EVERY battery has to stand more or less pounding every day of its life, for even the best springs in the world can't absorb all the jolts. The effect of big and little bumps will be greatly lessened if you see to it that the battery is clamped tightly in place. Or ask us to see to it next time you come in.

TO RESUME SEWER WORK

Contractor Hopes to Have Drainage System Done by Spring.

Preparations for excavating the open storm sewer in the east part of town are being made now so that if weather conditions permit the work may start within a few days. This ditch is to extend north and south about six blocks. In it the tile storm sewers will open, and this ditch will empty into the creek. Every effort is to be made to have the ditch completed before the spring rains begin.

The work is to be done by the Katz Construction company, for which J. A. Dillon is superintendent. A special dredge was shipped here from Jefferson City, Mo., as the ditch has to be dug with sloping sides to prevent them from caving.

The open ditch is to be from nine to twelve feet deep. At the top it will be from eighteen to twenty-five feet wide and will slope in to four feet at the bottom. The engineer on the job estimates that only about eight feet a day can be finished by Mr. Dillon, but he believes the work will progress more rapidly. Unless continued cold weather prevents, the ditch probably can be finished in about six weeks. Dirt removed is to be put on city property east of the sewer.

An early winter-interior with the laying of the storm sewer so that about three and a half blocks remain to be finished. Mr. Dillon is arranging to have an extra crew complete this job while other workmen are digging the open ditch. Seventeen curb inlets have yet to be installed. Unless weather conditions are better, the work on the storm sewer will be done well in advance of paving operations with which it might interfere.

PAGEANT DIDN'T COME OFF

Persons to Direct it Unable to Appear—Has Been Postponed.

As the persons who were to give the India Mass Movement pageant at the Wayne State Normal auditorium Thursday night missed their train and did not get here, the audience had to go away disappointed.

The pageant was to be directed by Dr. Charles E. Parker and Dr. M. D. Ross, both of whom are missionaries returned from India.

The pageant is being presented in colleges, universities and state normals over the country in the interest of the Inter-Church World movement. Dr. Ross and Dr. Parker were to have come to Wayne from Omaha. When they missed their train they were unable to attend College to present the entertainment.

Whether or not another date can be arranged for the performance is uncertain at this time. As Dr. Ross and Dr. Parker are working under the direction of the Inter-Church World movement, they were unable to say whether or not they could come to Wayne at some later time.

Holland's Difficult Task.

Sioux Falls Argus-Leader: Holland has a job on her hands to finance Germany and protect the former's position and still keep on good terms with the allies. She will need all the diplomacy she has to put it over.

Omaha World-Herald: But the former crown prince would not make the offer to be a vicarious sacrifice if he knew it would be accepted.

CHANDLER SIX

Famous For Its Marvelous Motor

If You Don't Want to Wait Next Spring, Order Now

LAST year's production of the Chandler Six was of record volume and this year's production will double it; but if you don't want to wait for your new Chandler next spring, we would suggest that you order it now.

This year's automobile shows have attracted crowds greater than ever before, partly perhaps because hundreds of thousands of Americans were unable to secure new cars last year. And these great crowds of motor enthusiasts have found no better value in the whole exhibit of six cylinder cars than that which Chandler offers.

Chandler leads so distinctly in the medium-priced fine car field because it does offer such splendid value; because of its really marvelous motor developed through seven years of production in the Chandler plant and seven years' service on the road in the hands of a host of owners; because of its sturdy, dependable mechanical construction throughout the entire chassis; and because of its attractive and comfortable body.

Compare them all, all the sizes, then pick out yours. It will be a Chandler if you ask Chandler owners.

UNCLE WALT THE POET PHILOSOPHER

RETIREMENT.

The bimestead bard—what ever was, all day I punch my lyre; and passing neighbors often pause, and say, "Why not retire? You have a bundle put away, so let your labors close; you now are loosed, bent and gray; and need a long repose. So put away your ancient harp, and can the rhythmic wheeze, and emulate the Tossy sharp who basks in golden ease?" And still my trusty harp I swat, as I have done so long, and every day attempt to trot upon the peaks of song. For when a neighbor shows his tools, and says he'll work no more, and joins the loafing bunch that drools around the Blue Front store, he advertises to all men, to everyone's distress, that he will never find again the number of his mess. Oh, not for me the rocking-chair, before a doctard's fire, and long white whiskers made of hair—I won't give up my lyre. I'll never see the day, I trust, when I'll be satisfied to sit around the house and rust and sulk on my hobby ride. For years to come, I have the hunch, I'll write my limping lines, and make Bill Shakespeare and that bunch take in their blooming signs.

OFFICE.

I have been asked to quit my work and make the race for county clerk. They say a man of primary race is needed for that significant place; a man of virtue unalloyed, a man of weaknesses devoid; a gent of great and soaring gifts in whose renown there are no rifts; his such a sargon they need, and so they come to me and plead. But when I see the weary jays who are in office all their days, who sometimes die—but don't resign, I say, "No public snap in mine." When I turn out a hand made song, the smiling neighbors come along and say, "Old scout, you're doing well! Your latest anthem rung the bell!" The man who has a private task gets all the praises he could ask, if he gets down and does his best, at duty's eloquent behest. But when he finds himself in charge of public office, small or large, he cannot do his work so well that voters won't rear up and yell, as voters evermore have screeched, and say he ought to be impeached. I get a little word of praise when I produce some ringing lays, but if they made me county clerk, the populace would roast my work.

COUNTRY BUTTER.

I toil around from store to store, and country butter I demand. "We do not keep it any more, it has been banished from the land." Thus speak the grocers, one by one, and do not seem to care three dems. "The country butter graft is done, the farmers' wives have soaked their churns. But we have butter made of glue, and butter much like axle grease; you'd better buy three pounds or two, and let your weary-soul have peace. It is no use to paw around and like a doctard vent your rage; we haven't seen a single pound of country butter in an age!" Alas, the things of yesteryear, the precious boons we knew of yore! I've seen old landmarks disappear and my ancient heart is sore. I spread my bread, a mournful hick, with stuff that's made of cereal fats; I spread the dope on good and thick, and then I feed it to the cats. They make our butter now in mills—with smokestacks fourteen stories high, but not much higher than the bills which come to weary-skates who buy. "There is no country butter now," say grocers in the busy mart, "the churn is caked, the farmer's frau is scorching in her choo-choo cart!"

THE BANKER.

The banker stands and waves his hands, each day I see him beckon;

"To bring your rocks to my strong box," he says, "is wise, I reckon. Oh, salt them down, the great and crown, the kopeck and the stipping; and then, I guess, in days of stress your wad will make a killing." We hunker on, and we go by we hear the helpful-banker, but sound advice cuts little ice when for fool things we hunker. The coin we earn we wish to burn, as others gents are doing, and so we hear the banker seer with psalms and bespewing: "We see new coats and leather coats and silks that gleam and glimmer, two-dollar socks and oil well stocks dispensed by cheap flannel-maker. The rainy day seems far away—the money grows on bushes, and so we chase to every place where all the spend-thrift push is. The banker stands and cries, "My lands! Are people all gone nutty? The road you tread looks smooth ahead, but soon it's rough and rutty, brings in—some scads, Oh, loosed jads, bring in the dime and nickle; the sanest guy beneath the sky is he whose coin's in pickle."

ANNOUNCEMENT.

This year I'll be a candidate for Woodrow Wilson's honored place; my friends keep chasing to my gate, and urging me to make the race. My platform is a simple thing, one single plank is all I covet. Cut out extravagance, by jing, quit burning up the precious bones! The costs of government, these times, gives every thoughtful soul a wrench; our government blows in the dimes, yet calls on voters to retrench; it taxes people to the grave, and makes their work-worn spirits sore, then urges easy marks to save, so it can touch them for some more. My residence where now the White House banner flaps, I'll cut down every foot expense; and live—all toilers who have seen the day, and the grafters to the hide, and clothe the toilers with their wool; all other vital things may slide until the twenty-fourth. The billion-dollar schemes will get blue penning when they are born; the man who'd make another debt will find me standing on his corn. So rally round my standard, boys, line up like soldiers rank on rank; then government will make a noise like money in a savings bank.

IN KANSAS.

In Kansas when Old Booze went out there was some walking round about. "Our fathers," some folks would complain, "they fought for liberty in vain, the boon for which they shed their blood is on the wane, it's name is Mud." A little while they raised their fuss, and never missed a chance to cuss the tyranny that banished booze, and queered the rights men hate to lose. But soon they found that they were bores; men-weared-of their useless rans. And so they talked of other themes, and in their trance dreamed sner, dreams, and in a little while, gadrookers, they learned to like the babbling brooks from which they need not blow the foam, which sent them sober to their home. And no one thought or talked of booze of gaudy tags or princely staves. And those who worried days and nights because of our denatured rights, who whined and whined, who now yelled for still more drastic laws. Thus will it be the country o'er, when times has healed the spirits, some dead game sports who now complain because their only drink is rain.

Washington Star: For the present Col. Bryan contents himself with an occasional explicit mention of who will not be the next president.

Now All You Good Fellows, Come Fill Up Your Pipes

The Velvet tin is twice as big as 'shown here

If ever men are "Tom" and "Bill" to each other, it's when good pipes are a-going. If ever good pipes go their best, 'tis when Velvet's in the bowl.

For Velvet is a mighty friendly smoke. Kentucky Burley is the leaf that Nature made for pipes. Wholesome and hearty, honest as the day. And Velvet is that same good Burley leaf, brought to mellow middle age.

For eight long seasons Velvet "meditates" in wooden hogsheads, throwing off the rawness of "young" tobacco—truly "aging in the wood." Out Velvet comes—cool, calm and generous—the tobacco Nature made good, kept good and made better.

Velvet's sweetness is the sweetness of good tobacco, not "put on" like "frosting" on a cake. Its mildness comes from natural aging, not from having the life baked out. Its fragrance is true tobacco fragrance, not a perfume. And Velvet makes an A Number One cigarette. Roll one.

As good old Velvet Joe says:

"Fill yo' heart with friendly thoughts,
Yo' mouth with friendly smoke—
An' let the old world wag."

vention groups. This is a proposition which the local "Chamber of Commerce" might well consider.

"When you begin to think you are the whole thing, you are beginning to ride for a terrible fall.

It is said Alexander the Great carried his head on one side, and that his soldiers were so imitative that they did the same thing. Many in this late day are imitating the president's petulance and egotism. People should imitate their leader's desirable points. They should, by force of conspicuous example, be shocked into avoidance of undesirable points.

"The threatened strike of way men on the railroad scheduled for last Tuesday, was called off in the hope of an amicable adjustment. If congress will now pass a law to handle industrial disputes, there will be assurance of much relief from future labor troubles. If the government will create a court to ascertain the facts in any controversy, a fair basis of settlement may be found in every case. A court's judgment, after an impartial hearing, will never vary much from truth and justice.

Practical application of the gospel of work is the thing most needed right now to rescue the world from alarming unrest. Nature intended people to be active and busy. When one ceases to take interest in affairs and contribute to some useful line of production, he begins to deteriorate and speed up the race for graveclothes and the requiem service. It is especially unfortunate for young people to be idle. Their energies and capacities are wasted ways if not in constructive interest. Society cannot be indifferent. While it is helped by every worthy endeavor, it is most keenly hurt by every case of idleness.

Former President William H. Taft has shown such fine judgment and such fairness and soundness in discussing public questions that we believe he has made an impression on the American people that would augur well for success if he should be persuaded to again become a candidate for the presidency. Taft's profound knowledge and broad statesmanship are accentuated in the utter absence of egoism or self-assumption. In the peace treaty, his soundness of judgment and his statesmanship and progressive policies, free from the camouflage of cheap politics, were not generally appreciated. Since he has become an honored private citizen, and has been studied at short range for several years, he has more clearly reflected his superior qualities of mind and heart, and has grown in popular esteem. In the consideration of many vexing public problems during the last few years, Taft has frequently given helpful and encouraging analysis. If in the presidential muddle, Taft should happen to be drafted and named by the republican convention, we doubt not that his choice would be welcomed and that his election would be as overwhelming as was his defeat eight years ago.

THE LANSING INCIDENT.
Secretary of State Robert Lansing who is said to have long disagreed with President Wilson and who, notwithstanding his superior ability, has been treated more like a clerk than an associate adviser, has finally had an open break which led to his resignation. Calling cabinet members together for conference during the illness of the president, involving a question of executive prerogative, furnished the last straw. The president's peevishness over mere privilege suggests that he is still not well enough to lead a great nation in solving a multiplicity of intricate problems. To people accustomed to exercising fairly sound sense, the president's action seems foolish and inexcusable. Only shrewdly guarded partisanship will voice justification.

Secretary Lansing had been advised by the president's physician to avoid asking the chief executive to consider public affairs. Inevitably public questions pressed for attention, and the secretary called the cabinet together. Many people will believe the president was more particular about presidential privilege than the needs of the public service. Former President W. H. Taft and former Secretary of Commerce William C. Redfield, the latter of whom was a member of President Wilson's cabinet, say Lansing acted within his rights, and that he could not have done otherwise if the business of the country was to proceed regularly. Senator Norris made this "blatant observation."

"The incidents connected with the Lansing resignation demonstrate two things: First, that the president is incapacitated, and that it was necessary for someone to look after the affairs of government; second, that the mental exertion which has been employed at the white house was discharged too soon."

"The incident is deplorable. An unbiased public will generally commend Mr. Lansing for not allowing the government's business to suffer in the absence of the chief executive. Irritability over a prerogative shows the president's weakness and failure to grasp at this time the big things in statesmanship. At this distance it looks as though big men have been forced out of the cabinet because of refusal to become mere puppets in the hands of a man who is either too sick to exercise sound judgment or is vain, egotistical, arbitrary, and self-absorbed.

Women May Sign Petitions.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 18.—Women are eligible to sign petitions of candidates seeking nomination at the April primary, in the opinion of Secretary of State D. M. Amshbury. Petitions signed by them, he says, will be accepted as "good and valid unless the courts shall interpret the primary otherwise." His opinion follows:

"Since women inquires have come to this office concerning the eligibility of women to sign the petitions of candidates for nomination at the April primaries, and since there is a difference of opinion as to the right of women to vote for nominees at the primaries, this office feels inclined to give the women of the state the benefit of the doubt and thus guarantee to them the right that the majority of the people believe they should have. Therefore, all petitions signed by women as petitioners will be received at this office and counted as good and valid unless the courts shall interpret the primary law otherwise."

Hit by An Automobile.
Norfolk Daily News: C. L. Keifer, a railroad employe whose home is at Winside, was injured at 9:30 Tuesday night when an automobile in which he was riding with "Coke" Cain and J. Strong crashed into an automobile truck standing in front of the residence at 309 South Ninth street. Cain was signing the automobile and was unable to steer out of danger in time due to lack of lights on the automobile truck which was unencumbered. Keifer was taken to a local hospital where he his injuries, which were not serious, were given attention. Cain and Strong were not hurt. The automobile, which was somewhat damaged, belongs to J. L. Boggs.

CHURCHES TO AID LONELY SHEEP SHEARERS OF WEST

The bleat of the sheep on the backbone of the continent calls men to the mountains. On high uplands from the Canadian border to Mexico, in lonely and inaccessible places, one of the most romantic examples of the country's migrant worker—the sheep shearer—plies his trade.

Unheard of though he is to thousands of his fellow workers it was for him that the immigration regulation of three countries—Canada, the United States and Mexico—were amended during the war. This permitted freedom of movement to many hundreds of this strange craft, and the means of employment to thousands in factories and stores.

Yet, for all his importance in the ranks of the nation's great marching army of the Emigrants, what sort of life does this man lead? The migrant fruit picker, or wheat harvester, or farmhand, or lumberman often rooms in hotels, or lodges, or in the congested spots of civilization. But the sheep shearer, by the nature of his trade, is cut-off from such indulgences.

Through a survey of the nation's migrant labor now being made by the Interchurch World Movement, it is suggested that for men of this class relief may be afforded through churches in outlying districts. For social and other purposes these men, with proper co-operation by church bodies, could make use of many of the facilities without which they are rendered to a life of isolation.

Fireman on Union Pacific Says Tanlac Has Restored Him to Health

"It was a lucky day for me when I found Tanlac, for nothing but a real medicine could do what a few bottles of it did for me," said Ira W. Polsey, fireman on the Union Pacific railroad who lives at 2033 Elm street, Omaha, Neb.

"I had always been a strong and healthy man," he continued, "till about six months previous to the time I began taking Tanlac. Then my health began to fail and I soon got all out of fix. At the time my trouble started I weighed 140 pounds, but it wasn't long till I lost several pounds and just felt tired and worn out all the time. My appetite was very poor and the little I did eat failed to nourish me properly and I couldn't work long at a time without feeling exhausted. My liver was sluggish and I had no ambition or energy. I often suffered from awful headaches and was nervous and restless all the time. I don't know just what my trouble was, but I felt miserable and unfit for work.

"I hardly knew what to do until a Union Pacific engineer told me how much Tanlac helped him and advised me to try it. It proved to be just what I needed for the first few days, and the big difference in my feelings, my appetite soon came back and I could eat and enjoy anything set before me. On finishing my third bottle I found my health not only fully restored, but I had actually gained ten pounds besides. In fact, I am heavier now than I was before my health began to fail. This tired worn-out feeling is gone and I have energy, ambition and strength to do my work with as much ease as I ever could. Tanlac is certainly a wonderful medicine and I am glad to tell everybody about the good it has done me."

Tanlac is sold in Wayne by Wayne Drug Co., and in Carroll by L. R. King—Adv.

Defenses Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is no doubt that the use of the medicine is indicated in all cases of the Eustachian tube. When the membrane of the ear is inflamed, it is either closed, swollen or ruptured, and when it is either closed or swollen, the air cannot enter the ear, and the hearing will be destroyed forever unless it is cured. It is cured by the use of the medicine, which is a powerful antiseptic and disinfectant, and it is the only medicine that can cure the case of deafness caused by an inflamed condition of the membrane of the ear.

From Ponca Journal February 19, 1920. The new railroad ties are now distributed along the line of the road, from Covington to this place.

Last week the ties were inspected. A letter from a prominent business man of Des Moines, Ia., states that in case coal is found here, a manufacturing company of that city will establish a plant factory here next summer.

The weather is cold, warm, pleasant, fair, disagreeable, calm, breezy, balmy and spring-like, resembles an Arctic win we give it up; the atmospheric changes occur faster than we can write them, and we shall be compelled to get out of the weather report business or have more help.

F. D. Curtis depot agent at Covington informs us that last week there passed west over the C. C. & B. H. road 30,000 pounds of freight, mostly merchandise for Ponca, and the eastward shipment Saturday amounted to 13,000 pounds.

Partners?

New York Evening World: When the federal income tax law went into effect we were told that one of its excellent results would be to give the people of the United States a keener interest in the government for which they pay.

When Liberty bonds were sold and war taxes imposed we were assured again and again that one of the things being brought thereby into closer touch with the government was that the people would develop new ways of partnership in the administration of their affairs. Has this come about?

Are all Americans today taking a keener and more intelligent interest in the way the government is conducting public business and spending public money?

There has never been a time when such interest was more needed. We need the great emergency of war, the people of the United States accepted without a murmur unprecedented centralization of the government. They acquiesced in the creation of bureaus empowered to spend billions. They backed them to the hilt. They begrudged nothing that would hasten victory and end the war.

The victory was won and the fighting ceased fifteen months ago. The need of concentrating and, if need be, wasting billions to speed the success of our present effort no longer exists. Recovery and restoration are now the paramount needs. Retrenchment should be the ruling principle in national finances.

That programs of federal expenditure show, instead of retrenchment, a reckless attempt to prolong the spending power of war bureaus is significant warning how little present pressure of public sentiment affects the plans of those intrusted with the spending of money which can only be raised by new taxes and bond issues. Would the country rather take on more tax burdens than bother about the federal finances?

We want to know what that level is—what terms it comprises.

The Treaty Situation.—Philadelphia Public Ledger: The rising and rapidly growing indignant demand of the American people is that the senate tell us at once, either that it proposes to reject the treaty of Versailles and have done with it, or on what terms it will ratify the instrument and gain for us the benefits of peace. We do not want to know whether on what terms it will not ratify it.

With the overwhelming majority of the people, the only alternative on some terms or other, there must be a level of concession and compromise at which it can ratify.

But, in any case, it is surely too late in the day for any mentally-ignominious American to hold that even the Lodge reservations are so destructive as to render the treaty either injurious or worthless. The Lodge reservations are not prevent the acceptance of the treaty in Europe. We have had very definite and specific reservations of late on that point. Yet we know already that better than the Lodge terms can be obtained from our senate, if just a little refractive good will and good humor are employed. And it is now the first and pressing duty of the senate to ascertain and publish to the country just what these better terms are on which ratification can be secured.

When we get that, we will be ready for the next step. These terms must then be sent on to the president, who alone can send them on to Europe. It is absolutely impossible to credit the suggestions made from time to time that the president will then employ his official power to struggle with his own hands the "babe" for whose birth a suffering world waits in agony and fear—and which is the very "babe" he brought back from the travail of Paris, with some trifling changes in dress.

The president would have to be a very daring man if he were to hold out, singly, against the senate, against the leading minds of America, against the expressed acquiescence of our allies in the late war, against the clamorous voice of the human race. He must be more than daring—he must be wholly exten up by self idolatry—or he must be able ultimately to prove to us a mental alibi.

WAYNE CLUB AT LINCOLN

Former Students of Local School Organize at University.

The Wayne club was organized this year at the university of Nebraska. It is composed of those who have attended Wayne Normal. The purpose of the club is to strengthen old friendships and help new students to get acquainted. A Valentine party was held on the evening of February 13 at the home of Mrs. O. Hager, 1528 Q street, when the guests of honor were Mrs. McKibben who was formerly the teacher of art in the Wayne Normal, and J. G. W. Lewis, professor of history there, who is at present a member of the Constitution convention.

The officers of the club are: President, Jessie Watson; vice-president, Clarence Sahlin; secretary, Kenneth Loomis; treasurer, George Landson. Members of the club are: Felicia Atkins, Ralph Clayton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Culler, Ida and Roy Edwards, Dorothy Ellis, Vernon Forbes, Iva French, Alice Hinder, Darwin Jones, Antheia Koptin, Harold Leroy, Gerald Leuks, Grace B. Lewton, Kenneth Lewton, August Nilsen, George Nilsen, Marie Letter, Arvina Meyer, Albert McGregor, Dwight McVicker, Paula Mittelstadt, George Meyer, Luan Lichten, Fern Oman, Frances Oman, Warda Raneol, Frank Reedy, Mary Rosenthal, Clarence Sahlin, Jessie Watson, Victor Westermarck, Anna Souleik, and Vera Andersen.

GLAD STRIKE CALLED OFF

But Norfolk Railway Men Say They Were Ready to Walk Out.

Norfolk Daily News: News that the maintenance of way strikes were being called off, reached the workers here Sunday morning and was received with considerable elation. The railroad men declare that they were ready to walk out on Tuesday and that the news was gratifying to them because they did not favor a strike of any kind, although they would abide by the instructions of their leaders in Washington, who they felt, are better

FOR ALL EX-SERVICE MEN

Supper and Dance to be Given by Irwin L. Sears Post Feb. 24.

The Irwin L. Sears post of the American Legion is putting on a big get together meeting of all ex-service men in this community, whether Legion members or not, on Thursday night, February 24. There will be a big free supper for ex-service men only, at the opera house at 5:30 p. m. sharp, followed by the big dance. Music for the entire evening will be furnished by Shorter's jazz orchestra—the "tip smotherist, jazziest" music in the state.

The entertainment committee has mailed cards to all men whose names were available, but feel that some may have been overlooked. They want it understood that this evening is for every ex-service man in this community. If you are an ex-service man and have not received a card, it is the fault of the committee and they want you there just the same. Let's get together. All try to have a good time and a social meeting a big success. Plenty of chow, music, dance and smokes.

The gallery only of the opera house will be open to the general public at 20c admission. The fun and frolic on the main floor or balcony is for ex-service men and their lady friends.—Committee.

Now Favors County Agent.

"I have changed my mind about the advisability of having a county agent," says Will Mellor, one of the best farmers and townsmen in Lincoln. Mellor was very much opposed to the proposition when it was presented a few years ago. "Wayne county would have saved $300,000 if it had had a practical demonstrator during last year," adds Mr. Mellor. He would now like to see one employed.

Hurt by an Automobile

Mrs. C. J. Pisk received word this week from her mother, Mrs. A. H. Ellis, that Mrs. Charles Culler had been struck by an automobile. Mrs. Culler who formerly lived here is now a resident of Lincoln, where the accident occurred. Just how Mrs. Culler happened to get into the accident is not known. Mrs. Ellis said Mrs. Culler's spine was hurt and that she suffered other injuries.

It Beats...as it Sweeps as it Cleans

and it is guaranteed to prolong the life of your rugs

IT BEATS

SHOE SOLES track in from the streets an unwholesome gritty type of dirt. Wiped off by soft nap, it sits deeply in.

There it evades removal except by beating. Pressed by feet and furniture, it sandpapers the nap from within. Thread-bare spots in time appear.

The only indoor way to beat out this injurious imbedded grit—dustless, easily, regularly—is The Hoover Electric Suction Sweeper. Upon a cushion of air The Hoover, in passing, flutters the carpeting more than a thousand times each minute. This loosens and shakes forth all grit so that suction may withdraw it.

AS IT SWEEPS

WHILE THE HOOVER is beating it is also sweeping. For in The Hoover is a beating-sweeping brush. No other cleaner brush is like it.

At lightning speed it is electrically whirled. Twenty-four large tufts of soft, bristles make countless-brushing contacts with the rug or carpet. No lint or threads or hairs can cling sufficiently to withstand this sweeping. Thus detached they are removed by Hoover suction.

Nap that had been crushed down is brushed up to proper position. This prevents wear on the sides of the nap and adds to a carpet's life while restoring its old-time charm.

AS IT CLEANS

AND AS THE HOOVER beats and sweeps it also cleans by powerful suction. A cyclone of air rushes upwards through the carpeting, healthfully freshening it and suctioning up all surface litter. Colorings and patterns, once bedimmed, regain their full attraction. The immaculate housekeeper can pride herself upon floor coverings inwardly as clean as outwardly they appear.

Have a Hoover and make light of former tasks. Stop living upon a layer of concealed dirt. End that harmful sanding of the rug. Be certain to secure a Hoover. For only The Hoover beats as it sweeps as it cleans.

Do You Love Him?

L mean your husband. The fellow who is hard at it from morning till night to support the family in comfort. Do you make his home-life as pleasant and attractive as possible?

No other thing contributes so much to the home feeling as WALLPAPER. You see it morning, noon and night, every day of the year. It is the background of your home-life and therefore you owe it to your family, to yourself and to him, to see that it is attractive and cheerful at all times.

NOW is the time to redecorate.—The stock is fresh and tasteful. I invite you to inspect it. Do not postpone your paperhanging until the season is so far advanced that many popular papers are out of stock and the best paperhangers are overworked.

Agricultural Exhibit Coming.
 The town of Wayne, Neb., has been selected for the exhibition of North Dakota products to be shown by the Great Northern railroad of St. Paul. In connection with this exhibit there will be moving pictures and lectures descriptive of the country. The Great Northern agricultural agents are accompanying this exhibit and they will answer any inquiries that are made about the different localities in the northwest. This exhibit has been shown in Iowa and Nebraska for the past two months and is attracting great interest. The Red River Valley potatoes shown and the rust proof wheat, which eliminates damage to wheat by rust, also have been the center of much interest among the visiting farmers.

This work is part of the plan of the United States Railroad Administration in developing the resources of the Northwest, where there are many opportunities for home seekers. The yearly increase of the population of the United States demands increase in production, which can only be accomplished by the cultivation of more acres of land. There are 1,500,000 more mouths to feed in the United States every year. It is estimated that last year over 5,000 renters and small farm owners secured farms of their own in the Northwest through the medium of this work.

Omniscience Hesitates.
 Washington Post: The question "Are you a republican or a democrat" causes the only board to stutter and hiccup, like an official communique.
 Minneapolis Journal: Mr. Compere ought to get a sandwich man perambulating outside the capitol, with a banner bearing this legend: "This congress is unfair to organized labor."

PRIMARY COMES APRIL 20
 Only Few County Offices to be Filled at Election This Year.

Under a new law providing four-year terms for most county officers, only a few will have to be elected in Wayne county this year, when all state offices have to be filled and delegates elected to the presidential electoral college. The primaries will be held April 20, and the election November 2. Candidates have to file by March 20.

The county officers to be voted upon are county judge, clerk of the district court, county surveyor, commissioner from the second district and county assessor. District judge, state senator and state representative will also be elected.

The county judges and district judges have to run on non-partisan tickets. It is understood that Judge J. M. Cherry and Judge A. A. Welch will be candidates to succeed themselves in these positions. Henry Rethwisch's term as commissioner from the second district expires this year. Candidates for this place are nominated by the district and elected by the county. A county surveyor is to be elected to fill a vacancy.

A representative to the legislature is elected from Wayne county, which comprises a district by itself. Wayne, Cuming and Pierce counties form the district which elects a state senator.

Miss J. L. Kelley of Norfolk, came Monday to spend a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. E. G. Vesch.
Rev. S. E. Bishop went to Lincoln Monday to attend the state meeting of the Baptist denomination.
H. C. Barrels went to Lincoln Tuesday on business. While there he will look in on the constitutional convention.
H. C. Barrels left Tuesday of last week for her home in Moberly, S. D., after visiting Mrs. Etha Honder.
Kenny Aulensworth went to Worthington, Minn., Saturday to visit his sister. He expected to return Tuesday.
Erwin Linan went to Norfolk Monday to have an X-ray picture taken of his wrist which is healing after a bad break ten days.
Mrs. B. D. Robinson returned to her home in Mead Monday, after visiting her mother, Mrs. Karl Stearn, in Carroll a week.
Mr. and Mrs. William Roe have arranged to move to the farm owned by the former's father, south of Carroll. They have been living north of town.
A huge cocoon, sent from Palm Beach, Florida, by W. L. Humbert, has been received by the First National bank. The nut is very large and the shell has a slick outer surface.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Laurie intend to move to town soon. They have bought the property formerly owned by Mrs. Lovick. Mr. and Mrs. Laurie have been living northeast of town.
Mrs. Chris Sorenson left Saturday morning to return to her home in Dallas, S. D., after visiting her daughter, Miss Louise Sorenson, who is ill at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. Lars-Larson, near Carroll.
Miss Sorenson is a student at Wayne State Normal and will resume her studies there as soon as she is able.
Seven former service men, six of them from Carroll, have arranged to take claims in Wyoming. Each one gets 640 acres, and the seven sections are near each other. The young men will go to their claims March 1, where they will remain five months. Those from Carroll to go are: Keeley Aulensworth, Elmer Jones, Roy Gregory, Rodney Garwood, John Laurie and Elwin Evans.

Lycium Number Pleases.
A male quartette gave a lycium number at the Methodist church Monday night of last week. The program included vocal and instrumental music. The quartette substituted for the one which was to have come.
Flu on Decrease.
Influenza in and near Carroll seems to be well under control. Few new cases have been reported, and most of the patients whose condition was critical are now improving. The board of education opened school Monday and public meetings have been permitted for nearly two weeks.
Mrs. Lewis is Pneumonia Victim.
After an illness of less than twenty-four hours, Mrs. Edward Lewis died at her home Saturday afternoon. Although she had had a cold all winter, it was not thought serious. Late Friday night she became very sick, and the trouble was pronounced pneumonia. Funeral services were held in Carroll Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. F. E. Sala.
Alma Ringmeyer Lewis came to Carroll about a year ago from Dallas, S. D., her girlhood home. Her husband bought the trolley business, which he has conducted ever since. She is survived by her husband and two children, Thelma, aged 4, and Leola, aged 2, and a number of other relatives.

Those who came to attend the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ringmeyer and son, R. Ringmeyer, of Winner, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ringmeyer of Lincoln, Frank Lewis of Winner, Charles Selchop and daughter, of Lincoln, Robert and Charles Peiper of Lincoln.

A Community House.
On account of sickness and bad roads it was impossible to hold the meeting to plan for the community house which the post of the Anglican Legion expected to call last week. However, John Thielen, the post commander, said Monday that undoubtedly arrangements for such a meeting would be made this week. Frank Warner, vice commander of the Nebraska department of the American Legion, will be a speaker. Before the next meeting, the committee to investigate the possibilities of the community house project will come together. This committee will plan the manner of financing the building, what the community house is to include and perfect the organization necessary to build one.

Much interest has already been evidenced in the proposition put forth by the local post, which desires the community house to be a soldier's memorial and at the same time a municipal advantage. Some opposition has been encountered, but in most cases it has been directed to a few phases of the project. It is to be noted that it will be possible to get the necessary subscriptions in a short time, so that the work can commence as soon as is advisable.

Howell Jones Dies.
Howell P. Jones of Carroll died at Randolph February 18. With his wife he was visiting his brother in Randolph when his condition suddenly became serious and he soon died. Mr. Jones has been in poor health a number of months and recently underwent an operation for a cancerous tumor of the brain. Funeral services were held in Carroll Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Sala conducted the service.
Mr. Jones is survived by his wife and two little children, his father and five sisters in Wales, a brother, John Jones in Randolph, and another brother, William Jones, in Wyoming. Mr. Jones was born in Towner, Wale, February 16, 1886. He came to this country and state in 1906. In 1916 he was married to Miss Grace Darnell of Winfield.
Although originally a member of the Wesleyan Congregational Church, Mr. Jones later transferred his membership to the Methodist church of Carroll.

Rev. J. H. Hendricks, Mr. and Mrs. Jones had been living in Winfield with the latter's father. As he was dissatisfied there, they moved their goods to Carroll and he moved here in a few days.
SOCIETY.
Five Hundred Club.
Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Williamson entertained the members of the Five Hundred club Tuesday night of last week. Mr. W. E. Jenkins won first prize and Miss Esther Boothby was awarded the consolation prize. Refreshments were served.

Thelma Woods Entertains.
Miss Thelma Woods entertained at an informal party Friday night. Progressive Some-to-be Set was played. The guests were Misses A. H. Thomas, Clara Sieck and Gladys Harmer, Richard Garwood, Griffith Garwood, Marion Jones and Oscar Swanson.
Miss Harmer Hostess.
Miss Gladys Harmer entertained Thursday night at cards. The following were guests: Misses Clara and Alice Sieck and Thelma Woods and Olive Andrews, Marion Jones, Griffith Garwood, Richard Garwood, Charles Mills and Oscar Swanson.

Lutheran Church.
(Rev. M. Seeres, Pastor.)
Services will be held at the usual hours Sunday. The Ladies Aid society will hold its next meeting Feb. 25, with Mrs. Henry Paulsen.

Congregational Church.
(Rev. D. P. Davis, Pastor.)
The services next Sunday and the following week will be: Preaching at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Junior Christian Endeavor at the same hour, Sunday school at 2 o'clock.
The Ladies Aid society will meet Wednesday morning and the mid-week prayer service will be held at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Baptist Church.
(Rev. S. E. Bishop, Pastor.)
Services Sunday will be at the usual hours.
The Aid society has resumed its meetings and will meet with Mrs. J. Mc Kay each Wednesday.
Brother W. H. Jones is leader at the B. Y. P. U. meeting for Sunday evening.

Welsh Presbyterian Church.
Rev. W. O. Jones of North Dakota will preach at 1 o'clock and 7:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon and evening. Mr. Jones comes highly recommended and a large attendance is urged.

Sunday school at 2:15 p. m. Senior Endeavor at 7 p. m.
Ladies Aid society will meet at the church Wednesday, February 25.

Fellowship day was observed by the two Christian Endeavor societies Friday evening at the Congregational church. G. A. Jones made a talk on "The Inter-Church World Movement." He attended the convention at Lincoln last year and was prepared to express what this movement means, where and how labor in politics.

definitely in two respects—it will secure a lot of pussifying congressmen, half to death and it will solidify the opposition to labor.

Hoover Grows in Staturo.
Benevolent Republic. Mr. Hoover has at last spoken. He cannot deny that a residence in the White House would be very pleasurable, but he has laid no foundation, has no organization, is not a partisan, and, therefore, is not a candidate. Mr. Hoover is a bigger man every time he smotheres the presidential bid.

Our Ruthless Government.
J. Roushie Chief. The presidential election cannot come too soon to suit the people. National administration by a private secretary and a lot of cabinet members who have "nor" heretofore—been—allowed—to think for themselves naturally puts the country in the position of a boat at sea without a rudder.

A Family Affair.
The Review (New York): If there is a single situation in Europe which at the moment deserves to be described as a squabble it is precisely that Irish business into which some more or less American noses are fond of obtruding themselves.

New Spring Suits

That Mirror the Day's Fashions

$35.00

We cannot dwell too highly on the importance of this event. Think of getting a new Spring Suit, elaborately tailored, silk lined and in the newest styles for actually less than wholesale cost. Only our combined buying power enables us to offer you real bargains like this.

These suits are of a handsome quality navy blue serge. Some models are simple in line and trimming while others show a lavish use of embroidery and braid. These suits are tailored in a faultless manner and are all lined with either a plain or fancy silk lining. Look these suits over and you will agree with us that the price asked is the biggest surprise of the season for we never have offered so great a bargain even at a season's end sale.

So Unusual Only Early Choice Can Assure Against Disappointment

This is by no means a usual coat selling—nor is it to be compared with other clearing or reduction sales. In view of rising costs, it should mean infinitely more to women who are seeking high grade garments at moderate prices.

Presented are Pom Poms, Velours, Silvertones, Bolivias and other all-wool fabrics. Garments in many instances are full-lined and interlined.

There are a great many styles, but not all sizes; therefore when reductions are as noteworthy as these, an early selection is suggested.

All children are urged to attend this meeting.

Because of sickness and cold weather, the attendance at Sunday school was small Sunday. It is hoped that the sickness and weather will not interfere next week.

The pastor, who was conducting church meetings at Blairview last week, was called home Sunday on account of the illness of his son, Goodfield.

His choir practice was held last week at the home of A. W. Dewey. After a pleasant hour of singing, Mrs. Dewey treated the members to bonbons.

Rev. J. Bruce Wiley filled the pulpit Sunday morning, the pastor being out of town.

"Wives of Men."

This is to be the big feature at the Jewish theatre, Winside, Saturday and Sunday, February 21 and 22.

What this photoplay has done is to play to capacity for two weeks at the large Casino theatre, New York City.

It stars Florence Reed, one of the finest emotional actresses on the stage.

The story forcibly presents how both the upper and lower classes live in New York City.

It is a special seven-part feature that is packed full of action with a real surprise finish.

Florence Reed, the star, displays some wonderfully attractive and up-to-date gowns that will interest the women.

The story is one that will awaken the interest at the very start and hold it until the final fade out.

Massive settings of great splendor are contrasted with the sordid surroundings of the East Side.

The supporting cast includes that sterling actor, Frank Mills, in wonderfully effective role.

All of the Metropolitan newspaper critics gave this production their unqualified praise and the public is flocking to see it.

When it played at the Casino theatre, New York City, it was more talked about than any other film exhibited in some time. (1919)

Carrying a Ton a Mile for less than a Cent

Freight rates have played a very small part in the rising cost of living.

Other causes—the waste of war, under-production, credit inflation—have added dollars to the cost of the necessities of life, while freight charges have added only cents.

The average charge for hauling a ton of freight a mile is less than a cent.

A suit of clothing that sold for $30 before the war was carried 2,265 miles by rail from Chicago to Los Angeles for 16½ cents.

Now the freight charge is 22 cents and the suit sells for $50.

The cost of the suit has increased 20 dollars.

The freight on it has increased only 51 cents.

Other transportation charges enter into the cost of the finished article—carrying the wool to the mills and the cloth to the miller—yet these other charges amount to but a few cents more.

The $10 pair of shoes that used to sell for $5 goes from the New England factory to the Florida dealer for a freight charge of 53¢ cents—only one cent more than the pre-war rate.

Beef pays only two-thirds of a cent a pound freight from Chicago to New York.

American freight rates are the lowest in the world.

HIS THE MOMENT OF MOMENTS TO GAIN SPIRITUAL UNITY

By DR. JOHN R. MOTT.

DR. JOHN R. MOTT.

Chairman Executive Committee International World Movement.

This is the moment of moments for us to find our unity, our spiritual solidarity, without sacrificing our diversity and that which is most distinctive to each of our communities and which, by the way, is the choicest possession we have.

The reason why we of each denomination must value that which is distinctive to us is not simply because it is ours, but because we honestly believe it is the truth. It is our choicest possession. Without sacrificing our distinctiveness we want to realize our unity and solidarity as we gather round the figure of our Lord with open minds, responsive hearts and, I would say, hair-trigger wills—by that I mean wills that are eager to leap into action when we see a clear path.

Imperative.

Chicago Daily News: The country must unite that railroads, not the railroads the country.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES
Idaho Drives Kill 30,000 Rabbits.
In eighteen rabbit drives conducted in three successive weeks by the Bligham county, Idaho, farm bureau, with the cooperation of the biological survey, United States department of agriculture, 30,500 rabbits were killed. The first week, two or three drives in three communities, and the number of rabbits destroyed was 8,000. The second week eight drives—encompassing an area of 1,500 people and resulting in the killing of 12,000 rabbits. The third week six drives in four communities were attended by 1,600 people and resulted in the killing of 10,500 rabbits.

Million Trees for Nebraska.
More than a million trees from the Bessey nursery at Halsey, Neb., have been distributed among 5,000 farmers by the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture, since 1912. Those receiving the trees are residents of the state and enlarged homestead district, a special provision in the act creating this district having provided that the residents should be entitled to receive trees from the Forest Service. Recently steps have been taken to get the largest benefit from the distribution of trees by arranging with the county agents in the districts to receive applications for trees, to assist in planting trees, and to make annual reports regarding the condition of trees coming under their notice.

Potato Wart Under Control.
In the war against potato wart in the United States has done in less than two years what other countries had not succeeded in doing in decades. Wart has been for a long time a destructive disease of potatoes in Europe, and the belief all ways was that once a garden or field became infected there was no way of eradicating it. An infected area, even when no potatoes were planted in it for a number of years, would show the disease still vital when again planted to potatoes. The potato wart disease was discovered last year in gardens in some small mining towns in Pennsylvania. The United States department of agriculture stationed specialists in the infected areas and the specialists of the department began experiments in control. They have now announced that a field or garden infected with potato wart can be thoroughly disinfected by the use of steam and formaldehyde. The cost of the work, however, is high, and it will be used only when absolutely necessary in cleaning up the infected areas.

The investigators of the department, who have worked in co-operation with the state authorities of Pennsylvania and West Virginia, have also discovered varieties of potato that are immune to the wart disease, and steps are being taken to assist gardeners in the infected areas.

regions to purchase varieties of seed known to be immune. The department specialists now believe that further losses from the disease can be practically eliminated.

Fifty Thousand Farmers Own Trucks.

At least 50,000 farmers in the United States own motor trucks which they use on their farms. This is shown by a preliminary survey of the census-like use of motor trucks by farmers undertaken by the office of farm management and the bureau of crop estimates of the United States department of agriculture. The data secured by this inquiry answer many questions which have been asked repeatedly in recent years regarding the extent to which motor vehicles are used for farm hauling.

The figures which totals for the nation and the several states are based upon reports of approximately 35,000 selected crop representatives of the bureau of crop estimates. These co-operators were asked to report the names and addresses of farmers they knew who owned motor trucks for farm use. Pleasure cars and trailers for use with pleasure cars were excluded, and the reports were asked to take account of trucks which are used primarily for general custom hauling, or on regularly established routes.

An American Platform.

Saturday Evening Post: From widely separated portions of this country are audible faint chirpings of many gentlemen of both parties, all in receptive mood in regard to the greatest, the gravest, the most responsible and most terrible job that any man can have on the earth today—the presidency of the United States of America. We do not venture to choose that man, nor to choose a party for him, but we do venture to choose a platform for both—and to write it here. It is a platform upon which we believe the next president of the United States can be elected. If thereafter he prove big enough to live up to the platform he can write himself the third, perhaps the second and greatest president this republic ever has had.

Our platform has four planks. These planks are: American, Law, Order, Work. Taken together, these spell no more than common sense. Taken together, they automatically will end hysteria. We think they are essential to the solution of the question of which shall occupy the grave—Europeanism or Americanism. We are disposed, ourselves, to assign the title of the president to the former. It is time we buried anarchy in America and opened up a new country to actual law, actual order, and actual work.

Pray observe, there is no labor plank in this platform. There is a better word. It means much that "labor" does not mean today. It is a short word, but one of the biggest and best in our language—Work.

The King Business.
Kansas City Star: The king's use of the word "my" referring to army, navy and people, in the speech from the throne the other day has evoked a protest from the London Times which says the word is contrary to the democratic spirit of the age. But if you are going to have a king you've at least got to let him talk like any other man's.

At Uncle Sam's Expense.
New York World: The winter congress provides a junketing trip for representatives and senators to the Virgin Islands, our new possessions in the West Indies. Next summer Alaska should offer attractive conditions of climate and scenery.

CITY ELECTION APRIL 6

Municipal Officers Whose Terms Expire—The Mayoralty.

The city election will be held April 6 this year. At this time the mayor, city clerk, city treasurer, a member of the council from each ward and two members of the board of education will be elected. Nominating caucuses are required to be held fifteen days before the election.

The council members whose terms expire this year are W. H. Gildersleeve, L. C. Gildersleeve and C. W. Hiscok. Herman Lundberg, Ernest Bichel and C. E. Carhart will continue in office. The present city clerk is Lemuel Bie and the treasurer H. S. Ringland.

After one year as mayor, J. H. Kemp has announced that he will not accept the office again. That a woman may seek the nomination has been hinted, but no definite announcement made. Favorable mention has been made of Ernest Bichel as a possible candidate. Although his term as councilman from the First ward will not expire for another year, his wait in the council has attracted sufficient notice so that he has been suggested to succeed Mr. Kemp. Mr. Bichel is a member of the street and alley committee, on which he has been an active and willing worker.

STANTON FAIR MEETING

Teachers' Salaries at Laurel Raised—Other Nebraska News.

The annual meeting of the Stanton county agricultural association was held last week in Stanton. An executive board of fifteen were elected, from which number a president, secretary and treasurer will be selected. Those on the board are: W. S. Bordner, C. J. Krenner, S. J. Miller, Elmer Lee, Peter Davidson, Robert Miller, D. C. Chase, C. G. Deines, Ed. M. Kern, Foster Gamble, Clem Spangler, Dr. Joseph Eugene Post, F. J. Farn and Emil Entenman.

The salaries of all teachers at Laurel have been raised $10 a month. After five months' visit to their old home in Denmark, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jensen of Laurel were more firmly convinced than before that they wanted to live in the United States. They returned recently on the same ship which brought Mr. Jensen over on his first voyage twelve years ago. Mrs. H. Concrete Reips of Wynot, the oldest resident of Cedar county, celebrated her ninety-eighth birthday, February 17, at the home of her daughter. Although she was born in Germany, she has lived in the United States, thirty-seven years, all but one of which were spent in Cedar county. One of her grandsons, F. C. Radke, is a member of the state constitutional convention.

Women of Cedar county took the first steps to bring down the high cost of living when they perfected an organization last week. The members have pledged themselves to refrain from buying unnecessary articles and to report any efforts to charge more than fair prices.

Mrs. M. E. Eby has been appointed county chairman and has an assistant chairman in each community. Three tires were stolen from a car belonging to August Jensen in Emerson last week. The car was locked in a garage, but an entrance was effected and the robbers took the tires off two wheels and one from the rear of the car.

Bloomfield may have an ice cream plant next season if the Bloomfield-Butter company carries out its present plan to extend its business. Investigation has shown that about 4000 gallons of ice cream are consumed annually in Bloomfield.

Holt county is to have forty-one miles of public highway graded this year. The work is to be done by the state highway department, which will furnish all the material, labor and equipment necessary. The county will be charged only the actual cost of construction, and the amount will be paid for out of money received by the county for automobile licenses last year.

Summarizes His Views.

Mr. Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican National Committee, has summarized the result of the observations of the recent Republican conferences which he, Mrs. John Chover South, chairman of the Woman's division, Miss Mary Garrett Hay, chairman of the Executive Committee, and other women leaders of the republican party made in their coast to coast trip. "Everywhere," says Mr. Hays, "I find the people regardless of past party affiliations seeking republican success, moved with the conviction that by such success they will make certain."

First—An honest, efficient, economical business administration of the country's affairs.

Second—That there will be developed and executed a plan for the reduction of taxes, with the repeal of taxes which kill initiative and the spreading of the war debt over a large number of years.

Third—That there will be developed a better relation between labor and capital, with justice to both, and with justice to the public, the third side of the triangle, which must not be forgotten.

Fourth—That there shall be an administration of law and order everywhere in the nation.

Fifth—That the party will measure its steps forward by the new needs of the nation, with its eyes always ahead, but with its feet always on a solid ground."

Notice on Petition for Settlement of Account.

In the county court of Wayne county, Nebraska.

The state of Nebraska, Wayne county, ss.

To all persons interested in the estate of Reinhard F. Kaan, deceased.

On reading the petition of Mathilda Kaan, administratrix, praying a final settlement and allowance of her account filed in this court on the 6th day of February, 1920, and for appointment of balance of the estate.

It is hereby ordered that you and all persons interested in said matter may, and do, appear at the court to be held in and for said county, on the 28th day of February, A. D., 1920, at 9 o'clock a. m., to show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted, and that notice of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof be given to all persons interested in said matter by publishing a copy of this order in the Wayne Herald, a weekly newspaper printed in said county, three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing.

Humanity's Habits.

Houston Post: It is becoming more and more evident that war and extravagance is a much easier combination than peace and frugality. When humanity once forms the habit of lighting Scotch cigars with $10 bills it does not reform easily.

Uncertain. Kansas City Times: New Jersey has ratified the suffrage amendment, but nobody knows whether it will be effective or not because Gov. Edwards may find out at any moment that Mr. Bryan is for it.

Lalley Light is a complete unit—engine and generator—with 12 coil magnets, battery. It operates simple electricity for lights, water pumps, washing machines, saws, cream separators, fencing, mail, etc., etc.

Ten Years' Owner-Experience Has Proved Lalley Light

Naturally, there are fundamental reasons why progressive farmers everywhere are installing Lalley Light Plants now. They recognize that Lalley Light is the most highly perfected electric light and power plant.

They know this because Lalley Light has stood the test of owner experience for ten years.

They know that only through such an experience can an electrical unit like Lalley Light be developed, refined and perfected as Lalley Light has been.

Install Lalley Light Now

Right now is the best time to begin enjoying Lalley electricity. You have the time now to make this installation. You can begin enjoying Lalley benefits and comforts immediately and be ready for the savings in time and labor that Lalley Light will give you when the rush of farm work comes.

Furthermore, delay may mean that you will have to pay an increased price for this essential money-making farm equipment. Do not delay. See your Lalley Light dealer today, or ask him to call upon you.

Legal Notice.

To Roland R. Shaffer:

You are hereby notified that Alta Shaffer, as plaintiff, has filed her petition and commenced an action against you, Roland R. Shaffer, as defendant, in the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, wherein said Alta Shaffer asks and prays that she be granted an absolute divorce from you on the grounds of willful abandonment and desertion and on the ground that continuously since August 15, 1909, you have willfully abandoned her and have cruelly refused and neglected to provide suitable maintenance for her through sufficient ability so to do. Plaintiff in her petition prays for an absolute divorce and for the custody of Rosa Shaffer, a minor, and prays for general equitable relief. You are required to answer said petition on or before March 8, 1920. Otherwise said petition will be taken as true and relief granted plaintiff as prayed. Dated January 28, 1920. Alta Shaffer, Plaintiff. By Fred S. Berry, Her Attorney.

The Cost of Upkeep

A run-down business is like a dilapidated house, the cost of putting it back on its feet is often greater than it would be to start all over again.

To let the telephone run down, in quality of service or in mechanical equipment, would mean far more than a loss to the telephone company, it would mean a loss to every user of the telephone.

It has always been the policy of the Telephone Company to keep its property in such repair that its subscribers receive the greatest possible benefit.

But to keep things "ship shape" requires money, more money today than ever before. Materials cost more and wages have increased in an attempt to keep pace with the increased cost of living.

The Telephone Company is working hard to make ends meet, to keep its property in proper operating condition—and to pay wages which will secure the most intelligent and loyal service for the telephone user.

YOUR loyalty to the telephone will make it easier for us to serve you.

Mrs. Otto Hinrich went to the hospital in Pender Monday to have an operation for appendicitis. She was absent last week on account of illness.

The Wakefield basketball team has been so successful and has attracted so much attention in this part of the state that Dakota City is seeking to arrange a game for Friday night, to be played in Dakota City. On account of the tournament in Wayne that night the first team will not be able to go, but the second team may be sent.

A strong team will go to the basketball tournament in Wayne. Although the line-up has not been announced, those who will go to Wayne are: Melvin Collins, Harry Swanson, Herbert Green, Verner Fisher, Paul Hinrich, Ellis Keroth and Harvey Hanson. Wakefield's first game in the tournament will be with Randolph.

The first team met its first defeat in its last regular game of the season when Coleridge ran up a score of 31 to 19. The game was played in Coleridge. The second team had better success, defeating Coleridge's second team by a score of 35 to 19.

Plans for the celebration of Washington's birthday are well under way. Programs will be presented by the students in most of the grades. A speaker will address the high school students at chapel exercises.

Nimrod-Anderson.
Miss Pearl Anderson and Mr. Rudolph Nimrod were united in marriage Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock by Rev. E. G. Knock at the home of the bride's parents in Wakefield. Only near relatives were present. Miss Myrtle Sundell and Miss Amelia Ring acted as bride's maids, and Harry Nimrod acted as best man. The wedding was a home wedding in every sense.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson-Anderson of Wakefield. She grew to womanhood in this vicinity and is well known and highly respected by many friends. Mr. Nimrod is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. M. also of Wakefield. He has lived in Wakefield a greater share of his lifetime. The young couple will live on a farm southwest of here. Many friends extend best wishes.

American Legion Memorial Service.
The American Legion will hold a memorial service for four U. S. service men who gave their lives in the late war. Certificates have been sent by the French government to near relatives of these men. Union memorial services will be conducted at the Salem Lutheran church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock for the purpose of presenting these certificates. This is a national occasion and services will be held throughout the United States. Rev. E. G. Knock will deliver the address and special music will be provided for the occasion.

Those for whom certificates will be presented in Wakefield Sunday are: Anton Bokemper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Bokemper of near Wakefield; Louis Peter Koch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jürgen-Knoch of Concord; Gustave Kraemer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kraemer of Concord; and Harry B. Arrasmith, husband of Mrs. Grace Arrasmith.

Cast for Play Announced.
The announcement of the cast of "The Arrival of Kitty," the comedy to be presented by the American Legion February 27, was made this week. All those who take part in the play are members of the local post, and the industries from which they have rehearsed for two months would indicate they will make as admirable actors as soldiers.

The parts will be taken as follows: Whittem Whittier by H. Bowman; Aunt Jane, his sister, by Walter Johnson; a nurse, presided by Earl Davis; Bobbie Baxter, by Harry Borg; Benjamin Moore by Carl Hoogner; Tim, a bell boy, by Luther Hyslop; Sam, a colored porter, by Robert Hanson; Kitty, an actress, by Al Fredrickson; Suzette, Aunt Jane's maid, by Milton Henry.

The story is an amusing farce based on American life. "The Arrival of Kitty" has had wide popularity among both professional and amateur performers and has been presented 5,000 times.

School News.
The attendance is better this week than last, as the amount of sickness seems to be decreasing. All the teachers are present though sev-

A petition is being circulated among the business-men to raise funds to send the basketball team to the state tournament, March 4-6. Miss Ardath Conn of Wayne, who is supervisor of music, has resigned to go east to study music. The position she leaves will be filled by Miss Margaret Mason, who is a senior in the Wayne State Normal. Miss Mason will continue her studies, coming to Wakefield once a week to give music instruction.

SOCIAL

Miss Long Grace-Lou entertained twelve friends Wednesday evening of last week at the J. H. Mitchell home. Refreshments were served the time passed pleasantly. The hostess served refreshments.

Entertain for Mrs. Kemp

Mrs. H. B. Ware, Mrs. J. O. Peterson and Mrs. Hugh Montgomery entertained ten women Friday afternoon at the Ware home in honor of Mrs. J. H. Kemp of Dresbach, Minn. Valentine ideas were carried out throughout the party. Interesting games and music made the afternoon pass pleasantly. At 5 o'clock the guests found their places at the well appointed table

For Miss Anderson

A club of young women of the Salem Lutheran church of which Miss Pearl Anderson is a member, met Monday evening with Miss Stina Nyberg in honor of the bride of the week, Mrs. Theodore Rybach of Keokuk, Ia., was an out-of-town guest. Miss Anderson was presented with a beautiful picture.

To Revive Stag Club

The Stag club is to be revived at a meeting in the auditorium Monday night. This is the first meeting since the beginning of the war, in the course of which the club was allowed to disband. About a hundred members are expected at the banquet Monday night, and a number of men will be invited.

Birthday Surprises

A number of neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Acton met at their home Sunday, February 15, for a birthday surprise in honor of Mrs. Acton. Mr. and Mrs. Acton will move from the community in the spring and this was a farewell party as well as birthday-surprise. They received a number of useful gifts.

By Means of Valentine cards

A two-course luncheon was served.

Chevrolets Complete Seven-Day Non-Stop Run

A recent feat of Chevrolet endurance and stamina in North Louisiana came in the form of a gruelling seven day Non-Stop Run, which began at noon Wednesday, October 1, and ended at the same hour on Wednesday, October 8.

The interest of every motor-car dealer, owner and prospective owner in that section of the country was centered upon this run's outcome. A Chevrolet "Four-Nety" Touring car 1920 model and a Chevrolet 1915 "Six-Nety" both having stock specifications, were started. A road accident caused by an unlighted obstruction in the road, halted the 1915 car for fifteen minutes on the second stop, but the 1920 car finished without once stopping its motor.

This interesting and highly successful exploitation of Chevrolet perfection was conducted by the Nevitt-Sarford Company, Chevrolet dealers at Shreveport, Louisiana. During the seven days' run 2250 miles were covered. Both cars finished with averages of over 20 miles per gallon of gasoline. Every road within a radius of 50 to 100 miles of Shreveport was traversed. Rain, mud, frequent and in some cases the cars sank to over their hubs in mud.

It was a daring test—magnificently achieved. The most minute mechanical trouble would have forced a stop, if one unit of either car had failed to function perfectly under all conditions the record would not be achieved.

One of the Chevrolets which was entered is five years old. Ordinarily at the end of that time most cars have been removed from service. Yet this five-year-old Chevrolet after completing this run is soon to be an entrant on the speedway at next month's state fair.

The record successfully achieved was a glorious tribute to the remarkable stamina and endurance of the Chevrolet. It serves as proof conclusive that though the Chevrolet sells for a very moderate price it can be relied upon for service and dependability equaling that given by cars selling at ANY PRICE.

For seven days and seven night these two cars traversed the streets of Shreveport and the roads of Caddo and Bossier Parishes. Their motors running smoothly, and their wheels stopping only to permit a change of drivers and to receive fresh fuel.

Good and bad weather was encountered. Good and bad roads were traveled. In a week's time their speedometers registered greater mileage than the average car attains in several months of driving.

It was a gruelling, severe test of Chevrolet endurance—a test few cars would dare attempt—a test few cars would successfully complete!

The first day's run completed at twelve o'clock, noon, Thursday, October 2, is a representative record of all other days-of-the-test. It was as follows:

Actual running time of motor, 24 hours.
Miles per car, 408.
Gasoline consumption, per car, 20 gallons. (During day both cars averaged 29 miles per gallon of gasoline.)
Cost of gasoline per car, one quart.
C. Towns visited: Vivian; Mooringsport, Oil City, Haughton, Houston, Marshall, Taylortown.
This test was in every sense a hazardous one—requiring the faith and trust in Chevrolet was at stake. But both Chevrolets ran true to form and exceeded even the highest expectations of all.

THE LANSING INCIDENT
Criticism of the President's Ground for Causing Break

The Lansing Resignation. Sioux City Journal: The break between President Wilson and Secretary of State Lansing, which resulted in the abrupt and dramatic resignation of the latter from the cabinet, is an expected surprise, though the statement may seem paradoxical. The fact that the secretary and his chief were not in harmony has been apparent for several months. The attempt to disguise the truth, first as only confirmed by public suspicion. That the break should come in the dramatic manner it did—and with the exhibition of temper displayed by the president—shows his ingratitude to men who have suffered humiliation at his hands and have subjected themselves in order that he might stand out the more conspicuous as the chief executive of the nation. The wonder is that Mr. Wilson has been able to secure men for cabinet positions. In the Lansing case he has displayed a selfishness and a narrow-mindedness in his criticism of a statesman. The reasons for his course and the methods used in carrying it out adds momentum to the increasing desire and determination of the people to be rid of his selfishness and autocratic administration.

The incident cannot justify the reasons advanced for accepting the resignation of Secretary Lansing. He was incapacitated by illness from performing the duties of his office. The facts which are slipping out at this time show that he suffered a stroke of paralysis. His physician refused to permit the subordinates of the government to see him. For a time he could not be reached by letters. Such communications were stopped by his attendants. But the illness of Mr. Wilson did not stop the responsibilities and duties of the government. Questions of the gravest importance arose. They required immediate attention. Secretary Lansing, as the head of the cabinet, called the members of the cabinet into informal conferences to decide on the course the government should follow. The acute situation in Mexico growing out of the kidnapping of an American citizen, the coal strike, the industrial commission and other matters of less importance had to be acted upon. The president does not criticize the things the cabinet did at these meetings. He only criticizes the secretary of state, for assuming "presidential authority" in calling them. In that statement the president put subservience to his egotism and vanity above the interests of the government. When a man reaches that stage he is approaching the place where he is misdirecting a great power to a small and dangerous end. The president has built up a one-man government. He has done that because he is selfish and domineering. But he must be made to understand that the government must function whether he is physically able to perform the functions or whether they must be performed by those of his selection who have been clothed by law with the power to act. The government cannot suspend while the president recovers from an illness.

Mr. Lansing points out that there were questions in which more than one department of the government was concerned and that no other purpose could be secured only by an interchange of opinions. This was apparent in the coal strike. The war department, the department of justice and the department of labor were involved in the solution of the question. Had the heads of these departments met on the street corner or in some obscure place, not by agreement to meet and confer on the course of the government, but accidentally, the president would have had no criticism. But when they with other members of the cabinet, met by agreement and in a dignified and intelligent manner deliberated on what should be done, they transgressed on the inflated dignity, and prerogative of the president, not in the conclusions they reached, but in the manner of their meeting. "No one but the president has the right to summon the heads of the executive departments into conferences," says the president. The violation of that right in times of emergency when the president is physically unable to do so is such an offense in his judgment that the member of the government who does it must be called to an accounting.

The president's letter to Mr. Lansing is couched in almost the same words he used in his letter to Senator Hatch concerning the Mexican situation after the senator, accompanied by Senator Hitchcock, had visited the president in his sick room. The president in his subsequent letter to Senator Fall, called his attention to the fact that it was the president's business to conduct the foreign affairs of the government and that others must keep out. He is jealous of his prerogative. He is obsessed with his egotism.

President Wilson has been spoiled in office. A trucking congressional majority ready to do his bidding and playing the hypocrite whenever he gave the signal, created in an already selfish personality an over-balanced view of his importance. His trip to Europe and the money paid to him as head of the nation, while played upon in public as accepted in the spirit of simple democracy, certainly changed the character of the man and added to his selfishness and vanity. The president says that "in the development of every constitutional system, custom and precedent are of the most serious consequence." Yet in the face of this citation of custom and precedent as a controlling guide it is a fact that no president ever rode so defiantly over both. No other president ever made his cabinet members mere clerks. They assumed and performed the duties which the laws creating their departments required them to assume and perform. No other president ever appointed himself the head of an international commission. No other president ever placed himself in a position where he could appeal to the people of other nations over the head of their governments. No other president ever became the guest of royalty, even officially. But the list need not be enlarged. The incidents where he has flagrantly violated the injunction he now invokes are well known.

Robert Lansing has not been a great secretary of state. No man in his position could have been. In other administrations secretaries of state have performed the duties of the office. They have instructed the representatives of the government in their dealings with other governments. They have instructed the members of the Hague conferences whenever those bodies have met. In doing so these secretaries have defined and limited and determined the foreign policy of the government. Mr. Lansing has not been permitted to do these things. Yet the public recalls the trepidation, doubt and fear with which he held his breath while the president formulated the nation's replies to Germany in the closing days of the war, and how the nation trembled in those hours of suspense lest he commit it to a policy of "peace without victory." The judgment of the president on foreign matters was not trusted even in the days when most of the nation put patriotism above party and united as one in the common cause upon which the government had embarked. Mr. Lansing, had he have had the opportunity, might have commanded more confidence. The conditions have left his qualities as a premier untested and undetermined.

The Lansing Break. Lincoln Journal: Secretary Lansing has occupied from the day he succeeded Mr. Bryan as secretary of state an extremely difficult position. Mr. Bryan had quit because an immovable body in the state department could not cope with an equally fixed force in the presidency. Mr. Lansing took the position of nominal secretary of state knowing that the real secretary of state, that man whose foreign problems dominated all interests, would be the president.

Throughout his incumbency, save for a brief interval during the worst of the president's illness, Mr. Lansing has been little more than a chief clerk. The negotiations between state departments and foreign governments which preceded and followed our entrance into the war was managed by the president. The secretary of state was only the task of signing his name. The secretary of state continued in this position while a nominal member of the peace commission. It could not have been a pleasant life.

This relation lasted remarkably long especially in view of the natural differences of viewpoint of the president and his secretary. Mr. Lansing was a trained diplomat along orthodox lines. As son-in-law of John W. Foster he represented the traditions of the best diplomacy of the nineteenth century. But the president was trying to develop a different diplomacy, a

The primary room enjoyed a Valentine party Friday afternoon. Each child received a large number of Valentines and they all enjoyed the merry games and the refreshments. Miss Castell served at the close.

He Misses the Point

Kansas City Times: "That's a noble offer of the ex-crown prince to give himself up in place of the 900 German officers demanded by the allies. But he seems not to understand. The allies want the big fish, not the sprats."

Dangerous Professionals

B. L. T. in the Chicago Tribune: "Neither party will name its professional soldier for president, declares Mr. Bryan. Nor, let us hope, a professional orator, who is thrice as dangerous as a soldier."

What He Means

St. Paul Pioneer Press: "A Boston man is quoted as saying that people living fifty years from now will be too civilized to kiss. He means, of course, that they will be too old to be kissed."

Can't Lose Burleson

Sioux Falls Argus-Leader: "There have been many changes in President Wilson's cabinet, but Burleson, the most unpopular member of it, still sticks to his job. It is a funny case."

We handle three guaranteed tires—Gripwell, Nebraska and McGraw

Gripwell Tires

The New 1919 Gripwell Tire is the development of a long and carefully conducted series of tests which have enabled us to locate and overcome the most common sources of tire trouble.

Excepting the Triangle Non-Skid Tread which has been retained in modified form as the most efficient, the new tire is radically different from the old. Its construction, both in fabric and rubber, is much heavier—its wearing surfaces are larger and its air capacity is greater. It thereby insures a greatly reduced cost per mile and increased comfort to the car owner. Owing to the increased thickness of tread the new tire is actually over size in comparison to its equivalent in the old style.

Every 1919 New Style Gripwell tire is guaranteed against defects in material and workmanship and adjustments are all made on the basis of 6,000 miles of actual service. The service actually given by a Gripwell tire, however, is usually far in excess of the guarantee.

There is none better than the Gripwell tires.

Nebraska Tires

When you buy a tire for your car you buy so much mileage. It isn't what a tire costs in the first place, it is what you get out of it, dollar for dollar in mileage—that's what determines the worth of a tire to you.

A tire can be no better than the men behind it. Nebraska Tires are made by men who have been successful with other prominent tire companies. They have set out to build a tire that will give the greatest value for your money.

You will find Nebraska Tires to be not only the best tires you can buy but the cheapest. Because of the extra miles and satisfaction you get out of them. That extra mileage and satisfaction is built in every Nebraska Tire.

Nebraska Tires are adjusted on a basis of 6,000 miles. But this does not mean that 6,000 miles is the life of a Nebraska Tire. That is the minimum number of miles that a Nebraska user can get. There is no limit of mileage set on the life of a Nebraska Tire. We have pledged ourselves to the public to satisfy Nebraska users.

Nebraska Grey Tubes are made by the same high standards set for Nebraska Tires. Their service is not measured by miles but by years.
