to many Generals and their staffs, has just been added to the big Chautauque program by the Chautauque management. The big program was already full and really overflowing, but when they found they could secure Major Libby who had a wonderful experience both during and before the war, it was decided to crowd the musical program the day before and give the people a chance to hear Major Libby. The Major says that he learned more about his own city while he was attached to the American soldiers in Frankfurt, Germany, than he had known about it by living in it for 15 years. From the far east he watched the approaching war, and he was in Berlin when it actually started. He collected a lot of information among German officers in their clubs and mess, and from actual documents examined. He was a prisoner, and the thrilling details of his escape are the most interesting background for the presentation of his statements views regarding our present problems.

HAD "GONE WEST"

Pathetic Incident in Hospital Bombaraded by Huns.

Wounded Young French Infantry Officer Thought He Was Going "Over the Top," and in That Belief Passed On.

The head nurse watched the stretcher bearers climb slowly and awkwardly down the path and disappear in the darkness bearing between them a silent, blanket-wrapped figure. Then slowly and thoughtfully she turned and entered the field hospital tent. The pale little nurses' aid, garbed in the picturesque blue of the American Red Cross, rose and came to meet her. In subdued whisper she explained in the big vacant stillness of the tent, she told the story of any changes which had taken place in the condition of the boy who lay so bravely silent on the 50 tiny cots.

"Bartrand, that young infantry officer in bed No. 10, the kid chest wound—he does not seem right," she said softly. "His lips are blue, and he sleeps so much."
"Bring your flashlight," replied the head nurse, as she led the way over to the dark corner, where, in a bed separated from the rest, the young Bartrand lay, apparently sleeping peacefully, but dimly, with a moister touch she laid her hand on his forehead. The boy's eyes opened, dazedly, and blinked in the glare of the aid's flashlight. Then, as with an effort, he smiled.

Suddenly the tent flap nearest them opened. The Scotch orderly entered, reached quickly for the lamp and returned the big center tent light and switched it off. Without a word the aid covered her flash and sprang to extinguish the desk light, while old Macdon, the trusty, crept along the tent wall behind the beds to be sure that each window was as tightly closed.

Overhead there gradually came into hearing a steady, regularly interrupted drone, like that of a mailplane in test flight, but a great roar, far away—far away—and the tent shook like a leaf in the wind. At the first sound of the raid Bartrand had started, sitting upright, his head against the wall, his lips in the intense darkness and trying to make him more restless by attempting to put him down, held him in her arms.
"See," says Macdon, "he is trying to tell the story, he began to call out orders, rapidly, precisely, like a man who was used to being obeyed, and then still louder, with more spirit, until his voice rang and reverberated through the open spaces of the tent. "Attention!—Alions, mes enfants!—En avant!"

From somewhere in the darkness the voice of the aid, a trifle shrill, said: "He thinks he's going over the top another floundering, and this time nearer. The head nurse felt something warm and wet soaking the front of her uniform. "It's a gas mask," she said, "flashing on the light, called out: "They're gone, the biggers."
"See," says Macdon, "he is trying to tell the story, he began to call out orders, rapidly, precisely, like a man who was used to being obeyed, and then still louder, with more spirit, until his voice rang and reverberated through the open spaces of the tent. "Attention!—Alions, mes enfants!—En avant!"

"You can lay him down, miss. I think there's just work for me and the stretcher bearers now. The poor lad's gone west."

Mule Objected to Burden.
An observer attached to the First Army had been up for several hours making notes on the many operations when he was suddenly attacked by a slightest contact plane, says the Evening Michigan Tribune. The balloon crew on the ground immediately began to haul the big gas bag down, but the observer was running no chance of escape. The gas bag drifted well back of the lines and deposited him in the midst of a number of grazing army mules, and right on the nose of one of the mules, which lay kindly to the sudden load forced on him, began to rear and plunge, starting quite a commotion among the herd, and the observer was rescued with difficulty from his precarious position.

Process Developed by War.
Making parabolic mirrors by chemical deposition on a glass sheet is described as one of the war-timed processes. A layer of silver was deposited chemically on a highly polished glass mirror, and was thickened electrolytically, after which it was given a suitable backing of strengthening material. Difference in expansion on heating gave a ready means of loosening the metal from the glass. The silver surface was given a waterproof and heatproof coating of lacquer, and was ready for use in such length time that would have been required for grinding and polishing a glass mirror.

American Chemical Products.
The interest in chemistry and chemical products has greatly increased in the United States owing to the fact that this country is now forced by the war to depend upon its own resources in this direction. The following are described to these chemical products: In making soap and paper pulp, mercerizing cotton and purifying mineral oils, caustic soda is used; soda ash is necessary in the manufacture of soap and glass; silicic acid is used in the manufacture of soap and in dyeing and retting cotton, finishing cotton goods, preventing wool rot, bleaching jute and preserving eggs.

Sioux City, Iowa

City's Dreams Coming True.
Kansas City Star.—Chicago has a plan for a city beautiful the very sight of which fairly makes one dizzy. Chicago has had the plan for a good many years—it was the first one of widely and the drawing was made ten years ago. It was all a dream.

But the dream has been coming true, right along. Here, for example, is what the Chicago city council provided for in an ordinance passed Monday night:

To make a continuous park of the city's unsightly lake front extending twenty miles in length.
Erection of the largest passenger terminal in the world.
Electrification of 405 miles of railroad tracks, mainly those of the New York Central road, which extends along the lake front.

Eight miles of harbor docks.
Acclamation of fifteen hundred acres of Lake Michigan. Six parks, a part of the twenty-mile system.
Four bathing beaches accommodating 120,000 persons.
New freight facilities costing $18,000,000.

And since the cost is mastered, it might be noted that the appropriation behind these improvements is $125,000,000.

No wonder Chicago's jam is coming true. The city has found the secret of how to make dreams "come to pass."

Drinks and Jazz.
St. Paul Pioneer Press.—Many New York bartenders are said to be going out of business since the sale of liquor became unlawful. The jazz band of entertainment doesn't seem to thrive on soft drinks.

Now Hunt for Goat.
Minneapolis Journal.—A committee of eminent entomologists was unable to find a mosquito in the Jersey meadows. Someone should now look for a goat in Hoboken or a baby carriage in Brooklyn.

Had to Be Drunk.
Minneapolis Journal.—Some of the New York cabarets are closing their doors because "they cease to entertain." This proves that a man had to be more or less "intoxicated" to enjoy them.

Let Wilhelm Saw Wood.
Springfield Republicans.—The outspoken opposition in parliament to trying the former Kaiser on British soil makes the trial more remote. The best way to deal with William Hohenzollern is to let him end his days where he is, sawing wood.

Shoe Prices.
New York World.—A New York jobber has offered for export at $1.20 to $2.75 a pair of shoes that retail here at from $8 to $20, which gives some idea of the latest styles in retail prices.

Too Much Money.
St. Paul Pioneer Press.—Twenty-five years ago today Coxys disbanded his army after having marched upon Washington. The cry then was more money. Now the country is suffering from too much money.

A New War Penalty.
Sioux City Journal: Reports reaching this country from Germany are that German newspapers contain thousands of advertisements of widows offering to dispose of their children. In some instances, the advertisements specify certain conditions which will be required before the surrender of the children. These, in most instances, concern the future of the children. Often simply offered by the parents of the children without restrictions. Nothing that has come out of that war created land so emphatically demonstrates the horrors Germany has brought upon herself as this disposition of the children of mothers made widows by the war. Poverty brought about by the war makes it impossible for the mother deprived of the support of husband and father to feed her offspring. She must surrender the tenderest ties of humanity and surrender her children to the hands of strangers. She must commit them to lives in which they will have no parental sympathy or see them die of starvation. If the German people could separate themselves from the idolatrous worship of the miserable monstrosity who hurled them headlong into the war for his personal glory and benefit, they would march across the Holland border and strip the debased and cowardly thing to the limb of a tree.

The people of Germany are just beginning to realize the conditions in which the war left them. During the four years of the struggle these loans of the people to the imperial government are now being repaid. The emperor wanted it to save the fatherland, they were told, and like unthinking horses they gave their last little saving. Now that Germany is loaded with the staggering debts imposed by the peace treaty, these loans of the people to the imperial government are now being repaid. SERVICE
The backbone of a banking institution is the service it can render its customers. Any Bank can accept deposits, and care for them. Most any bank has sufficient funds to loan its customers. These are essential, but added to this should be SERVICE, the help and advice of willing and competent bank officials in financial matters. The courteous treatment of bank employees, in short the general atmosphere in the bank that makes you want to come again.
These are the qualities we strive to furnish. If you do not find them here, will you be kind enough to tell us about it? We will improve next time.

UNCLE WALT THE POET PHILOSOPHER

GRIT.

Some fellows won't stay downed when they have hit the floor; they have lost a round, they soon look up for more. By Fort me, I'm not so ticked, and I swatted on the shins, they don't know when they're ticked, and take it all with grins. Soon Fortune weaves a web of cunning, she's the gaff, of finding that her words are greeted with a laugh. She calls off all her bets, resorts to knifing shifts, and makes those fellows get, and loads them down with gifts. Among successful men you find a hundred guys who, floating again, still to their feet would rise; they spit out broken teeth like Greeks in Homer's pomes, until the victor's wreath was placed upon their domes. Methinks that every gent who to the heights arose has had his features bent by Fortune's stream; his life was placed not so soft that any human jay can reach the place aloft on velvet all the way. All we encounter blows, who take the road to glory, some upon the nose, and some upon the chin. The weakling gives a yell when Fortune swags his ear, and has a tale to tell of doat and dread and fear. The strong man gets his buff, and lets his laugh ascend, and natters. "What's the diff? I'll get there in the end."

POOR HUMAN NATURE.

I have a cottage in the hills, and there is always snow in sight, and the mountains' endless snow, which chills the winds of summer day and night. And here I sit and think of friends who dwell in the haunts of town; and comfort such reflection lends—I wonder why I'm so low down? I picture fellows far away, where there's no sign of snow-peaks, who sigh and suffer day by day, through all the age-long summer weeks; and when I hug myself and view the summits white, O wondrous scene! and heave a selfish grin or two—I wonder why I am so mean? With mortal men it's always thus, as it before the winter blaze, and conjure up the homeless, cuss who goes his lost, unsheltered ways. The sense of contrast is the best of all enjoyment, and all we; let's look ourselves, then, in the face, and wonder why we've come so low. I rest upon a mountain's dome, and feel my heart expand with bliss; it would not if the folks back home were having wealth, or just like this. If they were not a-baked and fried, by keen enjoyment would be lost; in my full shack I'd rather no pride—I wonder why I'm such a frost.

BACK TO NATURE.

Willard journeyed back to Lawrence, to his priceless Kansas farm, holding strife in deep abhorrence, husbandry has added charm. Now among his pigs and chickens he will find a calm delight, and he'll wonder why the dickens men should wish to train and fight. For his heart was never burning with a lust for blood of foes; he would rather be churning than by punching some one's nose. When the white race lost its laurels, and the south Caucasian sign, and we undermined our morals cussing Johnson's brazen hide, Jess was butler of a stable, feeding him, and blame the days; and by and by he was unable to bring back the boys we've lost. Though his heart was not in fighting, he went to the work with vim; now that equities were writing, let's remember that of him. Now that he is whipped and gone, son this much to his credit, and in the days of too much Johnson he redeemed the poor white race. In his cloving farm in Kansas he is packing scull to scull, and I hope in costly stanzas, that his future may be fine. Let the men who lust for battle gain their triumphs in the ring. Jess is choosing rarer cattle, and is happy as a king.

HUMOR.

If one has humor in his make-up, he is the darling child of luck; for all the troubles life can rake up slide off like water from a duck. If humor's in your composition, you laugh where other fellows weep, and no adventure or condition can fill your bosom with despair. Ah me, I pity some poor mortals who cannot laugh at their own grief; you cannot make them think that chortles bring to our troubles quick relief. They're always prone to laugh at others; they see the fun in their neighbors' cares; they laugh when they behold their brothers go falling down one flight of stairs. But their own grief's another matter—there's nothing humorous in that; they're hand-out-grievous groans and groans of kind, they're full of flat. It is not humor that inspires you, if you ha-ha at other's woe while your own trouble only tries you, and makes the well-known briny flow. If you can laugh at your own troubles, you have true humor in your heart, and you can laugh on woe as a lark—you have a salve for every smart.

PERVERSE HUMANITY.

Wherever men assemble, in wilderness or street, they make the well-trodden path with howls about the heat. And there are countless critics, all bathed in summer sweat, who sign for gin and bitterns, to make them hotter yet. But recent red linings were banished from the stores, and there are countless biggars who miss the swanging dore, who miss the old brass railing, the old-time lutey drops; and they put up their wailing, and fill the air with swags. But in the bright hereafter, the golden years to come, shall great swarms of laughter laugh the very air away. Run. They'll wonder much how mortals whose sanity got by, could seek those swaggy portals, to lounge their works with rye. So put good coin for sickness and sorrow and disgrace, and throw, with crazy quickness, red poison through their face. Some men are just like bitterns since first their whiskers grew, and now, unwilling quitters, they raise a howdy-do. But when they've learned to swallow cold water plain undyed, to fill the aching hollow that each one has inside, they'll wonder, oh, they'll wonder, in groups of threes and fours, how in the name of thunder they ever cared for booze.

CARS AND CARS.

I have a large and costly car, upholstered in the richest plush; and when I wish to laze far, I ought to get there with a rush. Truly it is a gorgeous beast, and should with ease my person haul; the man who sold it sprained his throat explaining how he liked it all. But every time I take it out, it gives me naught but grief and toil; the caretaker has the gout, a cylinder starts running off its axle, and I'm agony I try to find what makes it work complain, the cheap tin cars go whizzing by, their grizzled grins with disdain. My tinny old 4400 bones, and every time I'd drive she quits, she coughs and backfires, heaves and groans, and throws a hundred kind of fits. And when she sheds a sigh, and leaves me stranded far from home, the cheap tin cars go whizzing by, and kick up gravel, dust and loam, I'm often stalled—it is my fate to have a car that will not run, and all the cheap cars in the state whiz by, and have all kinds of fun. With patience I could bear my load, and make some showing too, of grace, if I were stuck upon the road, and there was no one else to see. But when I feel the motor die, and I hear I'm stalled for half a day, the cheap tin cars go whizzing by, so insolently, blithe and gay.

"The Goblins 'll Get You If You Don't Watch Out"

ABOUT COAL

Hard Coal, Soft Coal or Coke

All reports, government and mine owners and operators tell that the shortage coming winter promises to be greater than two years ago—Why? The labor problem is assigned. Miners are quitting and migrating back to the other side of the point, and promise to do so in increasing numbers as soon as peace is completed. They are planning to demand a 25 per cent increase in wages—a six-hour day, a five-day week—and if it must be paid to keep them going, coal supply will be short, the prices raise.

Just now we have a supply, and can fill your order promptly at a fair price—a money saving price, and you should not neglect to get the winter coal.

THRESHERS—We can supply you with that excellent coal for your work, the Youghany.

We want the public to know that the Farmers' Union Co-Operative Association is at Wayne to do business for the advantage of the consumer. We have no store or general stock, but we do sell to your saving a lot of things.

Say, Mr. Farmer, we sell a hog waterer that is correct, and a thermal chicken waterer that is cool in summer and does not freeze in winter. No lumps to worry you.

Delicate Mechanism

Despite its scope Swift & Company is a business of infinite details, requiring infinite attention.

Experienced men must know livestock buying with a knowledge of weight, price, the amount and quality of meat the live animals will yield.

Each manufacturing operation must be done with expert skill and scientific precision. A highly perishable product must be handled with speed and care to avoid loss.

Chemists, engineers, accountants, and other specialists are required to take care of our intricate problems.

Alert wisdom and judgment must be used in getting stocks of goods into the open channels of demand through our four hundred branch houses. Branch house organizations must show activity and energy to sell at the market in the face of acute competition from other large packers, and hundreds of small ones.

All these requirements of intelligence, loyalty, devotion to the task, are met in the personnel of Swift & Company. Yet the profit is only a fraction of a cent per pound with costs at minimum.

How can the workings of this delicate human mechanism be improved upon?

Do you believe that Government direction would add to our efficiency or improve the service rendered the producer and consumer?

Let us send you a Swift "Dollar".

Mrs. Burn's Letter.

Here is a letter that is certain to prove of interest to people in this vicinity as cases of this sort occur in almost every neighborhood, and people should know what to do in like circumstances:

Savannah, Mo., Oct. 12, 1916.

"I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured my old boy (denture). I had another attack of the same complaint some three or four years ago and a few doses of the remedy cured me. I have recommended Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy to dozens of people since I first used it."

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

From Wayne Herald, July 31, 1912.

Sam Davies spent Sunday in Norfolk.

James Conger went to St. Louis City yesterday where he has accepted a position.

James Pile retired Tuesday from a "week's" visit with his aunt in Omaha.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Sken of Sims City, visited over Sunday with Mr. Skeen's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Philcox returned home Saturday from a 60 day trip in the west.

Miss Baker writes from the teaching force at the Normal. Her place will be taken by Miss Elizabeth Kingsbury.

Miss Nettie Perry entertained a party of young friends Thursday evening in honor of her cousin Miss Maud Perry of Omaha.

Mr. Jackson is at Colorado Springs for a vacation where he joined his wife and son who have been there for some time.

White trip to South Dakota last week Roy Surber sold 130 acres of land in Charles Mix county to Eli Rosland for $18 per acre.

Charles Armstrong's building, which has been sold to Bruce Ross, is being torn down, and in place thereof two dwellings will be erected.

Miss Gibbs, who had been visiting the past two weeks at the home of R. A. McEachern northwest of the city, returned to her home at Omaha Saturday.

A baseball team has been organized with James Miller as manager. The team will play at Norfolk, Dan Cunningham, Geo. Sherburn, Paul Harrington, Graham McDonald, Arthur and Carl Beckmeier, Charles Skenes, Frank Armstrong, Frank Skenes, and Art Norton. Suits have been ordered and the club will play the rest of the season.

The "Glee" party was given by the young ladies of the Presbyterian church last Thursday evening. Some twelve of their number, Misses: Louise, Edna, Mary, Edna, Sanford, Maude Benshoof, Nina Criss, Elma Hollett, Elsie Sprague, Jennie Atterley, Jennie Bayer, Virginia Cunningham, and Mary Jones, presented a challenge to Messrs. George Wilbur, Byron Hoile, A. R. Davis, Fred French, Floyd Criss, Elmer, Louis, Hollett, and Philip Craven, F. O. Davis, Ted Philo, and Will Cunningham to a contest. The ladies were to select a contest at a series of four blocks. In case they were found within an hour they were to serve refreshments to the young men; if not the men were to furnish the refreshments. The boys were poor hunters and consequently paid for the supper.

From Ponca Journal, August 10, 1883:

The court house business seems favorable. The money, $3,300, has about all been raised, and the balance will be raised in a short time without doubt.

The work train is still doing good service between Jackson and Coburn. The track is to be raised about two feet and ballasted up in good shape.

A special train came over the road Saturday with J. M. Whitman, general superintendent, H. A. Gray, auditor, and J. McCabe, the new division superintendent of the Nebraska lines of the C. St. P. M. & O., of which they were on a tour of inspection. Mr. Whitman expressed himself as very well pleased with the business at Ponca, while the auditor says that this place receives more local Chicago freight than any other station in Nebraska on their lines. By local Chicago freight is meant freight in less than car load lots.

The republican county central committee will meet at the office of G. W. Walbeck, Ponca, Dixon county, Neb., on Saturday, August 31, 1883, at 1 o'clock p. m., to transact such business as may properly come before it. The following is a list of the members of the executive committee: G. W. Walbeck, Ponca; Austin Hinds, Logan; S. I. Hart, South creek; J. W. Jones, Clark; A. D. Whitford, Wright; J. C. Filley, Summer Hill; M. Lockwood, Galena; D. Armstrong, Otter creek; C. T. Barto, Wakefield; W. W. Atkinson, Emory; B. Escavant, Hooker; D. Rice, North bend; C. H. Smith, Ionia; A. S. Palmer, New-castle; C. E. Merrit, Silver creek.

As to Mass Convention.

Bixby in Lincoln Journal: As Edgar Howard, in the name of George Washington, has called upon loyal Nebraskans to stop threatening activities long enough to meet in mass convention and present against Charles Hitchcock and a league of nations, we (that's me) inspired by a big, high sense of obligation to the grand army of patriotic citizens, wherever dispersed, in the name of Benjamin Franklin and Lydia E. Pinkham, do call upon the people of this state of Nebraska, by and through Kansas, Colorado, and Oklahoma (which is about the limit of our sphere of influence) to meet here and there for said county, show cause as convenient, to pass written resolutions "denouncing profane, loud and swear at and about them, if they feel like it. Peace treaties, international leagues and Shantung problems, pale into nothing as measured by the condition against which we invite all interested to rise in protest. If Edgar Howard wants to do this, he must first win his appeal to Nebraskans to tune up and take a fall out of Senator Hitchcock.

Order of Hearing.

The State of Nebraska, Wayne County, ss.

At County Court held at the County Court room, in and for said County, July 21, A. D. 1919.

Present, J. M. Cherry, County Judge.

In the matter of the estate of Mary Bush, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Henry S. Bush praying that the instrument purporting to be a duly authenticated copy of the last will and testament of said deceased, and of the probate thereof by the probate court of the County of Cook, State of Illinois, and this day filed in this court, may be allowed, filed, probated and recorded as the last will and testament of said deceased in and for the State of Nebraska.

Ordered that August 8, A. D. 1919, at 10 o'clock a. m. it be assigned for hearing said petition, when all persons interested in said matter may appear at a County Court to be held in and for said County, and show cause why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted; and that notice of the time and place of said petition, and of the time and place therefor, be sent to all persons interested in said matter by publishing a copy of this order in the Wayne Herald, a weekly newspaper printed in said County, three successive weeks prior to the said day of hearing.

J. M. Cherry, County Judge.

Notice to Sewer Contractors.

Proposals are invited and will be received by the City Council of Wayne, Nebraska, until eight o'clock p. m. of August 15, 1919, for furnishing the material and labor for the construction of sewer lines in the City of Wayne according to the profiles, plans, and specifications on file in the office of the City Clerk of said city. A certified check in the amount of $10,000.00 must accompany each proposal.

The amount of the engineer's estimate is $33,297.30. Plans and specifications may be examined at the office of the Rohrbough Engineering Co., 929 City National Bank Bldg., Omaha, Nebraska, or at office

No Camouflage in This Price

We have reduced the Titan 10-20 price $225. You can now get the world's standard 3-plow tractor for $1,000.

Titan 10-20

Cash F. O. B. factory $1,050 on Time

THERE is no "joker" in this price. We are not telling you one story in this advertisement and then leaving it for our dealers to break the sad news that the advertised price won't buy a tractor unless you pay extra for a lot of necessary features. The Titan dealer won't charge you extra for "starting and service" before he can deliver the tractor. He won't show you a machine stripped of many essential parts—belt pulley, fenders, platform, governor, drawbar, tools—and then tell you that you can have these things by paying extra for them. The Titan at this advertised price is a complete 3-plow kerosene tractor.

Then there is another thing. We are not experimenting at your expense when we sell you a Titan 10-20. There is real farm machine and tractor manufacturing experience back of it. We have been in the farm machine business for 88 years and have been supplying tractors for 14 years. Not another company in the world knows the farmer's power and machine requirements as the Harvester organization does.

Would you entrust your bank account to a man who had never had any experience in handling money? Will you risk your farm profits in a tractor built by designers whose knowledge of farming is limited to books and a drawing board? It will pay you to think about these things when you buy your tractor.

Starting and Instruction Service

Another "joker" of some tractor concerns is to charge you a large "starting and service" fee—extra. This is another way of getting a low price for advertising purposes, but you won't get the tractor without paying this charge. They make it compulsory. The International dealer gives you this service without asking you to pay extra for a Titan 10-20. Free tractor schools inaugurated by us, also benefit Titan purchasers in all parts of the country.

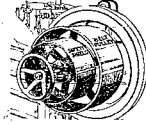

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER COMPANY

CHICAGO OF AMERICA, INC. U.S.A.

When you buy a TITAN the original price includes:

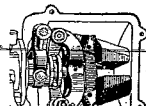

Friction Clutch Pulley

A large, wide friction clutch pulley, made in five sizes, equipped with safety shield, is mounted directly on the crank-shaft of the low-speed, steady Titan engine and delivers the full power to the driven machine. The Titan 10-20 can be quickly backed into the belt between the friction of the pulley and the belt clears the front wheels and other parts of the tractor by a generous margin. It is not necessary to dig holes for the front wheels to get belt clearance. The Titan pulley was not put on an afterthought. The designers did not overlook it in the first place. Some tractor builders committed this very serious error, due to lack of farm knowledge and experience. To remedy this error, they designed a small make-shift pulley, in one size only, attached it in an awkward place, and charge you $15 to $40 for it. The Titan 10-20 friction clutch pulley is furnished without extra charge.

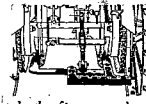

Throttle Governor

Some tractors are sold without governor because, perhaps, the designers did not know that one was needed. When is the best economy—to pay an operator a salary just to sit on the tractor and adjust the foot to the load variations when speed is in belt work or let a throttle governor do it without extra cost?—do it automatically, perfectly. The Titan throttle governor saves fuel, prevents grain losses by delivering uniform power to your harvesters and lengthens the life of both tractor and driven machines. You get this governor without extra charge.

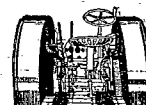

Drawbar

Some tractor builders put a tail end of their tractor—and call it a drawbar. They seem to have overlooked the fact that a farm tractor not only pulls plows and harrows, but loaders, grain binders, harvesters, etc., each requiring different hitch adjustments. Perhaps they didn't know about these other machines. Look at the Titan drawbar. Note the provisions for a wide range of adjustment both up and down and sideways. The Titan drawbar fits every need and it is furnished without extra cost.

Fenders

The designers of some tractors evidently did not know that the drive wheels throw dirt, dust or mud over the operator and machine unless fenders prevent it. The Titan 10-20 has such fenders. They are also a "safety first" feature. The state of Michigan has a law prohibiting the sale of fenderless tractors. Titan fenders are furnished without the $40 to $50 extra charge made by the "low-price" manufacturers.

Platform

Some tractor designers apparently never sat in a tractor seat ten hours a day or once-jolting over rough fields, so they can't appreciate what a relief it is for the tractor operator to rest himself now and then by standing up, without loss of time. You will appreciate the Titan 10-20 platform that enables you to do this. It is a comfort feature furnished regularly with every Titan 10-20 tractor—no extra cost.

Tools

A complete set of sixteen tools, furnished with every Titan 10-20. This handy tool-kit is provided in spite of the fact that Titan 10-20 tractors get out of order less frequently than any other tractor in the world. Some tractor concerns whose tractors really need frequent adjustment and repairs, smother nothing but two or three wrenches. They tell you that their product is so good that it doesn't need adjustment. Do you believe that? As a matter of fact, they omit necessary tools for the same reason they omit the essential features that make a low "camouflage price" for the Titan 10-20 complete tool kit is furnished without extra charge.

PROF. M. R. SNODGRASS DIES

Former Head of Wayne School Passes Away in California.

Prof. M. R. Snodgrass who was superintendent of the Wayne city schools for several years and until just before he moved to Kentucky became a member of the state normal faculty at that place, died in California July 7. Regarding his death the Kentucky Times says: "M. R. Snodgrass, a member of the normal school faculty here since the foundation of the institution in 1914 was taken ill and died to seek a more propitious climate because of failing health, died in California July 7."

Mr. Snodgrass who was graduate class of Nebraska in 1884 and for twenty years was superintendent of the normal school in Nebraska. He was superintendent of schools at Wayne when elected to a position on the Kearney normal school faculty in 1913. He was music dean of the faculty in 1912 and in 1913 became acting president of the school. But the duties of the position were strenuous for his failing physical strength and the following year he resigned his position. During his career in the state he had been head of the mathematics department.

No better tribute to his memory could be made than that of one of his fellow faculty members who said: "Prof. M. R. Snodgrass was a true pioneer. His wise counsel, quiet operation, and the work he played a very important part in establishing the school on a firm foundation which made possible the very enviable position which the school holds today."

MISS MADSEN IN COUNTRY

Visits Herald Parishioners to Enliven Subscriptions.

After having been off the job for two weeks, Miss Margaret Madsen again a member of the Herald staff. She succeeds Mrs. Alice Pollard who wished to go to her home at DeWitt, S. D., to spend the remainder of her vacation with her family before resumption of her duties as principal of the Wayne high school. Miss Madsen did wonderfully good work for the paper, and Miss Madsen is a most worthy and capable newspaper woman. The country is strong for Miss Madsen. She knows the country like she knows Virginia, and she knows everybody in it. Forgive her and this is like her as well as she likes them, which is very much. She is carrying on the canvass with the same enthusiasm that she marked efforts earlier in the season. Without exception Herald parishioners are renewing their faith in the paper, and right now the figure they are getting a bargain. Others who have struggled and suffered along without the Herald, are coming into the fold.

It is hoped, Miss Madsen will be so inspired that she will grab the house and throw out something for publication before it is too late.

LARGE REAL ESTATE DEAL

Edward Perry Sells Nearly 700 Acres South of Town.

What is believed to be the largest single land deal ever consummated in Wayne county was closed Saturday when Edward Perry sold 690 acres of land to Charles S. Meyer, Jr., Gustave Kruse and Ben Nissen. The total consideration was $231,000. A half section known as the W. S. Brown place brought $300 an acre. A tract of 300 acres sold for $275 an acre. Possession is to be given next March. Mr. Perry has been buying the land where he feels the need of taking life easier. He still owns a quarter section and he says he will not sell it.

Of Interest to Soldiers.
The Herald has received the following from Congressman R. E. Evans:
The following articles of clothing and equipment may be permanently retained by enlisted men upon honorable discharge. I am authorized to advise (for all enlisted men who had service overseas) 1 hat and handkerchief for all enlisted men, 1 olive drab shirt, 1 service coat and ornaments, 1 pair breeches, 1 pair shoes, 1 pair leggings, 1 waist belt, 1 slicker, 1 overcoat, 2 suits under wear of pair stockings, 1 pair gloves, 1 gas-mask and helmet (if issued overseas), 1 set of toilet articles (if in possession when discharged), 1 barracks bag, 3 secret chevrons.
Any enlisted man who served in the United States army during the present war and honorably discharged or furloughed to the reserve since April 6, 1917, and who has restored to the government any of the above articles, or to whom for any reason they were never issued, if he will write to me for an application blank I will forward the same to him and he may fill out this blank and send it to the Supplies Division, Office of the Director of Storage, Munitions Building, Washington, D. C., notifying me when he sends the application. The application should state sizes required and will be accompanied by affidavit made before any civil or military officer authorized to administer oaths, setting forth the Soldier's record of services since April 6, 1917, the date and place of his discharge or furlough, whether on the inactive list or in the reserve; the articles and kind of clothing retained; and kind of discharge or furlough. Care for Children

Vacation is upon us and the children are enjoying a rest from their school duties. Now is the time to have their spines examined and to make sure that their spines are normal. A spinal analysis now will be of great benefit to them, how great one cannot estimate. If you would ward off pain and suffering for the little ones, and give them a chance to grow up strong and healthy men and women, take them to your chiropractor during these vacation days. Consultation and spinal analysis free.

CHURCH CALENDAR

English Lutheran Church. (Rev. J. H. Peteroff, Pastor.) Sunday school convenes next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. There will be no preaching service next Sunday, and probably not during the entire month of August. The next service following this week's vacation. It is hoped that there will be no decline in interest in the Sunday school during the past absence. At the last meeting of the Ladies' Aid society, it was decided not to have any meetings during the month of August. The next meeting will be held the first Thursday in September.

First Baptist Church. (Robert H. Pratt, S. P. M. Minister.) The communion service will follow the morning worship. The topic of the morning sermon will be "The Essence of Conversion." In the evening the pastor speaks on the subject, "Religious Narcotics." The Sunday school meets at 11:30. Come to Sunday school even if it is a hot day. You will find it cool in the church. There will be no meetings of the Junior until September.

The Senior B. Y. P. U. will discuss war living as a Christian in the home. Every member should have some idea as to how this can be done. Come and tell us what you think about it.

The midweek service is held on Wednesday at 7 p. m. This is a meeting that belongs to the laity. Every member should make it a rule to attend if possible.

Methodist Episcopal Church. (Rev. D. W. MacGregor, Pastor.) Services next Sunday will be as follows: Sunday school at 9 o'clock; preaching at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m.; Epworth league will meet at 7 p. m.

Hot weather and "religion," like politics and religion, don't mix very well, but hot weather and pleasure mix all right.

Christian people should be as loyal to God and their religious interests during hot summer seasons as they are when conditions are more favorable.

"The old poet sang: 'I love thy Kingdom, Lord. Love stops at nothing in possession.' Love to God should flow from our hearts daily and heat or cold, rain or shine should not be the governor of our acts of worship.

AGRICULTURE NOTES.

Dry Weather Shifts Labor. Because of the protracted drought in the northwest, the irrigation region of eastern Montana, has recently been able to recruit enough labor to carry on successfully all of the necessary farm work, although previously there has been a decided shortage of farm help. Extreme drought has temporarily caused the abandonment of farm work in the suffering sections of the northwest so that the labor supply in many instances has shifted to the irrigated localities where work is abundant.

Honey Bees Making a Record. The honey crop of the United States was 92.1 per cent of normal on July 1, according to the estimates of the United States department of agriculture. Reports to the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine make the yield of surplus honey per colony was 23.8 pounds and that about one-half of the annual production per colony was used by July 1. At the same time in 1918 the estimated surplus was 21.4 pounds per colony. At the same time in 1917 it was 15.5. The high condition of 92.1 per cent of normal on July 1 this year compares with 86.7 in 1918 and 86.3 in 1917.

Cabbage Seed Promising. Approximately 600 acres of cabbage seed are being grown this year in the neighborhood of La Crosse, Wis., the fields ranging from 2 to 40 acres, report specialists of the United States department of agriculture. As the season has been favorable for the crop, growers are prophesying high yields. By the third week in June the fields had passed the pollinating stage and the pods were developing rapidly. Harvesting will begin the latter part of July. Cabbage usually is grown in rotation, following hay. On the rotation of the two years required for the cabbage crop production, oats are planted, followed by clover timothy. This rotation of crops minimizes the perpetuation of fungus diseases in the soil.

How a "Sucker" Was Saved. A city man—got a new development circular from a Chicago "development company," offering him 10 promising small lots at $2,500. "A peanut unit" the circular called it. He could grow, the circular said, a thousand bushels of peanuts on 10 acres and could sell the peanuts—allowing for low prices—at $2 a bushel. The city man was impressed but he sent the circular to an agricultural states department of agriculture with the query as to whether or not the investment was a good one. Following are some extracts from the letter he got in reply: "The literature is of the kind designed to deceive city people in the north and west who do not know anything about farming." "The average return from 10 acres of peanuts would not exceed $300 to $500. You could buy a 100-acre farm in almost any of the counties of western Florida including the one mentioned in the circular, for the price these people ask for 10 acres." "The whole unit system, whether it is peaches, pears, figs, cane, peanuts, hogs, or what not, is simply a means of selling land at three to five times what it is worth to ignorant or unwary small investors. To pay $2,500 for this 10 acres of land would stamp you a 'sucker' of the rankiest class." "All this is without reflecting in any way on Florida, for it is a good state and lands are comparatively cheap there."

Postmaster Examination. At the request of the Postmaster General, the United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination to be held at Wayne, Neb., on September 24, 1919, for the position of postmaster at Carroll, Neb. This office has an annual compensation of $1,100.

To be eligible for this examination, an applicant must be a citizen of the United States, must actually reside within the delivery of the office, and have so resided at the time the present vacancy occurred. Applicants must have reached their twenty-first but not their sixty-fifth birthday on the date of the examination. Application form 224 and full information concerning the requirements of the examination may be secured from the postmaster at the place of vacancy or from the Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C. Applications should be properly executed and filed with the commission at Washington, D. C. in time to arrange for the examination of the applicant.

Tragedy Near Humphrey, Colorado, Neb. July 26.—The body of Fred Hockemeier, residing between Leigh and Humphrey, was discovered hanging from a beam in a barn here about last night shortly after the discovery that his wife had been beaten to death with a hammer. Hockemeier is believed by authorities here to have been responsible for his wife's death. No motive for the crime, however, could be learned. Mr. O. M. Davenport here to have been responsible for the crime of seven children. The crime was committed yesterday afternoon, but as none of the children was home, it was not discovered until night.

Car Damaged. Last Thursday afternoon the steering wheel of a car driven by G. L. Griffiths of Council Bluffs, broke, causing the driver to lose control of the machine. Glen Kelley, who owned the automobile and Howard Myer were the other occupants. The car ran into a bridge, breaking one of the wheels and damaging it in the process. Howard Myer was thrown from the car, but was only slightly injured.

Olson, and greatly surprised them, bringing well filled baskets from which a sumptuous lunch was served. Mr. and Mrs. Olm were presented with a substantial gift.

Will Not Ask Increase. Lincoln, July 28.—Gov. McKelvie will not follow the suggestion of the state board of control to incorporate in the call for special session the appropriation of an additional sum so that state institutions may be able to run through the biennium without running out of funds. The board calls attention to the fact that during the last biennium the appropriation was inadequate to meet the advance in prices and ran short $287,500, which the last legislature had to include in its deficiency appropriation. Attention was also called to the fact that when the legislature made the appropriation for the present term members figured that prices would go down and actually made a smaller appropriation than was used by the institutions the last term. Instead of that prices are going up with every indication that they will go higher. In his reply to the letter of the board the governor says that he realizes that the contention of the board is correct, but that he does not see his way clear to incorporate the matter in his call for the special session.

How Honey is Ripened

When nectar is brought from the fields by the bees, it is worthless and tasteless, being little more than sweetened water and as such would quickly ferment. To produce honey from the sweetened water, it is necessary to go through a ripening process, which is painfully slow but very interesting. Many days and weeks are required to bring about this transformation and it is here that a thorough knowledge of bees and their habits is required on the part of the beekeeper before he can produce and put on the market a product that is thoroughly ripened, rich in flavor and thick in body.

The raw nectar gathered during the day is put through an evaporating process during the evening and night, which is so plainly described by Root that I quote from him as follows: "After the day's work is about over, almost the whole colony spreads out over all available surface, and nearly every bee has her sack full of honey. Then each bee opens her mandibles and mouth and forces up a drop of nectar. This drop fills the mouth and extends up over the upper lip and fills the space between the mandibles, covering the openings of the glands connecting therewith. Next the bee begins a chewing motion with the lower "jaw" and this causes the drop to pulsate. For about ten minutes this process is continued; then the drop is swallowed, and after a few moments' pause another drop appears and the process is renewed. This is continued by the colony until about 11 p. m., or sometimes later, and then work stops and all hands go to sleep."

This evaporated drop is finally deposited in the wax cells and so thorough has the evaporating process been that some authorities claim less than ten per cent of the original nectar gathered remains to be deposited as honey.

Market Prices will be Announced Next Week.

What do you know about Chiropractic?

Do you believe that it is a health science which is daily relieving the sufferings of thousands and saving thousands from a premature grave?

Is your belief founded upon actual experience or simply upon hearsay or is it a matter of fact that you have given the subject little thought?

Do you know that Chiropractic is entirely different to any form of drugless healing and that it has nothing in common with osteopathy?

Do you know that since 1899, over thirty thousand patients have been adjusted at the clinic of the Palmer School of Chiropractic, "Chiropractic Fountain Head," Davenport, Iowa.

Do you know that in the recent Flu Epidemic the national death rate of those who took chiropractic spinal adjustments was only 1 in 385 cases or 1.6 of 1 per cent?

Do you know that it has proven beyond a reasonable doubt that as a prophylactic (preventive) method, Chiropractic stands "head and shoulders" above any other?

Carroll Chautauqua Opens.
The annual Carroll chautauqua opened Tuesday with the usual attendance and interest. The American Ladies' quartet gave a concert in the afternoon and furnished the prelude in the evening, followed by an illustrated lecture treating of Hawaii by Roy J. Baker.

Wednesday the Overseas Military quartet gave a program in the afternoon and gave an introductory series of songs in the evening. Miss Hazel Dopfide proved an interesting reader. The evening lecture was given by Harry J. Bull. The chautauqua will close Saturday with a grand musical concert and a lecture by Dr. Thomas McClary.

Toggery and Cafe Robbed Again.
The Carroll Toggery and Hotelkamp's cafe were robbed Sunday night. A coat, pair of pants, and several other articles of clothing were taken at the Toggery. At Hotelkamp's Cafe the robbers hidged themselves to meat, cookies, and ice cream, and took over five dollars in money. The robbers entered the building from the rear. It is believed that the robbery was the work of the same parties who entered these buildings several weeks ago.

O. C. Lewis, sheriff, was summoned and the aid of a couple of bloodhounds secured, but the robbers could not be traced. The dogs seemed to be unable to get the scent and no trace of the burglars has yet been found.

Notice of Summons.
To Charles William Nichols:
You are hereby notified that on the 2nd day of April, 1919, Rosetta Nichols, filed a petition against you in the district court of Wayne county, Nebraska, the object and prayer of which are to obtain a divorce from you on the ground that you are being of sufficient ability to provide maintenance and support for the plaintiff and the minor children of plaintiff and defendant, have grossly, wantonly and cruelly refused and neglected so to do. And for the further reason that you have been guilty of extreme cruelty toward the plaintiff. The plaintiff prays for the custody of all minor children. You are required to answer said petition on or before Monday, the 18th day of August, 1919.

Enthusiasm Over the Crop Prospects in Eastern Colorado Unbounded

People Returning From Kit Carson County are Jubilant Over the Season's Yield

THE men who have just returned from Burlington, Colorado, have nothing but the highest praise for the crops now maturing in that country. Growing corn rivals that of northeastern Nebraska. The small grain is ready for harvest and more over the heads are full and in perfect condition. The idea of eastern Colorado as a fruit country is coming true. Samples of cherries, apples, plums and apricots have been shown here and are of excellent quality to the surprise of many people.

A PROFIT-SHARING PLAN

Operated Successfully by Swift & Company, Meat Packers.

More than 20,000 employees of Swift & Company are pleased with part ownership in the packing concern. Announcement has just been made of the results that came of the gigantic profit-sharing plan recently offered by the company to its people.

The avidity with which workers from label stickers to managers, seized the opportunity to become partners in the business, is nothing short of a sensation at the company's headquarters in Chicago.

So great was the demand for shares from employees that the company set aside sufficient stock to take care of such employees as are in the army and navy and who will be back within the next few months.

"We are pleased," declared F. S. Hayward, secretary of the company, "at what we look on as a vote of confidence on the part of our employees. Their response to our offer has been fairly amazing. I believe today our stock ledgers will show a greater proportion of employee shareholders than any other large manufacturing concern in the country."

Stock which had been turned into the treasury some time ago afforded the company an opportunity which it had long sought—to offer shares to employees at par. Accordingly, the stock subscription books were opened last May on the following plan:

Each employee earning up to $20 a week was allowed to purchase one share of stock at its par value, $10. The market quotation for stock above this. Employees earning $20 and up to $30 a week were entitled to two shares, $30 and up to $40 a week, three shares; $40 and up to $50 a week, four shares; $50 and over, five shares. No employee was allowed to purchase more than five shares. The stock is to be paid for at the rate of $1 a share per week.

Employees whose economic for the immediate future were committed to the purchase of liberty bonds were given the right to reserve stock by making a $10 deposit on each share. No further payment was required of them until they had completed purchase of their war bonds. The only pledge asked of employees in the purchase of the proposition was that he should look on his purchase as an investment and not a speculation.

"We hoped," said Mr. Hayward, "to put 10,000 new shareholders on our books. We had already 5,000 shareholding employees who had come into the company under the old system of selling stock at market value under a two year payment plan. But the hurricane of applications that blew into the office a few weeks after we began accepting applications, we have 17,000 new shareholders. And the most satisfactory thing about the whole affair is that we have associated with us as partners many of the very persons we most wanted—the plant workers."

The unexpected demand for shares has caused the company to create a special department to handle the applications. More than 2,500 of the new shareholders are women. Subscriptions have been received from employees at all of the plants of the company and also from some of the 400 towns under the company where it has a branch house.

Business Marks Time. Previous heavy buying has slackened the demand for commodities in many of the more important lines. Though the normal midsummer lullary period is not in evidence as a whole, manufacturers and wholesalers are having trouble in finding outlets for their stock, many of them having orders booked as far ahead as they care to extend their futures. The ability of business in general to hold up through the summer depression season is one of the strong evidences of the substantiality of present conditions.

Labor disturbances have hampered business in many sections, notably in the middle west. The suspension of building operations has not only thrown large numbers of both skilled and unskilled men out of employment, but has reduced the trade in all lines of building materials from what it would have been had the building program of the season been carried out. The construction industry is suffering somewhat from the uneasiness which prevails among the buyers. In some districts they are dependent on the government for work and a six-hour day, and double time for Saturday, Sunday and all holidays.

Retail trade is more than holding.

its own. Buying is confined mostly to the better qualities of goods, the shoddy and cheap products of pre-war times finding little demand. This condition is due to the larger wages received by salaried people, and their ambition to have the best. Money is easy with large increases in middle western deposits, due in part to the early marketing of the wheat crop. As the season advances and the crops of the northern tier of states are placed in the elevators, deposits will continue to grow. The damage to the wheat crop in some of the states and the ravages of grasshoppers in others will be offset in a large measure by the increased price which restricted yield will bring. Already the indications are that the government guaranteed price for western wheat has been completely overcome. Mortgages largely held by eastern financial concerns will be paid by western debtors, so that a considerable slice of western money will find its way into eastern circulation.

EFFORTS FAILED FOR 15 YEARS

Mrs. Gilbert Found Nothing to Relieve Trouble Till She Took Tanlac.

"My health has been miserable for the fifteen years, and I have tried many different medicines and treatments trying to find something that would relieve me, but all my efforts failed until I commenced taking Tanlac," said Mrs. Celia Gilbert, who lives at 1900 Adams street, Peoria, Illinois, the other day. "When I began taking Tanlac," continued Mrs. Gilbert, "I was so weak and rundown I was hardly able to get about. During all these years I had suffered terribly from stomach trouble, and had gotten to where everything I ate would sour and cause me to have the worst sort of cramping spells. My kidneys were out of order, too, and the pains in my back were so severe at times I could hardly stand. I was so nervous that I rarely ever got a really night's sleep, and nearly every morning of my life, I would get up with a bad headache that would often last all day long. I also suffered from shortness of breath, and sometimes I couldn't lie down without feeling just like I was smothering to death. All these troubles pulled me down until I was hardly able to go at all. "My husband—who is foreman at the Ellison Coal and Feed Co., heard so many of the men who work there talking about Tanlac that he bought a bottle. Well, I had been disappointed so many times that I really didn't expect Tanlac to do me any good, but I tried it, in any way, and I must say that it has been a godsend to me. Why, I am as well and strong now as I ever was in my life. My appetite is fine, and everything I eat agrees with me perfectly. The pains have left my back, and my kidneys seem to be in perfect condition. I am not nervous like I was, and I sleep like a baby every night. In fact, my troubles have been completely overcome, and I can do all my household work with perfect ease, and the family washing besides. For the first time in fifteen years I am free from pain, and can truthfully say that I am enjoying perfect health again, and I give Tanlac credit for it all."

Notice.

The state of Nebraska, Wayne county, ss: At a county court, held at the county court room, in and for said county of Wayne, on the 15th day of July, 1919. Present, J. M. Cherry, county judge. In the matter of the estate of Friedrich Vahlkamp, deceased. On reading and filing the petition of Herman F. Vahlkamp, praying that the instrument filed on the 18th day of July, 1919, and purporting to be the last will and testament, of said deceased, may be proved, approved, probated, allowed and recorded as the last will and testament of said Friedrich Vahlkamp, deceased, and that the execution of said instrument may be committed and that the administration of said estate may be granted to Henry Vahlkamp, Fred Vahlkamp and Herman F. Vahlkamp, as executors.

Orders that August 2nd, A. D. 1919, at 10 o'clock a. m., is assigned for hearing said petition, when all persons interested in said matter may appear at a county court to be held in and for said county, and show cause why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted; and that notice of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, be given to all persons interested in said matter by publishing a copy thereof in the Wayne Herald, a weekly newspaper printed in said county, three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing.

They will remain for a two weeks' outing of fishing and other outdoor sports. Evelyn Ericson, who had been visiting her grandmother Mrs. A.

be presented at another meeting Thursday of next week. The committee are: J. R. Fausto, H. A. Bowman, Rev. F. Williams, Dr. C. B. Cox and Louis Nuernberger. As the plans now stand there will be two days of celebrating with an airplane exhibition, ball games, and musical attractions. The date will probably be in September owing to the time needed for preparation for a successful event and the conflict with neighboring town chaquoanquas.

Arrangements were also made at this meeting to remark the Grain-Land Highway through Wakefield and a little way each side of town. This is necessary because of the high telephone poles have been taken down.

Wants Unanimous Vote. Lincoln, Neb., July 20.—Gov. Samuel R. McKelvie told members of the Nebraska legislature which convened in special session today, consider the ratification of the federal woman suffrage amendment that he would be disappointed if the vote on the amendment was not unanimously in favor of the amendment.

"I shall not enter upon a further discussion of this very important subject," the governor said. "Come to do so would simply repeat that I had unnecessarily impudently soured the amendment which is very favorably disposed toward this question and I shall be disappointed if the vote is not unanimously in favor of the amendment."

In calling the special session at this time, the governor said two questions were involved: First of these, he said, was the ratification of the suffrage amendment at the earliest possible date, and the second was the time of the session and the members of the present delegation may serve without prejudice the opportunity to become members of the constitutional convention.

Legislature in Session. Lincoln, Neb., July 20.—The Nebraska legislature went into special session at noon today to pass on the question of ratifying the federal woman suffrage amendment which was submitted by Congress to the states for their approval or rejection. The state legislators went into session in response to a call for the special meeting issued last night by Gov. Samuel R. McKelvie.

Delegates to the annual convention of the Nebraska Woman Suffrage association, which opened here today, attended the opening exercises of the special session. Tonight the suffragists will hold a public supper at the First Christian church in celebration of the adoption by Congress of the resolution submitting suffrage to the members of the legislature as their guests.

Tomorrow the suffrage association will elect a committee and probably organize a state league of women voters. The league—according to Mrs. W. E. Barkley, president of the suffrage association, will be a branch of the latter organization.

Bare Legs in New York. Lincoln Journal: Fashion may be all powerful in the world, but it must not presume too much. The newspapers tell of the expulsion of a fashionably gowned woman from a fashionable New York hotel because she wore no stockings. The hotel manager admitted that he had heard of the decree of Paris fashion for this matter, but declared that it could not be put over in his establishment. There seems to be a bit of Puritanism still left in a few places along the great white way.

"Devil Wagon" in China. New York World: For the first time in Chinese history, automobiles in large numbers are being used to transport troops for the defense of China's northwestern frontier. Thus it is that the "devil wagon" of the foreigner may give a fresh impetus to the development of Chinese civilization.

What Have You to Say? Philadelphia Public Ledger: Now that the censorship is removed, what was the important thing you wished to say?

Time to Keep Healthy. Chicago News: Funeral expenses are soaring again. This ought to keep prudent people healthy.

Rivals for the Barter. Kansas City Star: The inhabitants of the Dukhobor settlement in British Columbia are again causing trouble by refusing to wear clothes. They seem to think they live in Atlantic City.
