Wayne-Laurel Road Nearly Completed Aside From Necessary Smoothing Process.

FREZEUP IS UNEXPECTED

Six Miles of Laurel-Hartington Road Remains Unfinished—May Wait Until Spring.

The snow and freezing weather of this week has caused suspension of work on the Wayne-Laurel and Laurel-Hartington road projects, and it is understood that the freezing elements and thawed ground follows, completion of the enterprise will have to be postponed until spring at the earliest. The freezing came earlier than usual, and frustrated plans that "could" ordinarily be carried out. It is hoped, however, that winter has not come to stay, and that a month of mild weather will lay over outdoor operations.

J. G. W. LEWIS HONORED

Pleasure Expressed Over Election of Member of Faculty.

Prof. J. G. W. Lewis has gone to Lincoln where he will serve upon a constitutional commission provided for by the last legislature in anticipation of the adoption of a new organic law. During his absence his work will be divided between Professor Cross and Professor Bowen. On Wednesday morning the students and faculty expressed their pleasure in the honor that has come to Professor Lewis in his election to membership in the faculty of the convention. While the conferring of this important office upon his colleague is a great honor, the school is much regretted. During the more than nine years of his connection with the institution, he has come to fill a large place in the life of the school.

CHURCH MEMBERSHIP PER CENT RUNS HIGH

Religious Census Shows Few Not Connected with Any Sect.

A religious census of Wayne taken Monday revealed the fact that no child of a dozen families reported no church preference of affiliation. Only a few families were not at home, so that no record could be taken of them. Therefore, it is safe to say that not more than twenty families of Wayne take no interest in religious matters. The ministers were asked to add to the information of the statistics gathered that a large proportion of the church people were actually members and regular attendants at services.

Local Coal Situation.

The coal situation in Wayne did not appear serious at the time the coal strike was called off. Since then, two cars of coke have been received and the Wayne station agent, said he thought there would be shipments of coal regularly from this time on. Nearly all the schools in Wayne are supplied with coal, the city schools being the least prepared for the strike. Although a number of families had coal on hand, still many were provided over by the efforts of the dealers in distributing what supply there was by the generosity of neighbors.

The New Way

The old way was to fill your system with drugs which treated the effects and paid no attention to the CAUSE of so-called Disease. THE NEW WAY is to ascertain specifically the CAUSE of the Disease and then to adjust same. NATURE will then do the rest and you will be Healthy. This is what CHIROPRACTIC does, i. e., Locates the Cause and adjusts it. The result of the adjustment is that all pressure is relieved, the organs function normally and HEALTH is restored. Health is only another name for NORMALITY. If your Human Machine is working normally you are bound to be healthy.

PHILLIP SULLIVAN ESTATE Will Read in the County Court—Bequests Made—No Contests.

Contrary to public expectations, no contests were made when the matter of the estate of Phillip Sullivan came up before Judge J. M. Cherry Friday. Mrs. Maggie Sullivan is the only first cousin known and the only one who is not mentioned in the will for a bequest. Under the provisions of the will any legatee who contested the will was to lose his legacy. This left Mrs. Sullivan as the only one who would contest, and she did not.

The total amount of the bequests is $200,210, but the will provides that if the estate is more or less than the first funds from the estate more or less in the same proportion as the amounts stipulated are to the whole amount of the legacy. A bequest of $100 to St. Mary's church in Wayne is an exception to this provision, for the will states that this amount is to be paid in full out of the first funds from the estate, regardless of whether the other legatees receive full payment or not. However, the estate will probably amount to about $300,000.

Those mentioned in the will are Bertha Reeder of Rock Island, Ill., $100,000; the four children of Barbara McGinty of Terre Haute, Ind., $40,000; the children of Julia Frank of Omaha, $75,000; John Williams and Catherine Williams, $25,000 each; Margaret Sullivan, a daughter of Mrs. Maggie Sullivan of Terre Haute, Ind., $25,000; Mary Sullivan, $100; Jerry Horrigan, $10; St. Mary's church in Wayne, $100. The last bequest was accompanied by a provision that appropriate masses be said for the repose of the deceased man's soul. A section of the will states that provision is made for the children of Julia Frank because their mother was reared by the testator's brother.

H. P. Wilson and H. S. Kingland of Wayne were appointed trustees of the estate, with full authority to make settlement of all property. They were also appointed executors and Mr. Wilson was made guardian of the children of Julia Frank and Barbara McGinty.

3 Million Dollars but— It Bought MUSIC

No finer example of courage is known to the world of science than Thomas A. Edison's work in perfecting the phonograph. The skeptics rose in full chorus when he proposed a better phonograph—an instrument "that could produce music as human as the artists who first gave it utterance.

Mr. Edison's experiments exhausted the entire field of research in sound reproduction. He built and rebuilt until his final, perfected model cost him Three Million Dollars.

AND THE RESULT?

Ask some one who attended the Alice Verlet recital October 10. There was the public proof. Alice Verlet sang in comparison with the RE-CREATION of her voice by the New Edison. And no one could distinguish the living voice from its RE-CREATION.

The NEW EDISON

"The Photograph with a Soul"

If you love music you will agree with that enthusiastic audience: "The New Edison represents Three Million Dollars well spent.

The soul of song is cheap at any price. Yet it is now brought within reach of your pocketbook. The instrument used in the conclusive test, Friday, October 10, is a duplicate of Mr. Edison's Three Million Dollar Model. It sells for $285.

I hear my Aunt Jemima say, "This lid I bought last year would put me, if I wore worn today, upon the asbest-wooded shoes. But I still wear the old brown tie I bought before the war, and no one asks, with casual salute, 'What do you wear for?' A man may wear the ancient suit his father handed down, and still be called of good repute, a credit to the town; 'hang the rags on a large street sign, and hear no jeering wheeze, because my coat has ancient cut, my pants have baggy knees. But if my Aunt Jemima goes on and two seasons old, the women cry, 'Those fossil clothes! Consider and behold!' The cost of living would descend, in every home, I swear, if girls had courage to offend the tyrant Fashion, there. The girls have sticks of bonbons that cost a glibly pile, but they won't wear such things as those, one season out of style.

THE COP.

"Oh, the cop gets princely wages, just to hear and sympathize, when I've vent our little rags, and heard out some 'sobs' and sighs. He is standing on the corner, in his uniform all blue and bell yellow with any mourner who wants to raise a howdydo. Tell your troubles to the copper, an attentive ear he lends; it's immoral and improper if you've sprung them on your friends. We have all our little sorrows, in each breast some sorrows (old); and no man of wisdom borrows and no man can dodge; so when you are seen approaching with fresh grievances supplied, I don't need a lot of costing ere I run away and hide, and your trouble to the police, he will fatten on your wail; he will list to every sinner, as he leans against the post; oh, he leans against the prison, and he teeters on his toes, and a princely wage is his, just because he hears your woes. All your griefs are old and hoary, and of weariness they're full; and tell your dismal story to the usurer's harness ball.

A YEAR OF PEACE.

We've had a year of balmy peace, since, captain said, "Let firing cease," where weary armies stood; it's been a year since cannon roared, and soldiers waved the flagging. I have a beefsteak on my eye; a neighbor let a donkey fly, and made the blamed thing black; and in a set-up down by the jail my hat was flattened with a rail, my coat split up the back. My sideboards now are rickety—worn, and my larder and head is always sore, from many swats and bits; we have a riot every day, and when we've hauled the stock away, I look about the stables. Some fellow robbed me of my wealth, and broke in half a dozen teeth, and I'm a sight to see. I can't enjoy my morning paper, and I'm always throwing rocks, wherever I may be. I cannot write peace-time symphonies, I'm picking burdocks from my limbs, and have no time to spare; and every time I take my lyre to burble like a housewife's song, I get my hair. The quiet of old days is gone, wherever I turn I gaze upon a lot of scrapping men; the air is full of all day, so, take the Boon of Peace away, and give me war again.

UNHAPPY.

I will from this land depart, with my gun and carpet bag, when its customs break my heart, when my spirit aches when you go; my luggage is a load that has made me raw and sore, I will seek some other shore, where I'll stand and chew.

I find that has got this country skinned that is on the Asian strand, or some island of the Ind, I will take the quickest boat, with my coat of screw and my goat, for that paradise remote, and this country may be tinned. But while I am dwelling here, hanging out my misty sign, it seems pretty plain and clear that I have no right to whine—H. I am sore on Uncle Sam, and would give his flag a shan, I should move to Rotterdam, for a rotter's soul is mine. If the time should ever come when this country seems a frost, all its bulwarks of the beam, and its laws not worth the cost, I will sail away, away, to old Russia or Cay, where I'll spend my little day by some thimble tyrant's bossed. But while on this shore I roost, I will bless its ballasted loam, its paddocks; I'll hold till the scowled cows come home, I will hand out sturdy blows to its edicts and its foes, and when I run out of prose I'll embalm it in a poem.

Notice of Hearing.

To the heirs, creditors and all persons interested in the estate of Charlotte J. Teidy, deceased. You and each of you are hereby notified that Lyman T. Burgess has filed his petition in the county court of Wayne county, Nebraska, alleging that said Charlotte J. Teidy died intestate at her residence in Lagrange county, Indiana, on December 31, 1897. At the time of her death she was seized of real estate in Wayne county, Nebraska, including Lot ten (10) Block four (4), Lake's Addition to the City of Wayne, Wayne county, Nebraska, and left surviving her as her sole and only heir at law, her father John Schifaly, her mother Emily F. Schifaly and her sister, Mary E. Schifaly. That all claims, debts and demands against said real estate have been paid in full. That said estate has never been

UNCLE WALT THE POET PHILOSOPHER

THE FROSTY MORNING.

The world outdoors is white with frost, at morning, when I leave the hay, and I, regardless of the cost, put up a shield, and freeze—hoon. The frost is gleaming on the hills, and glittering along the vales; the doe should put it up in pills, the druggist weigh it on his scales. I praise it in the highest terms; it is more precious than our rolls; for it's the stuff that kills the germs, and makes the microbes hunt their hoils. A mortal loses all his pep when blistered by a summer sun; he rolls along with weary aeh, and feels as though he weighed a ton. A slight exertion makes him groan, he's always in a grouchy mood; in every sinew, every bone, he feels a heavily lassitude. But when the autumn frost appears, and eager winds his whiskers nip, he rolls his shoulders to his ears, and looks for some one to may whip. The languor of the summer time, the weariness of sizzling heat, no more nests him on busy feet. In August I am beaming, as old as gray beards ever are; in November, I'm younger than a movie star.

NOVEMBER.

November skies are dreary, her sharp as knives, and all the world seems weary, when this red mouth arrives; the birds—no longer tarry where tempests raise old Harry, the bees no longer carry the glucose to their hives. The cockleburrs I tended through golden summer days, the milkweeds tall and splendid, no longer meet the gaze; the frost is falling nightly, I see it gleaming white, when in the moon politely, I cuss November's ways. The night wind, at the entrance, now strikes in fending gle; the furnace in the basement is calling, calling me; in spring I didn't need it, the summer weather freed it, but soon I'll have to feed it coal carloads two or three. No wonder if my sonnet should strike a plaintive note; my uncle has my bones, he also has my coat; the summer rags I'm wearing won't do—when blasts are tearing, and creditors are sweating, my uncle has my goat. Alas, that bleak November, which leaves us cold and numb, is followed by December, the blunniest of the month; it comes, fierce January to punish the unwary; but, hoos! let us be merry—the worst is yet to come!

FASHION.

The dames have stacks of coats and gowns that they might wear for years; but women who wear Fashion's fashions, with craves, they'll soon be out of date as soon as they are worn; and husbands' sads he can't change, can only mourn and mourn.

Let Up on the Drives, Triguon Chief: It's not surprising that people are becoming tired of "drives." There is a drive of some sort on nearly every week; in fact, it has become a continuous performance and the public's purse cannot stand the demands made upon it. The drive of business men who has a place of business gets caught on all of them, while some escape all of them. It is time to call a halt on drives and give the fellows who get caught every time a short breathing spell.

Railroad World: One big trouble with the labor movement is the fact that we have too many cabogues and not enough engines.

The late church census shows that Wayne is an exceptionally religious town. We hope its people will in practice fully live up to the record now on file.

A writer attributes much of the labor troubles to the selfish ambition of labor leaders. The well-to-do makes extravagant promises in order to gain popular support, and then in trying to make good, finally regrets his promise. The public begins with reluctant strikers in suffering consequences.

A local merchant showed us a bill for shoes to the amount of $14.00. The shoes used to wholesale at $3.75 a pair. The difference in price is said to be due to strikes and increased transportation. The farmers and men are demanding shorter hours and much more pay. If they don't get both, they quit. The result is inefficient supply, and an increased burden of cost which the ultimate consumer pays.

The late election of delegates to the constitutional convention in Nebraska showed very little strength for the non-partisan league in this state. The favorable situation contrasts sharply with that in North Dakota where the league is in absolute possession. Therefore, all there are any striking league sympathizers in Nebraska, they may find congenial company by migrating to North Dakota.

One year ago America, with other nations, gave a down-sigh of relief over the end of the world war. Since then a completion of peace with adoption of a league of nations, has divided attention with internal disturbances. Rest and investment and construction have been a long and perplexing struggle, and much time and effort will yet be required to return to the world to the old-time peace basis.

The Herald's suggestion that a local league be organized, has aroused a good deal of favorable comment. It is generally conceded to be the only feasible and sure way to get a hotel adequate to the needs of the town and surrounding country. The Herald will accept offers of stock subscriptions, and will make a canvass of the territory if necessary. It promises to not let up until the improvement has been accomplished.

We believe the city would be better satisfied with paving operations. It is more possible to include more territory than that now proposed in next year's enterprise. It will cost no more in the long run to have as many streets paved in one year, and the satisfaction in having the work out of the way and early.

and you need heavy clothing. Don't put off buying heavy clothing for another day. Buy now. We have in stock now while our stocks are complete. We can give you what you want and can fit you properly. We have all the latest styles in Winter merchandise. When our present stocks are gone it is doubtful if we can replace them at all. If we can it will be at advanced prices. Most of the goods we have on hand were bought months ago and the prices are very modest. Here are some of the good things: Arctics—all rubber or cloth tops—from one to six buckles. Leather jackets—all grades, lengths, and prices. Woolen Underwear, Sweater Coats, Felt Shoes, Mittens and Gloves, Silk or Woolen Liners, Woolen Hosiery—light or heavy. Sheep-lined Coats, Winter Suits and Overcoats.

This is one sure way to get just what you want in a winter suit or overcoat, and that is—have it made to order from the goods we select in the style you like. The cheaper suits and overcoats cost considerable money. When you do buy a suit or overcoat be sure you get just what you want, and be sure that it is good. If you patronize our tailoring department you need have no worries as to quality. We will guarantee that part of it. The price is modest, too—$40 or less to $60 and more.

Morgan's Toggery

advantage of the improvement is very apparent. If necessary to handle an increased paving proposition, more than one contractor could be employed.

Calling off the coal strike, in obedience to a court order, will give relief to the eyes of winter. This action, however, does not end the dispute between the unions and employing organizations. They will renew the battle with threats and possible strikes. Other industrial disturbances will develop unless the government passes a law compelling justice for both sides and preventing strikes. A board of compulsory arbitration would seem the practical way to act the square deal and keep labor differences from hindering production and causing loss and suffering on the part of the innocent and helpless public. It is up to the government to act. The strike involves boycott and coercion which are crimes. The organized strike should also be made a crime, and by arbitration it should be made unnecessary as a means of getting justice. The government should see that labor unions receive full justice, but no more than full justice.

If it is true as stated in the Omaha Bee that a reporter for that paper who is said to have been active in uncovering municipal corruption, was indicted on perjury, C. E. Carhart has a charge of conspiracy to commit arson in connection with the riot on September 28, the guilty should get full justice in the interest of public morals. It is badly to use perjured testimony to free a guilty man. It is worse to use perjured testimony to convict an innocent man. It is still worse to frame an evidence against an individual if his only offense is to turn the spotlight on police delinquency and take up the cudgel in behalf of social justice. If the Bee has been conducting a campaign of persecution against the police department of Omaha, as some have alleged, there is plenty of legal machinery to cause a halt and secure redress. But if the Bee's charges are warranted by facts, the paper should receive popular commendation. In any event, it should not be necessary to resort to a dark and diabolical blot to smother a newspaper report of a crime of which he is not guilty. To attempt to fasten a crime on an innocent man is revolting in the extreme.

Everything we have in the world is located right here. We shall defend and maintain our comparatively small possessions by doing our utmost to build up the varied interests of the town. We shall not let down and do nothing simply because our efforts would help people who have larger interests, but who are unable or unwilling to exert themselves in the direction of improvement. Each individual who contributes through public or private enterprise to the growth and prosperity of the town, helps every property owner and every person engaged in business or other profitable endeavor. Having all we possess invested here, and being vitally interested in the future of Wayne, we don't like to hear people denigrate the town. We know it is in some faults. We know it is urgently in need of improvements. We also know it is a good town with great possibilities if opportunities are given by turning to advantage. We are all fault-finding does no good. Criticism used as a basis for effort to make changes and betterments is constructive and beneficial. One who knocks the town, without intending to remedy faults, feels no interest in the future of the place, and his effort is injurious instead of helpful. The citizen who points out imperfections should, if he is a friend of the town, be willing, so far as his ability will permit, to put his shoulder to the wheel to remove objections and supply needs.

A few sacks were placed throughout the community and when you are in need of flour that will produce a nutritious, flaky loaf and more of them to the sack, just order a sack of Lincoln brand. Try two or three bakings and if we have failed to please you in every respect, if every expectation has not been fulfilled, the big Pillsbury Milling company authorizes us to return your full purchase price. They used the name Lincoln because it has never failed to make good. Before many moons you will be using Lincoln flour. Its popularity will induce you to try it. Its good results will cause you to continue its use. It costs no more than ordinary flours. We will gladly buy sample loaves of home baking from Lincoln flour.

Retired Merchant Throws Away His Cane Since Tanlac Built Him Up.

"Well, sir, it's a fact, this Tanlac has put me in shape to where I have actually gained fourteen pounds and this strikes me as being remarkable, especially for an old man like me for I am now seventy-two, was the statement made by P. W. Bemis of 641 First avenue, Cedar Rapids, Ia., in an interview recently.

Mr. Bemis is a retired merchant. He was in the grain business in South Dakota for twenty years and among his friends by his acquaintance.

"I had suffered from stomach trouble and disordered kidneys for three years, or more," he continued, "and up to the time I got Tanlac I had not been able to find anything to help me. My stomach was in such a bad condition that I was forced to live on a very light diet all the time. My kidneys bothered me constantly and my back hurt me like the blazes. I was in such a weakened condition that I had to use a cane in order to get around at all, and, as I had tried all the different medicines and had been under treatment several times without results I was beginning to think my age was against me and that I would never feel like myself again.

"Seeing Tanlac so highly recommended I finally bought a bottle, as a last resort, and could not get a good result. Then I bought another bottle, then another and so on and just kept gradually improving and now I feel like I have taken a new lease on life. I can eat just anything I want without having the least trouble with my stomach and am feeling perfectly strong and healthy. I have thrown my walking stick away and am able to walk any place I want to go. I am strong for Tanlac because I have made a new man of me when I had reached the point where I thought there was no help for me. As I said, I have gained fourteen pounds in weight and now my present good health to nothing but the good work of Tanlac. I will gladly confirm this statement to anyone who cares to consult me either by letter or in person. In all the years of my life I have never run across a medicine that I consider in a class with Tanlac. Hundreds of such statements as the above are reaching the Tanlac office daily from all parts of the United States and Canada and of course are very gratifying. Public health is a general tonic for weak run down systems has no equal.

"When people grow to the ripe old age of Mr. Bemis their digestive organs lack vitality, act more slowly and less efficiently than in youth. The circulation becomes poor, the blood thin, the appetite fails and digestion weakens. Tanlac, the powerful reconstructive tonic, is the best strengthener for elderly people, because it creates a good, healthy appetite, aids digestion, enriches the blood, and it is a mental-physical, vigor-strengthening and invigorating tonic, run down nervous and aged people.

"Tanlac is sold in Wayne by Wayne Drug Co. and in Carroll by L. R. King, adv.

JUSTICE FOR ALL IS PLEA

Excerpt From Speech by Chairman of Republican Committee.

In the course of a speech before the Illinois Educational Association at Springfield, Ill., Nov. 7, Will H. Hays, chairman of the republican national committee, made the following among other remarks:

"I repeat and shall continually declare that what we need in this country is not 'less politics,' but more attention to politics. Politics is the science of government, and what we need is more attention to the science of government. We have fought in France to make certain everywhere that men should have the right to govern themselves, and here in this country, where we have that privilege, I insist that we exercise it now and at once.

"Let us have the patriotism of Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt—a patriotism which moves us only when an enemy is at our gates, but a patriotism which moves us every day to realize what we owe to the country in which we live, which moves us to discharge that debt by moving in every way we can to make and keep conditions right in this country."

"The way all creeds and classes arose as one man in the country's emergency is the greatest vindication of our institutions, and just as the worth of all creeds and classes is proved in the country's emergency, just so the government must function equally at all times and places for all creeds and classes—for little children, for social betterment, for economic justice, for the rights of labor, for the rights of capital, for the rights of the farmer, for the rights of all, for the rights of Right."

"Our difficulties are largely economic. The industrial problems in this country, which are so acute, do not seem to be overwhelming can be, and I have implicit faith, will be solved in one-way—by finding exact justice and an exact balance."

"It is simply a matter of Roosevelt's 'square deal'—exact justice for labor, exact justice for capital, the exact justice for the public, the third side of the triangle which must not be lost sight of. To that end we must develop a reasonable method of doing so, and that method is to acquire an interest in the business to which labor is expected to give its best efforts. Fostering this development, the equilibrium between production and wages must be established and there must be justice for all sides. There is no question of right and of reason, but not of force. Justice for all—and do not forget that the American people still know what exact justice is."

"There is in this country a religious faith which believes in the divinity of the Constitution of the United States. We must stand up to this tenet, but I approve of the direction of the thought, and I recommend the appreciation. There is a time not far distant when the wheel must be in the ground. Law and order shall reign in this country."

"With a vision of the country's mission and with the conviction that justice for all men, Republicans will not forget that while we fought to make certain the rights of free government, the public have a right to public to preserve in this country, that we are a representative government, not a Bolshevick synchopation. The Republican party has no conception has stood against undue federalization of industries and activities. There must be strong federal regulation and not federal ownership. We have always endeavored and shall still endeavor to find a middle ground so well defined as between the anarchy of unregulated individualism and the deadening formalism of inefficient and widespread state ownership. We are against paternalism in government and we are against that form of pedagogic paternalism that has developed recently in this country. We are against autocracy as arrogantly and unalterably as we are against anarchy. Bolshevism and Kaiserism are equally dangerous in industry as in government. We are against both. We are the freest government on the face of the earth."

"Our strength rests on patriotism. Anarchy flees before patriotism. Peace and order and security and liberty are safe so long as enough love of country beats the hearts of the people, but it must not be forgotten that liberty does not mean license. Liberty to make one's free does not give them the right to break them. Liberty is responsibility, and responsibility is duty, and that duty is to preserve the exceptional liberty which they enjoy within the law and by the law, without any temporizing or compromise whatsoever.

"The turmoil of conflict has stirred in this country the deepest running water from the purest springs, but it has also pulled into the current foul matter from bays and sludges which, unless there is filtration, may befoul the stream. All these matters we will meet as Americans. We will meet them with the spirit of fairness which must be the natural resultant from the experience of fire and blood which has taken away the droop and left the gold of an honest pride to give to all men and to all women an equality of opportunity to develop to the

Criticism and Citizenship

It is the plain, public duty of every citizen to criticize proposed government measures believed to be harmful.

Swift & Company is in a better position perhaps than others, to understand the meat packing business in all its relations to public and private interests, even though the others may have been giving the subject a great deal of sincere attention.

Swift & Company is convinced that interference with its legitimate business function by governmental agencies, however well intentioned, would be an injury to every man, woman and child who wants meat to eat, as well as to the men who raise the meat and to those who dress and distribute it.

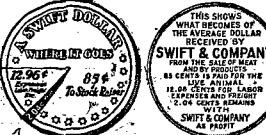

Maximum service that cannot monopolize because of keen competition and lack of control over sources of supply is furnished at a minimum of profit—a fraction of a cent per pound from all sources.

Therefore Swift & Company is taking every legitimate step of citizenship to prevent such interference.

These advertisements are intended to help you, and to help Congress decide what is best to be done. Mistakes are costly and apt to be harmful in these trying times.

last degree the good that is within them.

"And in these efforts we must look to the welfare of the farmer and the solution of the problems which confront him. Greater and greater grows the importance of land-development and the welfare of those upon whom the burden rests. We recognize that the foundation of our permanent citizenship rests on the farmer—the farmer who has not left the ground, part of which he owns. We will not forget the suggestion that a cardinal feature of our national politics should be to encourage the farmer to this end, not only for his sake but for the sake of all of us."

UNSHAKEN TESTIMONY.

Time is the test of truth. And Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test in Wayne. No Wayne resident who suffers backache or annoying urinary ills can remain unconvinced by this twice-told testimony.

Mr. Ira Hoshaw, Wayne, says: "I was confined to bed several weeks with a severe attack of grip. Upon recovering I found my kidneys had become weakened. I was a great sufferer from sharp pains across the small of my back and lameness through my loins. My head throbbed for hours at a time and I could not rest well at night. After taking Doan's Kidney Pills a few days the backache left me and my kidneys were strengthened. In three weeks all symptoms of kidney trouble had disappeared."

Mr. Hoshaw gave the above statement in August, 1910, and on July 15, 1916, she added: "I keep Doan's Kidney Pills on hand all the time, and they are the best I have ever used. They keep me in good health by driving away any signs of kidney trouble I may have."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Hoshaw had. Foster-McMillan Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

LECTURES AT THE NORMAL

Dr. Charles Zueblin Talks Today on "The New Civic Spirit."

Dr. Charles Zueblin, publisher and author of "American Municipal Progress," spoke at the Wayne State Normal auditorium this afternoon, talking for his subject "The New Civic Spirit." He spoke in part as follows:

"The new civic spirit is the spirit of youth. All progress is due to the young and the vigorous. It is easier to build cities right today because there are more young people than in any previous generation. Old people are timid and unimaginative. Youth is bold and imaginative. Old men warn young men not to enter politics because they will be contemptuous. Young men, however, are beginning to ask: Why did you not attempt to govern the city? Why were you content with the under significant corruption. Was it not because you feared to lose something if public improvements were carried to their logical conclusion where the citizens own the city?"

"The character of the city is read in its streets. The lowliness and consciousness of this is seen in the well-lighted urban lighting from the railway station to the business center. The Century city's gateway is a dignified union station; its thoroughfares are well-paved, well-lighted, well-kept streets. Its public utilities, its parks, its trees are owned, or are in process of being acquired by the city, perchance in the face of the opposition of the present generation. The city's contribution to city-making is the tree-lined, law-laid residence street. Why should the business and industrial districts be the only agents in the extension of the benefits of industrial organization, the democratic spirit, and the cosmopolitan? Then we shall have a society of free men and free women."

"The junior high school, vocational schools, juvenile courts, social centers, municipal organs, their cooperation, their cooperation, and the sane Fourth of July, community Christmas and a legion of evidences toward the new civic spirit. The fears of age will yield to the dreams of youth—the new civic spirit."

"This evening at the same place, Dr. Zueblin will speak on 'Education for Freedom' in the course of which he has this to say:

"The leading intellectual of the century was threefold: industrial organization, the democratic spirit, and the cosmic sense. Education cannot be adequate unless it takes account of this threefold legacy, which indeed is crudely done in the familiar educational trinity: education for occupation, education for character. Medieval culture is no longer sufficient. The college entrance examinations will not do as standards of character. Train-free men and women for the functions of tomorrow by a system of education designed for acquisition of character. We shall use our industrial organization, democratic spirit, and cosmic sense in preparation for occupation. We shall create character when we give the pupil his trinity of creation, service, and harmony."

"The child cannot be fitted for occupation in the ever larger world if we merely teach him a trade or a profession. The child must have a characterous hand and a trained eye, but the power of incorporating his imagination in the work of his hands. Most of us need fewer and better things; all of us will benefit by knowing how to make better. If not fewer things, whether we make pottery or poetry. The pupil must be taught service that his occupation may have some other good than money making and that citizenship may be a serious accomplishment. Hence the school part the co-operative, not competitive. The examination that reveals the conventional mind of the teacher must be surrendered to the discovery of the unconventional mind of the child. The school must become a workshop and a playroom instead of a prison or a hospital. Training for character will be secured not so much by catechism and discipline as by the exposition of the meaning of harmony."

"The whole nature of the child must expand by reaching out for the whole content of the universe. He must get a world-philosophy. He must come into harmony with Nature, man, and God. He will reach nature through science, man through art, and God through life. Science will not win him the laboratory but the world. He will live and learn and work out of doors. He will come into assured harmony with his world. His health, taken in its whole meaning, physical, mental, and spiritual. Man is revealed by the work of his hands. The history of civilization is written in architecture. The pupil will come into harmony with God not by theological instruction but by entering into the universal and comprehensive, even if too young to grasp the riddle of the universe. He will not be content with the knowledge of his own accomplishments or those of others; he will desire to

What a Community House May Mean to Wayne

After attending the oyster supper given by the Boy Scouts Saturday evening, one begins to realize how many young boys we have in our town of Wayne. To me and to others, it is a grand sight to see these boys in their white caps and aprons, all working together for the betterment of our country.

I think we older people should take a lesson from this. How many Boy Scouts do you think Wayne has? There are over sixty. Rev. F. R. Blessing, former pastor of the Lutheran church, organized the first, and W. R. Ellis, the second Boy Scout troop. William Beckenhauer organized the first from the Methodist church, and Paul Mines from the Presbyterian church. Each troop members for his troop from those not belonging to any church. The boys do not set fully realize what these captains have done for them. They will some day realize how keeping in good company with copying their time and minds with the best of thoughts, not only gives pleasure and enjoyment to themselves, but makes the mothers and friends feel assured they are in good company and are having a good time.

Boys who lost their lives in the recent war?

It is the mothers who have the responsibility of these young lives, to guide, to entertain and look after until they are 18 or 20 years old. Help them will or to step in and when men the load is made lighter and easier. The captains are not only giving these boys a good time, but teaching them to help others. They are molding their characters into good, honest men. The boys look up to the leaders as their heroes, and it is just a little afraid to tell father for fear he might understand the situation, and he is just a little afraid to tell father for fear he might understand the situation a little too well.

The committee appointed to collect clothing and money for Polish relief did their work well and the people generally responded most liberally to the appeal. Several hundred pounds of clothing were baled and shipped last week.
The ladies, from the various churches, who took part in the religious survey of the town last Friday are to be congratulated for the enthusiasm with which they entered on the work and also for the efficient way in which they made the canvass.

Religious Census Taken.

A practical illustration of cooperation on the part of the Protestant churches of Wayne was seen in the religious census taken last Friday. Ten ladies from each of the five churches participated in the canvass. The city was divided into twenty-five districts, each of which two ladies were assigned. They assembled at the Baptist church at 1 p. m. for instructions and the assignment of districts. After prayer they went forth two by two to conduct the census.
The statistics brought to light by the survey should have an interest for all. Most of the families report only one church membership of preference, some are divided between two or more churches, and a report no membership or preference. Of those identified with one church only, 145 families are Methodist, 110 families are Presbyterian, 52 families are English Lutheran, 45 families are Baptist, 42 families are German Lutheran, and 37 families are Catholics. Of those reporting a divided affiliation there are 66 families. Less than a dozen report no church preference. A few were not at home and in their case record could be made.

The Ministerial association, under whose direction the survey was made, wish to express their appreciation to the canvassers who braved the cold wind to do their work. They also wish to thank the people of Wayne for their hearty cooperation with the canvassers, thus making it possible to obtain the correct data. As representative of the churches of the city, the association extends a cordial invitation to all families in the community and especially to those not affiliated with any church, to attend religious service on Sunday and to seek for themselves a church home in our city.—J. H. Fetterolf, President; William Kilburn, Secretary; J. W. Beard, R. H. Pratt, H. Teckhaus.

Chiropractic

The Drugless Road to Health

For Children—

Parents should know the benefit of CHIROPRACTIC SPINAL ADJUSTMENTS for their children. It is just as natural for children to be healthy as it is for the grass to grow in the field.

All the health they have is within themselves, not in the drug store or operating room of a hospital. There is no physician or surgeon living who can inculcate health into them. Chiropractic is the only method which gives nature a fair chance.

The diseases of children usually start with listlessness, loss of appetite, fever, etc. The usual and mistaken mode of procedure is to adopt an expectant form of treatment and await developments. By that time you have a well-developed disease that is termed self limited and you make up your mind to a siege of several days' alternate hope and despair.

THE CHIROPRACTOR uses no expectant treatment; he simply palpates that little spine for a hot box. That child may be simply burning up with fever yet there is one place in the spine which will indicate the cause to the chiropractor.

The chiropractor gives an ADJUSTMENT: in a few hours another; you see your child getting better and you are so thankful that it is nothing serious; yet ponder carefully what might have had unexpected treatment, instead of removing the cause.

How much better it is to throw a pall of water on the fire when just starting than to wait to see how big the blaze is going to be.

"Seventy-five per cent of the school children of St. Louis are afflicted with some form of spinal curvature or spinal defect, and this is the cause of many grave and dangerous diseases later in life."—J. H. Grunshaw M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

A spinal analysis given by a trained Chiropractor will show whether your spine is normal or not. If there are any small bones misplaced, these will cause pressure of the nerves and the vital force which flows to the organs supplied by these nerves will be interrupted. Disease will be the result.

After the Chiropractor has located the misplacement, technically known as a subluxation, he will, with the use of his bare hands only, give you a Chiropractic Spinal Adjustment which will restore the subluxated bones to their proper position.

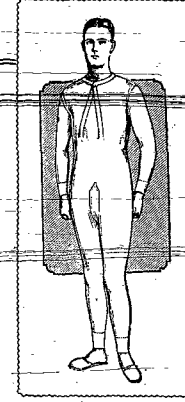

A child can understand what will happen. The nerve pressure will be removed and the vital force which has been interrupted will again flow, the organs which have not been receiving their full quota of this force will soon become normal and you will be well.

LEWIS GOES TO LINCOLN

Delegate to Convention to Help With Preliminary Work.

Prof. J. G. W. Lewis left for Lincoln Tuesday to assist the commission appointed by the legislature in making a survey preliminary to the coming constitutional convention. The commission will gather material for use of the convention. Lewis will not only be to give valuable aid in the preliminary work, but he will, by reason of the experience, be able to equip himself for better service during the convention.

Two former Wayne men have been elected delegates to the convention. Rev. Thomas Osborne, former pastor of the Presbyterian church here, is one of them, and Prof. E. P. Wilson, former superintendent of the Wayne city schools, and now head of the department of history in the state normal at Chadron, is the other.

Damage School Property.

Bloomfield Journal: The schoolhouse at Dux, Kadon, the Kruger school, has been entered on several occasions recently and quite a little damage done to the books and paraphernalia. As a result the school board and the patrons are much incensed and it will go hard with the miscreants who have been guilty of the vandalism if they are apprehended. The schoolhouse had been entered on a number of occasions. Here's hoping that someone will get the twenty-five bucks.

Devilry of this variety cannot be condoned in any way and those who are guilty should need not their just desserts. Breaking into a building is a serious offense and this added to the wanton destruction of property makes the proposition one that calls for drastic measures. It is regrettable indeed that there should be found people in the community who will stoop to such petty devilry, but every community has them and ours is no exception to the rule. As stated before, we hope that the guilty ones will be discovered and given the full penalty of the law. They have it coming.

A HALLOWEEN FATALITY

Boy at Craig Accidentally Killed—Other Nearby News.

Hallowe'en at Craig proved fatal to Glenn Langford, a son of Sam Langford, when he was accidentally shot by a marshal, Gene Chilstrom, who had been sworn in for that night, according to an account in the Tekamah Journal. Young Langford, aged a crowd of boys, had been having a frolic and when they saw the officer they hid. The marshal tried to frighten the boys by firing his gun, and a shot struck Langford, who died shortly afterward. He was conscious after the accident and did not blame Chilstrom. A coroner's jury absolved Mr. Chilstrom from any blame.

Chris Thompson, a Coleridge man, has arrived home from Germany, where he was interned as an alien enemy. An American citizen, he was in Germany to care for his aged mother when war was declared. While he was in Germany he was too short of funds to bring his wife home, as he could not get money from America. He had to escape from Germany by a subterfuge. Mr. Thompson says the German people are completely done with the Kaiser. Gottlieb Ege, an old resident of Bloomfield, died there Monday October 27. He had driven his car to town in the morning and on the way home he suffered a stroke of paralysis which caused his death. He had been apparently perfectly well when he left home in the morning.

In order to accommodate a hundred would-be consumers, the city of Norfolk has decided to go into the water main construction business, according to the Norfolk Daily News. Material has been secured and the work is to be accomplished through the assistance of the water and engineering departments of the city government. If the city had not taken this step, the consumers would have had to wait several months longer for water main extension.

UNDESIRABLE ALIENS.

Agents of the United States government have been busy the past week rounding up irresponsible agitators and dangerous anarchists to deport them. Radicals from foreign lands have been largely responsible for prevailing labor troubles in this country. They have come here to spread the pernicious anarchy which they absorbed in the old world. They would wreck this government by a subtle securing protection and benefits from it.

The Sioux Journal discussed in pointed fashion undesirable immigrants in a column of the eighth day of the month. These two introductory paragraphs reflect the feeling of the average patriotic American citizen.

"The wholesale rounding up of undesirable citizens by the federal authorities is an encouraging indication that the government is determined to get rid of the agitators, anarchists, radicals, and reds, who, fleeing from the poverty and oppression of other countries, notably Russia, are seeking to make the United States the same sort of a country as that from which they fled."

When the deportation of the undesirable will remove a large percentage of the agitation so much feared by people who prefer a government by law to one by anarchy. If the government these agitators advocate is superior, in their estimation, to that of this country, they should be found in the countries so governed instead of having fled from them. But the fifty seek do not want to return. They will resist deportation as long as there is a chance of doing so. They will invoke the laws they seek to overthrow to save themselves from living under the form of government they advocate. Why any sane individual will listen to such rabble and follow such rot is incomprehensible.

whose protection and advantages he has sought, he becomes an unworthy guest and must be kicked into the street. He must be made to understand that he cannot get the suit of his benefactor and insist that benefactor's food while doing so. Yet that is what the undesirable are doing."

The Journal concludes by saying: "When the government dumps the entire kettle of spoiled fish on the country from which they came there will be a more wholesome atmosphere in this country. There will be less agitation and more intelligence. The questions of the times will be settled by intelligence instead of hatred and malice. The radicals are cowards by nature. They will submit to the discipline of those who do not gather in the net to behave themselves. They will leave their country and will begin an effort to live within the laws and to refrain from attempting to destroy the government. Fear of punishment will make them submissive Americans, and in time their mental disease will be sufficiently cured that they will begin to absorb American ideas. As a policeman's drawn revolver subdues the mob, so deportation subdues the irresponsible undesirable who cannot be deported."

AGRICULTURE NOTES.

More States for Better Sires.
A visit of thirty-six states—and the District of Columbia have enrolled in the "Better Sires—Better Stock" campaign since it was instituted October 1.

The latest states to join the movement are Alabama, Arkansas, California, Florida, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, North Carolina, North Dakota, Pennsylvania, Texas and Tennessee.

The percentage of the movement is further indicated by the fact that over 15,000 enrollment blanks have been distributed to the various colleges, county agents, county agents, and others working in the campaign with the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture.

Chickens Kept from Crossing.
While keeping two distinct breeds of poultry in one yard without mixing the breeds seems difficult, it can be accomplished easily and with satisfactory results, as shown by the account of an experience just received by the United States department of agriculture from a New England poultry raiser.

One of the kinds kept is a so-called egg breed, the other being a general-purpose variety of poultry. The method of preventing crossing is as follows:

One year, roosters of the "egg" breed, no other males being kept. The following year roosters of only the general-purpose stock are kept. The difference in the color of eggs of the two breeds selected is so great that hatching eggs have always been selected with certainty as to the breed, bying them. The plan necessitates introducing new males, but the advantages of keeping the blood lines of two breeds separate outweigh the slight cost of purchasing the males.

The department of agriculture points out that when this method is followed on two neighboring farms, an exchange of roosters might readily be arranged.

The Maxwell Truck

The lightest, lowest-priced 1-1/2-ton entry in the National Motor-Truck Development Tour which ended at Milwaukee several weeks ago after traveling over 3,000 miles through the six richest farming states of the middle west, made the best average for consumption of gasoline, oil, and water. It traveled the same rough roads and carried its share of the overloads from soft fields as the other participants.

A stock one and one-half ton truck was taken from production without preliminary "tuning up" and placed in the long demonstration tour in competition with the best in America. It traversed some of the worst roads in the country, over plowed fields and in country lanes, at times hauling many hundred pounds in excess of its rated capacity and made a remarkable record.

The Maxwell came through without the need of mechanical adjustment and the big 35x3 pneumatic tires which carried the truck looked at the finish as though they had not been run over one hundred miles.

Records available show that the Maxwell averaged slightly under 13 miles to the gallon of gas, over 1,200 miles to the gallon of oil, and 383 miles to the gallon of water.

Near Fargo, N. D. Percy Gibbs, driver of the truck, made his most difficult demonstration. From the Schroeder Bros. farm two loads of potatoes each weighing 3,700 pounds were taken from a soft plowed field, where the wheels of the truck sank half deep in the mire, to the depot five miles away. Groceries, grain, bran, flour, milk, turnips, potatoes, pop, gasoline, oil, baggage and general merchandise were carried at different times during the tour proving the Maxwell's versatility.
