Reorganization of the Wayne County Club, which has been inactive since Tuesday evening, is an accomplishment of signal importance and value to the city and vicinity.

It was decided to reorganize and become fully active to all the needs of the community.

From Coleridge to Hartington. A criticism of the condition of the road between Coleridge and Hartington appeared in last week's Herald-News.

It might have said with truth, however, that for the best part of the Wayne-Hartington highway has been a "road to nowhere."

Following is the News' criticism of the Coleridge-Hartington stretch: "Lost—Strayed, or stolen. One used army truck and two men said to have been captured."

The boys were really entertained by the Hartington golfers who were invited to play a return match.

The program for the tournament includes three big fights with special fights for the players who fail to qualify.

FUEL SAVING

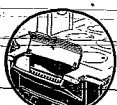

In these days of high priced fuel you cannot afford to use a cheap range or any range that wastes fuel. If it only wastes $5 worth of fuel a day you waste $182.5 a year or the price of the Copper-Clad every four years.

The four walls and air space of the Copper-Clad Range hold heat like a thermos bot. Even the doors are double with a big air space between the two walls.

The sheet of pure copper between the asbestos and outer wall or range body overcomes all internal rust, making the Copper-Clad last years and years longer than any other range.

Add $18.25 to the price of any range for the first year, then $18.25 for the second and so on every year. You can't afford to buy any range but a Copper-Clad—The World's Greatest Range.

Buick Valve-In-Head Success

The Buick Valve-In-Head motor car's sales record each season is a good example of the confidence and prestige that the world's buyers have placed in Buick quality and manufacture.

The famous Buick policies and principles of twenty years ago still remain intact in Buick construction. They have stood the test of years of constant operation. Naturally the quality, endurance and economy which has been so essential to over five hundred thousand Buick owners in the past is now eagerly sought for by thousands of future motor car purchasers.

Today the Buick Valve-In-Head built by the pioneer builders of Valve-In-Head motor cars stand pre-eminently before the entire motor car field as "first choice" among motor car buyers.

When better automobiles are built, Buick will build them.

BANG INTO AUTOMOBILE

Team Hauling Paving Brick at Randolph Unable to Hold Load.

A team hauling a load of paving brick at Randolph, last week turned on the paving and the horses were unable to hold back the load. The wagon ran against the horses' heels and they tried to get away from the contact. The drivers jumped off the wagon because he could not hold the team. They crashed into a line of parked automobiles, damaging several considerably.

The general store belonging to L. E. Taylor at Osmond was robbed to the amount of $1,000 Monday night of last week when men entered the place at the rear door and stole a quantity of valuable piece materials, suits, groceries. The thieves escaped in an automobile and no clue to the robbery has been found.

The library basement at Randolph is to be used for a rest room for the women who come to the city to trade. Convenience will be provided for the comfort of the visitors. Miss Emma Scherwin, county superintendent of Cedar county, has been in the hospital at Hastings the past week, recovering from a hemorrhage of the nose. Overwork is supposed to be the cause and she is planning to go to Chicago soon for a vacation. Miss Scherwin taught in the Wayne school several years ago.

Mrs. Violet of Lagick, when starting a bonfire last week, was quite severely burned when the flames caught fire to her skirts. Her flames quickly enveloped her. Mrs. Snyger, her daughter living next door heard the screams and tore the burning clothes from her mother. Both women suffered burns which were serious but not dangerous.

The explosion of a gas stove in the Bosse home at Wausa last week filled the kitchen with flames and almost caused a fire of considerable size. Before the fire cart could reach the house, a neighbor had turned a garden hose on the flames and extinguished them.

The chausson which began at Wayne tomorrow, opened the same program at Wausa, and will go from Wayne to Wausa.

Rev. A. M. Frykham of the Mission church at Wausa, is planning another fast meeting for the fall. The one conducted there this summer proved of such interest and value that the second one for the year is planned.

The Laurel Oil company lost a barrel of gasoline last week because of a leak in the pipe connecting the car at the station. The pipe was connected early in the afternoon and when the men went to see if the car were emptied, they found the gasoline in the ditch instead of in the tank. A car holds about 10-15 gallons.

Prominent business men of Hubbard and Wausa are conferring with builders of the Washington highway about building that highway through their two towns instead of through Honor, as had been planned.

A pet goat at the home of F. F. Schroeder of this county was rescued by children at the home last week. Mrs. Schroeder came to the rescue and the goat attacked her, jamming its horn into her arm and tearing it badly.

A fire, following an effort to fill an automobile tank with gasoline from a fifty gallon barrel with the aid of a lantern light, caused considerable damage at the Jim Parson farm near Hastings last week. The barrel had been sitting in the hot sun all day and when the plug was removed, the liquid ignited. Bert Parson, who was filling the tank, extinguished the flames on his clothing by rolling on the ground. He suffered several burns and the wash house on the farm was destroyed. Another barrel of gas that happened to be near, was removed in time to save it, although the top bulged out as a result of the heat.

The stock holders of the Knox County Fair association met last week and decided to add some improvements to the fair grounds. A new grand stand, new hog house and an addition to the cattle shed will be the new building operations for this year. The list of entries has been enlarged and every effort will be made to make this the largest fair the county has held. The dates are September 28 to October 4.

An Incentive to Farmers.

Omaha "Drovers" Journal. The life story of two Norwegian lads who borrowed money to come to America, the land of their dreams should prove to be an incentive to the aspiring young farmers of today. It was back in 1878, just 42 years ago, that two brothers, I. C. and Lars Kolsto, 14 and 14 years old, living on the little island of Kormo, just off the coast of Norway, dreamed of the day when they could come to America. Just the day after the boys, their dreams came true.

These two youngsters were forced to borrow money from their uncle, Lars Fosgaard, to make this journey and landed in this country practically penniless. Directly after their arrival in New York, they traveled west to Newhall, a little Norwegian settlement in Benton county, in Iowa. Their entire capital at the time they came to Iowa amounted to one cent piece.

Four years after the two brothers worked as farm hands and at the end of the first year had saved enough money to bring their two brothers over. The two younger brothers were but 12 and 13 years old when they left the old country. A few years after the arrival of the younger boys, the Kolsto brothers had their own land. Today after having sold much of their land these brothers, who were penniless immigrants in the early eighties, own collectively 1,500 acres of Benton county's best land. Just as the story book tales read a romance was injected into the life of I. C. Kolsto, the eldest of the brothers. Back on the little island of Kormo, there lived a family, neighbors and friends of the Kolstos, who had a daughter, an especially good friend of the elder Kolsto boy. Some time after the brothers had come to America, their neighbors also decided to emigrate to America, the land of good and plenty. Whether I. C. had any influence on these people coming to Iowa or not, is another story, but, in adhering to the story book order, it must be said that within a few years after the arrival of the neighbors I. C. and the "girl" were happily married.

Just recently Mrs. Kolsto returned from a few weeks visit with her brothers and sisters, who now reside in Tacoma, Wash. One of her sisters was only 3 years old when Mrs. Kolsto last saw her, some thirty-five years ago.

While conversing with I. C. Kolsto in his fine modern farm home, he called our attention to a large photograph of his father, who he said, has been the dynamic force that has driven them to success in this country. It might seem, but his father was not a farmer, but a school teacher, and that a proponent of a meat shop on the island of Kormo.

Johnson Cattle at $15.75.

Sioux City Live Stock Record. Another Wayne county man was at the Sioux City market this morning looking after the sale of a load of choice ones from that big leading section. This was Oscar Johnson, of Wayne, who had a load of 1,330 pound steers that sold at $15.75. According to Mr. Johnson, he purchased the cattle from Sioux City in February when they weighed 900 pounds and cost $11.30 and they have been fattened on a corn and alfalfa ration.

Eliminate Initiative and incentive and you would destroy ambition and hope, stop the wheels of progress, and waterlog the momentum behind action and accomplishment. That would be socialism.

The article in the current American magazine advising employment of girls over 30 years of age, claiming they are more efficient and satisfactory than those under 30, would be discouraging if the rule were reversed. Every girl has a chick on being over 30 if she lives.

There are a good many compensations in the habit of early rising. The sunrise, dissipating the shadows of night and illumining the world to action, is infinitely more interesting and exhilarating than the sunset which draws the curtain of darkness over tired and drooping souls.

An encouraging sign is found in the increased number of men wanting farm employment. Harvests have been going forward in Kansas and the southern part of Nebraska with very little help. The demands of laborers have accordingly become more reasonable and more tolerable.

We appreciate the reorganization of the Wayne Commercial club which has long been inactive. Wayne has a new club in the state for account of the absence of an alert and active commercial organization. The new body will add momentum to already developed enterprise and social foundation.

The Wayne County Club ground is being now laid in the state for rural beauty. It is ideal for wholesome games and picnics, and is fully equipped for entertainment for people of every class. We can see large possibilities for the Country Club, and we doubt not that they will be gradually realized, to the benefit of the community.

Geo. E. Kenower of the Wisner Chronicle, announces a statement of a damage suit which he brought against the Omaha Bee under its former management. A statement published by the Bee December 28, 1919, charged that Kenower, and the Omaha paper announced on July 14 that an investigation disclosed no foundation for the damaging report. Charges of disloyalty were altogether too freely and carelessly bandied around during the war. Many patriotic people were made the victims of false charges or false insinuations. As in the case of Mr. Kenower, innocent people were often unjustly subjected to distrust and injury.

Notwithstanding high prices, there is plenty of evidence that people are not disgruntled hard in addition to silk shirts and automobiles. We are impressed with the way people take vacations. Our antecedents secured a measure of relief by going on an occasional picnic which lasted a day and cost no more than staying at home. Now people will go to the mountains or lakes and spend a week or more. Some who have no camping facilities at home, spend the entire party at some of the new recreation parks. Many who have gained sufficient competence, spend their southern summer at lake resorts, as lake resorts, the cost goes no ice. The one who does not get away to loaf in the shade of hmit or fish is altogether old fashioned.

People will likely accept in good grace higher freight and passenger rates necessary to meet the rising wages, if they may be guaranteed better service, plenty of cars and quick transportation, and guaranteed strict adherence to timetables and no interruptions in traffic. Many irregularities in service; many inconsistencies in price; many assaults on routine service; many complaints directed to people's burdens, and it will no doubt be a relief to allow railroads increased pay for their employees. They will doubtless be glad to accept any and every step in the adoption of a constructive and progressive policy. The railroads evidently have a very large number of stock and other essentials. They need improved equipment to give improved service. Increased rates will become fully adequate to popular needs.

There is no good reason to believe the Nonpartisan League can serve the farmer or the worker as well as a better for your group, and we will regret the fact that some of our farmers are giving up $18 apiece to become members of an organization which can reasonably promise nothing in return excepting a danger and costly experiment in socialism. The farmer is not the only one who feels the heavy hand of inconsistent values. Many of us are in the same boat. We want relief, and we will get it if we are patient and maintain equanimity and sound judgment. But we cannot get it by following the socialistic wisp of the wisp with which the Nonpartisan League is charged and surrounded. Conditions will be gradually re-adjusted. In due time things will be evaluated anew, and prices that are out of proportion will be properly adjusted. During the last year, many communities have played out of luck. Prices received have been too low in view of prices paid. This year's harvest is due to the fact that organized labor and employing capital have been out of joint, and have been battling for advantage rather than settling down to the business of increasing and distributing production. We all suffer as a consequence. But we will fare better if we bend with energy and conscience to tasks before us rather than take up with aggravated and impractical socialism which has nothing to offer but what is claimed for it—nowhere proved a success. We wish the farmer would not fall for this socialistic dream without full consideration and due reflection. Take time to think it over. Give social and business fairness time to knit together and heal. Sit tight and wait.

Taking Harding's Measure. Chicago Daily News. Determined to take the measure of Gen. G. Harding by the quality of his address accepting the nomination for the presidency betwixt upon his present national republican party is a most unusual task for his well-wishers who have not previously made up their minds about him. The address is a masterpiece of frank and dignified. It meets the issues of the day squarely and effectively. The American people are reassured that they will know in the coming weeks he will have the innumerable opportunities to elaborate his views and speak fully in their justification. Meanwhile he has spread broad and fair a program of constructive, peace making and peace keeping. His address is worthy of close study by his fellow countrymen.

Unhappy and Unfortunate. Dr. Frank Crane writes an unfortunate article which he deserves very sympathy—the man duffer also is compelled to reply constantly to the attacks of his hotels. He must take what the haughty water brings him. He cannot have one lamb chop; he cannot have one because there is "an order." He acquires indigestion, diabetes and nervous prostration because by and by the city official, who is a man of big things, says with their teeth that his is overcharged, snubbed and sneered at by the gentleman from the State of Nebraska. Such is the food. He never gets what he wants when and how he wants it. He goes to an early grave, bullied, taxied, and finally hurried to death, he passes out unwept, unobscured, and unstrung.

The Roosevelt Name. Lincoln Journal. The Roosevelt name is one of the most potent forces in American politics. This is indicated by the fact that the democratic nomination for the vice presidency carries the stamp of all the people who write congratulatory lines on his nomination as progressive republicans. The effect of this name upon the election is a disputed matter, but unless the parties manage to divide more sharply than they have up to this time on leading issues, this may prove to be one of the smartest strokes the demerits have made in the entire campaign.

A WAYNE INTERVIEW
Mrs. Hoshaw Tells Her Experience.
The following brief account of an interview with a Wayne woman nine years ago, and its sequel, will be read with interest by every citizen.
Mrs. I. Hoshaw, Wayne, says: "I was confined to my bed for several weeks with a severe attack of the grip. Upon recovering I found my kidneys were weak, and I was a great sufferer from sharp, darting pains across the small of my back. There was a lameness through my legs, and a terrible bearing-down feeling in my abdomen. My head throbed for hours at a time, and I could not sleep at night. My kidneys were treated for a time by a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. After taking them for a few days the back-ache was greatly relieved and my kidneys were stronger. I continued Doan's faithfully for about three weeks and all symptoms of kidney trouble disappeared and I have not been any recurrence since." (Statement given August 3, 1910).
On May 31, 1920, Mrs. Hoshaw adds: "I was always consider Doan's Kidney Pills a reliable kidney remedy after my experience with them several years ago. I seldom have to take a kidney remedy now. If my back gets lame I take a few Doan's and am soon all right again."

Shutting Down the Mills.
Springfield, Mass., Republican. President Woodrow Wilson's Woolen company is the target for an increasing intensity of fire because he has shut down the mills of the green cone wool. Lawrence as a community is depressed because of the exodus of mill-operators and the diminished purchasing power of those who remain there unemployed. The mayor reflects the feelings of the Lawrence retailers in scoring President Woodrow for advancing the woolen content and their within a few weeks returned—15,000 of his employees entirely out of work. People outside of Lawrence have observed the fantastic economies of that sequence of events, but they have not presumed to say on the evidence at hand that the head of the American Woolen company was far from justified in his action.

Yet it has been observed that the country is not suffering from overproduction in woolens. The prices of clothes do not yet reflect an unmovable surplus of woollen manufactures had been reached that the country was suffering from underproduction and that the best way to make prices fall, light the high cost of living, and stimulate production all along the line. "Get to work" was the cry. Labor was exhausted and speeded up. Now comes a great employer and shuts down.
That the American Woolen company "suffers" from overproduction is an arrangement if it maintains production does not seem probable. It made enormous profits during the war and the post-war period. The company's net annual income increased from $1,600,000 in the pre-war years to nearly $3,000,000 in the year 1919-1920. It has an increase in the return on capital stock from 27 per cent to 149 per cent. In 1917 alone, it netted a profit of $1,000,000. Its net income, including the total of $1,851,155, or return about 23 per cent on the capital stock. The company indeed made so much money that it was able to pay out $1,000,000 for profiting in violation of the Federal law, and the company is so technically that the law forbade profiting by shipping and selling in cloth. The company makes cloth, not clothing.

So far as the public knows, President Wood has not kept his word in the numerous orders which he has drawn, now that he has shut down numerous big mills. It is believed in Lawrence that President Wood is shut down the mills in order to keep up the price of woollen cloth. This does not look as if it is to be heeded. Shutting down the mills does not throw him out of work. He can keep prices up by increasing the psychological advantage of popular favoritism contained in last spring's overalls movement, he will earn his pay. If, also, he can inspire the mill help in the form of a "claim" for wages later on, after a period of idleness, he will be entitled to be known as a captain of industry. Such is the case with President Wood. It is found to any way do him grave injustice. The criticism of him may be too severe even to be made. He has kept his word in the least disaster to the stockholders and certainly with some benefit to the sorely-pressed consumer. The hitting approach to overproduction—if such a thing is now possible—could not harm. Yet the public's primary difficulty in judging him arises from the entire absence of the ordinary signs of industrial depression and from the aggressive preaching of every business leader and college professor of economics that the straight road to follow was in the line of increased rather than decreased production of woollen work, in short, by everybody instead of less work by anybody. If future events prove that Mr. Wood was a superior counter of stormy weather, he may be vindicated in public opinion. For the present, he puzzles folks.

Increases Respect for Harding. Minneapolis Journal. Through long, it (the acceptance address) is repeated that a Wayne woman nine years ago, and its sequel, will be read with interest by every citizen. No one can give it such reading without increased respect for Senator Harding—for his grasp of facts, his sense of humor, his candor of statement, for his appreciation of the dignity and responsibility of the position to which he has been nominated.

Mock Wedding Features Party

One of the most romantic musical events of the season was a mock wedding, which was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Buchanan of Wayne Wednesday evening, July 28, when Miss Vera Ransburg was united in marriage with E. Nelson of Waukegan.

Miss Jane Kandak, a sister of the bride, played Lohrenz's wedding march in the orchestra. The bride marched in. The bride wore a dainty white satin dress and a bridal veil. She carried a shower bouquet of flowers. The bridegroom wore a tuxedo.

The bride marched in at one door and the bridegroom at another. The bride and bridegroom entered the parlor in the center of the room, and the marriage rites were solemnized by the Reverend Nelson.

Later in the evening the newly-wedded couple was sprinkled by a charivari. The bridegroom introduced his bride and graciously responded to the demand for refreshments.

The guests went home proclaiming the wedding a jolly lark, for it was a mock wedding. Mrs. Buewold invited a few girls to take supper and spend the evening with Misses Nelson and Hortense Weneburg, who are staying with her and her sister, Mrs. Vera Ransburg, and the wedding was one of the diversions that crowded the evening with merriment.

The bridesmaids were Misses Jane Randol, Vena Randol, Alice Luberg, Florence Nelson and Jessie Watson.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

From the Wayne Herald for July 27, 1893:

J. T. Bressler returned from Spirit Lake, Ia.
George Devine returned from a visit in Illinois.
Miss Mary Seace returned from a visit at Chicago.

The prospects for the corn crop are better than ever before.

Mrs. R. Phillo will visit for a few days in Blair and Omaha.

What purposes for the veterans has been discovered near Ponca.

A son was born July 20, 1893, to Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gidensleeve.

H. M. Henry had the misfortune to lose a horse. It was overcome by the heat.

Mr. Hunter and daughter were visiting in Oakland last week, at the Andrew Young home.

The play "Hamlet" will be given by the students of the college for their commencement week.

Three hundred twenty-eight students have enrolled in the Nebraska Normal college up to date.

Harvey Mason of Wayne, has been chosen principal of the Winfield school for the coming year.

G. Mines and Rev. Ernst of Wayne, were defeated in a game of tennis by two men from Laurel.

A match game of tennis will be played this week, between Wayne and Wakefield on the grounds south of the opera house.

A stack of oats belonging to Mr. Palmer and Mrs. Barber, living northeast of here, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground.

Lightning struck the homes of Mrs. D. W. Britton and Judge Macfarlin. Shingles were torn from the Martin home and the chimney on the Britton house was damaged.

The family of J. T. Metten had a family reunion, all members being present. Mr. and Mrs. Metten from Omaha and P. H. Wallace of Sioux City, were here from out of town.

A new well at the water works supplies 100,000 gallons of water a day. This well will be connected with the mains and it is thought the supply will be sufficient for the needs of the city.

A farmer came to Wayne and left his horse tied to a post from early morning until evening without feed or water. The marshal took the horse to the stable in the morning and when the owner came to get it, he was severely criticised by the marshal.

At 2 p. m. one day this week a man stepped upon the porch of the Robert Mellor home. As this seemed rather strange for the time of day, Mrs. Mellor's mother asked the intruder what he wanted.

The man replied that he was looking for the depot. She directed him in the direction of the depot and the man hurried away.

From Ponca Journal July 28, 1881:

At a meeting of the town trustees Monday evening, the assessment rolls revealed the fact that the total assessable property in the corporation is valued at $95,176.70 and on this a levy was made of six mills for general purposes, and two mills for street, fuel, and a total levy for town purposes of eight mills.

Speaking of the fact that the cemetery yet remains in a forlorn, unkempt, dilapidated condition, and the equine ground of cattle and horses, and speaking also of the new town ordinance whereby our marshal is required to furnish a pound to keep vagrant cattle, thought strikes us, viz: Would it not be a good plan to utilize the cemetery by turning it into a town pound?

Would it not be a most prudent and economical thing to do? It would save buying land for a pound. By that means also, a good strong fence would be built around the cemetery, and it is not liable to get fenced in any other way. Such a course would not hurt the cemetery for the ground is already tramped down hard by the heads that have frequented it for the past three months, nor would any more monuments be overthrown, because all the damage in that respect that cattle could do has already been done.

And it shall come to pass that in those days the possessor of kind shall wake from his slumber and find his pet heifer missing. Then straightway will he tie himself into the pound, and there within the limbo of the last shibboleth his heifer and she will know him not, but giveth her cud and whisketh her tail in contentment; for verily she is a wise heifer and in the depths of her understanding knoweth that it is good to be there, where she can do no damage to gardens or sidewalks, and she doeth one ope and meditateth about the sharpness of the dog's teeth which causeth her to wear a stub-tail. And then he that owneth king will wax wrath and say pretty things about the scribes and law-givers. After he has eased his conscience by blowing off thirty pounds of sweet savings, he will produce shekels to the amount of one dollar and deposit with the pound-master. Then he will depart. And the next night he will put one end of a rope about the horns of his heifer and tie the other end to a post. Yea, verily.

For Highest Possible Quality at Lowest Possible Price

After smoking your first Spur, you might say "just right," "immense" or "great"—means the same thing. Means: "There was room at the top for a cigarette that can refresh a tired and much tried taste. And Spur's that cigarette."

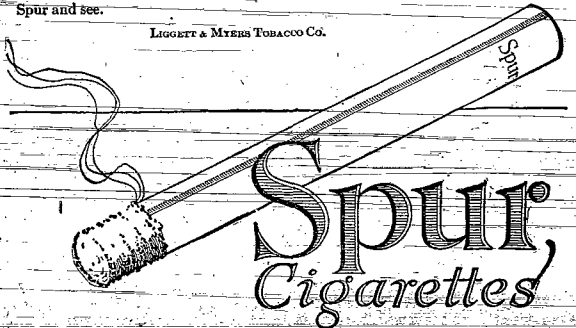

In the new Spur blend you find:
The richness of the full-bodied Oriental leaf tempered by the mildness and fragrance of Burley and other choice home-grown tobaccos. It's a happy blend that brings out to the full that good tobacco taste.

And what's more! Satiny imported paper, crimped, not pasted—makes an easier-drawing, slower-burning cigarette. A mighty neat brown and silver package, with triple wrapping, keeps Spurs fresh and fragrant. Just smoke a Spur and see.

If you order your telephone moved next week soon may be told to expect a delay in getting it done.

Nearly half a million other telephone users in the United States will move their telephones this month, too. And for all of them many carloads of wire and other materials will be needed.

In this emergency it will be greatly appreciated if you will order the least possible changes in your telephone equipment. And when you need to have something done please let us know as far in advance as possible.

UNCLE WALT THE POET PHILOSOPHER

THE SUMMER RESORT.
All the folks I see around, chasing by me day by day, are on sport and pleasure bound, all they have to do is play. There's a great time to be had, and some men are said to work, one as tiller of the soil, one as blacksmith, one as clerk; I have heard of honest, sweet, but I know not what it is; play is here the only bet, and the autos round me whiz. I have heard of girls who stich through the weary sweatshop day, but I'm with the idle rich, and such things seem far away. Is there trouble anywhere? Are there cupboards bare and empty? Here one thing is causing care—it's the dearth of gasoline. Oh, I leap upon the beach, when the night rack's rolling brown and white, and I'm in town. And I see the legs ached, hiding crags and tors and caissons; and some far-off mothers bend over sick and weeping babies. Is there trouble on the land? Is there sorrow on the sea? Such things don't you understand, come within a mile of me. For I'm one who has the price, and I watch the sealds rest, drinking near beer off the ice, eating pie at every meal.

LANG SYNE.
When we grow old we all look back with longing o'er the traveled track, to days of sold lang syne; and we inform the younger men that everything was better then, yea, doubly smother and fine. I'm having better times today than in the dim years far away, when I was always broke; I'm living now in Easy street, but every morning I repeat the old gen's harmless-joke: "When I was young," my yarus begin; then all was gold that now is tin, and backs were precious stones; then orchids grew on all our lawns; and guinea hens and geese were swans, and trees grew silver bones. When I was young my path was steep and often I sat down to weep and wish for better times; I slaved away at bitter tasks, and carried kegs of nails and casks, to earn some meagre dimes. I worked some eighteen hours a day on farms composed of rocks and clay, I wrought with rusty tools, and I swung an ax, and I broke a head, and I breaking miles of prairie sod. I pushed two parrelled mules. I wouldn't do the old time chores for all the wealth the miser pours into his bag at night, but when I'd break some hearer's hearts, "When I was young," the story starts, "the world was gay and bright."

SUGAR
The price of sugar's truly vicious—we're rationed at the place I board; the little sacks the grocers dish up cost more than tolls can afford. They give us many a far-fetched reason why sugar calls for so much kaler, but little does their logic season our coffee, tea, or home brewed ale. A lot of reasons will not sweeten the pies on which the workers feed, and so the pastry must be eaten so sour it makes one's stomach ache. And the reasons are but joshing, sort forth to cheer us when we dine; they'd all lose color in the washing, and slide it hang upon the line. Some fat old skates are profiteering, so we lack sugar at our meals, and from our anguish they are clearing up the streets with horse-dung and wheels. Some human hogs are busy raking unholy profits to their trough, while we our bitter drinks are taking, and adding where we'll all get off. My aunts through all the days are weeping, my nieces fill the house with wails; they know the tea, which now is steeping, will taste like tar and rusty nails. When will this carnival of shearing the helpless victims have an end? When will the swine now profiteering to some stone tooboth humbly wend?

AFTER CONVENTIONS
Historic now the great conventions, at which our toghorn statesmen raved; both parties reck of those intentions—"with" which the Hades' streets are paved. Both parties frown on those abuses which make our lives one long ordeal, and both would cook the snuffi gooses of profilers who go and see. I listened to the keynote speeches, applauded when the stunts were done; "of all the pebbles on our shoubling I mean," they staccato take the bun." I'm glad our woes will soon be over, all finished on election day; oh, then we'll wade through in over and raise our arms hurroo, hurra! Both parties give their sacred promise to cure all evils they can reach; for one, I am no doubting. They promise to do, and keynote speech. When two great parties are determined to make the world a better place, so seraphim, bewinged and crowned, might think its aspect no disgrace, to them I drink two brimming beakers of tanglefoot (a home-made brew); I toast the parties and their promises, and know just what they plan to do.

BOOKS
I sit me down in sylvan nooks and read about a million books, of every initial kind, and some are tales of Nick, the Sleuth, and some are loaded down with truth, and they improve my mind. I read all kinds of printed junk, the good and the nasty, and men who see me reading stop predict that if I do not stop, my head will go askew. All kinds of books I buy and hoard, and I'm the guy who's never bored to whom no days seem long; I see my neighbor's groan and fawn, and wish the weary hours were gone, the hours that seem all wrong. I see impatient people go to dance, to concert or to show to pass the day; and I sit happily at home and read some large and mildewed tome that makes my spirit gay. And on the hot and stormy night I have at hand the rare delights that never stale or pall; I walk with grand old legends and bards through cloisters in the castle walls, whose sounds the herald's call. "Amusement" is the modern cry; "let us be entertained or die," the maudlin millions plead; but don't see for faded shows, for ragtime noise, or things like those, for I have learned to read.

SUMMER HEAT.
Beneath the sun the victim cringes, and mutters, as he mops his face, "It's hotter than the seven hings—such weather is a rank disgrace." He should in slye smile and suffer, recalling that the sizzling heat is quite a godsend to the duffer who's raising corn and fruits, and getting a big crop out just now that sears and blisters, and burns the whiskers from his dome, will bring the farmers and their sisters new clothes when comes the Harvest Home. So that the farmers raise their carrots, what matters it if folks in town are baking in their stuffy garrets, until both sides are crisp and brown? The heat is good for eye or barley, or Lima beans, or peas or straw, and when I see folks getting smother, I think there ought to be a law. "It's hotter than the gates of Hades," remarks the thoughtful, less-knowing, regardless of the passing ladies, who are so shocked they almost swoon. He cares no hoot for distant grangers, or for the circumstantials, who are proud that heat is growing for their manglers the hay that makes the world go round. And still the sun rolls on and sings the whiskers from complaining man; "It's hotter than the seven hings," he wails, and plies his palmful fan.

The "Z" Lives a Long and Useful Life

"Z" engine endurance is proverbial—it's a lifetime engine. That's because every part is liable to wear it is case hardened. Push rod rollers—valve stems and cams—contact parts throughout—are made immensely hard by heat treatment. They will not wear—nor will they break.

The "Z" has an extra large crankshaft. Not one has ever broken. All "Z" bearings are die cast and removable. Every "Z" part so carefully made that it is absolutely interchangeable. Ample lubrication—positive well-balanced, correct mechanical design—help make the "Z" the life long farm engine. On the job—dependable—powerful—always.

Other "Z" features are: Run on kerosene; coat oil; tops as well as gasoline; built-in Bosch high tension oscillating magnetos more than rated power; every part interchangeable; clean-cut, efficient design.

What the Nation Desires.
Kansas City Times: The nation is looking for a return of government to its constitutional forms, without autocracy, with a strong cabinet and close cooperation between the legislative and executive branches. It is hoping for a new foreign policy which while not ignoring America's obligations to the world, will involve the United States in entangling alliances. It is expecting economy and efficiency in administration and a revision of taxation. It is turning for these reforms to the republican party, because it has failed to get them from the democratic.

AGRICULTURE NOTES

Experts Aid in War on Rats.
The health authorities of the city of Omaha are assisting the city of the biological survey of the United States department of agriculture in planning the details of a campaign to be waged against rats. The methods of poisoning and trapping the animals recommended by the department's men who have specialized in the work will be followed very largely. The city has been divided into districts, in each of which a door-to-door campaign will be made to bring home to all occupants of houses, factories, stores, etc., the importance of cooperating in this important movement.

More Sugar for You.
People who have sold peddled the sugar bowl for six years may be interested in the sugar bowl (conditions on July 1) provided an increase in next fall's sugar production in the United States - an increase amounting to about 333,000 tons, or enough to load a train of freight cars seventy or seventy-five miles long, allowing forty tons per car. This extra crop is equal to more than twenty-two pounds of sugar for every man, woman and child within the United States and the rest of the world. There is more than half a million acres of sugar cane this year, about half of which is intended for sugar and the other half for molasses. By deducting considerable amount of planting the next crop. There is a substantial increase in acreage over last year's crop of 1,500,000 acres, nearly all the cane sugar of the United States is made. The growing condition of the cane has started the number of acres planted last year but considerably under the average for the past five years. The department of agriculture, which has started a number of expeditions looking toward saving this country self-sustaining from a sugar standpoint, is co-operating with other agencies in the protection of insects and disease and otherwise promoting the production and utilization of a bumper sugar crop.

Business Remains Dull.

Sloux City Journal: "There is little change in business conditions from those of the previous week. A spirit of reticence prevails from retailer to manufacturer, which, compared with other weeks and with corresponding weeks of other years, is eloquent of conservatism. There is much technical talk about retail prices having reached the apex and the setting in of the recession, but the technical theories are not supported by facts. The railway labor board wage award means that the cost of living will advance sufficiently to cover that amount. The total of the increase in wages will be added to freight and passenger traffic costs, and the people who buy anything hauled by rail must pay the proportionate increase, for it will be passed down the line to the ultimate consumer. The increase ought not to add anything to big wages in other occupations in the contentions of the railroad employes and the findings of the tariff increase committee, for the former contends and the latter holds that the increase only puts the railroad wages on a par with the increased cost of living.

There is no doubt about declines in primary prices in some commodities, notably textiles, hides and leathers, though the decline is not perceptible in retail trade, except that retail stocks purchased at higher prices are being depleted and few orders placed. Merchants who a few weeks ago had their tables piled high with and their cases crammed full of goods now have only a few articles on display. If production at or near the apex, the price of wool has slumped until the former reductions in prices would come as the result of a large supply and a small demand. But producing cost, yet it was contended that the coming example of which increased cost of clothing originally is the American Woollen company, was caused by the absorption of the acreage closing down so that production would supply by the government and is being reduced to head of the accumulation of supplies and keep it available prices for public consumption. With the prices of clothing financially the country needs more capital and less credit. Deflation is coming slowly and only because of maturing rediscount loans which are not renewed. The crops outlook is good unless rust reduces the spring wheat prospect below the usual damage from that cause. The marketing of the crop will reduce annual made to plant and harvest and the result will be reflected in the betterment of the financial situation.

Women Earn $4246 for Church. Members of the Home Department of the Methodist church held a cake and ice cream social at the home of Mrs. Saturday, and cleared $4246 for the benefit of the department. Each member received to earn $4 to help pay for the decoration of the church and these women earned their sum in this way. Those who served at the party were: Mrs. Bert Lewis, Mrs. I. Brown, Mrs. H. S. Masses, Mrs. Frank Perrin, Mrs. Art Auker, Mrs. E. W. Jarnell, Miss Edith and Miss Josephine Carter, Mrs. Howard Tidrick, Mrs. George Lewis and Mrs. Irene Keiffer.

Car Supply Sufficient. Plenty of stock cars are being received at Winside now to supply all of the shippers in the vicinity. It is expected that later in the fall grain cars will be a little scarce in this part of the state because of the demand for these in Kansas and South Dakota. The railroad has received word that the grain crop in Kansas is so large that at the present rate of moving shipments, they will take two years to get out the supply. For this reason, the best cars for shipping wheat will be sent here to early distribution.

SOCIAL. O. E. S. Meeting. The regular meeting of the Order of the Eastern Star was held Monday evening. Refreshments were served after the business session. Aid Society Social. The Aid Society of the Grace Methodist church near Winside, held a social Wednesday evening. Each person was to bring one penny for each year of his age.

Chiropractic Is Not a Fad

It makes no claims to be a panacea for all the ills of mankind.

But it is a curative science that goes to the cause of disease, and by removing the cause, makes you well.

This is not a wild unsupported statement. It is a fact that is attested to by thousands, among them many of your own friends.

Statistics show that eighty-five per cent of all chronic cases, and ninety-five per cent of all acute cases yield to Chiropractic.

Why not investigate it for yourself? Ask about it. Consult a Chiropractor.

The principle is so logical and sound and the results achieved so undeniable, that your own common sense will be your best guide.

Firestone

Sales of this tire have increased 96% the first six months of this year, proving the balanced tire, the Firestone 3 1/2 has accomplished what Firestone 3 has accomplished for it, more mileage, greater economy, greater comfort, which has been passed on to the public at low cost—most miles per dollar.

Balanced! That means to you more than mere thickness of tread, greater air capacity, more plies of fabric, greater cushioning, or the gauge of the sidewall. It means that all component parts of the Firestone 3 1/2 are scientifically balanced by specialists who have put years of study and practice into a single purpose—to meet your demand in a small car tire. You can now have all four tires on your car give uniform service if they are Firestone.
