

A Good Hatch

That's the reason we like to sell the OLD TRUSTY INCUBATOR. No experience is required by the operator, no fussy rules to follow. You simply regulate the machine by means of a small thumb nut until it will maintain a temperature of 103 degrees, put in the eggs and let it alone. No further attention is required, except to keep your lamp burning and an occasional turning of the eggs. Simple, isn't it?

Business is Cautious.
Sioux City Journal: The last seven days showed a material change in business conditions from those of the previous week. The dearth of cars for shipment of standard commodities, notably coal, and the shortage of iron and steel in lines so affected increased the depression. Storms, which added to the difficulties of an already existing car shortage, were temporary factors in decreased activities. But the predominating influence which checked industry and was reflected in general business was the demoralized condition of European exchange. This has been in evidence for months, but during the last fortnight has assumed proportions where international commerce is seriously impeded. Unless American credit in some form is extended Europe it will be impossible for the nations on the other side of the Atlantic to buy American products.
There has been a tightening of money rates which has checked short time borrowing for speculative purposes. With this restriction has come also a conservatism and caution in various mercantile channels. Buyers are not taking long leaps in orders, believing that the exclusion of American supplies from European markets will increase production for home consumption and force lower prices. Conservative business men are not desirous of finding themselves heavily stocked with lines at present prices when reduced prices come, if they do. The number of cancellations of orders last week were more than twice what they were the previous week. Much of this was in lines the prices of which would be affected by limitations of European trade, showing that the action was taken in anticipation of a decline in prices.

Good Clothes--- or Nothing

THAT'S our policy. If we can't get good clothes for you, clothes worth the money—we won't sell anything. Right now when merchandise is so hard to get, many merchants are tempted to load up with poor stuff—there's no trouble in getting that.

We won't do it. If you come in here to buy clothes and we haven't good ones in your size, we'd rather see you go out without buying than give you poor quality that would not render good service.

New shipments of fine all-wool clothes are coming to us every day from Hart Schaffner & Marx. They're the kind of clothes you ought to have. If we haven't your size today, we'll have it a little later—such quality is worth waiting for.

The Wayne Hospital

Service is the aim of the arrangement and conduct of this institution. Skill, efficiency and courtesy are extended consistently to each patient. The equipment, designed to insure the comfort and welfare of the patients, is the most reliable known to medical science.

Equipment is Complete

The Wayne Hospital is equipped to give X-ray treatments and make X-ray examinations. Every preparation has been made to insure successful surgical work. No more dependable operating equipment is to be had. Medical patients receive careful attention. Diet kitchens, laboratories and other provisions have been arranged for the welfare of patients.

Service is Prompt

Not only are the nurses able and courteous, but mechanical devices have been supplied to make service prompt and efficient. A system of light signals makes it possible for the nurses to reply more quickly to calls and eliminates unpleasant blaring of electric bells. This is only one of the modern conveniences in the Wayne Hospital.

Fish for Lent

All kinds of fresh and salt fish may be obtained here during Lent. These can be prepared in many ways, making a variety in the menu—Be sure to place your Lenten orders with us.

Special Offering on Salt Herring

INFANT SON PASSES AWAY

Pneumonia Causes the Death of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Wade's Baby.

Leslie, the 6-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Wade, died at 9 o'clock Sunday night from pneumonia. Although he had had whooping cough several weeks, his condition did not appear critical until Sunday, when the trouble was pronounced pneumonia. Funeral services were held Wednesday.

The baby's father is still in the hospital following a recent operation for ruptured appendix. Mrs. Wade has influenza and an infant child, Margaret, has whooping cough and is in bed.

Relatives called here by the death of the little boy are: Will Wade of Ute, Ia.; Mrs. Meta Dean, Mrs. Scott Smith of Whiteside, Ia.; Ned Conover of Collins, D.; and Joe Conover of Sioux City. Mrs. A. Hyde of Pearson, Ia., had been here more than a week.

ISSUES—A PROCLAMATION

Governor Urges Due Support of Boy Scouts' Good Turn Week.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 9.—Governor McKelvie issued the following proclamation for Boy Scouts' Good Turn Week:

"The Boy Scouts of America is just now completing the first decade of its noteworthy history as an organization devoted to the welfare of boys and the making of good citizens."

"It behoves us, both as individuals and as a state, to aid, encourage and support, by every means in our power, an organization which has such a splendid record of progress and service as the Boy Scouts of America has shown for the 10 years of its existence."

"It is fitting that we at this time give due recognition to this great organization."

"I, therefore, Samuel R. McKelvie, governor of Nebraska, do hereby recommend the period, making the 10th anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scouts of America, February 8 to 14, to be observed in this state as 'Good Turn Week,' and I strongly urge that every man, woman and child in the state for that period adopt the Boy Scout habit of doing a good turn to someone every day."

"SAMUEL R. MCKELVIE, Governor."

GREAT RANGE IN PRICES

Director of Economy Campaign Receives Many Reports.

Lincoln, Feb. 9.—That there is a great range in prices over the state on food products sold is evidenced by reports now reaching Mrs. C. G. Ryan, director of the economy campaign. A week or so ago Mrs. Ryan sent out letters to nearly every town in the state asking for quotations on various articles of food in the vicinity and the answers are beginning to reach headquarters.

Prices on oysters are given all the way from 65 cents a quart to $1.25. On sugar the price runs all the way from 15 cents a pound to 25 cents a pound.

Potatoes are quoted at 3 cents a pound, while in one town the price is given as 12 1/2 cents. Other towns quote 10 cents, 9 to 11 cents and 12 cents.

Bacon, sliced, standard grade, runs all the way from 35 cents, the lowest, to as high as 55 cents, although one town quotes 60 to 65 cents as the price per pound.

Rice shows an average of about 15 cents, the prices ranging from 10 to 21 cents. Beans run from 12 1/2 cents to 15 cents.

These prices are out-state prices and do not include Omaha and Lincoln.

It is not the policy of the department to give the location of the towns where the reports came from until after a complete investigation has been made, when an effort will be made to fix responsibility and enforce a more uniform price list.

Hand Mashed in Shell.

Laurel, Neb., Feb. 9.—D. T. Montgomery, a farmer living eight miles north of Laurel, had his hand mashed to shreds when it was caught in a moving corn sheller.

He was rushed to a physician who amputated the crushed hand.

Sympathy for the East.

Sioux Falls Press: Old timers in South Dakota can sympathize with the people of the north Atlantic state in the difficulties they are having with snow and cold throughout that region. In the early days of this state's history, we used to get a touch of severe winter weather now and then. But that was long ago.

Disappointing.

Kansas City Times: Mr. Vandenberg assists, that the only way out for Europe is for Europe to go to work. But Europe probably will be disappointed with the commonplace nature of that advice. What it had hoped for was an expert opinion.

Work Seems Inevitable.

Kansas City Star: Looking over the long list of things Europe says it positively must have, it seems plain Europe has got to work pretty hard if it gets them.

The Power of Money

When William Payne, the banker at Bisonville, decreed that no farmer who did not raise cows as well as wheat could borrow money from him, the angry grain growers almost lynched him. But they had to do as he demanded—and today his county is an oasis in a blowaway desert, his depositors and borrowers are prosperous farmers, his bank is looked upon as the agricultural father of the whole countryside. Such is The Power of Money. For Good, Herbert Quick, formerly a member of the Farm Loan Board, tells the story in the February 7th issue of

AVERAGE IS NEARLY $2,000
Ed M. Kern's Sale of Duroc-Jersey Sows Breaks All Records.

Stanton, Neb., Feb. 9.—The Ed M. Kern sale of purebred Duroc-Jersey sows broke all records Friday afternoon when sixty head were sold for a total of $109,875, averaging over $1,830. The first forty head sold for an average of $2,800 which surpasses all previous Duroc sales. The nearest sale to this average was reached when thirty-eight head were sold at an average of $1,760. Hog breeders were in Stanton from all over the United States, and the town was turned over to the hog men the day of the sale. Mr. Kern's reputation as a hog breeder has become nation wide with a constantly growing demand for his type and breeding of hogs. He is the owner of Great Orion Senation, the world's champion boar, for which he has refused $50,000. Kern says he would not sell this herd boar for $100,000. Mr. Kern has had several sales amounting to fifty-sixty and seventy thousand dollars, but this is the climax, sixty head of hogs selling for more than the value of two quarter sections. Mr. Kern is the biggest hog breeder in the United States.

$3,550 Paid for Cow.
 Ewing, Neb., Feb. 9.—At a sale in Sioux City, J. L. Fisher of this city paid $3,550 for a pure bred Hereford cow with bull calf. This was the top price of the sale for a female. Mr. Fisher refused a good offer for the calf and is contemplating using him as one of his herd bulls. Mr. Fisher also purchased three other pure bred cows at the sale and now has a herd of about fifty pure bred cattle.

ART KOENIGSTEIN TO PEN

Former County Attorney of Madison County to Serve Time.
 Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 7.—Arthur J. Koenigstein, former county attorney of Madison county, convicted on a charge of having received money from an alleged keeper of an immoral house to protect her from criminal prosecution, arrived at the Nebraska state penitentiary last Friday to begin serving his term. It was announced by Warden William Fenton. Warden Fenton said he knew Koenigstein was trustworthy and that he would put him to work of some kind. Just what kind of work he was unable to say. Koenigstein was first found guilty in October of 1915, but the supreme court afterward reversed and remanded the case for new trial on account of errors. He was retried in 1918 and sentenced to from one to five years. An appeal to the supreme court was taken and in June of 1919 the high court affirmed the action in the lower court. Subsequently the supreme court declined to grant a motion for recall of the mandate in the case.
 Koenigstein, Warden Fenton said,

M'RAE FAMILY AFFLICTED

Father and Son Pass Away and Mother Dangerously Sick.
 Telegrams received here Saturday announced the death of Mordow MacRae, formerly of this county, and his son, Lester, aged 18, and the critical condition of Mrs. MacRae, at their home near Bushnell. Mr. MacRae was a brother of Mrs. C. M. Madden of Wayne. Mr. Madden left Sunday for Bushnell, but Mrs. Madden was unable to leave home on account of caring for her mother who is 86 years old, and who has been rendered more feeble by the shocking news regarding her son and family. Fatal influenza is said to have stricken Mr. MacRae and his family. Mr. MacRae who was aged 43 years, passed away Saturday morning, and the death of the son followed in the afternoon. Mrs. MacRae was a native of Illinois. He moved to Iowa and came to Wayne county about twenty years ago, locating on a farm three miles south of Wayne. He was married to a daughter of the late W. S. Brown in 1900. The family lived here thirteen years, moving to South Dakota six years ago.

Mr. MacRae had bought a farm in Wisconsin, and he expected to move there March 1. Last fall the family visited Mr. and Mrs. Madden in Wayne. Besides his wife and his sister, Mrs. Madden, and aged mother at this place, Mr. MacRae leaves another sister, Mrs. Chas. Welch, at Reeder, N. D.

Pinus Florida Prosperous

The Herald received the following letter from Fred R. Burgess of near Carroll, who went to Florida on an excursion arranged by Grant Mears of Wayne, Neb.:
 E. W. Huse, Editor Wayne Herald, Wayne, Neb., Dear Sir: I will drop you a few lines telling you what I think of this part of the country that Grant Mears is representing. It is one of the richest soils I have ever had the pleasure to see. It ranges from two feet to nine feet deep and can raise practically all kinds of vegetables I have ever seen and some that I never saw before. It is all that they claim and more than that.
 They are shipping out vegetables now by the carload every day. This soil produces the largest yields of any country that I have ever been in in my life. The vegetables are paying for the land and several times over in one season at the price they are getting for their products at present. This land is selling fast.
 There are plenty of oranges—I have seen three different kinds; grape fruit in abundance, bananas, limes and lemons, alligator pears, which are a rare fruit and demand a fancy price; also pawpaws in abundance. A person can pick up coconuts under the trees without paying for them.
 I have seen four kinds of palms—the cocoanut, royal, fish tail and palmetto.
 Moore Haven is a very prosperous little town of several hundred. There are six churches in this town. The people as a whole are very friendly and sociable. There are lots of northern people here.

 When Production Is Limited.
 Minneapolis Journal.—A shortage of good horses means fewer people living in comfortable houses.

A shortage of clothing means more people poorly clad. A shortage of food means malnutrition. A shortage of goods means hard times. Anything that tends to lessen the supply or increase the cost of goods makes life harder to live. Limiting output in any way; idling by order or without order; scamping work; fighting labor-saving machinery; avoidable wasting; holding goods for unreasonable profits—all these by far restrict production, and we cannot enjoy what is not produced.

To Be a Thorough Job, St. Paul Pioneer Press. Col. Bryan strongly intimates that the democrats are to have a thorough dry cleaning this time. It is no closure for guarded secrets that he has never been satisfied with the results obtained by the wet wash process.

—Chesterfield

A REAL pal—that's Chesterfield. Look at its record. Three million smokers—less than five years on the market! Two words explain it—"They Satisfy."

Our expert buyers in the Orient select for Chesterfields only the finest grade of the four choicest varieties of Turkish tobacco. To these are added the best of mild but full-bodied Domestic leaf.

But, in the end, it's the blend that makes Chesterfields "satisfy." And the blend—our private formula—cannot be copied.

With three presidential candidates—Pershing, Bryan and Hitchcock—Nebraska promises to be a great political storm center during the forthcoming campaign.

Former Crown Prince Frederick William of Germany, who is offered himself to the allies for trial in place of his countrymen. The prince correctly figures that his sacrifice would cause no loss.

The quality of a man's religion or spirituality is reflected from day to day. It isn't necessary to shout one's religion from the housetops nor make long and eloquent prayers in public. It is impossible to reflect bigness of soul in the little things that happen every day in business and social relations.

Employment of trucks will hasten the time when the main country roads will be paved. Trucks put muddy roads in such horrible condition that they are not much more passable when they are dry. Trucks will necessarily increase in use, and accordingly the demand for more durable roadways will grow. The saving in transportation and automobile repairs would soon pay for the improvement.

In the absence of guardians whom many of us need at times, faithful town bankers are ever present help, and their advice ought to be more often sought and followed. The banker is on the inside of the business circle, and knows a lot of things the average man lacks facilities to learn or is too busy to learn. One goes to a doctor for advice regarding his health and to a preacher for advice concerning his spiritual welfare. Why shouldn't he go to his banker for business advice? If bankers are faithful and sound and progressive, as they must be to prosper and grow and con-mand respect, they will prescribe about the right course to follow in making business ventures. They don't know everything in business, but they do know more than the average man who is plugging along in his particular groove.

The physician attending President Wilson has given out a statement that the president who has been in ill-health for some time, is now "able-minded and able-bodied," and that "he is giving splendid attention to the affairs of the state." This favorable report encourages the hope that the president will now yield to a sensible compromise on the peace treaty and cooperate with the senate in completing and disposing of the task.

Lit. expressing regret over the death of a fellow-publisher's baby and extending sympathy to the sick father, we are led to more pleasant belief in immortality and suggest that those left behind are the ones most injured and the ones most to be pitied. The thought we save a little but to be developed here as but the natural instinct. Translation to a higher sphere, however, means less hampered and more favorable development, we believe. While death is properly resisted, it loses much of its terror in that it is contemplated as the natural and inevitable sequence to birth, as mere transition, progression from a lower to a higher state. Death loses much of its forbidding aspect as its subjects, in passing, find thoughts and aspiration upward, making eternity richer and more inviting.

The country is again made uneasy by the threat of railroad men to strike. The late coal strike should have been sufficient warning to have prompted a federal law that would handle industrial problems without causing hardship to the innocent public. Kansas is the first and thus far the only state to enact legislation to settle labor difficulties and safeguard the public against consequent hardship. It has what is called "industrial relations court," and disputes between employees and employers are peremptorily taken into that court and promptly cut and determined according to merits. The purpose of the law is to do exact justice to both labor and capital. Neither side should expect to receive more than justice, and a federal law could operate just as effectually and successfully over the United States as a Kansas law does over Kansas. A court, authorized by law, should require the square deal for all parties to an industrial dispute. Opposition of such a proceeding suggests that one side or the other expects to score an advantage that is more than fair.

In a letter to Senator Hitchcock, made public Sunday, the president says in regard to treaty reservations, that it is important in dealing with foreign powers, "not to create the impression that we are trying to escape obligations." The president's letter was inspired by a proposed compromise which provided that the United States "has no assumption of obligation to employ its military or naval forces or other economic boycott to pressure the territorial integrity or political independence of any other country under provision of article ten, or to employ the military or naval forces of the United States upon any article of the treaty for any purpose, unless in any particular case the congress, which, under the constitution has the sole power to declare war or authorize employment of the military or naval forces of the United States, shall have given its consent to resolution so provided." After what America contributed in blood and pressure to the war against the Prussian autocracy, and what it has since done for the support and reconstruction of battle-scarred European nations, it is not likely the proposition will meet with any graceful or sensible mind that we are trying to avoid any just obligation. A country that entered the war on humanitarian grounds and went the limit in pouring forth its men and money could not reasonably be accused of trying to shirk duty or responsibility. The suggestion that we should now have reared on our foundation of generous sacrifice an everlasting pledge to rush to the aid of a European nation without the authority of our congress not only conflicts with our constitution and is incompatible with American tradition, but is unreasonable and unnecessary. The president would excite public opinion by his warmheartedness if he would cheerfully yield to reasonable compromises and assist in settling and disposing of the treaty business.

It is high time for people to get back to a sane and sound basis of thinking and action. The conservatism on the one hand and hysterical radicalism on the other, neither of which embodies any considerable part of our population, should be required to yield to the sane and progressive masses who would make constructive and wholesome headway and avoid injustice and ruin. There is too much suspicion. If there is ground to accuse, the evidence should be forthcoming and conclusive. Rooseveltian publicity should supplant fear-breeding concealment. Facts seldom warrant the fabric woven out of whispered insinuations. The public should be dealt with openly and frankly. Any lurking trouble may be quickly removed by turning on the searchlight. The proposed sedition law which has been killed, would have, if it had been adopted, robbed the press of much of its freedom and accordingly removed an important safeguard to American liberties. Suppression of facts during the war as very object sought. Judge Geo. W. Anderson who served as United States attorney from November, 1914 to December, 1917, says much exercised over the way false reports spread, due to inadequate publicity. He mentions reported pro-German plots during the war as proof of the tendency to much unsupported fear and hysteria. He says that more than ninety-nine per cent of the advertised and reported pro-German plots never existed." He says: "A fraction of one per cent of the pro-German plots actually existed. Since the war, small ground for suspicion has often induced feverish fear. Popular knowledge has been lacking, and the imagination has often run on slight pretext. Let the people know, and they can be depended on to see that justice is done and that law and order are properly upheld. Let the forces of progressive civilization, always observing truth and justice, bury archaic mobsterism and spit the teeth of wild-eyed radicalism, exposing evil, fastening guilt where it belongs and avoiding the poison of groundless suspicion."

Halfway House of American Trans-Atlantic Aviators.

Mrs. C. H. Fisher entertained the U. D. club Monday afternoon. Mrs. H. S. Ringland gave a talk on the labor question, reading extracts from current magazines on both sides of the question. She pointed out that Kansas was the only state in the union which had passed laws against the labor movement. It has been effective so far. That the labor element will have an important part in presidential election politics was predicted, together with the suggestion that this element would support only those candidates who favored labor. Although Mrs. Ringland did not state any conclusions to be drawn from the arguments, these seemed to indicate the only solution for present social unrest was more production and longer hours of labor. The hostess served refreshments. The next meeting will be with Mrs. H. J. Felber Monday afternoon.

Musical Program at Monday.

The Acacia club met Monday afternoon with Mrs. I. H. Brittel. Mrs. C. T. Ingham was leader of the musical program. Each member responded to roll call with a musical stant. Mrs. W. R. WAUSA TO GET NEW BLOCK

Pierce Plans to Pave 20,000 Yards This Year—Other News.

Wassa is to have a new brick business block, according to plans of Henry Olson, who has bought lots near the city hall. He will have a building erected at once to accommodate his harness sales room and general office. Later in the season he will complete the structure.

The Wausa post of the American Legion voted unanimously at a recent meeting to present a memorial to the soldiers which would be appropriate to their task of service. The members of the post maintain a monument would do them no good and they would prefer some memorial that would be useful.

Brick will be used to pave 20,000 yards of Pierce this year, according to a decision made when the property owners in the first paving district met with the city council and engineer recently. Work is to start as soon as possible next spring.

William Parhi-of Pierce, and Henry Haffart of Plainview, both Pierce county commissioners, were riding collided with another car in Norfolk. The collisions were returning from Lincoln with two other Pierce county men. The one who was driving the car was driving through the lights of a car driven by Ed Heuel of Norfolk, who insists he was burning the usual lights.

J. C. Olson of Newman Grove celebrated his nineteenth birthday last week at a dinner and social afternoon, when a number of friends surprised him. He has lived in Newman Grove forty years and both he and his wife are in good health.

A case of leprosy has been found at Alden. Charles Young, who contracted the disease while in military service in Cuba, the patient. He did not realize what the disease was until he went to an Omaha hospital for treatment. Madison county is building a cottage for him at the county farm where he will receive proper care with no danger of contaminating other persons.

A precautionary use of a war-time gas mask was noted at Allen recently when the furnace exploded in the Ford garage, filling the basement so full of smoke that the mask had to be used by a man who ventured down to close the doors and open the drafts. The same week, the proprietor of the garage lit a match in the basement and the flames caught the hanging wrap-ups of some tires. A fire extinguisher was successfully used and no serious damage was done, except that the proprietor burned his wrist.

The Commercial club has undertaken to see that every person in Hartington is included in the census reports this year. The Cedar County News states that Hartington's census will show only a few less than 2,000 persons in that town. Schools have been closed and all public meetings forbidden in Grofton because of the influenza epidemic there. Mrs. Ray Gibson died of pneumonia following influenza and the body was taken to Cotteridge for burial.

The Pierce county fair has been set for August 31, September 1, 2 and 3.

An automobile stolen from Herman Mitchell in Wisner January 4 was located at Ellsworth, Kan. last week. When the dealer in Ellsworth saw a heavy car in the neighborhood, he tried to establish a claim for commission on it, and found it had been sold by a Wisner firm. When he wrote to this firm, they recognized the car as one stolen from Mr. Mitchell.

Salaries of all teachers at Fullerton were raised last week by action of the board of education. The superintendent is to receive $1,800; the principal, $1,350; high school teachers, $900; primary teacher, $1,000.

According to the O'Neill Frontier, the population of O'Neill has increased a percentage less than 100 per cent since 1910, and is now more than 2,200.

Geneva received no bids for paving the second district when the mayor and council met last week to open the bids. Mr. Abel of the Abel Construction Company of Lincoln, holds the contract for the first district. He explained heavy and sudden advances in the prices of materials and an unwilling market made it impossible for contractors to know what they would have to pay for materials and consequently they were unwilling to bid. Mr. Abel is the contractor who will pave the first and second districts in Wayne.

AGRICULTURE NOTES.

Live Stock Associations Formed. Fifty-nine live stock breeders' associations, with a reported membership of 1,524, were organized during the last fiscal year with the help of United States department of agriculture extension specialists. In addition numerous calf clubs were organized among the boys and girls.

Most of the work is being done in regions where the beef cattle industry is practically new. One of the purposes of beef-feeding extension activities is to eliminate scrub bulls and replace them with pure breeds of good quality. The federal workers cooperate with the state agricultural colleges through their extension divisions and particularly with county agents.

Steer Feeding Shows Results. In a steer-feeding experiment conducted last year on the government farm at Beltsville, Md., four lots of 2-year-old steers were fed. The purpose was to compare cottonseed meal and soaked velvet beans when used with and without the addition of shelled corn.

The addition of corn to a ration composed of corn silage, cottonseed meal, and wheat straw did not pay. The addition of corn to the ration of velvet beans and corn silage was profitable.

The lot receiving corn silage and soaked velvet beans with a small quantity of cottonseed meal as an appetizer produced the most economical gains and showed the greatest profit, even though the daily gains and the selling price of the cattle were lower than those of any of the other lots.

Benefits Follow Drought.

The shipment of cattle from drought-stricken areas in Texas during the summer of 1918 has resulted in benefits greater than merely saving the animals, according to a report of the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture. Nearly 300,000 head of cattle were shipped from Texas to the southeastern states. A large number of the animals were bought outright in small lots and went into sections of the southeast, which promises to be the nation's next great area for expansion in beef production. Most of the animals were cows and were properly cared for by the government only a few cents a head to move the cattle. If these well bred animals, the report shows, had not been moved and saved as they were, they would have perished on the ranges or would have been slaughtered at market centers.

Price Situation in Nutshell. The level of prices paid producers of the United States for the principal crops increased about 45 per cent during December; in the last 10 years the price level increased in like period about 22 per cent. On January 1, 1920, the index figure for meat prices was about 185 per cent higher than a year ago, 123 per cent higher than two years ago, and 87 per cent higher than the average of the last 10 years on January 1.

The prices of meat animals—hogs, cattle, sheep and chickens—to producers of the United States decreased 29 per cent from November 15 to December 15; in the last nine years prices decreased in like period 67 per cent. On December 15, the index figure of prices for these meat animals was about 139 per cent lower than a year ago, 94 per cent lower than two years ago, and 42 per cent higher than the average of the last nine years on December 15.

These facts are shown by the figures of the bureau of crop estimates, United States department of agriculture. Public Opinion Unpurchasable. Lincoln Journal: There are things that money cannot successfully buy. One of these is public opinion. There are many wealthy men in successful politics. Look them over, and with only a few exceptions you find them men who have discarded the securing parasites and fallen back for their support upon the usual appeal to the public mind. Money helps, rather too much, up to a certain point. It cannot do the whole job, not for long. Wealthy men would have money and escape obliquely by seeing this.

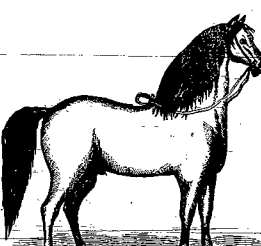

Patience Has Its Bounds. Lincoln Journal: Senators are trying to find a way to call up the treaty without bringing with it the closure rule with which the treaty was laid away. Godden said that they fail. If the country is forced to hear the treaty speeches over again it will blow up.

cause we do not make peace, tells us that the Lodge reservations are good in principle. We are told that the league wants us upon the terms the Lodge offers.

The world is beginning for peace. It cannot have it because an American president who gave Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan everything they wanted will not have peace until the United States gives up rights and powers which make it a free nation and give them up in spite of the fact that no nation wants the surrender made.

If the senate continues to be paralyzed by this restlessing absurdity it will condemn itself as unequal to its duty to the nation, unable to act in its proper function when the chief magistrate cannot and will not.

The senate can give the peace which the United States and the rest of the world wants and must have and then if Mr. Wilson interposes himself something else will have to be done about it and should be done.

Mr. Wilson Labeled.

Aberdeen News: A lot of the newspapers are explaining in regard to the league of nations convention that it is "up to Mr. Wilson."

And Mr. Wilson, judging from his silence at the White House, is up a stump.

Hard to Believe.

St. Paul Pioneer Press: Col. House is reported to have said: "I will back the man who can bring the most votes to the democratic party." Maybe, but it is hard to believe that the colonel suddenly has become so garrison.

Usurping His Prerogative.

Houston Post: "No one has appointed the New York World to select the presidential candidate," says Mr. Bryan. No newspaper can sarge Mr. Bryan out of his self-appointed job.

It's Not So Bad.

Minneapolis Journal: When you think of the German mark at a cent or two and the Russian ruble at a cent or zero value in exchange, the little old zinc dollar looks pretty stout.

When the Farmers Quit.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: If the farmers carry out their reported plan to cut-out production there will be nothing to drink anything to eat nowhere to go but out for good.

An Expected Rise.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: On account of the riots in Egypt, Egyptian cigarettes manufactured in New Jersey went to tobacco growers in Virginia may be expected to go up again.

Partial to Criminals.

Omaha World-Herald: If the law only threw half as much protection around the honest citizens as it does about the criminal, the world would be a safer place to live in.

Revising an Old Boy.

Mitchell Republican: Wall street's hand has not been shown in the presidential campaign. It is in practice of Wall street to keep its hand under cover. But it is undoubtedly busy, very busy.

Vanishing.

Minneapolis Journal: The German mark touched 102 cents recently. It is now at 100 cents. The difference will be left about the mark but the aroma of limburger.

Untrained Preferred.

Springfield, Mass., Republican: In Germany's new list of envoys there are said to be two and two trained diplomats, but no training is better than a bad training.

Handsome Is as Handsome Does.

Washington Post: Everything will be all right in Lucie Sam's farm management, if Secretary Meredith shows up as well in the products as he does in the picture.

Josephus' Method.

Washington Post: Josephus kicks against revealing navy scandals, and then leads a few which he thinks will injure Sims. Same old tactics possum!

Easily Found.

Far E. House in the Philadelphia Public Ledger: The man who is looking for trouble seldom requires the assistance of an oculist in his efforts to find it.

Wouldn't Be Surprising.

Chicago Daily News: Sometimes Michigan must almost wish that it had never heard of the political election of United States senators.

A Record to Emulate.

Omaha World-Herald: Secretary Meredith will of course keep before him the record of Secretary "Tama Jim" Wilson of his own state.

The White House View.

B. L. T. in the Chicago Tribune: At a group of demagogue senators in the White House the letter of Lord Grey is considered a little boner of second childhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Erwin, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Erwin, Bessie, Katherine and Henry Erwin, were entertained at dinner Sunday at the Ralph Smith home.

Heidi Lovell was pleasantly surprised by a number of her schoolmates Saturday afternoon. After a pleasant time at games, a dainty luncheon was served.

A number of ladies were pleasantly entertained at a luncheon afternoon at the C. R. Borg home. Mrs. O. M. Davenport of Carroll, was guest of honor. A dainty luncheon was served by the hostess.

Mrs. Frank Moutron and two children of Decatur, who have been visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Kaynes of Dixon, went to Coleridge Thursday to visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Floyd Junk.

Chicago Tribune: An inexplicable feature of this country for months, unable to consult cabinet ministers or to receive foreign ambassadors. President Wilson finds that every reason he has suggested for the surrender of American rights is erased by the very people in whose behalf he urged the surrender and nature remains but the indomitable determination to have his way even if he is unable either physically or mentally to explain why he should in the world want the United States to impair its rights, amend its constitution and surrender its sovereignty.

The men whom he controls in the senate do not understand either his position or his statements. They do not know why he wants the things he insists they shall obtain. Men of his own party are in rebellion against him, but by the power of the constitution he has managed to get a majority in the senate and an unjustified, he holds a majority in the senate as an obstacle to the majority. In his sick bed he is more powerful than the Americanism of the majority in the senate, more powerful than the rational leaders in his own party, and more powerful than the statesmen of allies who want us to come into the league upon our own terms.

He has succeeded in spreading throughout Europe the idea that the United States is a quitter. He has persuaded uninformed people in Great Britain and France that a group of contemptible partisans in the senate prevented the United States from doing what it ought to do for the reestablishment of the peace. He has spread the impression that the United States is a selfish, cowardly boldout.

When wise statesmen use the methods Lord Grey and Lloyd George have used to correct this injurious impression which is ruining the reputation of the United States and impairing its friendships there is resentment at the White House. It is intimated that Lord Grey, the ambassador, Mr. Wilson would not receive even to present his credentials and who had to go back home, is guilty of a breach of propriety which will make him unacceptable to the American government.

It is an incredible phenomenon in American history. Mr. Wilson is a combination of Achilles and Ajax, sulking in his tent and delaying the fighting. There are no reasons for his attitude. He offers none to defend it. Except for the timorous and bewildered loyalty of a group of demagogue senators to the autocratic "No" from the White House, he has no support.

The people who were misled by grandiloquent phrases and by insipid criticism of American patriotism are having their eyes opened.

Congressional Record. They concern the dividends of the American Woolen company during the last few years. The amounts of the dividends for the respective years follow.

1913	$ 273,600
1915	316,295
1916	820,761
1917	1,566,083
1918	12,324,848

The capital stock of the concern, which is the largest textile manufacturer in the United States, is $22,000,000. It has not been increased or reduced during the five-year period covered by the payments of the dividends quoted. On this capital of $22,000,000, after deducting all federal taxes, the company realized during the five years a total of $45,298,725 in dividends, or more than twice the capital stock. This makes an income of 200 per cent for the five years, averaging 40 per cent for each year, while for the specific year of 1917, when the people were bearing the heaviest war burdens and making the most liberal contributions to the Liberty bonds, the profits of this concern were almost 73 per cent, and for the next year, with still heavy burdens on the people, the profits were nearly 53 per cent. How much of the difference between the 50 to 88 cent of the raw material in a suit of clothes and the $34 to $102 price the consumer pays for that suit is concealed in these enormous profits?

The earnings of the common stock per share in 1915 were $16.80. In 1916 these earnings increased to $27.05. In 1917 they made another advance to $47.62. Wall street estimates this year that they will reach $100 or more, thus giving the holders of the common stock, those not on the inside of the retail package, the face value of their stock in dividends, stock which they bought for a trifle of that face value. A year ago the watered stock of the company was quoted on the New York stock exchange at 45. At this time it is quoted at 130. No wonder, when such dividends as these the company is able to produce are being made.

Other industries in the cost of living are not so vividly depicted, but many of them point to the same conditions. The Monroe (N. C.) North Carolina paper evidence of the southern cotton mill field, a few days ago said:

Cotton manufacturers are making from 100 per cent up on their investments and several have not only duplicated their plants in one year, but have paid a dividend as well. Raw material and manufacturing bring the cost of yarn to about 80 cents a pound, selling at $2, or at a profit of 150 per cent.

Figures are not at hand in this instance as in the case of the American Woolen company, but the North Carolina paper evidence speaks from the book. At the time a 30 per cent advance in the price of shoes for next summer was announced the Central Leather company declared an extra dividend. The common stock of this company was quoted a year ago around $5. Now it is a ready seller at $15. A year ago common plastering laths were sold to the consumer at $3.30 to $5.60. Now they are selling at $10.30 and more, and new wholesale lumber price lists move the prices to retailers up to $17.25 and $18.25. If these figures were pulled apart and the profits separated from the total, the profits would be found much like those of the American Woolen company and much like the Monroe Journal says those of the cotton manufacturers are.

Some Clothing Profiteers.
Sioux City Journal: The crusade of the government against the profiteer has subjected the public to a relapse into its attitude of helplessness. The consumer, unable to see any relief from the exorbitant prices upon which his deceptions have piled still while he is skinned in the hope that the process will be less painful. But facts and figures will have to clean the quality still have a fascination, if not an interest, for the victims of the public robbery conducted under the guise of business and defended in the name of profits. The wool growers of the country assert that the cost of raw wool in an ordinary suit of clothes is between $3 and $6. The manufacturers do not dispute this allegation because they did not want the truth to be aired. They preferred to remain silent and let the consumer forget. The wool growers, however, do not intend that the facts shall be covered up.

It requires three and a half yards of cloth to make a suit of clothes. The weight of cloth depends upon the amount of material used in the construction. If the weave is close or the yarn heavy, the weight is higher than if the cloth is open weave and thin. In texture because of small threads. The weight ranges from ten to eighteen ounces to the yard measure. The average quality of cloth from which a winter suit is made weighs fourteen ounces to the yard. Tailors speak of this weight when talking quality of goods to the customer. There are, then, three and a half yards of cloth approximately forty-nine ounces of wool material or one ounce over three pounds. It requires one and one-fourth pounds of scoured wool to make one pound of cloth. Thus the total weight of wool in a suit is about sixty-two ounces, or a little less than four pounds. The prices of western wool quoted on the Boston market range from 70 cents to $2 a pound, depending upon the grade. The medium grade wool from which the average men's and women's suits are made is quoted at from $1.25 to $1.30 a pound. Four pounds of such wool, the amount required for three and a half yards of cloth, would sell in the market from which the manufacturers secure their wool supplies for $6.25 or $7.00. The suit of clothes in which it is manufactured sells to the consumer for $50 to $75. The highest quality of raw wool sells on the Boston market for $2 a pound. If this suit is made from this material it would sell for $100 or more. Yet the four pounds of wool which enters into the construction of the material costs less than $8.00.

These figures have been published and proclaimed from every house-top in the land. Standing alone they have been ignored or else have evoked the statement that the high cost of labor is responsible for the difference between $6 or $8 worth of raw material in the suit and the $30 to $100 which the consumer pays for it. Some figures have recently been brought to light which, when studied in connection with these concerning the cost of raw material, are impressive. Senator Cayton of Kansas has had them printed in the Legal Notice.

To Roland R. Shaffer: You are hereby notified that Alvin Shaffer, as plaintiff, has filed her petition and commenced an action against you, Roland R. Shaffer, as defendant, in the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, wherein said Alvin Shaffer asks and prays that she be granted an absolute divorce from you on the grounds of willful abandonment and desertion and on the ground that continuously since August 15, 1909, you have willfully abandoned her and recalcitrantly refused and neglected to provide suitable maintenance for her through out the period of her life. Plaintiff is deficient in ability to do: Plaintiff in her petition prays for an absolute divorce and for the custody of Rosa Shaffer, a minor, and prays for general equitable relief. You are required to answer said petition on or before March 8, 1920. Otherwise said petition will be taken as true and relief granted plaintiff as prayed.

Many Thanks to the People of Wayne

For your patronage and patience this last season. I have never worked in a community where its people were more considerate and patient than in Wayne. It gives me great pleasure to serve a people like this. I believe and hope I have pleased you, so don't forget to see me before you paint, paper or decorate. I have some very fine inducements in decorations, both in wall paper and wall paintings. If you are looking for something good I can please you but if you want anything in the cheap, shoddy line don't see me, for I will not do a bum job at any price. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Miller were Sioux City passengers Wednesday. Mrs. George Rhodes spent the week end with her sister near Dixon.

Chas. Oak and family were Sunday guests at the John Olson home in town.

Miss Mabel Nelson and Mrs. W. C. King were shopping in Sioux City Saturday.

Miss Elba and Emmet Erickson of the Wayne Normal, spent the week end under the parental roof. Mrs. Waid returned from the Wayne hospital last week where she underwent an operation for appendicitis. She is getting along nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Oak returned Friday evening from a six days' stay at Cornwells, Oregon. Miss Mamie and Marie Oak expect to remain there until school closes.

Park Hill young people are busy practicing for a play to be given February 20 in connection with a box supper. A community box will be a special attraction of the evening. We predict a fine evening and an appreciative audience.

The Wm. Wolter farm sale Thursday was largely attended and bidding was lively. It was one of the largest sales of the season. The Shorthorn cattle and Poland Chicks hog brought many of the town buyers.

Mr. Wolter has rented his farm to August Lubberstedt for the coming year.

FACTS

The "flu" flurry began about October 1st, and its end was definitely in sight about December 25, 1918, during which time over 400,000 deaths in this country are supposed to have been caused by this disease.

The death-rate figures during this "epidemic" have been compiled, but as we have not before us the full medical returns for the United States, the figures for one city—Davenport, Iowa,—are shown below:

Number of Cases under "Regular" Physicians, 4,953
Number of Deaths, 274

Number of Cases under CHIROPRACTIC, 1,633
Number of Deaths, 1

In the entire United States, out of 35,314 cases of "Influenza" and its complications (chiefly pneumonia) where Chiropactic was relied upon, the total deaths was only 41.

As regards the City of Omaha there is only this to be said: I do not know a single death from these diseases where the patient was under the care of a Chiropactor. I do know that of all the cases that I personally adjusted there WAS NOT ONE SINGLE DEATH.

What is the Logical Conclusion?

SCARCITY OF TEACHERS
County Superintendent Points Out Need of Higher Wages.

Grades from the teachers' examinations recently given in this county were received Saturday and mailed to those who took the examinations. Miss Pearl Sewell, county superintendent, said, "The grades averaged as high as usual," she remarked, "but most of those who took them were students of Wayne State Normal or in the Normal training departments of some of the town schools."

"That the scarcity of teachers is getting to be a serious problem throughout the country is Miss Sewell's opinion. In discussing the various phases of the question, she indicated that she thought higher wages, better living conditions, higher requirements and less disregard for contracts were changes needed to improve the present educational situation."

The seriousness of conditions is evidenced by the fact that the national convention of superintendents and principals, in Cleveland, February 23-28, expects to devote most of its attention to higher salaries and the problem of increasing the supply of teachers. Miss Sewell pointed out that in many cases the rural schools were caught by high school graduates or eighth grade graduates who had had two years in a state normal. If salaries were paid to attract persons with more complete training, better schools would result.

Miss Sewell said that in this part of the country concerted agitation for higher teachers' salaries was not noticeable, but that teachers were leaving the profession for more attractive positions. She seemed to think that low salaries were to some extent responsible for teachers' disregard of contracts. This practice she deplored, saying that instructors would do better to think less about salaries and more about making a success of their work.

Miss Sewell suggested that a longer school term would be beneficial to students and would at the same time provide for teachers during the summer months. In the rural schools in Wayne county have nine months' terms, although there is a tendency for students 15 or 16 years old to leave school before the natural year has run its course on the farm. The presence of the Wayne State Normal makes it possible for some students to stay in school longer than they do in the average county, Miss Sewell said. Another difficulty the county superintendent said teachers experienced was in finding places to live and board as people generally did not want to have them.

WAYNE TO PLAY RANDOLPH
Local High School Promises Live-ly Basketball Match.

The basketball game between Wayne and Randolph high schools will begin at 7 o'clock Friday evening instead of at 8 as was first announced. The change was made so as not to conflict with the Wayne State Normal game.

The game with Randolph promises to be close, as the teams are evenly matched. Wayne has played five games, defeating Percy Laurel and Winside. Randolph has played about the same number of games as Wayne, and was defeated by Laurel. The same Pierre team that Randolph defeated by a score of 18-16, lost to Wayne, 28-12. This would indicate that Wayne had a little the advantage, especially if the game is to be played at home.

All but one member of the local team are again able to play. Floyd Carpenter will not be in the game. The line-up has not been announced.

Brood Sows at Pavilion.
C. F. Sandahl will have twenty pure bred Duroc Jersey brood sows in the offering at the Wayne live stock pavilion next Saturday.

DEATH OF THOS. SHANNON
Passed Away at Home of Daughter in Sioux City February 5.

Thomas Shannon, well known and highly respected citizen of Wayne county for many years, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. Shea, in Sioux City February 5, aged 85 years, 9 months and 14 days. Funeral services were held in the Catholic church at Independence, Iowa, last Thursday with interment in the family plot at that place. Pallbearers were the workmen who served at the funeral of the late John Shannon.

Mr. Shannon was a native of Ireland, and came to America at the age of 18 years. He was crossing the broad Atlantic on his eighteenth birthday. He first stopped in Illinois, and in a few years moved to Buchanan county, Iowa. There he engaged in the cattle business. At that time there were no railroads west of Dubuque.

Thirty-five years ago Mr. Shannon bought cattle in Wayne and Madison counties. About thirty years ago he moved to this county, locating at Hoskins. Later he lived at Carroll and he spent five years as a resident of Wayne. He engaged in the business of buying, raising and selling cattle, and he was very successful.

Following the death of his wife, one daughter and one son, all passing away a short year ago, Mr. Shannon went to Sioux City to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. Shea. Another blow to the aged father was the death of another son, John Shannon, last year. Surviving members of the family are two sons, Ed. Shannon of Sioux City, and Dan Shannon of Randolph, and one daughter, Mrs. Shea of Sioux City. Mr. Shannon passed a long and honorable life, and his many friends will remember him with highest respect.

Epidemic is Passing.
Lincoln, Feb. 10—There is some abatement in the influenza epidemic prevailing in the state, according to Dr. Wilson of the state board of health. The last report showing that date. There will be about 3,500 cases. The board fears that the winter as well as the autumn proper co-operation eventually will be wiped out.

Basketball Tournament.
On February 20 and 21 the northeast Nebraska high school basketball tournament will be held in the Wayne Normal school gymnasium. This is the first time anything of this sort has been attempted here and ought to be a success judging from the number of schools entered to date. Saturday evening there will be four best teams will be seen in action, fighting for first, second, third and fourth places.

To date fifteen schools have entered, namely: Allen, Bancroft, Bloomfield, Carroll, Coffeyville, Emerson, Hartington, Laurel, Park, Wakefield, Waussau, Wayne, Winside, Stanton, and Randolph. Others are still expected to come in.

With such schools as the above entered in a tournament like this, the cage fans will see plenty of good, fast, clean basketball next week. Northwest Nebraska is second to none in this respect.

Priced of admission will be thirty-five cents single admission for each half day and evening. A season ticket will be sold for $100 up to the finals Saturday evening.

COPY OF EARLY DAY PAPER

Found in Building Moved From Extinct Towns of LaPorte.

A copy of the Wayne County Review published August 25, 1882, was found in the wall of a building which A. E. Davison was having moved, and which was moved from LaPorte to Wayne. The name of J. G. Westbaler was written on the paper. Miss Davison brought the copy to the Herald office to show how much Wayne had progressed in the thirty-eight years since this issue of the Wayne County Review was published.

Although the county seat was at LaPorte in 1882, the Review was published at Wayne by Hunter & Childs. It was a four-page weekly paper, only the front and back pages containing local news, editorials and advertising.

One of the advertisements was that of Bressler & Patterson, who offered a stock-ranch-northwest of Wayne containing 640 acres for $6,400. John T. Bressler said when he saw this advertisement the same piece of land recently was sold for $200 an acre. Judging from other real estate offers in the same paper, $10 an acre was not a low price for farms in Wayne county in 1882.

The principal news item of the day seemed to be the question of removing the county seat from LaPorte to Wayne. The election was to take place in a few weeks after the publication of the issue of the Review which was found. However, this was given less editorial notice than the contest between E. K. Valentine and Judge Crouse for the nomination for representative from the Third congressional district. More than half a column was devoted to one of a series of articles favoring woman's suffrage and written by the state president of the woman's suffrage association. This was followed by brief paragraphs giving news of the movement.

The most important front page story was about a grocery which G. B. Stone of Norris proposed to build in Wayne if he could get enough cream from the farmers. He offered to pay from 14 to 17 cents a degree, which was the equivalent of a pound of butter. Mr. Stone had called a meeting of farmers to investigate the possibilities for such a business in Wayne.

The test of the two and a half columns of news of the front page was devoted to short news paragraphs and amusing incidents. The Sioux City Journal was credited with the following: "A Wayne real estate dealer considers it a dull day if he does not sell from 1,500 to 2,500 acres of land to newcomers in a week with the county."

Other paragraphs in regard to the growing prosperity of the country were numerous. One of these, taken from a Cambridge, Ill., paper, told of an expedition to Wayne county to examine 16,000 acres of land a promoter was offering for sale. Another excursion party from Illinois was to arrive and the Review expressed its hope the real estate dealers would persuade some of the visitors to remain.

Among the advertisers in the Wayne County Review of 1882, are to be found the names of the Logan Valley Bank, E. K. Valentine, of Bressler & Patterson, M. S. Davies' Book and Music Store, J. L. Merfiman, dealer in general merchandise, Gust Hansen, real estate broker, L. P. Martin's furniture store, George F. Seibert's tobacco parlors, Hadley & Porter, confectioners, Mrs. Edna Watchmaker and jeweler, Gietzen & Reed, meat market; J. P. Gaertner's furniture store, Mrs. M. P. Ahern's millinery store, O. F. Farmer's drug store, J. A. Lindly & Co., real estate dealers; Wayne County Bank, Ley & Walter's dry goods store, and the Wisconsin County Mill. Frank Fuller, D. C. Patterson and James Britton were the lawyers whose professional cards are in the Review. Dr. J. C. Brown, Dr. W. A. Love and Dr. J. L. Sutherland also had cards.

Mrs. Koepke.

The marriage of Miss Christena Muls and William Koepke took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Muls of near Winside at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, February 5. Rev. H. Teckhaus performed the ceremony. The home was decorated in pink and white. Miss Meta Puls played the wedding march, Miss Edna Muls, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Thomas Puls, a cousin of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride wore a light blue pussy willow silk dress trimmed in lace and silver. A tulle veil was held in place with a bride's comb. The bride carried a bouquet of roses, pansies and forget-me-nots. The bridesmaid wore a light blue crepe de chine dress.

After the wedding ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Koepke were greeted with hearty congratulations and best wishes, and received many sweet gifts. A dinner was served at 4 o'clock and the evening spent in games and music. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Muls. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Koepke. The young couple will be at home on their new two miles west and three south of Winside. Guests at the wedding were: Mr.

The Velvet tin is twice as big as shown here.

There's a World of Solid Comfort In the Rich, Red Tin

YES, sir, we mean that same warm red and gold tin that smiles a welcoming "Howdy" to you in every tobacco store. Know what those colors mean?

The red is for the friendly warmth, the mellow cheeriness, that Velvet puts into your old pipe. And the gold is where the Kentucky sunshine, that ripens good old Velvet, has just sort of soaked through.

Remember what Velvet Joe said about it?

"You've met canned meat, and canned music. Ever see any tinned sunshine? Well, look into any Velvet tin."

And think this over:

We don't have to hide Velvet's taste or smell with a lot of this, that and the other thing. Because Velvet has naturally what pipe smokers want—real simon-pure tobacco taste and fragrance. It's just good, honest Kentucky leaf, made still more friendly and mellow by two years' ageing in wooden hogsheads, just good tobacco. That's all. But it's mighty near enough for the man who wants a pipeful of tobacco and not a box of bonbons.

The picture of a pipe on the tin needn't keep you from rolling a jim-dandy cigarette with Velvet.

How the Velvet holding-out in your old red tin?

Light it with your old pipe.

The Cleveland is an extraordinary car of power, pickup, speed and comfort, compact in its design and construction, yet roomy, and unusually economical in cost of operation.

The men who build the Cleveland Six are men of broad and successful experience in the finest of motor car manufacture, and into their car they have built their skill and integrity. For three years before they announced this car to the public they put it through all conceivable tests in shop and laboratory and on the road. And when they did announce it was ready.

CHANDLER SIX Famous For Its Marvelous Motor

Europe Welcomes The Chandler Six

Now and then you read something about "French style and line" in automobiles, or perhaps it's "the newest English idea." And some folks have gone across to get the newest suggestions.

Europe hasn't built automobiles for five years and Europe is crying for new cars and good cars.

America's style is Europe's style now. The Chandler Six, popular in many other countries for years but kept out of Europe the past three years because of war-time prohibition of shipments, is welcomed everywhere in Europe now—welcomed for the excellence of its performance, and quite as much for the beauty of its style of body.

The Chandler, represented in the British Isles by Messrs. H. G. Burford & Company, Ltd., of London, was exhibited by that old established English automotive house, at the great Olympia Motor Show, and was "quite the sensation of the show," says a London cable.

"Three hundred and seventy Chandlers were sold in two days."

Apparently England is greatly pleased with America's best style in motor cars.

The Chandler Offers Highest Quality At The Fairest Price

WAKEFIELD NEWS

Miss Dorothy Huse of the Herald staff, is editor of this department, and will visit Wakefield every Tuesday. Any news contributions to these columns from town or county will be gladly received by her. She is also authorized to receive new or renewal subscriptions.

Rev. P. M. Orr was in Wayne. All parts in the case are to be taken by members of the post. The play is said to have been produced more than 5,000 times by professionals and more than 600 times by amateurs. The story portrays modern American life.

For Miss Anderson. A show was given last Thursday afternoon at the Carl Anderson home near Wakefield in honor of Miss Pearl Anderson, a bride of this month. About thirty guests were present. Miss Anderson received many gifts. After a social time a luncheon was served.

Mrs. Gustafson Hostess. Mrs. J. Gustafson entertained forty neighbors in honor of Miss Ida Rogers after the afternoon. The party was a miscellaneous shower for the bride of this week. Miss Rogers received many presents and the guests did needle work for her during the afternoon. A supper was served.

Philathea Class Entertains. The Philathea class of the Presbyterian church entertained at a kitchen shower in honor of Miss Ida Rogers at the R. H. Mathewson home Tuesday evening. Miss Rogers, now Mrs. Gustafson, is a member of this class. After a social time refreshments were served.

Business-Social Meeting. The Sunday school teachers of the Presbyterian church met Monday evening at the R. H. Mathewson home for their regular business meeting. A report was given which enlivened the interest in the school. Following the business meeting Mrs. Mathewson served refreshments.

Birthday Surprise. Mrs. A. L. Holmberg was pleasantly surprised Saturday afternoon when twenty friends honored her birthday anniversary by gathering at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edna Anderson. The time was spent in visiting. The guests served a luncheon and presented Mrs. Holmberg with a purse of money.

Shower for Miss Anderson. Miss Myrtle Sundell gave a miscellaneous shower Saturday in honor of Miss Pearl Anderson, who is to be married February 18 to Ruthford Nimrod. About fifteen guests were present. The afternoon was day night in a basketball game played in Wakefield. The score was 78 to 7. The second team won from Laurel by a score of 28 to 10. The first team goes to Coleridge Friday, and a close game is expected.

Mrs. Ekeroh Entertains. Mrs. Martin Ekeroh was hostess last Thursday afternoon to fifteen friends. The occasion was the birthday of her mother-in-law, Mrs. H. K. Berg. After a pleasant afternoon Mrs. Ekeroh served a luncheon.

Postponed Program. The girls' quartet and a reader from the Wayne State Normal will give a program in the Wakefield auditorium Wednesday, February 18. This program was to have been given a few weeks ago but was postponed. These are talented young women who expect to do lyric work next summer. They will present an interesting program of music and readings.

Legal Notice. To James E. Ainsworth, Laura L. Ainsworth, Alfred Jonson, Carrie Jones, the east half of section 9, township 25, north, range 1, east of the fifth P. M. in Wayne county, Nebraska, and all persons claiming any interest of any kind in said real estate or any part thereof.

you and each of you as defendants the object, purpose and prayer of which petition is to reform a certain warranty deed executed by J. E. Ainsworth and Laura L. Ainsworth, husband and wife, on November 1, 1920, conveying the east half of the southeast quarter of section 9, township 25, north, range 1, east of the 5th P. M. in Wayne county, Nebraska, and other land to "The legal representatives and heirs at law of F. O. Jonson, deceased," and to have the name of the grantees in said deed changed to "Ainsworth, Andrew F. Jonson, William Jonson, Oscar F. Jonson, Anna Jonson, Frederick Jonson, Emil Jonson and Mable Jonson, devisees of F. O. Jonson, deceased," and to have forever quieted in plaintiff the title to said east half of said southeast quarter of said section 9, and said Oscar F. Jonson, plaintiff, adjudged and decreed the absolute power in fee simple of said real estate; and the said plaintiff in his said petition further prays that you and each of you be forever barred and enjoined from claiming or asserting, or attempting to claim or assert, any right, title, interest, claim or demand in or upon said real estate or any part thereof, and further prays each other relief as may be just and equitable.

Dated February 10th, 1920. By Fred S. Berry, His Attorney.

Favorite Sons. Indianapolis News: On the other hand, some of these favorite sons may find that they are not any favorite in other states than they are in their own.

Leaders But No Followers. Wall Street Journal: "Democratic leaders are nervous. They think to be, no one is following them."

Not Yet at the Peak. Omaha World-Herald: The Federal reserve board says high prices are "near the peak." If it means anything the statement means that prices will go higher.

How Long? B. L. T. of Chicago Tribune: Touching on the sense of the phrase, how long would D'Annunzio last in England or the United States?

SUFFERED FOR FIFTEEN YEARS

Nothing Did Him Any Good Till He Took Tanlac—In Fine Shape, Now.

"When I started on Tanlac I had rheumatism so bad that it would keep me in bed for days at a time," said James A. Corbett, of 2356 Grand Ave., Omaha, Neb.

"The fact is," he continued, "I had not been a well man in fifteen years and although I spent over a thousand dollars trying to get well I never found a thing to relieve me till I got hold of Tanlac. My appetite went down and my stomach got so weak that for three years I lived on nothing but milk and a little cereal. I was constipated nearly all the time and my head ached constantly, dizzy spells would come on and I'd get so weak and exhausted I could hardly walk. Rheumatism got its grip on me and my shoulders, hips and knees would ache so at times that I just had to give up and take to my bed. I fell off twenty-five pounds and had so little strength and energy that I wasn't fit to do a lick of work."

"I heard so much about the way Tanlac was helping others that I got me a bottle and before I had used up half of it my appetite picked up and I would get so hungry I could hardly wait for meal time to come. My nerves soon quieted down. I am not constipated any more and I lose weight. My feet and hands straightened me out something wonderful and I am feeling strong enough to go back to work again."

Tanlac is sold in Wayne by Wayne Drug Co., and in Carroll by L. R. King—Adv.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

Early Days from the Wayne Herald for February 11, 1904:
Mrs. H. S. Ringland will entertain a number of lady friends at a party.

John Nehf, editor of the Bancroft Blade, visited relatives in Wayne.

Ray Thrap had his right hand badly injured by catching it under a box he was unloading.

T. W. Moran returned from Lincoln where he attended a meeting of the Knights of Columbus.

Mrs. J. J. Williams entertained her Sunday school class of little girls. Hazel Weber presided at the piano.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Young returned from Kansas, Neb. where they had been helping in a series of revivals.

Fred Berry, son of Attorney Frank Berry, went to Lakeview, Tex. where he will enter the employ of a drug store.

C. A. Clace went to Stanton in answer to news that Joe Bradley, Nathan Clace, was very ill with pneumonia.

A new building for the Wayne college is in prospect for this year. The board of trustees have proposed a $15,000 building.

Phillip Rogers have sold their stock of harness at Carroll to Guy Manning. Mr. Phillip will devote his entire time to the implement business.

C. S. Beebe came down from Carroll to pack his goods and move to his new home here. Bert Brown, his partner, will move his goods in a few weeks.

The first of the week Judge Hunters' family, consisted from Miss Leona Hunter at Manila, a tablecloth and napkins which were hand-embroidered in Japan.

A letter from Judge Norris states that he and his family will leave the Philippines about the first of May. He expects to return to the islands after a vacation.

An organization was formed which will provide a theatrical circuit to include Wayne, Bloomfield, Randolph, Plainview and Pierce. The object is to introduce good attractions. W. R. Ellis of Bloomfield was elected president; James Merriman secretary, and J. A. Vann Waggener of Pierce was elected treasurer.

From Ponca Journal February 12, 1890:
A Mr. Merriam, nephew of one of the decessors of the Stone, City and Nebraska railroad, is laying a large amount of land in Wayne county.

A series of meetings is being held at the Lamphere school house on Tuesday, and on its return came near getting into the river. The horses' feet went through the ice, which is so thin as to be very unsafe.

T. Hurley of Martinsburg is sick with lung fever. Frankie Armstrong, son of J. H. Armstrong of South Creek, has also been quite ill with the same disease, with a typhoid form.

F. J. Stinchey of Hawker, was in town yesterday and made us a friendly call. He states that there is considerable sickness at Hawker and vicinity, mostly lung diseases.

G. W. Sayre is dangerously ill with typhoid pneumonia. At Mr. DeLaney's several members of the feminine sick. An extensive revival has been in progress in the Methodist church, under the direction of Rev. Mr. Smith of Ponca.

Ally converts were received into the church. The meetings closed on Friday of last week. Farmers are preparing to put in large crops in the spring. A new school house is to be built next summer, which is to be 18 feet by 30. There are in the district (No. 17) about thirty scholars. Most part of the county is settling up and is having a good and energetic class of citizens.

Order of Hearing and Notice on Petition for Settlement of Account. In the county court of Wayne county, Nebraska.

The state of Nebraska, Wayne county, ss.
To all persons interested in the estate of Gertrude Horback, deceased:

On reading the petition of W. A. Hurlbert, administrator, praying a final settlement and allowance of his account filed in this court on the 2nd day of February 1920, and for distribution of residue of the estate, I hereby order that if any persons interested in said matter may, and do appear at the County Court to be held in and for said county, on the 21st day of February, A. D. 1920, at 9 o'clock a.m., to show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petition should not be granted, and that notice of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof be given to all persons interested in said matter by publishing a copy of this order in the Wayne Herald, a weekly newspaper printed in said county, three consecutive weeks prior to said day of hearing.

Final Hearing Saturday.
Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 10.—Next Saturday has been set as the date for the hearing in the United States circuit court of the appeal of attorneys for a writ of habeas corpus for Allen V. Grammer, sentenced to electrocution February 20 by Alton B. Cole for the murder of Mrs. Edna Vogt in Howard county.

The hearing will be held in St. Louis at 2 p. m. Mason Wheeler, assistant attorney general, will probably go from Lincoln to represent the state in filing a motion for dismissal of the appeal.

This action is the last legal action which can be taken by attorneys for Grammer in an effort to save him from the electric chair. It is a matter of attorney-fee for Cole, which proved futile when the circuit court upheld the motion of the state for a dismissal of the appeal.

Governor McKelvie is out of the state and it is understood that attorneys for the two litigants are about to approach Acting Governor P. A. Barrows for a hearing of pleas for clemency for the convicted men.

The attorney general's office here today received notification from the district court of Howard county that the motion of attorneys for Grammer to set aside a dismissal of a plea for a hearing before a jury by Judge Patton and Hammond. The motion will now probably be appealed to the supreme court.

Lively for the Referee.
Kansas City Star: "As between Gov. Edwards of New Jersey, keeper of the personal liberty fires for the demerol, and Mr. Bryan, keeper of the party conscience, we anticipate a lively job for the referee."

It may be we shall see that job turned over to the San Francisco convention. What with dinners to Gov. Edwards which Homer Cummings, democratic national chairman, attends, and dinners to Mr. Cummings which Gov. Edwards attends, and the wets cheer at and Mr. Bryan thunders at, it is pretty plain the democrats have something to sweat away all of the wrongs Gov. Edwards has announced publicly and officially that he intends to make New Jersey as wet as the Atlantic ocean—but we think it meant Atlantic City. Mr. Bryan has announced just as emphatically that nothing as wet as either will be tolerated in the democratic party—and a good many democrats take Mr. Bryan's announcements as being more official than any governor's or even president's. Still we note that the diners who heard Gov. Edwards touch up our old acquaintances—personal liberty and state rights—applauded vigorously and licked their lips. The dinner was in New York, and New York is actually the city—is strong for state rights, which it has just heard about. South Carolina is left way behind in the personal liberty, which New York understands to be a politic campaign name for the saloon, is the original city slogan. New York is for personal liberty on every corner.

This grave constitutional question threatens to be a speck at San Francisco. Democrats are not to be trifled with in the way they take their constitutional principles. A good many of the school party men take them straight. Others hold that they will stand a little mixing, but all agree—all that is, who reject Mr. Bryan's leadership on constitutional points—that everybody should do his own mixing and not be told what he shall take from him. That, if we understand it, is Gov. Edwards' position and why he means to make New Jersey as wet as the Atlantic ocean. The democrats can take their constitutional principles or they can let them alone. For some reason Mr. Bryan seems to think they cannot be trusted for having the party pronounce once and for all time what they are and then locking them up out of reach. A good many people who know politicians and realize the danger of letting principles lie around loose, agree with him. They agree with Mr. Bryan, that if we are going to have prohibition we better have it nailed down.

But from all we hear from democrats of all schools, we imagine the constitution and personal liberty and state rights and other mixed drinks whose names we have forgotten, are coming in for lively party discussion between now and next June.

The New Women Voters.
Lincoln Journal: "Signs are not wanting that one of the early manifestations of the new power of the women voters will take the form of a positive sex movement. The new enfranchised voters will endeavor to sweep away all of the wrongs that have been accumulating through the centuries. They will not be satisfied with the slow workings of the male mind in such matters, neither will they accept his willingness to compromise and trade half leaves rather than no bread. The women of most political parties will soon be face to face with problems that were never present before in campaigns for the presidency. They may decide upon a course of action only to find the bulk of the women voters in instant rebellion. Parties have almost disappeared among the male voters. The new women voters will be even more independent. It is not surprising that party managers should be scratching their heads and wondering what will happen to their old landmarks and their old traditions in the coming national conventions.

Edwards in a Losing Fight.
Springfield, Mass., Republican: "Mr. Bryan will be sure to seek a delegate's seat in the democratic national convention now that Gov. Edwards of New Jersey has declared his intention of taking the issue of federal prohibition to San Francisco. Mr. Bryan should have no trouble in safeguarding prohibition in a democratic convention against assaults directed from the same old 'enemy's country,' with the solid delegations from the entire south supporting him. What Gov. Edwards can expect to accomplish in such a gathering even by waiving the shreds of the old-fashioned state rights doctrine is not clear. Prohibition got its first great impetus from the south and the south is not now going to disappoint its cause by offering even to please New Jersey."

Not Excessive.
Kansas City Times: "Messenger Gave with $38,000. Headline. Well, what of it? That isn't considered an excessive tip for a messenger, so far as we can learn."

Getting It Into Politics.
Springfield, Mass., Republican: "Hisses for Sims at a democratic dinner will make him a republican admirer, and there ought to be no politics in the navy."

Twenty Years Behind Time.
Minneapolis Journal: "Edwards, of New Jersey, should have started his pro-booze campaign twenty years ago. Today the handicap is too great."

Jay E. House in the Philadelphia Public Ledger: "The smaller the town the more important an egg with two yolks becomes."

Sioux City Journal: "There are five Sundays in February this year. The same thing will not occur for a century, it is said. It's too much trouble to attempt remembering that long about it."

Sioux City Journal: "The sleeping sickness is more common than supposed. It used to be called spring fever."

Have You Realized This Extra Value

Do you consider it worth anything to you, in the matter of home economics, that The Sioux City Tribune is offered to you for $4.00 a year while other daily newspapers printing less news are selling at $6.00 to $12.00 per year?

Do you know that The Tribune has enlarged to an eight-column page and now is in the class of metropolitan newspapers?

Are you willing, by your encouragement and patronage, to show your appreciation of quality and quantity in newspaper making at a price well below the general price level of the present time?

Why not make yourself a present of the extra money and at the same time get a daily newspaper classed by thousands of readers as one of the best published at any price?

In addition to giving the full, 24-hour service of the Associated Press, the full, exclusive service of the United Press, and the news from hundreds of correspondents in Iowa, South Dakota and Nebraska. The Tribune provides—

Something for Every Member of the Family

The very best world's news service and a special condensed report for busy readers; independent and fearless editorial reviews; premier market reports from all of the principal centers; entertaining reviews of national political affairs by Mark Sullivan; high grade serial stories; household features.

DAILY COMICS—"Mutt and Jeff," "Bringing Up Father," "Uncle Wiggly Stories," "Young Lady Across the Way," Fox and Thiele cartoons, philosophies of Walt Mason, Abe Martin and others.

The Saturday night paper gives you the best in Sunday features, colored Comics, Children's Stories, etc.

For the year 1919 The Tribune printed an average of 19 pages per day, a daily average of 43 columns of news. What this news average means may be better appreciated by comparison with a few other newspapers.
