

MEN JAILED AFTER THRILLING CHASE

John Wright, Bellwether of Bad Boys, Leads Officers in Lively Run Before Surrender.

THREE MEN ARE ARRESTED

Captives Engaged in Pistol Duel with Marshal at Walthill - Wayne Officer Notified.

John Wright, John Nugent and Guy Miller are in jail following a lively and exciting chase with the authorities and posse of citizens in Wayne Friday afternoon. Wright and Nugent have the habit of getting into jail when they come to town, but trouble overtook them quicker than usual this time on account of a preliminary telephone message to Marshal Andy Chance from a tender authority who stated that Wright had fired four shots at the marshal of Walthill. At that place the officer suspected something and proposed to call in the Chandler car which the men were driving and which is believed was stolen in Sioux City. This precipitated a pistol duel.

Proceedings in Court. These were the subsequent proccedings in court. Wright and Nugent who last May took an appeal from the county court on a charge of transporting liquor and for getting intoxicated were released, and accordingly surrendered the prisoner to the court. Nugent was assessed a fine of $200 and costs, and Wright a fine of $500 and costs. Wright and Nugent were charged with carrying concealed weapons, and were bound over to this district court with bonds for $2500 each. Tuesday, Wright, Nugent, and Miller were charged with transporting liquor. Wright was bound over to the district court on a charge of gambling two months ago in addition warrants have been issued in Thurston county charging the defendant with the murder of the three men. He is taken to court on Monday. Miller has been bound over to the district court.

Friday Afternoon's Chase. Marshal Andy Chance, who departs during the forenoon, and is the rest of the day - and night - received notice at noon to be on the job for the day and night. He hurried downtown and got his shotgun, and then notified the different garages and summoned the men of Constable John Conable. Marshal Chance went to the railroad tracks, and very soon after arriving there, the Chandler car was spotted. The motor car was grabbed by the shoulder. Wright jumped on the gas, and the car started on high at full speed. Chance was then in hot pursuit. Wright and Henry Kay once, and the tires came down. The powerful Chandler was thus crippled. No one was hurt.

Then the chase started. The Chandler car proceeded toward Walthill as far as possible on its rim. At the edge of town it knocked down a car. The pursuers saw the car go into a tank of water. Wright, who is one-half mile southeast of town, the marshal gave his gun to James Pike, and asked the gun to James Pike, and asked the gun to James Pike. The men were taken to a nearby house to telephone for reinforcements.

While Chance was gone, others were in the chase. The tires were driven to quarters behind a strawstack, and there Francis Jones, late of the United States navy, and James Pitt, Chicago, a Wabasha company that saw service on the Mexican border, made Wright and Nugent surrender at the point of a pistol. Wright and Miller had escaped, but was later captured.

Constable Solges who was in the first line rendered service in getting the wrists of the two men and escorted them back to town and to the county jail. The constable dismounted the captured car, and proceeded to red mud. Solges more or less modestly acknowledges credit for effecting the capture. This, in this respect, was not true, witnesses who saw the pertorance, and it may take a commission to settle the question.

THE ANNUAL RECEPTION

Students of the Wayne State Normal Received by Faculty.

Last Monday evening the opening reception of the faculty to the students was held in the administration building. The young people were received by the faculty in the lower hall after which a brief program was had in the auditorium. It was a pleasure to all to hear for the first time Professor Hunter play the violin. Accompanied by Mrs. Scribner, he played with great skill in brilliant style and was uproariously enjoyed. Those who were able to judge say that the musical life of Wayne is greatly enriched by the coming of Professor Hunter. The normal school people always feel a special pride in the musical achievements of the Oman sisters. Miss Fernie Oman, accompanied by her sister, Miss Frances, generously consented to sing on the program, and she sang very prettily at the coming of Professor Hunter. "WHY DON'T YOU WEAR KRYPTOKS?"

"Yes, it too, wore those old-fashioned bifocals with their disfiguring seam. The seam annoyed me and blurred my vision. And I never realized how old those 'antique' made me look until one day my daughter asked, 'Daddy, what is that queer-looking crack in your glasses?' I forthwith went in search of two-vision glasses. Without the disfiguring marks. I found them in KRYPTOK GLASSES THE INVISIBLE LOCALS Kryptoks give the convenience of near and far vision in one pair of glasses, without those eye-revealing 'crack' or seam.

Child Killed by Auto.
Petersburg, Va., September 15. The 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hamel of Nora, Neb., was killed Saturday evening when struck by an auto on the road one mile south of here.
The child's parents, together with a number of other persons, comprising five auto loads were camped on the roadside in the fog, preparing for supper. The little son of Mrs. Hamel was playing about the cars when an auto driven by Lloyd Standwick of Albion came by and the child tried to cross the road ahead of the car and was struck on the side of the head by the fender, cutting a large gash across the left side of the head. The little fellow was rushed to Petersburg, where a doctor stemmed the blood flow and sewed up the cut, but the child only lived a short time, never gaining consciousness.

The Hamel family with the other members of the party had driven from their home in Nuckolls county, to Antelope county, looking for land and were on their return trip. They resumed their journey homeward with the body.

"Goodrich Has the Tire"

Unpaved, poorly improved roads mean ruts and mud. Ruts and mud mean that the greatest of demands is being made on your tires.

Get the tire which has universal approval.

All Tires Can be Sold Once

Goodrich Tires resell themselves on service delivered to the user

Their extra thick, extra wide safety tread bears close examination. Goodrich interlocking safety bars spread beyond the ball of the tire to the sidewalls. Under great weight and pressure it lays more tough tread rubber and more safety clutch on the road. The wider tread carries on up the tire and beneath the side strip, giving an extra shield of tough rubber to fortify the tire in the weakest spot.

FURTHERMORE, the dealer and user alike are safeguarded by the frank, open-handed certification of Goodrich's More-Mileage Adjustment—

6,000 Miles for Fabric Tires
8,000 Miles for Silvertown Cords

This certification is the minimum you, with proper usage, get from Goodrich Tires. There is widespread popular approval of Goodrich Tires.

Why do we believe this?
Because of the great army of Goodrich dealers, found everywhere ready to furnish the user with Goodrich Tires. These are 50,000 of these dealers, who have confidence in Goodrich and Goodrich Tires. These men who know tires believe in the skill and sincerity of Goodrich tire making and the certainty of Goodrich Tires making good on the road.

How We Go At It

First we look into the battery to see if you put water in it.

Then we use the hydrometer which is the one reliable way of knowing the condition of its charge.

Then, if no special cause of trouble appears we put it on the line to see if it will take a charge.

But if there is plain indication of serious trouble we open the battery up and find out exactly what's what.

Don't trust your battery to amateurs or artists in guesswork, who claim they can tell inside condition by outside inspection.

Come here where you find adequate machines and apparatus to really inspect, charge and repair any battery.

YOUNGEST LAD IN THE WAR

Nebraska Boy, Now Aged 18, Saw Service in Allied Trenches.

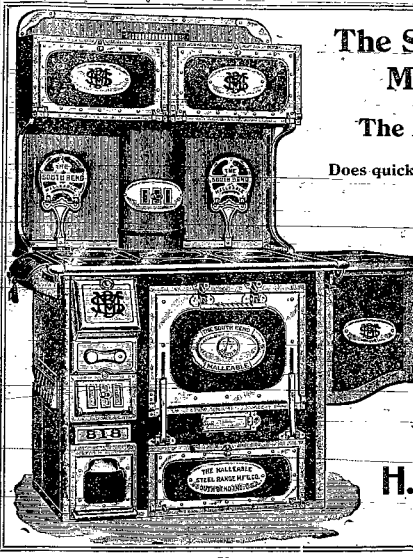

Hooper, Neb., Sept. 15.—The youngest lad who saw service in the trenches of the world was Raymond Burleigh who entered the army at 11 years of age and now, at 18, is stationed with the American army on the Rhine.

The boy is a Nebraska product, grandson of Raymond Burleigh, the well-known business man of Hooper. It is related of Raymond that when he was 2 years old he started grandpa Burleigh to the front, by meeting him at the depot and with the strength of a youth several times his age, seized his suitcase and carried it to the train. When he was 9 he looked to be 18. And when at 11 he looked for engineers to be 21. He filed his application at Lincoln, Neb., where he was then residing, but the attempt failed through the appearance of his mother on the scene armed with the family Bible which contained the birth record of the family.

Tries to Enlist. Then the family moved to Omaha and Raymond soon again tried at his fortunes looking to a military career. This time he had better luck. He was accepted. But just before he was shipped for a training camp, Mrs. Burleigh once more hove on the scene with the family birth record—and the military commission was null and void. St. Joseph, Mo., and Raymond soon afterwards found his way to Kansas City where he spent the next 18 years of age and this time got into the army. He was still short of 12 years, and he celebrated his twelfth birthday at Fort Sam Houston, Tex. Raymond was walking along the street one morning at Fort Sam Houston when an army nurse who had come from Nebraska happened to see him. Rushing to him before he could escape, the woman exclaimed: "Why if it isn't Raymond Burleigh!"

Uses Another Name. "Well, yes," said Raymond, relating to his toes. "I'm Raymond Burleigh, but not so loud—they don't know me by that name here, and besides I'm supposed to be a grown-up man in the army." In January, 1918, he went to France and his thirteenth birthday was celebrated in a dismal trench which the guns of war were booming. A few days before the armistice was signed, he was recalled from the front line for a period of rest. Later he was assigned with the army of occupation, for duty on the Rhine, and there he is today, hearty and well, and serving his country.

Born in 1905. Raymond was born in Lincoln, August 19, 1905. At 7 years of age he went to Hooper to see his grandfather. He would have passed anywhere for a boy of 8 or 10. One feat he performed on this occasion was called by Mr. Turnberg the other day, was that of carrying a 5-pound bale of linden twine from the rear of the store to a wagon in front.

Truman Parks came from Rock county Monday to attend the Sioux City fair with Leslie relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sneath left last week to visit relatives in the east and also attend the funeral of his only sister who lived in Pennsylvania.

Quite a few from this community attended the Wainhill fair. Some witnessed the shooting affair by the marshal and the bootleggers which occurred Friday forenoon.

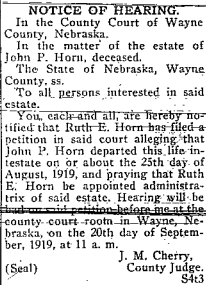

Mrs. Geo. Buskirk, st. Ray Buskirk, Mrs. Hartshorn and George returned Sunday from a western trip by automobile. Ray left Monday to assist with some farm work in Kimball county.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Buskirk, jr. and children and Mrs. W. C. Ring returned to Lincoln Saturday spending Sunday at W. C. McCarthy's at Greenwood and returning Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Herner returned from a delightful western trip on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Crissey are expected back by the middle of the week. They have all been gone about two weeks and report a very good time.

Misrepresenting the League. Chicago Daily News: The league is not an alliance to breed wary though it is not a good and sound league now as it will be after Austria, Germany—chained and democratized—and Russia, peace and reclaimed from red and white terror, are admitted as members, as they will be in time. The object of the league is to prevent, not to provoke or breed any war, and it is obvious to misrepresent the spirit of the covenant or of the men who drafted and signed it.

Needful Precaution. B. L. T. in the Chicago Tribune: When the nation's large and the army are so-vietized, the prudent citizen will put a stand of arms in his sitting room and provide his women folk with vials of prussic acid.

SPRAGUE TIRE ENDURANCE

The thing that will impress you most about Sprague Tires is their wearing quality. They do give you MORE mileage and cost you less in the end. This is because of the way they are made and the materials that go into them.

Sea Island Fabric

made from the strongest cotton that grows, is used exclusively in Sprague Tires. This fabric weighs 17 1/2 ounces to the square yard and has a pulling wearing strength of 900 pounds to the square yard. Compare this to the 10 to 14 ounce weight and 500 to 700 pound strength of ordinary fabrics and you will better understand why Sprague's give you so much more mileage.

Pure Para Rubber

the best of all rubber, goes into Sprague Tires. Tread and sidewalls of these tires are 75 per cent pure para rubber.

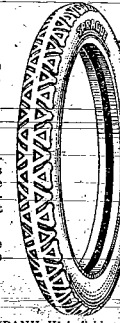

Oversize—Hand-Built

Sprague Tires have an extra ply of fabric. They have more rubber. That's why they weigh three to five pounds more than ordinary tires. And then, the better fabric and better rubber are built into Sprague Tires by hand.

There's no guess work about Sprague Tires. You can depend on Spragues to cost you far less in the end.

THE SUCCESSFUL SUPPER

Community House Given Encouraging Financial Boost.

The chicken pie supper of last Saturday night marks a successful beginning of the Women's club drive toward the Wayne community house. From all points of view it was a success in the excellent operation of town and country clubs, in the large number of patrons, and in the $249 raised, above expenses, to go toward the community house. Over five hundred people were served at the long tables set in the main body of the house.

The table set apart for the business men was filled early and from that time on for several hours, the waiting list at the door was not materially diminished.

During the time of serving, the House-Coleman orchestra entertained both guests and workers.

After the supper hour a program was given—Rev. S. X. Cross acted as chairman, introducing the other speakers, H. Kemp, F. S. Berry, and A. R. Davis gave short talks, praising the idea of the community house and pledging the support of the people of Wayne to the enterprise. Co-operation is a great factor in promoting community prosperity and good will was mentioned by all the speakers. Pleading solos were rendered by Mrs. Kate Baskerville, Mrs. T. T. Jones, Mrs. Leslie Ellis, Mrs. G. E. Francis, and Miss Fern Adams. It is to be remembered that all those who had helped to make the evening a success.

Each local club and charge of one table and was given credit for the money taken in at their table. The following ladies were chairmen:

Mrs. Willa B. Social Circle of 18 members, took in $41.50.

Mrs. J. C. Forbes, Rural Home of 15 members, took in $38.50.

Mrs. Ed Greer, Helping Hand of 18 members, took in $42.50.

Mrs. Verne Fisher, St. Mary's Guild acted with Mrs. Fred Gerry, chairman at two tables, taking in $92.00.

Mrs. Eric Thompson, Pleasant Valley of 12 members, worked with Mrs. Myers and Mrs. R. Rundell at the business men's table, where they took in $61.50.

entertainment was paid, $200.00 remained to be turned over to the Women's Club by the chairman.

Mrs. George Fattar at the Miss Verne Fisher acted as cashiers during the evening. Mrs. Henry Lee was general chairman and managed the entire affair. A great deal of credit should be given to the latter for her far-seeing plans and to all the ladies of both city and country, who so efficiently carried out those plans.

Lincoln Star Sued for Libel.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 14.—The Lincoln Daily Star has been made defendant in a $30,000 libel suit brought in the federal court of this district by Herbert H. Gaston, head of the Non-partisan league publication at St. Paul, Minn.

On June 18 the Daily Star ran an article which also appeared in several North Dakota and Minnesota papers. The article dealt with the personnel of the Non-partisan league leaders and their former political activities. There were short descriptive sketches of some fifteen of them—them, from A. C. The Lessmann Loader

(Less Men Loader)

Something New

The machine that pays the largest dividends of any farm machinery you have.

The loader, if used, will pay for itself in one season.

Will load any and all kinds of manure as fast as you can haul it out. We have loaded eighty-bushel spreaders in three minutes.

We will not be in position to fill all orders for this fall's use on the farm as we have too many ahead to be filled.

A number of loaders will come to this territory, also Wakefield, Concord, Laurel, Carroll and Altona.

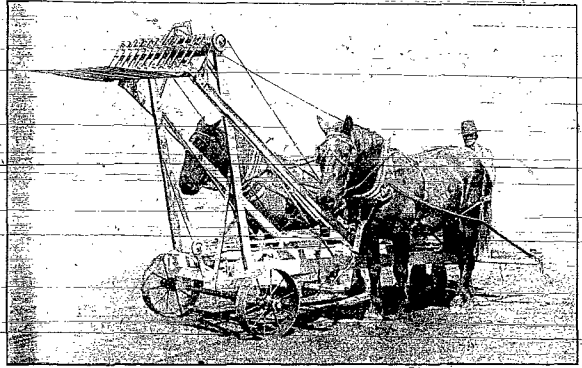

The loader has made a wonderful showing in a test at Des Moines, Ia., where it was tried out in a place where the loader would never be expected to work under any farm condition.

Everything about the loader is steel and cast-iron—only a few short pieces of oak planks on the machine.

Every tine on the fork is made of cold rolled steel shafting, capable of carrying 160 lbs. without injuring the fork in any way.

The only machine on the farm which is absolutely fool proof. We mean to say you can put any boy or farm hand on it and he cannot harm it in any way in use.

We would advise any one desiring a machine after seeing it work, to place his order for late fall or early spring work, as we will not be able to fill all orders as soon as you may think we can. In this case we would just ask a deposit of one hundred dollars and the balance when convenient. We will have agents soon, but at present you may place your order with H. F. Lessmann or Henry-W. Lessmann.

The only machine that will load manure on spreader or wagon without driver leaving his seat on the machine.

We also have a small amount of booster stock left which we issued only as an advertising matter to men who will help to demonstrate and advertise the loader.

This stock, no doubt, in one year will double its value. It also entitles the holder to a discount on his loader which makes it worth while for him. The stock sells for $250 per share, payable cash or terms.

This will last but a few weeks, if that long. It's going faster than we expected. When the amount set is reached, we will not issue any more stock of any kind in the Lessmann Loader Co. So if you wish some of this stock, act at once.

The parties named will also have stock application blanks for your convenience.

FROM HERALD EXCHANGES

Vital Notes From Nebraska's Livestock and Grain Industry.

Organized Campaign To Improve Livestock.

"Better sire—better stock" is the motto of the new campaign of the Department of Agriculture. On the first of October an organized crusade is to be put under way to improve all livestock in the United States simultaneously. The aim of those who have a charge is to institute the replacement of the many scrub domestic animals with pure bred or high grade stock, and to improve the quality of the pure breeds themselves. They are urging that only good pure bred sires be used. The individual herds are small, the prices are low comparatively. Because of the low productive capacity of the average American farm animal, many farmers are wasting time and money on animals that give less returns for the expenditure than would better stock. All kinds of stock will be included in the campaign.

Scarcity of Good Draft Horses.

The country is facing a scarcity of good draft horses and another year may see very high prices for good animals, say University Extension men. In fact, draft horses bring good prices right now and there are indications that they will be the highest next year. Good ones are in demand for export trade and buyers are finding them hard to obtain. Several geldings of the draft type are bringing $500 or more.

Champion Butter-producing Cow

The record of 1,055.7 pounds of butter produced in a year was made by the champion cow, an exhibit at the state fair. An ordinary cow produces only 140 pounds in the same time. A pile of pound-butter cartons was exhibited on one side of the cow (a Jersey), showing her year's work and on the other side, a pile representing her year's ration. The amount of feed necessary was a great surprise to many persons present.

Three Hogs at $11,000.

David City Press: D. L. Wallace recently paid $11,000 for three Duroc Jersey hogs, bought by him at the state fair, Columbus, at private sale. Two of them are Smooth Giant sows, the other is a junior yearling gilt of the Big Bone Orange strain. The sows were priced at $3,000 each and the gilt at $5,000.

The gilt was originally from Mr. Wallace's own herd, having been bred by him and sold in public sale last February for $2,300. The two sows were raised by Ahrens Bros. and were litter mates of the State fair exhibit by Emil Schwanck of Madison, that died on his way to the Iowa state fair at Des Moines August 22. Mr. Wallace exhibited these hogs at the Iowa state fair last week and the gilt won first premium in her class.

High Price for Cow and Calf Paid at Chadron.

A cow and calf, both pure bred Herefords, were sold at Chadron by C. H. Landy for $4,500. This is said to be the highest price ever paid in Nebraska for a cow and calf. Mousell Bros. of Cambridge, were the purchasers.

Profits in the Chicken Business.

A report on the chicken business for the past three months of 1916, by McKeely near Laurel, states that thirty-five hens laid 6,670 eggs in that time. The market price of the potato crop in Iowa and other Northwestern counties. Potato Commission men are predicting that they will bring the grower $340 per bushel this fall.

Potatoes at $3.00 a bushel.

Eighty to one hundred bushels per acre will be the average for the potato crop in Iowa and other Northwestern counties. Potato Commission men are predicting that they will bring the grower $340 per bushel this fall.

Progress of Nebraska Business.

The state treasurer recently issued a statement, which reports that there has been a gain in the deposits of the state banks during the past three months of $10,099,915. The reserve on hand is $62,400,796, or 22 per cent, whereas all that is required by law is $48,347,277, or 15 per cent.

High Prices in Nebraska Land Sales.

Prices, which were unheard of a few years ago, are prevailing at farm sales in Cumming county. A small tract near West Point, sold recently for $400 an acre, and prices ranging from $250 to $350 an acre have been paid for several large farms. One hundred and sixty acres east of Albion, sold last week for $550 per acre. Ed Perry bought the farm from F. J. Mullin of Albion.

Packing House for Albion.

The building of a packing house and live stock sale yards at Albion is being pushed by the present Nebraska men, extensively engaged in stock raising and feeding. The cost is estimated around $1,500,000. The project is being promoted by Hurd & Sweet, who were formerly engaged in the packing business in Chicago.

Thirteen Acres in Melons.

Thirteen acres in watermelons is the record of Tenik Hookstra, nine miles north of David City. His crop is a good one and he has gone into the marketing business.

Twenty-six Blocks of Albion Paved.

Albion is one of the few towns in the state that has had a success of getting paving projects put through this year. Three districts were finished this year, so that Albion now has a little more than twenty-six blocks of paved street. This covers the entire business section and extends out into the residence part.

Clubs of Cedar County at State Fair.

A splendid showing was made by the Boys' and Girls' Clubs of Cedar county at the state fair. The bread-making team, made up of Helen Eby, Ruth Barnhart, and Eunice Moran, gave a demonstration and captured five prizes out of ten entries. Thomas Morris of Ober, won third in the pig raising class, but lost his pig on the way home.

How Advertising Reduces Cost of Goods.

Advertising actually reduces the cost of goods. To dispense with advertising in order to reduce the cost of goods would be like going back to the floor and fall in threshing in order to reduce the cost of grain. Advertising is the time and effort-saving device in the sale of goods, just as power and machinery are in the production of goods. All goods, including new and unknown goods, would sell themselves, if given time enough—one satisfied customer might tell another. But time is an important factor in the cost of goods carrying charges in the way of interest and rent from the time of production to final sale. The speed with which goods are sold determines their price and in the other larger way reduces the carrying charges. The faster a stock of goods is sold, the lower the margin of profit the manufacturer or merchant is compelled to charge the consumer. The profit from doing business is not in the large profit on each sale, but rather in the number of profits from many sales. Many small profits from each sale makes one large profit. This principle is technically known as "turn over" and is the number of times a merchant sells his complete stock in a year—turns the stock into money.—Tekamah Journal.

Lodge Should Join Borah.

New York World: If the overwhelming majority of the league of nations "will breed war instead of securing peace," as Senator Lodge says, why accept it even with reservations? The reservations will not keep it from breeding wars if that is its object. If Senator Lodge believes what he says he should join Senator Borah in opposing any kind of league.

If he is willing to accept it with reservations, it is plain that he does not believe what he says.

Lincoln Journal: The congressional committee appointed to investigate the high cost of living has spent a lot of our good money and ascertained not a thing of which we were not already perfectly aware.

It is said mosquitoes are not chewing for shorter hours or treating us better. They are apparently satisfied with what they are getting and how they are getting it.

Several northeast-Nebraska towns are operating under the old time, and a Wayne citizen suggests that this town ought to do the same thing, not waiting for the change to be made the last Sunday in October.

For the salvation and detection of ultimate consumers we would suggest that the buying end of the selling branch bearing information as to the decline in the price of pork.

The Boston police have gone on a strike and are trying to arouse sympathetic strikers. The metropolitan policeman may claim to be underpaid but not overworked. When the Boston police abandoned their posts they showed a disregard for duty that ought to permanently separate them from their jobs.

The Lincoln Daily Star seems to be gaining ground, being able to attract some attention and consideration outside of the state. It has been said that the editor, Mr. Minn, non-partisan leaguer, who claims it will require that amount of money to repair damages inflicted by an article published in the Lincoln paper.

Returned officers, have requested Council Bibles for the purpose of stopping midnight attacks on women in their homes. Twenty such attacks were made in one week, and a vigilance committee was deemed advisable. It might be wholesome and effective to have a committee of Wayne citizens to stop the practice of young men in driving up in automobiles and trying to force their attentions on young women whom they had not seen before.

The charge is published that railroad passes have been raised, and that $3000 of them are now in use. This report is, in fact, a powerful argument against government ownership. Especially in view of the increased cost of operation and the increased burden on the traveling and freight-shipping public, no one would have suspected that the railroad branch of the government would yield to the long discredited use of passes. If the report is true, it is most unfortunate. If it is not, it should be refuted and explained.

After a boy is born and runs the gamut of ionic measles, 33 mumps, he finally grows up enough to send to school. His parents and teachers regard him with a good deal of anxiety and after a dozen years he is graduated with more or less honor. One boy becomes useful and successful and an ornament to society. Another, with the same opportunities and the same consideration, becomes a nuisance and an outcast. In the latter case it has been taught to be honest and orderly but the advice didn't take—as one would say in speaking of vaccination. He likes to do things that are against the law and is delighted in doing injury to others. Inconceivable as it may seem to tender and sympathetic people, he is indifferent to the pleadings and heartaches of those who love him and want to help him. He is cold and brutal. He gets into trouble in school, then gets into the police court, and district court and finally into the penitentiary. What to do with a thoughtless boy who has gone into training for the inevitable felon's cell is a huge problem.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS.
The proposed League of Nations is favored by a large number of men with advisable reservations; though discussions the past few weeks have shown the opinion in the average mind as to the exact course the country should follow. The idea that the present covenant ought to be adopted without change and without full understanding seems presumptuous. If a man offers an investment, and says it must be taken now or not at all, one will pass it up entirely. The idea of the president, wishing to commit this country to a new policy unreservedly, without the opportunity to change as may suit the judgment of others than himself, is an assumption of more latitude than one man, even the chief executive, ought to expect to exercise.
Replying to objections that Great Britain was given a preponderance of voting power by the covenant,

President Wilson said in a speech at Spokane that it would make no difference under the rule requiring a unanimous vote. That is manifestly no answer at all. If it is just as well to have one as six votes, why give Great Britain the appearance of greater power? For mere looks, why not give the same number of votes to each country? The president's explanation does not explain.

Another source of discouragement is the quotation from Secretary Lansing, while he was in Paris, that the American people would never accept the covenant if they knew the conditions. If he is correctly quoted, he must have been prompted by good reasons which the American people should know before making the contract. If it is incorrectly quoted, the facts should be made known.
In considering the league of nations, people generally are not so partisan that they would be led by prejudice to favor the wrong thing. They would bring wide participation and support any course giving greatest promise for the security and perpetuity of the United States. People who have favored a league of nations in the hope of preventing future wars will be slow to unqualifiedly endorse an agreement that would give advantage to Europe and that would make the United States an instrument to be used at the will and behest of foreign lands. The United States makes a bargain it means more than a "scrap of paper" and, therefore, it should be entered into after free discussion and full understanding. The cry that "chaos" will follow acceptance or rejection or weakening of the present treaty weakens the position assumed.

MR. TAIT'S POSITION.
Many people have been influenced to believe in a league of nations by the judgment of ex-President W. H. Taft. While he is not entirely correct in such a judgment, he believes some kind of a pact should be entered into by the nations of the world to lessen the possibility of future wars. Referring to Mr. Taft, the Lincoln Journal says:

Mr. Taft has been reasonable in his attitude toward the peace treaty and is naturally anxious to keep his party from falling into an untenable position. His view of the purpose of the senate committee's amendments and reservations can doubtless be taken, therefore, as a carefully balanced judgment. After analyzing the committee's proposals, one by one, Mr. Taft concludes that:

"The reservation of the foreign relations committee is in effect a declaration on the part of the United States to become bound in any way by a obligation of the nature or far as it provides a union with other nations to secure the peace of the world."

Mr. Taft adds that any senator who votes for the committee's amendments "votes to defeat the league." The amendments, then, constitute an effort to stab the treaty in the back while kissing it in the face. Mr. Taft thinks, and so would most other men, that it would be "a much more candid and courageous course" to vote against the whole treaty as Knox, Borah, and Johnson propose to do.

Granted Release.
Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 17.—Gov. Samuel R. McKelvie today granted a reprieve extending to January 9, 1920, the date for the electrocution of Alton B. Cole of Palmer, Neb., and Allen V. Grampp, both of whom are under sentence to the electrocution next Friday in connection with the death of trammee's mother-in-law, Mrs. Lula G. Voght, residing near Elba, who was shot and killed in 1917. The state at present has no electrical equipment with which to electrocute the two men.

The Cause.
Sixty in Lincoln Journal: There is always something new coming up. Dr. Evans has discovered and copyrighted the fact that "Hypersusceptibility" as a cause of asthma. Worse than that, it aggravates every ill in the category of humors and ailments. It is an ailment in and of itself. It looks more ominous and threatening in print than hydrophobia. We have Dr. Evans who suggests if you open a window. There it goes, that same hyperwhatevocalit which causes asthma, and influenza, and colic, and nervousness, and jealousy, and jaundice. If you have hypersusceptibility, you are out just that much.

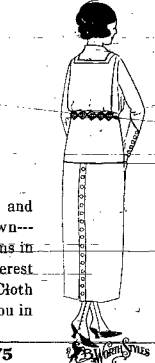

Why the Senate Should Vote.
Webster City Freeman Journal: With ratification, the country and congress are giving their attention to some important domestic problems; problems that are growing more complicated every day; problems that demand our best thought and most serious reflection of the entire nation; problems that have been put in the background by the treaty debate. There are of course, of course, importance, and the senate ought to dispose of the treaty and give attention to them, to the end that what legislation might be possible to alleviate conditions here at home may be enacted without unnecessary delay.

Minneapolis Journal: Mr. Campers advised the Boston police to end their strike. But what was it ever begun for?

Are You Looking For Apparel Suggestions?

'Haven't made up your mind whether you want a coat or suit? Don't know what color you like best? Come in and let our splendid new stock of coats and suits help you decide. We will be glad to help you try on any number of garments even if you are not ready to buy. See yourself in the new styles and you will know better what to plan on buying.

Suits are here—dozens of them. Many are the little touches and dashes of style that will appeal to you on the various models shown—the low hanging pockets sometimes double tiered—the new designs in embroidery—all these and many other new features will interest you. Silvertone, Gaberdine, Tricotine, Heather Mixtures, Suede Cloth and Serges in the most wanted shades, all make their appeal to you in this collection.

Prices are moderate, $35 to $57.50; a few at $60 to $75

Wool dresses of Serge and Tricotine have come to be one of the most useful outer garments to be had. A pretty worsted dress of good material is easy to care for, always ready to put on, good looking enough to wear on almost any occasion, warm enough for our rugged winter weather, and serviceable enough to last two seasons at least. We have a splendid assortment to show you. 50 new ones came Tuesday.
All priced very reasonably at $20.00 to $37.50; a few at $40.00 to $50.00

A Favorite Among the New Coats

This type of coat inside up in the new waves of deep rich, fur-plushes is making a great hit.
We have had a fine sale on these short garments, both here and in our special out-of-town sales. City stores report a big demand for them.
A good part of their popularity is due to the richness of the new fur-plushes of which they are made.

This beautiful material very closely resembles real seal skin and your coat will have almost the warmth without the weight of real fur.
They come in several grades at $35.00 to $85.00, according to the material used. Come in and try them on. We have dozens of them at present. An early choice is advisable because there is a great scarcity of these fur fabrics and no more garments are to be had.

Materials of Beauty for making into Dressy Waists and Skirts

Sun Ray silk is the handsomest material shown this season for making into separate skirts. It has a deep rich tone with alternating squares or wide stripes of rough surfaced and satin finished silk to give it life and style. Two yards suffice for a skirt and no trimming is required. We show only one pattern of each design, so your skirt will be individual. Price $10 per yard.

For utility skirts handsome plaids are most favored. The very finest ones of soft-lustrous woolen material in the richest color combinations are $5.00 a yard. No two patterns alike and fifty-four inches wide.
Other bright stylish plaids in wool and cotton mixed materials, very serviceable and good looking are priced at 85c to $1.25 yard.

For your dressiest waists we show several individual patterns in handsomely figured and flowered silk georgettes. The material shades are Taupe, Brown and Navy to match your suit or skirt and the figures and flowers are in bright harmonizing colors that lend style and distinction. Two yard patterns are priced $7.00 and $8.00.

Plain georgettes and crepe de chines are as greatly favored as ever for separate waists and in addition to two very good qualities of these materials, we have the colored-beads and silk beads for trimmings.

Bargains in Household Dry Goods

We bought a full case of 2-1-4 yards bleached sheet-dier from the mill two months ago at a price considerably lower than is asked today. You can buy this sheeting while this case lasts at a very good saving.

Outing flannel time is here and we have a surprise for you in a best grade outing flannel at a very low price. We couldn't buy this flannel today for the price at which we are selling it. Supply your outing flannel wants before we are sold out.

Good grades of white mercerized table damask make an excellent substitute in appearance for real linen if a little starch is used when laundering and they wear fully as well. We have five pretty patterns in an excellent grade of damask which we contracted for last spring and they are priced at 40c a yard below the present market. This is an exceptional bargain.

A shipment of bed spreads just received were bought sometime ago and we have priced them on the "old" market. There are some beauties in the lot and a fine assortment to choose from.

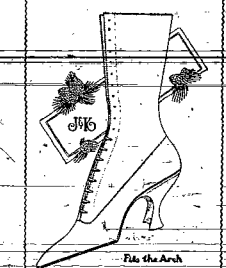

Our traveler's sample blankets are the biggest bargain in the store. The sizes are extra large and there are dozens of the prettiest plaids, in wool nap and wool blankets we have ever had. We get traveler's samples at one-third off because they are samples and so we are able to make very low prices.

Johnson at Lincoln.
Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 17.—In addressing a large and enthusiastic gathering here tonight, Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, on the 132d anniversary of the signing of the constitution of the United States at Philadelphia, denounced the league of nations covenant as an infamous document, and declared that its adoption would be tantamount to throwing the country into an international confederation and deprive the republic of its future independence and action. It would, he said, substitute misty internationalism for nationalism.

Tanlac Ends Ten Years Rheumatism for Farmer Clark—Gains 18 Pounds.

"There; that's the stuff that set my stomach and kidneys right and drove the rheumatism out of my joints and after I had suffered torture for over ten years," said L. H. Clark, a well known farmer of Brimfield, Iihoa, as he pointed to the Tanlac display in the Suttill & Case store at Peoria, recently.

"My neighbors will tell you," he continued, "just any time you ask them that they never saw a man come out like I have. Why, I have gained eighteen pounds in weight and can do more work than at any time in ten years. Before I started on Tanlac my stomach just seemed to be almost completely played-out. Every bite I would eat would get as sour as vinegar and pretty soon gas would form and cause such awful cramping pains that I could hardly stand. Then I would get so dizzy that everything seemed to be whirling around. The minute I would lie down at night and close my eyes, everything seemed to start turning over. I finally got so I couldn't eat much of anything and I was so run-down and weak that I couldn't work regular. I always managed to drag around, and do the little work about the barn until my kidneys got-out of order and I got the rheumatism, and then I was laid up for weeks at a time. I've seen the time when I couldn't have walked from the house to the barn to feed the stock. Last year I was so crippled up with rheumatism. My legs were swollen up to twice their natural size and I couldn't take a step without just suffering like 'blue blazes'."

"My back was in such a bad shape with rheumatism that if I stooped over to pick up anything I would just see stars, and there were weeks at a time when I had to be gentle, quiet and I could hardly dress myself and went down so fast that no one thought I would ever be well again. Well, I was just about ready to give up the fight when I got last fall an across this Tanlac. After I commenced taking this medicine I soon started gaining weight and it was just what I needed and I never allowed my self to miss a dose. Well, the results are that I am now perfectly sound and well and know what good health is for the first time in ten years. I can rate just anything as long as my stomach feels just like a new one. My kidneys don't bother me any more and I never feel a sign of rheumatism, and I sleep so sound that the horses might kick the barn down and I don't believe I would hear them. Yes, sir, it's Tanlac and nothing else that put me on my feet and I appreciate it enough to tell the world what I think about it."

TANLAC is sold in Wayne.

What Is a Luxury?
Sioux Falls Argus-Leader. Now the U. C. L. is held at the door of the workman who, it is said, is too fond of luxuries. Well, at the rate the idle rich have been found of them for years, there must be something rather pleasant in indulging in them. By the way, just anything as long as my stomach and economist give me a list of them, and we shall know which one we want to pick out for ourselves.

The Belonged-Packers.
Atmantic City Journal. The packers, threatened with being "taken over" by the government, sued as practitioners by the department of justice, are now to be attacked by the British government. How'd you like to be a packer?

Improved Trade Tone.
Sioux City Journal. The tone of trade was more optimistic during the last seven days of disturbance for more than six weeks prior. The advance of the fall buying season is reflected in the increased orders from retailers, especially in the northwest and west, where the buying ability of the people is greater than in the industrial centers of the east. The depreciation of the cotton crop has reduced the present and prospective buying ability of the south. But the shading of the crop yields in the west is more influential on eastern business than on the local buying in the sections where the shading is most pronounced.

There is a pronounced quiet in some large primary lines in the east, due to the labor unrest and the possibilities of further disturbances of this sort, as well as to the uncertainty and the unsettled condition of foreign exchange. The nervousness which is being felt by business men of a campaign for lower prices has worn off as the results fail to shatter business base. It is becoming more apparent, however, that the slight decline in prices, which the grouping of statistics shows, is the result of deflation of the currency instead of the current of profits. The deflation will require time to work out and the changes in prices will be slow and steady. They will not disturb general business. The fear that prices might break and result in a business panic, which was entertained by many business men, is passing.

The improvement in trade, in the final analysis, is due to the change of reasonable buying rates. There is no pronounced development in the general prospects of trade enlargement. So long as the menace of strikes hangs over the industrial world, there will be little inspiration for increased operations or enlarged trade possibilities. So long

Chesterfield CIGARETTES

-of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos-blended

Satisfy?
I'll say so!

THIS Chesterfield cigarette does more than please the taste. It gives smokers a new kind of cigarette enjoyment, the one thing they've always wished for in a cigarette—

Chesterfields let you know you're smoking—they go straight to your smoke-spot—they satisfy.

It's because of the blend—an exactly proportioned blend of the finest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos. And the formula for this blend is the manufacturer's secret. It cannot be copied or even closely imitated.

Today—ask your dealer for "these cigarettes that satisfy."

NOTE
Chesterfield's moisture-proof package keeps them firm and fresh, whatever the weather.

For Maturation.
Lincoln Journal: The Presbyterian conference at Lake Geneva goes on record for the prompt ratification of the peace treaty. The American Bar Association has done likewise. Organized labor also has a single important responsible group anywhere taken the other side. Apparently not.

New York World: Since the signing of the armistice 900,000 aliens have returned from this country to their former homes in southern Europe. Their failure to come back will prove a loss to American industry. But if they stay, are they to become producers in their new homes, or drones? That is a question of considerable economic interest to Europe.

GIVE THE COUNTY A BOOST

Competition or a striving for superiority gives vitality and life to any business. Why should it not be used to increase the vitality of one of the most universal of businesses—farming? The time has gone by when farmers are content to carry on their own industries on their own land, indifferent as to what happens are doing.

Many agencies have combined in the last few years to unite farmers for their mutual benefit. One of the most widely known and important of these is the county fair. The small town fair has often been derided and mocked by unthinking persons, as a sort of fourth rate performance, made up principally of poor shows, fakes, pink lemonade, and a merry-go-round.

Perhaps some of the earlier ones might have answered to this description, but those being held in Nebraska during the last few weeks are not of this type.

The first big purpose, and also advantage, of the fair is to develop, by comparison, a spirit of competition. Farmer Brown, who has been at it for over thirty years, sees the blue ribbon for corn production carried off by young Jones, just out of agricultural school. On the other hand, Brown's method of hog feeding, tested by time, may have produced hogs superior to those led by a newer system. Both Brown and Jones go home with the determination to do better next year. Multiply their resolutions by the thousands who attend a fair and it is easy to see the results on scores of farms.

Cities which have large manufacturing plants advertise them widely. Why should not counties, where pure bred stock and the best of grain is raised, be proud of their products and use them to advertise their section of the state? Community pride can easily become one of the greatest of forces for increasing prosperity.

A campaign is to be started the first of October by the United States department of agriculture for raising the standard of live stock throughout the entire country. There is no more effective way to assist breeders to understand the importance of pure bred stock than a county fair. Here all kinds of stock are on exhibition where their good and bad points can be observed. Experienced cattle dealers are on hand to discuss the advantages of various breeds for that part of the country. The man who wishes to start his herd will have ample opportunity for buying pure bred stock.

Is Wayne county to be given this boost? The Pure Bred Stock Breeder's association, Commercial club of Wayne, and Woman's club say that it is. What will the rest of the county do to make the Wayne County Fair a success?

Local Chiropractors to Move Into New Home and Office Building

Six Successful Years in Wayne --- The Record of Doctors Lewis and Lewis

DR. A. D. LEWIS

BOTH Mr. and Mrs. Lewis are graduates of the Palmer Chiropractic School, Davenport, Ia. Shortly after their marriage in 1912, they came to Wayne. They commenced at the bottom to build up their business, fitting up their office and rooms as best they could. The practice grew as their patients began to number from thirty to fifty a day. Their office and adjusting rooms today show a great improvement over the first year. The new tables and equipment that are installed are the best to be had. They expect to be able, within a few weeks, to move into their new combined home and office building. The doctors will then have ideal conditions, under which to work.

NEW CHIROPRACTIC OFFICE-HOME

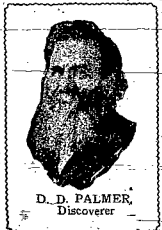

The lower floor is given over to office. Much better service can be given patients than in the old location. Eighty patients have been handled in one day, but the doctors expect to be able soon to serve one hundred.

What is Chiropractic?

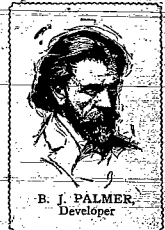

D. D. Palmer, father of B. J. Palmer, present head of the Davenport, Ia., school, founded the theory and practice about twenty-five years ago. The chiropractors assume that all nerves of the body pass out the spinal column through the openings between the different sections of the spinal column or the backbone; that when one of these backbone segments gets out of place, it impinges the nerves which pass through between it and its neighbor. This impinging or pinching of the nerves deranges the part of the body to which these nerves are tributary and disease results. They say that if you replace or adjust the misplaced section of the backbone, it will relieve the pressure on the squeezed nerve and remove the cause of the disease, and nature will do the curing.

They align the sections of the backbone with the hand and from this operation comes the name Chiropractic. It is a word with a Greek foundation and means the hand, or pertaining to the hand. Now, it must be understood that when the Chiropractor adjusts the disarranged joints of the backbone, their natural tendency is toward the place of dislocation and they will gradually work back to the old-time place which caused the disturbance. For that reason, one adjustment does not effect a permanent cure. But an adjustment followed up by a series of adjustments tends towards fixed and permanent alignment. Perfect and permanent alignment, the Chiropractors say, is a guarantee of health.

The word "Chiropractic" affords a good illustration of the theory that it is itself a backbone with four joints and has to be adjusted like this—Ki-Ro-Prak-Tik—before it can be pronounced.

CONNECTS FRANCE AND SPAIN
Tunnel Recently Completed Does Away With Necessity of Crossing Pyrenees Mountain Peaks.

"There are no more Pyrenees" was once an expression of high political significance in France. It is now a reality, because while all Europe was involved in the struggle to crush militarism, the engineers kept blasting away at the heart of the mountains dividing France and Spain and have constructed a tunnel that obviates the necessity of climbing 5,500 feet of mountain peaks before crossing the boundary. A railway has been installed in this tunnel which connects Pully, Spain, with Az. France. These two towns are 20 miles apart, but the railway is not that long.

By no impossible grades, it leads from the lower levels of the pass from Pully, France, to the upper valley of the Arles, near where Pully, France, is situated. It also goes down to the valley of the great river Ebro, along which runs a system of railways and canals, making excellent connections with Saragossa and many smaller places in the heart of Spain, and with the Mediterranean port of Barcelona, Spain.

Hispano-Portuguese from the Mediterranean region of France have had to use a carriageway through the pass from Pully, where the railway from Pully, France, to Pully, Spain, and the journey from the valley of the Arles river was not so easy.

BACK SALVATION ARMY IN HOME SERVICE WORK

$12,000 Asked to Carry on This Great Service in Nebraska.

An important campaign both locally and nationally, is to be carried on from September 21 to 27, by the Salvation Army. They are conducting a National Home Service campaign this year to raise the budget which will be necessary if the work is to go on under altered conditions.

Formerly, the Salvation Army has been compelled to spend half its energy raising money to carry on its work. Those in charge of this drive believe that the time has come when the Army can be used to much better advantage by continuing to serve men but by collecting funds.

This is the first year that the executive committee of national, state, and local committees who are preparing to put across the drive.

Who does the Army ask this large amount? It is to ask of common knowledge that the Salvation Army rendered one of the greatest services to humanity in the world in France. It had been doing an important work for years. The war public to learn that an efficient and economical organization it is.

In order to carry on the army activities and to help to solve some of the most vital problems of the day, they must have ready funds.

Neither the driver or passenger was injured. The fair association got busy at once and secured J. E. Chaldek, of Tynal, S. D., with his army plane. He was kept busy taking the passengers for a trip through the air. He also gave two exhibitions, seemingly impossible stunts common to aviators.

Threated Rubber Insulation in Overseas Service. Slowly but surely the hidden history of the great part played by American manufacturers in the Great War is coming out.

No one realizes the important part which storage batteries played in the method used by A. J. Gurnon, the local Willard expert yesterday, and the Willard company takes pride in the fact that its product was limited to size, weight, and in an aircraft, these limitations are still greater. Reliability was a matter of life and death.

The Willard battery also made batteries for gun firing, for radio work, for the signal corps, for the Aldas Lamp, a hand signaling device invented by the English. A very interesting type was made for use on tanks and the tank corps with their slogan "treat 'em rough" made no exception in their use of batteries. This tank battery was really two separate units, one for driving and the other, and smaller one, for ignition.

"Our factory received orders from Uncle Sam for over 140,000 of this different type," said Mr. Gurnon, which were all equipped with Threated Rubber Insulation, an exclusive Willard and Gurnon invention. Threated Rubber is an insulation in storage batteries lay in the fact that a battery could be kept in charge for long periods of time in cold storage.

LAND NEAR WAYNE IS SOLD TO HOME PEOPLE

Total of 2,160 Acres Brings Average of $293 at Auction.

This week has witnessed three land sales, attended by farmers and business men, at northwestern points of Nebraska in the future of this section was demonstrated by the final purchase of all the farms up for sale by men who live comparatively close to the property.

The sale of 1,700 acres belonging to the Butterfield company of Norfolk took place Monday afternoon, four miles south of Wayne. The average price paid for these farms was $241 an acre. The high mark set in bidding was $320 an acre. One improved half section for $245, an improved section for $266. Different prices paid for buyers, which were sold separately were $28, $25, $24, and $24. All the purchasers were farmers living in this section of the state.

Four hundred acres of Wayne county land were sold at auction on Tuesday, September 16. The auction was held at the home of Mrs. S. Brown half section, four miles south of Wayne, was auctioned off first. The method was in the following manner, an average price. Bids were first up on the east quarter until the "high dollar mark" of $30 was reached. The interest was 10 percent. The west quarter was bid up to $27.50. The average of these two prices, or $28.75, was then used as a starting point for bidding on both quarters.

The farm finally went to R. H. Cross of Laurel for $08 an acre. The livestock interest was offered by the crowd of 300 who watched the sale. Some business men were present, but the largest percentage were Wayne county farmers. The Chris Holst farm of eighty acres, eight and one-half miles south of Wayne, was sold in the same manner immediately after the first sale. The crowd was smaller, but the interest no less keen. Charles Holst was the owner. The price was $30 an acre. This is a highly improved farm on a government road. D. H. Cunningham was auctioneer at both sales, and R. W. Ley clerk.

Brakeman Drowns.

Norfolk Daily News, Sept. 17.—Frank Williams, a forty-seven railroad brakeman, recently returned from service in France, was the 19th engineer train, was drowned in the Northwestern gravel pit pool at Atkinson after 11:45 Tuesday night. After dragging the deep water for many minutes, he covered the body at 9:30 Wednesday morning.

Williams was employed as brakeman on an extra freight west in charge of Conductor Clyde D. Baker. The freight crew was engaged in assembling cars at the pit and at 11:45 the conductor left in the absence of Williams. One supposition was that he had left the train, but later the theory that he may have been drowsed was advanced, and the dragging of the water began. At 6 o'clock Wednesday morning the report reached Norfolk that the body had not been recovered, and an effort was being made to find him at Atkinson where his mother was said to live.

Later in the morning his tracks leading to the edge of the deep pool were found. He had either gone to the pool for water, or else, wandered off in the dark and fallen into the water.

Williams enlisted in the Norfolk company of June 24, 1916, and served on the Mexican border and in France. His application with the railroad gives his mother, Mrs. J. Williams, of Atkinson, Neb. He had been employed irregularly by the railroad since 1912.

To Fight League of Nations. Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 17.—A Nebraska branch of the League for the Preservation of American Independence was organized here last evening, when men of nearly 50 shades of political opinion to the number of about a hundred gathered for a session that was concluded in a few hours. The principal address was made by former Lieut. Gov. Edgar Howard, a democrat, who branded the League of Nations covenant as an attempt to make America into a tail for the European kite. A declaration of principles was adopted which substance itself a condition to all attempts to bind the United States to guard boundaries of European and Asiatic nations, and protests against the League of Nations entered into any contract which would take part in future controversies and wars of the world.

SERMON ON DEMOCRACY

Discussion of After-the-War Lessons Needed in America.

The difference between the doctrine of the modern German empire and the belief of the Christian church was strikingly portrayed by Rev. A. H. Francis, who spoke at the Methodist church on last Sunday evening. His subject was "The Philosophy of Democracy." He presented the high type of individualism found in this age with the emphasis and co-operation necessary to a true democracy. As three examples of individualism found in America at the present time, who are looking only for their own good and not for the good of the whole, he cited the financier, the laboring man, and the negro.

Every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost, was the slogan used after in his speech to trace out the great fault of our democracy. The only way in which this can be corrected is by a wider use of the golden rule—do unto others as you would be done by.

College of Agriculture.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 16.—The University of Nebraska college of agriculture is preparing for a large enrollment of students, according to Dean E. A. Burnett. The dean said that inquiries from prospective students pointed to unusual interest this year. He credits this in part to the increased selling price of land in the fall, saying that it is impossible to obtain left to harvest the crop. Registration in the college necessity of increasing its rent paying power, agricultural education is increasingly valuable. Dean Burnett said. "It is the business of the college to point out the best methods of obtaining maximum production. The present price of land means that it must be farmed in the most scientific way in order to give returns. It is only natural that young men turn to the college of agriculture to prepare for such a costly venture as farming is today." Many letters coming to the college ask about entering school later in the fall, saying that it is impossible to obtain left to harvest the crop. Registration in the college agriculture begins tomorrow. The school of agriculture, which admits anyone with a common school education, opens October 10. Special four weeks courses in tractors, trucks, automobiles, and farm shop begin September 29. Registration may be made in these courses any Monday, and they are open to all. The town of Allen has recently moved into its new school building, completed at a cost of over $30,000. The new structure belongs to a consolidation of five districts. Prof. A. V. Teed, now head of a department in the Wayne State Normal, says he talked consolidation to the five districts ten years ago when he was superintendent of Lincoln county schools. He says "the idea was not well received at that time, but that it was generally opposed. Due consideration and reflection, however, brought a majority to favor the proposition, and now the sentiment is pronounced unanimous. An excellent new building has testifies to the progressive spirit. Mr. Teed thinks Allen is a live and promising place. It is expected

Kit Carson County Colorado

A greater number of actual settlers have bought land here than in all the other counties in eastern Colorado put together because it is the best land in eastern Colorado. Eastern Colorado means:

Good Soil. Ideal Climate. Good Water.

No Hot Winds. Plenty of Rainfall.

For the Homeseeker and Investor.

Eastern Colorado can boast of a good climate, mild winters and summers, that are not as hot and sultry as those of Eastern Nebraska. The territory is now being rapidly settled and in a few years the price of land will rise to $200 an acre. With as careful farming as is done in Nebraska one can produce on this eastern Colorado land as large and as good crops as are produced here. This territory is on a main line railroad from Denver to Chicago and market facilities are good. If you buy now when this land is selling so cheaply, you will find in a few years that you have taken on a paying investment.

Eastern Colorado land will boom as has Eastern Nebraska land and it will sell at four times the price of today

Control of Cut Worms.

E. T. Williamson of Boone county in the Nebraska Farmer: On a drive through the Lincoln by auto and found some perfectly wonderful roads, wonderful in that one could stay in the car and drive. They were so very rough. Three other features were decidedly noticeable—the few cattle we saw in the pastures, the small number of spring pigs and the small amount of hay. We also noticed a great number of small threshing outfits. They seem to be the popular size now and a great number of them were run by small tractors.

The corn along the route was very spotted, one field being in very good condition and the next one being very badly damaged by the hot weather. I believe this is due largely to the care of the ground.

My experience with cut worms this spring may be of value to your readers. I disced my ground thoroughly, then plowed it as deep as practicable, dragged it twice, planted it and then dragged it again. I do not think I had a dozen hills cut by the worms and I had all kinds of ground to work with—corn ground that had not been pastured at all, corn ground that had been hogged down, rye stubble that had been hatted out the year before and the volunteer rye was a great stand. My neighbors had to replant from one to three times and had practically the same kind of ground.

After taking a good look at the outside of the capitol building in Lincoln I must say that I am glad to contribute the small amount of taxes, it will require to build a building that is fit to be seen. The present building is "sure a 'front."

High Costs Have Increased Telephone Expenses

The telephone industry has been affected by the same conditions which produced higher prices for all of the necessities of life.

The cost of telephone operation has steadily advanced because of the increased cost of material to the telephone company and the increased living expenses of employees.

For several years there has been a steady increase in the price of nearly everything used in the telephone business.

To meet increased expenses there has been a general increase in telephone rates throughout the country.

NEBRASKA TELEPHONE COMPANY

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

From The Wayne Herald of Sept. 18, 1902.

The Wayne Roller Mills paid 60c a bushel for good old milling wheat in September, 1902.

A train load of cattle from the hills passed through Wayne Sunday morning en route for Chicago.

Miss Rose Biegler of the Herald force went to Bloomfield Tuesday to attend the wedding of her brother.

W. Umb left for North Platte by morning. He is very disappointed with his possessions there.

Sunday, September 20, ends the fifth year of Rev. Thomas Birkhoff's pastorate of the Methodist church of this city.

Mrs. E. S. Blair entertained a few young folks Tuesday evening in honor of a nephew who is visiting at their home.

Perry & Porterfield and Lund & Gilber-leave shipped in and disposed of about twenty five carloads of livestock during the last week of the month.

There will be a large apple crop in Polk county this year. They are almost as cheap as "Morphy's" and sell for 40 cents a bushel in the market.

The price of soft coal in Chicago has risen to $6.00 a ton, as compared with $5.50 a ton. The price is quoted by some dealers as high as $25 a ton.

Gotlieb Niesenthal who murdered his divorced wife and father-in-law and wounded his mother-in-law, was captured at Winside after an exciting chase.

Chicago Markets: Cattle, common to prime, $4.00 to $7.75; hogs, $4.25 to $8.00; wheat, No. 2 red, 73c to 75c; corn, No. 30, 50c to 60c; oats, No. 2, 25c to 36c; butter 18c to 21c; fresh eggs, 17c to 19c; potatoes 30c to 36c.

Quail hunting occurred Sept. 11 and 12. This no doubt did some damage to the late corn, but from the best reports which the Herald is able to obtain, a very large portion of the crop was too far along to be injured seriously.

On September 12 occurred the death of one of our best men, Wayne Scadden. He was 61 years old and an old soldier. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at the Baptist church under the charge of the G. A. R. post.

From Ponca Journal, Sept. 18, 1902:

A party went out on a hunt into the Logan valley, last week. The party comprised two Englishmen, two Americans, and a Canadian, Mr. Pierce of Sioux City, and Mr. West of this place. They returned last evening. They had a grand time and saw killed all chickens and a variety of other game.

Our old friend Kiplinger, the witty and brilliant local poet orator of Lincoln, Nebraska, has this to say in relation to Northern Nebraska:

"There is no doubt that a great many people in Southern Nebraska have a great misconception of the character of the northern part of the state. In our estimation it is one of the prettiest countries that the creator ever fashioned, and it contains a population who are just as good as the country."

Following is a list of names to be slowly but surely becoming more vigorous and lively. Candidates are frequently to be met with. As we are informed, however, only one person has been elected to the same office.

If we had the majority of public affairs, we would create offices enough to employ every man who wished to fill them. We would give every man who wished to fill it, an immense dignity, but considering that the honor of holding the position would be sufficient compensation, we would not allow one of them to draw a cent of pay—thus would economy and patriotism go hand in hand.

Koenigstein Asks Rehearing, Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 13.—Arthur Koenigstein, former county attorney of Madison county, has asked the circuit court for a rehearing of the case in which the high court sustained his conviction on a charge of accepting money from an alleged resort keeper.

Counsel for Mr. Koenigstein complain that testimony of Nannie Meyers, chief witness at the first trial, was allowed to be read at the second trial when no effort was made to secure her personal appearance although three days before she was in the country.

In the motion for rehearing it is contended that the supreme court in its opinion and decision attempts to lay an overbroad or incorrect fundamental rule of law that unless it affirmatively appears that the witness is beyond the jurisdiction of the court or unless it affirmatively appears her absence was procured by the defendant, her testimony at a second trial cannot be admitted to the jury, under any rule announced in any court.

The Whole Secret of A Better Tire

Simply a Matter of the Maker's Policies

This you will realize—once you try a Brunswick— that a super-tire is possible only when the name certifies that the maker is following the highest standards.

For tire making is chiefly a matter of standards and policies—cost plus care. Any maker can build a good tire if he cares to pay perfection's price.

All men know Brunswick standards, for Brunswick products have been famous for 74 years.

Formulas, fabrics and standards vary vastly in cost. Remembrances, plies and thickness are a matter of expense. And these variations affect endurance. It rests with the maker how far he wishes to go—how much he can afford to give.

For there are no secrets nor patents to hold one back.

To ascertain what each maker offers one must analyze and test some 200 tires—as our laboratories have done.

Then it is a matter of combining the best features and building according to the highest standards.

Once you try a Brunswick you will understand how we have built model tires, regardless of factory expense.

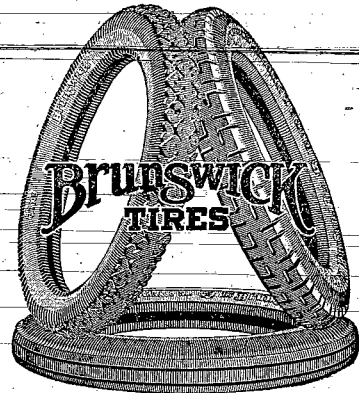

Yet Brunswick Tires cost you the same as other like-type tires. Our saving is on selling cost, through our nation-wide organization.

We realize that you expect more from Brunswicks, and we assure you that you get it. ONE Brunswick will tell you the story.

And then you'll want ALL Brunswicks. No other tire, you'll agree, gives so much for your money.

Who's to Blame? Iroquois Chief, persistent claims are still being made of a coal shortage this winter and people are daily urged to "buy their coal now." Just how the public can buy coal when there is no coal to buy is not explained.

If the administration was not so busy with foreign affairs the coal situation could be wonderfully improved by "turchising" cars in which to ship coal and the people would not be obliged to face the prospect of freezing to death.

AMERICA ONLY HOPE OF JEWS IN EUROPE

Brandeis Tells How Humanity's Call Exceeds Power of Jews Alone to Answer.

MILLIONS ARE DESTITUTE

Yet, Without Food, Clothing or Shelter, They Seek to Help Themselves.

The immensity of the task that confronts them in saving the remnants of their race and from utter destruction makes it necessary for the Jews of Nebraska to appeal to Nebraskans of other faiths for help in the coming Jewish relief drive.

Heretofore, the funds for Jewish relief abroad have been contributed largely by Jews, but the thousands of responsibilities—with 6,000,000 people dependent on American aid—it has become imperative that an outside appeal be made. Thus the result of the non-sectarian appeal for Jewish relief funds, September 15 to 22, are summed up by George Brandeis, Omaha merchant, who is treasurer of the Nebraska Committee for the Relief of American War Sufferers.

"In the past," said Mr. Brandeis, "Jewish Jews have gladly answered call after call to lend their aid in various causes. Joel Cross, T. M. C. A., Salvation Army, United War Community Service, United War Work campaign, and other similar undertakings have foundered on the resistance of the non-sectarian appeal for Jewish relief funds, September 15 to 22, are summed up by George Brandeis, Omaha merchant, who is treasurer of the Nebraska Committee for the Relief of American War Sufferers.

"In the past," said Mr. Brandeis, "Jewish Jews have gladly answered call after call to lend their aid in various causes. Joel Cross, T. M. C. A., Salvation Army, United War Community Service, United War Work campaign, and other similar undertakings have foundered on the resistance of the non-sectarian appeal for Jewish relief funds, September 15 to 22, are summed up by George Brandeis, Omaha merchant, who is treasurer of the Nebraska Committee for the Relief of American War Sufferers.

"Gentiles Are Aiding."
"This appeal is being met with quick response all along the line. In every state in the midland section, we are gladly serving in American Jewish Relief campaigns to aid the Jews in what they believe to be the cause of the history of the race. In Nebraska, Governor Bennett announced the membership of the committee in charge of the campaign. After all, races, creed and the like are merely human differences that man has set up, and we are all members of the one human family.

"In turning this over practically the first time for outside help to a purely Jewish cause, it must not be thought that the cause of America and particularly of Nebraska will cease to give themselves. They will continue to pour out their money for the aid of their suffering and starving co-religionists abroad. Last year, the Jews of Omaha alone subscribed over $70,000—$10 million in the United States and $700,000 missing when the future rolls are called. In the last two years, the Jews of America have contributed over $100,000,000.

"But, with the war over, the needs and opportunities across the sea have increased greatly and for the first time in the history of the world, an effective relief work. The funds needed in this critical hour are so great that they cannot be met by the raising of the 3,500,000 American Jews alone. Hence it is that the Jews have turned confidently to their relatives of other faiths for a total sum of $35,000,000, at which Nebraska's quota is $400,000."

Try to Help Selves.
The Jews should despise their desperate plight, are not professional charity seekers. In spite of their losses, they are determined to meet their millions have been shipped to their destination, they haven't lost their grip. "They are dependent, they are almost in a state of starvation, they are already trying to work out their own salvation," says Miss Hetty Goldman, a relief worker just returned from a trip abroad. "They are open to anything as much as a penniless people can do to establish orphanages, and better the conditions in hospitals."

"But meanwhile thousands of little children, unable to work out their own salvation, are starving and cold. The relief of these children is in itself a problem worthy of America's best effort."

Hard-Tack a Delicacy.
Nebraska boys just back from army service well know how hungry children must be to enjoy hard-tack as a delicacy. Yet that is true of the little Jewish children in Poland. Dr. Boris D. Boyan, head of the Jewish Relief Work in Poland, tells of thousands of little ones who await the coming of the motor-trucks loaded with hard-tack and milk, their principal diet. "Two hundred thousand children were fed in Poland through the relief band from the U. S."

Funds contributed by Nebraskans are transmitted by George Brandeis, treasurer, to the national committee. Food and other supplies purchased by it are distributed to those in need of aid by the committee agents, co-operating with the American state department.

YOUR CONTRIBUTION.
George Brandeis, Treasurer, Nebraska Committee for Jewish Relief.
Dear Sir: I hereby subscribe $_____ for the relief of Jewish war sufferers, all of which is to be used for direct relief.

The John Deere Steele Portable Elevator is Bridge Trussed—It Cannot Sag

CONSTRUCTION WHICH MEANS STRENGTH

The John Deere is bridge trussed to meet and overcome all strains that are put on an elevator. Each section has channeled bracing that runs from the center at the bottom to the top at each end. When the elevator is assembled, this channel bridge trussing zigzags from one end to the other. The result is secure bracing and trussing.

An elevator in use is subject to one of two strains, depending on how it is supported. If the upper end rests on the crib, the strain on the elevator is downward at the center. When on the other hand, the elevator is supported by its derrick the strain is upward at the center and downward at the ends, the exact opposite of the first strain. It is necessary, therefore, to provide against both of these strains.

Section ends are bound with heavy angled steel. Through this angle steel the bolts holding the sections together are placed. Each section is completely assembled and riveted at the factory. Both the grain trough and the return trough are made of one piece of 16-gauge steel. This construction adds materially to the strength of the elevator.

OVERLAPPING SECTIONS PREVENT LOSS OF GRAIN

The sections on the John Deere elevator are so connected that the chains and flights pass over the joints readily when going up with the load and returning empty. The sections are not merely butted—they are lapped. Lapping at the joints the way it is done on a John Deere elevator insures strength, avoids trouble and leakage of grain.

THERE IS A REAL REASON FOR AN ELEVATOR ON ALMOST EVERY FARM

Unloading corn or small grain with an elevator saves time and labor—twenty to thirty minutes to the load—when time is most valuable, at threshing and husking. The team or an engine does the hard work of unloading.

The harvest season is often short and hired help especially hard to get. Naturally, harvest help prefers the farm on which an elevator is used. Corn huskers usually work for a half a cent to a cent per bushel less where there is an elevator to do the unloading.

It's real work—putting corn or grain into a crib or bin—and that is what a John Deere elevator does. Boys appreciate efforts to make farm work easier. They are more inclined to remain on the farm when labor-saving machines are used.

Besides what an elevator saves in actual cash, it is so well worth-while because it does make farm work more pleasant.

Mabelle Wagner Shank sang in Wakefield Tuesday.

One of the most interesting novelties in the evening of unique experiences, was when Mabelle Wagner Shank sang a duet with her own voice. It was as though two artists with voices of exactly the same tone quality, the same expression, the same timbre, were singing together. The effect was magical, as though one artist has been bewitched into two by some magician's art.

The climax of the evening's entertainment was when the room was darkened in the middle of one of Mlle. Shank's selections, and the listeners were left with no means but their ears, and determining when they were hearing her voice in double volume, and when it reached them only from the other direction. At first everyone doubted his own ability to judge, but as her previous proofs were forgotten in the spell of the magic, they became more and more convinced that no instrument could sing as this voice was singing, and that Mlle. Shank was making no more breaks in her performance. Suddenly the lights were snapped on. The audience was astonished to discover that Mlle. Shank was not there at all and that the New Edison had furnished the song alone.

Such miracles are indeed the work of a magician, who is adding to the comfort and joy of mankind. Thousands of New Edisons, made up in special form, were furnished to our boys on shipboard and in camps and are a proof of Mr. Edison's generous interest in helping to make the world happy.

Consider 3 Points

Before Buying a Truck

1 Low First Cost

This is the buyer's advantage, made possible by greater production. Republic is the largest manufacturer of trucks exclusively building a complete line. There are almost 60,000 Republics now in use.

2 Low Operating Cost

The Torbensen Internal Gear Drive, used in all Republic Trucks, delivers to the driving wheels over 92 per cent of the power generated by the motor. We know of no other type of drive that delivers as much. Hence Republic users obtain greatest mileage and greater economy in fuel and lubricant used.

3 Low Repair Cost

Maintenance of over 1400 fully equipped Republic service stations, in nation-wide distribution, operated by Republic-trained mechanics, assures Republic users uniform and dependable service facilities with a minimum loss in the truck's operation.

Consideration of these three points makes Republic the logical truck to buy

PORTABLE FARM ELEVATORS

WOOD OR STEEL ELEVATORS THAT PAY THEIR WAY

Muscle-Saving Machinery

In these days when work is plenty and labor is scarce and high, the "hired man" problem looms up like a specter on the busy farmer's horizon. The farmer who provides himself with muscle-saving machinery not only gets the pick of men, but he cuts the corners of cost and time and makes more net profit on his crops than his neighbors who farm "by hand." Foremost among the modern inventions for saving time, money and muscle is the Farm Elevator—a machine that relieves farm help of the laborious, muscle-straining, back-breaking work of unloading corn and small grain from wagons to granaries, bins and freight cars. This work comes at the climax of crop-gathering, when nerves and muscles are already strained to the breaking point and when every minute counts. Probably as hard work as there is on the farm is where you, your family or hired hands, have to shovel the corn that tires the back and arms and makes every muscle of the body ache. It is exhausting, laborious drudgery for even the strongest men. It's a job nobody likes and that nobody can despise. Yet even the young boys are forced to do this work that is almost too much for men.

Don't lag behind! Don't work at a disadvantage! Don't depend on muscle to do the work that the elevator will do better, quicker and cheaper.

Don't Scoop

HANDLE YOUR GRAIN WITH AN ELEVATOR

A farm elevator will make money for you because it is built to satisfy and to meet your demands. In building cribs, it is the foundation, roofing, and flooring that costs you the most money. If you use a scoop or an inferior elevator you have to build low cribs, but if you use the elevator we offer, you can build one crib for all of your grain, both ear corn and small grain. You thereby save the cost of one or two foundations, floors and roofs. This is another way in which the farm elevator makes money for you. With large cribs in which to store your grain, you do not need to sell direct from the field, but can hold for the best prices. By holding your grain for favorable prices, you many times will make the price of both elevator and crib. Large cribs for storing grain are made practical by installing elevators. Another big saving is in repairs. You will need very few of them for farm elevators. In many large factories the repair end of the business is one of the most profitable parts, but, frankly, we will say that if we had to depend on the repairs we sell for profits, we would go broke. A farm grain elevator will not be an expense—it will be one of the best investments you have ever made.

UNCLE WALT THE POET PHILOSOPHER

VANITY.

I am dyeing, combed, dyeing for my whiskers show up gray; the effect is rather trying. I send them dandling by. Of life's little day is ending, and the evening is sung, and I spend my time in dressing, vainly trying to be young. Wear raiment brave and gaudy, and deny I have the gout; but the hinges in my body are as rusty as get out; at the least exertion, I must seek the nearest chair, and my sparkplugs all missing every time I'd climb a stair. But I'm evermore prevailing that I'm just a three-year-old; all my waking hours I'm spending proving I'm as good as gold. My old eyes are rather rheumy, and my teeth are celluloid, but I won't admit, gloomy, or that life's an aching void. My chair on wheels I'm freer, telling folks how good I feel, though I have a musty liver and rheumatics in my heel. It is vanity, dodged it, and perhaps that's an offense, and you say I should be past it, should be gifted with more sense. You denounce my empty fooling, saying I'm a false indeed, would you rather have me drooling like a dotard gone to seed?

GIVE A LIFT.

When I'm chugging in my motor up and down the countryside, and behold a weary wight, I'll speedly "Get in and ride." And he always looks so grateful that, in sooth, I wonder why any man should be so hateful as to raise a stink when he sits down the dusty pike, and ten drivers are moving weary Pete or poor Mike; and these weary wights are heaping curses on the idler, not as from danger they go leaping to the bottom of a ditch. I repeat this simple motto, as along the road I drift: "When you're riding in your auto, give the weary jay a lift." Oh, my car is large and roomy, seven deuces will get and I'll call the pilgrims to me, saying, "Ride and rest your feet." And it fills my heart with gladness, and it makes my bosom glow when I rescue from their sadness seven deuces or so. In my car I'm grand and statey, like a monarch on his throne, but I'll loathe and hate me greatly, if I ride in there alone, while a lot of weary fellow-laborers in the dust and heat, breathing through their leaking bellows, weeping o'er their aching feet. I feel saying while I'm skidding in my wagon large and swift, "Selfishness is most forbidding—give the other chap a lift."

THE SOBERING BUNDLE.

When you have a bunch of boodles in the bank—just up the pike—you'll stand up for Yankee Doodle, law and order, and the like. Then no creed of devotation, such as Russian outlaws swear, will receive you like a streak. When a man is broke and broke with no package laid away, he is evermore disgusted with the laws we all obey. He would see our courts all leveled, and the judges on the rack, and the jurors crazed believed till they gave up all their stock. He would see all things appended. Justice he would render mute; then his chances would be splendid to accumulate some loot. I have seen some pretensions stirring up the people's souls, and they'll wear cast-off garters and their pants are full of howies. And they said they're mighty wrecking as they damned the plutocrat; if they'd only do some banking they would soon get over that. I have heard of the quietest shuffles putting up their weary sign; I have heard the weak and shiftless saying everything is wrong. But the man who saves his money thinks the Russian creed absurd, and he thinks it beastly funny that so many wagons be heard

BUYING THE BEST.

The best things are the cheapest, and shoddy things are punk; that man's an chronic weeper who blows himself for a hunk. Steve bargain goes hunting, in leas or rubber tires, urecelluloid or hunting, in leas or cast-off tyres. He doesn't ask his price, but he says: "He says 'All right, take 'em or tear 'em, or hold 'em to his eyes; if it's as cheap as blitzer he thinks the deal will pay; and every time he sits in he plays this sort of way. His clothes are always seedy, his shoes are down at heels, he's looking poor and needy, though he carries many wheels. He blows in all his wagers for things that do not wear, for birds in cheap tin cages, and wigs that have no hair." The chairs all go to pieces, he purchased at the store, depositing his niece and aunts upon the floor. His car is always busting when he would take a ride, and accidents disgusting deface his snowy hide. His boat is always leaking when he would row a bit, and coopers are always taking a ride, and accidents disgusting deface his snowy hide. His boat is always leaking when he would row a bit, and coopers are always taking a ride, and accidents disgusting deface his snowy hide.

cheapest when he would shopping wend; cheap prices are the cheapest, as we know, in the end. My large and shining dollars in good things I invest, in buying cows or collars—I always want the best.

LIFE ON MARS.

I have heard a learned professor say that Mars has living folks, while another gifted guesser heard his argument as jokes. And they fussed around and wrangled like a pair of spears. They were so hot and so all tangled, and grew sore beneath their hats. Some indorsed the learned professor, held as gospel his belief, some stood up for other guesses, helping him to waver and reel. And the row became a riot, so the whole bunch went to jail, where they had a frugal diet that was void of meat or grain. You must climb the highest steeple with a telescope in hand, and you cannot tell if people drill around on mar-sian land. There's no carter west of proving if inhabitants are there; so your arguments, though moving, are but piffle and hot air. So we waste the moments precious, chewing rags the livelong day, letting habits vain enmesh us, when we should be baling hay. Whether Mars has people on it, I protest, we'll never learn; but this world of ours, here they are, where Nature Bung them, on prehistoric day, and our work is here among them, not a billion leagues away.

THE OLD JOB.

When Autumn comes, with southing sighs, I grow so tired of swatting flies which light upon my roof! Though all the weary months since spring I've swatted flies upon the wing and so on the hoof. When Spring arrives, all fresh and young, and that the flies are scarce, I swat the flies with gleed. I should usually expect to chase and execute the flies, but now it wears me. Throughout the balmy days of May I take my swatting stick and swat with care and ardent hand, and when the roses bloom in June my Berserk song I wildly croon, and swat to heat the banister. And in the best of mid-July, I'm on the spoor of every fly that still remains unslain; and August finds me, stern and grim, still pending barazars limb from limb, though bent beneath the strain. But when the mid-September comes, the jesky fly and all his chums may root on wall and floor; though I have slain ten billion flies, the ghastly truth I recognize—there are ten billions more. You've heard about that fable gun who killed a stone that weighed a ton up hill forevermore; no useful purpose he achieved, and that's why he was named and named; and his head was sore. No man ever says his work on earth unless he gets his labor's worth in one or other guise: to roll a boulder up a hill until one's feet get tired and chill, is much like swatting flies.

Many Extra Miles

We can show you—and prove to you—that there is a genuine money saving in the use of United States Tires.

The extra miles they give mean just so many extra dollars counted in real money.

And there are further actual economies in the saving of gas, oil, repairs and depreciation.

The reason of all this is in the tires themselves—their liveliness, ruggedness and sturdiness.

There are five United States Tires—a type for every make of car.

La Perche Stock Farm AT AUCTION

A real Nebraska stock and grain farm of 240 acres will be sold at public auction on

Wednesday, Sept. 24

Sale will take place on the premises, starting promptly at 2 o'clock, old time

"The Home of Imported Percherons and Registered Chester White Hogs"

Land in High State of Cultivation

Farm is located 3 1-2 miles north of Carroll; 11 miles southwest of Laurel; 9 miles west, 7 miles north of Wayne and 6 miles south of Belden, the latter on the Burlington railroad.

22 acres of alfalfa, 35 acres of timothy, 40 acres seeded last spring to Alsike clover, Bromegrass, blue grass, and timothy, two pastures of 10 acres each for hogs and calves, balance in corn and small grain. This 240 acres makes up as good a stock and grain farm as will be found in northeast Nebraska. Stock has always been kept; therefore, it is in a high state of cultivation. There is no waste land. Every foot, except the building site, orchard, and grove, can be plowed.

Improvements

Barns

Barn, 40x54, 16 foot posts, room for 19 head of horses, granary in barn, is lighted and has running water.

Barn, 52x55, 20 foot posts.

Cow shed 12x48, with granary.

Hog house 16x32, with water.

21 farrowing pens.

Double-corn crib.

Chicken house—plastered.

Machine shed, 16x72.

Small barn in orchard.

Cement watering tank, 6x14.

House

The house contains seven rooms with a closet from each room; built-in cupboard and sink with soft water in the kitchen; screened porch and six brightly new lighting fixtures. The acetylene gas plant which furnishes light for the farm is located in the large cave, directly back of the house. The house is in excellent repair. It is fenced off from the other buildings and has a fine blue grass lawn and cement walks.

A wash house and cob house are also close to the house.

Fencing

There are 1100 rods of woven wire fencing on the west 160 acres.

Orchards and Groves

There are two good bearing orchards on the place, consisting of apple, cherry, and plum trees. There is also an abundance of small fruit, raspberries, strawberries, and gooseberries. A grove of evergreens is found in the house yard. The windbreak to the north screens the house from the winter winds, while the evergreens protect it from the hot, dry breezes in the summer.

Water

A never failing supply of pure water is something which no farm can afford to be without and is one of the attractions which the La Perche farm offers to the prospective buyer. The well which is located in the house yard, has never failed since it was first drilled and furnishes an abundant supply of pure, cold water.

East Section

On the 80 acres east of the road, there is a four room house with closet and pantry, the main part being 16x24, with a 14 foot addition. A cob house, chicken house, and soft water cistern are also located here.

TERMS: $6,000 cash on day of sale; $30,000 may be left in the place for ten years, secured by a first mortgage at 5 1-2% interest. Arrangements will be made to carry more back on second mortgage if so desired by purchaser.

The quarter on the west side of the road will be sold with the privilege of taking the 80 acres, if desired.

Our newly completed Ready-to-Wear department, covering the entire second floor, is overflowing with hundreds and hundreds of the season's newest and most desired styles, showing wide assortments, from the plain tailored garments, designed for service, to the most extreme styles for strictly dress occasions.

This beautiful exclusive Ready-to-Wear section offers you all the advantages of choosing from large stocks only found in city stores, at prices for less than those asked by city stores.

Comfortable rest rooms, individual fitting rooms, and a corps of pleasant, experienced saleswomen all try to make your Ready-to-Wear shopping a real pleasure.

Suits

Correctness in style of these Fall Suits is obvious. There are scores of stunning models, each one a "creation." Many are fur trimmed. Whichever you prefer, you may be certain of a satisfying sense of ownership when you purchase here.

Gratify your preference for a particular model, material, or color by selecting from a stock that is really complete.

Materials are: Velour, Silvertone, Peach-bloom, Serge, Tricotine, Frostilla, Broadcloth, Cashmerette, Evora, Silk Duvelty, Etc.

Coats

Take on a New Beauty

The New fabrics and colors are of especial interest. The New Coats are fuller and longer. In graceful straight lines so highly becoming, they afford excellent advantages in the extensiveness of appropriate fabric offerings and reasonable prices.

Silvertones, Tinseltones, Cashmere, Bolivias, Lustrals, Cashmerettes, among the new fabrics, and in such colors as Liberty Red, heaver brown, taupe, Victory blue, navy blue, etc.

Many of the coats are richly trimmed with Furs.

Mr. Chapin Returns.
We were very much surprised on Monday to see our highly respected citizen, A. T. Chapin, return from an out-of-town trip, not with a black eye nor swelled head, but with a foot found in a Pullman towel. The explanation was as follows: While Mr. Chapin was sleeping in his Pullman, someone stole, borrowed or misappropriated one of his shoes. Thank you, Mr. Chapin, for the explanation.

Twelve members answered to roll call by naming their favorite musician. Mrs. Irving Moses read an interesting paper on "Edison's Inventions" followed by several selections from the Edison phonograph. Mrs. Glenn Ham was a guest of the club. The hostess served lunch.

Sale Notice.
Having sold my house, we wish to sell at private sale, before October 1, our household effects, including all furnishings. Come as soon as possible, as we are now ready to show everything.—A. T. Chapin.

A Possible Frankenstein.
Springfield, Mass., Republican: The leaders of the American Federation of Labor must be wondering whether they have created a Frankenstein by encouraging the affiliation of policemen's unions.

Handicaps of Greatness.
Jay E. House in the Philadelphia Public Ledger: It is the consensus of the close observer that nearly every great man is handicapped by a fool brother.

Nebraska Salvation Army Home Service Campaign

September 21 to 27, 1919

Day of main drive in this place to be Thursday, September 25

Wayne County will now have an opportunity to show its appreciation for the service which the Salvation Army rendered during the war. The Salvation Army, because of its efficient and economical organization and its methods of procedure, is most highly adapted to do social service work. With thousands of needy families in the cities, with class strife and social unrest, its work will be needed more than ever.

Giving the Salvation Army the fund asked for, simply means giving them the adequate buildings and facilities for doing more effective work than they have done in the past.

Nebraska's share of National Budget is $512,000
Wayne County's Share is $3,317

This is only ten cents per $1,000 Valuation

Are you with us to make Wayne county the first over the top?
