BARGAIN DAY IS SUCCESS

Some Dealers Fell Short of Supplies to Satisfy Demand.

The bargains offered by Wayne dealers from Saturday through today in last week's Herald, were usually taken advantage of, and the experience proved the power of advertising. The success of the day was due to the fact that the goods were sold in quantities much larger than those things immediately need and clearly understood as bargains. Many dealers who had a very few of the goods were left with a lot of them.

THE EAGLE IN TWO COUNTIES.

From the Wayne Herald for August 22, 1884:
The heaviest rain of the season fell this week.
The carpenters have about finished the Briton building.
The corn crop will be out of danger of frost in two weeks.
The lumber for the new town hall is now here and will soon be raised.
A daughter was born August 20, 1884, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gilette.
The contract for the new school building at Wakefield was awarded for $4,240.

Henry Warner traded his livery barn to Frank Gilette for land in this county.
The Presbyterians of Wakefield, will lay the corner stone of their church next week.
Ed Reynolds of Clayton, Iowa, has purchased a farm in this county and will move here.
The city council is wrestling with the question of whether or not the city can afford a market.
The first annual Sunday school convention of Wayne county is being held at the Presbyterian church here.

A large owl flew about town one day this week and although many shot at it, the bird escaped uninjured.
O. E. Crane, A. T. Chapin and James Britton went to Columbus as delegates to the congressional convention.

Henry Ley returned from a business trip to Minneapolis. Mrs. Ley, who had been there visiting, returned also.
George White of Wakefield, has received the republican nomination for state representative from Dixon county.

D. C. Patterson has made his friends presents of souvenirs from Europe. He just returned from his trip there.

Union temperance meetings will be held at the Baptist church. Rev. G. M. Lodge will have charge of preaching.

A large camp meeting is being held at Scott's grove and many people from Dixon, Dakota and Wayne counties are attending.

H. A. Moore has sold his stock of goods to Whittin & Woolston of Marshalltown, Iowa, and will give possession of the store to them.
The young ladies' club gave a party at the E. R. Chace and D. Wise homes for their gentlemen friends and guests on Monday evening and refreshments at Slater's restaurant.

From Ponca Journal August 25, 1881:

In the evening look into the northwestern part of the heavens and see the latest new comet. It does not spread as tremendous a tail as did the comet of a few weeks ago, but it makes quite a respectable celestial show and gives promise of a big, healthy growth in the near future.

A gentleman who came from the Logan valley recently makes the statement that during this season there have been fifty-seven farms opened up in that valley, eight in Dixon county and eight in Wayne and on nearly every one of which new houses have been built. And still the good work goes on. A party of railroad surveyors and engineers commenced on this side of the cut at the summit, and there ran a preliminary line westward towards Martinsburg. In connection with this rumor it is stated that the railroad company has in the past two weeks bought several hundred acres of land about six miles west from Martinsburg. With the exception of running a line from the summit we have not heard. Possibly it is designed to build a road on that route through the county, in which case the purchase of a large body of land west of Martinsburg would indicate the building up of a new railroad town. It will show what all these things mean.

It seems as natural for jealousy to exist between two or more of a grade, as it is for sparks to fly upward. Thus, our transcendent literary geniuses, Father Martin, Poet Mattison and Poet Rockwell, do not think much of each other. For instance, Father Martin deems the able effusions of our two poets Rockwell and Mattison as frivolous and flat in the extreme. Many perhaps indeed a large majority, will agree with him, yet we hope a respectable minority at least, will coincide in the belief that the poetical efforts of those poets are literary gems. Again, the poets Mattison and Rockwell look with equal aversion on the worthy and busy romantic prose rhapsodies of Father Martin. They also regard with unutterable scorn the poetry of each other. The poetry of both are good and interlinked in an immortal chain with the "conflict" of Father Martin; will descend to remote posterity as an evidence of the literary productions of this age.

Lenine and Trotsky's Plans.
Kansas City Times. It may be that Lenine and Trotsky have plans all made to conquer the world, but it is much more probable that they make their plans only a week in advance, subject to change without notice.

Quite Likely.
Mitchell Republican: It probably will take Ponca longer to get out of the fall than it did to get rich.

The Greatest Poet.
Bixby in Lincoln Journal: A Nebraska man of high literary attainment pays this deserved tribute to the most distinguished living poet of the western world:
"Again a sign of recognition has come to the farmer-poet in whom well-earned Nebraska honors have much pride John G. Neihardt. He has been awarded the prize of $500 given by the poetry society for the most notable volume of verse produced by an American in 1919. The award is granted to 'The Song of Three Friends,' notice of which appeared in the Journal in January of the current year. The volume was enthusiastically received by American critics generally, and was highly spoken of in England. It is a companion-piece to the 'Song of Hugh Glass,' published in 1914 and later edited for use in schools. Both volumes celebrate the conquest of the trans-Missouri region in the early decades of the Nineteenth century. Mr. Neihardt is now working on the third poem of the series, which will be entitled 'The Song of the Indian Wars.' More and more the discernment of those students of literature who early fore-forecast that Mr. Neihardt was to be known as the epic poet of this generation is being vindicated by the splendid achievement of his sustained endeavor. The university of Nebraska has done well, not only in awarding this distinguished son of the state the degree of literature doctor, but in listing his two great poems among the classics recommended for study in our schools."

Suggestions of Autumn.
Hartington Herald: The suggestions of Autumn are already beginning to manifest themselves. The vegetation is becoming sluggish, vegetation is beginning to fade, the leaves are commencing to turn, the summer flowers are putting on their brightest hues, the plants are preparing to scatter their seed for another season, the hillside is dotted with shocks of grain, the birds no longer fill the trees with song and a thousand other infallible signs point unmistakably to the passing of summer and the approach of fall. One regrets to see the long summer days on the wane, but the march of the seasons is inexorable, and summer follows spring and fall, summer with unerring precision.

Fremont's Population.
Fremont, Neb., Aug. 21.—After creating more excitement in Fremont than would have resulted from a visitation of a Los Angeles earthquake by its announcement Thursday that the 1920 population of the city was 7,570, a decrease of 1,148 or more than 13 percent, the United States census bureau has announced that the 1920 population of Fremont is 6,422, an error of exactly 2,000 persons. The census bureau yesterday announced the corrected 1920 population as 9,570, an increase of 852 since the 1910 census, or 9.8 percent.

 might as well accept results quietly

SUGAR ON THE TOBAGAN.
 Sugar speculators are losing their grip on the sugar market and their plan to corner the supply and make a million dollars from it. It is sugar supplies to send the prices up 25 to 30 cents a pound to the consumer every owner of raw sugar began dumping the supply on the market. These speculators had not held. Serbia rationed the people and sent large shipments to the United States—Java in all its available stocks.

 The speculators had to take these offerings or have the price fall because of the increase in supplies.
 They attempted to hold the market on the commodity. But the proposition became too large as the new crop approached maturity. They could not unload as fast as they anticipated, because housewives refused to buy sugar. The canning and preserving season was expected to yield a rich harvest to the speculators. But the canning and preserving were so reduced that they consumed only a fraction of what the speculators had expected. Now they have their stocks on hands, bought at high prices to maintain their corner, and the new crop is coming in.
 The people are willing for them to get relief in bankruptcy and every one that goes to the wall because of this high-handed attempt to rob the public in the price of sugar will bring tears of joy to the eyes of the consumers. The speculators doled out their supplies so that consumers were limited in their purchases.
 Now these speculators want the government to save them from 1933 in the surplus they wish to dump on the public. It is hoped the price will drop to 5 cents and that every sagacious speculator will become a ban-rupt.

There are two types of politicians:
 those who are in it for the money and those who like to hear themselves talk.

A man who doesn't own an automobile is very apt to remark that most of those who do own them can't afford to run them.

An encouraging sign that indicates the American people are becoming intelligent in politics is that they have just about ceased chattering at political meetings.

The man who has no friends suffers almost as much as the man who has friends. Dr. Joe Parker, a famous preacher, wrote that "a man who has no friends will suffer."
 If you want to get even with your enemy, treat him with kindly consideration. He wants you to do something mean to him, so he can swat you again.

Notice on Settlement of Account.
 On reading the petition of Wilcox county, Nebraska, of Wayne State of Nebraska, Wayne County, ss.

What is the big idea?

MEN have all kinds of reasons for liking Spur Cigarettes. Some like them because they're mighty classy-looking—that brown-and-silver package is an eye-winner. Some like them because the paper is crimped—no paste to taste. Some like them because they're a full-packed cigarette—nothing "skinny" about them. Some like Spur because they're twenty for twenty cents—the rock-bottom price for the highest possible quality.

But what they all shout about and pass along is that they have found at last a cigarette with that good old tobacco taste that lingers in the memory. Yes, sir, you can sure taste the good Oriental and home-grown tobaccos—and that's the big idea back of Spur Cigarettes.

Now, folks, just don't wait, but try a package of Spur Cigarettes today. It's not as though you were buying a limousine. And if you do find in Spur the cigarette you have been wanting—something that just strikes the spot—it will be the best buy you've made since Hector was a pup.

TRUCK DAMAGED BY TRAIN

P. W. Greenwald Escapes Injuries in Collision Saturday.

P. W. Greenwald narrowly escaped death or injury Saturday evening when the truck he was driving collided with the 6:30 p. m. passenger train for North at the depot railroad crossing here. Greenwald was driving a Maxwell truck loaded with shelled corn. He threw on the brakes, a little too late, and underestimated its speed and decided to cross the tracks. Before reaching them he changed his mind and threw on the brakes, a little too late. He says he was not on the tracks, but so near them that the train hit him.

Will Grow Kanred Wheat.

Drivers Journal - Stockman: "Kanred wheat will be grown quite extensively in Platte county this next year," declared Earl Ernst of Columbus, Neb., while in Omaha with a couple cars of cattle. "The farmers in my neighborhood have gotten together and placed an order for two cars of Kanred to be used for seed next season."

Kanred Growers Satisfied.

"Those men who did grow Kanred in my neighborhood this year met with the best success and are enthusiastic over this new strain of wheat. Their yields were much higher and the wheat weighed out a good deal heavier to the bushel. Also, the stand was not decreased by the ravages of smut and rust as were those of the kashow and Turkey Red fields."

Feeds Cattle.

In addition to raising crops, the raising and feed of live stock comes in for a great share of attention on the Ernst farm of 556 acres. He has been raising Shorthorn cattle for market purposes for a number of years. After several years of feeding Mr. Ernst has developed a system of handling his stock, which, though he does not claim to be in-

Price Fixing
Farmer and Breeder (Sioux City): In view of the reduced acreage and heavy export demand, wheat will likely go to $4 or $5 a bushel next year, the opinion expressed by grain experts. This item brings out the comment of a prominent newspaper that "the situation is so serious that the government should take the authority of the United States grain corporation for another year is suggested as a means of keeping the wheat within the country."

An embargo on foreign shipments has also been offered as a solution by those who are interested in keeping wheat within reasonable bounds.

We feel that it is time to speak plainly on the matter of price regulation, particularly so as the farmer this far has been the victim of such regulatory practices.

It is useless to try to thwart natural economic laws by legislation and commissions. The law of supply and demand should have full sway. In the case of wheat it operates this year lessened acreage because the price was regulated on a level too low for profit.

Government price fixing interferes with the law of supply and demand and disturbs the equilibrium established by this law. The wheat price is higher than that established by the operation of the natural law, it is unjust to the consumer; if it is less, it is unjust to the producer.

We are opposed to arbitrary price fixing on principle and insist that if the government fixes the price of any essential commodity, it should at the same time fix the prices of all other essential commodities.

The application of price fixing in an effort to reduce the cost of living has worked against the gain class without giving the promised relief to the consumer. This has resulted in reduced production of wheat, pork, beef, and other farm products so that today the country faces a relative food shortage that only aggravates the "old trouble" and promises to make the high cost of living a continuous phenomenon.

To compel any group of citizens to sell their products in a regulated market, and to buy their supplies and necessities in an unregulated market is an unjust and dangerous discrimination. It is unjust because it favors one class at the expense of another; it is dangerous because it will not furnish the anticipated relief and next year the nation will simply face the problem of food shortage in a more serious form.

The same law applies to the arbitrary regulations of wages. Wages can not be paid unless they are earned. One of the worst fallacies that has arisen out of the war-writer is the notion of certain laborers that every man is entitled to a good living if he spends but eight hours at the job, regardless of the kind and amount of work he accomplishes. Legislators and voters, employers and workers, should keep in mind the supremacy of the economic law.

Co-Operation is Important.
Lincoln Trade Review: The railroads are meeting with some increase in efficiency, the seemingly impossible task of moving all the tonnage offered for transportation in the state.

The wheat crop, equal to many years, is being up in town elevators and in temporary bins on the farm. Records of what movement week by week to date indicate almost a two-year period necessary to moving all stocks, but this condition is improving day by day.

Railroad men, long familiar with seasonal transportation problems, admit that the impossible had been accomplished should all transportation needs, as they come up, be cared for without congestion so serious as to destroy what efficiency has been attained.

The wheat movement is only a portion of the problem. The movement of cattle and sheep from the northwest to new winter ranges and stores of fuel now greatly inadequate in the state must be added to current now and cold weather. The corn crop, now certain to be bumper one, will be on its way to a great while and when ready to be moved will find that probably only a dent has been made in the great wheat stocks and with coal transportation at is very height.

The Class One railroads have already, through ability to market their short-time traffic, ordered the equipment market and placed large orders for both rolling stock and motive equipment. The rate increase will enable all roads to eventually purchase the much needed equipment and twelve months hence, in all likelihood, very tangible results will be obtained from this increase in equipment.

Immediate relief, however, cannot be expected from this source. The one problem at present is to increase the roads' efficiency without the equipment there is at hand. It is the slogan of the day.

Shippers can render an untold service at this time. Attention given to the loading of cars to capacity, the proper packing of all small shipments and the speeding up of both the loading and unloading of cars will be sure to increase the daily carrying capacity of each car and result in the moving of that much more tonnage. Co-operation between the shippers and the railroads is the slogan of the day.

SALVATION ARMY BRANCH

Purpose to Cooperate in Doing Local Welfare Work.

For the purpose of cooperating in the care of local conditions where correction is necessary, a formal connection with the Salvation Army has been made in the form of a Salvation Army County Advisory Board. This board will first make a study of local conditions in the county which will be sent to headquarters and taken up there with a view to taking corrective measures.

Through the advisory board the services of the personnel of the army will be quickly available to the county when they are needed and the institutions of the army will be more easily accessible. The connection will be of great benefit to the county in that it will be easy to make use of the maternity and rescue homes, the institutions for girls and boys who are homeless or who are neglected at home, and all the other institutions which the army now has throughout the country.

The members of the Wayne County Advisory board are: D. E. Brainard, president; F. S. Berry, vice president; Fred Phillips, treasurer; J. R. Kenyon, secretary; Judge J. M. Cherry, Mayor; J. H. Kemp, A. R. Davis, Dr. C. T. Ingham, U. S. Conn. E. O. Gardner and E. W. Hess.

Other members of this board will be appointed in all the towns throughout the county.

TRIP STOPS AT ST. LOUIS

Rev. J. W. Beard and Francis Jones Interrupted in Journey.

Rev. John W. Beard and Francis Jones who were bound for New Orleans in a canoe, are interrupting in their trip at St. Louis by word that one of Mr. Beard's young sons would have to undergo an operation. Mrs. B. Beard and children are spending their vacation with relatives in Sioux City. Mr. Beard immediately left for Sioux City and Francis Jones came home.

The distance from Sioux City to St. Louis by river is about 1,300 miles. The experience of roughing it proved a most profitable appetite and rugged health. The travelers sold their canoe at St. Louis.

AGRICULTURE NOTES.

Most Intense Rainfall on Record.

Two and one-half inches of rainfall in three inches.

A reproduction of the rain gauge register showing that downpour—a record made in 1911 and still recognized by the weather bureau. Unsettled States department of agriculture as the most intense rainfall of which it has data appears in the current number of the National Weather Review, published by the weather bureau. The illustration accompanies a technical discussion of rain and hail in the Central Zone. This heavy fall of rain occurred at Porto Bello in the Canal Zone.

Not alone in the Canal Zone but at 207 points in the United States the weather bureau maintains observation stations at which accurate records are kept of rainfall, snowfall, temperature, etc., so that any person interested can ascertain accurately any section of the country by applying to the weather bureau. Commercial and scientific organizations, as well as farmers and growers, are interested in the bureau for information of this sort.

Million New Cars Add to Road

That the present interest in the construction of new highways should not divert attention from properly maintaining highways already improved is a point which the bureau of public roads, United States department of Agriculture, has had occasion to emphasize many times in recent months, particularly in view of the enormous increase in motor vehicle traffic which is taking place. The bureau recently completed a compilation of statistics from all the states of the Union showing that there were a total of 7,265,446 registered motor cars (including motor cycles and trucks) in the United States in 1919. This is an increase of 23 per cent, or 1,488,829 motor cars over 1918. Such figures indicate that the country's highways are being used far more than in the past. It is pointed out in consequence and additional attention must be given to the repair problem. The increase in the number of cars for 1919 over 1918 is about 10 per cent more cars than the total number registered in the entire United States for 1913.

Additional attention to roads and streets has, of course, been accompanied by additional revenue paid to state and local governments in the form of license fees which in many states are devoted to highway needs. The registration and license fees for automobiles, trucks and motor cycles in use in 1919 totaled $64,697,255.58—an increase of 20 per cent over 1918. The total revenues for New York in 1919 over the past year were about double the revenues received for all motor vehicle registrations and licenses in the entire United States in 1912.

Certain of the states, notably Maryland, have experienced difficulty in securing road-building materials owing to labor shortage.

Thorough shaking loosens every bit of grit as The Hoover lifts the rug from the floor and gently "beats" it. The powerful suction withdraws all of the dirt. Then a swiftly revolving brush straightens the velvety nap and restores the original beautiful colors, thus prolonging rug life.

After you have seen it operate, you will wonder why you had not ordered a Hoover sooner.

hampered transportation facilities. Merchants had had to make a special appeal to the interstate commerce commission for aid in getting enough material shipped in to properly care for road repairs.

Business Conservative.

Sioux City Journal. No one element in trade and business during the last week can be singled out as conclusive evidence of an increased conservative tendency. But groups of elements and trade as a whole certainly make clear the fact that the reaction against high prices and inflation is determined and permanent. The tendency to unload stocks, bought at high prices, through price cutting sales continues throughout the country. Most of these stocks cannot now be turned for more than a year prior similar stocks at like prices moved rapidly while lower priced ones remained on the shelves. If there were doubt as to the indication the cessation of the orgy of extravagance which sent prices skyward, this evidence would be convincing. Other cities show like trends in the market.

Prices of new stocks for forward seasons are considerably lower than those of similar old ones. A local market naturally is overstocked with overcasts at from $33.75 to $66.75. Last season such costs would have been at least double these quotations. Other cities show like trends. Of course the apparel trade indicates a greater slump in prices than any other line. But the effects of reduced new fashions will be reflected in others.

The government report of a decline of approximately 1 per cent in the price of food supplies does not mean much. The reduction is the result of the decline in green vegetable with which the midsummer term of license fees which in many states are devoted to highway needs. The registration and license fees for automobiles, trucks and motor cycles in use in 1919 totaled $64,697,255.58—an increase of 20 per cent over 1918. The total revenues for New York in 1919 over the past year were about double the revenues received for all motor vehicle registrations and licenses in the entire United States in 1912.

fore placing future orders. Money remains scarce and interest rates high. These conditions have caused many merchants to reduce the amount of stocks carried and to keep more within their own financial resources.

FORDSON

Trade Mark

Farm Tractor

The Fordson cuts the cost of preparing land almost to half of what it costs with horses. But even more important is the fact that the Fordson saves from thirty to fifty per cent of the farmer's time. And time saved—getting fields in shape to plant in the proper season—getting things done when they should be done—means money to the farmer. Besides it solves the labor problem.

As ever, the machine-way is proving more efficient, faster, and easier than the old hand-way. In the factory the machine increases production, saves labor—produces more at less cost. And that is what the Fordson does on the farm. The Fordson way is the machine way of farming. Besides, it solves the labor problem.

The Fordson's first cost is the lowest in the market; and the after or operating cost is lowest. It is a compact, easily handled tractor, backed by the greatest tractor service organization in the United States.

We are Fordson dealers. Not only do we sell Fordson tractors, but we carry a stock of Fordson parts and employ Fordson mechanics to help the farmers get the best results from the Fordson.
