Bloomfield by a score of 16 to 10. Sunday of last week.

Judge A. A. Welch of Wayne, will deliver the Memorial day address at Stanton.

The nine-year old son of E. C. Meier of Stanton, inadvertently escaped a serious injury when a team of horses he was driving ran away. One horse bit the other and they ran down the road, struck a telephone pole, threw the boy in front of the narrow cart he was driving and the boy received a gash above the right eye. The boy is a lover of horses and is capable of handling them. He was ready to help his father again the next day.

Over 100 horses, some from Cuba and Mexico, will participate in the races at Lincoln, from June 11 and 12. The races are practicing daily and the track is in better shape than ever before.

According to the Cedar County News, land in that county is taxed at thirty-six percent of its estimate, the true value. The average value per acre of the land transfers in Cedar county for 1919 were $179.25 while the actual assessed value was only $61.20. In proportion the average valuation for the twenty-nine counties in this part of the state was $149.52 for 1920. The assessed value in Wayne county was thirty-one and two-tenths percent and in Dixon county, thirty-six and fourteen one-hundredths.

Guy Manning of Tekamah, formerly of Newman Grove, was killed in an automobile accident when returning home from a fishing party last week. He leaves a wife and one child.

The Community club of Newman Grove purchased the opera house there and will sell shares at $25 each. The place will be remodeled for club rooms.

Charles Young, for whom Madison county had appropriated $5,000 for support in the leper colony in Louisiana, was unable to gain admission to the colony because the state of Louisiana did not wish to admit lepers from other states. They believe if they should admit him the colony would be a dumping ground for other states. He will be kept at the house provided for him at Battle Creek until the federal home for lepers is completed at Ship Island. It is said Charles Young spent twelve years in Florida where he contracted leprosy. His wife is supposed to be somewhere in Florida and he has one daughter in Nebraska and one in Oklahoma. He is 45 years old, served in the Spanish American war and later in the regular army.

County officials were in Emerson last week to try to ease the situation of the Leper Robinson for inhumane treatment of their son Lawrence. Board of Equalization.

Notice that the board of county commissioners, the county assessor and the county clerk will sit as a board of equalization, commencing on Wednesday, the 11th day of June 1920, for the purpose of equalizing the valuation of personal property of the county, as returned by the precinct assessors; also to equalize the value of real property as returned by the precinct assessors, which assessment on lands stands for four years, unless an error is found which works an injustice.

Any and all complaints on the assessment of both real and personal property will be heard at this time.

All that are assessed are especially urged to call and inspect the books, relative to their assessment, as this will materially aid us in avoiding any errors.

The board will continue in session for not less than three (3) days, and all complaints or protests must be made at this time.

Witness my hand and seal this 10th day of May A. D. 1920.

Often people who try to live by their wits alone, lapse into initial failure. It is well not to depend altogether on brilliance and hot air.

It has been suggested that since members of labor unions have developed the custom of wearing silk shirts they carefully avoid permitting themselves to lead to personal encounters. It is argued that fear of spoiling high-priced garments exercises a very different influence. This would rather encourage the wearing of good clothing in the eyes of those who do not regard a first fight as an essential to manly courage and heavenly grace.

In the Literary Digest's poll of votes for presidential candidates, General Leonard Wood leads the republicans and Wm. C. McAdoo leads the democrats. Senator William Johnson is not far behind in the republican column and President Wilson ranks second among democrats. But the one receiving the greatest number of pledged votes has no assurance of receiving the nomination. In each party, a so-called "dark horse," as the final choice of the convention is likely to be, is receiving attention. The Digest's count the high republican has more than three times as many votes as the high democrat.

Five dollars fine for riding or driving faster than a walk across the highway. The state has ordered its officers to protect a bridge and insure safety. People were usually careful to pull horses down to a walk when approaching a bridge. Now an automobile runs over as fast as a horse could run. Wrecks carrying much heavier vehicles do not do the damage caused by tramping horses. Besides, bridges are built stronger than they used to be. Concrete and steel have supplanted timbers and timbers. The increased sign answered an exigency of the time. It is no longer necessary, and has therefore disappeared.

The populist party which gained control in a number of states—Nebraska among them—at one time was riddled in its theories, and it was feared it would wreck orderly society. But its radicalism proved harmless, and suggested some reforms that worked out in practical progress. Radicalism in the minority and safely checked may prompt healthy improvement. Of the things ordered by the populists, some of them were sound and appealed to good judgment. Many practical theories advanced were rejected because the party was not strong enough to put them over. When the party quit, it had done some good. Restricted like medicine taken in moderation, it no doubt did more good than harm.

Nathan Straus, the New York millionaire, is quoted as saying: "It is criminal not to share with those who are poor and suffering. The man who dies with worldly riches piled in the greatest thing in life—his duty to the world. There is no satisfaction in money alone. Food and home, work and play are the for rich and poor alike. And I find that the only lasting satisfaction is in what you can do for the world." Still many people live miserably and have no money the paramount thing in life. But we do not believe it is difficult to get rid of wealth, and if we were in Mr. Straus' boots we would not worry over the possibility of doing so. At his age of 72, with the world fast receding, and with the conviction that it is improper to die rich, we would get powerfully busy taking surplus funds wherever we thought they would best serve society.

The annual Memorial day observance comes next Sunday, an occasion devoted especially to memorial eulogy and the covering of the graves of departed soldiers with beautiful flowers. Memorial day collects memories of the bravery and sacrifices of American soldiers. While observance grew out of the Civil war, it stimulates review and assists the deepest Union soldiers from Bunker Hill to Argonne Forest, reflecting nearly 150 years of development and progress in a people's government. Through discord and fear and obstruction have often engaged the force of American initiative and skill and muscle, triumph has crowned every effort exerted in behalf of the universal welfare. The same high purpose that prompted our revolutionary antecedents inspired the sacrifices in the Civil war, the Spanish-American war and the late world war, and notwithstanding occasional mitigations and discouragements, there is good reason to believe that our the crucible of hard experience will come higher standards and a more united democracy. People will swing against selfishness and member our soldier dead with deserved eulogy and floral tributes.

With paving operations going on, and ditches being dug, one cannot follow the usual route to and from the business district. He must pick out his course with some care and be prepared to change it if necessary.

Efforts have been made to smother Senator Johnson out of his position of silence in regard to whether he would hold and see a new political organization in case he fails to win the nomination in Chicago. He is likely sharp enough to continue his reticence over a subject that, frankly discussed, would hurt him in Chicago regardless of how he might decide. While his former opposition to the republican party from which he now seeks favor, will injure his candidacy before the Chicago convention, it is probable he will figure greatest strength by leaving the public in doubt and fear.

The Gem Cafe.

UNCLE WALT THE POET PHILOSOPHER

OVERALLS

I bought a suit of overalls, a suit of outer blue, with creases down the outer walls, and high and cracker too. And all my neighbors did the same, and everyone in town, to knock the profiteering game, and bring the price down. The rich men in their gilded halls with poorer men fell in line; we all were wearing overall, and feeling mighty fine. At last we found a useful way to curb the thing cost, and make the profiteering feel like an early frost. And then the price of denim rags went soaring to the moon; the dealers sprang the same old gag, and crooned the same old tune. The poorest toiler in the ditch could not afford to buy these overalls we did not make, and the price, she high. The honest workers everywhere in big-leaves were arrayed; the dealer had no duels to spare, we bought his stock in trade. We wore our overalls a week, and then the thing grew stale; we took and threw them in the creek, or hung them up in mail. And thus a great reform, the dealers, was to the discard horded, and still the busy profiteers are fencing in the world.

NON-PRODUCERS

Ten thousand starve and die, and fret upon the well known stump, and tell how crises should be met, and cattered to the dump. They elude until they're here, and rant and tear their duds; and it would help them out a lot if they'd start raising spuds. By growing Burbanks here and there, they'd help a land distraught; we need potatoes more, I swear than we need gems of dew thought. Ten thousand poets in forty ways, and fill the air with such things. But nations are not saved by duds. However, nobody played; the poets should be growing prunes, which is a better trade. For prunes, the hungry children cry, and stricken parents pray, while bus-leaves poets drool and sigh of temples in Cathay. Ten thousand agents seek full doors, or sell more useful burs than they've got; well dressed skates who grow no figs, or strew profuse of pumpkins figs, or dates—there ought to be a law.

WHETHER OR NO

There'll be a panic soon or late, and things will creek and bust; how happy then the prudent skates who's salted down the dust! Financial prophets all agree that present things can't last, and soon we'll have soup for you and me, and soon we'll stand against. It may be that the seers are wrong, for prophets sometimes fail, and men may be a grand sweet song, and life may be a grand feast. But as for me, I like to have my dinner, and when I have a home, I do not want the main street practice, to see it spew and blow. I take it to the banker's wait, a molten vault and fire, and watch him put it down in salt, with other hucks of mine. And if the panic men foresee should come to fill its date, it will not put a cramp in me, or my glad smiles abate. Each payday with a certain sum, down to the bank I tread; and if the panic doesn't come, I'm just that much ahead.

THE GRAYBEARDS

There's some delight in being old, for one is fencible then to scold and view things with alarm. I hang around the marketplace and let some bring run down my face, and talk of things that harm. I tear my hair and wring my ears and talk of all existing sins, as though they modern were; and I denounce the thrifless jays who blow their coin in forty ways, and fill the air with such things. In the ancient times, men mortgaged their abodes for trotting nags to barn the roads, as graybeards must allow. The poor-house reared its frontless hick, and gathered in the thriftless hick, just as it does today; and pauper graves, behind the kirk, were made for those who wouldn't work, but spent their hours in play, and know these days need many more, but when the Blue Front rose, these dastardly thieves, I boast the past as something bright, a noble structure, fair and white, so which the sunlight gleams. I knock the sawdust from the truth; they wouldn't stand it from a youth, but I am bent and gray, and never ramble on, and on they merely sit around and yawn until I drift away.

FORSAKEN FARMS

There are no toilers willing to stay upon the farm, to town they are drilling; the hayfield has no charm. I hear the farmers waiting as they go forth to plow; their standalls all are falling, there are no hired men now. The yeoman waves his money, and cries, "Why work for me?" And people think it funny his dire distress to see. The farmer seeks the village, imploring husky men to help him with his tillage and raise big crops again. He offers princely wages, he'll throw a chrome in, and all the village sages help with him stop. There is no balaly lumpkin to help him, but his wheat, he cannot thresh the pumpkin or shuck the sugar beets. The population's shifting to towns, we please see, and whither are we drifting, my friends, when such things be. If I were only younger, I'd farm a strip of loan, and help to thwart the hunger that threatens every home. The farm lands of the nation must grow 'strung beans and oats, or we shall have starvation, and lose our valued goats.

ANOTHER STRIKE

The cost of ink drives men to drink, or would, if there were liquor, and paper pads demand the scads till last straw sick and sick. I bought some wire to fix my tyre, for it was badly busted; and oh, the price! It must suffice to say that I'm disgraced. And so the song I pass along costs more in its production; and if I fail to draw more late, I'm facing black destruction. The wrate I wear around my hair, or bared, you remember, costs twice the sum that wreathless bus were sold for last September. The cost that feed for me, my dog, steed would break the village banker, and I must raise the price of jays or lose my upward anchor. A trunk in pen case iron, which makes the wallet lighter, the kopecks fly, for I must buy a yard for my wryter. Ten cents a verbor for my hard was fair remuneration before the craze of later days came down upon the nation. But now I hold that lyrics should bring a higher figure; I ask you, cents, for my fifteen cents, or I shall strike with vigor.

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER COMPANY

REPAIRS made for International implements and other farm equipment by the Harvester Company are the only repairs made from the original patterns. All others are copied from copies, and in the roundabout reproduction they may lose in correctness of shape, sharpness of detail, closeness in fitting, and quality of material. These repairs are made for Deering, McCormick, Milwaukee, Titan and other International-made machines.

Genuine Repairs

Fit Better and Wear Longer

The Harvester Company stands back of its machines. Be fair in the matter. Do not substitute imitation repairs for the genuine and expect best service. They often lack weight, are not always correct in shape, are imperfectly finished, do not fit properly, or are made of inferior material. On Friday afternoon and evening Prof. Butler, the celebrated walk artist, walked in Gamble's hall against an impromptu walking club of the town. The object was to walk fifty miles and the club were collectively to walk the same distance. The walking commenced at ten o'clock in the afternoon and continued for ten minutes after ten o'clock. The names of the club and the distances each walked, are as follows:

John Smith, 7 1/2 miles; H. Hewitt, 7 1/2 miles; Ed. Harrow, 5 miles; N. Hewitt, 5 miles; A. E. Barnes, 5 miles; William Clark, 5 miles; Howard Orr, 5 miles; N. Fry, 5 miles; J. M. Batoroff, 5 miles.

The distance fifty miles, was made by the club in eight hours and four minutes at the rate of about six and one-fourth miles per hour. The eight hours and four minutes Prof. Butler also walked and made the distance of forty-seven miles and 248 rods, thus losing by about two and one-fourth miles.

Prof. Butler is a well-known rapid walker, but the task of walking against the wind considering the time made was much for him and would probably have been too great a task for most of the professional walkers in this country.

The following members of the club was wonderful. The most rapid was John Smith, whose time for his last five miles was thirty-nine minutes and four seconds. He was a trifle over one mile in seven and eight-tenths minutes. In rapid walking the other members of the club were in the hands of Mr. Smith, but no record was kept of their time.

MYSTERIOUS PAINS AND ACHES. Make Life Hard to Bear for Many Wayne Women.

Too many women mistake their pains and aches for troubles peculiar to the sex. More often, disordered kidneys are causing the aching back, dizzy spells, headaches and irregular menstruation. Kidney weakness becomes dangerous if neglected. Use a time-tried kidney remedy—Doan's Kidney Pills. Hosts of people testify to their merit. Read a Wayne case:

Mrs. Mary Beckenhauer, says, "I had a bad pain in my back and was never without a dragging ache through my back. I could hardly get around and I would have given anything for a rest for a little while, from that steady ache. I felt weak and was often dizzy, too. My kidneys didn't act often enough and I was certainly in a bad way. Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me of all these symptoms and occasional aches since has kept my kidneys in good condition."

New Figures On Tire Mileage The Miller Tire makers, in late years, have nearly doubled their tire mileage. In their factory tests made last year no rival tire could match the Miller service. Miller tires outwear all rivals by an average of 25 per cent. Large tire users are making million-mile comparisons. As high as 20 rival makes are compared with Millers. Miller Tires have already won many of these tests. Large Miller dealers, making careful comparisons, find that Miller Tires increase their customers' mileage from 50 per cent to 75 per cent. It is time to get new figures on tire mileage. Try a Miller, watch the mileage, compare it with the tire that you use opposite. Hundreds of thousands have in this way come to Miller Tires. WAYNE DEPARTS EMERSON

Local American Legion Baseball Team Wins First Game.

The Wayne American Legion baseball team in its first game of the season, defeated the Emerson ball team 5 to 4 in ten innings, when a pitcher, located from the first, struck the locals having slightly the better of it in the end. The two teams battled for seven innings without any runs reaching third base. Then Jack at Wayne led off with a three bagger, closely followed by a single over second by Sam scoring Peck. The first run of the game. Three runs were scored by Wayne in the eighth due to one pass and five singles in succession. After the run came through with four runs in the ninth by landing safely four times on Worley of Wayne who had relieved and in the eighth. Worley settled down and retired the side by the knockout route. Peck up first in the tenth led off with a double to center. Worley, the pitcher, drove a screeching single over second scoring Peck and the winning run of the game. In Emerson's last half of the game, Peck was pitching true to form and not a man reached first.

The American Legion has never reason to believe that they have the fastest legion team in this part of the state and ask that the local fans give them the best support possible.

The next game will be with the Wakefield team at Wakefield Thursday, May 27, at 3:30.

To Honor Soldier Dead

Lincoln, Neb., May 25.—Governor McKelvie issued the following proclamation designating Monday as Decoration Day:

"Speech, however eloquent, and songs, however sweet can add but little to any of the things which are of importance of Decoration day. The day was an afterthought of the Civil war and has been set apart for the specific purpose of doing honor to those who have served our country in the army and navy and fell in the line of duty or have since fallen along the pathway of civil life.

"It comes at a season of the year when nature furnishes in abundance the means for the expression of our best, evidence the character of our thoughts and impulses. Flowers speak for us sentiments which we cannot find words to express and as they drop from loving hands on the graves of the departed they carry with them the purest and best of our sentiments and prayers.

"For the reason that May 30 falls on Sunday this year the following day (Monday) will be a legal holiday for the state and the departments and institutions of the state. In order to give particular significance to the day, it has been requested by the state government of the Sons and Daughters of Veterans and other patriotic societies of the state that at 10 o'clock on Monday, May 30, exercises and traffic, both public and private, as nearly as practicable, may cease for the space of one minute throughout the state. At that time and the same may stand at reverential silence as a testimonial of their appreciation and patriotic gratitude to those brave men whose names and memory are being strewn with flowers.

In testimony whereof, I, Samuel R. McKelvie, governor, do herewith issue this order, and have caused the great seal of the state to be affixed.

Irregular Trade

Sions City Journal: Any attempt to survey the trade conditions of the world is like attempting to take the level of the ocean when its surface is lashed into mountainous waves by the fury of the storm. The chief fact of what is the sensational and nationwide price cutting in the retail trade. The elements which brought this condition about are prices, which have been enumerated the backward season which has checked the sale of seasonal stocks, the discouraging effect of the crop, the shortage of wheat and corn, the restrictions of credits both in volume and time limit, and the freight congestion on the railroads. But while these are the body of the trouble, the skeleton, flesh and skin, the soul of the matter is that the consumer is coming to be more and more a discriminating and a wasteful, extravagant and improvident buyer, and is beginning to economize. What has brought about this change in him so suddenly? The greatest force of that particular is the fact that food prices have been mounting faster than the rate of two moths and in any similar period since April, 1915.

The government statistics show that the thirty-day period from March 15 to April 15, last, witnessed the greatest advance in food prices in five years and that the top of the high wave is recorded at the end of the period. The consumer did not have these statistics before him, but he sensed the conditions and he knows that those which preceded from March 15 to April 15 are continuing. The realization of this fact forced him to take an accounting of himself and to cut out his extravagant waste and improvidence. The same influences which brought this condition home to one consumer brought it home to the consumer buying power is jeopardized by high prices.

...a stable level is reached are matters of conjecture. So far, the cuts have been mostly in wearing apparel, but in some cities they have extended to, foods and necessities. The most threatening situation is the tumble of prices in grain futures. The declines in corn and provisions which marked the records of the pits on Friday of last week were tremendous and far reaching in their influences. With one class of experts predicting $3.00 a bushel (that is the result of a shortage of farm labor and unfavorable weather, and the collateral grains declining at unprecedented speed, corn making a 13 1/2 cent record and oats a 6 3/8 cent one, the future business situation is muddled to say the least.

Profiteers will attempt to steady the slump and convince the public that the decline in prices in the nature of reduced costs is artificial so that these profiteers may consummate the robberies they have planned by upholding their goods at inflated prices. But the general trade of the country is aroused and it is evident that it does not propose to buy at present prices, levels or to make long in advance contracts for future delivery. The retail trade understands that if the consumer is supplied from reduced price sales he will not be in the general market for such commodities until the ones purchased at these reduced price sales are used up. Thus late spring buying has become early fall buying to the consumer.

It would be absurd to fail to take into consideration the inflated condition of the currency in making a survey of trade conditions. The earnest efforts of the federal reserve board and the banks to deflate the volume of money and so increase the purchasing power of the dollar are producing results. The continued inflation has been obligatory responsible for the increase in prices during the last few weeks. The increase in prices has been almost identical with the inflation of the money volume through the issuance of federal reserve notes.

The labor situation on the farms remains an acute problem in the future food supply. Unless there is an improvement in this particular it is certain the available food supplies of the immediate future will be substantially reduced and prices will go higher in response to the working of the law of supply and demand. The number of food consuming people in the city is getting too much greater than the number of food producing ones on the farms, and the results are inevitable.

Building remains at a low point largely because of labor shortage and demands for higher wages.

Miss Oman in Graduate Recital: Lincoln Journal, May 20: A beautiful recital was given Wednesday evening in the Temple theater by Mabel Fern Oman, pupil of Madame Laure de Vilmar, who is a graduate this spring from the University School of Fine Arts. Miss Oman has an exceptionally lovely mezzo-soprano voice. Her tones were full and sweet and her enunciation unusually clear. She sang a program including songs in Italian, French and English, with almost professional ease. Her poised, attractive stage presence, and the smoothness of her vocal art made the recital genuine pleasure to a considerable gathering of music-loving people. Wilbur Chenoweth was the accompanist and furnished an artistic support for the voice.

STORM OF RAIN, HAIL, WIND Damage Done in Places by Elements Saturday Afternoon.

Saturday afternoon a storm suddenly broke loose and rain came down in torrents for a brief time. It was vigorous, but of short duration. Some light hail fell here, but no serious damage is reported in this immediate vicinity. At Winside and in that neighborhood, however, the storm was more severe. So much rain fell there that the east-bound passenger train was delayed to wait for disappearance of a foot of water that was running over the track. Hornby Brothers lost 120 small Poland China pigs that were drowned on their farm just south of Winside. Much damage was done to growing alfalfa in vicinity of Winside. Window panes were frequently broken by the big hail stones.

In Leslie and Plum Creek precincts and in the neighborhood of Pender, wind and hail did considerable damage. The storm was light in the north part of the county, and no damage was reported.

also were damaged and one farmer, five miles from the town, was hurt by flying timbers. Nearly every pane of glass on the south side of the buildings in Sidney was smashed.

DOG FARM IS DESTROYED Colony of Prairie Dogs in Holt County is Exterminated.

O'Neill, Neb., May 24.—A dog town of four thousand dogs, one of the largest in Holt county, has just been destroyed and the dogs and pups exterminated with gas by County Agent Laneaster and James Crowley, lessee of the J. H. Hopkins ranch northeast of O'Neill. The ranch, comprising more than 1,200 acres and considered one of the finest stock and farming small ranches in the county is the property of Attorney J. H. Hopkins of Omaha. The prairie dogs had gained a foothold in the pasture a number of years ago and gradually extended their domain until it included more than a half section of holes and tunnels making the ground dangerous for stock. Three days were required to exterminate the pests, carbon gas—carbon-bisulphid used. One hundred pounds, or ten gallons of gas were used.

In passing the dogs the saturated cotton balls were placed in the crevices of the tunnels and the holes then stopped up with sod. The gas being heavier than air, sinks and another the impregnated sods had number of dog towns exist on the range in various parts of the county and these all are to be destroyed and the gas exterminated by the county agent and the ranch and farm owners and tenants this summer.

Unsprinkled streets. Windy days. Open windows. Dust streaming in. Housings every double. That pictures the coming weeks. Makes a Hoover Electric Suction Sweeper more necessary than ever. There's danger in that dust, too. Read this quotation from an authority who urges more sprinkling: "And by cleaner streets? we do not mean streets free of rinds of visible dirt, but streets free of the invisible microbes that ride upon the finest grains of dust. Water, the great cleaner, should be applied daily in large quantities to all business streets, and at frequent intervals to all paved residence streets. The germ-laden dust should be flushed into the sewers before it can spread pneumonia, tuberculosis, grippe, or influenza and other diseases of the nose, throat and lungs." Don't let that deadly street dirt remain in your home. Don't scatter it throughout the home by broom-sweeping. Don't let it settle in your rugs where the broom can't reach it. Remove it daily—remove it completely—remove it dustlessly—remove it easily. Beat, sweep and suction clean it out—as you only can with a Hoover. IT BEATS... AS IT SWEEPS... Hoover's Severe Handicap. Lincoln Journal: Of all candidates for president, Herbert Hoover is probably best equipped for a political job. He suffers from lack of political pedigree. But the real obstacle to Hoover's candidacy is the fact that his business made him for several years a resident of Europe. That may have the more fitted him for the presidency, but where would a candidate get when opponent could refer to as they are already doing as Mr. Hoover, late of London?

Would you or your family drink from a creek or stagnant pond if pure filtered water was at hand?

Then why take a chance with natural ice?

Natural ice can be as pure only as the water from which it is frozen.

Articles of food and drink cooled by impure ice naturally become contaminated and the consumers are unnecessarily subjected to the ravages of disease.

Realizing these facts public health authorities have enacted regulations affecting seriously the natural ice business and creating a demand for artificial ice.

Natural ice is usually sold at a cheaper rate than artificial ice, an admission of poorer quality.

It only costs from 1 to 1 1/2 cents a day more to insure your family against impure ice.
