Has Your Range Started to Rust Out?

If it has, guard against rust in the future by buying a Copper-Clad.

Moisture is the great enemy of iron and steel. Unless protected from dampness any kind of sheet iron and every kind of steel will rust.

Range bodies—with one exception—rust out from the inside because the sweaty asbestos lining is laid flat against the outer wall. With one exception the walls of all ranges are of three-ply construction. They have an inner wall, a layer of asbestos, then the outer wall.

Every time a fire is built in the range, the asbestos sweats and the moisture is forced against the outer wall. It is only a matter of a few years before the rust comes through. Then the range must be scrapped.

The one exception is the Copper-Clad Carhart Hardware Co.

In the Copper-Clad range the outside wall is protected by pure sheet copper. This copper is placed between all asbestos and the range outer wall. When the asbestos sweats in a Copper-Clad the moisture gathers on the Copper—and copper cannot rust. The Copper-Clad will never rust out. Come in. We will show you that asbestos sweats.

BUICK

TRUE to the Buick tradition of twenty years, the one feature Buick engineers have particularly sought to develop in the new Nineteen Twenty One Buick Series is high utility value. You will find, in fact, when you investigate these new models, that Buick capacity for hard, fast, sure transportation is even greater than ever before. The high-powered, sure-working Buick Valve-in-Head Motor is a feature of each of the new models.

Added to their great service value is a beauty of contour and appointment and a comfort of movement and seating arrangement that appeal to the most particular.

Buick primarily, however, is a car of action. Built for business—built to stand up—is a well known Buick feature. Business men will find the new five passenger touring car a happy selection.

Back of it, reinforcing its high serviceability, is the uninterrupted use of your investment is Authorized Buick Service rendered by a national wide organization.

THIEVES ROB FREIGHT CARS

Seals on Three Cars Broken and Tobacco and Candy Stolen.

Thieves broke into three freight cars of merchandise standing at the west end of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha yard, early Saturday morning, and made away with several packages of candy and tobacco.

Men checking up the yard discovered the theft at 6:30 Saturday morning. They found an oblong package of plug tobacco on the track and on examining the seals on the freight cars found that they had been cut open and that the broken part had been pushed back to give the seal the appearance of being still fastened.

Two of the cars were billed for Bloomfield and the other was filled with Wayne merchandises. Boxes in all three cars had been broken and nothing had been taken from the Wayne car. The thieves were evidently after tobacco. Since the cars arrived in Wayne about 3 o'clock in the morning the theft must have taken place between 3 and 6:30 a. m. Footprints were discovered in and about the car. These and the package of tobacco were the only traces of the thieves.

FRIENDLY WORDS FOR HERALD

Late Extra Edition Elicits References to Country Journalism.

Readers of the Herald are asked to pardon its pride in reproducing the following kindly and appreciative letters and newspaper excerpts touching development of rural journalism:

Randolph, Neb., Sept. 11, 1920—E. W. Huse, Editor Sir and Friend: Allow me to congratulate yourself and the Herald force on the splendid 32-page edition of last week. It was with real pleasure and appreciation that I scanned the paper. I can realize the satisfaction you must feel to putting out a publication of this class, which embodies a high grade of mechanical and editorial excellence.—Yours: H. L. Peck, Editor Randolph Times.

Pilger Herald: The Wayne Herald last week got out a thirty-two page paper—a sort of 100-page edition. The paper was filled with advertising and photographs and writings of Wayne's prosperity and its people who have helped to make a better Wayne. It is the best issue of its kind that this editor has ever laid eyes on. Everything in the paper, in every respect, was just right. In fact, every issue of the Wayne Herald is right up to snuff; it is the best paper in the state that comes to our exchange table.

Pierce Leader: The Wayne Herald came out last week with 32 pages of six-hole print, and we want to tell you that the way a handlinger, it is said that the Herald is one of the best printed weeklies in the United States, and we don't doubt it. It looks to us as if the Herald must have about the best bunch of printers in the country, judging by the looks of the Herald. And how about the editor? Why, Editor Huse is without a peer in country journalism. We congratulate Editor Huse on his splendid paper, and are surely pleased to know that it is prospering. We wish him all the good luck that can come to any printer.

Harrison Herald: The Wayne Herald recently achieved a notable piece of journalism by issuing a 32-page newspaper descriptive of the development of the country weekly, giving something of the history and progress of the Herald and giving prominence to the live stock interests and civic enterprises of the community. This special edition is a remarkable piece of work and is a great credit to the office which produced it. Editor Huse is an editor of vision and under his able and skillful management, the Wayne Herald has become a model newspaper. It has established a very high journalistic standard, and is one of the best weeklies of the United States.

Sioux City, Iowa, Sept. 15, 1920—Mr. E. W. Huse, Editor the Herald, Wayne, Neb. Dear Mr. Huse: I was much interested in your fine edition of last Thursday, September 9. It was all conceived and put together in the workmanlike fashion that is characteristic of your paper. Of the contents, I am sure that you are interested in the articles of your contributors and your own contribution under the heading, "Somewhat Personal." It is not really, to find the reason for the success of such papers as yours. You say "is due mainly to long hours and hard work." But one might be willing to work long hours and still possess no genius for newspaper making. Industry is indispensable in newspaper making, if the newspaper is to be successful, but it will not succeed unless it shall be coupled with that genius which is comprehended in the words, "good workmanship." You have been able to make the Herald what it is because you are a good workman, a good printer, and you are not satisfied with your paper unless it shall appear, first and above all, as a creditable job of printing. Again, your insistence upon good workmanship impels you to require that your paper shall be well edited, painstakingly edited, with a view to ministering acceptably to the people of the community of which you are a part and fulfilling the high office of journalism.

You modestly disclaim the possession of any exceptional qualities, and that is creditable to you. However, newspapers like the Wayne Herald do not just happen. We have many men owning, publishing and editing newspapers, but few among them are real newspaper makers and builders. One may be able to write good editorials; another may be a good hustler of advertising and job printing; still another may excel in securing satisfactory mechanical results. It is possible to be the poorest sort of an editor and yet show the biggest banner in the game. And yet not one of all these may be really successful. Real success in newspaper making is attained by the man who comprehends all the fundamentals and who produces a newspaper complete and well balanced in all its parts, with every detail exhibiting the guidance and supervision of a master mind and a master hand.

Your remark about "long hours and hard work" reminded me of something similar that George D. Perkins put in his autobiography, as follows:

"The measure of success I have made, if I am to answer so to that, has come through making my work my love, and in guarding it as faithfully as I could under that influence. I have been compelled to supply industry to fortify restrictions conferred by my deficiencies. To an extent I have looked after all the departments of my business, but I have always been fortunate in receiving the assistance of faithful and competent men, to whom in much of the service I have, by reason of their better qualifications, been subordinate.

There are those who have the secret of all success, how for one's work, coupled with industry and fortitude by a genius for enlisting the assistance of competent men. Can anyone succeed otherwise?

Had I the time and you the patience, I might pursue the subject further and discuss the advantage of having ideals in the newspaper business, to which you make confession. George D. Perkins, whom I have quoted, was a man of ideals, and his pursuit of them occupied him until the day of his death. He was always undertaking his ideals only to discover new heights above and beyond him. It is this continual pursuit of ideals that makes newspaper work fascinating to me; that sustains my interest in it unflinchingly. It is a business in which one may constantly strive toward perfection without ever quite attaining it. Always there is the possibility of greater excellence, of better work, of more perfect results. Year by year one's aims become higher. Always the goal is just a little farther on. If it were not for ideals to be enforced and to be aspired to, no work in all the world would be worth while.

Wishing you all success, and with cordial personal regard, I am, yours sincerely, A. F. Allen, Managing Editor the Sioux City Journal.

Nonpartisan League Progress

Lincoln Journal: The nonpartisan league has won at least a partial victory in its efforts to capture the democratic party in Colorado. It had already won a complete victory in a like effort in Montana. It has control of the republican party in North Dakota and captured most of the republican ticket in Wisconsin. The campaigns in these four states will be critical ones for this organization. Should the league win in all four, or in three of the four, it will be undertaking his ideals only to discover new heights above and beyond him. It is this continual pursuit of ideals that makes newspaper work fascinating to me; that sustains my interest in it unflinchingly. It is a business in which one may constantly strive toward perfection without ever quite

MORE COAL AT LESS COST

The old blind mule that hauls ore cars in a mine will soon be a relic of the picturesque past. More coal we must have, and mine locomotives propelled by Exide Inroad Batteries have proved that they increase output, save labor, and cut operating costs. Not only underground, but under the sea—in submarine boats, Exide Batteries lend the magic of their stored-up power.

Not only on the sea, in lighting yards and firing the big guns of our navy, and on the land in countless industries, Exide Batteries play their unflinching part, but above the earth as well. Exides do their bit. For many of our airplanes use Exide Batteries for ignition, and nearly all wireless plants depend on Exides for reserve power. From the little battery that lights a motorcycle to the huge cells used in most central stations in our great cities for emergency power, there is an Exide Battery for every purpose.

Into each Exide is built the experience of the oldest and largest manufacturers of storage batteries in the world.

We would submit Mrs. Marie O'Donnell Weekes' editorial in connection with variable metal gauges as proof of her lack of qualifications to represent a great district in congress.

Mrs. Marie O'Donnell Weekes, candidate for congress, defends Townley as a great man. She says: "Townley may have been accused of distasteful utterances. He may have been convicted. Jesus was found guilty in the court of Pilate. He was crucified." She has had to suffer insult and abusive comparisons many, many times before. Jesus did not preach class hatred nor did he invite people into his fold as so much yet had.

Governor Cox wants the league of nations bill adapted without reservations. He accepts the republican idea of the league, and asks to have it endorsed by the public without any changing of feelings. He keeps us out of war and keep our boys at home. But when it is remembered that a similar plea was made four years ago, people will regard the candidate's grandstanding with distrust and vote the other way.

The Herald has received announcement from Lincoln that A. C. Taylor, president of the Nonpartisan League, will speak on a farm two miles north of Tilden on Sunday, October 3, in the interest of Independent and congressional candidates. Some Independent candidates have endeavored to make it plain that they do not belong to the Nonpartisan League, and they fight on most pronounced flirtations with the latter organization. If sympathies of the Independent candidates rest not in the Nonpartisan League, the latter's confidence is being imposed upon. If the Independents are to accept in their behalf the voice of the head of the Nonpartisan League and if their interests and aspirations are to be developed so beautifully and harmoniously, neither should they join in connection with the other as possible. The Independents should not disclaim membership in the League. If they express themselves at all, they should express regret that they cannot become actual and full-fledged members on account of the fact that the organization is restricted to farmers.

TO ESCAPE RADICALISM.
In passing from war to peace conditions in the year of reconstruction following the great clash of arms, there have been so many things to cause irritation and complaint. Some causes have been inevitable in the course of readjustment, while others have been due to conscientious profilers who have taken advantage of conditions to secure unearned profits. Equally conscientious and equally unprofitable are the professional agitators who go about magnifying injustices and spreading discord.

Many good men who have felt justly aggrieved by price discrepancies, have been persuaded by radicals to take a remedy in dangerous social-ism, i. e. the Nonpartisan League, and actually pay for the privilege. They have been persuaded to join this movement, not understanding that it means socialism—public ownership and operation of everything. The radical agitator would have people turn their backs on the real progress and adopt a drastic program that would be destructive rather than constructive.

In Minnesota the movement is called socialism, as we learn. The same thing in North Dakota and Nebraska falls under the Nonpartisan League. The Independent, published at Fargo, charges that two radical newspapers are connected with the Bank of North Dakota. In speaking of one of them, W. G. Royance of Utah, the paper says:

"He was the League's tax expert. His first tax bill was so framed that it did away with delinquent tax payers. It provided that when real estate taxes became due the land in question would pass into the hands of the state and become state property. That would necessarily increase the taxes on lands remaining in private hands, as state-owned lands would not be taxable. In time such a system would wear state ownership of all lands. Under the Royance bill as originally drawn, we would have had full-fledged socialism within a few years. However, enough of the League legislators joined with the Independents to prevent its passage in its original form. Now Mr. Royance has a bill bestowed on him by the Bank of North Dakota. His title is 'Director of Statistics and Publicity of the Bank of North Dakota.'"

If a man is really a socialist, and really believes in ultimate public ownership and operation of everything, why should he have any ambition? If he believes that the one who tills early and late should share with the one who idles away his time and wastes his efforts, why should he would seem to be doing the right thing to follow the Nonpartisan League? If on the other hand, a man wants to exercise indirect and direct individual purpose, securing reward according to merit, and protecting his accomplishment against the less efficient, he will do well to shun and spurn the Nonpartisan League.

REASON FOR CHANGE.
The St. Paul Pioneer Press offers the following among reasons for a change in the national administration:

Senator Harding told in his Baltimore speech one of the principal reasons why the people want a change in the national administration—presently in office is not businesslike. It is too much devoted to dreams and theories, without regard to practical needs and realities.

Never before has there been illustrated this tendency of the single-track mind that the neglect, even when the war was nearing an end, to make any plan for reconstruction of peace. Great Britain had taken steps in that direction a year before the United States entered the war. When a similar plan was proposed in congress in September, 1918, the suggestion was vetoed in advance at the White House.

Governor Cox's slogan is "Peace, Progress, and Prosperity"—fine words, but the people know that the present administration, which he champions, has made no progress toward a sound basis of either government business or private business and that the prosperity which we have enjoyed has prevailed in spite of the administration and not on account of anything it has done.

The development of a merchant marine, the encouragement of civilization on the part of the protection of the American workman and farmer, through tariff adjustments, in a high standard of living and practical business, and all possible administration can serve.

If It Isn't, Then What Is It?
(Pessenden Farmer).
Townleyman may be Socialism, But...

Why did Townley insist that the secretary to the governor of North Dakota must be a Socialist?

Why did he insist that the secretary to the industrial commission must be a socialist?

Why did he insist that the secretary to the railroad commission must be a socialist?

Why did he insist that the state bank should be a socialist?

Will some good first-grade pupil give us an answer to the above, and also tell us why there are now over 2000,000 people in the state of North Dakota, holding down

Millions of Women to Vote.
Washington, Sept. 29.—Figures compiled by the census bureau and other government departments indicate that the number of women in the United States over 21 years of age is 46,000,000. Of them approximately 20,000,000 are eligible to vote in the November election. This estimate makes a liberal allowance for alien women, American women married to aliens, and other ineligible. Exact figures are not available on the number of women over 21, but barred from voting through various provisions. Census bureau officials believe, however, that this year at least 10,000,000 of the 20,000,000 foreign-born women in the United States will not yet have become naturalized. In addition there were in 1910, according to the census, about 60,000 Indian women most of whom were living on reservations, 8,607 Chinese and Japanese women ineligible to vote, a comparatively small number of American women were married to alien husbands. The total of these ineligible was estimated at about 1,500,000.

Nonpartisan Candidate.
Lincoln, Sept. 29.—George Gardner of Fremont, a railroad man, is named as candidate of the Nonpartisan League and allied elements for state representative in the 24th district in a petition filed with the secretary of state. The district comprises Dodge and Washington counties. A partial filing has been made on behalf of George W. Hughes of Sutherland as the Nonpartisan League candidate for representative in the 56th eighth district.

UNCLE WALT THE POET PHILOSOPHER

The Fishers.
 The fishers, sailing, look to me like men of dauntless daring; and they'll come home laden, or for the sea, with loads of kippered herring. Before the dawn is fairly sprung I see their boats departing, and fishers old and fishers young on cleavage's head are starting. Oh, they are brave and buoyant wights, and they are seaward laddies, and they come whooping home of nights with loads of fishy laddies. Their vigils in the fog they keep, they know all Neptune's games; they see the wonders of the deep, and should be full of stories. They anchor in the little bay before my sword-owl dwelling; I visit them at close of day, when curves glow their yellow. "Oh, hoary farmer of the sea," I say, to some old chappie, "hand out a salty yank to me, and you will make me happy." There's nothing doing on the deep, the fisher says, as-lighting: "a delegate should landward keep—that's where the news is flying. I always knew that Fulton stuff would never be a winner; it only needed one good bill to paralyze that sinner. The prize ring now is run to cheese, and most of it is schwaizer; the British champs have some disease, the Frenchman's punk you're right, sir. Oh, yes, we sell our dorics out, through all the ways, and another, but there's no year in that, old scout—one day's just like another."

Any Lowell.
 This great and gifted woman in judgment often sits; her genius superhuman, equips her, she admits. The birds of epochs older she says, were merely punk; we thought their works were golden, but now we know they're junk. Oh, music filled their verses when those birds used to write; but Amy rears and curses when rhythm is in sight. She lectures in her attic to poets gone to seed: "Lines must be lame, rheu- some, fool, so they fit to read. If lines are clear as water, and like bright water flow, why, then, it's time to slaughter the bard who made them so. Old poets were dead ringers for mockers and wrens, but now our truest singers must sound like guinea hens. It seems, so simple, so easy, that people once read Keats; but only his verses, blame me, but through his verses, treats—'And Tennyson'—the wad- dle work done in the past, and held up as a model for bards through- out the land. But we have traveled greatly in these high modern times, we balk at all that's stately and fine in poets' rhymes. All verses must be halting, or I will shoo them hence; no psalter must be pasting that shows a lick of sense."

Father Noah.
 Father Noah built his ark, just be- hind the village pound; and he heard their yelping. "Oh, hoary farmer of the sea," I say, to some old chappie, "hand out a salty yank to me, and you will make me happy." There's nothing doing on the deep, the fisher says, as-lighting: "a delegate should landward keep—that's where the news is flying. I always knew that Fulton stuff would never be a winner; it only needed one good bill to paralyze that sinner. The prize ring now is run to cheese, and most of it is schwaizer; the British champs have some disease, the Frenchman's punk you're right, sir. Oh, yes, we sell our dorics out, through all the ways, and another, but there's no year in that, old scout—one day's just like another."

are no grievous slings in the empty words of fools.

Thoughtful.
 I rise each morn at five o'clock, for that seems good to me; but when around my place I walk, I'm quiet as can be. I know the folk who live next door expect to sleep till nine; they won't be bothered, as they stote, by any act of mine. They may be sluggards, thus to sleep, when I am wide awake; and I may think their slumber deep a most profound mistake; and they may hold that I'm a nut, whose flywheel back- ward goes, because I roam around my hut when other men repose. But while I do not bother them, and they don't bother me, our joint existence is a gem, a thing tripping with glee. I used to rise at five o'clock, just as I'm doing now, and I would whistle; sing and talk, and holler at the cow. I wanted all the world to know that I had left my bed; and all the world would rise and throw steel bootacks at my head. I used to see the win- dows rise in all the houses near, and angry men with drowsy eyes, would throw the knick-knacks dear. And bricks would hit me as I sat beneath my tree and vine; they often spotted my Sunday hat and telescoped my spine. This happened often and again, until my lid was wrecked; and so I learned that other men have rights I must respect.

Joy Riders.
 I'm seated in my firetree's shade, beside the public highway, and flies assail me unafraid—which is the sil- ly "ry way"—and all they long, the autos, with in headless form before me, and all day long they honk and hoot, and throw the gravel o'er me. In luxury the riders bask upon the seats of satin. "Does no one ever work?" I ask, in Choctaw, Greek and Latin. Old age is riding there, in sooth, in limousines that glitter, and at the wheel is glided youth—and I'm the only quitter; for now and then I park my boal and strive to earn a dollar—a scheme from reas- on's seat of satin. "Does no one ever work?" I ask, in Choctaw, Greek and Latin. Oh, all the autos travel forth, I hear their motors sizzing; they jangle south, they scamper north, and east and west they thiz- zing. The roads are black with fine sedans, and all the world is plo- ying, except some timbun also-rans who labor at their saying. The roads are black with limousines, on idle errands going, and wiled are the use- ful beams—there's none to do the being. The world is busy blowing kate, and thrif's a thing to banish; "Does no one ever work?" I wail, in German, French and Spanish.

The Gossip.
 I burn some joss-sticks every night, and as they burn I say, "I'm glad to hear from the evil pligter that Jinks is in this day!" For Jinks possessed the gossip's tongue, and every pitiful tale by him told and farthing flung, until the lie grew stale. With him a slander foul and grim was sure to make a hit, and baseless rum- or seemed to him like proofs of holy writ. A man may thus traduce his friends in safety for a time, but soon or late his effort ends in carni- vales of crime. And Jinks passed on some vicious yarns, as he was prone to do, concerning J. Adolphus Barnes, which tales were far from true. Also, Jinks was wont to brag from sitting down this line; for J. Adolphus climbed on Jinks and skat- ed down his spine. This J. Adolphus is a gent of many talents and thrusts, and when he for his victim went steel spikes were in his shoes. And Jinks, to spread his gossip yarn, no-longer- bithly trots, he's lying on a bed of pain, all tied in sailors' knots. The doctor says he's but a wreck, who once would rumors chased; his arms are round around his neck, his legs around his waist. No neighbors seek his humble cot to say that darnes was wrong; and people cry, "He merely got what he's invited long."

Fearful Rot.
 Iroquois Chief: Gov. Cox can prevent the wicked republicans from "buying the presidency" by seeing to it that the democrats do not sell their votes. If the democrats do not sell the republicans cannot buy. But seriously, isn't that awful rot for a presidential candidate to be ped- dling?

Regret Their Hate.
 Washington Post: Gov. Cox was nominated on the forty-fourth ballot, and the former delegates are wonder- ing now why they were in such a rush.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

From Wayne Herald-Tribune Sept. 24, 1885:

W. M. Wright was in Emerson Monday.

An occasional prairie fire is taking off the grass already.

The Meigs building on upper Main street is being finished up.

The First National bank building has been given a coat of paint.

The prairie chicken supper at the Baptist church Saturday evening was a success.

J. D. King will have his law office in the room in the rear of the First National bank.

J. H. Ashby's new house in Taylor's addition will be one of the best houses in town.

The Wakefield base ballists are anxious to play the Sioux City club for from one to five hundred dollars.

Invitations are out announcing the first social hop of the season at the skating rink, Tuesday night, Sept. 29.

The corn crop in Nebraska for this year is estimated by the state board of agriculture at 150,000,000 bushels.

F. P. Taylor traded a portion of his stock for a farm Tuesday and left this morning for Council Bluffs to replace what he had sold.

Bressler and Britton sold fifteen acres of land adjoining town on the east to a man from Milwaukee. He will make a market garden of it.

The members of the Baptist church return their sincere thanks to Chas. Johnson, Harry Meyer, and A. H. Richardson who so kindly furnished the prairie chickens for the supper Thursday evening.

Wayne markets: Wheat, 50c; corn, 25c; oats, 18c; rye, 25c; barley, 25c; flaxseed, $1.10; flour $2.50 to $3.00; cornmeal, $1.20; potatoes, 20c; butter, 12 1/2c; eggs, 40c; lard, 18c; hams, 18c; cattle, $2.30 to $2.65; hogs, $2.70 to $3.10; sheep, $2.50; hides, $3.00.

Taylor's addition is the newest acquisition to Wayne. It consists of ninety acres between a continuation of Third street and the road running along the south side of the cemetery.

The addition was laid off in two acre lots and will be very popular with those who wish to be in reach of business and still have a few acres of ground.

The settlers on the reservation in Wayne county have formed a protective association and deal summarily with land jumpers. A young man from the east having jumped the claim of a member of the association, the club has turned out to his last week; tore down the interloper's house and drove him away. A part of the lumber taken from the house was put into the brick and the remainder was donated to the original claimant of the land. While the act was undoubtedly a lawless one it was tempered by a spirit of justice, and constitutes an offense which it is difficult to successfully prosecute before a jury.—Wisher Times.

From Ponca Journal September 25, 1881:

Heavy frost Tuesday night. Stoves should now be put up and the prudent man gets together a big pile of firewood. Winter will soon commence knocking at the door.

The night President Garfield died, the observatory at Rochester discovered a new comet. This was the fifth comet discovered this year, and all five of which first seen were in about the same part of the heavens.

Diphtheria is making sad havoc in our neighboring town of Jackson, a large number of the children of the town have the dread disease, and a downward on the number of the spirit of one little sufferer passed the dark river, and when our informant left yesterday morning two others were not expected to survive the day.

The schools of the town have been closed and every effort is being made to prevent the further spread of the disease.

Last Friday evening John Scollard of South Creek gave a dance in his new house, in which a large number of young folks participated and had a good time. One wagon load of dancers when returning home in the morning were overturned by a rut in the road, and in consequence young Gallagher wears his ear in a sling, while Miss Harney received slight injuries. The wagon was being driven by Tom Rush, and contained fourteen persons.

Nebraska's Decision.—Sioux City Journal: Unless later returns upset present estimates, the people of Nebraska have voted by a large majority for the establishment of an industrial court. The proposed change in the state constitution, which permits the creation of the court, carried in the constitutional election.

Of course, the details of the court are not set out in the constitution. The legislature is merely empowered to create one. The adoption of the constitutional provision eliminates any attack which might be made on the court on constitutional grounds, once it is created. It would be a fundamental law institution instead of a legislative one, as the Kansas court is.

It is impossible to judge national public sentiment on the question. But the election returns indicate that the people of Nebraska believe that the establishment of a court in which industrial disputes may be settled instead of resorting to strikes is an

Notice of Hearing.

To the heirs, creditors and all persons interested in the estate of Clara M. Johnson, deceased: You and each of you are hereby notified that on the 13th day of September, 1920, L. C. Larson filed his petition in the county court of Wayne county, Nebraska, on or about May 3, 1906, that at the time of her death she was a resident of the village of Carroll, in said county and state, that she died seized in fee simple of the following described real estate, to-wit: Commencing 410 feet south of the southeast corner of Block 7, in First Addition to the Village of Carroll, in Wayne county, Nebraska, as a place of commencement, thence due west 75 feet, thence south 390 feet, thence east 75 feet, thence north 390 feet to the place of commencement; that she left surviving her as her sole and only heir at law John W. Johnson, her husband, and John Blise, her father. Said petition further alleges that L. C. Larson is now the owner in fee simple of said real estate. Said petition further alleges that all debts, claims and demands against the estate of said Clara M. Johnson, deceased, including the expenses of her last sickness and her funeral charges, have been paid in full. That no application has ever been made in the State of Nebraska for the appointment of an administrator for the estate of said deceased and that more than two years have elapsed since her death. Said petitioner prays for a finding and determining the time of the death of said Clara M. Johnson, that she died intestate, for a determination of her heirs, the degree of kinship and the right of descent of said real estate, and for an order barring claims of creditors against said estate and pray such other relief as may be just and proper. Hearing will be had on said petition before me at the county court room in the City of Wayne, in Wayne county, Nebraska, on the 15th day of October, 1920, at 10 o'clock a. m. at which time and place the heirs, creditors and all other persons interested in said estate may appear and show cause why a decree should not be made and entered as prayed in said petition.

Witness my hand and official seal at Wayne, in Wayne county, Nebraska, on this 18th day of September, 1920.

Isn't It Interesting?

Harvey's Weekly? Fox Cox denies that he has received any notice from the weekly. He says he never nomination to Messrs. Murphy, Nugent, Taggart and Brennan, who, as every member of Tammy Hall well knows, are the leading members of the Anti-Saloon League. "Interesting, isn't it?" says Mr. Bryan.

Connecticut Adds Emphasis.

Lincoln Journal: Connecticut came over to woman suffrage at the thirteenth hour, but what it lacked in speed it makes up in emphasis. No other state can claim the double devotion of ratifying twice.

improvement over the present method. Labor is opposed to the courts on principle. But it is significant that Alexander Howat, the Kansas mine official, who has been leading the fight on the industrial court of that state and who served a term in jail for contempt in refusing to obey its mandates, was defeated for the nomination for vice president in the miners' national organization a few days ago.

Intelligent labor leaders realize that the sympathy of the public has reached the breaking point and that without that sympathy it is difficult to win in any struggle. Conservative leaders are seeking to meet the public demand for adjustment of its mandates, without involving the public in costly strike results. In a word, the intelligent leaders are meeting the demands of the public that less strike punishment be imposed on it. That may not have been the sentiment that dominated the people of Nebraska, but it is a modification of the same basic policy.

From Farmers' Union Secretary. I wish to correct the false impression of some members of the Farmers' Union that E. W. Huss, editor of the Herald, solicited the interview with me which appeared in issue 12 per some weeks ago, in regard to the activities of the Nonpartisan League. On the contrary, I volunteered the article in question. As secretary of the Farmers Union and in touch with all its proceedings, I thought it only my duty to show that there has never been any compromise or cooperation between the Farmers Union and the Nonpartisan League, and it would be the contrary. I volunteered the article in question. As secretary of the Farmers Union stands for better conditions between the producer and consumer and the agents of Tomkey, and when I say all industries, remember I mean the farms, too.—Nels J. Johnson, Secretary of the Wayne County Farmers Union.

M. O. Cunningham of Omaha, was in Wayne the first of the week to look after a case in the district court.

WAKEFIELD TO HEAR PIANIST

Miss Betty Schuless to Play at Evening Lutheran Church Friday Evening.

Miss Betty Schuless, pianist, who will give a concert at the Salem Lutheran church under the auspices of the Martha society, Friday evening, is a Sioux City girl, who has won fame as an accompanist and has received flattering press notices in many of the leading daily papers. Charles D. Isaacson, a music critic of New York, writing to the Sioux City Journal says: "Among the 1,500 artists who came to me this past season, one a Sioux City girl, stands out very prominently. Miss Betty Schuless of your city has done remarkable work. She arrived in the metropolis November last, and she left New York today, en route for Sioux City, a famous person." The critic goes on to say that it is quite unusual for him to write of any of the myriads of artists whom he meets and only Miss Schuless's art and genius have led him to do so in her case.

$3,500 FOR POLAND CHINA PIG

Geo. McEachen Sells Fine Animal to Fred Sievers of Iowa.

Geo. McEachen who is showing a lot of fine pure bred Poland China hogs and gilts at public auction in the Wayne pavilion on Saturday, October 9, sold a yearling boar on Tuesday to Fred Sievers of Audubon, Ia., for $3,500. This boar represents the type of pigs that will be put through the sale ring on October 9. The price, paid by a thoroughly competent judge, speaks for the quality of Poland Chinas grown by Mr. McEachen.

State Bank Reports Good. Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 27.—In the face of money tightness during the past few months, the inability of farmers to market their grain products, due to the car shortage, and a falling market on nearly all commodities, state bank deposits of Nebraska have been holding up remarkably well through the summer season, the quarterly banking report shows.

They have decreased only $8,000,000, or 2.5 per cent, since last May, according to the summary given out by Secretary Hartz, of the state trade and commerce department.

On May 15 the report of state banks to the banking department placed the total deposits at about $281,000,000. The gross amount on September 15, the date of the last compilation, was $273,000,000. There were 1,000 banks reporting on the latter occasion.

Cash reserves are off about $400,000, in comparison with May 15, showing the aggregate for September is $117,078,000.

Although deposits are a few million less than last spring, the total stands higher than it did a year ago, and the same is true of loans.

November 10, 11 and 12, according to H. O. Warner, secretary of the association.

A feature of the show this year will be the exhibits of certified Nebraska seed potatoes. (Each grower of certified seed will be required to display at least 100 pounds of the potatoes he expects to sell for seed.) This exhibit of Nebraska seed is expected to attract buyers of seed from other states, in addition to being an important part of the show.

Working Overtime. Harvard Courier: A railroad man told me the other day that most railroad workers are sore because they are no longer allowed to work overtime. He says they do not make as much money now under the increased wages as they did under the old scale and government operation when they could work all the overtime they wanted to. I told him the public has to work over time now in order to pay the increased rates, and that made him sore again.

Football Player Breaks Leg

During a practice football game at Emerson Friday afternoon John Carhart, one of the Wayne football players, had his left leg broken a few inches above the ankle. He and a boy on the Emerson team were both running after the ball. They fell on it together and it is thought that Carhart twisted his left leg in falling.

Two Emerson doctors were called and the broken leg was set at once. The team came home on the evening train. On their arrival Supt. J. S. Armstrong who accompanied them, had the disabled boy taken to the office of Dr. C. T. Ingham. Dr. Ingham took an X-ray picture of the injured leg and found that it was set so well that the break scarcely showed. Mr. Carhart was then taken home and is now doing as well as can be expected. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Carhart.

SATURDAY NIGHT'S STORM

Hail and Wind Do Considerable Damage At and Near Bloomfield.

The storm which broke over this section Saturday night when a half inch of rain fell here, was particularly severe in Knox county where some buildings in the country were blown over. It is estimated that 5,000 panes of glass were broken in Bloomfield.

Bloomfield, Neb., Sept. 26.—Further reports today on the storm of wind and hail which swept over Knox and Pierce counties Saturday night show that one—Charles Nilson—was fatally injured and three others severely hurt. At the town of Crawford the hail unusual in size, fell to the depth of a foot. Between Creston and Bloomfield all south and west windows of houses were smashed.

A farmer whose name could not be learned had his face almost beaten to a pulp by the hail storm. Martin Sorenson, a traveling man, was badly hurt when his automobile was blown into a ditch and he was thrown through the windshield. The car took fire and was destroyed.

Several cattle and horses were killed when lightning struck a barn and caused its burning. Many cattle were found dead today in the pastures as a result of being struck by lightning. Corn stalks and trees were stripped of foliage. The heaviest rain for many years fell, washing out and bridging. Wind and hail did considerable damage in this town, but no one was seriously injured.

Freedom in Spelling.

St. Paul Pioneer Press: An Iowa professor urges that every one should be allowed to spell as he pleases, to save all the time spent in learning the prevailing fashion. It probably would not save much time for the reader of such spelling. With the typewriter to do the writing and the adding machine to do the arithmetic, and history discarded as useless, freedom in spelling would go far to do away with the need of any schools at all.

Be Rid of That Ache.

If you are a sufferer with lame back, headache, dizziness, nervousness and kidney disorders, why don't you try the remedy that your own neighbors recommend? Ask your neighbor?

Mrs. John Barnes, Wayne, says: "I had been troubled with disordered kidneys from childhood. All these years I was more or less troubled with backaches and at times my kidneys didn't act right. This kept me in a run down condition. This trouble had been overlooked in my younger days, thinking I would outgrow it, but I was not long before it was better in every way. Several boxes of Doan's cured me and I haven't been bothered in a number of years. I can earnestly recommend this grand old remedy."

Sick Europe.

E. L. T. in the Chicago Tribune: Antelope France said recently, "Europe is dying." Sir Philip Gibbs does not think the case so bad, but he says it must be admitted that Europe is very sick because the war did not spiritualize and ennoble humanity as predicted. They who did not expect this miracle to come to pass were called cynics.

Shiny on Your Own Side.

Kansas City Star: Isn't it a little unfair of Franklin Roosevelt to cut in on "A. Mitchell" Palmer's simple handed fight against the high cost of living? Mr. Palmer saw it first and it's his. Frank shouldn't be selfish. The Haiti and San Domingo constitutions are his. Let each keep his own stuff.

Said a customer a few days ago, "Why is your honey tastes so much better than that I buy of other parties hereabouts?"

Fortunately it was not a hard question to answer. There are four principal sources of honey in this locality, viz—dandelion, the clover, smartweed and fall alfalfa. Each source of honey imparts its own peculiar flavor to the honey gathered from it. Dandelion produces a very yellow honey of pungent flavor. Smartweed honey is of a amber color and tastes strong and "bitchy." Clover honey is as good as clear as water and is very mild flavored with perhaps a mild vanilla taste. The dandelion is the first honey produced in the season and laps over onto the clover from the clover, and the clover flow laps over on to the smartweed. It is obvious that if any two or more of these honeys are mixed the resultant flavor will be a combination of the two, but will be largely characteristic of the stronger flavored honey. For instance, a quantity of clover honey slightly mixed with dandelion or smartweed honey will look and taste like clover honey, but will have the strong, aromatic flavor of the dandelion or smartweed honey. In fact, it is this strong taste that makes it objectionable to the average person. The flavor, however, is almost entirely within the control of the honey producer. If he is "on in his job" he will have these three or four kinds of honey separated by the bees on the hives with the result that each will be almost purely clover, dandelion or smartweed. It is because the average beekeeper does not have the requisite skill in selling blended clover and smartweed honey at $12.25 for a sixty-pound can, and the pure clover honey at $15.00 for a sixty-pound can. FATHER JOHN AT CARROLL

Speaker at Carnival Under Auspices of American Legion.

Father John of Stanton, who served with the American army in France, and who is commander of the American Legion post at Stanton, was the speaker of the day at the carnival held in Carroll last Friday under the auspices of the American Legion post of that place. The speaking took place in a large tent.

Father John spoke on "Social Unrest," emphasizing lack of mutual love, disregard of law and authority and propagation of suspicion and hatred as contributing causes. He criticized mob rule as contrary to the foundation stone of the American government, and stressed the orderly way as the greatest gift to civilization. "The forces of discontent flock under the red flag," he said, "and would destroy everything we cherish in order to sustain it. He emphasized as opposed to healthy reconstruction the emissaries of class legislation, class consciousness and class hatred. He said he did not wish to lay all the blame for social unrest on capital. He wished to see a closer understanding and better feeling between capital and labor. The speaker offered this example: Two boys in a family were given equal education, equal hands and equal opportunities. At the end of twenty years one boy had increased his herds and developed the fertility of his farm, had kept up improvements on his fences. He had worked hard lived an active, wholesome life, added to his holdings, regarded his neighbors as friends and was content and happy. He was an honored citizen, and was frequently entrusted with positions of public responsibility. The other boy allowed his farm to run down. His buildings and fences became dilapidated, and a mortgage was acquired by his inebriance. Envy and hatred filled his soul. He disliked his more prosperous neighbors, blamed the government, and became an easy prey to radical propagandists. He became a socialist. He was discontented and unhappy. He blamed society, whereas he was to blame himself.

The speaker mentioned the need and value of organizations, but not the kind that spread discontent and class hatred. He said one screw depends on another, and if one is hurt, the other is hurt. He urged that all should have their rights and should be actuated by love rather than revenge. He emphasized the need of harmony and fellowship between town and country, and pointed out the terrible harm done by imported agitators who go among the farmers preaching discontent and arraying one class against another. He said successful, prosperous communities had everything to lose and nothing to gain by allowing scheming socialists to come in to prey on them.

The speaker upheld democracy against the menace of socialism, socialism and materialism. He said people had been drifting from spirituality to materialism, forgetting the commandments from Sinai, and placing their trust for gold above observance of the golden rule.

Former Wayne Pastor.

Tekamah Journal: Rev. Buell and family are leaving today for their new home in Omaha, where he has been given the pastorate of the Trinity M. E. church, having a congregation of about 500. Rev. Buell and family came here three years ago from Wayne, and previous to his work there he was for four years at Lyons and they have a large acquaintance over the state. During the war Rev. Buell was active as a minute man and also was a member of the Home Guards. His series of patriotic sermons and his other activities in the various war activities kept him busier than the average minister and he was always warmly greeted whenever he addressed an audience. During his residence here the new church edifice and an parsonage were completed at a conservative, estimate being worth $65,000. Mr. Buell's pastorate has been quite successful here from every point of view and they have many friends here who regret to see them leave. Trinity church is located at the end of what is known in Omaha as "the prettiest mile" half way between Florence and Farnam street and their address will be 2111 Maple street. They have a nice home and expect to get located nicely by the first of the week. Last Friday evening a good boy reception was held at the homes of their home and the evening very pleasantly spent by about 200 folks—friends and members of the local congregation. The time was spent in games and visiting and later light refreshments were served. Before the departure of the assembly, Col. Marsh made a little heart-to-heart talk and then presented Rev. and Mrs. Buell with a nice purse of money. Rev. Buell responded and expressed his appreciation of the heroic manner in which the congregation had met the financial obligations as well as their loyalty to pastor and church and the evident warm fellowship shown them. Thus these good folks left Tekamah with a warm feeling of remembrance in their hearts for Tekamah folks. It is our wish that their future may continue bright and happiness and contentment be always their portion.

WALTER SAVIDGE AMUSEMENT CO.

The Walter Savidge Amusement company will open a week's engagement in Wayne on Monday, October 4. Many improvements will be noted by patrons this season, both in attractions and equipment. As usual the Savidge players are still the leading feature presenting the latest dramatic successes in the big canvas theatre. The plays will be presented in the following order: Monday night, "Pal 'O Mine," by Joseph Noel, Tuesday night, "The Girl He Left Behind," a play of the late war, by Ralph Kersting; Wednesday night, "A Woman's Way," a society comedy by Thompson Buchanan; Thursday night, "The Unkissed Bride," a brilliant comedy by Chas. Demorest; Friday night, the feature bill of the week, "Civilian Clothes," by Thompson Buchanan. This play is its eighth month at the Alamoza theatre, New York and closed a five months run at the Olympia theatre, Chicago, on February 14, of the present year. Saturday night, "A Thief in the Night," an interesting melodrama by Edwin Block. Along the amusement zone may be seen "The Man Who Sings," "The Old Curiosity Shop, The Royal Midgets and the Five in One Show. The Savidge concert band will introduce the latest musical numbers, and two big tree acts will be presented each day during the engagement.

IS YOUR ELECTRIC BILL TOO HIGH?

That minimum charge of a dollar fifty a month for service, "whether you use it or not" is it really unreasonable? It is. It is a charge that squares deal every American demands as his right? Consider the question in all fair-mindedness. It is the reason why an interesting one. If you regard that dollar fifty a month a sort of interest charge on the electrical energy you use for you, it will seem fair enough. Remember there's a system of mains and cables coming right up to your door. The flow of current through your street is constant night and day, so that at any time you may turn a stream of it into your home. This is a delivery system as rapid as a desire, as dependable as an honest man's promise. But this problem of distribution is the biggest, most costly to take the central station has to tackle. Indeed, for every two dollars invested in generating equipment, the dollar must be added for equipment to deliver the current to your door—distribution. Then, too, distribution requires that poles be erected, wires strung, lines maintained through the heaviest weather, year in and year out. Organized to maintain the opening up of plants, the delivery system is a factory in the long run, but at an enormous first cost. There are a thousand little odd problems that must be solved before the scenes before the show can proceed. But you enjoy the show and don't want to see it for nothing. That is why you pay the minimum service charge—so much a month—on both your water system and light system, a charge for which the central station gives full return, so that you may have what water and light you want at an instant's notice. For plumbing and electrical supplies see Carhart Hardware Co.

Why Not You?
Thousands of sick people are being daily restored to health by Chiropractic adjustments. Why not you? Chiropractic does not bother with the effect of so-called bad, but goes straight to the root of the matter, and adjusts it. Most disease is caused by a pinching of the nerves, which prevents the life force from flowing freely to the various organs. This pinching is caused by a subluxation (displacement) of the vertebrae (small bones of the spine). Chiropractic vertebral adjustments given with the bare hands alone, put these bones back in place, the pinching is relieved, the life force has access to every organ of the body and health is the result. This is the science of chiropractic in a nutshell. Investigate. It will pay you. Consultation and spinal analysis free.

They reveal afresh the lack of originality that prevails among professional party managers. The two books are as alike in style, style and general make-up as peas in a pod. The republicans' catchlines run to 498 pages; the democrats to 492; "Peace! Progress! Prosperity!" is the slogan which embellishes the title page of the democrats' book. A telling chapter in the republican volume deals with the "administration's conduct of the war—billions wasted—the price of mismanagement." In the Back Pew. Lincoln Journal: Half the church people sit as far back as possible so they can dodge out after the benediction without the bother of having to speak to their neighbors.

AGRICULTURE NOTES

Warning to Housewives. The United States department of agriculture warns housewives against the use of any preservative powder or canning compound in home canning. Their use encourages careless and untidy work, and in large amounts they may have serious effects upon digestion and health. It is entirely practicable to put up fruits and vegetables so that they will keep indefinitely by processing the products with heat. There is no reason for risk by the use of canning powder. Boric or salicylic acid is the basis of most canning compounds on the market today. The directions on the packages usually call for one teaspoon of the compound to each quart of fruit or vegetable. The use of boric and salicylic acid since they may be harmful to health, is regarded by the department of agriculture as a violation of the federal food and drug act. The use of many states also prohibit the sale of foods containing boric or salicylic acid.

Corn Borer Pest. The European corn borer has been found in Ontario, Canada, extending from Niagara Falls to St. Thomas and from a line fifteen miles north of St. Thomas to the lakes. The infestation reaches to within fifty miles of Port Huron, Mich., much further west than the pest had previously been discovered. It is regarded as probable that the infestation extends considerably farther west than that even. Exact knowledge of its spread can not be obtained until the Canadian survey is completed.

The discovery of the pest in Canada adds to the danger of spread in this country. The United States department of agriculture is sending several men into Michigan to prepare for all possible precautionary measures to prevent the insect from crossing the border and thus threatening the corn belt. The corn borer is known to exist in this country only in limited areas, which are under quarantine, in Massachusetts, southern New Hampshire, New York, and Pennsylvania, although possible infestation at other localities has been regarded as probable.

Wants Exercise for Dogs. It is hard to please everybody. Even efficiency has its drawbacks. Now comes a complaint from a rancher at Antelope, Ore., that the government inspectors in dissection of the country are so effectively carrying out their warfare against predatory animals—coyotes, particularly—that he is put to it to find exercise for his dogs.

Officials of the bureau of biological survey, United States department of agriculture, who have charge of the work of making the ranges free from destructive animals, took upon this knock as a particularly good boost, in view of the fact that this part of the country is considered especially infested with such enemies. It is an instance of the notable work being done by the bureau's corps of inspectors in the extermination of live-stock ranges of the West where mountain lions, bobcats, bears, wolves, and coyotes have been able to maintain the threat of their undiminished in spite of the best efforts of the settlers and ranchers. There are between 400 and 500 of these skilled hunters in the country; they captured about 32,000 predatory animals and killed at least that many more by poisoning operations. As an example of the day's work, they captured by predatory animals: A Texas ranch owner declared that in less than two months he lost near a dozen sheep worth $3,200, through depredations of six coyotes, which later were killed by government hunters.

Rules for Automobile Driving

- "Obey the law.
- "Consider the other fellow.
- "Automobile owners who keep these two thoughts uppermost will help promote safety in driving," says William Kay & Sons, local dealers in Chevrolet passenger and commercial cars.
- "In addition, there are ten simple rules that should always be observed. Some of these rules are traffic regulations in most places. But the law varies. Wherever you are, obey the laws of that place.
- "And remember that considering the other fellow is not only a precaution for his safety, but for yours also.
- "1. Don't attempt to pass the man ahead if there is a vehicle coming in the opposite direction. Always see that the road is clear.
- "2. Don't pass standing street cars discharging or taking on passengers.
- "3. Don't cut in short after passing a vehicle.
- "4. Don't turn in a busy street except at corners.
- "5. Don't cut corners. When making a turn, make allowances for traffic in other directions.
- "6. Slow down and sound your horn when crossing or entering another street.
- "7. Always give the proper signal when starting, stopping, turning or changing speed may affect other traffic.
- "8. Don't forget that the legal speed is a safe speed.
- "9. Always slow down when you observe children playing near the curb or in the street—they have not the wisdom of adults.
- "10. Don't drive your car at all without knowing that brakes and steering gear are all right and that lights and license plates comply with the law."

FIRE DAMAGES PIERCE CAFE
 Insurance Covers Loss of Building
 But Not Stock—Other News.

Fire, the cause of which was unknown, broke out in the Fiedler restaurant at Pierce, last week, Wednesday about 2 p. m. A smouldering cigarette thrown in the waste basket may have started the blaze.
 Damage was done to the building and stock to the amount of $5,000.
 E. P. Koehler, owner of the building, says his loss is fully covered by insurance. Robert Fiedler who conducts the restaurant says the loss of his stock is about one-third covered by insurance.

A large mass meeting was held by the citizens of Wasau Monday last week to discuss ways of protecting merchandise and other property against burglars. It was decided to call to life again the Protective association which a couple of years ago did effective service in ridding the community of a gang of hog thieves.

 will be paved. The work will probably start next spring.

 town on the Washington highway halfway between Ft. Calhoun and Florence. Two brick stores have been built and a third one started. A bank and a garage are to be established. A $300,000 country club and a golf course, swimming pool and club house will be one of the principal buildings. The town is named after Louis Nash of Omaha, one of the original promoters.

—BOOTLEGGERS have been active in Madison county. Officials arrested
 Fred Mueller, Gus Blum, and Joe Previsinsky and found a distillery in full operation and a quantity of whiskey on the farm of Mrs. Thomas Long, east of Madison, which the two men had been operating. Each man was given sixty days in jail.

 to see his children. When his request was denied he went without leave,

—THE REGIONAL CONFERENCE of the American Red Cross was held at Sioux City last Thursday. The conference was for the purpose of preparing plans for the Fourth Annual roll call which will be held from November 11 to 25. The roll call is not a drive for funds but the renewing of memberships in the American Red Cross. The organization now has 10,000,000 members and hopes to keep the membership permanently at this figure.

—TRADE SLEAZEN UP— Sioux City Journal: There are so many elements in the sleazening trade which has been in evidence during the last week. One of these, and probably the most important one, is the general disposition of the buying public to wait for lower prices. The other is the tightening up of credits so that it is more difficult to carry large holdings, such as the sugar supply, for hoarding purposes. The public gradually has come to understand that the sugar profiteers were hoarding their hoarded sugar so that the sugar was bought with borrowed capital and withheld from the market in order to enhance the price so as to make practical profits for those who owned it. The public does not directly control federal reserve re-discounts, for such purposes, but it is refusing to buy commodities which are carried on such loans.

 Meanwhile the federal reserve banks are declining to make loans at low interest rates, and profiteers are afraid to gamble on high rates against the refusal of the public to pay excessive profits.

Retail merchants, who are in close touch with the retail trade and understand the sentiment of the people, are not making large purchases nor placing large future orders. In consequence sellers have lost control of the market and are beginning to see the handwriting on the wall. There must be a reduction in prices sufficient to satisfy the public demands of goods will accumulate in warehouses, while high interest rates on the money invested in them eat up probable profits and cut into the real cost of the commodities. Mills are shutting down or reducing output because the wholesale trade is unable to push the mill products beyond their own warehouses. The retail trade is the only place in the line where dealers are conservative ground. Few of them are carrying excessive stocks, the reduction process having been carried out several weeks ago when people bought generously at price reduction sales.

 Industrial conditions are becoming more quiet. There is less agitation and fewer strikes, as employed people realize that the slack buying spirit of the public may mean shutdowns and uncertain employment.

Hoover is Qualified.
 Mitchell Republican: Gov. Cox says that he will offer a place in his cabinet to Herbert Hoover. Now let Senator Harding say the same thing there was a greater spontaneous demand for Hoover for president than for any other man. He far outstrips either Harding or Cox in his qualifications for the presidency and if it is possible to get him into the next cabinet, it should be done, even if it thereby made bottom-heavy.

Mr. Cox and His Cabinet.
 Minneapolis Journal: Gov. Cox
 sold them out in California last week that he would like to get an efficient man like Herbert Hoover in his cabinet, and intimated that he would offer Mr. Hoover a portfolio, if he got a chance. The bald insincerity of his proposal to invite into his cabinet the republican, Mr. Hoover, who thoroughly disapproved of his party, his platform and his candidacy, is altogether too obvious to be effective.

What's Millard's Offense?
 Kansas City Star: Wonder what Premier Millard has done that the French politicians should want to shove him in the presidency.

It May Be Either Minneapolis Journal: Whether the tomato is a fruit or vegetable, the pendu upon the state of mind of the eater.
