TAKING THE CENSUS HERE

Edward P. Jones expects to finish work in Wayne Saturday.

Edward P. Jones, who is census enumerator in Wayne, has found the local people willing to cooperate with him in securing statistics. He says no one has become angry, nor shown any tendency to give unsatisfactory information. Even the women do not hesitate in stating their ages, though a few have jokingly complimented Mr. Jones on the quantity of his nerve.

Although many of the men almost every person to ask enumerator how many people there are in Wayne. As he is under oath not to disclose any names, he is obliged to leave the interested inquirers no wiser than before. In some cases he has told them the population is not so large as they would believe. When asked how much that is; Mr. Jones tells his questioner to ask someone else.

Wayne citizens are willing to give information and do it quickly, for the most part. Mr. Jones has found that although they make no attempt to misinform the enumerator, they have a tendency to guess at ages. Their curiosity is nearly always in regard to the same questions. Each one wants to know the local population; why the government cares to know where each citizen's parents were born; how Mr. Jones likes his work and how nearly done he is. Mr. Jones says asking the same questions all day long is monotonous, but he is making good headway. He has nearly completed the census of population, which will be followed by a census of manufacturing industries. The entire job will be completed by Saturday, he thinks.

The work would be nearer completion than it is if Mr. Jones had been able to get information at his first call at each place. In some cases he called four times in the daytime without finding anyone at home, and finally had to seek out the residents at night.

Census enumerating, although tedious has its compensations in amusing incidents. In one case, Mr. Jones had reason to believe the house was provided for the family by a business institution, in which the man was connected. Not being sure he called at the house was furnished the woman in charge was speaking of him as a business look, although she doubted his eyesight, and replied, "Well, it is pretty well furnished—you can look around and see for yourself."

ROBBER IS BROUGHT HERE

Man Guilty of Highway Robbery, in Wayne to Avoid Violence.

Don Piazzi, who claims to have accidentally shot and killed his partner in a highway robbery in South Sioux City last week, was captured and brought to the jail in Wayne Thursday night to prevent an excited crowd mobbing him. He was accompanied by George Cain, sheriff of Dakota county. They returned to Dakota City Friday morning to allow Piazzi to plead guilty to highway robbery. Piazzi, with Sam Fisher and another man, held up two railroad workmen and three men employed on the ice. The robbers got two watches and about $30. According to Piazzi's confession, he shot Fisher by accident. However, feeling in South Sioux City was very strong against Piazzi, and the sheriff brought him to Wayne, to prevent possible violence.

The highwayman is only 18 years old. He told Sheriff Cain he had been an orphan since the earthquake in San Francisco. Although he has four brothers, he does not know where they are. The young man also confessed to robbing a store in Sioux City and shooting one of the proprietors in the arm. Fisher was with him when the work was done. The identity of the third highwayman is known to officers.

Properly Declined. Mitchell Republicans. It will be remembered that in the division by the allied powers of the war-tornage given over to Germany, the United States was magnanimously assured 2 per cent. Upon being assured that this amount was final, the American war board very properly declined to participate in the division.

What other phonograph dares this test?

Did you ask some one about the Edison Tone-Test recital given October 10 in Normal Auditorium? The startled audience heard Alice Verlet's living voice flood the packed house. It then heard the New Edison match that voice, even unto its finest variation of shading and feeling. Any one who was present will tell you:

The art of the living artist and its RE-CREATION by the New Edison can not be told apart.

It is no idle phrase that you can enjoy Case, Middleton, Hempel, Matzenauer, Spalding—in your own home. The New Edison brings all that the great artist can bring, except his physical presence. It is the phonographic triumph of the age.

REV. LLOYD CUNNINGHAM

Passed Away at Atkinson, Neb., January 13—Funeral Friday.

The funeral of Rev. Lloyd Cunningham, formerly of Wayne, who died at his home in Atkinson Tuesday of last week, was held there Friday. His sisters, Mrs. W. H. Gildersleeve and Mrs. W. H. Gildersleeve, were called to Atkinson after he suffered a stroke of apoplexy last week and remained for the funeral. Burial was at Atkinson.

Rev. Mr. Cunningham was reared in Wayne county, but moved early more than twenty years ago. However, he had been in Wayne frequently and was well known here. He made his last visit here during the week he was a minister of the Presbyterian church.

Those who survive Mr. Cunningham are his wife and five children, his sisters, Mrs. W. H. Gildersleeve, Mrs. Charles Gildersleeve and Mrs. Charles Gearhart, the latter of Bertrand, Neb., and a brother, William Cunningham, who is spending the winter in California.

The following in regard to the deceased appeared in the Atkinson Graphic last January:

Following an illness of several years' duration, Rev. Lloyd Cunningham suffered a stroke of apoplexy at about six o'clock Tuesday morning from which he did not recover consciousness, passing away quietly at 2 p. m. on Wednesday at the farm home four miles north-east of town.

He was born February 15, 1872, at Atkinson, Pennsylvania, and died at Atkinson, Neb., January 13, 1920. At an early age he moved with his parents to Wayne, Neb., residing on a farm near town. Here he received his early education, attending the Wayne Normal School and graduating from Bellevue college. Having previously decided to enter the ministry of the Gospel, he attended McCormick Seminary, Chicago, graduating from there and accepting a charge in North Dakota.

There he was married to Ha McLarty in 1906. After three more years of service in North Dakota he accepted a call to Marion, Kansas, and from there came to Atkinson, Nebraska, in 1911. In this charge he spent six of the most enjoyable years of his ministerial life. A new church building was erected here, the first of which he served his connections here and accepted a charge at Ida Grove, Ia., where on account of ill health he was forced to give up his ministry. Returning to Atkinson last year he bought the farm of Oscar Fullerton north of town, hoping that the work in the operation would restore his health that he might again take up his beloved work. But his Master called him higher.

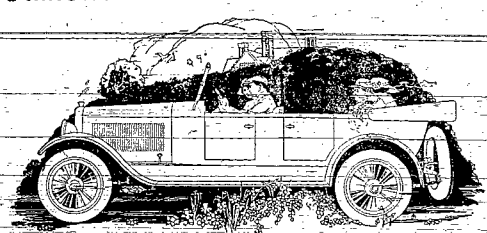

This is but a brief history of a noble life, seven years of which were lived in our midst. Of a quiet, kindly nature, he nevertheless exerted a wide influence in the community. His straightforward, manly life inspired not only the love and confidence of his own congregation, but of all with whom he came in contact. He will be mourned by many friends and his early death, from a human standpoint, is to be regretted, but as the usefulness of life is not measured by its length, the few years of his teaching and example remain with us, an ever living benefit.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife and five children, David, Harold, Helen, Lois and Keith, his sisters, Mrs. W. H. Gildersleeve and Mrs. Charles Gildersleeve of Wayne, Neb., Mrs. C. O. Gearhart of Bertrand, Neb., and one brother Will Cunningham, of Holly Wood, California. Funeral services will be held this (Friday) afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Presbyterian church. Rev. Longstaff of O'Neill, will conduct the service and interment will be in Woodlawn cemetery.

Success Earned Through Diligence

Manufacturers' Record: Through the sweat of his brow, perhaps the sweat of his brain or perhaps of body, and persistence of both, man can merit success, and in no other way. No man ever attained success in science or art or medicine or law or business or mechanics or farming by struggling to lessen his hours of labor. Every man who has ever succeeded has, longer, for more hours in which to work; his energy has been "wound" that every day had forty-eight hours in it! He sees limitless fields of work before him, and he toils with irrevocable longing for more hours and more power for work. To him, one of the chief charms of heaven is the hope that his power to work will be broadened and his hours to work know no end. Eternity is not too long for him, as he contemplates the glories of heaven and soul-expansion under the quickening power of work, and more work. To such a man work is one of heaven's greatest blessings. Whether he is running a great picture building a vast factory or shoeing a horse, or driving a nail, or running a plow, he feels the divine thrill of creative work. Limit his hours of work, tie him down to the tedious monotony, the soul-killing influence of the doctrine of less work and less output, and earth would soon to him be a present hell!

Better for Farmers.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 18.—The college of agriculture has been notified by Daniel C. Roper, commissioner of internal revenue, that farmer's inventories at market value less cost of marketing will be accepted hereafter in determining income tax. This ends differences between the internal revenue department and the college of agriculture over farmer's income tax.

The college has maintained that farmers should take inventories, the same as business men do, and that these inventories should be used in determining their income tax. In many instances the revenue men refused to accept farm inventories saying that such inventories could not be used under any condition. Where no inventory was allowed, the often ancient method here for the farmer. One instance is cited where the refusal of an inventory cost a farmer more than $300.

Under the new order of the internal revenue department the farmer's inventory will be taken at market value less cost of marketing. This means, according to P. K. Wapelson of the department of rural economics, that Nebraska farmers will hereafter pay income tax on a just basis.

Would Fix Minimum Salary.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 17.—The minimum salary for Nebraska school teachers should be at least $1,000 was the conclusion drawn from the data tabulated by Lulu F. Wilt, dean of women of the normal school here, following an extensive investigation of living conditions in ten counties in Nebraska. The questionnaire included board, room rent, fuel, clothing, dental service, physician's fees, philanthropy, culture, bank deposits and other means of saving and investment.

expenses. It was found that the average of the expenses in the counties investigated was $838.50. By far the largest items were board and room, items over which the school teacher has no control. The estimate on clothes was surprisingly low, proving that the rural school teacher is doing little buying of extravagant clothing.

Miss Wilt found that the teachers who reported savings were in an insignificant minority; that few carried insurance of any kind; that most reported debts, many reported home-help, and several reported cases of protracted illness.

Majority Should Assert Itself.

Chicago Daily News: The way to compromise is to compromise. Neither side (in the senate) can afford to assume an arrogant dictatorial attitude. Concessions must be made by both. When rights have senators to defy the sentiment of the nation in this matter and resist fair compromise? And what right has any supporter of the administration to subordinate national interests, moral and material, to personal or personal considerations? There is a two-thirds majority and more in the senate for ratification of the treaty with a few necessary and wise reservations. This majority should assert itself in the way against the bitter critics, obstructionists and mere partisans.

We Have the Numbers.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: If there is safety in numbers, the census ought to help make the country safe for democracy.

Phrophecy Fulfilled.

Kansas City Times: Fulfilling many prophecies, the democratic party has at last gone west.

Getting Results

Cutting down a tree with a hatchet is no more foolish than trying to deliver all your messages through personal calls. Your telephone is your best messenger and you want it to give you the best service possible.

And that is the service we want to give you, the only service we are satisfied to give you; for we want your support, and that will only come through satisfaction.

To give this service, telephone rates must bring in enough money to maintain the telephone in perfect condition—and enough to pay good employees for good work.

The telephone employees who are serving you have had increases in their wages. These increased wages have to be met by the people who use the telephone, for that is the company's only source of income.

MRS. GALLAGHER KNEW WHAT TO DO

Experience She'd Had Before Taught Her The Value of Tanlac.

"When I felt myself going down this summer I knew exactly what to do, for I had taken Tanlac before and it had worked so well that I knew it would do so again," said Mrs. Barbara Gallagher, who lives at 1000 Fifth street, Lincoln, Neb.

PIERCE DECIDES TO PAVE

Emerson Tests Water Supply - Hartington to Build City Hall.

The city council of Pierre met with a paving engineer from Madison last week to discuss the possibility of paving in their own next spring. The Pierre County Leader says, "It is almost a foregone conclusion that Pierre will pave in the spring." Asphalt, cement or brick will be used.

After a state chemist tested the city water supply of Emerson, he pronounced it pure. The first steps toward the erection of a new city hall in Hartington were taken last week, when the old building and a laundry adjoining it were sold to Nell Olson. The new city hall is being arranged to house the fire department until the new city building is completed.

The Hartington Herald predicts, from present indications, that the complete census figures will show an increase of at least 600 in the population of Hartington in 1920. There were 1197 people there, and the Herald believes the new statistics will show no less than 2,000. Citizens in Hartington think that the community house to be erected there ought to be in the nature of a building to be used by the American Legion, if it is to be erected in memory of soldiers who fell in the great war. Suggestions from business men, teachers, students, should include rest rooms, reading rooms, club rooms, gymnasium and perhaps a room in which farmers wives might eat and visit.

The Lincoln Advocate states that a special stock train went on here last week. The train included thirteen cars of cattle and sheep.

Consolidation of schools is causing some concern in Hamilton county. The Aurora Republican says: "The recent work of the committee on the proposed re-districting in Hamilton county has inevitably brought to light efforts of individuals in certain communities to interfere with the progress of the committee and influence others to oppose the proposed consolidation. The majority of broad-minded school patrons of the county are however assisting in every way to make the best adjustment possible, even when it happens that the consolidation throws them much farther from school."

Counting the Aurora Republic, the American Legion of Hamilton county is preparing to make a large membership drive in the near future. This will be accomplished at a social get-together meeting. An attempt will be made to make the membership in Hamilton county the largest in the state. A committee from the post will investigate and make recommendations on bills pending in congress. The committee is investigating the one on universal military training and a bill providing for loans of $1000 to be provided service men for building homes.

A pullet belonging to J. C. Robinson of Sheridan, Ore., produced an egg measuring 6 1/2 inches. It was found to contain an egg within an egg. The second egg was complete with shell, white and yolk while the first had only the white, the second taking the place of the yolk. School time is now regulated in the Allen school by wireless messages received from the government station at Arlington, Va., so the Allen News says. The Albion Weekly News explains that Albion is planning additional paving for this year. The council decided to extend the paving in three directions from the present paved district. If contractors cannot handle the work this season they will begin as soon as possible in 1921. The fire department of Albion is taking steps to organize a band. Hunting game by aeroplane is the latest method used in South Dakota for catching wild game. John Pruess was in Bloomery last week and described the catching of the fowls by firing at them, and then swooping down upon them and catching the birds in a net which is part of the equipment of the machine.

Sunday school at 2 p. m.

Preaching at 3 p. m.

Newly elected officers will be installed.

Catchment, January 24, at 9:30 a. m. catechismal instruction will be given.

Grace Church Notes.

Preaching was at 2:30 p. m. Sunday school at 3:30 p. m.

A crowd that comfortably filled the church heard the sermon last Sunday. The Lord's supper was observed at the close of the session by the pastor. Practically everyone in the audience partook of the supper. The interest and enthusiasm in the church work are increasing.

The church board is contemplating building a basement under the church in the near future. This will be used for a Sunday school room and dining room so that many social features may be added to the church life. This neighborhood getting ready to do church work in the most efficient way to make the church a real value to the community. It wants to be a center for religious and social life to the young people.

The Ladies Aid society and the Woman's Foreign Missionary society will have a joint meeting this week. They will take a box of clothing to the South Sioux City church mission.

The Sunday school attendance was very good last Sunday. The collection was the best of the year. Next Sunday, January 25, a picture will be taken at the school and a post card photo will be presented to each family represented in the school. We urge that every teacher see to it that a full enrollment of his class is present. The Home Department and the Cradle Roll department are expected to be out in full force. All teachers may be boosters for the Winside Sunday school, one of the finest schools in Wayne county.

H. G. Smith was absent from Sunday school last Sunday, being on a visit with his mother in Iowa. A. E. Hutchins, assistant superintendent, had charge of the school and Mr. A. H. Carter was welcomed back as one of the teachers in the Sunday school. She was absent last Sunday.

The pastor and congregation were glad to see so many friends from the country at church services Sunday. It is hoped the friends and their families from some distance around Winside will make this their church home. They are urged to come to hear the music, the sermons and worship with the citizens of Winside.

Washington vs. the Country.

Pills, Potions, Plasters and Powders

will not restore you to health. You know very well that this is for you who have tried for years and yet the much desired HEALTH seems to be as elusive as a "Will o' the Wisp." Throw away your pills, potions, plasters and powders and consult a CHIROPRACTOR. He will give you a Spin Analysis and will tell you what is the CAUSE of your trouble. Having located this, he will adjust it, and HEALTH will be the result. So-called Dis-ease is invariably caused by the pressure of nerves preventing the vital force from flowing through the nerves to the various organs. This pressure is caused by a subluxation (displacement) of the small bones of the spine. The CHIROPRACTOR, with his bare hands, adjusts the displaced bones (vertebrae) to their normal position and will tell you what is the CAUSE of your trouble. The vital force flows unimpeded to the various organs, and HEALTH is the result.

The Swing of Trade.
 Sioux City Journal: Trade conditions last week followed natural courses. There was a slackening in retail volume. Following the January clearance sales and an increase in wholesale and jobber trade as retail stocks depleted by these sales were replenished. Other influences contributed somewhat to the decline in the total of retail trade. Mild weather in the west was one of the largest of the influences. Another may be a tendency of the masses, following the beginning of the new year, to retreat and to practice economy, though it is impossible from the short period of time and the other things which would produce the same result to tell whether this is a correct view or not. The demands from retailers are still for high priced commodities, proving that the judgment of the retail trade is that the period of buying high priced goods will continue.

Industry showed an improvement over the previous week and over comparative periods. Labor is better satisfied and manufacturers were able to increase output by a small percentage. Orders are abundant both wholesalers and jobbers are unable to get all the supplies they desire. Competitive bidding for available supplies is still a pronounced factor. In primary prices and will continue so until primary supplies are large enough to fill orders and meet consumption without a scramble.

Adverse sentiment concerning future prices in two important lines has created doubt about the future of both. Retail shoe dealers have joined with the government in an effort to lower prices to the consumer. Clothing manufacturers have announced that the prices in that line will advance. As the same influences operate in price making in both, the inconsistency is confusing. Increased supplies of leather and wool caused by the absence of government war demands for these raw products, will gradually make possible the increase in output and a resultant lowering of prices in both, it would seem. That the law should work in one direction in clothing and in another in shoes is not reasonable.

The Newspaper.
 Omaha World-Herald: A newspaper is something more than a business investment—it has a higher mission than the making of money alone and its real crown of glory is brighter than a gold one would be. A newspaper, in one very important sense, is a commercial institution and it must make money as the price of its life. To that end it must be conducted according to sound business principles. But on the stepping stone of business success a newspaper, if it is to fulfill its mission, must ride to the higher life of public usefulness through fearless, disinterested public service. It is not merely a news-monger, though that is a highly important function. It is an educator. It is a guardian of the rights and liberties of the people. It is, as Edward Roosevelt used to say, "a watchman on the tower" to warn them against the approach of their enemies. It is a light bearer. It is, in its true meaning and function, an integral and important part of free government. Thomas Jefferson declared the newspaper to be "the best instrument for enlightening the mind of man, and improving him to a rational, moral and social being."

That Straw Vote.
 Minneapolis Journal: The straw vote upon the treaty and the covenant taken in our great universities is both interesting and enlightening. The student body keeps itself up to date on great public issues of the day, and with their study of past history and literature they succeed in keeping abreast of contemporary problems. In many cases the student body had the benefit of public debate upon the covenant between faculty members, or men prominent in public life, before the vote was taken. The results of the vote are not a mere matter of "win or lose," but of more or less reflection. Just how far student opinion upon this great issue reflects the public opinion of the country is, of course, difficult to say, but undoubtedly it gives a fairly good cross section of such opinion.

Does Anyone Know?
 Chicago Tribune: Senator Hitchcock a liaison officer between the commander in chief and the democratic regulars of the senate, doesn't seem to be functioning very satisfactorily. He is supposed to have access to G. H. W. you are understand him to admit that he does not definitely know what his chief will do, or will not do. This has been the case on other crucial occasions. During one of the worst passages of the submarine controversy his predecessor, then chairman of the senate foreign affairs committee, confessed that he did not in the least know what the president meant or intended. Does Senator Hitchcock? Does the president?

Should Take the Reins.

Congressman's Son Killed.
J. B. Evans, son of Congressman and Mrs. Robert E. Evans of Dakota county, was killed Thursday night when an automobile in which he was riding struck a rut and turned over on him. As the car was on a cattle sale at Huttonier, S. D., and the accident occurred near that place, the driver of the car and two other occupants were not seriously injured.
Mr. Evans was born on a farm in Dakota county, was 33 years old. He was married and he and Mrs. Evans had recently gone to Sioux City, Iowa. He was well known in the community as a farmer and successful breeder of Dorset.

Congressman and Mrs. Robert Evans do not have been living in Washington, D. C., since the former's election to congress, left at Sioux for Dakota county where the funeral was held. People will be very hearty sympathy to the bereaved parents.

Death of Orville Thompson.

Orville Eldon Thompson, the 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Thompson, died Friday afternoon after an illness of less than two weeks. The funeral was held at Beckenhauer funeral parlors at 12:30 o'clock Monday and burial was in Greenwood cemetery. Rev. William Kilburn of the Methodist church, conducted the service, and music was furnished by choruses of high school students. The pall bearers were schoolmates of the deceased. They were: Raymond Helt, John Carnart, Howard McEacher, Leslie Rundell, Frank Kruger, and Doc Miller.
Orville Thompson became sick January 5. Although his condition from the first was critical, the doctors were not agreed on the cause of his sickness. It was finally pronounced meningitis of the brain.
The young man was active in all high school affairs, was a quick student, and popular with classmates and teachers. He was a member of the high school, had played football and basketball teams and took an interest in all school activities. He was born January 18, 1904, in Marchant, Ia., and had lived here four years. He lacked only two days of being 16 years old when he died.
Orville Thompson is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Thompson, his sister, Miss Opal Thompson, and a brother, Arlie Thompson. Other relatives who shared here for the funeral were Harold Derthick and Charlie Feuch of Marcus, Ia., E. P. Thompson and George Gallup of Lyons, all uncles of the young man; Glen Robertson and Clyde Robertson of Lyons; and Robert Robertson of Sioux City, Iowa, who was the funeral director. Mr. and Mrs. S. Thompson of Lyons, and Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Thompson of Thomas-Fisher Wedding.

Christy Thomas of Sholes, and Miss Leslie Phibes of Carroll, were married at the Methodist parsonage in Wayne Wednesday morning. Rev. F. E. Sala, pastor of the Methodist church in Carroll, performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. E. Phibes of Plainville, the bride's parents, and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Thomas of Sholes, parents of the bridegroom, were present.

High School Notes.

The high school was dismissed Monday afternoon to attend the funeral of Orville Thompson. The Junior class went to the services at the undertaking parlors and the high school to the cemetery. The students and faculty felt deep grief in the loss of this very capable and popular boy.
The second semester's work was taken up Monday with an enrollment of 144 in the high school. Ten were passed from the seventh grade into the high school.
The Winside high school basketball team defeated the Wayne high school team Tuesday evening at Winside by a score of 27 to 17. The second team from Wayne played all but ten minutes of the game. This

McCormick—Deering—International—P & O

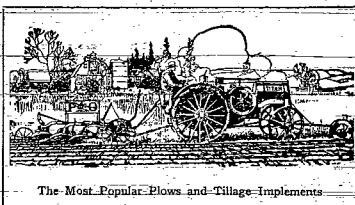

The Deering and P & O Have Been Added to Our Lines for 1920

The Most Reliable Harvesting and Haying Machines

The Most Efficient Tractors and Power Machines

The Most Popular Plows and Tillage Implements

YOU know these trade names. Your father and grand-father knew three of them. They knew in their time, and you know today that these names stand for the highest quality farm machinery in the world. McCormick built the first practical reaper. Deering sold the first twine binder and was a good-twine pioneer, and William Parlin was one of the first steel plow pioneers. The lines of harvesting machines and plows started by these fam-chine builders have been growing and developing ever since. Other machines have been introduced and developed by the same manufacturers, and every new machine and implement has had built into it the years of manufacturing experience and farm knowledge accumulated by McCormick, Deering, Parlin and their successors. Now of these machines and implements have been merged into one line—the International Harvester. The reputation of every machine and implement in this line is the same.

We Sell the International Line

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN TO YOU AS A FARMER? It means, first of all, that you can buy any farm machine or implement you may need, right here in this town, without taking chances on EXPERIMENTS or implements that might be "orphaned" one or two years after you buy them because of the manufacturer going out of business. You can always get repairs for any machine or implement in the International line because the Harvester Company will never go out of business. You are assured of reliable machines because every machine in the Harvester line is tried out and tested under actual farm conditions, before being offered for sale to the farmer. The Experimental Department of the Harvester Company is the most thorough and active institution of its kind.

It means, second, that you can get repairs and repair-service on all of these machines through one concern—us. You don't have to go to the bother and inconvenience of trying to get repairs and service from half a dozen or more different companies. You won't be taking chances on expensive delays waiting for repairs during the busy seasons because we are going to carry a big stock of repairs on hand and any repairs that we might not have we can get for you in a hurry by a phone call to the International Harvester branch-house.

Tack this advertisement up in your machine shed so that whenever you need repairs for any of your International machines you will know where to go. Also, you will know where to go when you are in the market for new machines or implements of real quality and the highest operating efficiency.

McAdoo's Fatal Handicap.
Troquois Chief: If Mr. McAdoo had any chance for the democratic presidential nomination on his merits, which he has not, the fact that he is a son-in-law of President Wilson would snuff his goose. But Mrs. McAdoo might do as well as any other democrat for a candidate. This is a republican year.

UNCLE WALT THE POET PHILOSOPHER

EMMA GOLDMAN.

I am, I think, famous because one night and I was festooned on her lid she saluted with many other bobs who talked too much, as Emma did. She smiled upon the world as if it were a child. She gave three bobs, and she liked to give three bobs, but I'll come back, you see, your honest, and I'll be an aide there, though hurried at its will force and wit; the ocean's deep and wide and wet; and poor old Emma can't swim. This saluted away a brainy dame who might have ranked among the great, and figured in our Hall of Fame, but she had had her head on straight. She went around denouncing things and telling people they were slaves, the bondman of the money kings and other platitudinous knaves. Her whole existence was a knock, she had the morals of a dip; and now, because she couldn't walk, she's being sent her off the earth, but we did show her off this shore, which tribute to her sterling worth appeared to make old Emma sore. So fare thee well, O Emma dear, may you keep far in other lands; we're tired of local ladies here, who talk of bombs and burning brands.

WINTER WINDS.
The winter, slow dragging, is spooling our lives; the wind whistles are nagging like Billingsgate wives; all day they are ranting, they give us a pain, all night they are chattering a dolly refrain. The wild winds are bigger than wild winds should be, and keener and colder than bergs in the sea; they come and deliver a smart and a sting, and suffers spring, and clamor for spring. And spring will be shipping along pretty soon, and spring is a piggin with roses of June. And how we will love her, the garlanded spring, when mockingbirds hover around us and we come back no more, we'd find, when it vanished, that spring is a bore.

We wouldn't be grateful for breezes of May if winter, the hateful, were out of the way. The long night is chilly, and plastered with snow the mercury's still in a southerly bed; and thus we're in training, the spring to enjoy; so cut out complaining, and cheer up, my boy.

A GOOD WORLD.
Every day Misfortune's handings come of soup-and-chunks of ice all over the world. The world is a good world, it is cutting capital in a most obnoxious style; when I read the daily papers, I am sorely sprung to smile. For they're full of tales of slaying, and of dying men's laments; handkerchiefs through the streets are straggling, shooting up and robbing tents. Industry is shot-to pieces; anarchy is largely billed, bonds are stolen from saloons, and bank messengers are killed. Grief around all boys and chickens, till it borders on despair; things are going to the dickens, if they're not already there. Then I raise a sigh and leave it, and this world I fondly curse—but I'd hate like heck to leave it, for the other might be worse. We, the people, have the willies, but the world is not to blame; it's a place of light and hills and enjoys a well-earned fame. It would be the best old planet in the solar right of way, if the delegates who man it would cool down for half a day. When hot air we cease to peddle, and get down to saving wood, this old world will wear a medal—there is nothing just as good.

CHEAP SPORTS.
Deprived of beer and bitters, by laws they don't admire, some peevish, some heart critics kick like a house afire. They say with prohibition our country's bound to reach the depths of dark demerol, where the blinded howlows screech. They should forget the bitters; 'twould be more safe and sane to hail with cheerful witters the water wagon's froth, for their critics they're merely nursing when they denounce the luck, and spend the dry days cursing the drought that's run to seed. "Like a frequent toady," I heard one sport remark: "I used to look quite gandy, when fit up after dark!"

him since that graft is added. I think it's splendid, and happy as two kings. Vox Populi has spoken, and though it makes you sore, old booze's sealer's broken for ever afterwards. We see the good sport reading the writing on the wall, behold him blithely speeding to some good restaurant. The three-part grouch beggar, says all his rights are gone, and hunts some punk bootlegger who has a demijohn.

PAYING RENT.
Some kind of home-own-er has to own, a humble shack of brick or frame, or one of stucco, mud or stone, if you would beat the landlord's game. For long sad years I've paid my rent, and there's my sunshine in my soul if I now had the coin that went to swell the landlord's gorgeous roll. The landlord has a row of shacks, and every month he walked abroad-left desolation in his tracks, and touched each tenant for his wad. "I mettered as I dug and mined, coughed up the sweat, stained, hard earned seeds. "I've bought this coop—a dozen times, and yet the landlord has the goods. "And when I felt and broke a limb, the landlord came to get the rent; there was no sympathy in him, I could not produce a cent. He said he didn't care a whoop for all my sufferings and sores; he fired me from that lowly coop and chased my weeping aunts out doors. "There is no thrif-in paying rent to landlords who have hearts of stone; far better have a cavity in the head, and know the blasted thing is your own. You cannot borrow seven times on all the wealth you've paid for rent, on your own house, by crucial times, you'll get a loan from some kind gent.

HARD ROLLED WISDOM.
"When once again we use our heads, and calm become, and thrif, there'll be no room for noisy folks, with thunders wild and shif, The man who owns a house, and lot, a garden in his season, has little use for rhabd rot that seems to smack of the gods. The man who has a pansy-bed, with tulips for a border, would see all agitators dead; he's strong for law and order. The clerk that has a bank account, the blacksmith or mechanic, is "fired when freaks the rostrum mount and spouts, and knows the blasted thing is the worst of fakes though in gay rags they robe her; thrif is the medicine that makes a nation sane and soles. The man who has a rooster left and right while daylight hours are sunny, and then we roar around all night and say we need more light, for the other might be worse. That counts when times are most distressing; it's what we save in small amounts, that keeps the sheriff guessing. Oh, then, no longer let us drift along with reckless spenders, but march beneath the flag of thrif, and preach its dazzling splendors.

Peace and Politics.
Washington Post: If the treaty interferes with politics, so much the worse for peace. Who expects peace in a presidential campaign, anyway?

Who'll Break the News?
Philadelphia Public Ledger: Won't somebody please tell the senate that the war is over?

Drastic Reduction for Week Beginning, Saturday, January 24, and Closing Saturday, January 31

Don't Delay Another Day in Coming to This Wonderful, Amazing Reduction Sale

Just a few plain words about prices. The high prices on every apparel are occasioned by the heavy advances in materials and the ever-increasing high cost of labor. Garment workers in the East are demanding further wage increases. The apparel we have bought and will buy for Spring and Fall, has been made, or will be made under these conditions. The retailer must pay the factory prices, which are higher than ever before and will continue to advance. We are selling merchandise in this great reduction sale for less money than we could purchase the goods now in the open market. Plainly, women and men should take advantage of these phenomenally low prices now—there is no room for argument—all future prices are bound to be higher, regardless of conditions. We are compelled to reduce our stock now to make room for new goods. This store starts each season with a brand new stock. It is good common sense to fill your wants now.

Life's Little Tragedies.
 Jay E. House in the Philadelphia Public Ledger—One of the tragedies of life is that of the industrious and ambitious married couple who rise from poverty to a competence. By the time they are able to build and occupy a home furnished with all of the conveniences and luxuries their children go away and leave them alone in it.
Bizarre and Interesting.
 Springfield, Mass., Republican: Senator Kenyon's proposal that candidates for president shall be required to name their prospective cabinet members before the election is sufficiently bizarre to be interesting. It would probably be difficult to get the right acceptance so far ahead for a cabinet that might never exist.
Asking for What's Not Wanted.
 New York World: The supreme council of Paris has drafted a note to the Netherlands government requesting the extradition of the former German emperor. There have been occasions in history when diplomats have devoutly prayed that they might not get what they asked.

Clemenceau's Elimination.
 Springfield, Mass., Republican: Clemenceau has had his vindication. That is well. He is eliminated from public life, and that, too, is well. France now needs forward looking statesmen to whom 1870 is not an obsession.
Mr. Borah's Threat.
 St. Paul Pioneer Press: Every now and then Senator Borah threatens to quit the republican party if things don't go his way. Isn't this a case of the hair on the end of the tail trying to wag the dog?
Competition.
 B. L. T. in the Chicago Tribune: Competition is the life of trade. But it is something more important than that. It is the life of the consumer. A present there is practically no competition.
A Possible Inference.
 Omaha World-Herald: One must infer from what Admiral Sims says that while everybody else considers the navy was 100 per cent in the war, he would mark it about 1 per cent.
The Specter of Doubt.
 Washington Post: Josephus has succeeded in making every naval historian suspicious character.
Golden Melody.
 Minneapolis Journal: Mr. Gall-Curet got $20,000 alimony. Ah, that rich voice!

Only a Few Threatened. Jay E. House in the Philadelphia Public Ledger: We do not share the fears of the governor of California. The great majority of the fight between Dempsey and Carpenter would undermine the moral stamina of a very limited number of citizens. The great majority do neither the leisure to attend the fight nor the price of a ticket.

A Blow for Father. St. Paul Pioneer Press: Women will spend $100,000,000 this year for hats, predicts the president of the Retail Hat Manufacturers Association of America, who adds that Dame Fashion now decrees four instead of two new hats a year. Let the head of the house get that in his pipe and smoke it.

CLEVELAND

A Place of Distinction for the Cleveland Six

America has given welcome, in no mistakable terms, to the new Cleveland Six. This car, sensation of the year in the world of motordom, found a place waiting for it, a place of distinction.

Indeed, it establishes its own place. For there has been no other light car of similar quality at similar price. There is no other now. The Cleveland Six, product of men skilled in the design and building of fine cars, reflects in every detail the genius and sincerity of its makers. Underneath its beautiful body is a chassis which performs. It doesn't merely run. It's alive with power and speed.

The Cleveland Six is offered now in two open styles of unusual comfort, splendid design and excellent finish—the five-passenger touring car and three-passenger roadster. The two handsome Cleveland closed cars, five-passenger sedan and four-passenger coupe, will soon be ready for delivery.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

Early Days from the Wayne Herald for January 21, 1919:
A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Corbett January 18, 1919.
Two boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kay, who lived near La Porte last Friday, January 15, 1919.
Messrs. Phillico & Son are removing their lumber-stock to their new location on Main street.
The improvements to the Catholic church at this place are now wholly completed and everything is in satisfactory condition.
A wolf hunt took place in the vicinity of Carroll. It was a hot chase and furnished great amusement, but resulted in no fatalities to the genus canis.
Miss Helen McNeal entertained a party of friends at her home. Her business and sociability made the evening pass quickly and pleasantly.
The Cunninghams, who have been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Cunningham, returned to his studies in the Iowa state agricultural school at Ames, Iowa.
W. A. Witmer will go down in history as being the first Randolphite to own an automobile. He was in Wayne and traded his property here to Dr. Leisinger for an automobile.
A farmers institute under the auspices of a department of the state university of Nebraska, will be held in Wayne in February. C. M. Jewelling of Beaver City will lecture on poultry, hork, corn and alfalfa. H. P. Miller of Sandusky, Ohio will talk on soil, feeding, animal life and growth.
Good progress has been made toward organizing farmers' telephone lines in Wayne county. Mr. Bell has now secured farmers enough to organize the building of direct rural lines running out from Wayne. Farmers propose to own all of their lines and to pay a fee of 25 cents a month for switching.

From Ponca Journal January 22, 1920:
On Monday night and Tuesday the miners boring for coal, did remarkably well. They made a progress of 45 feet. At this rate it will not take long to reach the depth where coal is or ought to be. Two weeks more will, with a good luck, tell the story.
It is evident that if Cedar county does not vote bonds, the road will not be built. It will remain as it now is, with the taxation at Ponca, which place can deem herself fortunate if the company does not take up and abandon altogether that part of the line this side of Dakota City.
On Thursday evening of last week the mail designed for this place was by mistake made in the Sioux City office sent to Dakota City, and that for the latter named town received at this office. Mistakes of this kind are becoming quite common, and getting just a little monotonous.
One day last week Mr. Ayers was driving along the road between this place and Jackson, when a bolt came out of his buggy, and he went back to get it, leaving his horses standing at the road. When the horses ran away, and distributed the buggy in small parcels along the route for three miles, and until they arrived in Ponca.

The Rest May Go Hang
St. Paul Pioneer Press: After taking sufficient time to listen to all of the echoes from the selection of the national democratic convention city, it may be stated definitely that three interests are pleased: The city of San Francisco, the transcontinental railway and the telegraph companies. If there is any other interest which is not displeased and suggested in wondering what influence the committee, it has not made itself heard.

A Precarious Situation
Chicago Daily News: Senatorial irresponsibilities in their hostility to the league of nations have almost saved from the tree the limb they are sitting on.

Notice on Settlement of Account
In the County Court of Wayne County, Nebraska.
The State of Nebraska, Wayne County ss.
To all persons interested in the estate of Herman Westerhold, deceased.
On reading the petition of Mary Westerhold, praying a final settlement and allowance of her account filed in this Court on the 5th day of January, 1920, and the distribution of residue of estate, it is hereby ordered that you and all persons interested in said matter, may, and do, appear at the County Court to be held in and far said county on the 27th day of January, A. D. 1920 at 11 o'clock a. m. to show cause if any there be why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted and that notice of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof be given to all persons interested in said matter by publishing a copy of this order in the Wayne Herald, a weekly newspaper printed in said county through successive weeks prior to said day of hearing.
J. M. Cherry,
County Judge.
