

COUNCIL TAKES UP PAYING PROBLEMS

Sanitary Sewer Proposition for East Addition Passes Without a Single Protest.

CITY SELLS OLD METERS

Engineer Recommends that Paving Begin in North End of Town to Save Delays.

Several problems incident to paving were taken up at the regular meeting of the city council Tuesday night and a special meeting the following night. The special meeting was called to hear any protest on the proposed sanitary sewer in the east part of town. As no protest was filed, the council adopted a resolution providing for such a sewer.

Only two property owners of that part of town were present at the meeting. The engineer, Mr. Benschoff, asked a few questions about the improvement, he seemed to think the plans were entirely satisfactory.

Mr. Benschoff also wanted to know whether the property owners of the city would be responsible for the cost of the sewer system. It was explained that any repairs would be made by the city.

Mr. Benschoff agreed with the contractor that the sewer should be laid at the north end of district two, the council decided to permit this change in the original plans.

Under the contract, it would not be necessary to haul material from the station or place where it was stored.

LIBRARY MAY BE OPEN ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Board Orders Encyclopedia and Takes Up A. L. A. Program.

The question of whether or not it would be advisable to have the Carnegie library open Sunday afternoon came up at a meeting of the library board Tuesday night. Although this plan was discarded after a trial some time ago, it was suggested that until the roads became good enough for the most persons spent Sunday afternoon motoring, the library might be a popular center. Members of the board would take turns keeping the library if it were decided to open it Sunday. An expression of public opinion is invited by the board. The board would like to have the library as useful as possible to the citizens. A new International Encyclopedia was ordered Tuesday. As the one now in use is over twenty years old and the war in particular has changed conditions all over the world, it is necessary to have an up-to-date reference work. This encyclopedia will be the 1919 edition, which brings history, science and the arts down to the present time. A special war volume is included in the set. The board considered the part the local library would take in the American Library association campaign. Ideally this aims to establish reading libraries to serve the needs of the community. It provides technical and business departments, to use publicity for the library, to furnish the supply books to wounded soldiers and by mail to discharged soldiers. It provides for the distribution of books to the blind, to encourage the reading of historical and social books, to provide for the care of books, to provide for the care of books, to provide for the care of books.

STORAGE BATTERY
TRADE MARK REGISTERED

EVERY minute a battery works there is evaporation going on, but it affects the water only—never the acid. No matter how old the battery may be it has its full supply of acid, and that acid keeps its strength unless some of it happened to spill out. Water is the only thing that should ever be put into your battery and only enough of that to keep the solution within a quarter-inch of the tops of the plates.

SPEAKS TO EMERSON CLUB

Miss Pierce Points Out Importance of Art Education.

—Miss Martha Pierce went to Emerson Saturday afternoon to speak before a woman's club there. Her subject was "Art Education." In this connection, Miss Pierce pointed out the value of art training in the public schools, and the fact that Nebraska was behind eastern states in this line of education.

Art education would be valuable, Miss Pierce said, in teaching appreciation of beauty. Although perhaps not more than ten per cent of students in the country would develop enough talent to become artists, yet nearly all have a latent ability to appreciate beautiful things. Every individual has an opportunity to apply his knowledge of art in home-decorating and civic improvement, Miss Pierce explained, and that drawing is a language which the pupils could learn to use and thereby increase their means of expression.

For the 10 per cent of students who are talented in art, a wide field of endeavor is open to them. Miss Pierce said this country had never taken rank with others in industrial art. With the close of the war, America found a great shortage of designers and an almost unlimited market for manufactured goods. In order to compete with other nations, Miss Pierce said this country would have to prepare industrial artists by training them in the public schools.

As comparatively few cities can afford specialists to teach art in the schools, Miss Pierce suggested that the regular teachers could give the training in connection with other studies. She explained that all the Nebraska state normals now required some work in art for graduation.

THE HEARST DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

Markets were: Wheat 50c; oats, 21c; corn, 22c and hogs $3.20. A son was born March 5, 1899, to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Miner of Wayne. Mrs. C. S. Peters of Sioux City is visiting her brother, Dr. E. S. Blair.

George and Nellie Porter and Ernest Huff attended the B. Y. P. U. social in Carroll.

The Lutherans have arranged to hold regular services and a minister will be supplied. Mrs. Ley and Mrs. Corbit entertained a number of ladies in honor of Mrs. Klipp of Chicago, who is a guest of Mrs. Williams.

Mrs. Bush, who had been visiting her sons, George, Henry and James, went to Omaha to visit before returning to Illinois.

Miss Gertrude Weber entertained a number of friends in honor of her guests, Miss Maude Wise of Chicago City. Miss Wise is a sister of Mrs. McNeal.

—Fred Berry, a student at the Iowa State University, has one of two out of eighteen who were chosen to represent the Irving society in the principal debate of the year.

From Ponca Journal, March 16, 1882:

The Sioux City Journal states that the Missouri was so low opposite Niobrara last week, that a man waded the river from shore to shore.

In addition to the small pox, in which several innocent people were harvested by the troops who were called out.

The dulcet notes of the robin were heard during sunny mornings, this week, and soon the voice of the big bull frog will also thav out and announce the approach of summer.

There are a great number of cases of mumps in Ponca and vicinity. This is a disease which is not dangerous but it is very unpleasant to go around with swollen jaws, although one had engaged in a prize fight.

The Habit of Work. Saturday Evening Post: Europe was the battlefield of the world, ground four years to powder. Now conquerors coming back all assure us that the greatest and most ominous of losses there has been the loss of the habit of work.

The waste of war, as a great American surgeon points out about Belgium and western Europe, is not measured alone by property losses—or even by the physical losses from disease and wounds and death. Back of these, and greater still lie the shock and disaster given to the nervous systems of whole populations, a great share of whom never saw a gun.

Nervous shock, scientists tell us, tends naturally to operate against the higher, more complex and, more recently, acquired characteristics of the human nervous system. Habits of action in civilized society are certainly among these, as anyone who has had the business of training a human cub

Browns, tans and greys are the favorite shades in coats this year, but there are also French blues and other attractive colors. The designs, either in short, sport-length coats or in longer ones, are particularly graceful.

The new spring slip-on sweaters are here. Pink, coral, turquoise and tans are some of the fresh colors suggestive of spring. A sweater has become an essential part of every miss' wardrobe.

knows without information from a scientist. And it certainly needs no scientific point out to any of us personally that of all habits, the hardest and latest and most difficult to get in the nervous system. The habit of consecutive and efficient work, indeed some of us looking back no further than the last day—may well wonder if we personally ever have acquired it we should have.

At the same time we know—however crude and ineffective the work habit may be in all of us—that the one great distinction between the savage and the modern civilized man is the latter's capacity, such as it is, for organized work and production. We also know that, following the horrible nervous strain of war, whole populations in Europe have slid back to the yawning edge of barbarism quite largely, through the loss of this habit, and that we ourselves in this country are under a great stress from this special nervous reaction from the conditions of war.

This is a work condition.

Is it then, all things considered, a particularly valuable time to preach the millennium of fewer hours and less individual toil just now when the whole world is on the verge of a nervous breakdown in that direction? Or may it be—possibly—that the outbreak of the radical reasoners proclaiming this millennium so loudly now are just one more symptom of a general postwar nervous hysteria?

Another Vicious Circle.

St. Paul Pioneer Press: The landlord soaks the rent because tenants misuse his property and the tenants misuse his property to get his money's worth out of the rent. What kind of a circle would you call that?

Who Gets the Balance?

B. I. T. in the Chicago Tribune: A manufacturer of women's fine shoes told a friend of ours not long ago that he never charged more than $8.50 for the best pair of shoes that ever left his factory. These shoes retail for from $25 to $30. Roll your own.

A Priceless Legacy.

Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press, in Collier's Weekly: I am convinced that the legacy of poverty left me was a priceless one. It is the rich man's son and not the poor man's who deserves pity.

No Lazy Job.

Milwaukee Sentinel: A writer on economics attributes some of the

h. c. l. to "lazy women," who use it if nothing for a lazy person to the telephone in shopping. Any fool with and that only those insured, one who uses the telephone for any that great labor and nerve strain purpose nowadays will deprecate that should attempt its use.

The chaos of mud-in the business district may be more easily tolerated in view of the fact that this is the first year's spring thaw and the district fortified with substantial paving.

This should not be considered a government by any one class for any one class—it is designed as a government by all the people for all the people. It best serves any group by its provision and determination to serve all groups impartially and justly.

A small increase in the advertising rate of the Herald has been found necessary and in view of the present conditions existing in the making of a newspaper and the increased income needed to meet all the expenses shown at us when our advertising rate is too manifestly warrant an apology or long-winded explanation.

Harvey's Weekly suggests that over seven millions of automobiles in use in the United States are in a large measure responsible for the increased mortality due to heart failure. It is claimed that the gas fumes from cars are poisonous and speculative in attacking the heart. It is urged that inventive genius should get busy in devising ways to neutralize the effects of the poisonous gas.

Every home town is in need of more houses, and is now urging increased building operations to accommodate people who want homes. Structures of building using stone or brick was not made up last year, and will probably not be made up this year. Labor and materials are high and people here to build and cheaper to buy than build houses. However, if new homes are not built, the population will not materially increase.

and the covenant would have been adopted long ago. So overwhelmed with the idea of self-glorification, he apparently could not bear the possibility of sharing honors with some of the veterans and distinguished statesmen of this country. They men he took with him—some of them more capable than himself were mere puppets. As a result of mismanagement, settlement of the treaty is prolonged and the president forgoes much of the credit he might have had. Also, if he had staid at home and held somewhat aloof from negotiations, depending on the judgment of the most trusted representatives, he would likely have retained possession of good health, an essential of capable leadership.

The plan of the local school board to fix salaries high enough to attract and hold competent teachers is in line with good business judgment and with the best interests of the district. The parsimonious policy of keeping the pay down to the lowest possible notch that will secure a teaching force makes the school subject to disappointments and interruptions. A high salary entitles demand for a position, and spurs the holder to put every ounce of ability into it. Pleading with some one to accept a school at a low salary because it is all that can be afforded cheapens the position and tends to reduce the quality of the service. The size of salary, in what talks, and it talks so loud that there will be no dearth of applicants.

Terrible bogey, just ahead, had been whispered for six months. A wild disturbance was prophesied some kind of a Bolshevik uprising was threatened, so we were told in a hushed breath. A few months ago we were warned that an industrial cataclysm might follow return of the railroads to the owners. March settlements for real estate were expected to associate a general mercantile collapse. These turning points in affairs have all passed, and everything is moving along serenely. No calamities have happened and none of a serious nature will happen. This country is too big and healthy and too highly civilized to allow any sporadic symptoms of disorder or irregularity to disturb or interrupt the onward march.

If President Wilson had chosen all members of a delegation to send to France to work on a peace pact with reference to their statesmanship and remained at home himself, the likelihood is that the terms would have been made acceptable

"Am I my brother's keeper?" has been asked and answered through the centuries. The one who lives purely for self and who figures he has discharged every obligation to the world and to civilization when he has provided for himself and his family, answers—in the negative. Contributing only to self and seeking always to escape any responsibility, he is oblivious to all other social needs. The man who answers in the affirmative, breathes hope and courage into drooping spirits, opens doors of opportunity to those who are struggling to their feet and hosts a basis for those who need an aid to their feet. He does these things without expecting large evidences of appreciation. He is too busy doing good to sit down and wait for a shower of gratitude. The man who is not his brother's keeper, however, is apparently to find himself in dire need of the very thing he has all his life denied others—lasting friendship, words of hope, the warm personal touch that magnetizes and uplifts faltering steps.

ROSES AMONG THORNS
The attitude of some parishioners who find so much fault with its policy that it is refreshing to occasionally receive a letter like one that came this week. Critics think they know, and they are just as much in earnest as they would be if they really did know. Every one has more or less criticism. No matter what a man does nor how he does it, there are usually enough people ready and able to criticize to keep him from exploding with egotism. Every antic-boutlet critic thinks he could change any undertaking better, and it is being managed. As to a newspaper, he is confident he could improve its policy by working only one cylinder—prejudice.

One of the pleasing things of the week was a letter from A. H. Backus, who is associated with Edgar Howard in the publication of the Columbus Telegram, which is well known as an excellent newspaper. While the letter with its criticism to be published, we are going to take the liberty of reproducing it with appreciative acknowledgment. Mr. Backus says: "I was up at Pier's last week and picked up a copy of the Herald and I want to tell you it looked mighty good to me. I have been watching your paper very closely ever since you took the name of the Herald. I congratulate you on the most wonderful development you have made in the business of the Herald. It has been at a loss to understand how you did it. The Telegram here has made wonderful progress, but yet I can realize to Adam's Eve as you are backed off the map. I would appreciate it if you would put the Telegram on your exchange list, as I want to keep it in my office and I would like to have a good visit with you some-time soon and I want you to tell me just how you are handling your business. I would appreciate a line from you at your leisure. Fraternally yours, A. H. Backus."

PROUD OF HER FAMOUS SONS

Massachusetts' Has Sent Out Many Who Have Done Great Things in the World.

Not to be too insistent and greedy, Massachusetts and her "Old Colony" should always file their claims to the honor of producing men that are doing the new-work of the world, as well as celebrating forever the Pilgrim Fathers, writes The Listener in the Boston Transcript. It is no accident, no mere coincidence, that both the pioneers of transatlantic air transportation should be Massachusetts boys—the first man to make an airship from America to England was Commander Read, whose boyhood's home was South Hanson, Mass., and the first engineer to carry the big transatlantic traffic of New York City and the Hudson river is Clifford M. Holland, born at Somerset, Bristol county, thirty-six years ago. Both appear 'ab initio'—subterranean—problems have brought laurels to boys of the Old Colony public schools. To be sure, Commander Read's education was completed at Amherst Normal academy, and Mr. Holland's at Harvard university, where he graduated in 1903. But there must be something in the stock and something in the system which brings it to pass so often that when great things have been done, or great things are to be accomplished, and the door is necessarily forced into the spotlight of the press, and his antecedents are eagerly examined, the little old side street in "Mass." is apt to appear in connection with some fine town as his birthplace.

HAS GREAT FAITH IN COCONUT

German Who Has Tried It Declares It to Be the Ideal Food for Sustenance of Man.

One of the strongest characters in the world is Auguste Engelhardt, a young German who lives on the island of Kabinan, in the German New Guinea territory. He exists entirely on the coconut, and sleeps on a bed of sand.

Engelhardt is a singularly handsome man of about thirty-five, possessing great wealth and a charming personality. He is known as the "apostle of the coconut" on account of the doctrine he teaches that the coconut is the original food of man, and should continue to be so, as all other foods are responsible for the bad passions in the heart and mind of man.

The "Apostle" claims to have over 500 disciples in America, and now the war is over he intends to leave his island home and come back to the old world and proclaim his teachings. He is also a "sua vivente," being entirely in the open air, and adopting the simple dress of the natives, consisting merely of a "lava-lava" or loilo cloth, and when in full dress that it, which he receives visitors, this attire is completed by the addition of a wrist watch and a walking stick.

Bruce.

Bruce, into which British troops have entered without opposition, was the capital of Bithynia when Trajan expelled Pliny the Younger to govern the province. It was from Bruce, then Prusa, at the foot of Mt. Olympus, that Pliny wrote the letters to Trajan which are among the most interesting of his voluminous correspondence.

UNCLE WALT THE POET PHILOSOPHER

FORGOTTEN

You know how awfully we swore that profiteers must go six months ago, or maybe four—for they're a public foe. There was a misanthrop of class of lawyers brave and bold, and there were fierce statisticians fans, whose zeal would not grow cold. Our breasts were filled with golden hopes; we planned our gorgeous schemes; we saw the longman with his rope walk through our fevered dreams. Upon the highest galleys tree the profiteers would hang, and we would dance in honest glee, about the swinging gang, and still by golly we are pinched, we weary sons of toil; and has a profiteer been lynched, or shot, or boiled in oil? We stand the lesser, scams to jail for swiping grocers' beans, embezzling paltry chunks of kale, or robbing slot machines. Our brave robes have taken wings and flown to roosts afar; alas, we're always starting things which left unfinished are. The rising prices make us wail as we shell out the rocks; I've seen no profiteers in jail, or in the village stocks.

GLAD TIDINGS.

With joy let the message be spoken, all over this suffering land: The home of the winter is broken, and spring is at hand. For long weary months we've been mourning on sleet and such hideous stuff the grocer's cart has flourished, but now spring is calling its bluff. The breeze has a scent that is vernal, suggesting the bulb and rose; the sun, on its journey diurnal, is shedding some heat as it goes. The robin, reliable token of springtime, is seen on the lawn, the backbone of winter is broken, hucroo and hurrah and hooray! And soon we'll be planting the seed and moving the grass to the lawn; oh, say, is there ecstasy greater than that when the winter is gone?

GREAT TIMES.

Oh, these are grand and gorgeous times, and every fellow has the time! I work four hours and draw more pay than father pulled down for a day, and he was doing things at dawn, and busy till the light was gone. I'm in the lot of duns, somehow arranged to save some seeds; he always paid up what he owed, and had a package safely stowed where he could reach it on the day when black misfortune came his way. I often wonder how our dad, those provident, hard-working dad, could, from the meagre wage they drew, save dime, the way they used to do. Oh, many troubles I have earned, and many troubles I have bought; I have more to buy a tite than was my daddy's monthly hire; I wear silk shirts and calfskin shoes, and dodge the tailor with his dues, and when I see the grocer's face I feel that I am in a disgrace. And if the pants seem forsege should come along and land on me, I wonder what will happen then, since I have never when a yen? Such doubts as these swing through my head, sometimes when I am snug in bed, then child go up and down my spine, and sad and sleepless hours are mine.

THE CROOK.

In our quiet country village lived the prince of get-rich sharks; and his dreams were all of pillage, and of skinning easy marks. Oh, his front was fine and stately, and he was a gorgeous gent, and he fooled the crooks greatly, with his powdered net cent. But one morning he was missing, with his winning smile and klan, and his name became a missing in our neighborhood. Oh, we do not see him, though in his costly auto now, and he took away a bundle that would choke a muley cow. There are threats and there is wailing from the suckers old and young, talk of lynching and of jailing from the come-ons who were stung. Gone the crook who did the dishing, and they know not where he went; he is doubtless busy fishing, elsewhere, with his ten per cent. Oh, I am a doubting Thomas, and I smell the scent of cheese, when the get-rich fathers promise more than safety guarantees. And the wise and cautious banker knows how much is safe and sane, and that's all for which I'll hanker while I have a working brain. Better have an income modest and be sure it's always there, than to paw the sand and sawdust and to weep and tear my hair.

NO APPETITE.

I am tired of boiled potatoes, I am tired of prunes, and slaw; I am tired of stewed tomatoes, and of predigested straw. And the dame who cooks theattles sheds a sad, discouraged sigh as she takes her knife and whittles apples for the daily pie. All our lives we are repeating ancient mealtime stunts, by jings! one grows tired at last of eating, as he does of other things. Once the horn that sounds for dinner made my pulses travel fast; oh, it seemed a four-time winner when I heard its welcome blast; like a kangaroo I sprang, from the distant field I flew, when that brazen trumpet hinted that the pork and beans were due. But my tummy then was younger than it'er will be again, and it knew the pangs of hunger that are felt by husky men. That was in a season olden, on a happy vanished day, when my sideboards, bright and golden, showed no grizzled strands of gray. Oh, the years are short and fleeting, they have flown on whirling wings; and I'm in a very now of eating, as I'm tired of other things; and the dame who has the habit of arranging grub for me, murmurs as she fixes the rabbit and prepares the senneca.

CONVALESCENT.

I've recovered from the flu, but I'm feeling worn and weak, and my nose and lips are blue, and my hinges groan and creak. Racked and broken down I am, and so long have I cherished that my private diaphragm from its moorings is unsecured; and my ribs are snapping loose, I have pains throughout my trunk, and I'm feeling like the deuce, if the deuce is feeling punk. Soon again I may be strong, but no cheerful thoughts I think, some thing else will come along that will put me on the blink. And the learned physician says: "You will soon be strong and healthy, but he's talking through his fee, and he'd ought to be in jail for he knows diseases wait round the corner, just ahead, and they'll get me, soon or late, and they'll ride me till I'm dead. In this happy frame of mind are the victims of the flu; when I those somnolent find that some years of life are due. They should

Order Your Repairs Now

WE wish to emphasize the importance of finding out the repairs you will need this spring and placing your orders without delay, so we may be sure to get them into your hands in ample time. The idea of attending to repairs early is to guard against shortage of stock and prevent delay and inconvenience. Repair week will soon be here, and in the meantime farmers should ascertain their requirements and place their orders. This is made all the more essential and pressing in view of slow transportation. To get what you want when you need it, you should act promptly.

We carry the well known and long tried and tested International Harvester company's lines, and can fix you out with either new machines or repairs. These repairs are strictly I. H. C. parts, and there is no danger of inferior substitution. They are guaranteed and will fit and work exactly as they are built from the original moulds. I. H. C. is branded on each part. The far-sighted farmer will save costly delay by not postponing his orders. Act now.

RENEWED TESTIMONY

No one in Wayne who suffers backache, headaches, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Wayne woman's twice-told story. It is confirmatory testimony that no Wayne resident can doubt. Mrs. Jos. Schmalstieg, Wayne, says: "I was troubled more or less by a dull, heavy ache through my kidneys. I also had terrible headaches and dizzy spells. I was bothered a lot by other distressing symptoms. Doan's Kidney Pills strengthened my kidneys and drove away the pains from my back. The headaches left too, and my health is generally improved."

Relies on Doan's. Nearly six years later, Mrs. Schmalstieg said: "I am still recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever I have any kidney disorder, I get Doan's at Felber's Pharmacy and they drive away the trouble." Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Schmalstieg had. Porter, Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y. miltlad

MRS CORA SCOTT LOST 60 POUNDS

Troubles Disappear After Taking Tania and She Is Regaining Her Lost Weight.

"Anybody who gets the wonderful relief I have experienced ought to certainly praise the medicine that did it for me. Cora Scott, living at 3022 Lindsey Ave., Omaha, Neb.

"Before I took Tania," she continued, "I was suffering from a number of ailments and was up all hours of the night, feeling so nervous and miserable I couldn't fall sleep.

"My stomach was all out of order and my appetite was so poor that I could hardly eat a thing and suffered more or less all the time from indigestion. I was badly constipated and had dizzy spells and aching headaches. I also suffered from catarrh of the head and had rheumatism in both legs and the upper part of both arms which was very painful. I had been in this condition almost a year and during this time I lost sixty pounds. Although I set tired and was out at night, I couldn't get any sound sleep and would always get up in the morning, feeling worse than when I went to bed. I had too much will power to give up, but it was all I could do to drag around and do my work.

"I took so many different kinds of medicines without getting any relief that I had begun to think nothing could help me. But I found I was mistaken soon after I began taking Tania. For a few doses, my appetite is fine now and my condition has improved so I can eat anything I want without suffering a bit from indigestion. The catarrh has left me entirely and the rheumatism and aches in my arms and legs are regaining my lost weight and am so much stronger that I can work from morning till night and then go to bed and sleep like a child."

Tania is sold in Wayne by Wayne Drug Co., and in Carroll by L. R. King—Adv.

BIG LAND SALE, MARSHALL COUNTY, SO. DAK. 20,000 Acres at Public Auction

The Department of School and Public Lands Will sell 20,000 acres of fine agricultural lands, well suited for all kinds of farming, at Britton, Marshall County, South Dakota, on April 14, 1920.

THIS LAND is appraised and sold by the land department of the state. It is appraised at $40.00 per acre. You can buy as much as you want from 40 acres up. You pay one-tenth cash and the balance in 30 annual payments at 5 per cent interest.

MARSHALL COUNTY is one of the best in South Dakota. It is equal to any, and surpasses many in production of small grains, and it grows good corn and tame grasses. By good margin it is the banner county in potato production. Some corn growers and specialists are recognized as authorities in that line by the State College.

By chemical analysis soil samples from Marshall County, tested the highest of any in the state. Rainfall 20 to 30 inches. A few miles from Britton, Marshall County, South Dakota, is Aberdeen. It is straight north of Webster. It is well situated as to railroads for travel and shipping. It has good business and banking facilities.

BE HERE a few days before the sale and get located.

SELLS TAGS AFTER CHURCH

Ministers to Present Program of Work and Needs of Y. W. C. A.

The purpose and aim of the Y. W. C. A. drive will be presented at each church in Wayne Sunday. Each minister has arranged to include a four-minute talk on this subject in his morning service. After the sermons, members of Miss Ella Morrison's campaign group will sell tags for whatever amounts the purchasers wish to contribute to the Y. W. C. A. work.

Miss Morrison, the county chairman for the drive, has already had the program presented to nearly all the clubs in Wayne. As she has been called out of town, to be gone two weeks, she will not address the other clubs until later. When weather and roads improve so that she can go into the country, Miss Morrison expects to bring the Y. W. C. A. work and needs to the attention of members of rural clubs and churches. Five of the Wayne clubs have given from $5 to $15.

Wayne county's quota in the national Y. W. C. A. drive is $325. Miss Ella Morrison, its county chairman, has organized the plan for the raising of the amount. Mrs. Art Anker, who is chairman in Arden, and Mrs. J. W. Carter, the Carroll chairman, have met with friendly responses in tag days and other contributions. None of the money raised for the Y. W. C. A. at this time is to be used for post-war work, as funds are already available for that, but the drive is to arouse interest in the Y. W. C. A. work in this country and in the Orient and to provide means to carry on these efforts.

While Mrs. Morrison is out of town, Mrs. A. A. Welch will serve as county chairman. Any contributions may be made to her or any business or fraternal organization in the county referred to her.

After a business session Saturday afternoon, the Woman's Club elected officers and chairman of the standing committees. Most of a day was spent in the clearing of the year's record.

The officers chosen were: President, Mrs. C. W. Lewis, vice president, Mrs. A. Chase; secretary, Miss Jessie Jenks; treasurer, Mrs. M. S. Davis; auditor, Mrs. U. J. Hill. The chairman of the standing committees are: Civics, Mrs. F. S. Berry; music, Mrs. Clyde Quinn; art, Miss Martha Pierce; literature, Mrs. H. F. Hart; home economics, Mrs. H. J. Mflner; legislation, Mrs. A. A. Welch; membership, Mrs. R. McCaig; publicity, Mrs. E. W. Gause; social, Mrs. C. W. Hiscox; book-out, Mrs. D. J. Cavanaugh. These chairman form a board of directors.

The question of federation came up. Letters from the state organization of federated clubs urged the advantages of being federated and sending delegates to state and national conventions. As some objections were raised, the question was left for further consideration.

Mrs. M. E. Davies, as treasurer, reviewed the finances of the Woman's club for the first year of its existence. The club has prospered and almost at once undertaken the project of getting a community house for Wayne. This is to be on the present site of the opera house, which the club purchased.

GIVES WORTHLESS CHECK

Randolph Youth Escapes After Arrest by Sheriff O. C. Lewis.

Paul Jones of Randolph, who signed a check for $56.25 without funds in the bank, escaped after Sheriff O. C. Lewis had arrested him, Tuesday. On the way to the jail the young man asked to go to his room at the Boyd hotel, where he had registered, to get some clothing. As the sheriff's shoes were muddy, he allowed Jones to go upstairs alone. Although Mr. Lewis had arrested him, he had not seen this escaped captive again, the marshal at Randolph was warned to arrest the young man as soon as he appeared there.

After buying a suit, some shirts and shoes from Gamble & Senter, Jones offered a check for the amount on the Farmers State Bank at Randolph. When Mr. Gamble had telephoned the bank and found Jones had no funds there, Mr. Gamble asked him if he was sure he had that much money on deposit. Jones insisted he did have and signed the check, after which the sheriff arrested him. The Randolph marshal said Jones had been arrested several times before.

WANT MEMORIAL TABLET

Council of Defense Would Use Funds to Honor Soldiers.

The members of the former county council of defense met in J. T. Bressler's office Saturday afternoon to determine how to dispose of the money left in the treasury. As between seven and eight hundred dollars remain unspent, the men thought it would be appropriate to use this money in a memorial for the soldiers and sailors. A bronze tablet for a wall in the lobby of the courthouse was the chosen scheme. Since the money which the council of defense has is not sufficient to buy a tablet such as is desired, contributions from other sources will have to be added. The county commissioners are to be asked to have the county furnish the rest of the funds needed.

The monument desired by the council would bear the names of all soldiers and sailors who went from Wayne county. The names of those who died in service are to be listed in a separate column.

BLADEN DEFEATS WAYNE

Local Athletes Play Three Games at State Tournament.

Although the Wayne high school boys' basketball team was eliminated in its third game at the state tournament, it made a splendid equivalent to winning. The team's defensive formation was particularly good, and in the first two games Wayne's guarding was so close that the other boys made only one field basket each. Many of those who watched the tournament picked Wayne the winner in class F. The local boys were two classes higher than last year. Bladen's team, which defeated Wayne, was composed of taller, heavier men than the local players. This would have worked to Wayne's advantage had the halves been longer as the Bladen boys were nearly winded at the end of the game. Luck broke against Wayne when the ball twice hesitated on the ring of the basket and finally rolled the wrong way instead of going into the basket. The score with Bladen was 17 to 13. Wayne eliminated Dawson in the first game by a score of 14 to 6. The second game was with Cotner Academy, which resulted in a victory for Wayne by a score of 9 to 5.

John Carhart and Marion Surber did the work in many of the Bladen Carhart was center. Don Miller and Bon Moran as forwards played a good defensive game. The boys went to the tournament from Wayne were: John Carhart, Marion Surber, Floyd Carpenter, Gurney Lasse, Leslie Rundell, Don Miller, Don Moran, Howard McEachen and Supt. J. R. Arm-McEachen. Ralph Carhart and Supt. J. R. Armstrong.

Financial Survey.
Lincoln, Neb., March 8.—A financial survey of every county in Nebraska, of every church parish in the state and of every individual in each parish, both church members and non-church members, is to be made during the latter part of this month and the first half of next in connection with the Inter-church World Movement. Statewide arrangements for the appointment of county cabinets to have charge of the survey in each county are to be made on March 15, in Lincoln when 600 Nebraska laymen ministers and representatives of the inter-church departments of the Inter-church World Movement will meet to discuss the survey and to take action in making ready for the work. W. A. Luke of Lincoln, Nebraska, state campaign director of the Inter-church World Movement, will have charge of the meeting. Charles Strader of Lincoln, Neb., state chairman, will preside a portion of the meeting. An advisory committee headed by Robert E. Lewis, associate director general of the movement, will outline the plans to the meeting.

—One layman from each denomination in every county in the state is expected to be appointed. Among them will be the biggest business and professional men of Nebraska. Many bankers and financial men have been selected as denominational representatives. The meeting will be one of business men rather than of ministers of the Gospel. The meeting will convene at the Lindell hotel at 10:30. A "county cabinet" for each county in the state will be organized. At one o'clock those present will go to lunch, representatives from each denomination will engage in talking over the affairs of their own counties while lunching. At 2:30 the conference will break into small groups according to religious denominations as well as interchurch movement workers. Following adjournment the members will return to their respective counties and the different county cabinets will convene for the purpose of taking the message of the survey into every church parish in Nebraska.

Bladen is the second big state-wide Interchurch World Movement meeting of the year in Nebraska, the first one being the meeting of 2750 ministers of all denominations held in Lincoln last month. While the first meeting was essentially for Nebraska ministers, the present meeting is particularly for Nebraska business men who are interested in the great Interchurch World Movement.

Trade Outlook Improved.

Sioux City Journal. The return of the railroads to private ownership and the decided recovery of British exchange last week produced an optimistic sentiment in trade and reflected a more healthy condition than has prevailed for the last month. A wide survey of commodity prices shows that there was no affirmative reaction they were under a greater measure of restraint than at any time since the war inflation set in. True, this evidence of a halt in expanding prices caused a curtailment of bulk business, but that fact is one of the gratifying evidences of improvement. Few buyers are taking in more than necessary anticipations. There is a curtailment of shipments within the least possible limits. This restriction is due to a conviction that prices will recede from the present level and that liquidating will enable the purchaser to ease himself down from price elevations without suffering the losses which would be incurred were he heavily stocked with goods at high prices which would have to be sold in competition with those purchased at lower levels.

The near suspension of foreign trade has not been reflected in lower retail prices in this country. It may have been an element in halting the upward tendency of prices so pronounced during the last month, but the future of these prices is not commensurate with the limitations of sales caused by reduced exports. Improved prospects for the future of the domestic market consumption were coupled with an advance of 25 cents a barrel in the domestic price of flour.

The volume of business done is reflected in Sioux City bank clearances, which on two separate days last week were around $1,000,000, setting the high water mark in the city's financial history. Other cities did not show the same abnormal volume in transactions, because few cities outside of Iowa were concerned in the March 1 agricultural settlements. Where they were concerned they were on a much smaller scale than in Iowa.

DR. PARK ROBINSON is the new service man at the Wakefield-Motor Company's Garage. The service manager is to the automobile what the doctor is to the human body. Because he diagnoses the trouble and prescribes the remedy. When the owner brings his car to the service station it is "SICK" and must have the attention of a person that is thoroughly acquainted with the mechanism, as the physician is to the organs of the human body.

Did you ever hear of a man asking a druggist to eliminate one or more items on a doctor's prescription to reduce the expense? No, of course not, and for two reasons: First, because the patient wants to be well, and second, that he MUST carry out the doctor's directions.

When a person becomes sick, he goes to a doctor. What for? To get well and not to get "just a little better." When the car comes to the service station, it comes to get well, and it will be cured if you let the service manager be the doctor. But, after he diagnoses the case and writes the prescription, he should NOT be told to leave this or that item out any more than the doctor should be told to do so.

How to Save Money On Your Long Distance Calls

This advertisement is intended to explain the different classes of long distance telephone service and how they may be used to the best advantage.

When you make a long distance call, if you are willing to talk to anyone at the telephone office, you will be using what is known as station-to-station service. This is considerably cheaper than other classes of service. Station-to-station rates are based on a charge of about 5 cents for each six miles up to 24 miles and 3 cents for each 8 miles beyond that distance, with a minimum charge of 10 cents.

HOW TO USE A STATION-TO-STATION CALL

When placing a station-to-station call you should give the long distance operator the name and address of the business or the individual with whom telephone you desire connection. In addition you should give the telephone number if you are sure it is correct. On this class of service the charge begins when the telephone called is answered.

The charge on a station-to-station call cannot be reversed; that is, it cannot be charged to the telephone called.

This is how you would place a call with the long distance operator on a station-to-station message. After giving your own telephone number and name, say, for example, "I want to talk to John Brown's residence at Blue Springs, Nebraska," or "I want to talk to George Anderson's store at Burdick, Nebraska." Care should be taken to make it clear to the long distance operator that you do not want to talk to a particular person or persons at the telephone called as in that case it would be a person-to-person call and you would be charged higher rates.

By the very nature of your requirements for long distance telephoning, no doubt a great many of your business and social calls permit the use of station-to-station service. And in addition you can make often use this cheaper class of service if you make special arrangements with those with whom you desire to talk, either frequently or occasionally, to be ready for your call at a given time.

HOW TO MAKE A PERSON-TO-PERSON CALL

If you ask to talk to a particular person or persons over long distance, you will be using person-to-person service. The charge for this service is about one-fourth greater for long distance calls. Because the operators may have to spend considerably more time and hold the wires ready while they make an effort to locate the particular party. This class of service is not only more expensive, but naturally charged higher rates.

If you desire person-to-person service at a particular hour, and wish to make an appointment to talk at a given time, the appointment rate will apply.

If you wish to talk to a person who does not have a telephone and for whom a messenger must be sent, the messenger or person-to-person rates will apply.

HOW THE RATES ARE APPLIED

The following is an example showing the station-to-station and person-to-person rates for distances up to six-four miles:

Miles	Station-to-Station	Person-to-Station	Person-to-Person
12-18	15	20	25
18-24	20	25	30
24-30	25	30	35
30-36	30	35	40
36-42	35	40	45
42-48	40	45	50
48-54	45	50	55

While the messenger call rate and the appointment rate are not shown in the above table they are each about 50 per cent higher than the station-to-station rate. The evening charge, which is not shown, is about one-fourth of the station-to-station rate.

THE REPORT CHARGE

When you place a call for a particular person and for any reason within the telephone company's control the call is not completed, or if you make a call and are not ready to talk when the other person is ready within one hour, a report charge is made. This is to cover in part the expense of the operator's time and the use of the wires, while we are trying to find your party.
