Some of your friends must have been in the huge audience which heard Alice Verlet in her Tone-Test recital at Normal Auditorium. Ask them about it. This is the astonishing discovery they made.

The keenest musical ear can not distinguish any difference between the voice of the living artist and the RE-CREATION of that voice by the New Edison.

And does it not amaze you, too that Mr. Edison has succeeded in producing an instrument that captures every subtle sweetness of the human voice—that gives you all the ear can give you of the art of the world's great artists. No other photograph dare to make this direct comparison.

Scientific Management and Economy

In the home are assured as soon as the ONE MINUTE WASHING MACHINE is introduced.

You will find it an ever willing and faithful servant—always ready and never too tired to work—saving you many hours every wash day. It does your washing whenever you want it done—easily, clearly, quickly—without wear or tear on your clothes—and more economically than the best washerwoman—at any price.

Easy to Operate

The One Minute Washer is simplicity itself, and can be operated by anyone. Every movement is controlled by two simple levers, conveniently located. One starts and stops the washing mechanism—the other starts, stops and reverses the rolls of the swinging wringer. As each lever is independent of the other, you can wash and wring at the same time, or wash and wring separately.

No Experience Necessary

All you have to do is to place the soiled clothes in the tub with enough boiling water to float in within four inches of the top. Add your dissolved soap and close the lid. Then push the washer control lever into starting position, and the washing will start. Ten to twenty minutes is all the time necessary.

When finished, you stop the washer by means of the same washer control lever and run the clothes through the wringer into the rinse water tub.

There is no rubbing on the wash board, no lifting, no turning of the wringer by hand—THE ONE MINUTE WASHER DOES ALL THE WORK.

Could anything be more simple?

Electric and engine power styles. Both operate alike.

Our Human Weaknesses.
Hon. Joseph G. Cannon in Harper's Magazine: I wouldn't give three whoops for a man whose heart did not beat faster, whose eyes did not take fire, and whose spirit did not swell who would not be moved to laughter or to tears by the voices of birds and children, by a song from the heart, by a woman's pleading, by noble oratory or noble acting, by any human action through which the spirit in one speaks to the spirit in others. Our human weaknesses are often the secret of our salvation. So, loving life, I have always been impressed by the emotions of youthful, exuberant life which bring cheers, laughter and tears, and without shame in any of them.

Influenza Attack Light.

Lincoln, Feb. 4.—Only 1,676 influenza cases were reported by local health boards in Nebraska during the week ending Saturday, according to statistics compiled by Dr. W. H. Wilson, state epidemiologist and forwarded to the public health service at Washington, D. C. The reports were made to the state bureau of health. Of the total number of cases Omaha reported 496. The state bureau said that the epidemic was continuing in a mild form, with scarcely a fatality, and that an account of the most hundreds of cases are not reported because doctors are never called.

Trapping for Pelts.

O'Neill, Neb., Jan. 31. — Holt county trappers and hunters, for the first time in many years, are paying little or no attention to the state and county bounties offered for predatory animals. The county pays a bounty of $3 per scalp on coyotes, which in earlier times are the bane of the ranchman and which always are a cause of loss to the hog or poultry raiser. Formerly the animals were shot and trapped for the bounty and an additional dollar or two a head offered by stockmen. Now the hunters are after the animals because of the extreme high value of the pelts in the fur market. The hunter scorns to ask the county bounty except on the very poorest grade of animals, because on payment of bounty the law requires the county clerk to mutilate the pelt by sitting the scalp down the nose from a point between the eyes. This mutilation damages a fur that sells for more than the amount of the bounty. Good coyote skins are worth up to $30 each, while the very lowest grade brings $4, or one dollar more than the bounty. To date this fall and winter the county clerk has only paid bounty on some forty coyotes, while several hundred pelts have been shipped from the county. A number of trappers' licenses are being taken out this year, and the catch of muskrat in the lakes of southern Holt county is expected to be unusually heavy.

Strange Disinclinability.

Washington Post. — Strange how men of like names are so dissimilar in sentiment. Parson Billy Sunday dunnis Demon Rus as the devil himself, while Representative Adolph Sabath, with a bill to that effect pending, treats him as a family physician.

Lincoln Journal: Penrose, Hearst and Reed, of Missouri, tempt the country to adopt Hoover on the strength of the enemies he has made.

CORBIT IS INTERVIEWED

Chairman of County Board, Emphasizes Cooperation.

The Monthly Report, published by the department of public works, Lincoln quotes E. M. Corbit, chairman of the Wayne county board, in an article in its January issue, as follows:

"Dissension does not build roads," declares E. M. Corbit, chairman of the Wayne county board of county commissioners. "A spirit of harmony must be manifest between the county boards in the various counties, and the department of public works, in order to get the best results. A disgruntled county board, finding fault with state methods does not help to build roads.

"Some of the county boards feel that they could get more out of the money which is being expended if they were given more voice in the expenditure," he continued, "but we must remember that roads are being built from carefully devised plans, and no county board is able to formulate the same plans at anywhere with the same expense. Counties are not barred from bidding on road construction in the respective counties, but supervision remains with the state, so if we are not satisfied, we can become more closely allied by taking up the contracting and the maintenance with a spirit of fairness on the part of the state office."

Concerning other important phases of road work, he says other people think that the present Federal Aid granted to states is the proper move for general road building.

"Our plans for 1920 are giving all our mail routes a thorough going over, and especially those roads connecting out state highway. Our county is talking permanent surfacing, but do not know how it should be done.

"I believe a state bond issue advisable for Nebraska to raise funds for road purposes."

"We have graded about 100 miles of roads from December, 1918, to December, 1919, and it is our intention to give all those roads special maintenance during the year."

"We have not accomplished much in the way of removing snow, for the reason that we dislike to use our road district money this season of the year."

"We believe the best way to obtain better county roads is to take some contractor, who is doing work in the county and let him build up all our bottom roads, giving them the necessary drainage.

"The county can then take care of the roads afterwards, with the average county equipment."

"The sentiment in this county is in favor of surfaced roads and a state bond issue would be preferable."

Only The Hoover beats out buried dirt—indoor dust—loosely. The carpeting is fluttered more than a cushion upon a Deeply-lodged grime is loosened and shaken forth. Beaten to the surface, powerful suction removes it.

Only The Hoover sweeps while it beats. Its beating Sweeping Brush patented. Whizzed like airplane propellers, twenty-four large soft bristle tufts make countless sweeping contacts. Beats hairs, lint and threads that cling like cockle burs are speedily collected.

as it Cleans

Only The Hoover beats, as it sweeps, as it suction cleans. So in a Hoover you have more than an electric vacuum cleaner. You have even more than a vacuum cleaner and an electric sweeper. You also possess an electric carpet-beater. Is it not apparent why. The Hoover cleans clean? Why it is being purchased in overwhelmingly greater numbers? Why its makers are the world's largest? Concluding advantages of the Hoover are: That it correctly straightens any crushed-down nap. That it rejuvenates colorings and patterns. That it is guaranteed to make all rugs and carpets wear much longer. Just run your Hoover over; beat, sweep, lift nap, restore colors and vacuum clean in one operation!

WOULD SUGGEST HIMSELF
In Announcing Candidacy, McKelvie Issues Statement.

Governor Samuel R. McKelvie has announced his candidacy for reelection and issued the following statement: Those who recall the campaign which I made prior to my election will remember that I promised to put the old political machine out of business; to administer the state affairs in a business-like way; to carry out a farmers' program; to redeem the pledges that were enunciated in the platform of the republican party; to enforce the law without fear or favor; and to urge the passage of a civil administrative code for the conduct of our government. All of these things have been done.

The old political machine was put out of business and appointments have been made with regard single to the integrity and the fitness of those who have been selected to serve the state.

For the first time in the history of the state, a farmers' program has been carried out in the enactment and enforcement of laws as outlined by the representatives of all the statewide farmers' organizations. Particular encouragement has been given to cooperation.

The laws of the state have been fully enforced, special emphasis having been placed upon the control of bootlegging or automobile stealing and the activities of those radical elements that are opposed to the government.

The party platform pledges have all been redeemed, including the adoption of the cabinet form of government and the approval of the amendments to the federal constitution providing for prohibition and equal suffrage to women.

The adoption of the cabinet form of government (the civil administrative code) has made it possible to conduct the state's business with efficiency and economy and through its operation an average saving of $10,000 per month is being made by the reorganization of the appropriations of the last legislature. Furthermore, it is safe to predict now that there will be no deficit in any department in the cabinet.

The cabinet form of government herein referred to is faithful to the federal government, as defined in the federal constitution. It has responsibility and eliminates inefficiency and waste. Already, sixteen other states have either adopted it, or have recommended it for adoption at the earliest possible date.

In meeting the unusual demands that have been made upon the state, prompt and efficient service has been rendered wherever it seemed that anything could be done. The people have been urged to have an abiding confidence in their government and to understand that cooperation, usefulness of purpose and unity of action are just as essential now as they were during the war.

The state's business has been conducted upon the theory that public office should be administered in the same business-like manner as private business, and the results thus far accomplished have fully justified this policy.

Therefore, believing that this is the way in which the people want their business handled, I announce my candidacy for reelection and promise that if I am re-elected I will prove faithful to the trust that is thus reposed in me.

SAMUEL R. MCKELVIE.

Unfortunate O'Neill Family. O'Neill, Neb., Jan. 30.—Henry Herrick, whose wife and one son were sent to the Norfolk hospital for insane about ten days ago and to which place two other children previously had been sent, was adjudged insane yesterday and taken to Norfolk. Three of the remaining children are in the care of relatives in the eastern part of the state. The other two are staying on the Herrick ranch near this city and the oldest daughter is teaching school in the eastern part of the state. Herrick and his wife were sent to the asylum that the children might have a chance and that their own mentalities might not be endangered by association with the insane members of the family.

Herrick is reported to be a relative of Myron J. Herrick of Chicago and has two brothers in Cleveland, O. Mrs. Herrick, before her marriage, is said to have been exceptionally talented and won a state gold medal in the Denorest declamatory contest a number of years ago.

Norfolk News: Sheriff Peter Duffy of Holt county arrived at the state hospital here with Herrick Thursday night. Doctors at the hospital decided to delay the mental examination of Herrick until next week. His physical condition was declared deplorable and he showed every indication of being a defective.

"Herrick's physical condition is not good," Supt. Charlton of the hospital announced Friday morning. "He shows want of care and lack of food."

Water on Short Circuit. O'Neill, Neb., Jan. 30.—George Gaughenbaugh, proprietor of the O'Neill flour mills, poured a bucket of water on a couple of crossed electric wires in the mill yesterday evening. He is able to be about again and aside from a severely burned arm and hand suffered no material injuries. The short-circuited wires had set fire to some woodwork of the mill with which they came in contact and Mr. Gaughenbaugh, after trying to be assisted to throw the electric switch, grabbed a pail of water to subdue the flames. He neglected to wait until the assistant had reached the switch. The current from the "short" followed the stream of water to the pipe, turning the water into steam which scalded Gaughenbaugh's left arm and hand. He was knocked to the floor by the shock and the next mill was set afire. The throwing of the electric switch saved him from electrocution.

Wisconsin Man Hits Radicalism. Lancaster, Neb., Jan. 30.—Judge Olson scored before the members of the Lancaster County fair association in a stirring address by Judge A. R. Olson of Wisconsin. Judge Olson is a member of the constitutional convention. A democracy may become as much of an autocracy as the worst monarchy on earth—it is not safe to follow the false doctrines and remedies of the reformers, fanatics and dreamers," Judge Olson told the Lancaster barriesters.

Even with the well balanced, high minded, clear thinking type of men in most cases elected to the convention, the spirit of the times, the unrest and drift in the thoughts of the country, is reflected in the propositions, submitted to the assembly, he said. Judge Olson roundly scored some proposed changes and urged for the maintenance of the full jury trial, the limitation of the referendum and recall, and the sacredness of the courts and the constitution.

"When we encroach upon the rights of life, liberty and property we are entering upon dangerous ground," the speaker argued. "The recall of judges and of judicial decision should be the very last step in socialization, a step which has been sadly exemplified in North Dakota."

A Distinction. Sioux City Journal: Occasional is an intellectual antithesis comes to the front with the idea that criticism of a public official is criticism of the government and that once men are elected to office, it is less majestic to doubt their honesty or question their motives or differ from their methods. The content of mass opinion and their lives is so clear that they are unable to understand that the official is not the government, but only the temporary instrumentality for executing the government. A senator may be a veritable nuisance, even dangerous to the nation. Criticism of him is not a criticism of the government or of the body of which he is a member, or of the transcendental service which the senate performs in the government. A president may be weak and slow stepping politician, lacking in executive ability and incapable of administering the laws. Criticism of him or his policies or acts is not suggesting the elimination of his office from the government. It is only suggesting the need of high ability in filling it. Such criticism is constructive, not destructive. It would improve instead of destroy government.

This question comes prominently to the front at this time because of the pending bills in congress to restrict the advocacy of the destruction of the government by radicals. These people care nothing about the officials. They are temporary agencies of administration, legislation and judicature. The criticism which the pending bills seek to suppress is that which reaches through the temporary officials to the basic and immaterial thing called government. That government consists of constitutions and laws, rules made by the people and agreed to among themselves as the contracts under which they will be regulated in their relations to each other. The distinction between that government and the individuals who administer its different functions is clear and ought to be readily understood by anyone of average intelligence. Yet there are those in high places who passes for what he is worth." Very little is all curiosity concerning other people's estimate of us, and little all fear of remaining unknown. "What hath he done?" is the divine question which searches us out and transpires every false reputation. A pop may sit in any chair in the world nor be distinguished for his hour from Homer and Washington, but there can never be any doubt concerning the respective ability of human beings when we seek the truth. Pretension may sit still, but cannot act. Pretension never wrote an Iliad, nor drove back Xerxes, nor christened the world nor abolished slavery. * * * Never a single word was uttered lost. Never a magnanimity fell to the ground. Always the hearts of men greet and accept it unexpectedly. A man passes for what he is worth.

What Hath He Done?

Ralph Waldo Emerson: "A man

Horror of Russia.

Omaha World-Herald: "It is said the day of twelve hours seven times a week, compulsory in soviet Russia denotatory will look less lovely to American eyes.

Minneapolis Journal, Massachusetts reports the closing of a number of jails. That's what you must expect, if you destroy personal liberty.

Edwards-Griffin.

David Edwards of near Carroll and Mrs. Edith Griffin were married in Neligh, January 28. Mrs. Edwards is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Griffin of Neligh. As she came over here and recently resigned her position as teacher of the third and fourth grades in the Carroll school, she is well known here. Mr. Edwards is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Griff Edwards. The young couple will move to a farm six miles southwest of Carroll.

Owens-Davis.

John L. Owens and Miss Amanda Davis were married at the home of the bride's parents near Carroll at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, January 28. Rev. D. T. Davis presided over the ceremony. The ring service was used. Robert Owens, a brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and Miss Eola Baker of Palmyra the bridesmaid. The marriage is in honor of Little Miss Mabel Owens was ring bearer. Only relatives and a few near friends were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Davis. Mr. and Mrs. Owens will live on a farm six miles west of Carroll.

Flu Controlled in Carroll.

The influenza epidemic is practically stamped out in Carroll, according to Dr. A. Texley, but is growing worse in the Welsh settlement and in the country. Since the schools and churches have been closed and public gatherings forbidden, the spread of the disease has been stopped and Monday there were only ten cases in Carroll, none of which are new at present.

Conditions in the settlement are not so encouraging as Dr. Texley reports. About forty and sixty cases all the time. To measure have been taken to prevent the spread of the influenza there. Some of the cases have been critical, but any found last year, and many patients have developed pneumonia.

John L. Davis probably was in the most critical condition of any of the sick people Monday. His little daughter, Ruby, was very sick. Ernest Beale, who was also last week in recovery. There have been no deaths among the victims of the influenza patients.

Dinner Society.

Miss Clara Linn was a Sunday dinner guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Yarrow.

Dance Postponed.

The dance planned by the Ladies Aid lodge for Thursday night was postponed until February 12, because of the precaution against the spread of influenza.

Mrs. Owens Hostess.

Mrs. Anna Owens was hostess at an informal dinner party on Wednesday evening of last week. After the meal the evening was spent in games and music. Those present were: Mrs. A. E. Erickson, Mrs. J. H. Mellick, Mrs. E. G. Vessel, Mrs. Frank Pryor, Mrs. Sam Williamson, Mrs. Clyde Williamson and her guests, Mrs. A. E. Erickson of Wayne, Miss Esther Boehler and Miss Maude Williamson.

GREAT CHURCH MEETING

Ministers of All Denominations to Meet at Lincoln.

Omaha, Feb. 2.—The biggest and most important religious gathering ever held in Nebraska is scheduled for February 18, 19 and 20, when practically every preacher of every evangelical church in this state will converge at Lincoln and the first world meeting of pastors to discuss local phases of the interchurch world movement. Invitations to attend were mailed from the Omaha office of the movement to the 1500 protestant ministers of Nebraska and scores of acceptances are being received by the committee every day. The meeting is held to be of such importance to churches that all the expenses of the ministers will be paid on the railroad and sleeping car fare when necessary, are being borne by the interchurch world movement and the hope is that the different churches in Lincoln will arrange to take care of the ministers of their denomination during the conference.

While the great meeting of Nebraska ministers is being held in Lincoln, a similar meeting of ministers will be held in every state capital throughout the United States. The Nebraska movement is but one step in this great, widespread movement that every active minister of every evangelical church in the entire United States will attend at their conferences during the month of February.

The Nebraska meeting is being held with three objects in view. First, to discuss the results of the great world survey conference held in Atlantic City on January 7 to 10, 1920. Second, to secure the cooperation of the Nebraska pastors to the local plans for Nebraska. Third, to make preparations for local conferences in every county and township in Nebraska.

Two of the great religious denominations were represented in the Atlantic City conference and while there were some of the national bodies which will have not yet affiliated themselves with the interchurch world movement, individual ministers of these churches will be welcomed in the Nebraska state-wide conference with the same warmth and on the same terms, accorded the ministers of those religious bodies which are already in the movement.

The pastors' conference will be one of the most notable affairs that has ever been held in Nebraska. The matters that will come before the conference cannot fail to be of the very greatest interest to every pastor and every church in America. We have reason to believe that it will be even more inspiring and significant than the great Atlantic City meeting this conference.

"Because of the nature of the program and the outstanding men who will address the meeting, we earnestly believe the conference will mark an epoch in the life of every attendant. We trust you will be nothing interested in your presence at this conference."

Mr. Bryan's Alarm.
Chicago Tribune: Just as the New York World was thought to have settled down into a comfortable, amiable, post-meridian existence, with plenty of inspiration daily by freight from Washington, it arises from a life of ease and respectability, wrapped in a storm cloud and declares that it does not care what the politics of the next president may be so long as his name is Hoover. One is not required to listen to Mr. Bryan's comments to know that he is amazed and pained. In Mr. Bryan's case we had thought that here also was a democratic force, a power for good, which had reached the planetary state of having everything it wanted except the presidency and not wanting that.

There a democrat is a queer dead. Thomas Jefferson will have a seat and a voice at San Francisco. So will Andrew Jackson. Mr. Bryan is a successful Power de League. The World is wet, which probably causes Mr. Bryan to look any other way. He is the World-dick. Alton B. Parker, which was Mr. Bryan's idea of complete success, in prime picking. Mr. Bryan just has prohibition working in the United States and he finds sedition working in the east. In New York, New Jersey, and Rhode Island, strongholds of error, if not of inquiry.

There probably is a conspiracy to put Gov. Edwards, the New Jersey wet, on the ticket with Mr. Hoover and declare the party for Hoover and Hootch, Bread and Beer. The full pals, dinner and growler.

Mr. Hoover gave grains to the hungry in Europe. Mr. Edwards would give them to the thirsty in the United States. There might be a dangerous popularity in this combination. Hoover for food and Edwards for frolic for a well fed nation and a gay one. Beer, light wines, and beaded bubbles winking at the brim, the social and occasional glasses.

When Mr. Bryan sees a danger he goes after it. Here is one to make him take off his coat.

Trade and Industry Slacken.
Sioux City Journal: Both industry and trade showed a decline last week—the industrial rate than constitutional conditions. The spread of the flu in the larger cities and the fear of the people that they might contract the malady by mingling with the crowds of shoppers reduces the retail trade below what it was the previous week and below normal for the week involved. The effects of the slackening of retail trade on wholesale volume were negligible. There were few cancellations of orders for early delivery and new orders were made without expectations of restrictions from possibly curtailed trade during the next few weeks.

The same cause resulted in a decline in the output of industries. Reduction in labor from the flu curtailed plant operation, though orders were not effected in consequence. There were other agencies, however, which did enter into the industrial conditions. The car shortage has become so acute that production is limited to available shipping facilities. This is especially true in the steel industry where much of the heavy finished material goes directly from the machines to the cars, thus eliminating storage and double handling.

There is a shortage of coal at some of the larger industrial centers in part to the prevalence of flu among the miners and probably aggravated by the uncertainty among them over the future status of the miners.

Spring buying in textiles indicates an anticipated heavy demand for these goods. But clearance was about normal, though money responded to the increased interest rate made by the federal bank board.

Minneapolis Contract: Where one man drops dead from shivering, another is surrounded and miserably from overeating and lack of exercise.

Chicago Daily News: Other planets are trying to talk to ours should get no encouragement. There is too much talk here already.

Notice of Hearing.

To the heirs, creditors and all persons interested in the estate of Erastus B. Bills, deceased:

You and each of you are hereby notified that Amanda M. Bills has filed for probate in the County Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, alleging that said Erastus B. Bills died intestate at his residence in Durant, Nebraska, Iowa, on October 15, 1902.

That at the time of his death, he was seized in fee simple of the northwest quarter of section ten (10), township twenty-five (25), north of range five (5), east of the 6th P. M. in Wayne County, Nebraska, and other real estate in said County and State.

That said Erastus B. Bills left surviving him as his sole and only heirs at law, his sister Harriet A. Phipps, his brother, Frank A. Bills, his nephew, Willis C. Bills, and his nephew, Harry McNeil.

That all claims, debts, and demands against said estate have been paid in full.

That said estate has never been administered in the state of Nebraska.

That said Amanda M. Bills is the owner in fee simple of the northwest quarter of section ten (10), township twenty-five (25), north of range five (5), east of the 6th P. M. in Wayne County, Nebraska.

Petitioner prays for a finding and decree determining the date of the death of said Erastus B. Bills, deceased.

For a determination of the heirs, the degree of kinship and the right of descent of said real estate, and for an order having claims of creditors, and for such other relief as may be proper.

Said petition will be heard at the County Court room in Wayne County, Nebraska, on the 24th day of February, A. D. 1920, at 10 o'clock, a. m., at which time and place the heirs, creditors, and all persons interested in said estate may appear and show cause why a decree may not be made and entered as prayed in said petition.

Dated this 23rd day of January, A. D. 1920.

J. M. Cherry, County Judge.

Want All That's Coming. Alexandria Herald: These presidential candidates have only about six weeks to debate before South Dakota voters and they should get busy at once.

The Richards primary law provides for these debates, and most assuredly we want all that is coming to us.

A Confession of Guilt. Kansas City Times: From the protests Germany is making against surrendering the army officers wanted by the allies, the nature of the evidence against them must be pretty well known in Berlin.

"No 'If' in W. J. B.'s Lesson. Washington Post: "If Bryan Should Run Again" headline. In the light lesson of Bryan's aspirations there is no such word as "if" struck it out twenty-four years ago.

John Carlson is quite ill at the Arthur Felt home.

Mrs. Lemuel Hoogner is spending a few days in town with her mother.

Wallace Ring went Wednesday to Sioux City where he purchased a carload of potatoes.

Miss Elba Erickson and Emmet Erickson from the Wayne Normal spent the week end at home.

Mr. and Mrs. William Meyer and family were Sunday afternoon guests at the Peter Miller home.

The young people in Park Hill have arranged on a play to be given about the 20th of February.

Miss Viola Johnson who is attending the Wayne Normal spent the week end at the Charles Levine home.

Several gentlemen had a good time at the T. M. Gustafson home Tuesday evening in honor of Gust M. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Dahlgren returned Thursday evening from their trip to California. Apparently Nebraska and home look best to them.

Mrs. Ada Nelson returned to her home at Osage City, Kan., Thursday morning after a visit at the home of her brother, Lemuel Hoogner.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lundberg of Gurley, Neb., spent a few days at the Herman Oak home. They have been visiting relatives and friends.

Several relatives met at the Emitt fund-home Wednesday evening and enjoyed a little surprise on Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lundberg of Gurley, Neb., who were there visiting.

Bernard Levine suffered an acute attack of appendicitis Saturday evening, but is much better at this writing. Little Levinus Facker who has been here is much improved at this writing. We hope for the speedy recovery of these little boys.

Farmers' Union Entertainers. On Friday evening the Park Hill Farmers' union entertained at the beautiful new farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Echtenkamp.

Nearly fifty guests were present. Music was furnished by the evening's entertainment. The men folks held a business meeting, electing officers for the coming year.

At an early hour the guests found their places at two long tables in the spacious dining room, where a two-course luncheon was served with an oyster stew as the main course.

At a late hour, the guests departed pronouncing Mr. and Mrs. Echtenkamp and family excellent, courteous, and deserving them for their generous hospitality.

Purely Selfish. Philadelphia Public Ledger: The trouble with the reds is that they are selfish. They are not out for the sake of a better world.

They are out for themselves. They are tired of work, at any price, and they intend to take what they want without paying for it.

Naturally, they have no use for a Bible that talks of the sweat of the brow or a law that restricts them.

Things that do no harm to them, naturally, there is no fun in being like the safe and sane majority. One must be sensational and spectacular.

Slackers in Peace. Lincoln Journal: Samuel Compers reiterates that the laboring men are not in a hurry. So they were, Samuel, and so was everybody, or nearly so.

He is a lad actor who will not be true to his country when the Dictator says that there are men who would die for their country in time of war, but are slackers at every other time.

Slim Chance. Washington Post: Rhode Island stands about as much chance to get a wet decision from the saggan court, according to some pessimists, as a Wall Street candidate does to get William J. Bryan's endorsement.

Martyrdom Improbable. B. L. T. in the Chicago Tribune: Both French and English are glad to be shut of the Kaiser, which he may take as a knock or a boost. His chance of dying a martyr is small.

Few Are Hurt. Jay E. House in the Philadelphia Public Ledger: The truth hurts, but one hears so little of it that those to whom it is administered seldom require an anesthetic.

Discouraging to Skepticism. B. L. T. in the Chicago Tribune: How can a skeptic consider the administration's conduct of the war and retain his unbelief in an overruling providence?

The Allies' Determination. Kansas City Star: London now learns that the allies will demand that Holland keep the ex-kaiser The allies apparently are determined to be obeyed.

Perseverance. Minneapolis Journal: The old humbug that whiskey cures influenza is out again.

LOOKS IN ON CONVENTION

Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis Attends Session Making Constitution.

Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis returned Tuesday night from Lincoln, where she attended a session of the constitutional convention, of which Mrs. Lewis is a member. As many members of the convention go home for Sunday, they do not meet until Monday morning.

In the session which Mrs. Lewis attended, the only question discussed was that of extending the right of trial by jury to civil cases before police magistrates. Although the members finally voted for indefinite postponement, which means the measure is practically defeated, Mrs. Lewis said a number of able speeches were made in connection with the question. The proposal was put forth by A. H. Bigelow of Omaha. Judge C. C. Flensburg of Omaha led the discussion against it.

The members of the convention feel the seriousness of their undertaking was a fact which impressed Mrs. Lewis. The sessions are conducted in much the same way as meetings of the legislature. Although the galleries are open to visitors, delegates may invite relatives or friends to sit in the convention. As the member whose seat is next to Mrs. Lewis was absent, Mrs. Lewis was invited to occupy it. There are usually a number of visitors in the galleries, as interest in the work of forming a new constitution seems to be general.

When in Lincoln, Mrs. Lewis also attended a reception given by Governor and Mrs. E. B. McKelvie to the delegates and their wives. Probably a hundred and fifty guests were present.

Mr. Lewis has had a light attack of influenza, but is again able to be at work. His roommate, Thomas Osborne of Bayard, formerly of Wayne, was sick at the same time, but has recovered also. Although many delegates have been sick, there have been no serious cases of influenza.

of an advertising expert, he declared, as reported by the Norfolk News, "that organizations such as the Chamber of Commerce would some day become as important as municipal or county government. He urged publishers to learn more about their own communities and their own counties. He declared that the population of Nebraska was not increasing rapidly enough and that a united advertising organization was lacking. He urged the organization of a publicity bureau for the entire state and appealed to the publishers to unite in advertising Nebraska."

IN INTEREST RELIGION

Dr. J. D. Collins of Lincoln, Advances Cause at Local Church.

Dr. J. D. Collins of Lincoln, state director of religious education for the Baptist church, spoke on Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. work and held a Sunday school workers conference here Sunday at the Baptist church. He expects to return for a week in March to conduct an institute for Sunday school teachers. The importance and value of Sunday school training were pointed out in Dr. Collins' talk at the morning session. He explained that educational foundations in Christianity were essential for Christian living. The fact that less than fifty-two hours a year are spent in religious education by most children, in comparison with the big per cent of the year spent in the public school room, was emphasized.

B. Y. P. U. work was the subject of Dr. Collins' evening address. The Baptist Young People's Union is established in Canada as well as in the churches in the northern and southern states. Dr. Collins pointed out that if the young people could work together, the churches themselves could unite. He explained that spirituality, which he defined as having a large place in one's life for God, was emphasized in B. Y. P. U. work.

A conference with Sunday school workers was held Sunday afternoon and plans formulated for an institute here in March. The exact date could not be set until after the state meeting in Lincoln, February 16. Dr. Collins will have charge of the institute, but may bring an assistant with him. Three classes, to meet at hours in the afternoon and evening, will be formed. The present teachers in the Baptist Sunday school, those who wish to be teachers and the more advanced students, will be enrolled. An intensive study will be made in order to assist the teachers in instructing classes, and to prepare new teachers.

It would be interesting to know the views of the young people on this subject, as well as the views of the older people on this subject.

NEARLY FATAL GAS FUMES

People Near Hartington Have Narrow Escape—Other Nearby News

Gas fumes escaping from an overheated electric light plant nearly caused the death of a number of people at the home of Grant Corson near Hartington, last week. Mr. Corson's aged mother was very sick and several relatives were visiting at the home. The engine in the light plant was speeded up in order to get an electric iron hotter. In a short time the persons in the house became ill and showed the symptoms of gas poisoning. Leo Corson, a 14-year-old boy, who was investigating in the basement, found the engine overheated and turned it off.

A new record in real estate transactions at Hartington was set last week, when 1380 acres of farm land was transferred for $410,000. It was sold by W. C. Kelley to R. C. Healy, a real estate operator of Kansas City. The land brought an average of $28 an acre and represents the largest amount of money in a single transaction made in Cedar county.

N. P. Hult, a pioneer citizen of Wausa, has announced that he will give a quarter block for a hospital site. A committee has already begun taking subscriptions toward a hospital fund. The Wausa post of the American Legion has decided that Wausa should renew its practice, dropped two years ago, of having lyceum courses. Consequently the officers have signed a contract for a series of entertainments next year.

A farm house near Wausa, occupied by the Alex Berglund family, was destroyed by fire last week. After taking the usual precautions, the family retired. One member of the family awakened at 4 o'clock in the morning and found the room in flames. No one was injured, but no furniture could be saved and the building was totally destroyed. The fire evidently started in the second story, but the cause is unknown.

Two teachers in the Bloomfield high school were married last week. They were Miss Charlotte Emde of Elgin, and Albert Hering, who is superintendent of manual training. Both attended Wayne State Normal. Mrs. Hering had recently gone to Bloomfield to fill a vacancy in the teaching staff.

The F. L. Widgren block, including a garage and implement store, was entirely destroyed by fire January 24. The fire department prevented the blaze from spreading to other buildings and some of the stock and equipment was saved. The building was comparatively new. The loss is estimated at $50,000, with no insurance.

Two loads of grain were stolen from a granary near Pierce last week. The thieves were traced north of Hadar and were sent to nearby towns to watch for them. It is thought the grain was hauled away in motor trucks. A load of wheat, one of corn and a box of tools were missing.

Stephen F. Browne of Hooper, has bought a working interest in the Farmers State bank of Randolph, and has been elected vice president and director. Mr. Browne has been with the Dodge county bank in Hooper eight years.

CHANDLER SIX

Famous For Its Marvelous Motor

Europe Welcomes The Chandler Six

NOW and then you read something about "French style and line" in automobiles, or perhaps it's "the newest English idea." And some folks have gone across to get the newest suggestions.

Europe hasn't built automobiles for five years and Europe is crying for new cars and good cars. America's style is Europe's style now.

The Chandler Six, popular in many other countries for years but kept out of Europe the past three years because of war-time prohibition of shipments, is welcomed everywhere in Europe now—welcomed for the excellence of its performance, and quite as much for the beauty of its style of body.

The Chandler, represented in the British Isles by Messrs. H. G. Burford & Company, Ltd., of London, was exhibited by that old established English automobile house, at the great Olympia Motor Show, and was "quite the sensation of the show," says a London cable. "Three hundred and seventy Chandlers were sold in two days."

given by Prof. Davies and his classes, was a thoroughly enjoyable affair. Many of the scholars taking part were only from six to ten years of age, and each little one did remarkably well. Among those older deserving special mention are Miss Cassie Stough and Amy Singer, who are both excellent singers. Prof. Davies has been doing much good work for his pupils, and cannot be too highly commended for it. Southern Nebraska's northwestern part has always regarded northern Nebraska with dislike, have cried down the advantages to be found there, have derided them as much as possible, the tide of immigration, and have snubbed and belittled our country to the end that they might be everything and we nothing. Mark, most of Providence does not bring things even and at the same time allow us to return good for evil, by coming us to furnish to the denizens of the bleak and treeless plains of northern Nebraska, coal, and thereby save them from burning their own for fuel or from borrowing in the ground to keep off the cold.

Martin Lockwood, Prop. of Martinsburg, stated to us on Tuesday, that business in his town is quite brisk. The sleighing is very good, and people are stirring around lively. The health in that vicinity is good. One Monday night there was an old-fashioned husking bee and dance on the farm of Ben Fuller, about four miles southeast of Martinsburg, and was well attended. The school at Martinsburg this winter is first rate. It is kept by John McDonough, and has a large number of scholars. The hotel of Mr. Witham has a reasonably good patronage. The mill of Duren & Wright is doing a large business and is turning out first rate flour. The store of Mr. Martin is also doing well. A new shoe shop is being built in town by a German named Martin Georgan. The building will soon be completed. Several other buildings are contemplated in the spring, both dwelling and business houses.

Atchison Glove Sights.

The most democratic institution in the world is the grave. The world is full of queer people, and you are one of them. On the quiet, the farmers don't get up as early as they used to. The new year, which came in without any sleighs on, is very much in style. The truth for today: Quite a few hatchets, but very few shovels, were buried today. About the most foolish remark is that every village has a man who is a better business man when he is drunk than when he is sober.

JUNIORS WIN BALL GAME.

Athletic Events Close Goodfellowship Week Programs.

The series of programs presented by the students of Wayne State Normal in Goodfellowship week, closed Friday night with a musical show, basket ball game and physical training demonstration. The picture show, given in the auditorium at Zwickler was "Up the Road With Sally" and the reading part was presented by Constantine Tolmas. The junior boys' basket ball team won over the seniors by a score of 23 to 6 in a game played in the gymnasium. Between halves, the girls' physical training class gave a demonstration consisting chiefly of drills. About forty students took part. Miss Martha Dewey directed the demonstration. The Glee Club, assisted by the department of expression, gave a musical and literary program in the Methodist church, Thursday evening. J. J. Coleman directed the entertainment. The numbers were presented by the club, the girls' quartet, Miss Eleanor Schulte and Miss Verma Smith.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES.

From Wayne Herald, February 4, 1904:

Bert Brown sold 160 acres of land to C. M. Craven.

W. J. Pickering and daughter of Iowa City, Ia., visited with the family of Dr. J. J. Williams. Mr. Pickering is a brother of Mrs. Williams.

Paul Harrington is helping Dan Harrington's store until the return of his regular clerk, Oliver Bird, who is sojourning in California.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Tucker left for Buffalo, N. Y., in response to a telegram conveying the news of the death of the former's brother, Harvey Tucker.

Mrs. A. H. Ellis gave a surprise party for her son, Bert Ellis, who is to enter the employ of the Union Pacific Railroad at Omaha. Ten couples were present.

Dave Krause, aged 80 years, died January 24, 1904 at Winslow on his way to his son Edward's home. He suddenly threw up his hands and never was able to speak again, dying that night. He had lived for years all alone in a little house in Winslow.

W. H. Gibson, proprietor of the Republican, had his right hand badly crushed by crushing it under the cylinder of his power press. He was wiping off a roller while the press was in motion. The rag caught between the cylinder and bed, drawing in the hand.

A farewell reception was given for the families of C. S. Beebe and Bert Brown in the M. E. church, Mayor James Britain, Prof. J. M. Pile, E. A. Lundberg, Fred Volpp, Mrs. J. M. Pile and Rev. Thomas Wright gave addresses. The two families will make their home in Carroll.

The eight Owen brothers had a reunion for the first time in twenty years, at the home of D. M. Owen in Omaha. The following were present: H. E. Owen, Norfolk; Edward Owen, Wayne; John E. Owen, Wayne; William Owen, Laramie; W. G. Owen, Colorado Springs, Colo.; Lewis M. Owen, Wayne; Frank K. Owen, Carroll; and D. M. Owen, Omaha.

The Velvet tin is twice as big as shown here

"No Rheumatics" is a Mighty Poor Reason for Wearing a Wooden Leg

NO sting or hot burnin' is a mighty weak-kneed recommendation for tobaccos. But when tobacco is mild and cool, and yet as full of "fun" as a barrel of monkeys—well, that's another story—that's Velvet.

And 'cause why?

'Cause Velvet is brought up—not jerked up by the hair. It's raised as carefully as a favorite child. It's cured in the big fresh air. And it mellow's away for two years in wooden hogsheads 'til it's smooth and rich as cream. The wonder would be if Velvet wasn't a whacking good pipe smoke.

"Let Nature mellow yo' tobacco an' that tobacco will shore mellow yo' nature," says Velvet Joe. And he's pretty nearly right.

NATURE-AGEING in the wood does more to make tobacco friendly than any camouflage you can cover it with—and don't you forget it. See, taste, smell, feel the "real tobaccoess" in Velvet. Why, you can almost hear it. Velvet's the tobacco you can judge with your eyes wide open and specs on.

There's a whole lot in Nature's way of making good tobacco better. And it's all in Velvet.

Here's to a full pipe and a friendly one.

UNCLE WALT THE POET PHILOSOPHER

WINTERLESS.

Some countries have no weather embracing ice and snow; for twelve long months together the heavy breezes blow; and sometimes when I'm weary of sultry skies and dewy and chilly winds, and I'm sick of such fogs, would I could dodge the wintry rigors and atmospheric crimes; but then I think of chiggers, which haunt the sunny dunes; and there the sheeters carry their drills and raise Old Harry; and I resolve to tarry at home and write my verses. I'm sometimes in my hay, and have no pep or vim, and I feel tired and crazy, and weak in every limb; I spend the long evenings, and all my soul protesting when I must write a hymn. If I were camped where breezes are always soft and mild, my senses would be cheeres, and readers would be riled; for he who'd do some trilling and earn an honest penny, would treat his muse as trilling with pep and vigor wild. The wintry winds are wailing throughout the bitter night, and chunks of snow are falling around me as I write, but cold is stimulating; with zeal that's unabating my deathless pomes I'm erating; my energy's a sign.

THE PANIC.

The wise men now predict that before this year closes there will be catastrophes titanic by Autumn, we are told. The wise men hand us, through their faces, all sad news; the worst the present boom has no sound basis, and it is bound to burst. Then there'll be coming, fast and faster, all kinds of perils dire; the one will save his mustard plaster, the hard will soak his lyre. Then giddy boys who now are humping the costly brands of gas will be for the rickety vanity yearning they'll have to feed on grass. So now, while coin seems rather scarce, let's make our strougboxes thrive, and every month sail down a twenty-or-maybe-twenty-five. Let's do some wise and cautious planning against the time of stress; and when we see the panic panding we will survive, I guess. And if the panic doesn't reach us we'll be ahead our stores, and saving some will surely teach us the way to save some more.

FIGHTING H. C. L.

We've talked a lot about the Cost; no opportunities we've lost to make a few remarks; we've told how we have felt the pinch, and called for hempen ropes to lynch the profiteering sharks. Now comes the gentle spring again, when earnest, sane, and thoughtful men will cease to rend their duets, quit yawning by the village pound, and spade up fourteen roods of ground, and plant a lot of spuds. A garden full of useful greens, of sparrowgrass and Lima beans, is much to be desired; a garden where the squashes thrive and beets are seen in blocks of fire, will make the Cost look tired. A bed of onions by the fence is better evidence of sense than many frenzied yaps; and no matter how in sight that is the gardener's delight, when harvesting his crop, the country's folk will look at the earth; all kinds of soil, of stermion, is strewn around our shacks; and in that soil let some peas and Brussels sprouts and things like these, and thus get down to tasks. When to their gardens men repair, and gather luscious pumpkins there, and carrots red and firm, and turnips full of wholesome juice, and cabbageheads that beat the deuce, the Cost takes in his sign.

DEAD DAYS.

I see the olden, golden days, which I once often grieved, the common time was they a time, and thankfully received. With princely hands I gave you some fine filled with wholesome glee the souls of all the helpful gents who did small things for me. I acted thus for many years, in many a shirt and ctime; and men were often moved to tears, when they received the dime. But now the porter with his brush, the waiter with his plate, less than such specimens of cash, and breathe a hymn of hate: A quarter, even; is too small, too trifling and too paltry, to soothe the currents of their gall—they ought to have a plank. Some day the people will arise and raise a howl, and swat, as they would swat the flies, the whole blasted grating crew. Some day a statesman will appear, a germ-proof law he'll frame, to make the tip of yesteryear an outlawed, penal game. The tipping of the olden time was free from sin and guile, for then a man could give a dime, and get a winning smile; but now he gives a half a dime, which he can hardly spare; the porter takes it with a green and goes out doors to sweat.

HELPING ALONG.

There are always many chances to improve this vale of tears, as a delegate advances down the highway of the years. There are burdens you might carry, to relieve some weary boy, who would like to rest and tarry, for a season, on his way. There are luckless gents, a few of whom are in the red, and some kind words, nine or twenty, will might stimulate their souls. Oh, some little chunks of kindness bring relief to those who sigh, and we walk in moral business if we let a chance get by. Just a pleasant morning greeting, as we strut along our way, to the citizen we're meeting, brightens up that fellow's day. Just a gossip with a kiddo as to school she rolls along, in her tuckers and her middy, fills her youthful heart with song. Oh, a mug that's always pleasant, with a five-by-fourteen smile, makes the future and the present seem to part; gents' worth while. We can make this world a daisy as we toddle to the tomb, if we're not too all-fired lazy to dispel some yards of gloom.

GRIEF.

Some one's shewing with alarm, everywhere I chance to stray, overlooking all the charm of the genial winter day. When I leave my squaw and fifteen minutes after eight, I am quite a cheerful out, and I have my smile on straight. All the world looks good to me, soothing to the heart and mind, every-thing I see seems a winner of its kind. But before I walk a block I encounter some poor simp, who puts up a dejected tail from a soul that's pale and limp. He admits the skies are bright, that the sun is going some, "but," he says, "some time tonight forty kinds of storms will come." Everywhere I chance to go, some one's viewing with alarm; handing out big chunks of woe, which will do my spirit harm. When I've walked a half a mile, and have talked with seven gents, I have lost my sunny smile, and the briny fills my eyes. It is always thus, my friend, in the city, on the farm; every place I chance to wend, some one's viewing with alarm.

Why Delay?

Why not have your eyes examined now and fitted with glasses that will prevent eyestrain? You are not forced to suffer with headaches. It is not necessary to be tired and irritable after a few hours' reading or sewing. Instead, wear glasses that will correct the cause of your eye trouble.

Read or work in comfort.

"Who Are the Quitters?"

Harvey Weekly School teachers in Kansas and elsewhere have refused to organize into unions, with American Federation of Labor affiliations...

All of which is highly commendable as a principle. It shows their reward in full public appreciation. That appreciation should take a more substantial form than mere verbal eulogies...

Surely, if there is any group of workers whose pay should merit them to live with some approach to comfort and personal dignity...

But this standard of payment is precisely what the teachers are not getting. In many cases their pay is so low that they simply cannot live on it...

These teachers' salaries are such as washwomen, janitors, and teamsters would scorn. A bricklayer, whose craft demands an obviously low order of skill and intelligence, may earn nearly as much in a week as a teacher is paid in a month...

The teachers will not form unions. They will not strike. They regard such action as incompatible with their ideas of self-respect, personal independence, and the duties they owe to the American public...

The case of Chicago is by no means singular. Teachers in many other localities are being constrained to abandon their tasks. Chicago happens to have furnished us with the latest statistics on the subject...

NORTHEAST OF WAYNE Mr. and Mrs. George Hensman of Omaha, were visiting this vicinity last week. Mr. and Mrs. Chris Sohren of Randolph, who were here to attend the Ruser-Lilje wedding, returned home Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Sohren expect to move to a farm near Belton-March 1. Mr. Angus Ruser of Omaha and Mr. and Mrs. Klotz of Ruser of Ogallala, Neb., who were here to attend the Ruser-Lilje wedding, returned home Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lessman, Saturday evening at the home of Charles Lessman, Sunday at the home of Herbert Lessman and Sunday evening at the home of Andrew Johnson.

Lilje-Ruser The marriage of Miss Meta Lilje and Fred Ruser took place in the Lutheran church at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, January 29. Rev. E. Gehrke performed the ceremony. The double ring service was used.

The bride wore a dress of white tulle, trimmed in mother of pearl. A white tulle veil was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses, tied with tulle. The bridesmaids wore dresses of blue crepe de chine, and carried white carnations.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Lilje, was held after the wedding, and a three-course supper was served. About seventy-five guests were present at the church. At the home of the bride's parents a hundred guests were served. The wedding cake was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruser went to Omaha and Ogallala, where the former's parents live. Mr. and Mrs. Ruser will be at home north of Wakefield after March 1.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. R. Ruser, Sr., of Ogallala; Rudolph Ruser, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Angus Ruser of Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. C. Hensman of Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. C. Sohren and family of Randolph.

Hinnerich-Gehrke. Miss Lydia Hinnerichs and Reinhardt Gehrke were married by the latter's father, Rev. E. Gehrke, at the Lutheran church at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, January 28. The double ring ceremony was used.

The bridesmaid was Miss Ida Hinnerichs, a cousin of the bride. Fred Singpiel, a cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Lorraine Knoppe was ring bearer. A color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the decorations. The bride wore a white satin dress, trimmed in pearl, beads and a tulle veil. She carried a bride's bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid carried pink carnations and wore a white jersey cloth dress trimmed in lace.

Before the ceremony, Misses Iona and Irene Gehrke sang "Where Thou Goest."

The wedding march was played by Theodore Schmitt. About fifty guests were present at the church. Immediately after the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hinnerichs, and a four-course dinner was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Gehrke will live on a farm two miles north and two miles west of Wayne.

Out-of-town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Gehrke, Miss Iona Gehrke, Mrs. E. Gehrke, Mrs. Sophie Angquist, all of Bancroft, Mrs. L. H. Echtenkamp and Mrs. Ernest Gieselmann of Arlington, Maude Britton Miller, Edna W. Stewart, Faye H. Brittain and James E. Brittain, as plaintiffs, filed their petition against you as defendants, and against Harry B. Jones, Maude B. Jones, John F. Sherburn, Peterson & Berry, a partnership, Charles A. Berry, also defendants, the object and prayer of which said petition is to forever quiet in plaintiffs the title in lots one (1), two (2), three (3), block twelve (12), north addition to the city of Wayne, Wayne county, Nebraska, and have the plaintiffs adjudged absolute owners in fee simple thereof and to forever bar and enjoin you and each of you from forever claiming or asserting any right, title, interest, claim or demand in, to or upon said real estate, or any part thereof, and the further object and prayer of which petition is to cancel and discharge the apparent lien of certain mechanic's liens which have become "unperfected" on account of lapse of time, and the plaintiffs pray such further relief as may be just and equitable.

You are required to answer said petition on or before the first day of March, A. D., 1920, or the allegations contained in said petition will be taken as true and a decree rendered in favor of plaintiffs as prayed.

Mary L. Britton, Maude Britton Miller, Edna W. Stewart, Faye H. Brittain and James E. Brittain, plaintiffs. By James E. Brittain, their attorney. 124d Planetary Curiosity.
