WAYNE HERALD, THURSDAY, JANUARY 1, 1920.

LOCAL REVIEW OF YEAR NOW CLOSED

Building Activities in Wayne and Vicinity During Year Show Healthy Increase.

OUTLOOK IS REASSURING

Lumber Dealers Say Unprecedented Demand Expected to Put Up New Homes.

Prospects for building in Wayne are better than for any community here ever brighter on January 1 than they are today, according to lumber dealers here.

The improvements made in 1919 were for the most part in homes, a number of new ones were built, and several remodeled.

The farmers have been even more active in building than those in the city, their property is so valuable that it is possible to erect large homes, and necessary to add to their farm equipment.

One factor pointed out that the automobile was beginning to have a changed effect on building activities.

It is said a few years ago many people bought pay in cars, and they have been able to keep a car and home.

The most notable public improvements in Wayne in 1919 were hospitals built by Dr. S. A. Lutgen and the new hospital building in the north part of town was opened Thanksgiving day.

Dr. Lester's chronic hospital, 345,000.

Ernest Hattigfeldt, residence five miles west of Wayne, $15,000.

Mike Lower, bog house, machine shed, etc., four miles east, $3,000.

Oscar Johnson, bog house, barn and car improvements, eight miles north, $15,000.

William Baumgardner, residence, $7,000.

Fleer, barn three miles west, $2,000.

Mrs. J. W. Ziegler, corn crib, seven miles northwest, $1,500.

Dr. S. A. Lutgen, residence, $4,000.

C. S. Cerling, residence, $7,000.

Wayne, $800. Harry Robinson, tenant house south of town, $1,300. Oscar Ahlbeck, country, house, barn and garage $50,000.

Mrs. J. F. Jeffries, city, house, $10,000. B. Gamble, country, house, $8,000. Wm. Piepenstock, city, remodeling house, $2,500.

A. D. Lewis, city, house, $15,000. Alvin Carlson, country, garage, $5,500. Robert Echtenkamp, country, garage, $500.

J. H. Kemp, city, house, $10,000. John Harrington, city, house, $15,000. George Meyer, country, hog house $1,000.

E. Carhart, city, tree house, $1,500. Henry Lessman, country, house, $5,000. Anton Ehrenkamp, country, barn, $3,000.

Carl Beck, country, house, $3,000. Arthur Ahern, city, house, $10,000. LeRoy Ley, city, house, $10,000.

TWENTY-FOUR HOUR SERVICE RESUMED

Plenty of Coal on Hand and in Transit Enables Wayne Plant to Put in Full Time.

WORK ON SANITARY SEWER

City Will Advise for Bids as Soon as Survey Plans.

Twenty-four hour electric light service was ordered resumed by the city council when the members met Tuesday night.

The matter of the kind of water connections to be used in the new sewer was referred to the water committee.

Mayor J. H. Kemp presented a request of the firemen that they be allowed to fire their night work 2 o'clock for the dance New Year's eve.

The committee on lights had decided it would be advisable to resume the 2 o'clock service.

The council decided to grant the request, the full service to begin Wednesday.

The Sunday hours formerly used giving lights early in the morning and late in the afternoon, and power at church time for the organs, were adopted.

Audience tries vainly to detect difference between voice of famous soprano and RE-CREATION by Edison's new phonograph

Those present at Normal Auditorium October 10 saw Alice Verlet walk onto the stage. They saw her take her position next to a beautiful cabinet. They saw her lips give voice to the opening lines of Gounod's Ave-Maria. Then suddenly her lips were still—but the song kept flowing on.

How came this? They were hearing Alice Verlet's voice, yet Alice Verlet was not singing. The entire audience gasped as it slowly realized that it had been unable to distinguish between Alice Verlet's voice and the RE-CREATION of that voice by the New Edison.

This was the daring test undertaken October 10 at Normal Auditorium by Thomas A. Edison. He sought to prove that no difference exists between the voice of the living artist and its RE-CREATION by the New Edison. The musically cultured Wayne were invited to pass judgment. No test could have been more exacting.

Alice Verlet made comparison after comparison. The Soboloff Trio also made tests. The mystified audience tried vainly to catch a difference between the original rendition and its RE-CREATION by the New Edison. No one could tell one from the other.

It was a triumph whole and complete for the New Edison.

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph With a Soul."

The instrument used in the Tone-Test is the regular model which sells for $285. It is an exact duplicate of the Laboratory Model which Mr. Edison perfected after spending Three Million Dollars in experiments.

The New Edison alone of all phonographs is capable of sustaining this test. Until Mr. Edison knew it would do so, he regarded his work as unfinished. Ask some one who was present. Learn the amazing truth. Then come in and let us prove it personally to you.

Eat Cookies

THE present sugar shortage makes it almost essential to substitute cookies for frosted cakes. Cookies are healthful and palatable. A plate of wholesome cookies to serve with dessert is dainty and tempting.

We have fresh cookies at all times. There are chocolate, cognac, fruit, peanut, oatmeal and ginger cookies, macaroons and jelly crumbs. They all taste as good as they look. Just the thing with dessert or tea.

A Glimpse of the Millennium.

Lincoln Journal: No, we won't have the millennium when a way is found to end the struggle over the distribution of wealth. There is no such struggle among our brave boys of the navy. But look at the discontent of Admiral Sims over the distribution of certain rear ribbons.

The Disinterested Bystander.

St. Paul Pioneer Press: Having presided over the senate for seven years Mr. Marshall says he's "all fed up on it." But not many members ever talk like this. It seems that the way to get fed up on the senate is to be obliged to watch it.

Here's Hoping.

Springfield, Mass., Republican: Between January and March I look out for a drop in the cost of living, says Forecaster Palmer. His promise that the department of justice will keep pounding at it adds buoyancy to the hope.

Big Guns Thunder.

CHANDLER SIX

Famous For Its Marvelous Motor

Chandler Leads Where Performance Counts

WHEREVER men ask much of their automobiles the Chandler dominates. In the mountain countries it performs as many cars with larger motors do not perform. Climbing steep grades with the sharpest turns on high, creeping up and up at six or seven miles an hour on high without a miss or a skip or a sign of effort, where others shift, the Chandler holds for its driver the thrill of really satisfactory motoring.

In country roads of mud or sand, and in the congested traffic of crowded city streets, this same power and this same flexibility show their qualities.

The Chandler leads the whole six-cylinder group so distinctly because it is such a good car and so fairly priced.

REVIEWS PIONEER DAYS

Joseph Boeckenbauer Relates His Early Experiences.

A Herald representative met Joseph Boeckenbauer, pioneer of Leslie precinct, Wayne county, at Wakefield the first of the week, and found him in a reminiscent mood. Mr. Boeckenbauer who makes his home with a daughter at Wakefield, is 77 years old and is still rugged and active. He attributes his continued good health to plenty of exercise. He says he walks three or four miles every day, gives his mind and hands ample employment.

Mr. Boeckenbauer came to Nebraska in 1870, first locating in West Point. He moved from there to Leslie precinct, Wayne county, in 1871. He took up a homestead, and was appointed a postmaster to serve the neighborhood. He built the second school house in Wayne county. The first one was reared by other early settlers, he had no money to invest. He came with nothing and during the period of the grasshopper raid, he would have been glad to have moved out with nothing if he could have done so.

In those early days there were no steam heating plants or hot air furnaces in Wayne county. There were no coal stoves here, and if there were any coal stoves elsewhere, the settlers didn't feel the effect and had no reason to be interested. Wood was hauled long distances, and it was used sparingly in cook-stoves. By the time he finished the first motor power, in 1875, they were succeeded by horses. Buggies were unknown for many years. The introduction of a comfortable carriage was regarded the triumph of affluence. Now with automobiles and trucks, people traveling in the region are primitive dwellers traveled in a day.

Mr. Boeckenbauer says that while he was officiating as one of the commissioners of Wayne county in 1874, when a visitation of grasshoppers laid waste Nebraska fields, a citizen who had become land poor, owning a large area of the Logan valley's richest soil, appeared before the board to register a vigorous protest against a valuation of $10 an acre. Mr. Boeckenbauer says he told the citizen he knew he would not take that price for his land. "Take that price," declared the protester. "You don't dare to offer me $125 an acre for a quarter section adjoining your own farm." And Mr. Boeckenbauer said he didn't dare, because he didn't have the $125 an acre. The land is now worth from $250 an acre up.

Mr. Boeckenbauer said he bought eighty acres four miles northwest of Wayne in 1850 for $23 which he paid in butter and eggs. He later sold the tract for $200. This money he used to build a house to take the place of the dugout in which he had been living.

Mr. Boeckenbauer was sheriff of Dixon county thirty years ago, and it is believed he was defeated for reelection by a clever political trick pulled off just before election. He was sent out to serve a lot of execution papers on the eve of a November contest, and the sheriff put duty above self interest and accordingly went down to defeat.

Can Have Women's Auxiliary.
American Legion Posts throughout Nebraska can now have a women's auxiliary, according to a statement just given out by State Commander Earl Cline.

"While the definite rules have not as yet been worked out," stated Mr. Cline, "arrangements have been completed in Nebraska so that these auxiliaries can receive a temporary charter, which will later be replaced by a permanent one. For the time being the organization of such auxiliaries will not be extended beyond the local posts of the Legion."
"Anyone desiring to organize an auxiliary should obtain blanks from our state headquarters at Lincoln. These, after properly filled out by at least fifteen women, first, must be approved by the post to which it is to be attached, and secondly, by the State Commander. The temporary charters will be issued on a basis of a temporary constitution adopted from the present constitution and post organization of the American Legion. Membership in this auxiliary will be limited to mothers, wives, daughters and sisters of members of the Legion and mothers, wives, daughters and sisters of men and women who were in the military or naval service between April 6, 1917 and November 11, 1918, and died in line of duty or after honorable discharge and prior to November 11, 1920."

Lackey Addresses Teachers

Professor E. E. Lackey, head of the department of geography, Wayne State Normal school, left Wayne last Saturday for St. Louis to attend the annual meeting of the National Council of Geography Teachers, in session from December 29 to 31. Professor Lackey addressed the meeting Monday afternoon on the subject, "The Geography of a Country." No one is placed on a program of this sort unless he is known to be able to make a contribution. It is therefore no small honor which has come to Mr. Lackey, especially must it be so considered when it is known that he appears on the same program with such men as Brigham, Dyer and Whitebeck, all geography teachers of national reputation.

The Wayne State Normal school feels highly complimented to have a representative at the St. Louis meeting where only three other state normal schools are represented on the program. Though the Wayne Normal is one of the youngest schools in Nebraska, it is the best and most favorable known school outside the state. To represent Wayne favorably at national gatherings, as Mr. Lackey is doing at St. Louis, helps to extend its influence beyond state boundaries. It is this larger influence of the school that will come to be the determining factor with young people in their decision in favor of the Wayne State Normal.

Every Time.

The Deering and P & O Have Been Added to Our Lines for 1920

The Most Reliable Harvesting and Haying Machines

The Most Efficient Tractors and Power Machines

The Most Popular Plows and Tillage Implements

YOU know these trade names. Your father and grandfather knew three of them. They knew in their time, and you know today that these names stand for the highest quality farm machinery in the world. McCormick built the first practical reaper, Deering sold the first combine, and was a good-trainer pioneer, and William Parlin was one of the first steel plow pioneers. The lines of harvesting machines and plows started by these farm machine builders have been growing and developing ever since. Other machines have been invented and developed by the same manufacturers; and every new machine and implement has had built into it the years of manufacturing experience and farm knowledge accumulated by McCormick, Deering, Parlin and their successors. Now all of these machines and implements have been merged into one line—the International Harvester. The reputation of every machine and implement in this line is the same.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN TO YOU AS A FARMER? It means, first of all, that you can buy any farm machine or implement you may need, right here in this town, without taking chances on EXPERIMENTS or implements that might be "orphaned" one or two years after you buy them because of the manufacturer going out of business. You can always get repairs for any machine or implement in the International line because the Harvester Company will never go out of business. You are assured of reliable machines because every machine in the Harvester line is tried out and tested under actual farm conditions, before being offered for sale to the farmer. The Experimental Department of the Harvester Company is the most thorough and active institution of its kind.

It means, second, that you can get repairs and repair service on all of these machines through one concern—us. You don't have to go to the bother and inconvenience of trying to get repairs and service from half a dozen or more different companies. You won't be taking chances on expensive delays waiting for repairs during the busy seasons because we are going to carry a big stock of repairs on hand and any repairs that we might not have we can get for you in a hurry by a phone call to the International Harvester branch house.

Take this advertisement up in your machine shed so that whenever you need repairs for any of your International machines you will know where to go. Also, you will know where to go when you are in the market for new machines or implements of real quality and the highest operating efficiency.

The Wayne Hospital

Is prepared to supply efficient service and the greatest possible comfort for its patients. Nurses of experience and proved ability are courteous and willing in their work. Only the most reliable equipment is employed in the care of surgical, medical or X-Ray patients.

Comfort

THE comfort of the patients has been insured by many devices such as silent light signal system, which eliminates buzzing of electric bells. A vapor vacuum heating system makes it possible to heat each room according to the requirements of the person in it.

Attractiveness

THE Wayne Hospital was built with a view to attractiveness as well as service. The well-lighted, soft-tinted rooms are bright and cheery. Sun-porches overlooking the grounds are an added comfort to convalescents.

CHANDLER SIX

Chandler Leads Where Performance Counts

WHEREVER men ask much of their automobiles the Chandler dominates. In the mountain countries it performs as many cars with larger motors do not perform. Climbing steep grades with the sharpest turns on high, creeping up and up at six or seven miles an hour on high without a miss or a skip or a sign of effort, where others shift, the Chandler holds for its driver the thrill of really satisfactory motoring.

In country roads of mud or sand, and in the congested traffic of crowded city streets, this same power and this same flexibility show their qualities.

The Chandler leads the whole six-cylinder group so distinctly because it is such a good car and so fairly priced.

REVIEWS PIONEER DAYS

Joseph Boeckenhauer Relates His Early Experiences.

A Herald representative met Joseph Boeckenhauer, pioneer of Leslie precinct, Wayne county, at Wakefield the first of the week, and found him in a reminiscent mood. Mr. Boeckenhauer who makes his home with a daughter at Wakefield, is 77-years old, and he is still rugged and active. He attributes his continued good health to plenty of exercise. He says he walks three or four miles every day, and gives his mind and hands ample employment. Mr. Boeckenhauer came to Nebraska, in 1870, first locating in West Point. He moved from there to Leslie precinct, Wayne county, in 1871. He took up a homestead, and was appointed a postmaster to serve the neighborhood. He built the second school house in Wayne county. The first one was rearer Mr. Hoskins. In common with other early settlers, he had no money to invest. He came with nothing, and during the period of the grasshopper raid, he would have been glad to have moved out with nothing if he could have done so. In those early days there were no steam heating plants or hot air furnaces in Wayne county. There were no coal stoves here, and if there were any coal strikes elsewhere, the settlers didn't feel the effect and had no reason to be interested. Wood was hauled long distances, and it was used sparingly in cook-stoves. Ox teams furnished the first motive power. In time they were succeeded by horses. Buggies were unknown for many years. The introduction of a comfortable carriage was regarded the triumph of alliance. Now, with automobiles and trucks, people travel as far in an hour as primitive dwellers traveled in a day.

Mr. Boeckenhauer says that while he was officiating as one of the commissioners of Wayne county in 1874, when a visitation of grasshoppers laid waste Nebraska, a local agitator who had become hard poisoning a large area of the Logan valley's richest soil, appeared before the board to register a vigorous protest against a valuation of $125 an acre. Mr. Boeckenhauer says he told the citizen he knew he was not to take the price for his land. "Take that price," declared the protester. "You don't dare to offer me $125 an acre for a quarter section adjoining my own farm." And Mr. Boeckenhauer said he didn't dare, because he didn't have the $125 an acre. The land is now worth from $25 to $40 an acre. Mr. Boeckenhauer said he bought eighty acres four miles northwest of Wayne in 1880 for $25 which he paid in butter and eggs. He later sold the tract for $200. This money he used to build a house to take the place of the dugout in which he had been living.

Mr. Boeckenhauer was sheriff of Dixon county thirty years ago, and it is believed he was defeated for reelection by a clever political trick pulled off just before election. He was sent out to serve a lot of execution papers, on the eve of the November contest, and the sheriff put duty above self interest and indignantly went down to defeat.

Can Have Women's Auxiliary. American Legion Posts throughout Nebraska can now have a women's auxiliary, according to a statement just given out by State Commander Earl Cline. "While the definite rules have not as yet been worked out," stated Mr. Cline, "arrangements have been completed in Nebraska so that these auxiliaries can receive a temporary charter, which will later be replaced by a permanent one. For the time being the organization of such auxiliaries will not be extended beyond the local post of the Legion. "Anyone desiring to organize an auxiliary should obtain blanks from our state headquarters at Lincoln. These, after properly filled out by at least fifteen women, first, must be approved by the post to which it is to be attached, and secondly, by the State Commander. The temporary charters will be issued on a basis of a temporary constitution adopted from the present constitution and post organization of the American Legion. Membership in this auxiliary will be limited to mothers, wives, daughters and sisters of members of the Legion, and mothers, wives, daughters and sisters of men and women who were in the military or naval service between April 6, 1917 and November 11, 1918, and died in line of duty or after honorable discharge and prior to November 11, 1920."

Lackey Addresses Teachers. Professor E. E. Lackey, head of the department of geography, Wayne State Normal school, left Wayne last Saturday for St. Louis to attend the annual meeting of the National Council of Geography Teachers, in session from December 29 to 31. Professor Lackey addressed the meeting Monday afternoon on the subject, "The Geography of a Country." No one is placed on a program of this sort unless he is known to be able to make a contribution. It is therefore no small honor which has come to Mr. Lackey, especially must it be so considered when it is known that he appears on the same program with such men as Brigham, Fryer and Whitehead, all geography teachers of national reputation. The Wayne State Normal school feels highly complimented to have a representative at the St. Louis meeting where only three other state normal schools are represented on the program. Though the Wayne Normal is one of the youngest schools in Nebraska, it is the best and most favorable known school outside the state. To represent Wayne favorably at national gatherings, as Mr. Lackey is doing at St. Louis, helps to extend its influence beyond state boundaries. It is this larger influence of the school that will come to be the determining factor with young people in their decision in favor of the Wayne State Normal.

The Deering and P & O Have Been Added to Our Lines for 1920

The Most Reliable Harvesting and Haying Machines

The Most Efficient Tractors and Power Machines

The Most Popular Plows and Tillage Implements

YOU know these trade names. Your father and grandfather knew three of them. They knew in their time, and you know today that these names stand for the highest quality farm machinery in the world. McCormick built the first practical reaper, Deering sold the first twine binder, and was a good-twine pioneer, and William Parlin was one of the first steel-plow pioneers. The lines of harvesting machines and plows started by these farm machine builders have been growing and developing ever since. Other machines have been invented and developed by the same manufacturers, and every new machine and implement has had built into it the better and more convenience of trying to get repairs and service from half a dozen or more different companies. You won't be taking chances on expensive delays waiting for repairs, during the busy seasons because we are going to carry a big stock of repairs on hand in a hurry by a phone call to the International Harvester branch house.

Tack this advertisement up in your machine shed so that whenever you need repairs for any of your International machines you will know where to go. Ask your dealer to go when you are in the market for new machines or implements of real quality and the highest operating efficiency.

A Washington report says: 'The miners and the operators have interrupted President Wilson's letter of December 6 in different ways.' It would be refreshing if the president could hit the nail squarely on the head in his public papers, saying exactly what he means and meaning exactly what he says, leaving nothing of doubtful or double meaning.

This impressive truth is contained in recent Washington news. The fact is that the public has long been uneasy about the power of great employers; it is feeling uneasy about the power of great labor organizations. The community must be assured against domination by either. That is an important assurance—an assurance that neither employing corporations on the one hand nor labor organizations on the other will grind the operations and rights of the other under the heel of arbitrary power. It would seem up to the government to see that the dependent masses are properly safeguarded against imposition from either of the two necessary forces in public service.

Unknown to Judge A. A. Welch, it is understood he was one of three district judges in the state considered for appointment to the place on the supreme bench made vacant by the death of Judge Sedgwick. The appointment of Judge Day of Omaha who is a pioneer in Nebraska law experience, reflects no disfavor on the other two considered. It is common knowledge that an opinion issued by Judge Welch is invariably sound enough to stand the acid test of the most critical court machinery. If ability and merit will lead to the supreme bench, Judge Welch will be there in due time.

be demonstrated in due time. Though appreciating and applauding the vitality of Bryanism in politics, the writer nevertheless few will believe the erstwhile political stratagem can do more than create a brief pyrotechnic display, shooting across the sky of midsummer and sinking into usual oblivion in November. Mr. Bryan is showing his capacity to come back as far as he is liked, however, which many are profoundly pleased and devoutly thankful.

The old year was fraught with many difficult problems, some of them yet unsolved, but the new year opens with promise of equitable adjustments and return to a sane and progressive peace basis. Enthusiasm and voluntary idleness has decreased production and increased prices. There will not be material reduction in the cost of living until more people settle down to work and the supply is made more adequate to the demand. Those who have worked, however, have realized unusual incomes and if they have practiced economy, they are able at this time to show pleasing net gains. People who have shown indifference to employment now see incentive to go back to work. With the army of business men that swelled, 1920 will be made a record-breaker in production and prosperity. It is hoped Wayne will make large headway in improvements during the year. Faving will no doubt encourage development of private enterprises and private building operations. We confidently look forward to a year of unprecedented local improvement. In beginning the year, we wish all prosperity and happiness.

Farmers as Business Men.
Hamburg, Ia. Reporter: The old idea that every man entitled to the title "business man" lived in some town or city, and was engaged in some sort of endeavor which kept him nose down to a desk or kept him dodging from one long counter to another from daylight to dark, is so old that it no longer has any truth in it. We sincerely believe that the farmers of this country are the largest and most important business class of the day.

The American farmer has taken advantage of an opportunity presented him to learn to out and conduct the business of farming along lines that would mean more for him than heavy manual labor day in and day out the year around. He has come to realize that his is one of the most important positions in the world, and that in order to hold down that position in a manner that will bring about success he must resort to practical business methods.

Farmers of today have more system to their business than do a large per cent of commercial men and they are more exacting when it comes to following our plans than are many men in other lines of endeavor.

Fact of the matter is that the farmer of today has so much at stake that he were to for his success following of the right business methods he would soon be out of the game.

Newspapers in the days gone carried advertisements from the business men only and those were hard to get many times. Just take a look over the papers on today and note the large number of advertisements, large and small, that are run over the names of prominent and successful farmers throughout the country. The good farmer has come to realize that the home newspaper has a great selling power. He knows that he can dispose of his surplus stock by advertising in the local papers and he also knows that in an ad in his home paper is the most economic salesman that he can employ.

Car-Load Lincoln Flour on Track

Here's how we sell flour. Take out one sack and try it in your own home. You will find it so much better than you expect. You will order flour for the future. We have sold over a carload of Lincoln or Pillsbury's Best in this manner, and we will place this carload at your disposal the same way. We assure every housewife will be more than pleased with Lincoln if you will simply give it a trial. Without a question flour will be higher. Our proposition offers you the best flour obtainable at a sure enough right price. Will you accept?

Buy Syrup in Case Lots

It's a settled fact sugar will be a commodity on sale in a general way from 25 to 25 cents. It's common sense to suppose syrup will be higher. The demand for white or dark syrup in case lots (six gallons) is unusual. The purchase of a case will insure a saving of 25 to 35 cents per gallon. That's part of my duties as a merchant, is to explain the importance of buying commodities which are sure to advance.

Escaping Gas Causes Explosion. Stanton, Neb., Dec. 31.—A refrigeration car, believed to have been heated by a hard coal burner, was blown almost to pieces in the yards here while the local freight to which it was attached was doing some switching. Gas tanks in the car, supposed to be empty, are believed to have furnished sufficient escaping gas to cause the explosion. The sides and roof of the car were torn loose from the flooring and trucks.—The fire company responded to a call and extinguished the blaze which followed the explosion. Windows in the Sanders mill nearby were shattered by the force of the explosion. Firemen and draymen were in the immediate vicinity of the car just previous to the blast, but were in a position of safety when the explosion occurred, they declare. The car "just blew out" on all sides when the explosion came.

HIGH SENSATION

Nebraska's Greatest Grand Champion Duroc Boar.
The largest senior yearling shown at the State Fair

(Sale in Steam Heated Garage)

Concord, Nebraska, Monday, January 12, 1920

Forty-five Outstanding Immune Sows and Gilts

For the initial Duroc Sale of Immune Sows and Gilts that carry the service of the Nebraska grand champion, HIGH SENSATION, much time and consideration was given to the selection of high-class breeding matrons of the richest lineage, which would be a credit to him as a sire. Few breeders ever offered forty-five better individuals and no one ever presented forty-five more desirable bred sows and gilts. The sows represented are: SENSATION WONDER 2d, REED'S TOP COL., TOP MODEL, GRAND MODEL 8th, BIG SENSATION, PATHFINDER, KING THE COL., and ORION CHERRY KING. Breeding that has helped to make Duroc history. The sows and gilts are of the type that their pedigrees would indicate. Thirty are yearling and two-year-olds and the balance are fall gilts. All have been well grown and display excellent breed character. Melina's Lady is an outstanding daughter of Sensation Wonder 2d, Iowa Princess 5th is of like caliber. She is by Reed's Top Col. Long Pathfinder is a splendid daughter of Real Pathfinder, one of the best sons of Pathfinder. Another is Ohio Wonder 2d, a choice daughter of Grand Model 8th. Four better sows will not be sold this season in one sale. All of them carry the service of HIGH SENSATION. A large part of the offering has been mated to the Nebraska grand champion, HIGH SENSATION. The balance has been bred to LONG SENSATION, truly one of the largest and best sons of the world's famous sire, GREAT ORION'S SENSATION. Illustrated catalog, only on request. Send your buying order to J. E. Halsey, fieldman, in my care, and they will receive careful attention. I guarantee his selections.

Christmas Trade Week.
Sioux City Journal: With a mid-week holiday in which all business was suspended, and two days of lassitude and reaction following the tremendously heavy Christmas trade, business for the last week reached new volume levels. The rush of Christmas buying in the early days of the week sent the total of retail trade skyward. Stocks were depleted, and while there are many "left overs" on the counters of the retailers, the best goods have been well cleaned up. The Christmas turnover throughout the entire country has been larger and more complete than it has for years.
Wholesale business, other than in food commodities, has not been above normal. Most of the retail holiday supplies were purchased and delivered some time ago. There will be little retail buying until the annual invoicing is completed and probably not until after the usual post-holiday season and pre-inventory sales are closed. There is, however, less dead material on retail shelves than ordinary at this season. Goods have moved so fast during the last few months that there were few accumulations. The inventory and stock reduction sales advocated by the government and introduced by some of the trade organizations will be more for the purpose of lowering prices than for reducing stocks.
The gradual cooling down of labor unrest has made itself felt in productive enterprises and the volume of production is slowly increasing. Building activities, handicapped last season by constant labor disturbances, indicate a greater year than was contemplated for last season. Activities at this time are found in all lines of building supplies. If transportation is equal to the demands upon it, the country will experience a wave of building work next year without a precedent.
The railroad legislation in congress had no perceptible effect on trade or industry. It is recognized that what has been accomplished is only preliminary to the actual work which must be done. The announcement that the roads would be returned to their owners on March 1 settles the uncertainty which had prevailed, but it does not solve the difficulties.

CHEVROLET

For Economical Transportation

The present-day value of an automobile lies in its degree of utility. The more it serves the more it saves. And in measuring the value of the Chevrolet by these standards, its real worth is revealed.

Like a true friend, the Chevrolet will wear well—it will not fail you in time of need. It will not be a burden to keep. And the closer your acquaintance grows the greater will be the charm in its possession.

The Chevrolet represents an unusual value. This you will appreciate at first glance. But to know the full extent of its real worth, you must know more of the efficiency of its service—its capabilities for practical time—and labor-saving utility.

The popularity that Chevrolet cars have attained is a reflection of the sound judgment of the thousands of discriminating purchasers who were convinced that the vast resources and sound manufacturing policies of the Chevrolet Motor Company were adequate to insure the production of thoroughly worthwhile products.

WILL NEED INTERPRETER

Three Men Charged With Burglary—Dead and Dumb—Other News.

When Henry, Louis and Barney Posselt are given their preliminary hearing in Pierce on a charge of burglary at the residence of all boys, as the brothers are deaf and dumb. They were arrested in connection with the robbery of a hardware store in Plainview, December 17.

The program planned at the Deer Creek school near Battle Creek was spoiled when it was found that one of the pupils, George Scheldeder, had been shot in the leg with a small bore rifle. The boys had been in the habit of carrying guns in school, but their parents had insisted to stop the practice because they disliked to spoil the boys' fun. The Schroeder boy walked to his home and was taken to them for X-ray examination.

S. Toledo Sherry, Indian school inspector, was in Fairbury last week. He addressed the high school students at a basketball rally, and highly complimented their band. Frank Burdette of Fairbury received payment last week for a share he gave a stranger twenty-two years ago. The man was in town for the first time since he had the slave and hunted up the barber to pay him. The stranger explained that twenty-two years ago he had owned the barber a $20 bill in payment, but the latter was unable to change the amount. On the way to the bank the stranger was hauled a kidnapping accusation, the serious illness of his wife. He left at once and had never returned for Fairbury until last week.

An agricultural and domestic science short course will be held in Wausa January 9 and 10. The meeting was arranged by Wausa business men and farmers, with the help of the agricultural extension department of the International Harvester company. Among the features of the course will be the extensive use of motion pictures of subjects of importance to farmers, business men and housewives.

The opponents of the proposed system of consolidated schools was held in Ord last week. It was arranged to call meetings in each school district to elect delegates to a committee to decide on ways and means to defeat the proposed plan. The industry of the school janitor in Ord came near causing the children of the Methodist Sunday school to miss having a Christmas tree. On account of a tree shortage, the minister allowed the school superintendent to borrow the church tree for the school program. The janitor neglected to warn the janitor to save it, and the janitor, at work early Saturday morning, chopped up the tree and burned it. The superintendent spent some anxious days finding another tree for the Methodists. Resolutions to have an ice company, which filed its incorporation papers last week. The articles call for $20,000 capital stock. One of the oldest pioneers of Cedar county died at his home near Aten last week after living in the county more than sixty years. John Nelson suffered a paralytic stroke a few days before his death. He was 90 years old and was born in Sweden in 1829. When Mr. Nelson came to America as a young man he took a claim near St. Helena bar in the flood of 1881 he lost practically all his stock and equipment and his land was ruined. He then moved to a place near Aten. He is survived by his wife and two children.

Henry and Will Lambers, Cedar county farmers, will not have returned to them the $650 which they paid the Red Cross Nov. 2. The money was secured from them by a crowd which did not appear of their refusal to take their full amount of Liberty bonds. The money was paid during the premature celebration of the signing of the armistice. The farmer-holders later filed requests with the national headquarters of the Red Cross for the return of the amounts. The requests were referred to the local committee, which unanimously voted to have the Red Cross keep the money. The friends of the two men say they invested heavily in government securities but were not in accord with the manner of appropriating the bond quotas.

Fred John Linburg, veteran railroad boss on the C., St. P., M. & O. railroad, died in Laurel December 20 after a lingering illness. He was born in Sweden in 1856 and was married there in 1882, 37 years before coming to America. With the exception of the first six years in America, Mr. and Mrs. Linburg lived in Laurel. Mr. Linburg served the railroad as section foreman more than thirty years. He is survived by his wife, two sons and a daughter.

Notice to Creditors.

The State of Nebraska, Wayne county, ss: In the county court, in the matter of the estate of Elizabeth C. Kunkel, deceased.

To the creditors of said estate: You are hereby notified that I will sit at the county court room in Wayne, in said county, on the 9th day of January, and on the 9th day of April, 1920, at 10 o'clock a. m. each day, to receive and examine all claims against said estate with a view to their adjustment and allowance. The time limited for the presentation of claims against said estate is three months from the 9th day of January, A. D., 1920, and the time limited for payment of debts is one year from said 9th day of January, 1920.

Witness my hand and the seal of said County Court, this 17th day of December, 1919.

Supremely Indifferent.

R. L. T. in the Chicago Tribune: It would not subtract the eighth part of a jot from the sum total of our happiness if Mr. Carpenter should knock Mr. Dempsey into a cocked hat.

Laggard Congress.

Springfield, Mass., Republican: A hundred years behind the times is the terse summary of congress by Senator Ekins, who is, by no means a radical, but wants less talk and more action.

Popular Excursions.

Kansas City, Star: Government excursions to Russia promise to be very popular this season—with all of those of us not qualified to go. Let's have more of 'em.

Assurances Ectern Senator.

The following letter of co-operation and assurance from Senator G. W. Norris will be appreciated by Wayne people:

Washington, D. C., Dec. 23, 1919.
Mr. E. W. Hulse, Wayne, Neb.
Dear Mr. Hulse:—Thank you for your letter of the 19th instant. I was glad to co-operate with Congressman Evans in his effort to secure relief from the coal shortage at Wayne, and am happy that our efforts were successful. I write the chief administrator at Chicago several days ago, urging that he continue to give the Wayne situation his personal attention until the danger of a continued shortage is entirely alleviated.

Assuring you of my desire to be of service whenever possible, I am with kindest regards and the season's greetings, very truly yours,
G. W. NORRIS.

WALKER B. HINZ,
Director General of Railroads.

Work more— Produce more— Save more—

But we can't continue increasing our production unless we continue increasing our railroad facilities.

The farms, mines and factories cannot increase their output beyond the capacity of the railroads to haul their products.

Railroads are now near the peak of their carrying capacity.

Without railroad expansion—more engines, more cars, more tracks, more terminals—there can be little increase in production.

But this country of ours is going to keep right on growing—and the railroads must grow with it.

To command in the investment markets the flow of new capital to expand railroad facilities—and so increase production—there must be public confidence in the future earning power of railroads.

The nation's business can grow only as fast as the railroads grow.

PRINCE ALBERT

SAY, you'll have a streak of smoke-luck that'll put pep in your smoke-motor, all right, if you'll ring in with a jummy pipe or cigarette papers and nail some Prince Albert for packing!

Just between ourselves, you never will wise-up to high-spot smoke-joy until you can call a pipe by its first name, then, to hit the peak-of-pleasure you land square on that two-fisted-man-tobacco, Prince Albert!

Well, you'll be so all-fired happy you'll want to get a photograph of yourself breezing up the pipe with your smoke-trottle wide open! Talk about smoke-hot-sport! Quality makes Prince Albert so appealing all along the smoke line. Men who never before could smoke a pipe and men who've smoked pipes for years all testify to the delight it hands out! P. A. can't bite or parch! Both are cut out by our exclusive patented process!

Right now while the going's good you get out your old jummy pipe or the papers and land on some P. A. for what ails your particular smoke-petite!

You buy Prince Albert everywhere tobacco is sold. Today you buy it in tin, handbags, and half a cent and you'll find it in handbags and tin. It's the finest quality of pipe and cigarette tobacco in the world. It's the only pipe and cigarette tobacco in the world that's so good.

UNCLE WALT THE ROET PHILOSOPHER

GETTING BACK.

Let us get back to working, back to earning honest racks, back to baking, painting, clerking, back to winding-eight-day clocks. Long enough we've whooped and clamored, necking all the welcome ring long enough we've knocked and hammered every sane and useful thing. If we'd get back to work, like a bunch of earnest men, industries now dead and spoiling would be cutting grass again. There would be a true Festival that would simply beat the band, and a boom without a rival in the annals of this land. There would be no idle pulp, no stacks of lumber, no idle iron, no stock, if we'd be less wild and woolly, if we'd hit the old time track. Let's get back to useful labor, as we have done so often, and work with a sapper, sawing firewood with a hot. Let us all resume our knitting, make the shining needles by working happily, nor admitting any "egitator" guy. Let us darn the socks and mittens, prune the hedge and shear the cow, hank the eggs and down the kittens—let us all get busy now.

SNOW.

A lot of snow came down last night; it's lying round me as I write, in glisty drift and heap; it's in the alleys and the news, it's everywhere, for men to see—the only thing that's cheap. "If snow would make the furnace hot, and heat the stove, it would hit the pot and spoil a lot of grief; alas! it isn't worth a darn; in vain we've tried to make it burn, so we rear-up and beat. How it would soothe the anguished soul, if there should be a fall of coal, or wood in proper size. I would make the outlook far more bright to have a shower of anthracite from these forbidding skies. We long to see the fireplace glow, and so we get a raft of snow that will not melt, and so we rear-up around and freeze, and say that life's one long disease, that's caused to be a joke. My hands are frozen on my feet, there is no coal, there is no fire, and knife-edge tempests blow; I look around for stuff to burn, for egg or nut or lump; I get a foot of snow. The snow lies deep on dale and dell; I have a thousand tons to sell, but no one wants to buy; men wait to have a shower of anthracite, or of coal or oak from yonder lowering sky.

INDUSTRY.

"By industry we thrive," our fathers used to say; all day they looked alert, and put up tons of hay. They went to work full tilt, and seldom paused to rest; and thus our fathers built the country we inhabit. "By elegance we thrive," this is our watchword now, no longer do we strive to earn in sweat of brow. The country's bowed with care, the ears are bare, and cattle, and the land out hot air, and make a few remarks. The whistles do not tute to call men to their tasks, for all men decimate, on platforms, kept in the easts. The country's needing coal that children may not freeze, and get a ragmorte, a protest and a wheeze. "The country's needing peace, and harmony and zeal, and it would have surplus from tuss and frenzied spiel; but we like eight and every fellow talks, and runs and paws the ground. We all are Cifers, we all have silver tongues, and haughtily we pose, and show with our lungs. The sound of factory bell can only chafe and irk; we're binding with a spell, and haven't time to work. Together let us get, let all our rows be thinned; let's try to earn with sweat what we can't earn with wind.

PROBLEMS.

These Christmas bells remind us, as they ring everywhere, of good old days behind us, when problems didn't scare, our problems then were smaller, and wouldn't fetch a dollar; we took them by the collar and stogged them with a cigar. In those old times it was seldom that problems came our way; in high esteem we held 'em and watched the blunder things play;—our stuff routine was broken when problems from Hoboken blew in, with sign and token that they had come to stay. Then life was calm and peaceful, we worked and made no whine, and had a large valise of scads put down in brine; we did the tasks allotted, the files we hidly swatted, and to say we trotted at twenty after nine. One day was like another, we kept our divers fingers, and we never shined of brother, as do the profiteers, or so it seems, back gazing; the old days seem amazing, while present times are raising their racket in our ears. But, now our problems vex us, and never lose their grip; each day some new one wrecks us, and smites us, in ships and hips, and so we're back, ward glancing; we wish we might be prancing to those old times entrancing when problems raised no rump.

EASY VOICES.

It's easy now, on New Year's day, to rise and say, "We'll booze no more; we'll throw the demijohn away—the waterwagon, at the door." Thus men would vote, in olden times, when they their course could pick and choose. They would abandon sins and crimes, the chief of which were based on booze. The waterwagon goes its way, and there is room for every toff, for every rube, and heek, and "jay," and when they're on they can't fall off. In olden days the men of vows would boast that they had cut out gin, and they had halloos clear their brows, and were all pure and white within. A while they kept their vows on straight, their high endeavors showed the heart, but in six weeks, or maybe eight, they lost their places on the cart. But now the cart is barred about with hot-night fencing note can bend, and it's a cinch that every soon will get the journey to the end. There is no soothing morning horn, the winecup's broken at the stem; now used to cut out barleycorn, now barleycorn has cut out them.

THE NEW YEAR.

I hail the new year gladly, and say, to it, "Good day," while still surveying sadly the year that's passed off. The old year was once the winner when first its tour began, but now old time, the tinner, has put it in a can. That year was punk and dinky; its words of all blun belts, this much of sympathy is all the dead one gets. But now its bright successor works gladness I accept, and I'm a chear joint guesster. If it should prove a frost, I hail the buoyant stranger and hope he'll set us free from dread and doubt and danger, and all the ills there be. I hope he'll bring good feeling, contentment, in his train, and end the foolish spicing that's driving men insane. I hope he'll bring a season of quiet aid repose, and back to law and reason lead people by the nose. For I am ah, so weary of riot and arrest, of frowsty skates and lieary who do their dirty best, to stir up useless quarrels, to make man's passion, lead to undermining their morals, and spoil their useful game. The old year's bustled under a million tons of grit; the new year is a wonder, and ought to make a

Not Elysium.

Columbus Dispatch: It is reported that Poland is one place in which there is absolutely no profit, and that you don't buy your tickets yet. There is nothing in Poland to profit in.

Geese ..... 11c

The market remains unchanged from last week except in prices for corn, oats and hogs, all of which show a slight decrease.

Carroll Improves in 1919.
Some indication of the growth of Carroll in 1919 can be had from the increase in the number of telephone subscribers. Although there were 114 a year ago, a number of these were taken out in the spring, and no others put in to counter balance the loss. Now there are 123 subscribers in Carroll and several more phones to be put in as soon as possible.

Building operations in Carroll Carroll have been more active than ever. A number of new homes have been erected and others are in process of construction. In the business section, the principal changes have been the erection of a new warehouse, the beginning of a white stone-First National bank building and the addition of H. W. Breiteneyer's store. The paving started in the fall was stopped by an early winter, but will be finished early in the spring.

Social.
Mr. and Mrs. G. Garwood entertained at a family dinner party Christmas.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid met at the home of Mrs. Carl Carlson Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. V. G. Williams were guests of Mrs. Elizabeth Williams at dinner Christmas.

Mrs. Anna Owens and Thomas Roberts were entertained at the home of William Roberts at dinner Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Eddie entertained at dinner Christmas. Mrs. Ernest Schults and family and Mr. and Mrs. George Eddie and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Roe entertained at Christmas dinner. Mr. and Mrs. John Getman and son, and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Bartells and family.

Misses Frances and Parabe Bruner of Randolph, and Miss Ellen Bartells were Christmas dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Allenworth.

Mr. and Mrs. James Eddie had as Sunday dinner guests: Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hurlbert and family and Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Pierson of Oxford, Neb.

Mrs. L. V. Carter entertained fifteen friends of her little daughter, Lucretia, at a Christmas party Wednesday afternoon of last week. A tree was loaded with gifts for the children and Santa Claus arrived just in time to distribute the presents. Mrs. Carter served light refreshments.

Baptist Church.
(Rev. S. E. Bishop, Pastor.)
The young people's class held its business and social meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. Sillett Friday night. The hostess served refreshments and a pleasant evening was spent.

The third-year intermediate girls will entertain the young people's class at the home of Mrs. Fred Wilcox tonight. Mrs. Wilcox is the teacher of the hostesses.

The subject next Sunday morning will be "Our God" and the evening subject will be "God's Boundless Power to Bless."

Methodist Church.
(Rev. F. E. Sala, Pastor.)
The committee on evangelism met with the pastor at his study at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night.

A union watch service was held in the Baptist church Wednesday night. It began at 8:30 o'clock with prayer and praise, followed by an address by Rev. S. E. Bishop. A young people's hour was taken up in talks made by Miss Gladys Frances, Gomez Jones, Miss Pauline Farabee and Miss Edna Cobb. There was special music and a communion service at 10:30 o'clock after which Rev. F. E. Sala spoke. Consecration service was from 11:45 to 12:05 o'clock.

Sunday services will be as usual. There will be no prayer meeting tonight on account of the watch service last night.

England Discovers Lincoln.
Christian Science Monitor: It is a striking tribute to the interest taken by the British public in American history that Abraham Lincoln has given its three hundred and fiftieth performance at a London theater. The play has held big audiences night after night. The fact is that the British loves a "strong man," and the character of the former president is a sympathetic one. Especially does such a theme appeal to thought in times like these, when the highest order of statesmanship is wanted the world over. Looking and longing to find their leaders and wise direction, it is not unnatural that men should turn in contemplation to historic models. On the contrary, it is a healthy and a laudable sign.

Dick Richards' Supporters.
Mitchell Republican: If one may judge from the encouragement given to E. O. Richards' candidacy for governor on a "personal liberty" platform, there is a considerable number of people in South Dakota who are preserving their thirst over a long dry spell.

Another Outrage.
Pittsburgh Courier: Another outrage being perpetrated on the poor man of today is a tremendous increase in the price of diamonds. Will there never be an end to cruel injustice and heartless wrong?

Department.

MAN FEELS AS HAPPY AS A BOY

Fahy Says He Feels Thirty Years Younger—Since—Faking—Tautlae.

"I honestly feel thirty years younger since I began taking Tautlae, and am as happy as a boy," said M. J. Fahy, a switchman on the Missouri Pacific, and living at 300 1/2 street, Lincoln, Neb. "I had suffered from rheumatism in my muscles and joints for so long a time that I was getting so old to feel old before my time. My joints would swell up—sometimes awful and the muscles all over my body ached dreadfully most all the time. At times I was in such agony that I could hardly raise my hand to button my collar. My liver was nearly always sluggish, my appetite was mighty poor and I had such a tired, worn-out feeling all the time that I often felt discouraged for it looked like I would never get any better. "But Tautlae had made a well-man of me and I began to feel better soon after starting on it. My appetite picked right up—I enjoyed my meals and my liver soon got to acting right. All the swelling and pain were now gone and getting rid of this rheumatism is the greatest treat of my life. "I find, tired, worn-out feeling—I had, and I sleep fine, like a different man, and there is nothing too good for me to say about it." Tautlae is sold in Wayne by Wayne Drug Co., and in Carroll by L. R. King.—Adv.

Notice to Creditors.

The State of Nebraska, Wayne County, ss. In the matter of the estate of E. F. Driskoll, deceased. To the creditors of said estate: You are hereby notified that I will at the County Court Room in Wayne in said County on the 9th day of January and on the 9th day of July, 1920 at 10 o'clock a. m. receive and take all claims against said estate and give me a view to their adjustment and allowance. MYSTERIOUS PAINS AND ACHES

Make Life Hard to Bear for Many Wayne Women.

Too many women mistake their pains and aches for troubles peculiar to the sex. More often ordered kidneys are causing the aching back, dizzy spells, headaches, and irregular menstruation. Kidney weakness becomes dangerous if neglected. Use a time-tried kidney remedy—Donan's Kidney Pills. Hundreds of people testify to their merit. Read a Wayne case: "Mrs. Mary Doeckenhauer, says: 'I had awful pains in my back and was never without a dragging ache through my back. I could hardly get around and I would have given anything for relief. I tried every medicine from that steady ache in my left weak and was often dizzy, too. My kidneys didn't act often enough, and I was certainly in a bad way. Donan's Kidney Pills relieved me of all these symptoms and occasional use since has kept my kidneys in good condition. "Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Donan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Doeckenhauer had. F. W. Mohr Co., Mfgs. Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv."

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES.

Early Days from the Wayne Herald for January 7, 1899. James Miller, Charles Reynolds and Rollie Lee returned to the state university.

A number of young people spent a few pleasant hours at the home of James Miller.

The markets are: Wheat 58c, corn 90, butter 10c, eggs 15c, hogs $2.65.

Miss May Cunningham began teaching nine miles northwest of town this week.

Herbert and Clem Theobald and M. O. Cunningham returned to the state university.

James Alvera goes to Dixon next week to be his labors as principal of the Dixon schools.

Misses Clara Philbo and Katherine Williams went to Bellevue former to study music and the later elocution.

Mrs. A. H. Ellis and Mrs. H. D. Blain returned to town about thirty five women at the home of the former New Years eve.

Albert Berry received a telegram from his brother in Lincoln where he has secured a position as custodian of the house in the state legislature.

The worst blizzard that has visited this section since January, 1888 began Saturday night and continued until late Monday night. At times it was almost impossible to see across the street and drifts of snow six and eight feet high were visible everywhere. Business was practically suspended and no train reached Wayne until Tuesday.

The people of Wayne and the residents of the entire section are about to conclude negotiations which guarantee them the location of a large beet sugar factory. John Connor of Fort Scott, Kan., is on his way home from Wayne, where he has been negotiating with John T. Bressler and other prominent citizens with reference to the location of this enterprise, and he is confident that everything will very shortly be settled satisfactorily to all concerned. Mr. Connor was for years a resident of Wayne and for a period was treasurer of Wayne county. He thinks the country around Wayne is the finest soil on earth for growing sugar beets. It is proposed to build a factory costing from $125,000 to $150,000 which will have a capacity of turning out 200 tons of beets per day. As the product is about 185 pounds of sugar to the ton of beets, and as beets run about fourteen tons to the acre, it is expected the factory will consume the yield of quite a respectable area of farm land.

As the year 1896 gradually drew to a close, the beautiful home of F. A. Dechorn presented a scene that will long be remembered by a throng of Wayne's business men. It was a stage party, and Mr. Dechorn was assisted by E. W. Williams, H. P. Blanchard, E. E. Perrine and W. H. McNeal. The gentlemen present were: W. S. Grouber, Dr. Hammond, Neal Harrington, R. M. Galbreath, Dr. Heckert, Ed Mitchell, A. P. Childs, Henry Ley, Lon Ellis, Raymond Tracy, E. P. Olmsted, A. A. Welch, J. T. Bressler, H. C. Wright, T. W. Moran, H. L. Kimball, Ed Smith, F. M. The drill in the coal hole is not out yet. It matters little, however, as the shaft is to be immediately commenced, and will be put down as rapidly as possible.

Mr. Ayres is having bad luck with his herd of cattle this winter, which is being kept on the Logan.

About a hundred of them have died and many others are in a fair way to do so.

On Tuesday morning a shocking accident occurred at Middle Creek, thirty-four miles from Covington, on the line of the railroad between Covington and Omaha. The train which left Covington at 7:45 Tuesday morning, arrived at Middle Creek at 10 o'clock, and just before that place came to a deep cut which was filled with snow, and which cut, unknown to the engineer, was being skinned out by a force of eleven men from Oakland. The train entered the cut under a full head of steam. The men at work saw the train coming and stepped aside to allow it to pass. But by some miscalculation they stood too near the track, and were struck by the steps of the passenger car, and seven were thrown under the wheels. Six of them were horribly crushed and mutilated, and killed instantly. The seventh man was so badly mangled, that though not killed outright, his life is despaired of. The dead and wounded were taken to Oakland. The names of the killed are: Charles Meyers, Thomas Brangham, A. P. Swanson, August A. Herman, Ole Anderson, and John Erickson. The wounded man is John Adelman. An inquest was held at Oakland yesterday. This is one of the most horrible fatalities that has ever occurred in Nebraska.

JUDGE S. H. SEDGWICK DIES

Member of Supreme Court Passes Away on Christmas Day.

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 26. Judge Samuel Hopkins Sedgwick of the Nebraska supreme court died suddenly at 3:30 p. m., Christmas day, at his home here. Funeral arrangements have not been made. The body will be taken to his former home at York for burial.

Besides his wife Judge Sedgwick leaves two daughters, Miss Myrnia, at home, and Miss Catherin, who at present is employed in governmental work at Beirut, Syria, and one brother, T. E. Sedgwick of York.

Judge Sedgwick, at no time had expressed any feeling of illness. He had been working hard for the past month but had shown no symptoms of breakdown. Tuesday he, with the other judges, heard a special argument. The family had eaten a luncheon Thursday afternoon, after which Judge Sedgwick had seated himself in a chair and lighted a cigar. A few minutes later he leaned his head against the back of the chair and dropped his cigar. Members of the family summoned a physician.

The judge expired soon after the doctor arrived. The latter attributed it to heart failure.

Judge Sedgwick was born at Bloomingdale, Ill., in 1848. In 1873 he came to York, Neb., where he practiced law until elected judge of the district court in 1896. He was appointed supreme court commissioner in 1901 and served the court in that capacity two years when he was elected judge of the supreme court. He has served continuously with the exception of two years in the office of judge of the supreme court of Nebraska for a period of fifteen years. His term of office does not expire until 1922.

UPHOLDS—LANGUAGE LAW

Statute to Restrict Use of Foreign Languages Held Good.

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 26. Constitutionality of a state law designed to curtail use of foreign languages in Nebraska schools as an Americanization measure was upheld by the state supreme court today. The law which applies to all public, private, parochial and denominational schools in the state, provides:

That foreign languages shall not be employed in giving instruction on any subject to pupils below the ninth grade.

taught as languages in the ninth and higher grades. That foreign languages may be employed in the ninth and higher grades insofar as the teaching of such languages may require, but may not be used as a medium of instruction in any other subjects.
