TWO BOYS HELD TO DISTRICT COURT

Geo. Darnell and Harry Davis Bound Over as Charges of Theft of Car From Winslow Made.

The evidence for the state recited that a new Dorr car belonging to W. D. Morrow living one mile east and half mile south of Winslow, had been parked on the Main street in Winslow on Saturday evening, Sept. 11, and that when members of the Morrow family went to get it, it was gone.

The evidence also showed that on Sept. 11, Young returned to the home of Stanton and got a couple of girls to take them to a dance and that when they reached the Dan Morrow farm, they were met by Darnell and Harry Davis, who had been driving the car.

The evidence also showed that on Sept. 22 they quit their jobs here and left Norfolk where they registered and secured employment under various names.

Young Darnell testified that he went to his home at Winslow on Sept. 11 and young Davis said he went to Stanton on Sept. 11 and came back and walked from Stanton to his sister's home, seven miles away. The boys said they had borrowed from some one the keys to the Dorr car which they left at the Stanton farm.

CEMENT NEEDED FOR BASE

Lack of Brick, Cushion Sand and Cement-Holding Up Paving.

Lack of material is holding up the work of paving the streets this week. The work of laying the base on Main street was completed as far as the concrete work is concerned.

Every girl in the school is eligible to membership in this club and urged to take part in the activities. The club has a large membership and extended hikes, averaging about four miles, each evening of the week, and as they become accustomed to the work the distance will be increased.

Lincoln-Andrews. Paul Ernest Lingen, son of Nels E. Lingen of Wayne, and Miss Anna Mary Andrews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Andrews of Albion, were married at the Boyd hotel Wednesday morning, Oct. 6, by the Rev. Wm. Kilburn.

Miss Madeline Bonnet played the wedding music. Guests from away country were present. A large number of Albion, parents of the bride, and Miss Johnson of Sioux City, a cousin of the bride, were present at the ceremony, a six-course dinner including a large wedding cake, decorated with horseshoe designs, was served to the guests.

The Hoover lifts the rug from the floor, like this—flutters it up a cushion of air, gently and unobtrusively, and so prolongs its life.

The ancient dread of the fall housecleaning is removed by the possession of a Hoover. In fact, housecleaning in a Hoover is eliminated, as far as floor coverings, hangings and many other furnishings are concerned.

Regularly each week, the summer dust admitted through open windows can be quickly removed from rugs, hangings and upholstered furniture, with less effort and infinitely greater effectiveness than by the old hand methods. When fall comes, there is no occasion for the semi-annual chaos of our mothers' time.

Special attachments make the cleaning of mattresses and many other furnishings extremely simple, as our demonstrator will be pleased to show you. Telephone for a demonstration in your home or see The Hoover—beating, sweeping and suction cleaning in our store.

TO DISPOSE OF CORN CROPS

Banks to Loosen Up and Loan Money to Farmers to Buy Feeders.

Norfolk Daily News, Oct. 2: What are the farmers in the Norfolk district going to do with one of the biggest crops of corn in the history of this territory?

That is the question which appears to be on the lips of every farmer who discusses the corn situation.

Few Feeders Here.

One fact of importance to future farm conditions, is that there are very few feeders in this part of the country and that it will require enormous amounts of money to buy feeding stock. Another phase relates to the difficulty farmers find to borrow money with which to buy feeders.

"If we have a double crop of corn and have to sell it for around sixty to eighty cents, we are not going to make any money." If we can't borrow money to buy feeders, we won't be able to sell the corn any way, and unless the farmer turns the money in and help us bring feeders into the corn country, the outlook is not cheerful.

The foregoing statement was made by one farmer who reports he has 200 acres of the finest corn he has ever raised and who is anxious about the future.

Thinks Money Will Be Available.

Frank Melcher, manager of the Farmers' Melcher and Livestock company, has just returned from a trip of inspection to the South Omaha livestock exchange. He reports the run of feeders is beginning, and he believes the time is rapidly approaching when there will be plenty of money available to farmers with which to buy feeding stock.

"The corn crop in our district is a wonderful one," Mr. Melcher says. "We have about 5,000 bushels of old corn left in this part of the country. The new crop will be enormous. It must be used up the one way or another."

There is very little feeding stock here now, but it is beginning to come to the market from the west.

LUNATIC CAPTURED AT PIERCE

Man Who Annoyed Residents an Escape From Norfolk Hospital.

An insane man from the Norfolk hospital who has been causing much excitement in Pierce lately, was captured by Sheriff E. A. Kincaid near the Henry Mowbray home east of town a week ago last Friday. The man had been known to Pierce citizens as "Black Tom Prepper" and had caused the most trouble in the west part of town where he practiced his peeping acts. One report said he had two horns and another that he was clothed in red and wore a pair of red boots.

Sister Processa of the Catholic parochial school at Osmond, was fatally injured, two other Catholic sisters badly wounded and Ben Schmitz, driver of the car hurt about the head near Osmond a week ago last Tuesday when the car driven by Schmitz collided with another automobile bound for Osmond.

In honor of Sergeant Roy Reed, the first Winslow boy to fall in action, Post 232 of the American Legion at Winslow decided to adopt the name of Reed post, at a meeting held in the city hall a week ago last Tuesday.

Tracks of heavy boots and a broken pane of glass in the back window of the Variety store at Wausa, led Henry W. Johnson, owner of the store, and others whom he called in to investigate the matter, to believe that an attempt at burglary had been made Monday night. The pane looked as if the burglars had tried to cut it with a glass cutter and had broken it in the process. The tracks of the breaking or something else probably frightened them away.

S. J. Swan, a pioneer merchant of Wausa, died at the Nebraska Sanatorium in Omaha Friday afternoon following a major operation. Mr. Swan came to Wausa from Wakefield when the railroad was first built and then opened up a general merchandise store in partnership with his brother Nels Swan.

He retired from business in 1913 and since then had devoted his time principally to farming. Club rooms for the public will be opened October 8, at the city hall in Wausa by the Boosters' Athletic club of that place. The rooms are being painted and renovated for the opening night and a program of music, singing, sports and athletic stunts has been arranged.

Jesse Guard, a brakeman on an Aurora run, was fatally injured at Grand Island a week ago Monday when he was caught between two box cars while coupling a disabled car with a chain. He died on a special train which was bringing him to his home in Aurora.

James Cox, democratic candidate for president, spoke ten minutes at Wausa on his way through that town a short time ago, on his return to the east from his recent western trip.

A nephew of Frank Berner of Pender, was attacked and badly bitten last Monday by a vicious St. Bernard dog. The boy was helping his uncle haul a hog when the dog suddenly made the attack. The animal was beaten away with clubs and later killed.

A catfish weighing seven-and-a-half pounds was caught in the Missouri river by L. F. Hoese of Hartington. It was sold to the meat market in the town and was furnished to a large number of families with fresh fish for dinner.

Dr. J. M. Johnson of Fordyce was seriously injured on a Sunday morning while traveling home from Winnebago last Tuesday. His car collided with another going at a high rate of speed in another direction.

Dr. Johnson was thrown through the windshield onto the other automobile and had his right arm broken and his face badly cut. A. M. Dawson of Sioux City, who accompanied Dr. Johnson sustained a broken leg and Mr. Marshall of Sioux City another companion of the Johnson car was badly cut and bruised. The occupants of the other car were uninjured.

Six Cents for Husking.

Drivers Journal-Stockman: At a conference held at Denison, Ia., recently by representatives of several different counties in that section of the state, the question of price for corn husking was discussed in detail. After a good deal of talk, however, it was moved, seconded and carried that farmers agree upon a price of 6 cents a bushel and bring it to the mill with corn that stood up well, the price on other fields to be governed accordingly.

The farmers were of the opinion that six cents is a fair scale for good corn because it is well cared for, the husks are opening and the yield will be exceptionally high. Furthermore, the prospective price of the crop this year is far from encouraging. Several men were of the opinion that if they got seventy-five cents a bushel they would be going well.

"The idea of making this stand on husking was to stimulate action among the farmers of Iowa. Last year, the price for husking was around ten cents but the corn sold for nearly double what it will probably bring this year. The labor bureau office at Des Moines has not as yet expressed itself on the question of a proposed scale.

George Plambeck of Gretna, Neb., when asked regarding a uniform price for husking said that six or seven cents would be a proportional price, but doubted if the farmers of Nebraska could get their work done for this amount. You will always

Catarial Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarrhal Deafness, and that is by the use of the CAZARRE MEDICINE which acts through the blood to the diseased membrane, and restores it to its normal condition and cures the deafness.

When this medicine is used in the early stages of Catarrhal Deafness, and when the eardrum is intact, it restores it to its normal condition, and the hearing is regained. When the eardrum is broken, the inflammation must be reduced first, and then the medicine can be used to restore the hearing.

CAZARRE MEDICINE is a powerful medicine, and should be used with care. It is sold in bottles of FIFTY DOLLARS for each case.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

From Wayne-Herald-Tribune for October 1, 1885:

The ducks have begun flying southward.

F. M. Northern went to Ponca
 Tuesday on legal business.

The prairie fires are making the air as hazy as Indian summer.

Goldsmith Maid, the famous trotter is dead. She was 28 years old.

Mrs. H. C. Wright goes to Ottumwa, Iowa, tomorrow to visit her mother.

The fair committee have engaged the services of the band during the fair.

The hand boys expect to give a concert as soon as they can arrange conveniently for it.

M. E. Allen has resigned his position on the railroad and will engage in the drygoods business.

According to the latest crop estimates Nebraska will stand second in the list of corn producing states.

The crossing from the Herald-Tribune building to the west side of the street has been repaired as per order of the city clerk.

F. L. Miller has added new shelving and otherwise improved the inside of his business establishment to receive room for the much larger stock of goods his trade demands.

M. K. Rickabaugh left Tuesday morning for his former home, Millersville, Iowa, where he was summoned as a witness in an important lawsuit. He will return Monday.

A heavy prairie fire is said to be raging over the western and valuable property is being destroyed. This undoubtedly accounts for the smoky appearance of the atmosphere during the past few days. Fix up your fire lines.—Wiener Times.

From Ponca Journal, October 5, 1882:

John Brown of this place, is about to open a billiard hall in Wakefield.

J. W. W. who was at Wakefield this week, reports that the place is improving as rapidly as ever.

Tremendous rains and floods have lately been prevailing in New York, New Jersey and other eastern states.

A Barber, who went to Washington territory last spring, has returned, satisfied that this is the best country in the world.

On Monday night there was a heavy dose of thunder and lightning, and rain, which continued through the clouds threatened a deluge.

One of the town bells has been moved into the belfry on the school house, which will be done regularly call the children from play to study.

Phillips & Ryan are doing a rough lumber business. They are considered to bring in from one to three carloads of choice lumber every day, in order to meet the wants of their customers.

In relation to the meeting of the commissioners on Monday, there was a misunderstanding all around. The clerk and treasurer understood that the meeting was to be the 2nd Tuesday of October, and one of the commissioners thought it was to be on the 1st Tuesday, and the others believed the day appointed was the first Monday. Hence little business was transacted and the board adjourned to October 31.

Political Parties Necessary.
 Des Moines Capital: We believe in two strong political parties.

We are not anxious to have the democratic party go out of business.
 We are only anxious that there shall be a change of administration because the democrats have failed in the discharge of great duties opportunity has given them. We are in favor of the state of Iowa having two political parties.—We are not behind there is anything to be gained for good government in the so-called foundation of the independent voter.

We do not say that a man should vote the straight party ticket. But we do say that so far as Iowa is concerned it would be a mistake to have a letting down of party lines.

The strongest safeguard in this state against the irrad of socialism, communism, anarchy, or North-Dakota nonpareilism is the great republican party of Iowa. All the known "isms" trouble several states on our borders, and they have not been able to trouble Iowa. If the voting population of Iowa were to split up into factions, each declaring for some kind of a reform, it would only result in the creation of groups that might accomplish in Iowa what Towley has done in North Dakota and Minnesota, and what Towley is now attempting to do in Nebraska.

Minnesota lacks the unchanging attitude of Iowa, because of the presence of two great cities, each containing many people more than equal to American institutions.

Members of both sexes can analyze the situation better, and know the will of all the states in the corn belt has been undisturbed by the dangerous "isms" that vex other states. The great republican party of Iowa should be maintained. It should be strengthened. It should be made conform to what the people want.
 The state should not be broken up into groups with leaders sincere and insincere shouting from the house tops for something to be done by somebody.

Something Accomplished.

Maytag Electric and Multi-motor Washers

These Standard Washers Banish the Wash-Day Drudgery

MAYTAG
Wood Tub Electric

This sturdy "wood tub" electric washer is equipped with the Maytag Swinging Reversible Wringer, the motive power for both washer and wringer being supplied by a standard General Electric motor installed immediately beneath the tub giving it unusual stability and removing all danger from exposed mechanism.

This washer can be instantly attached to any electric light socket and at the average cost of electric current can be operated at about two cents an hour for power. The Maytag Electric can be used in the farm home as it is adapted to operation in connection with any type of standard portable electric light system now becoming so popular for farm lighting.

MAYTAG
Multi-Motor Washer

This machine contains its own power plant—a small engine—installed under the tub, just as a motor is attached to the electric washer. The engine is started by simply pressing the foot on the starting pedal which spins and starts the motor. The power supplied is as constant and steady as the electric current.

The farmer's wife who possesses a Multi-Motor Washer is not dependent upon the whims or necessities of the men folks. Where the washing is done by power from the ordinary farm power plant the men almost invariably have some urgent use for it on washday.

UNCLE WALT THE POET PHILOSOPHER

Climate.
 For balmy airs I've always wished, and now I have 'em 'tween the trees, the finest climate ever dished around me as I crank my lyre. The summer brings no sizzling heat, but from the sea cool breezes blow; the water has no swells or tides to fill rheumatic legs with woe. But when I lay me down to sleep I dream of Kansas every night; of Kansas, where rest is common, and some sleep, and rest is just a trifle. Some day, no doubt, I will depart for Eden, where all things are fine, where scaling leaden heavens start and grieve, and we take in their sign. There with the saints I hope to roam along the crystal river's shore, exulting in that land where sorrow soaks at nevermore. But still my thoughts will wander thence at times, when chrouns are stiller; 'till I'm against the green mountains' longings I'll be filled. Strange longings for the old elm trees beneath whose boughs I used to stray; strange longings for the Kansas breeze that blew our county seat away. Now splendors rise at every turn, new glories every hour I find, yet my old heart must ever yearn for those dear scenes I left behind.

Rumors of War.
 One day the Russians hunt their holes, traced by force-triumphant Poles; the next the Poles are on the run, spurred on by Russian sword and gun. And, as I dope myself for guess the wonder what it's all about. There's trouble brewing everywhere, and warlike rumors fill the air. I thought, when closed the three-king war, "Peace is the thing we're yearning for; the whole blamed world is sick of gore, and weary of the cannon's roar. The nations all would speed the plow and set the hen and milk the cow, pursue the gentle arts of peace, and bid the yanking captains cease." But now the Pole pursues the Russ and makes a most unseemly fuss; and now the Russ pursues the Pole, and shoots him with a ton of coal; wherever men infest the map, some tribes are itching for a scrap. And as I lead myself with heat, I wonder what it's all about. Why can't the blame fools nations meet with friendly hearts, in concord sweet, and settle all their silly rows, and then go home to milk the cows? Why does the Pole pursue the Russ, and shoot him with a Munderous? Why does the Russian awe the Pole? Has he no higher, nobler goal? Why don't they meet with friendly grins, and shake the dice to see who wins?

October Sighs.
 My heart is sad and sober, and has a convex pain; for all through gray October I'll hear this sad refrain: "The Fall will soon be ended, the Autumn fair and splendid; let all your rags be rended, for Winter comes again!" I'll bear it in the calling of wild geese overhead, and in

POLITICAL ADVERTISING Vote for RE-ELECTION of

CHIEF JUSTICE
Andrew M. Morrissey

The political parties have made no mention of Chief Justice. The Chief Justice is not elected as a party candidate, but his name will be carried with other judicial candidates, and such a record as a judicial officer, Chief Justice Morrissey because we believe in his ability to do his duty in the courts out of politics and to elect a high judge with the same ability three years behind. Today the court is made up of men who are not practicable for a supreme court to be. Credit for this is not wholly due to the Chief Justice, but other members of the court who have compromised this result give full credit to Chief Justice Morrissey for his share in the accomplishment. Chief Justice Morrissey has the executive ability that gets results. He enjoys the friendship and cooperation of his associates, has the respect and confidence of the people who have business with the Supreme Court. He has helped to clear away many technicalities of the law. Law-breakers have been brought to justice, and there is more respect for the courts. We believe in the Chief Justice, and we vote for Chief Justice, ask your District Judge, Lincoln Tribune.

the treeless-falling of withered leaves and dead; and in the farewell singing of birds prepared for winging to lands where tempests sting; "Oh! winter—man-see-red. Let other days are golden, although green things expire; her many charms enfolden the bard to wreat his lyre; but always there is sighing, and sad and plaintive crying, and lovely things are dying, in dun and brown attire. The sunshine's piler, wanderer; that late, was glowing strong; the evening winds are breaker, the nights are dark and long; and all the signs are hinting that Autumn's swiftly glides; soon Winter will be wint'ing; its rude, ferocious song. October's mild and pensive, she has her quiet joys; her smiles are comprehensive and fall on the boys; but while she's with us staying, her ducimer-a-playing, my thoughts are ever straying to Winter's angry noise.

House of Hapsburg.
 The princess of the Hapsburg line in camp and court now cut no ice; they have to fast while others dine, and they must work for every cent of the price. Some eight duchesses and dukes now stand around with frigid feet, their titles now seem empty flukes because they can't get enough to eat. They send to us the warning cry, from roofless castles where they lurk, "Unless the ravens bring us pie, we gravely fear we'll have to work." With noble courage thus they face a future fraught with dread and fears, these actions of a "singy-rave-dread"ed for quite a thousand years. Far better face the headman's ax than be a laundress or a clerk, but proudly they'll get down to tasks, and if they must, why they will work. Their landmarks are forever gone, their world is jostled upside down, and some cheap uncle has in pawn the jeweled scepter and the crown. Too proud to seek the craven's doom by means of rope or gun or dirk, they cry, amid the encircling gloom, "Just lead us to the honest work." And if for honest work they look, they will not need to travel far; I'd take a duchess as my cook, and hire a duke to run my car.

George the Great.
 This George of England is a king whose name is more-mentioned; how he kicks like everything at greedy profiteering. Some time ago Queen Mary said, "I've through the palace captured, and certain rooms need painting red, the walls should be repapered. Most any time some royal nobs may come around week-ends, and they'll think 'em that shiftless swabs to housework were attending." Said George, whose head began to throbb, "if you'll-but cease meddling, I'll have the lord high hangunbol call in the paperhangers." The honest British workmen came, prepared to paint and putty; they noted the wages they would claim, and George said, "You are nutty; there is no sense in such a price as you are now demanding; to you a pitcher full of ice, with royal grace, I'm handing. Because some thriftless kings have flung the coin with zeal distressing, you think that George may be strong, but you are poor and guessing. I'll pay the balance all alone, with princely vim and vigor, before I'll pay you men a bone above a righteous figure." The royal shack is punk, in fact, offending all who scan it, and Mary reads the riot act, but George is firm as granite. He says, "Oh, my dear noble head, I'll shabby be for ages, unless some lady come up the road whot work for decent wages."

The Zoo.
 I sometimes go to see the Zoo, where shellworn Bruin rages, and moidy lions, grin-and-blaa-look forth from rusty cages. And there are wolves from forests dark, and monkeys ten or seven; and weary critters howl and bark and send their wails to heaven. All they peac the soddan floor (save when the keepers feed 'em) and slick their noses through the door, and yearn and yelp for freedom. They're dreaming of the jungles deep where once they gaily gambled, or of the mountains wild and steep where in their youth they scanned. They're thinking of the forest dense, of wood lore strange and clever; and now behind an iron fence they're doomed to pace forever. No more for these unhappy beasts the hunting call and rally; no more for them the outlaw feasts in desert, swamp or valley. No more in some vast silent land will their swift feet be racing; and idle human beings stand, and watch their tireless pacing. We've put these sad-eyed wretches in jail, without a writ or warrant, in musty cages foul and stale, with atmosphere abhorrent. They did not boozee or beat—the wives or do some need law sinning; they merely tried to live their lives as planned in the beginning. And now the poor moth-eaten wrecks behind the bars moan languish, and idle, snoring ruffians may view their endless anguish.

Much Cry, Little Wool.
 William H. Taft in the Philadelphia Public Ledger: In the history of American politics there never has been so much cry and so little wool. The vast silent land will their swift feet be racing; and idle human beings stand, and watch their tireless pacing. We've put these sad-eyed wretches in jail, without a writ or warrant, in musty cages foul and stale, with atmosphere abhorrent. They did not boozee or beat—the wives or do some need law sinning; they merely tried to live their lives as planned in the beginning. The Key To Bargain Town

PRESENTING the key of the City to an honored guest was an old time English Custom—but it didn't get the guest anything.

Offering you the key to Bargaintown—has a real significance. It bids you a welcome to this great City of Savings—where an ever increasing army of people are purchasing their household goods—furniture—clothes—luxuries and comforts, at so low a cost that they can get a great deal more for a great deal less than they could purchase anywhere else.

The Davison system of merchandising is your assurance—it brings the richest stores of the world's markets to your very door, through the cheapest possible channels.

A thin profit spread over an immense volume is the very keynote of our operations. The Davison buyers and buying offices in every commercial center of the globe are ever on the alert—continually securing the markets for the goods you need at the lowest prices at which they can be secured.

Get It at Davidson's

Is the familiar thought in the minds of the thousands of shoppers who daily go to Sioux City for their requirements. But whether you need anything or not, make the big store your headquarters.

Our Rest and Writing Rooms—Free Telephones—Information Bureau—Free Parcel Office are at your disposal. They are for your sole benefit.

Come and spend the day—have lunch in the Cafe in the Basement. You are sure of a hearty welcome—there's always a cordial reception awaiting you. Be one of the thousands who have grown to make Davidson's their meeting place.

Lessman Manure Loader

Serves Economy

Are You Going to Market Your Oats at 45c per bushel?

Why not clean up the feed lot and make nine times as much?
Every load of manure you haul out is worth $8 to $12 per load each year for at least five years.
Which at the end of five years paid the most for your one day's labor?

DID YOU EVER STOP TO FIGURE?

Using the following figures at present prices:

Oct. 1, 1920, hauled two loads of oats, 100 bushels at 45c.....	$ 45.00
Oct. 1 hauled fifty loads of manure at $8.00 per load.....	400.00
Continuing this one day's work for a period of five years as follows:
Ten loads of oats at the rate of two each year.....	$50.00
550 loads of manure at the rate of fifty loads each day.....	$2000.00
Making a difference of.....	$1550.00

If every farmer would figure profits he would be hauling manure instead of oats. It being impossible to lose this amount by hand, the Lessman loader and your Fordson will load all the manure you have and many other things, such as loading dirt or gravel, making this machine pay more dividends than even your grain harvester.

We are prepared to deliver you one of these loaders on short notice and it will do all we claim in our folders.

Do not fail to see this Lessman Loader attachment on exhibit at the Wayne Motor Company.

Feeding Cattle a Winner.

Drivers Journal-Stockman: "Buy feeder stock at the right time for the right price, feed them judiciously, and you are bound to make money," declared Fred Schroeder of Waver, Neb., while in Omaha looking for some likely looking stock to feed over the winter.

"They say that 'well-bought is half sold' and I find that it is true. The place where the average stockman loses his money is not when he sells his stock, but when he buys them as feeders. Bearing this in mind, I decided not to make any attempt to feed out the fancy stock that can be bought for fancy prices, but will limit my activities to feeding the cheaper grades this winter.

Wants Wet Cows.

"On this trip to market I expect to buy up a bunch of wet cows weighing close to a thousand pounds each. I am not going to pay any high prices for the stock—because if I can't get them reasonable, I won't buy, that's final. These cows will be placed in the dry lots and fed good and heavy until along the latter part of December, when I expect them to be in condition to be marketed after having put on a gain of a couple hundred pounds. According to my estimates they will sell for not less than 8 cents a pound and will give me a fair margin of profit in addition to the gains they put on.

"We have a half-section farm close to Wisner with about 70 acres of corn. As soon as I get these cows home they will go direct to the feed bins and start in on a ration of snap corn and alfalfa hay. It has always been my custom to start them out slow and increase the amounts fed on them as they go along, never giving them more than they can clean up. I hate to see some old slopped-over corn lying in the bunkers after the cattle have eaten their fill. I aim to feed them just enough so that they will be up at the bunkers literally begging for more feed rather than waste it.

"Along the first of the year, after I have marketed these cows, it is my intention to come back to market and buy up a bunch of light stuff for a longer and more intensive feed. Right now what I want is some cattle that will put on good gains at a rapid rate of speed. The light stuff will be fed until well along in the summer if conditions are right for them."

Although Mr. Schroeder is one of the common farmers from his neighborhood, he is a tried feeder and has proven most successful in his feeding operations. His ability to judge good foundation stock together with the knack he has of making the cattle put meat on the right spot at the right time, has forced him in the front ranks of the eastern Nebraska stock feeders.

"Storage Battery" a Mijommer.

"According to the experts, a storage battery doesn't store electricity at all," says J. A. Gurnon, Willard service station dealer, "but the term describes the piece of automobile equipment well enough so that everybody knows what 'you mean."

"What really happens inside the battery is a chemical change involving the lead, lead compounds and the acid of the solution. This chemical change is forced along by the chemical energy released from the charging generator. As soon as the battery is called on to light the lights, spin the starter or do any other work, the chemical energy is released and produces the required electricity."

"Though the process is quite complicated, the battery is remarkably simple and needs little attention. As long as the charge is kept up to above the 1.250 mark on the hydrometer, and the battery solution is kept three-eighths of an inch above the tops of the insulators, the car owner can feel that he is giving proper attention to this vital part of his car."

Before and After.

Jay E. House: The difference between a wife and an engaged woman is that a wife puts on her own rubbers.

The Tailored-made pictured above is just one of the many smart garments we have to show you. Note the straight graceful lines to the coat—the swing to the collar, the narrow shoulders and snug fitting sleeves.

Fall Clothes that will Retain Their Style

There is no problem that appears quite so difficult for the woman these days as how to secure enduring style. So often a garment that was quite in vogue last year is hopelessly out of date this year.

And yet economy demands of the woman that she wear her clothes beyond one season, out-of-style or no.

The clothes we are showing here enduring style. You'll find in our Fall and Winter display from these fashion designers nothing of the faddy or bizarre. But heaps of real style tailored in so that it will last as long as the garment; and that's a long time.

Things About the Store

New Fall Dresses

We are offering at special sale, Tricotiné, Serge and Jersey dresses, valued up to $80 at very attractive prices. These garments are the last words in fall dresses; cleverly tailored, richly trimmed in silk braiding and heavy yarns, some accordion pleated. CARNIVAL HERE THIS WEEK

Walter Savidge Amusement Company Closing Successful Season.

Walter Savidge came to Wayne Sunday with his carnival company for the final week of the season. On account of saving operations in the south part of town, the scene of the carnival has been located near the city hall.

With the season's practice every branch of the show works in more nearly perfect order than at the beginning. The ever popular Savidge band gives a fine variety of music, and enlivens the evening festivities. The dramatic players are at their best, and their productions are of a high order.

Mr. Savidge says he has had a very successful season, and goes into winter quarters well satisfied with the result.

JOHN L. SOULES NOT DEAD

Makes Statement Without Fear of Successful Contradiction.

Saturday's World-Herald stated that John L. Soules who was killed in the Whispook Range, Nebraska, is now dead. This same Soules who is a resident of Wayne, acknowledges that he was the man who died July 4, 1890, but insists that he is not dead, the World-Herald to the contrary notwithstanding.

Come Here To Dye

THIS week a great quantity of coats, suits, dresses, skirts, waists and sweaters arrived from various parts of the country to be cleaned and dyed by the Wayne Cleaning Works. These garments were sent here by some of the largest dyeing concerns in Nebraska, knowing they would be handled by experts who would turn out satisfactorily finished products.

It is important to know such an institution is maintained in Wayne. It is important to know that work from some of the largest cities of Nebraska are entrusted to this establishment. This being true, people hereabouts should bring their garments to be cleaned and dyed, and worn hats to be built over and made to look like new. We dye all colors, fast and even.

It is a source of true economy to prolong the life of garments and hats by having them treated by such experts as are employed by this establishment.

Roasts

Roast meat is tempting these cool autumn days. Whether you prefer a rib roast rolled or standing or a good, tasty pot roast, you will find it here.

Careful buying which brings only the choicest meats to our markets is the one reason for this—and the other is that we know how to cut meat properly.

EXIDE BATTERIES

For Power Under the Sea

The air in a submarine, when under the sea, is too precious to use for power. When they are running submerged, submarines are propelled by electric storage batteries. Eighty per cent of American submarines rely on Exide Batteries. Each cell weighs more than a ton and there are 120 cells to a battery. A majority of all the submarines in the world are propelled under the sea by Exide Batteries.

Our navy and the navies of various foreign nations use Exide Batteries for gun firing, auxiliary lighting, and other purposes. On the land, great industries depend on Exides for propelling trucks and locomotives, for railroad signals and drawbridges, for the current in telephone systems, for reserve power in nearly all the central stations of our great cities.

In the air, Exides are used for airplane ignition and for reserve power to send wireless messages. Exide is the only battery made for every battery purpose. It is made by the oldest and largest manufacturers of storage batteries in the world.

REVOLVING WHEEL BURSTS

Escape From Injury as Result of Accident Seems Miraculous. That no one was killed or even injured by the bursting of a balance wheel attached to a circular saw in the yard of John P. Bressler Saturday morning seems almost miraculous.

When Bees Are Bees

To most people a bee is an insect with a hot stinger and that's about as far as their knowledge of bees goes. That is why the wonderful tales circulated and believed gain credence among those who have a tolerably well balanced knowledge of things in general.

However, there are thousands of thousands of bees in this state each year by the owners thereof, when the honey crop has been a failure and it is necessary to provide the bees with something to eat to keep them from starving.

Stringent laws are in force in the state and nation against the adulteration of food products and honey is no exception under those laws.

Mariage of Hays Main. Marshalltown Times-Republican, Sept. 27: Before a company of guests, including friends and members of her family, Miss Mary Cummings, only daughter of Judge and Mrs. P. Cummings, 1002 West Main street, was taken in marriage at the home Saturday night to Mr. Hays McElroy Main, of Vinton, son of Mrs. Winifred Main of Norfolk, Neb. The ceremony was performed at 10 o'clock by Rev. G. H. Main, of Albion, Neb., an uncle of the bridegroom.

Miss Helen Main, Wayne, Neb., sister of the bridegroom, attended as maid of honor, and Mrs. J. C. McMahon, of State Center, was matron of honor. Ernest B. Grainger, of Lincoln, Neb., a classmate of Mr. Main's, was best man. The bridesmaids were Misses Berdine Snyder, of Council Bluffs, and Elizabeth Flournoy, of Sioux City, classmate of the bride, and Katherine Dwyer and Bess Selby. Miss Fredrika Wilbur and Miss Grace McElroy were ring bearers.

The ceremony was performed in front of the fire place which was banked with pine with a high basket of yellow canna and roses on the mantel. Miss Bess Selby, who played Mendelssohn's wedding march and selections during the ceremony and Miss Helen Bentley sang, "Let Us Praise Thee, O Lord." The bride was given away by her father.

The bride was handsomely powdered in white. Danne velvet and lace veils, the gems of the gift of the bridegroom. The color scheme was warm and yellow and the bridesmaids wore dresses in these colors with corsage bouquets of white roses and carnations. Each wore a silver locket, gifts from the bride.

After the ceremony dancing was given and a splendid supper was served. Mesdames D. J. Smith, George F. Thayer and Fred M. Wilbur were parlor hostesses. The bride and groom returned here and was graduated from the local high school in '15 and from Wesley in '19. After her graduation she taught Latin in the Vinton high school for one year. She is a most charming young woman with a wide circle of friends and acquaintances, especially among the younger people.

Gas Causes Girl's Death. North Platte, Neb., Oct. 4.—The body of Miss Edith Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Patterson, of West Fourth street, was found in her bedroom on the second floor of the Patterson home, overcome with gas when the fire department was called.

The firemen suspected Miss Patterson's presence in the house because of the Patterson automobile being in front. A search party, consisting of Mr. Dent, Mr. Manning, who lives nearby; Rev. R. Mackintosh, Francis Sandall, and Clarence Spicer, found the body. She was pronounced dead as soon as brought to the air, but Drs. Dent and Wurtelle worked over the body for several hours.

Miss Patterson was a member of one of the oldest families in this state. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Patterson, are grief-stricken. Miss Patterson was for a number of years a teacher in the high school and a leader in all circles. The origin of the fire is unknown.

FREIGHT CAR THIEF IS CAUGHT

Wakefield Marshal and Detective From Omaha Catch Robbers.

Two thieves belonging to a Sioux City gang failed to make away with $600 worth of booty consisting of sheepskin lined coats, automobile hooded baggage and other goods, they were caught in the act of removing these articles from three freight cars on the Wakefield track at 3 a. m. Saturday morning by Night Marshal C. M. Clinkenbeard and J. L. Moore, a detective from Omaha.

The detective from Omaha had been watching the train and kept a close watch that night. He and the marshal stole up to them in the dark. One of the thieves managed to escape but the officers captured the other by closing the door of the car where he was busy heading out the plunder. The other robber did not take any of the merchandise with him.

The prisoner was identified as a man named Huffman from Sioux City. Sheriff A. H. McCall was called over Saturday morning to take Huffman to Ponca where he was tried Wednesday.

When the freight cars were opened by the thieves. These were all cars on the branch line. One was filled with merchandise for Concord, Rose and Cedar, and with merchandise for Coleridge and Laurel and a third with goods billed to Wakefield and Hartington.

SCHOOL NEWS

Friday's Game Draws Crowd.

A good-sized crowd attended the football game played here with Coleridge on Friday. The result was a tie of 33 to 13 in favor of Wakefield.

Clean playing and no roughness or quarreling characterized the game between the two schools. Both were good players and good sportsmen. John M. Matzen, state superintendent of schools, was in Wakefield Friday and attended the football game. A feature of the occasion was the attendance of part of the Wakefield band, led by the school band leader, the Wayne high school were down to watch the game.

The first football team of the Wayne Normal school will play a practice game with the Wakefield team on Friday.

Pender's football team comes here Friday to play the second team. Pender was at first scheduled to meet the first team but asked to play the second team instead.

Volley ball is a popular pastime with the girls of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades.

Nearly all Wakefield teachers will attend a meeting at the Emerson on Saturday of this week.

Second Grade Has Grocery.

The second grade has a grocery store in one corner of the room. Drygoods boxes covered with white paper have been made into cupboard shelves. The shelves of the store are covered with shelf paper cut out by the children and are stocked with an amazing array of goods made up in the most approved way. Store fittings are complete even to scales and coffee grinder. The children have made sticks of stified candy by coloring and rolling paper. Paper money made by the pupils is the standard currency. The store does a thriving business and makes arithmetic lessons pleasant.

Prices Cannot Be Reduced Because they have never been inflated

In answer to numerous inquiries coming to him concerning the future prices of Nash products, Mr. C. W. Nash, president of the Nash Motors Company, Kenosha, Wisconsin, said "These inquiries I believe are largely occasioned by recent announcements of price declines on the part of some manufacturers in the automobile industry. It is not my purpose to discuss the motives or causes leading up to their decision.

"I am proud of the past achievements of the Nash Motors Company. I feel certain of its future. I am sure that our company can and will produce and market passenger cars and trucks in their price class at least as cheaply as any other manufacturing concern similarly engaged.

"We have not been profiteers. We have turned a deaf ear to all suggestions of inflated prices when market conditions were such that our production constituted only a small percentage of our demand—I do not endorse that method, believing as I do that such a procedure is manifestly unfair and is the cause of much of the discontent and inequalities that are today so prevalent.

"Taking as an example our advanced five-passenger car and considering the additional cost of steel tires and many other improvements, it has been advanced practically 24 per cent over our previous prices. The same is true with reference to our other models. Labor, which constitutes the largest percentage of the cost of our product, is being paid at present the highest price in our history. This item alone has increased several times the advance noted above and it can not be reduced. We cannot buy the high grade materials used in our cars and trucks any cheaper.

IN PASSING, COMPARE THE PERCENTAGE OF INCREASE IN THE PRICE OF OUR PRODUCT OVER PRE-WAR PRICES WITH OTHERS ENGAGED IN THIS BUSINESS.

This tells the whole story. It must be evident from the foregoing statements that the increased cost of production is and will be for a long time to come infinitely more than 24 per cent. What is the answer?

"We cannot, having in mind a reasonable margin of profit for the Nash Motors Company, reduce the price of our product without resorting to a business policy that would be dangerous and one that would discredit our organization in the mind of the public, whose confidence must constitute our principal asset.

"Improvements and additions to our product, to make it more nearly 100 per cent perfect, may, and probably will, be made from time to time. BUT THE POLICY OF THE NASH MOTORS COMPANY WILL BE TO ABSOLUTELY MAINTAIN ITS PRESENT PRICES TO AT LEAST 25 PER CENT. This does not imply that there will be a reduction at that time, as, viewing the future as I see it now, any reduction then would depend entirely on any reduction in the cost of material and labor at that time. This statement does not obtain against any increase in prices of our product.

"In conclusion, we justly claim the proud distinction that our factory is running full time with full production and we are finding a ready market for our product, which furnishes us substantial evidence that we enjoy that full measure of confidence on the part of the public, that is so necessary to the successful prosecution of our business and the realization of our ideals."

The following present prices on both Nash passenger cars and trucks will be maintained to July 1, 1921, at least and possibly longer:

AGRICULTURE NOTES

Over 100 farmers owning motor trucks in 14 eastern states who answered a recent query of the United States department of agriculture 75 per cent said they believed the use of trucks would show a profit. Preference leaned toward a one-ton truck. Bad roads were the principal drawback mentioned.

Meat Prices in Brazil.
E. Z. Russell and T. H. Burk, representing the United States department of agriculture in South America, have furnished the following account of retail meat shops in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

Beef is sold fresh every day; none can be carried over, because only two or three shops in the city have any refrigeration, though the population of the city is approximately 1,500,000. A large percentage of the fresh meat in Rio is killed at a station outside the city and at a packing plant two hours distant by train. The meat is received in the afternoon and all is sold before noon of the following day. The city's daily meat consumption is approximately as follows: Five hundred and fifty cattle of an average dressed weight of 480 pounds, 80 hogs, and 20 sheep and goats.

The following meat prices were current at one of the retail markets in Rio July 1: Good beef with all bone taken out, 14 cents; whole hog's heads, 17 cents per pound; fat sides, sold rolled up, 18 cents; smoked pork loin and smoked pork chops, 40 cents; best quality hams, 70 cents; second quality, 55 cents; dry salt sides, 25 cents; wieners, 35 cents; salted pigs' feet, 15 cents; salted spareribs, 25 cents. Incidentally live spring chickens sold at 35 cents a pound and fresh eggs at 55 cents a dozen.

The Skunk as a Help.
Few persons know exactly what constitutes friendly relations with a skunk. It has been gone in some cases under the misapprehension that the animal was a cat, and the results have been unpleasant. But the biological survey of the United States department of agriculture has investigated the skunk and found him to be the best wild animal friend the farmer has.

Almost any farmer might have two or three dozen skunks at work for him destroying mice, grasshoppers, crickets, and white grubs, and furnishing him from $50 to $100 worth of fur a year. All that is necessary is that he respect their den, keep his poultry in skunkproof yards, kill an old horse for them every fall, and be careful when he meets them in the evening. There is a marked depression of the market at present, but recovery is normal is anticipated. It has been estimated that a year's stock of skulls in New York state is worth $1,000,000. Only one-fifth of them are black or short striped. If all were of this higher grade, they would be worth $5,000,000. The department suggests that a preserve stocked with black skulls would eventually double or treble the catch of skulls in the territory surrounding it.

Crop Report for Week.
Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 2.—The summary of weather and crop conditions in Nebraska for the week ending September 28, issued here by the weather bureau says:

The week was warm with an excess of sunshine and quite general showers. The temperature averaged about 70 degrees in western Nebraska, and 60 degrees in eastern Nebraska. On Tuesday and Saturday nights the weekly rainfall exceeded one inch in many northern counties, near one-half inch in central and southern and less than a quarter inch in western. Corn matured fast and all but very late fields are beyond danger from frost. The crop will be large. Winter wheat seeding proceeded under favorable conditions generally and is about finished. Wheat came up quickly to a good stand and early sown fields look well. Thrashing and the harvest of potatoes and sugar beets made good progress. Pastures generally are in good condition for this time of year.

Towley in Nebraska.
Norfolk Daily News, Oct. 4. A. C. Towley, president of the Nonpartisan League, on tour in an airplane, made three addresses in this part of the state Sunday afternoon. He had a private motor and left Sioux City at 11 o'clock Sunday afternoon. His first stop was at Mendota where he spoke to about 5,000 people and his next stop was at the Henry Boehman farm near Tilden where a large crowd heard him. About 4,000 people were in the audience at Platte Center where he delivered the same address. He detailed the operation of the league in North Dakota. Mr. Towley left for Lancaster county in his plane and was scheduled to speak at York, Hickman and Grand Island on Monday and at Holdrege, Cozad and Broken Bow on Tuesday.

Boston Transcript: Alma has the nearest man. He put this year's cover on last year's fashion book and his wife decided she didn't need any new gowns.

Something Worth While.
Virgil Chambers, a Leslie boy, who was wounded in the battle of the Marne, has secured a beautiful picture of the battle of the Marne, as autographed by E. H. Bushnell, a "token of honor" from the United States government to its wounded soldiers. The painting represents Columbia giving the accolade to a kneeling soldier. Its background is formed by the flag, a shield, and a kneeling soldier.
The inscription is: "Columbia gives to her son the accolade of new civility of humanity." Virgil V. Chambers, Pvt. Co. A, 11th served with honor in the world war and was wounded in action.

Price Levels and Business.
Sioux City Journal: The last week has witnessed a culmination of the price adjustments which set in a few days ago, but which were given a new impetus by the announcement in price.
The Ford products would be reduced in price with the reaction being that immediately put into effect. The price reductions in other lines, notably in cotton goods and men's clothing, and in a less marked degree in shoes, have not reached the consumer, but they are gradually working toward him. As the fall of the river in the upper reaches of the flood presages a later fall in the lower reaches, so do the price reductions in the upper reaches of trade presage lower prices to the consumer. But that end can be expected near retail stocks purchased at high wholesale prices are disposed of.
The agricultural conditions, while generally optimistic, are not entirely encouraging to the farmers. With a corn crop now estimated at 3,150,000,000 bushels, corn is selling for December delivery at 10 1/2 cents per bushel. The price was $1.80. The difference is what the corn farmers will lose because of the tumble in prices. They can only make the price of their commodity merely because they put high priced labor and high interest rates into the production of the crop. They must make their sales, though on the commodities they buy and which were purchased at prices based on the cost of the things which entered into their crop, they can expect no reduction until the high priced stocks have been sold.
Cotton has been hit as hard as corn. The price has declined from above 40 cents a pound spot to about 25 cents, with December deliveries 25 cents lower and deliveries for later dates still lower. Australian wool offered by the British government at auction in London brought prices ranging from 6 to 7 1/2 per cent below previous levels and the price which was to have closed October 8, was closed last Friday for lack of bidders. American wool suffered in sympathy with the decline in price of the Australian product.
Time money is more liberal at 8 and 8 1/2 per cent, the larger portion of business being at the higher figures. The money required to move the small grain crops did not disturb the financial centers. New York was hardly conscious of it, most of its loans being to commercial customers. Call money ruled about 7 per cent. The volume of credit is being kept in proper relation to banking reserves, thereby assuring stability and security.
On the whole it may be said that trade and finance during the last week have moved within narrow circles. With price reduction near the origin of commodity costs, there is a disposition to buy only in such quantities as the trade actually demands and to await developments before venturing upon large investments.
The supply of labor prices in the forerunner of increased building activity next season, though nothing is possible in that direction at this time. The supply of labor over the demand is gradually increasing and strikes are becoming rare instead of commonplace, as they were a few months ago.

HE'S NOT AFRAID OF ANY JOB NOW

Was Unable to Hit a Lick of Work When He Began Taking Tanlac.

"I had fallen off thirty pounds and was unable to work and although I have been taking Tanlac only a little more than a month I have already picked up twenty-five pounds of my lost weight and I am feeling fine." was the statement made by Frank A. Gustafson, a well-known farmer of Manning, Iowa, when he called at the Sherman & McConnell Drug store in Omaha, a few days ago.
"My troubles had been pulling me down for three years and I had just about played out altogether," he said. "I had given up my work entirely and never expected to be able to hit another lick. My stomach was all out of order and my appetite had about gone down to nothing. I couldn't eat anything except something light and many a time I would get up from the table without eating a bite. I had terrible pain in my stomach and gas would blow me up and cause my heart to beat so fast I thought sometimes I had heart trouble. My head ached so bad at times the pains nearly set me wild and I would go so dizzy I could hardly stand on my feet. At night I would roll and tumble around unable to get much sleep and morning found me feeling worse than when I went to bed. I went down from one hundred and seventy pounds to one hundred and forty, was growing weaker half the time and felt that my time was not bothered with headaches or wasn't far off.

"But Tanlac came my way and my life is all of appetite and my big gain in weight, twenty-five pounds, shows on my face and how well my food agrees with me."

Revised News.
Symptoms of a real old fashioned revival are now in sight at Carroll, Neb. Evangelist Sikes who has been hustling for some time to create interest and to inform the people over the wide territory about the coming of the Harrington plan is very much pleased with the results so far. The delay of the evangelist for three weeks had a double effect on the work. It gave the workers more time to prepare the building and remodel it for use and to obtain if necessary an experienced tabernacle man to help with the task. It also increased the curiosity and gave more time for discussion of the Whole matter by the people of the vicinity.

There are now about ninety-nine of the members of Carroll and vicinity who have signed the volunteer list to help with the big chorus choir.

New Building Finished.
The new offices and sheds of the Fullerton Lumber company are completed this week, except for the installing of the ceiling and the lumber, and other material have been moved from the old to the new quarters near the railway station.

The offices are well fitted out with hard wood floors and the new tiffany finish on the walls.

The sheds have three large drive-ways and ample room for storing quantities of lumber. The outside of the building is painted white with brown trim.

Farm Loans

We are in a position at this time, when many loan companies are temporarily out of business, to negotiate loans at a desirable rate of interest. Our examiner is close at hand and loans can be closed and the money paid to you on short notice.

If you contemplate getting a loan this winter or next spring, we advise getting your application in and having it approved at this time for we believe rates are better now than they will be later.

Citizens National Bank

WAYNE, NEB.

Good Republican Material. Iroquois Chief: Gov Cox complains that the press of the country does not give sufficient publicity to his speeches. He certainly cannot mean the republican press. The democratic candidate's speeches are making so many republican votes that the republican newspapers would be foolish not to aid in the good work.

Administrator's Sale!

400 Acres Wayne County Land

To be Sold at Public Auction

Tuesday, October 19

In order to facilitate the settlement of the Philip Sullivan estate the administrators will offer for sale at Public Auction on the premises, the following described real estate:

The west one-half of southeast quarter, the northeast quarter, and the northwest quarter, all in section 9-25-4, in Plum Creek precinct, Wayne county, Nebraska. This land is located two miles east and four and one-half miles south of Wayne, the county seat, and is as good land as there is in Wayne county. The eighty-acre tract is improved and fenced. The two quarter sections are fenced but unimproved.

This Land Must Sell

and this will be an exceptional opportunity for someone to buy Wayne county land at their own price. Bear in mind that this is in no sense of the word, a sale of speculator's land, but IS A SALE being made to close an estate, which has always borne the reputation of containing some of the best land in the county.

Remember This!

When you say some of the best land in Wayne county, you really mean some of the best land in the state of Nebraska, for taken all in all, there is NO BETTER county in Nebraska than Wayne county.

Terms of Sale:

20 per cent of purchase prices on day of sale, when contract will be drawn. 30 per cent March 1, 1921, at which time possession will be given, and deed and abstract furnished. Balance will be carried back on land for five years at 5 1/2 per cent annual interest. Any further information in regard to land may be had from executors or auctioneers.

The sale will start promptly at 1:30 p. m. on the northwest quarter and land will be sold in tracts to suit purchaser
