PROPERTY OWNERS ENTER A PROTEST

Residents on Parts of Pearl and Logan Streets Asking to Have Width of Paving Reduced.

CLYDE OMAN SPOKESMAN

Protests to be considered at special meeting of city engineering committee Friday evening.

A group of owners of property on Pearl street, between Logan and Fourth streets, is protesting against a proposed change in the width of the street. The protest is being led by Clyde Oman, who is the spokesman for the group. He declared that the proposed change would be a detriment to the property owners and would be a detriment to the city as a whole.

The proposed change is to increase the width of Pearl street from 32 feet to 40 feet between Logan and Fourth streets. The city engineers have proposed this change as a part of a general plan for widening the streets in the city. However, the property owners on Pearl street believe that this change is unnecessary and would be a detriment to their property.

Mr. Oman declared that the proposed change would be a detriment to the property owners and would be a detriment to the city as a whole. He said that the proposed change would increase the cost of paving the street and would also increase the cost of maintaining the street. He said that the proposed change would also increase the cost of building on the property.

The cost of a 34-foot-wide paving would be $45,000. The cost of a 40-foot-wide paving would be $60,000. The city engineers have proposed this change as a part of a general plan for widening the streets in the city. However, the property owners on Pearl street believe that this change is unnecessary and would be a detriment to their property.

Persons present living on Logan street said they wanted the same reduction in width. Mr. Oman, according to the engineers' plans, it is to be 34 feet wide between Logan and Fourth streets and 40 feet wide between Fourth and Sixth streets. Mr. Oman said that he did not favor less than 40 feet.

At the suggestion of Mr. Berry, Friday was set as a time when the meeting would be held. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. at the city hall. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. at the city hall. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. at the city hall.

WAYNE STATE NORMAL

RESUMED JANUARY 12

Enrollment Reaches 500—Over Fifty Taking Absentia Work. As anticipated, the Normal reopened Monday with a distinctive increase in enrollment, fifty-three students having started the first two days of this week. Most of these have entered the courses for the "short term," which is a special feature of the institution, extending from Thanksgiving until March. This increase places the enrollment at about the highest point in its history.

Over fifty young people in Northern Nebraska are taking work in absentia in the following subjects: The Modern Novel, Current Poetry, American Literature, French, German, Book-keeping, Penmanship, and Theory of Education. As there are about two hundred pupils in the training school, it is apparent that over seven hundred young people are in some way associated with the work of the Normal school.

FATAL EXPLOSION

PLANT IS BURNED

Fire Destroys Gas Plant at Norfolk Early Tuesday Morning—Chris Kretsch Loses Life. One man was killed and two others narrowly escaped death in a fire and explosion which destroyed the gas plant at Norfolk Tuesday morning. Dr. H. D. Cole, manager of the plant, believes Chris Kretsch, the gas-fitter, lost his life to save an entire block of buildings from destruction by an explosion of the big tanks.

The fire started about the general store, gas-fitter equipment. Chris Kretsch gave the alarm and dashed into the boiler room to shut off valves connecting the plant with the gas supply. An explosion followed which caused his death.

The destruction of the plant cut the gas supply from 200 places. The plant was a valued property. The destruction of the plant cut the gas supply from 200 places. The plant was a valued property.

WHEN TO PAY PAVING DEBT City Attorney Explains How the Obligations Will be Met.

Since the paving contract, has been let, the Council's construction company of Lincoln, property owners effected by the improvement are inquiring how and when they will pay for the work. In answer to some of these questions, F. S. Berry, the city attorney, explained the paving, with the exception of street intersections, is to be paid by assessments levied against all property in the paving district.

"These assessments are payable," Mr. Berry elaborated, "as follows: One-twentieth in fifty days after the assessment and one-twentieth each year thereafter until paid. Deferred payments bear interest at a rate not exceeding 7 per cent. Any person may pay his entire assessment within fifty days after it is assessed without interest."

The cost of paving the street intersection is to be taken care of by the city. After the work is completed, Mr. Berry said, the city will issue bonds payable in not more than twenty years and bearing not to exceed 6 per cent. interest. To pay these bonds, assessments will be levied against all taxable property in the city.

When the construction company completes its work here, the council will meet to determine the amount of assessment against each lot in the paving districts. This will be determined on a basis of benefits received from the paving. Mr. Berry explained. Every property owner will be given an opportunity to protest and the council will serve as a board of equalization.

The phonograph that amazed all Wayne

ARE you one of those who believe that no phonographs can match the voice of the living human? An astonishing discovery awaits you like the many Wayne people who attended the Alice Verlet recital.

Thomas A. Edison gave his famous Tone-Test Friday night, October 10, in Normal Auditorium. He had Alice Verlet sing in direct comparison with the RE-CREATION of her voice by the New Edison. Music lovers were completely baffled. Their ears were unable to distinguish the RE-CREATED voice from the living. You have never heard any phonograph that approaches the New Edison. It RE-CREATES not only the musical notes, but even the quality of tone and color which identify the original artist.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

Purebred Increasing in Bull Clubs.—Purebred cows in bull associations herds have increased 2.9 per cent since 1918, according to the bull association directory recently compiled by the United States department of agriculture. The records for 1918 show that the number of cows owned by members of bull associations was 10,248, of which 579, or 5.5 per cent, were purebred; but the records for 1919 show the total number of cows was 13,244, of which 2085, or 11.43 per cent, were purebred.

Comparing only those associations which reported in both 1918 and 1919, it is found that in 1918 there were 495 purebreds, and in 1919, 1501 purebreds, or an increase of 118 per cent.

That the bull association is proving a great help to the small breeder is evidenced by the fact that the number of associations has increased from 44 in 1918 to 78 in 1919. The bull association guarantees the farmer the continued use of a good purebred bull at a cost that is within his reach, and the farmer has not time to realize its value. If the farmer is not sure of the value of his own herd, he should consider the possibility of joining one of these associations.

It is certain that the future will show a steady replacement of the grades by purebreds, and that this will take place both by natural increase and by purchase until the members of bull associations will have practically all purebred cows in their herds. Without a bull association few of these smaller breeders would have found it possible to get into the raising of purebreds.

Making Sure of Binder Twine.—The United States has long depended for much of its supply of binder twine on henequen from Yucatan. The uncertainty of the supply during the past several years has caused anxiety lest these should not be enough binder twine to harvest the increasing crops of grain in this country, and the United States department of agriculture has been making diligent efforts to find new sources of supply or new regions where binder twine fibers may be produced. The chief of the bureau of plant industry reports encouraging results. The conditions in limited areas, extreme southern Florida and on the larger keys, are regarded as suitable for the production of stiel and henequen fibers, provided the cost of land and labor is not too high to permit successful competition. Henequen has been cultivated successfully for several years in Cuba and the plantations are being increased, but thus far they produce scarcely enough fiber to supply the cordage mills on the island. Conditions are regarded as favorable for the production of binder twine fibers in limited areas in Haiti and over a much larger area in southern Santo Domingo. Experimental plantings in Porto Rico have resulted in the establishment of a commercial plantation near Yaeo and trial plantings near Quebradillas and on Mona Island have given promising results. In the Virgin Islands excellent conditions for the cultivation of sisal have been found on St. John. In the Philippines the introduction of modern fiber-cleaning machines has resulted in increased plantings of stiel and private capital has bought and installed machines to develop the industry in a larger scale.

Effective Demonstration in Swine Breeding.—With the aid of the extension loan fund which has been created by public spirited citizens of North Carolina, for financing worthy boys and girls in raising purebred livestock various county agents in that state are starting demonstrations in swine breeding.

D'Annunzio's Achievement.—New York World: According to their several dispositions, the poets of the world will either envy (D'Annunzio) that one poet has succeeded in having a cashier who could cope with a million francs.

breeding which promise to be particularly convincing to farmers in the localities concerned, because the demonstrations are to be carried on large by residents of the neighborhoods.

The method being followed is for the county agent to select a promising boy or girl in each of several districts who will agree to raise a sow for a given period. After a 4-acre plot suitable for the demonstration has been decided on and plans have been completed for improving it, an approved mate is given by the youthful stock raiser to cover the purchase price of a sow, the cost of fencing, seeding and erecting one or two colony houses. The piglets and the improvements are then purchased with money advanced from the extension loan fund.

The plan contemplates raising pigs to the age of eight months. All animals used in the demonstrations are to be purebreds. The first North Carolina demonstration proposal was presented instantly agreed to co-operate and set aside for his 3000-acre farm near the highway, along which many people pass. The tract is to be fenced this winter according to the most approved methods and provided with a modern self-feeder and an automatic waterer. A registered Poland China sow will take possession early in the spring and will farrow a March litter in her new quarters. It is confidently expected that in this demonstration, as in the others being arranged in various parts of the state, the interested animals will pay all the expenses—including feeding and feeding, the first year.

Business Conditions Firm.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 15.—Last week was marked by firmness in both trade and industry, but with the trend of prices still upward. Some commodities which show a yielding inclination recovered and in a few instances made gains over former apices. Hides had shown a decline due to the high prices of leather goods which had checked retail buying, but newly buying of the raw material sent the quotations back to former levels. The change of a cent a pound in raw hides makes a difference of about 14 cents per hundred weight in the price of cattle, showing what effect the decline might have had on the primary cattle market.

There is no indication that a change in living conditions has taken place. The retail market has been influenced by the number of stock reductions and special sales, but standard goods are still holding at the old prices. The demand for goods of the better quality, and prices are generally the criterion by which quality is judged. Demands in the primary channels are greater than the supplies. Wholesale volume was slightly lower, but this was because of the reduction process in the retail trade.

A significant feature of the week is the implied warning of certain commercial agencies that the existing situation cannot last indefinitely. This is the first intimation from such a source that the bottom may drop out of inflation, but it is a possibility of the tendency to shove the price upward beyond all bounds. Who will be hit first and how serious the result will be are not intimated, except that extravagance will be checked. The weekly bank clearances reached $10,621,038,609, the highest for many weeks.

Just Like Mr. Bryan.—B. L. T. of the Chicago Tribune: "If I am booke to the presidency," says Clemenceau, "I will accept." That was always Mr. Bryan's attitude. If he were carried to the presidential chair and lashed to it, he would reluctantly agree to serve.

The Day of the Farmer

When three hundred hard-handed, sun-browned men from thirty-two states assembled recently to map out a program for the get-together of American farmers, they declared solemnly—though in more elegant language—that the farmer shall no longer be the national goat! The organization of the American Farm Bureau Federation means that the day of the farmer is at hand, says

DELIGHTED WITH IDAHO

Former Wayne Man Praises Twin Falls—Improvements Here.

Former Wayne residents now living in Twin Falls, Idaho, are finding the state of the general prosperity of that newly developed country, according to Charles Robbins, who was visiting his brother, John Harrington, last week.

J. W. Epler and Dan Ryan are farming near Twin Falls. Mr. Robbins said they have had abundant crops and success. K. Phillips, who lives in Twin Falls, is in good health and is active and energetic, his 82 years.

The principal reason in Idaho is for better railroad service. Mr. Robbins indicated, however, he believes this will be rapidly developed and difficulties caused by lack of railroads will soon be overcome.

Land which only a few years ago was covered with sage brush now sells at from $200 to $800 an acre. Mr. Robbins cited a number of instances when he owned about $1,000 an acre had been paid for farm property.

The people in Idaho come from all parts of the country east of that state the last ten years. He insisted that only persons of daring and energy ventured to the far west, and for that reason the country is filled with men who accomplished big things in a short time.

At a recent large gathering, Mr. Robbins told the speaker about the state of the Twin Falls. He said that only one man rose to his feet.

Marry on $125 a Month. Omaha, Neb. An offer of a prize for the best essay on "Marrying on $125 a Month" ought to bring out some interesting information.

The entire country is irrigated so that it is independent of the weather. Mr. Robbins said the people never bothered about rains from March to November, but were anxious to have snow, so as to drop to as low as twelve degrees below zero.

Wayne looks fine," was Mr. Robbins' appreciative statement. He has progressed ahead of the business section. Many beautiful large homes have been built and the Twin Falls district is superior to that in most towns.

DAVIS NAMED DELEGATE

Wayne Man Chosen From Third District to Support Wood.

The Gen. Leonard Wood campaign committee, in conference in Lincoln last week, selected A. J. Davis of Wayne from the Third congressional district on a slate for delegates to the national convention. The other delegate from this district is selected to be the primary is E. B. Penney of Fullerton.

Mr. Davis is an original Wood man. He supports the candidate because he believes that General Wood's past record has shown him to be a man of exceptional executive ability.

Delegates were selected for the state are: John W. Jovle of Omaha, F. B. Corrick of Lincoln, C. E. Sandall of York, L. D. Richards of Fremont, H. E. Starn of Hastings, E. Lutz of Blair, F. E. Robinson of Harrington and I. L. Yin-del of Sidney as alternates. The way from each congressional district choose the candidates they wish to represent that district. Those nominated will, if elected, be subject to the provision that delegates to the national convention represent the will of the party as expressed in the preferential vote.

Mr. Davis, Senator H. E. Siman of Wausau and J. T. Hreslavik attended the Lincoln meeting from this vicinity. The conference passed resolutions expressing recognition of the support of General Wood for president.

KANE DECLARES HE IS POWERLESS TO CHECK GOUGERS

Handicapped by Cooke's Refusal to Reorganize Wartime Fair-Price Board, He Says

ATTORNEY'S DUTY TO STOP PROFITEERING, SAYS HEINZ

Prosecutor Has No Time to Answer Questions Concerning Action in Other Cities

Writing the "Businesses" of this city, Kansas, for direct, vigorous action against the food gougers, whom he holds responsible for the undernourishment of their children, Francis K. Kane, United States district attorney, declared yesterday he was powerless to check profiteering.

Mr. Kane complained he was being handicapped by the refusal of Cooke, formerly food administrator, Philadelphia, to reorganize the fair-price board. He said that he had no time to answer questions concerning his action in other cities.

Great Quantities of Food Seized by Federal Agents in Big Cities

INDICATIONS of the real pinch back on the high cost of living were given in many cities.

While Attorney General Palmer's committee has indicated the approval of higher prices than those listed by word came from Chicago 84,000 pounds of foodstuffs by federal agents, in Chicago 1,222 tons of beef, 224,000 pounds of coffee, was seized in Birmingham 100 barrels.

Who said H.C.L.?

LAST season's suit still holds together and we can half-sole our shoes. And you can still buy a big generous tin of the jolliest old pipe tobacco that ever came down the pike, without mortgaging the old homestead. Hooray!

Good old Kentucky is still growing Velvet's honest fragrant leaf. We're still ageing Velvet in the wood. Velvet's just as smooth and mellow and mild as it ever was. The quality's there and the quantity's there just the same.

Take the "cost" out of the "high cost of living" and what do you get? Why, "high living" of course. Well, sir, that's what Velvet does.

It's like Velvet Joe says: "Anybody can tell you how much Velvet costs. But only yo' old pipe can tell you how much Velvet is worth."

There's goodness knows how many pipe loads in every tin of Velvet. Or if you want the mildest cigarette ever, there's 45 big ones in every tin.

REGULATORY FOOD POWER IS NEEDED

—HOWARD HEINZ

Fair-Price Boards Will Solve H. C. L. Problem, Says Administrator

GOING TO AID PALMER

Cooke Reiterates Refusal to Return for Food Fight

Howard Heinz, food administrator Pennsylvania, to go to Philadelphia to see the "food" problem, that right, said he is in his power to induce administrators to reorganize the boards, as requested by the attorney general.

He has no opinion, that the boards will be selected upon the high cost of the war that it rests with the consumer to assist regulatory the entire system of food.

He is the refund of Jay Cooke, food administrator for Philadelphia, to this city from the "equal" reorganize the fair price board. Mr. Heinz expressed that Mr. Cooke may yet be able to assume that burden.

War Is Over, Says Cooke. "War is over," said Mr. Cooke, "don't see why I should come here for the food administrator, unless for that office during the present situation may be an improvement. But I can't see why I should get called up in it. I would return and ask me the work that would be done."

The most kicking over paving will be done when the initial contract has been completed and those outside of the paved district will be scrambling for the improvement.

If the suggested heating of the business district from the west side of the city plan practical, as seems likely, it would prove a source of profit to the city and a saving in fuel bills to consumers. The plant needs the revenue. Also, people would not object to a reduction in the cost of heating their homes during the winter. We believe a feasible plan looking to the accomplishment proposed would be cordially endorsed and supported.

No public improvement was ever made without having objections to meet and obstacles to overcome. No large headway was ever gained in the evolution of a town without surmounting barriers and adjusting to new and often expensive requirements.

What do the so called "reds" want? Is it an infringement on a democracy to make people obey the laws of the country? Do the "reds" mean to employ force without sanction of government? What motive prompted the proposed attack on marching soldiers at Centra, Wash., if not a hateful desire to upset the existing government? Instead of seeking to improve society, the "reds" do not spread destruction without any better example of reconstruction than that offered by the bolshevism and chaos of Russia. The "reds" do not appear to figure out what they want beyond breaking down existing conditions.

The passing of W. H. Clemmons, state superintendent, reminds us that he was principal of the school at Ponca—thirty-three years ago and that we were at that time, a pupil in that institution. It was the year before Mr. Clemmons went to Fremont to take charge of the primary school. He became the center of his chief service in life. At Ponca he reflected his capacity and devotion in being kindly and helpful to youths who were striving in an awkward and uncertain endeavor to find themselves. He was a source of compelling inspiration to the boy or girl whose courage faltered. When Mr. Clemmons went to Fremont and pinned his hope to the state not to be broken, he brought with the opportunity for extended service to young people and everywhere today may be found those who bear the impress of beneficent leadership. He was a kindly and helpful to the man at the head of the institution. They will now hear of his death with sorrow and remember him with esteem. Kindest benediction will follow him. While the passing educator did not amass great material wealth and will not be remembered as a rich man, he left something more real and enduring—the memory of service rendered, the stimulation and鼓舞 of character, the prompting of ambition to learn and improve and become worth while to society. His life work is perpetuated in the memories of hundreds of men and women scattered everywhere. What of greater or more lasting value could he leave?

Protect Your Eyes

You have no more precious possession than your eyes. You owe it to yourself to take care of them. If you are suffering from eyestrain, properly fitted glasses will correct the cause of the trouble and save your growing discomfort. If you already wear glasses, you should have your eyes re-tested at least once a year. Your eye conditions change and your lenses may need to be changed. The growing need of efficiency requires that we should protect our eyes in 1920.

PASSING OF W. H. CLEMMONS

State Superintendent Dies Suddenly While on Way Home.

Lincoln Journal, Jan. 11.—W. H. Clemmons for the past three years state superintendent of public instruction, died suddenly Friday night in Fremont. He had been at Atkinson during the day on official business, returning to Fremont the evening shortly after his arrival. He was in his room in a hotel where he expired. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Mr. Clemmons came to Nebraska as a young agent and spending all of his money without making any impression upon the public. He often used to tell of starting back to Fremont with 25 cents in his pocket and arriving with no money and two very sore feet on the following day. He secured a position as school teacher in Fremont and for four years was installed as manager of the Fremont normal college, which was then in its infancy. He made the building of this school his life work. He was a genius in planning courses which boys and girls fresh from the farm could pursue with great profit and at small expense. He built up the school year by year until it had a large attendance and wielded a wide influence. Not until the state established four normal schools did Mr. Clemmons realize that he was in a losing fight. When he saw the inevitable he offered his school for sale and it has recently been taken over and will be perpetuated as a father-institution.

In the meantime Mr. Clemmons divided his interest, as he had been elected state superintendent of public instruction. While holding this office he suffered a severe illness, and for some time had been unable to carry on work with his customary vigor. His physical infirmities have only increased the regard the people have felt for him. Among his old students he was regarded with affection and some times almost with idolatry. The teaching profession held him in affectionate regard, not only because of the sweetness of his character, but because it is well known that he has been for a generation one of the useful forces in Nebraska education.

When Labor Turns Employer.
New York World: "Necessarily being owned and operated by one of the most powerful labor unions in the country, the hoisery and underwear mills of the brotherhood will be run with proper regard for the interests of the employees. They will as a matter of course, be conducted on closed shop rules. The wages, it may reasonably be assumed, will be the highest anywhere paid in the industry, the hours of work the shortest and the holidays most frequent, and the conditions of employment will be what the factory unions at Ypsilanti, Mich., or Watertown, N. Y., may demand. In the prospect everything will be as it should be for the advancement of labor, not of the employer, which in this case happens to be organized labor, concerned with making profits for the benefit of the members of the proprietor union."

A Worker's Pledge.
Inland Printer: "I believe that there can be no greater blessing for a man than to have acquired the healthy and happy instinct which leads him to take delight in his work for work's sake, not for shoring. If over, and get rid of, not troubling himself greatly about what men say of it when it is done, but putting his whole heart and mind into it, feeling that the thing has turned out, be it work of the mind or work of the body, is conscientiously and honestly perfect to the best of his power."

Lincoln Journal: "There is just one way to 'hold high the banner of Americanism'—without fear of boasting the job that is to be a loyal, audacious, liberty-loving citizen; industrious, public-spirited, kind and obliging, practicing what you preach, dealing justly, and mercifully with all men. There isn't much mouth service required."

How Competition Helps You

The competition that exists among the hundreds of meat distributors, large and small, means

- Rivalry in Prices
- Rivalry in Service
- Rivalry in Economy
- Rivalry in Quality

Swift & Company sells meat at the lowest possible price, consistent with quality and service. Our profit of only a fraction of a cent a pound on all products is evidence of keen competition.

Swift & Company must provide the best service to your dealer or he will buy from our competitors. This means a supply of fine fresh meat always on hand for you at your dealer's.

Swift & Company must keep down manufacturing and selling costs, and use all by-products to avoid waste, or else lose money meeting the prices of competitors who do.

Swift & Company must make its products of the highest quality, or see you turn to others. This means better meat for you and a greater variety of appetizing, wholesome food.

We are as glad for this competition, as you should be. It helps to keep us on our mettle.

The officers elected were: President, Miss Gertrude Baxas; vice-president, Mrs. Verna Fitzgerald; secretary, Mrs. Art Auler; assistant secretary, Mrs. A. E. Hutchins; treasurer, Miss Edith Gentry; marshal, Mrs. L. D. Bruggs. At the close of the business session the ladies served a luncheon. The Epworth League holds its regular meeting this week with Miss Beatrice Moson. Choir practice will be at the home of Mrs. I. O. Brown.

Grace Church. The Grace Sunday school elected officers Sunday. They are the following: Superintendent, A. E. Gillespie; assistant superintendent, George Werts; secretary, Miss Emma; treasurer, E. Lindsay; organist, Mrs. Patterson. The school has six organized classes. There was an attendance of forty-five Sunday. Rev. E. M. Furman preached a sermon on faith Sunday afternoon to a large and appreciative audience. The quarterly conference was held at the close of the sermon and the business and finances of the church investigated. The church was found in good financial condition financially. This church, situated six miles south of Wayne, is considered one of the strongest rural churches in the Norfolk district. It was one of the earliest churches built in this county and has had Sunday school and preaching all of these years without a break. Town and city churches recruit their strength from such churches as this one.

A FATAL GAS EXPLOSION

One Killed and Another Seriously Burned at Hartington

Charles Eby of Hartington, died Wednesday morning of last week as the result of a gasoline explosion, and Ralph Hirschman was in such a serious condition that he was expected to live. Mr. Hirschman bought gasoline at Mr. Eby's garage and stepped into the office to pay for it. As he was leaving he struck the container against the stove, spilling gasoline, and causing a fire. A man in the office threw through the window and Mr. Eby and Mr. Hirschman were covered with flames. When they tried to escape they collided with each other.

W. E. F. Otto of Pierce has applied for a patent on an automobile of his invention.

A Hartington young woman who traveled here but could not afford to come to grief by trying to get pretty clothes by irregular means ordered goods on approval from Sioux City store in the name of a former resident and then called for the lawyer's mail. When the firm's statements for the goods and the letters, no answer was received and a detective was then called upon to trace the trouble. Release of the girl promptly paid for the clothes.

Henry Buckendahl, sr. of Pierce celebrated his eightieth birthday January 1. He is in good health, is a resident and then called for the lawyer's mail. When the firm's statements for the goods and the letters, no answer was received and a detective was then called upon to trace the trouble. Release of the girl promptly paid for the clothes.

The work of remodeling the First National bank building in Emerson has been started. Some changes in arrangements are to be made, new modern fixtures installed and the place generally improved.

A movement to build a modern hospital in Waussa has the solid support of the physicians and nurses as well as that of many business men of the town. A community gathering was called for January 15 to pass the plans and perfect an organization by which the institution could be made a possibility for Waussa.

Fifteen Nebraska young men have brought suit against the proprietors of the Denver Auto & Traction School company. Some of the youths are from Knox county. The claim is that the proprietors of the school visited some Nebraska towns and represented the school as the largest and best equipped of its kind in America, thereby inducing the young men to pay $225 tuition fees and railroad fare to Denver. When they arrived in Denver, they claim they found the school to consist of a small garage with one passenger car and the faculty to include one blacksmith and a boy.

The leasing of land in Garfield and Holt counties by Oklahoma oil interests has aroused some excitement, according to the O'Neill Frontier. Thirty thousand acres have been leased and drilling is to start in the spring. The Frontier declares tests have been made showing the presence of natural gas.

Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Van Seggern of Wisner, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary recently. Ninety relatives and friends gathered at the Von Seggern home to enjoy a big dinner, visit and dance.

Building operations in Oakland in 1919 amounted to $260,000, according to the Census of Independent Contractors. The high cost of building materials, a number of town and farm residences were erected, besides various improvements on the farms. The list of improvements made shows that many people re-modeled old houses.

The Census of Ponca has advertised that a resolution to install a sewer system has been introduced and placed on file, to be voted on January 26. The entire town is included in the plan.

reluctant in the sanitary sewer district. The amount of the engineer's estimate for the work is $44,152.38. A tasker was by a sister of St. James parochial school in Hartington was auctioned off for $70 last week, following a program at the school. A number of baskets were sold, the money to be used for the church and school.

Opposing Consolidation

Nebraska Farmer: The opponents of consolidation advance as their arguments the hardships which consolidation will place upon the younger children and the increase in taxes which consolidation will entail. Most of the opponents admit that something is wrong with our present school system and that some sort of improvement is needed which will permit country boys and girls to get a high school education while staying at home. Most of them also want a system of grade schools, but they do not favor children-leaving-instructor-type teachers with better equipment than they are receiving today.

Some of those who do not favor consolidation, but believe that we need better rural schools, are advocating maintaining the present school districts for the lower grades and the forming of a new school district for the upper grades. They maintain that the disadvantages and the first eight grades can be taught sufficiently well by one teacher in the present country schoolhouses and that it is not necessary to transfer the children. Some would take one or two more grades for the high school district, and by this means reduce the work of the local teacher somewhat.

Those who favor consolidation believe that the difficulties of transportation are not insurmountable, particularly in light of the experience of communities where it has been tried. They also believe that young children do not suffer from great hardships during winter months where transportation is provided as they are in the King's school. They furthermore contend that a consolidated school which takes in the primary and kindergarten grades will be able to furnish the best equipment and best teachers, while this cannot possibly be done in little schools scattered in little districts. They contend that expert teaching for little ones is as important, or perhaps more important, than expert teaching for the high school child. They are also certain, and submit figures to prove their contentions, that a consolidated school, even where cost of transportation of pupils is figured in, is considerably cheaper than heating, furnishing and providing teachers for a number of small schools for the smaller children and maintaining a high school for the older ones.

Their last contention is that a properly conducted county school system furnishes a community center where a social life can be developed, which is worth more in itself to the community than the cost of the entire system.

A few points should be kept in mind in connection with the present existing law. In the first place, the law does not compel consolidation. It merely establishes boundaries which will become operative when any territory decides it wants to consolidate. These boundaries are established to protect each district so that some selfish district will not go to territory that rightfully belongs to another. We see no reason why it is not entirely within the power of communities to keep their old school houses and maintain their lower grades in these if they so desire, and establish only a high school in the district where they get ready. Whether or not this would be wise, is the question.

AFTER FIVE YEARS

Wayne Testimony Remains Unshaken

Time is the best test of truth. Here is a Wayne story that has stood the test of time. It is a story with a point which will come straight home to many of us. Mrs. Ira Leebay, Wayne, says: "I was confined to bed several weeks with a severe attack of grip. Upon recovering, I found my kidneys had become weakened. I was a great sufferer from sharp pains across the small of my back and sometimes through my loins. My head throbbled for hours at a time and I couldn't rest well at night. After taking Doan's Kidney Pills a few days, the backache and the pains were strengthened. I was three weeks all symptoms of kidney trouble had disappeared." "After six years ago Mrs. Hoshaw gave the above statement she added: "I keep Doan's Kidney Pills on hand all the time, getting them at Foster's Pharmacy. They have done me in good health by driving away any signs of kidney trouble I may have." "Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney pill, get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Hoshaw had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Out of accumulated capital have sprung all the progress of industry and applied science, the comforts and luxuries of modern life, and the means of reconstruction in which all have to share.

The Successful Farmer Raises Bigger Crops and cuts down costs by investment in labor-saving machinery.

Good prices for the farmers' crops encourage new investment, more production and greater prosperity.

But the success of agriculture depends on the growth of railroads—the modern beasts of burden that haul the crops to the world's markets.

The railroads—like the farms—increase their output and cut down unit costs by the constant investment of new capital.

With fair prices for the work they do, the railroads are able to attract new capital for expanding their facilities.

Rates high enough to yield a fair return will insure railroad growth, and prevent costly traffic congestion, which invariably results in poorer service at higher cost.

National wealth can increase only as our railroads grow.

Poor railroad service is dear at any price. No growing country can long pay the price of inadequate transportation facilities.

To Observe Thrift Week
The first Saturday in February is to be February Fete Day in Wayne. The Women's club is planning to hold a bazaar with special features in harmony with the several holidays in the month of February, and to serve a cafeteria lunch from 11:30 to 7. But you will hear more about this later. However, in preparation for the bazaar, the women will observe Thrift Week, January 17 to 25, by sewing afternoons of next week in the basement of the library. Mrs. D. J. Cavanaugh is chairman of the sewing committee, and if there is something that you are especially desirous of having made, such as capes, children's rompers, petticoats, school dresses, boys' blouses, etc., phone your wants to her. It has been suggested that anyone having remnants or pieces of left-over goods bring them to the library basement next week to be used in the making of children's garments. Pieces too small for this purpose can be used for making holders. The proceeds from the sewing and from all features of the February Fete day will be applied by the Woman's club in the balance of the debt on the opera house, which amounts to about $2,000. $2,000 having already been paid on the property.

Easily Proved.

Praying society at 7:30 p. m.
The Epworth League held an interesting meeting on Sunday evening, Jan. 11, at the church parlors. The Junior League is one of the prosperous branches of our church. The attendance is always good. The young folks are very enthusiastic over the program.
The services on Sunday were well attended. Dr. E. M. Harmon, district superintendent, delivered a strong sermon which was very much appreciated in the morning.
The evening service was made attractive by the splendid organ music and the duet sung by Professors Coileman and Lackey. Mrs. Church of Norfolk, presided at the organ.
The second quarterly conference was held in the parsonage on Saturday evening at 8:15. There was a good attendance and much important business was transacted.
We are now paying special attention to our Sunday-school and its demands. This year the records show a better attendance than last year. Our school is well organized and equipped in the best modern way. We urge the parents to cooperate with the teachers and officers to assure its success. You are invited to attend.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Buy Your Ford Car Now

To make sure of getting a Ford car, buy one now. Don't wait until spring but buy now while deliveries are possible. Even next month is an uncertainty.

The number of Ford cars allotted to this territory is limited and specified. Even to get our allotment, we must have real, bona-fide orders for cars. Just so many cars allotted; just so many will get cars; will you be one of them? Those who order their cars now will be protecting themselves. If you would be foreclosed, get your name on an order today.

Don't think you cannot use it if you get it now. The four seasons are all alike to the Ford car. It is a necessity every month of the year. Besides, the Ford car is lowest in upkeep cost and easiest in operation. And the new Ford electric starting and lighting system makes driving more convenient. Your order for either open or enclosed cars will have our prompt attention.

McCormick—Deering—International—P & O

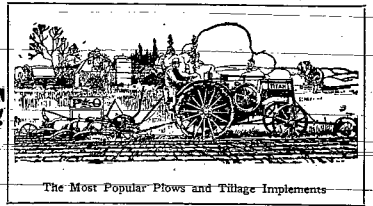

The Deering and P & O Have Been Added to Our Lines for 1920

The Most Reliable Harvesting and Threshing Machines

The Most Efficient Tractors and Power Machines

The Most Popular Plows and Tillage Implements

YOU know these trade names. Your father and grandfather know three of them. They knew in their time, and you know today that these names stand for the highest quality farm machinery in the world. McCormick built the first practical reaper, Deering sold the first twine binder and was a good twine pioneer, and William Parlin was one of the first steel plow pioneers. The lines of harvesting machines and plows started by these farm machine builders have been growing and developing ever since. Other machines have been invented and developed by the same manufacturers and every new machine and implement has had built into it the years of manufacturing experience and farm knowledge accumulated by McCormick, Deering, Parlin and their successors. Now all of these machines and implements have been merged into one line—the International Harvester. The reputation of every machine and implement in this line is the same.

We Sell the International Line

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN TO YOU AS A FARMER? It means, first of all, that you can buy any farm machine or implement you may need, right here in this town, without taking chances on EXPERIMENTS or implements that might be "orphaned" one or two years after you buy them because of the manufacturer going out of business. You can always get repairs for any machine or implement in the International line because the Harvester Company will never go out of business. You are assured of reliable machines because every machine in the Harvester line is tried out and tested under actual farm conditions, before being offered for sale to the farmer. The Experimental Department of the Harvester Company is the most thorough and active institution of its kind.

It means, second, that you can get repairs and repair service on all of these machines through one concern—US. You don't have to go to the bother and inconvenience of trying to get repairs and service from half a dozen or more different companies. You won't be taking chances on expensive delays waiting for repairs during the busy seasons because we are going to carry a big stock of repairs on hand and any repairs that we might not have we can get for you in a hurry by a phone call to the International Harvester branch house.

Tack this advertisement up in your machine shed so that whenever you refer to any of your International machines you will know where to go. Also, you will know where to go when you are in the market for new machines or implements of real quality and the highest operating efficiency.

The Wayne Hospital

THIS institution is arranged and conducted for service. Each patient is given the benefit of skill, efficiency and courtesy. The equipment used is the most reliable known to medical science and is designed to insure the comfort of patients.

Complete Equipment
The Wayne Hospital is equipped to take X-Ray pictures and give X-ray treatments. Every preparation has been made to insure successful surgical work. No more dependable operating equipment is to be had. Medical patients receive careful attention. Diet kitchens, laboratories and other provisions have been arranged for the welfare of patients.

Prompt Service
Not only are the nurses able and courteous, but mechanical devices have been supplied to make service prompt and efficient. A system of light signals makes it possible for the nurses to reply more quickly to call, and eliminates any unpleasant buzzing of electric bells. This is only one of many nurse conveniences in the Wayne Hospital.

UNCLE WALT THE POET PHILOSOPHER

HAPPINESS

When all the nations, mad and scappy, were plying sword and widdling gun, we thought we would be blithe and happy, if ever that fierce war were done. We'd all give up our knitting, with quiet minds and hearts serene, and when arrived the time for quitting, we'd burn a little gasoline. To old time peace in peace returning, we'd soon leave the fields of strife, and by the lamp, at evening burning, we'd deliver again in helpful lore. So far our hopes have all been broken, and we have sought wretched lore should dwell; the words of hatred still are spoken, and still the crazed disturbers yell. But now, my friends, the world is breaking, this new year bids us hope again, and pretty soon we'll all be waking to peace on earth and will to men. We've had enough of wild emotions; these shocks ad jarred us to the soul, of eloquence is frothing oceans, that bore us up. So let us give up our pen and all determine to be as happy as we can, avoid vain strife, forget the German, and each one help the other man.

GONE FOR KEEPS

Most things come back that go away; our ship, comes sailing to its shore; the blooming flowers come back in May, the bird to its accustomed spray, but money burned comes back no more. Oh, often, when old age is here, the man of sorrow talks the floor, and thinks of joys that cost him dear, of spend-thrift courses given by year, but money burned comes back no more. To think of chances, large and fine, he wasted, makes the dotard sore; had he put down his coin in brine he might possess his trees and vine, but money burned comes back no more. Old thoughts come back to his heart, old memories of shop or mart to joyride in a mugged cart, but money burned comes back no more. And there were gay entrance and maid, and he him blow his scanty store; their forms come back, from out the shades, and march along in dim parade, but money burned comes back no more. There's nothing sadder 'neath the sky than seeing one whose head is hoar beavelling round, be marked by receding chancex with a sigh; and money burned comes back no more. So let us from the weekly wage salt down nine shillings, perchance as scores; then we'll enjoy our green age, we still loiter on the stage; but money burned comes back no more.

THE WEEB

Tobacco prices, too, have soared, in keeping with the price of board of clothing, books and boots, and now we feel some mental jars when we dig up for punk cigars and cauliflower cheroots. There was an olden golden-time when I could take a hard-earned dime, and buy a royal smoke; a torch that drove away my care, restored the color of my hair, and made grief seem a joke. But now the torch that costs a dime would drive the purchaser to crime; to arson and the like; it's made of rhubarb leaves and sage, and oft the smoker in a rage invokes the shade of Mike. The time has come, I must admit, when it is wisdom true to quit the habit, once for all; for most cigars are made of pipe, the stuff we purchase for the pipe is ground up overall. And only phorce's gain buy the honest weed, it comes so high, and "higher still"; the news; what wonder that the poor man grieves? I'm tired of smoking snags and leaves and discarded shoes. I'm tired of throwing coin away for socks that should be labeled hay, but bear tobacco's brand; and so I say to every toff: "This is the time for swearing off! Let's do it, hand in hand!"

THRIFT

The sanest thing on earth is thrift; it is the slogan of the wise; without it human beings drift to ruin, where papers sweat the files. All workers now are in demand; there's no excuse for idle lads; employers in the market stand and offer forty kinds of scads. Work brings a lordly recompense, such as it never brought before; no delegate with any sense will let a wolf run by his door. It's hard to save for those who wish a bank account to rear and raise, to put some money in a dish, and save it for the rainy days. Said rainy days are bound to come, with wailing winds and heavens dank; then happy he who has a sum of kopecks salted in the bank. It matters not how much you save, if you believe, and think, and say, that coin was merely made to burn, to throw at birds, and fool away. What profits it to send your sweat, and through the long hours toil and spin, if you are evermore in debt, dodging landlords and their kind? Be thrifty now, while money flows to every till in tinkling streams; and be prepared for Fate's hard roar, when it spend old age in pleasant dreams.

THRIFTLESS

There's an ancient weary fellow working for me, doing chores; and his life is sad and yellow, and his days and nights are bores. He is crippled and rheumatic, and he plies a feeble hoof, and his home is in an attic where the rain falls through the roof—I could weep when I behold him, till he be hopeless in his woes, till the benevolent sods unfold him, and he has his long repose. And his youth was gay and gilded, and he wildly spent his wage, while the wise youth wrought and builded for the years of wintry age. Once this old man was a master in the trade that he had learned; but he blew his money faster than the ding-donged stuff was earned; and he made no wise provision for the days of want and dread. His life was sunny and elysian—why should people look ahead? Who put down the blame, when a sport could make a killing in the haunts of cards and wine? Why consider a tomorrow when today is good enough? Going broke, a sport could borrow on his watch and kindred stuff. Now around my house he tinkers, and no hope is in his soul, and he carries out the dinkers, and he carries in the coal. Nothing human can enchant him, he is dead to every thrill; and some day the town will plant him in the boneyard on the hill.

ONE KIND OF THRIFT

I earn six hundred boxes a year, and have some fourteen suits to feed; and now that everything is dear, it takes some figuring indeed. I'm thrifty in the higher sense; although I play in ev'l luck, my income covers my expense, no man can say I owe a buck. My neighbors carry three thousand wheels while for six hundred wheels I grind; and doubtless, in his pride, he feels that I'm the selling plater kind. And creditors to his abode are wearing paths, the long year through; collectors linger in the road, to touch him for some bill that's due. My suits are always wanting things; they yearn for things no spinsters needs, for furrows in a diamond rings, canny birds and widow's weeds. They say: "Your credit at the store is right side up, and three feet wide; and you're always with the wads and weep for things that are denied?" I answer, feeling slightly bored, "It is no use to scream and yell, as the silly things I can't afford are just the things we'll do without." Herein behold the soul of thrift: To pass up what we can't afford, the new fur coat, the motor swift, the trotting with a gilded horde.

NOT A WELL DAY IN ELEVEN YEARS Lincoln Man Takes Tanlac And Says He Has Gained Sixteen Pounds.

"I never knew what a well day was in eleven years till Tanlac straightened me out," said C. A. Crawford, contracting painter and paper hanger, living at 2323 D St., Lincoln, Neb.

"I had been in such a wretched state of health for so long," he continued, "that I was a total wreck. I couldn't sleep well and my stomach was in such a dreadful condition that nothing I would eat agreed with me and I lost weight till I was little more than a living skeleton. I had gotten down to one hundred pounds. Every summer my vitality would run low and I would have to take to my bed and lie up for three or four months at a time."

"Finally I got a bottle of Tanlac and soon after starting on it my appetite improved so I could enjoy my food and I started up hill again. I have already gotten back sixteen pounds of my lost-weight and am all getting right along. My nerves are so much stronger and I have improved so much in every way that I feel like a different man. I have been working hard every day the past summer, sleep like a log every night and feel fine all the time. I am now full of life and energy and I don't hesitate to say 'Tanlac has done more for me than everything else I have tried put together.'"

MAN SERIOUSLY BURNED

An Explosion of Gasoline Injures John Wood of Randolph.

Randolph Times: John Wood is in a serious condition, his home in this city as the result of an accident in which he was seriously burned Wednesday morning. Mr. Wood arose at about 6:30 that morning, secured from the enclosed porch a half gallon syrup pail which he supposed contained kerosene, but which was really gasoline. This he carried to the parlor to rebuild the fire in a heating stove. As he opened the stove door and was about to remove the cover from the pail, the cover blew off and struck him in the face. Instantly he threw the pail, about one-half full of gasoline, into the open stove, the result being a flash and explosion that threw the burning oil out of the door and over his body and the underclothes, in which he was clad, caught fire.

His call brought Mrs. Wood from her bed and she wrapped a quilt about her husband and rushed him out doors, while her daughter extinguished a burning rug and saved the home from catching fire. Mr. Wood, however, was badly and completely burned from the body of Mr. Wood. He suffered terrible burns about the chest and torso, under his arms, on both arms, on both sides and about his thighs and legs. His condition is serious, and nurse has been sent for. At this writing the outcome looks doubtful.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

From the Wayne Herald, January 14, 1904:

Wayne merchants were advertising sugar at 5 cents per pound. E. B. Young has installed new libraries in three Sunday schools in the county in the past week.

A number of farmers hereabouts have combined in the purchase of a car-load of oil-cake to be fed to stock.

Dr. Nieman was called to Altona to prescribe for the daughter of Henry Pfeuger—she is suffering from scarlet fever.

S. E. Auker returned from Sioux City where he marketed a car of hogs. He sold his stock for $470 per hundred and was well satisfied. Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Strahan entertained a large social gathering in honor of their guest, Mrs. Thomas Street, who formerly resided in Wayne.

A grand masquerade ball was given by the Sons of Herman in the opera house. There were about 180 participants, all wearing ingeniously designed costumes.

Mrs. J. G. Mines and youngest child departed Tuesday morning for the Okfuska, Okla., where they will spend two or three months visiting relatives. Mr. Mines accompanied them as far as Omaha.

From Ponca Journal Jan. 15, 1880: Large numbers of prairie wolves have formed the habit of nearly every evening collecting on the hills back of town and holding a grand concert. The exercises are kept up till a late hour, and consist in howling, screeching and making night hideous.

Messrs. Wilbur, Todd, Kellogg and Hinton went out to McHenry's mill on the Logan, a few days ago. Mr. Wilbur speaks in the highest terms of the country, and says deer and other game are very plentiful. But none of the party shot anything, it being contrary to law to do so at this time of the year.

Tuesday about noon a man was seen tearing up East street past this office like an affrighted deer, with every bound uttering expletives and interjections not usually found in the Unabridged. On looking for the reason of this strange procedure, it was seen that just ahead of him was a fine beaver hat, which was sailing up the street, impelled by the wind, with about the same velocity as himself. After a chase of three blocks succeeded in catching the runaway head-piece, as it happily reposed in a fence corner where it had lodged, when he savagely jammed it on his way. "Cuss" words were heard to issue from between his teeth like steam from a boiling tea-kettle.

We learn of a distressing accident which occurred last Friday at the river about two miles above the Ponca landing, and which added another victim to the already long list of hands who have met their death at the hands of the treacherous Missouri. About dusk on the day mentioned, two boys named Tucker, whose parents reside not far from the river on the Dakota side, were sent to that stream after water. In the ice had been cut in such a manner, and through this the brothers were accustomed to draw water for use at home. But they made one trip too many for on this occasion as the older of the two, aged about twelve, bent over the hole his feet slipped and before the other had time to realize what had happened, he saw his brother carried under the ice by the powerful current. An alarm was immediately given, but of no avail. The unhappy parents could see the hole through which he had disappeared, and the water rolling along, but their boy was gone forever.

Order of Hearing and Notice on Petition for Settlement of Account.

In the county court of Wayne county, Nebraska.

The State of Nebraska, Wayne county, ss.

To all persons interested in the estate of Charles E. Helkes, deceased:

On reading the petition of W. A. Helkes and Samuel A. Helkes, executors, praying a final settlement and allowance of their account filed in this court on the 10th day of January, 1920, and for distribution of residue of estate. It is hereby ordered that you and all persons interested in said matter may and do appear at the county court to be held in and for said county, on the 13th day of January, A. D. 1920, at 11 o'clock A. M., to show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioners should not be granted; and that notice of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof be given to all persons interested in said matter by publishing a copy of this order in the Wayne Herald, a weekly newspaper printed in said county, three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing.

The One Approved Shade.

B. L. T. in the Chicago Tribune: "There are all shades of red," avers the lady who signed the bond for one of 'em. But the only approved shade is the one used in the American flag.

Lay a bet on rolling 'em with

the national joy smoke

ROLLING your own cigarettes with Prince Albert is just about as joy-us a sideline as you ever carried around in your grip! For, take it at any angle, you never got such quality, flavor, fragrance and coolness in a maker's cigarette in your life as every "P.-A. home-made" will present you!

Prince Albert puts new smokenotions under your bonnet! It's so delightful rolled into a cigarette—and, so easy to roll! And, you just take it to like you been doing it since away back! You see, P. A. is crimp cut and a cinch to handle! It says put—and you don't lose a lot when you start to hug the paper around the tobacco!

You'll like Prince Albert in a jimmy pipe as much as you do in a home-rolled cigarette, too! Bite and parch are cut out by our exclusive patented process. You know P. A. is the tobacco that has led three men to smoke pipes where one was smoked before. Yes sir, Prince Albert blazed the way. And, me-o-my, what a wad of smokenoport will ripple your way every time you fill up!
