Masons Meet at Norfolk. Norfolk News, Oct. 29. About 300 members of the Masonic order, representing masters and members of twenty different lodges in five states, were in Norfolk Saturday night and participated in the ceremonies including ceremonies which marked a most successful school of instruction which has been held in Norfolk, lodge No. 55, during the past three days by Grand Custodian "Uncle" Robert French.

A gathering of Masons was a notable one, four assistant state custodians being present. A banquet served by the ladies of the White Shrine was followed by impressive Master Mason's ceremonies in which grand officers and local lodge officers participated.

Rev. E. J. W. Connelly of Norfolk, presided as toastmaster during the banquet.

Gives History of Masonry. Rev. Mr. Beard, representing the Wayne delegation, gave an impressive but brief history of "Masonry and America," during which he told of masonry in connection with his experience with the troops on the battle fields. E. D. Lundak, representing the "Pierce delegation;" Henry Zenicker, heading the "Tilden visitors;" George Adams representing the "Shriner delegation;" E. H. Gerhardt of Newman Grove, and Judge M. S. McDuffe of Madison also responded toasts.

Mrs. G. S. VanEvery greeted the masons on behalf of the White Shrine members.

The closing address of the banquet program was delivered by John A. Ehrhardt of Stanton who spoke of the "Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man." This address was both eloquent and very impressive.

Many Visitors Present. Delegations of Masons came from many miles around Norfolk Nebraska.

to attend the meeting. Automobile drives covering as many as 150 miles were taken by some of the visitors. Reports indicated that the Masonic order is growing rapidly and that lodges are springing up everywhere night and membership is continuously growing.

An impressive incident during the school of instruction took place Thursday when A. N. McGinnis, a veteran of the civil war, was formally presented with the bronze medal, as the eldest Mason of the Norfolk lodge. Mr. McGinnis was made a Mason in Mount Carmel lodge, Richmond, O., in 1869.

BRASS BAND IS ORGANIZED

Twenty-three Musicians Hold Rehearsals Three Nights a Week.

A town band of twenty-three pieces has been organized and seven rehearsals have been held. Musicians are taking much interest in the work and learning fast according to Prof. W. C. Hunter, the musical director.

More clarinet, bass and saxophone players could be used. At present the band consists of three clarinets, two saxophones, seven cornets, four altos, two basses, one baritone, six trombones and six drummers.

Rehearsals are held Monday, Wednesday and Thursday nights from 7 to 7:30 o'clock, the director having in mind to hold full band rehearsals.

People of Wayne may have a chance to listen to their new brass band in six or eight weeks if practice continues to go as well as present.

FORMER WAYNE PASTOR TALKS

Rev. W. L. Gaston Discusses League of Nations Before Group Here.

Rev. W. L. Gaston, deputy secretary of state, and former pastor of the Wayne Baptist church, addressed a gathering at the city hall Thursday evening, discussing the proposed league of nations. The meeting was arranged on short notice, and therefore the large attendance was very complimentary to Wayne's former citizen. Mr. Gaston made a hit with his audience. His flashes of clever wit were received with rich and eager many bursts of applause.

Mr. Gaston talked to a crowd at Carroll Friday afternoon, and was greeted with a good deal of enthusiasm.

Mr. Gaston moved from Wayne to Broken Bow three years ago last spring, and later to Lincoln on his appointment as deputy secretary of state. His friends here were glad to see him.

SCHOOL NURSE TO COME NOV. 8

Children in City Schools Will Be Given Thorough Examination.

A school nurse, Miss Ruth Sloan, has been employed to examine all school children. In conducting the examination she will get the information called for in the state medical examination for school children and also the information called for in the cards which were used in Wayne two or three years ago in the examination of school children. The latter card calls for a more complete examination. The examination will begin Nov. 8. All cases found by the nurse which she thinks serious enough to require a more careful examination she will recommend be turned over to one of the city physicians.

and cool reasons for what they do. Their high self-sacrificing impulse subject to it cannot long endure. There is no real difference of opinion on this subject. The English state-Conservatives who with liberals and laborites in admitting that English rule in Ireland has been a horrible disaster and scandal, and that some way must be found of allowing the Irish to manage their own affairs. English statesmen do not agree what should be better make itself heard. Call it folly, call it madness, there is just what they should demand, or what is a gesture of deep tragedy surrounding to a hunger-striker, the desire and scandal, and that some Arthur Henderson from both. Sir Horace Plunkett and Sir Edward Carson are poles asunder. This is partly because there are in hand fact two Ireland. If Belfast were of one mind with Dublin, the Irish problem could be solved tomorrow. As it is the only practicable measure in sight is the new and enlarged home rule bill which is soon to become law. This provides a separate parliament for the Ulster province, the rest of Ireland to have its own. And Ulster has undertaken to try the experiment. Instead of standing by its old idea of indismissible union, which England it is now to begin negotiations. Why should not the south of Ireland act in the same spirit? The historic Irish leaders would certainly have counseled it. Parnell and Redmond were always willing to take less than they wanted and saw what could be done with it. Ireland cannot win by violence, certainly she cannot by cowardly acquiescence. If the events of the past few months have demonstrated that fact, it is now the time for moderate Irishmen to cast about for some means of preventing political murder, making Ireland safe for life and property, and putting in operation the best system of self government here and now attainable. So ardent a Sinn Féiner as The O'Conor-Bron has lately expressed his conviction that this is the only course open to sane and truly patriotic Irishmen. It may be only a first step out of the Irish water, but no other first step, now seems possible.

Now for a presidential cabinet of the ablest statesmen in the republican party.

One New York longshoreman has come to the rescue of children. He has no use for poeple dogs and discriminates in favor of people having little boys and girls.

The convulsion of the weather early in the week, due in a large to the cyclone, soon dissipated, and pleasant elements have been restored, to the delight of corn pickers.

A Wayne citizen has called attention to the fine modern hotel built at Coleridge by the co-operation of the people. It is commending a similar movement in Wayne. This suggestion is offered to the public with our endorsement.

The widespread republican victory is an expression of confidence in republican leaders. To take up the multiple leaders of government and carry out constructive, progressive policy. The situation is unusually complex, and the responsibility resting on the new leadership will be unusually grave. There have confidence in the ability and good faith of republican state-steadiness to meet the condition and master difficult problems. The republican party to become more settled and stable, time to exercise more conscience and more self-control. It is time for consistency in values. It is manifestly unhealthy for raw materials to be cheap while finished products are high. This inconsistency will necessarily yield to rearrangement, and it is believed a republican administration will materially help in that direction. We believe the success of the republican party will inspire confidence in all circles and stimulate prosperity in all lines.

THE TASK AHEAD.

Pointing to the unsettled condition left by the war, and speaking of the responsibility assumed by republican leaders, the Sioux City Journal makes this concluding comment: "Business has been unsettled, uncertain and insecure. Artificial inflation has gone on until no one knows what substantial business foundations are. The incompetency of the administration in meddlesome meddling should be done and failing to meddle where meddling is imperative, has added to the general confusion." "Efficiency is necessary. Honesty is trustworthy. Prices are abnormal. The changes to lower levels are fraught with the greatest dangers and disastrous work in the struggle to restore normal conditions. The surplus products of farms and mills must find foreign markets, yet a desperate president set aside the provision of the law which makes that market possible.

"The republican party is commissioned to handle these conditions and solve the problem during the next four years. The responsibility challenges the best thought of the party, and the best of the nation's statesmen. The responsibility is great. The task is one from which any party bent on narrow partisan achievement shrinks. It is not a task which shall call to the council table or approach the task with care and take pains to appear, such deliberation as will reduce mistakes to the lowest point. The new president is a man of the common people. He has no philosophy for the development of self-confidence. In the hour of his greatest victory, he declared he was more given to prayer to God to make him capable of playing his part than to exultation over his victory. The man who approached the tasks before him, great and far-reaching as they are, in that he will not get far astray. Moreover, he will not be too haughty, too self-righteous to turn back and correct any mistakes before they become disabling. The commission of the people carries immense responsibility, but it is placed in the hands of those who are close to the people and who are able to take counsel with them. If the chaos of democratic incompetency is cleared away with out disaster, it will be because the man chosen for the task by the people is one of them, who will hear the voice and accept the wisdom of those whom he serves."

EVOLUTION OF JOURNALISM.

In the current issue of Building Trade With Farmers, an excellent publication to Successful Farming appears an article by Walter Williams, dean of the school of Journalism of the University of Missouri. Williams points out that while the newspaper is better than it ever was, it is far from what it should be. Feeble or insufficient response to needs for news, prevailing accuracy or completeness, as suggested by

The Herald a few weeks ago, threats of increasing terrorism on the public, which the ignorant observes. Lack of special training, lack of inspiration and lack of due compensation are obstacles to be overcome in raising the standard of journalism, according to the dean. He thinks a system of licensing may become necessary. This brief essay, from his contribution will be of public interest. "Higher revenue, unemployment and lack of vision, social injustice, political obligation, obstruction of news sources, censorship of news and opinion, sometimes perverted and often incomplete news statements, inadequate education of its workers and inadequate compensation for them, insufficient public response—these are among the causes which prevent journalism rising to its highest state.

"To serve society, journalism must have freedom from every entanglement; must answer society's appeal with clean hands. Journalism as a profession must be, in the United States among the nations of the world, seeking nothing for itself that it will not grant to others, with no entangling alliances, with no fettering restrictions. A good journalist, whether in high place or low, will permit no political job or party duty to detract from his professional obligations. Through wise business methods he will escape economic dependence, and through courageous insistence upon professional opportunities he will escape partisan dependence. Neither passion nor prejudice, nor power, nor self will cause him to deviate from the service of a genuine democracy.

"Journalism suffers particularly through the increasing difficulties thrown across its path by artificial barriers. The windows are darkened by other hands than those of journalists so that the eyes of the reporter may not, with clearness, observe."

Hand Picked.

Kansas City Times: With all the exams over it looks as though the graduating class at the law school will be small but thoroughly qualified to receive diplomas.

A Hard Winter in Kansas.

Washington Post: The wheat slump has hit those Kansas farmers such a hard blow that it is feared that some of them may have to give up a couple of their touring cars this winter.

Signs of Winter.

Waterloo Globe: The fur on the bear is thin; therefore a mild winter is predicted. The wool in last year's underwear is thin, too, but that's no guarantee.

Beginning Early.

Chicago Daily News: On the theory, possibly, that much can be done with a king if he is caught young enough, the Greeks have chosen a minor for their monarch.

Hard for the Poets.

Washington Post: This lingering summer weather is grand for normal people, but it's tough on the poets who, perhaps, by neglecting their families writing about the frost on the pumpkin.

Tells Its Own Story.

Minneapolis Journal: The Canadian farmers are enthusiastic about the Kansas farmers holding their wheat for $3.

Shortage of Lubricants.

Trout Star Clipper: Not merely is the supply of kerosene going out, but there is an awful shortage of elbow grease.

Notice of Hearing.

To the heirs, creditors, and all persons interested in the estate of Elizabeth Dearborn, deceased: You and each of you are hereby notified that Henry Moler, executor of his petition in the county court of Wayne county, Nebraska, alleging that said Elizabeth Dearborn died intestate at her residence in Wayne, Wayne county, Nebraska, on the 24th day of February, 1882. At the time of her death she was seized of real estate in Wayne county, Nebraska, including lots ten, eleven and twelve (10-11-12), block twenty-four (24), College Hill addition to Wayne, Nebraska, and left surviving her as her sole and only heirs at law, her sons, Luther C. Dearborn and Eugene C. Dearborn. That all claims, debts and claims due to said estate have been paid in full, that said estate has never been administered in Nebraska. That said Henry Moler is the owner in fee simple of said lots ten, eleven, and twelve (10-11-12), block twenty-four (24), College Hill addition to Wayne, Nebraska, above described. He desires to have the same sold and the proceeds therefrom to be used for the payment of the debts of said Elizabeth Dearborn, deceased. For a determination of the heirs, the degree of kinship, and the right of descent of said real estate, and for an order barring claims of creditors, and grants for such other relief as may be proper. Said petition will be heard at the county court room in Wayne county, Nebraska, on the 6th day of December, A. D. 1920, at 10 o'clock a. m. at which time and place the heirs, creditors and all persons interested in said estate may appear and show cause why a decree should not be made and entered as prayed in said petition.

Dated this 4th day of November, 1920.
M. Cherry, County Judge.

Lower Than Market Prices On These Winter Goods

WE are still selling all the winter goods we carried over from last year at last year's prices which are lower than any cut prices marked on this year's goods.

Before you buy any Dress Goods, Underwear, Shoes, Overshoes, Men's Shirts and Overalls, Husking Mitts, Outing Flannels or Blankets, come and price these carried over stocks.

The goods are perfect, styles correct, quality the very best, and we guarantee them to be just as desirable as any of this season's goods.

All wool serges at $1.25 and $1.50; fine wool poplins at $2.50 to $2.75; nice wool plaids at $1.00; are dress goods prices far below the present market.

shoes in guaranteed first-class condition.

Men's Glover overalls, best quality; the same good overalls that have been sold in Wayne the past fifteen years, at $2.50 pair; Glover's best work shirts $1.50; husking mittens carried over at $2.50. The new husking mitts are also here at a lower than usual price, $3 to $3.25.

Outing flannels in light patterns only, but in best quality at 30 cents a yard; best calicoes at 15 cents a yard; very best percales at 35 cents a yard, and apron check gingham at 25 cents a yard, are examples of how our prices go even under the present market on the staple every day necessities.

Fine big heavy blankets, wool finish at $4.50 to $6.75; ordinary cotton blankets as low as $1.50; fine wool blankets at $10.00 to $18.50; are all priced lower than the market justifies.

You will find good savings in any line of winter goods you need if you come early and buy from these carried over stocks.

We have just opened up the overshoe stock carried over from last year and while it lasts you can buy this stock at the old prices which are 50c to $1.00 per pair below this year's prices. Men, women and children can all be fitted out if you come early. All first quality over-

Holding Feeders.

Daily Drivers' Journal-Speaks: "The annual fall run of western grass cattle to the eastern markets will be stretched over a much longer period than in normal years in spite of the shortage of cattle on the range, according to C. Siltamaki, foreman on one of the Quasly Land and Live Stock company ranches in Wyoming who accompanied a consignment of their cattle to the local market early this week."

"Reports of cattle shortage are heard in all sections of the West and it is true that there will be far less cattlemen to market from the range this year than normally," he explained. "It is also true that cattle will be coming in for a longer time than ever before in spite of the fact that many of the ranchers are forced to the extremes in order to raise ready money to meet their outstanding loans."

Hold Until After Election.

"The majority of the ranchers are inclined to believe that conditions will take a turn for the better after election time and for that reason are a bit reluctant about making their shipments. They feel that money will be more free for better both feeders and that the demand for western feeders will be much more brisk, which means higher prices for their cattle."

"None of the ranchmen will be hard pressed for feed in holding their stock for later shipment, if they can get the assistance and permission of their bankers, as we have a world of feed in the West today. There are several sections of Montana and Wyoming where shipping has not even started as yet, especially up in the Medicine Bow river district, which is north of my shipping point in Rawlins."

The class of stock coming to market will be the stuff which will net the rancher the most money, regardless of what kind it is according to Mr. Siltamaki. There is no small measure will account for the large numbers of calves and cows that are being sent to market and the thin steers which are being held back."

Mr. Siltamaki reported that it was the smaller independent ranchers who were being affected the most by the present market conditions and the forced liquidations. The larger outfits, such as the one he is connected with, while they are also feeling the effects of the prevailing conditions have been better able to weather the storm. The Quasly company run in the neighborhood of 5,000 head of cattle and from 12,000 to 15,000 head of sheep on their ranges annually.

"The bulk of their land holdings lie in Wyoming, in the vicinity of Rawlins."
Mr. Siltamaki, who is 32 years of age, is reputed as being one of the shrewd and efficient ranchmen in his section of the state. He is famous over the Elk Mountain ranch which carries around 1,000 head of cattle a year.

Served Two Years in Army.

He served two years in the army, 18 months of which were spent overseas in the ranks of the Fourth division which saw considerable action. His company participated in some of the leading battles and after having gone through it all, he was more fully convinced than most before that the western range country was by far the best place he knew of and he lost no time in getting back into the harness once he was discharged.

Mr. Siltamaki is a true son of the range as he was born and raised right in the locality where he is now working. Several years ago he started out a small homestead and hopes in time to be able to build up a cattle ranch in his part of the state. His brother is now operating his homestead ranch.

"BEST EVER MADE"

—STATES MRS. BRAND

Wants Others to Know How Tanlac Overcame Her Rheumatism and Indigestion.

"Tanlac has proved such a blessing to me that I just want other sufferers to know about it," declared Mrs. Mary A. Brand, of 820 West Second street, Des Moines.

"For five years," continued Mrs. Brand, "I was in mighty bad health. Shortly after eating anything my stomach would hurt me till the pain became almost unbearable. Gas pressed up against my heart, causing it to palpitate dreadfully, and when I exerted myself in any way I just had to fight for breath."

"I had awful headaches and dizzy spells, and my nerves were unstrung. I suffered from rheumatism and my right arm and in my ankles, and at times I could scarcely raise my hand above my head. I was restless, couldn't get enough sleep, and got up in the mornings feeling miserable."

"After reading about Tanlac I decided to try it, and I can eat anything I want—vegetables and meats, and not be bothered with indigestion. I no longer suffer from gas on my stomach, and am free from dizzy spells, headaches, palpitations and shortness of breath. The rheumatic pains are entirely gone, and my nerves are steady and normal again. I sleep fine, and get up in the mornings feeling refreshed and full of energy."

Tanlac is sold in Wayne by H. J. Felber, in Carroll by L. H. King, and in Winslow by B. & C. McIntyre.—adv grumble; and deplore my many ills, for I'm paying all the taxes, and the dealer—all the bills, to defray the world's expenses—I am, always sweating blood, I'm the Ultimate Consumer, and my given name is 'Mud'—Oh, the farmer gets a rake-off when he sells a load of wheat, and the miller, white-and-dusty, gets a rake-off and the dealer, and the jobber gets a rake-off when he sells a sack of flour, and the dealer gets a rake-off, or you'd see him looking sour; and the Ultimate Consumer, when he buys a shiny sack, has to pay these divers rake-offs, while pink pains run up his back. And they tax the woolens maker, who in commerce cuts a swath, and he hands along the taxes to the gent who buys his cloth, and this gent just hands the taxes to the fellow lower down, till they reach the busy, tabor-in-our-little-country town. And the Ultimate Consumer pays the taxes in the end, when he buys a suit of garments with a stylish Grecian Bend. I'm the Ultimate Consumer, and I send a plaintive note; I'm the guy—who pays the fiddler. I'm the universal goat.

Lack of Worry.

There's nothing I can worry 'er, in my little mind, and so my heart is sad and sore, and briny tears abound. The larder's stocked with luscious pies, the cellar's full of spuds, and every morning when I rise, I have a change of diads. The diamonds on my harness clank, I have silk shirts galore, and I have money in the bank, and credit at the store. No was-an-son-I-am-in-debt for this or that or those, and so I've no excuse to fret or nurse a string of woes. And having no excuse to brood, I brood and fret and cuss, and in a heve and utter mood I make a shabby fuss. My worry is a state of mind that every man enjoys, and he grows weary of his grind if not a thing amiss. Without a grievance man is lost, his mental inwards ache; he'll find 'em at any cost, e'en though it be fake. And so I grumble when it rains and file a savage rant, and when the sunshine glids the rains, I grumble all the more. Man was born to go his way without a cross or care; some ill should prod him every day, or he is in despair. A sugar diet fattens men but undermines the spine; a dash of bitters now and then, or vinegar, is his life.

Landlord.

I am looking for a shelter for my dachshund and my wife, and I enter, helpo-skelter, through the city's noise and strife. I would rent some humble attic two miles higher than the street, but the landlord platonic names a price I cannot meet. I would rent a rusty basement underneath a squalid flat, but the landlord, from his casement, wants a price that hits my nerve. Oh—the landlord is a pater who would scalp me with his knife, and I wander, seeking shelter, with my dachshund and my wife. Up and down the streets I trundle, with my money in my hand, but my patty little bunnie doesn't seem in much demand; through the town I've roamed and robbeted, and I hunt for lodgings still, but one cannot rent a cupboard with a fifty-dollar bill. And the landlord, fat and greasy, rays no heed to my distress, to my haggard cheeks and an-erosey, to the snow that streaks my hair. He has no respect for sorrow, if I wish to raise a herf, I must go and stool or borrow more than his old cow's wealth. When in summer heat I suffer, when the winter storms are rife, I must vainly seek for shelter, with my dachshund—and my find us lying in an alley dead, with our trail of smoke behind us, and a bitter cry behind.

Entry Notice.

I have taken up on my inclosed premises, south of the quarter of 4, Mrs. Hoshaw's vacant one whiteface Hereford bull, about 20 months old at this time, weight about 1,000 pounds, no brands noticed. Others may have same by proving property and paying expenses.—Ernest Greenland, Wisner, Neb. 02813

The Drive Idea.

All our lives will be more sunny, and we'll chirp a gladder song, when they quit the "drives" for money, which have bothered us too long. All such schemes were glad to pack and when the kaiser danced his jig, and the heart was cold and hardened that neglected to ur-dig. I am always prompt and willing to help out in a worthy cause, but I will not place a shilling in the driventh's eager paw. For, I'm sick of people telling what I ought to give and where tired of always digging, shelling, for some scheme that makes me swear. I will give to the living and I'll give to plant the dead, but I won't be bossed in giving, and I won't be chased or led. In the war time drives were splendid, and they helped to carry our foe; but the war is done and ended, and the people need repose. Do not bother friends or neighbors with requests for honest disburse, leave them to their quiet-labors, as we did in other times. Do not think up worthy causes that require financial aid, for we've all been Santa Clauses till our nerves are tired and frayed.

The Consumer.

I'm the Ultimate Consumer, and my eyes are all of tears, for I've carried all the burdens of the world, a thousand times, and I'm doomed to pack those burdens till this planet is no more, so my eyes are full of sorrow, and my heart is sick and sore. I've a right to groan and

Here— you "Know-It-All"

ONCE in a while we run across a man who says, "Aw, they don't make cigarettes like they used to—none as good as another now-a-days."

All right, we'll give that smoker any kind of odds he wants on Spur and win hands down.

Perhaps you are looking for that good old-time, tobacco taste. Spurs are thick full of it. Couldn't help but be, with that jim-dandy blend of choice Turkish, fine Burley and other home-grown tobaccos.

Light up a Spur—take a long puff—and j quicker than you can say "Jack Robinson" you will jump for a seat on the Spur band wagon.

Spurs have another surprise for you—they're crimped not potted. No other cigarette is rolled with the crimped seam, and you benefit by easier drawing, longer burning, better taste.

And here's extra measure—three-fold package of rich brown and silver to keep Spurs fresh and fragrant.

No use dodging—Spurs meet you at every turn.

Man, what a wonderful tobacco fragrance is rolled up in each cigarette on the cover of the new Spur tin. Fifty cigarettes—kept fresh—vacuum sealed.

A WAYNE INTERVIEW

Mrs. Hoshaw Tells Her Experience

The following brief account of an interview with a Wayne woman nine years ago, and its sequel, will be read with keen interest by every citizen. Mrs. Ira Hoshaw, Wayne, says: "I was confined to my bed for several weeks, with a severe attack of the grip. Upon recovering I found my kidneys were weak, and I was a great sufferer from sharp, darting pains across the small of my back. There was a lameness through my loins and my abdomen began to feel in after my experience with them, say, five years ago. I seldom have to use a kidney remedy now. If my back aches at night, I take a few Doan's and often and I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills—After taking them for a few days the backache was greatly relieved and my kidneys felt strong. I used Doan's faithfully for about three weeks and all symptoms of kidney trouble disappeared and there hasn't been any recurrence since." (Statement given August 3, 1910.)

On May 31, 1920, Mrs. Hoshaw added: "I always consider Doan's Kidney Pills a reliable kidney remedy

UNCLE WALT The Poet, Philosopher.

The Idol.

Once I was a public adob, for a fortnight and a day, like a bride groom to the bride I went on my vigorous way, and fair maidens went before me, "strewing" flowers along the road, and a halo hovered o'er me when I sat in my abode. But the idols always, stumbe, being fixed with feet of clay, and forgetting to be humble, I there public love most. On the ninth day of October roses hit me, in my walks; on the tenth the people, sober, handed me a bunch of roses. For the wealth of adulation made me feel I was a king, made me think in all the nation I was sure the biggest thing. And in every stage I trundle, I was swollen up with pride, and my dome of thought expanded till my hat split up the side. And the people got the wrong notion, changed their backs, and they passed me no more lites, but bombarded me with bricks. If again I am idol I'll be wiser, I allow; and to cheap inflated pride'll strike the laurels from my brow. For the idols wouldn't tumble, they'd be cherished to the end, if they'd just be made as humble as down the world they wind.

Henry the Great.

I have a hat that cost a pile—but price high, these so-called Ladies off that treasured tile, and bow to Henry Ford. Like many patriotic gents, the people's cause I fight, unless it means no effect on me, and then I am afraid. I'd gladly make the welkin ring demanding prices fair, wind doesn't cost me anything, and I had better play a sabbler view, and be higher priced, to sell. I'll cut the price in two, on my nice tin sodas. What thought it means a mighty loss? My spine won't be gripped, when the cause is good and coin is driven, for good is good and good is good. So he indulged in a rather cheap, but very many buyers and "poor" folk brought their shopping bags and bought his innocuous. And other plutes bought the sign, and their price schedules smashed. My rare chant pinces fell in line, and slashed, and slashed, and. And while we still have breath and life, we thousand times, and I'm doomed to pack those burdens till this planet is no more, so my eyes are full of sorrow, and my heart is sick and sore. I've a right to groan and

LONG PUZZLE TO SCIENTISTS
 Strange Work Left by Mount Builders
 How they did it is a puzzle to the Satisfactory explanation.

The "Serpent" "Billie" mound, near Clinton, Ohio, the strangest work ever left by the mound builders, is one of the most striking and puzzling remains that is to be found in the Eastern States. It is a mound of earth, and is about 1,500 feet in length, and is composed of several conical mounds, jaws extended and the top of the mound is a level ground. It is from two to four feet in height, and from three or four to six feet in thickness. At the end of the mound is a small structure, which the mound builders, according to the latest findings, have found an altar of stones and other ornaments.

An old Indian fighter who lived in the West several years ago, and died 100 years ago, described to him a story in his younger days of a tribe of stone Indians in the State of New York, who had built a great mound of earth, and had a great and gave a great proof of an ancient race. He said he never could understand the meaning of the story and in his old age he had been told that the mound had been given to him by the mound builders to lose their research work. He said the strange race were supposed to build a certain number of mounds in the year, and the first of the spring. For this the mound builders might have used the stone altar, which has been found.

JOKE ON BOTH "CHAPPIES"
 Some Particulars About Their English
 Remarks With Which They Were Not Acquainted

It isn't exactly their swell brand of English that makes them so hard to understand in their speech, but they're a "honey" for the English people who hear them.

"It's a turtle, old chap, but it isn't quite so English as mine," the other said.

"Oh, mine is quiet,"

"Oh, they're composed of shells. But when I looked at the names of the makers it was discovered by the 'old English' fowler that his cap had been made in New York. The other here is London made—and, of course, you understand, old chap, it was quite a 'lawd'."

"The funny feature of it all is that the New York cap was made to appeal to the English trade, while the London cap was designed to catch the eye of the Yankee."

Miscellaneous
 Every day evidence appears that the American male is physically more robust than the European. The glasses who operated in a restaurant in New York abandoned the old system of smothering the money under the till and took the register ticket. Not a week passes but some warehouse reports the theft of a dozen or more of each of which weighs over 550 pounds. The playboys of the business world and the gamblers seem to have done well out of the war. One of the in Berlin lines. But why? Why an effort is made to divert some of this immense strength to consummation place work that is a great gratification of business—New York Sun.

Wouldn't Have Dared to Say It
 A recent bride received many telegrams of congratulation on the event. But there was one in particular which was a little peculiar. It the six lives in New York City on to Brooklyn for the wedding. In the evening the following telegram was received from her sister's husband in New York:

"Congratulations on having taken my wife from me if only for a day. It would have been a great pleasure to have married her. I am sure the marriage of great success. I condole to you. In having found the 'family' in New York. It would be a great pleasure to have consolation is that I have a fellow sufferer who can sympathize with the result."

Mrs. M. was angry, but finally consented to have it read.
 "Brother, I'm sorry."

Japan's Trade With North America
 Japan's trade with North America
 for the first quarter of this year amounted to $21,843,000, or an increase of 25.5 per cent over the balance before. This is in contrast with the corresponding period of last year, the figures show a total of $17,374,000. The exports of the United States to Japan were $11,744,000, or an increase of 10.5 per cent over the balance of last year. The exports of Japan to the United States were $10,099,000, or an increase of 15.5 per cent over the balance of last year.

New Insulating Material
 One of the most important materials being made from a kind of which is found in the Australian waters. The most important is subjected to pressure and heat, and is then treated with formalin and then it is used in a bath. The material takes the place of slate and marble, and is used for this purpose, and is much less expensive.

Pressing Out the Loser.
 Sioux Falls, S. D., Nov. 3.—One effort of the general lowering of prices and the return of both material and labor markets to normal conditions is the freeing out of the industrial straggler. The man who has not been trying to get through the day with as little work as possible is finding it necessary to change his methods if he wishes to hold his job.
 All of which is gratifying to those forming the majority of our laboring class who have been trying to give a fair day's work for a fair day's wage.

ENGINEER CONKLIN KILLED Died at Post After Saving Passengers' Lives.

C. S. Conklin, a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McGuire of Wake, Neb., who was engineering a train through the night, was thrown from the train at Creston, Ia., and Lincoln, Neb., and near it was found the body of the unknown man who had been Monday morning. He leaves a wife and one son. The Nebraska State Engineer, Knudsen's official Journal gives the following account with the black system on this division of the accident:

Stanton, Ia., Nov. 1.—Engineer Conklin's hand was still upon the controls and one flat. One baggage of his engine when his body was hurled into the mass of wreckage and his engine. He is giving credit to the men and others who were at the scene of the wreck, for saving the real hero and undoubtedly saved the lives of many of the passengers on Nov. 1. He had not the brakes and died almost the next instant.

The wreck is remarkable in some respects. The three trains were together almost the same instant.

Early Hour To Meet.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Craven will be host and hostess at the first meeting of the Rotary Club which will be held tonight. After a 6 o'clock dinner the time will be spent with the members. Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Craven will be guests of the club.

Presbyterian Aid Society.

Mrs. D. J. Cavanaugh will be hostess to the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid on Wednesday, Nov. 10, at 2:00 p. m. Members will work for the Christmas bazaar which will be held in the millinery parlors of Miss Anna McCree on Dec. 1. A full attendance is desired at this meeting.

Acme Club.

Acme club held its regular meeting Nov. 1 with Mrs. A. M. Jacobs. Roll call was responded to with the names of royal women. Mrs. Jacobs read an article on "Women in Industry." A paper on "Women in was read by Mrs. C. T. Laganam. Mrs. Hannah Crawford will be hostess at the next meeting.

Happy Halloween Party.
Miss Elsie Lerner entertained a group of girls at a Halloween party in the phone last Thursday evening. The house was suitably decorated for the occasion, and Halloween games were followed by dancing. At an appropriate hour an appetizing lunch was served.

Halloween Party.

A class party was held by the ninth grade of the junior normal school at the home of A. E. Laase, Friday evening. Fifteen members were present. Halloween stunts furnished the amusement. A feature of the party was a fortune telling booth, and wiches and ghosts assisted the festivities. Refreshments consisted of sandwiches, doughnuts, small pies, cocoa and life savers.

Halloween Party.

Nineteen boys and girls of the seventh grade of the State Normal school had a party at the home of Frances Lackey Friday night. Halloween games formed the evening's amusement. The children gave a play, "The Little Red Riding Hood," which they had given before at school. Refreshments consisting of cookies and whipped cream, marshmallows, jello and apples were served.

Regular Meeting.

Sorosis club met Monday afternoon with Mrs. C. E. McLennan. Roll call was answered by giving Thanksgiving quotations. Mrs. Barnes gave a very interesting paper on Nebraska citizenship from Mrs. Wagner's hand book, after which Miss Arline McLennan favored the club with a piano solo.

O. E. S. Meetings.

O. E. S. will hold its regular meeting on Nov. 8. On Nov. 10 a special meeting will be held at which Mrs. Anna Davis of Alliance, Neb., grand matron of the O. E. S., will conduct a school of instruction for Waynes members. Initiation of members will also be held at this meeting. Light refreshments will be served.

Coterie Meetings.

The Coterie met at the home of Mrs. E. E. Fleetwood Nov. 1. Roll call was responded to with quotations from Eugene Field. Mrs. F. S. Morgan gave an interesting paper on "Woman's Suffrage." A straw vote was taken which favored Mr. Harding for president.

Mrs. Waldo Hahn of Randolph, was a guest of the club.

Mrs. Fleetwood served refreshments. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Frank Gamble, November 8.

Delightful Party.

One of the most delightful events of the season was a Halloween party given at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. E. L. Nokes last Friday evening for members of the Sorosis club and husbands. Much credit is due the entertainment committee for the amusing amusements furnished. An midnight delicious three-course luncheon was

Birthday Party.

A birthday party for 6-year-old John Lynch was held at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. J. C. Thurell, Thursday, October 28. Miss Colia Petras, his teacher, and six of his boy friends were present. The time was spent playing out of door games. Refreshments including a birthday cake were served.

Coterie Party.

Members of the Coterie entertained their husbands at a Halloween party held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. C. A. Orr. Mrs. W. E. Jenkinson and Mrs. Lester Vath composed the committees in charge of the party. Decorations of dancing skeletons, black cats and jack-o-lanterns were used in the club house.

Guests from their places at a T shaped dinner table lighted by many orange candlesticks, by means of clever Halloween place cards. A two-course dinner was served at 6 o'clock.

After dinner a joy-giving Halloween stant contest was conducted by the committee in charge. Games, big ### and little, were required to slip through orange colored hoops, after which they were blindfolded and given pumpkin seeds to feel the great pumpkin.

Fortunes written on orange colored paper were drawn by guests who were required to read them aloud. Halloween favors were given to all prize winners in the various contests.

Refreshments of sugared doughnuts, apples, popcorn, and sweet cider were served throughout the evening. A pleasant evening was given. Refreshments including a dinner with music and dancing.

Halloween Party.

Mrs. S. A. Lutgen entertained at a Halloween party in honor of Joe Lutgen, and George Hartshorn Saturday evening, Oct. 30. Arriving guests were met at the door by a huge jack-o-lantern that masked and directed to the attic. In the weird light of the jack-o-lanterns they were entertained by the historic ghost. After a half hour of story telling the ghost led them to the living room. Charades employing the boys' names were arranged and each decorated with his identity was disclosed. A "blindfold" contest of pinning eyes to a large paper pumpkin caused much hilarity. Clarence Hansson won first and Ed Reynolds the consolation prize.

A three-course dinner was served in the dining room at two large tables decorated with Halloween favors and colors. The dinner closed with a corn picking race. Each boy was given a row of candy corn to pick.

The older boys searched and found carrot jack-o-lanterns and tickets to the Crystal-theater while the twelve small boys were given pumpkin lanterns and accompanied by the girls who had served the dinner, Florence Baird, Ruth Krebs and Stella Arnold, set out for a jolly Halloween scare.

Dance at Country Club.

A large crowd was present at the open house held at the Country Club last Friday night. Dancing and cards were the evening diversions. Hosts and hostesses were: Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Ringland, Mrs. and Mrs. James Miller, Mr. and Mrs. William Von Seggern and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Strickland.

FIRST SNOW OF THE SEASON

But Threatening Weather for Election Day Turns to Sunshine.

Rain Saturday night and Sunday turned to snow Sunday night with freezing temperature. All day Monday snow fell intermittently with prospect that night another would hinder voting on Tuesday. During Monday night, however, the weather cleared and the elements moderated. While the roads were muddy on election day, the sky was fair.

Norfolk, Neb., Nov. 1.—A blizzard is raging in north Nebraska and parts of South Dakota. About 30 inches of snow has fallen in the Wyoming division of the Northwestern railroad. About five inches of snow covers the ground in northern Nebraska. Country roads are in very bad condition.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 1.—Raiders in northern Nebraska will be unable to get to the polls tomorrow unless the blizzard, which has been raging over this part of the state, abates before election day passes.

The storm began Saturday night with sleet, changing to snow Sunday. Trees are breaking under great loads of ice, telephone and telegraph wires are down and wagon roads are badly drifted with snow.

The storm is the most severe in years, considering that winters do not ordinarily begin so early. Stock herds, still on the range, are suffering, and there are prospects of heavy losses.

Commercial Failures in Nebraska.

Lincoln Trade Review: Statistics on the failures in the United States compiled by Dun's Review for the first nine months of 1920 when compared with the record of failures for the entire year of 1919 and other preceding years, show that this period of economic readjustment now under way is strongly reflected in changing business conditions.

These comparisons show many weak spots in business and with increasing rapidity these spots are coming to the surface. It should be kept in mind, however, that the showing for 1919, a year when every force and factor contributed toward a minimum of failures, was the best for years. The United States for this report, had for the first nine months of this year, 5,383 failures with liabilities totaling $166,577,474 as compared with 4,815 failures for the entire year of 1919; with liabilities totaling only $88,941,608.

Taking the United States as a unit, there is not an encouraging report with September of this year showing an increase of 43.1 per cent in failures, and 396.5 per cent in indebtedness. It is only to accept the apparent truth that the coming three months of this year will show even larger figures on default.

Nebraska's showing for this year is a marked exception and it argues well for an existence of business stability exceeded by no other state and approached by but few. In this compilation of the number of failures, a total liability for all the forty-nine states of the union, divided into eight sections, with Nebraska in the central-west section, there are thirty of these states which show that for the nine months just past of this year, that failure in number already exceed those of the total year of 1919 and in most instances the liabilities are also larger. This leaves nineteen states in the union whose number of failures are still below the twelve months of 1919, and Nebraska is one of these states.

To go further, in the central-west section, including the states of Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Kansas and Nebraska, this state is the only state that does not show this general increase in both failures and liabilities, with the one exception wherein Kansas, while showing a marked increase in number of failures, does not show liabilities quite equal to the entire year of 1919.

Nebraska's failures for the nine months of this year total 23, with liabilities of $220,669 as compared with the entire year of 1919 of 42 failures with liabilities of $497,181. This growing number of failures over the United States is only to be expected. These are testing times for business—times when those concerns which, through business foresight, proper financing and proper attention to costs and indebtedness in comparison to business volume, reap the reward through being exempted from tabulation in figures of this kind.

Nebraska business men, no doubt, are facing the same problem; that business the country over is facing. Their difficulties from the inside are practically analogous with other states in the central-west section and it is only fair to draw the conclusion that with such a showing on business in this state is making today that business generally in Nebraska is better entrenched and in a larger way has and is observing that necessary caution which must be observed in times of readjustment.

Falling Leaves and Frost.

Lincoln Journal: It is a fixed popular belief that the turning of the leaves in the autumn is caused by frost. Scientists have explained again and again that the yellows and reds in the forest are due to chemical changes in the leaves with Jack Frost plays only an incidental part. But the people pay no attention to these explanations. This year New England went far into the fall without the visit of frost. Predictions were made on every hand by the weatherwise that the leaves, rich with the abundance of moisture of the early season, would finally and be-latedly wither and fall without the usual display of color. "Too such," adds the Springfield Republican, "perhaps the most wonderful panorama which the master colorist has ever spread over New England has come with the added quality of a surprise." But because frost nearly always accompanies the turning of the leaves the people will continually associate the two and believe that one is caused by the other. Popular delusions, such as the one that winters are milder than they used to be, that the snowfall is decreasing, that the winds have ceased to blow with their old-time fury and that minimal is increasing in certain areas, will persist in spite of all the scientists can do to set the public right.

No Spilling or Sifting Ashes if You Adopt the Copper-Glad Way.

If you are still using one of the old-fashioned types of ranges, the ash pit of your range is closed by a frame on the end of the ash pan. You spill ashes when you remove the ash pan, they are always sitting out on the floor.

The Copper-Glad just opens the door and pulls out the ash pan. Any ashes that sift are caught by an apron beneath the door.

The carrying bail is a part of the ash pan, is never lost, and sets so that the pan hangs with open end tilted up. Let us tell you more about this wonderful range.

Neighborhood News.
In trying to check a spirited team which was running away, Richard Jidgion who lives on a farm seven miles southwest of Florence, was run over and killed, Tuesday last week. He had come from the field with a load of corn and after unloading it opened the gate leading from the field into the field. Before he could get to the wagon the team bolted. The housekeeper heard him call for help and going out found him dead.
A private census taken by the Emerson community club places the population of Emerson at 995. This is more than 100 in excess of the government count.
Mrs. R. M. Jeffries, for a long time a resident of Elgin, died at 10:30 a. m. October 24, 1920, at the age of 77 years, 10 months and 24 days. The funeral was held October 26 from the Baptist church in Elgin. Rev. E. F. Eberly, Baptist minister of Norfolk, conducted the services.
Asphyxiation from the effect of gas caused by starting an automobile in a tightly enclosed garage caused the death of E. M. Ryan, of Aurora a week ago Sunday.

One Detail Overlooked.
—Minneapolis Journal: A new umbrella is assembled in such a manner that any broken part may be removed and replaced by a new one without the assistance of an umbrella maker. But there is no assurance that some other gentleman will not assemble the entire umbrella.

Not Hard to Find.
—Minneapolis Journal: The scientists are making an organized hunt for primeval man. He still holds quite a little real estate in most of our cities.

Cartoons Magazine: Pity the poor bachelor. He has to buy his experience. The married man gets his homemade.

With us every detail in fitting the glasses, as well as grinding them, is carefully considered, in fact must come under our personal inspection. It is this close attention to detail that has no other recognized authority in this city. We have been years in attaining this reputation, therefore we guard it with zealous care. Your eyes are safe with us. Come in, let's talk it over.

When Wood Seems to Live and Breathe

THE effect is almost uncanny. It reminds one of "The Unknown Purple," one of the season's hits in New York. In the play, the hero, who has discovered how to become invisible at will, vanishes into thin air while in full view of the audience. And still his voice can be heard issuing from a purple ray.
That is how the New Edison impresses people. They feel that the artist must be there in the flesh, concealed somewhere in the room, with such complete fidelity is the singer's voice or instrumental interpretation Re-Created by

THE NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph With a Soul"
As a matter of fact it is utterly impossible to distinguish the voice of the living artist from this marvelous instrument's Re-Creation of it. More than 2,000 tone tests in which the artist sang in direct comparison with the instrument have proved this assertion. More than 2,000,000 people have attended these tests and not one has been able to state when it was the singer he heard and when the Re-Creation.
Call at our store the next time you're in the vicinity and prove to yourself that the claims you've heard made for the New Edison are not too strong.

School Notes: The grade rooms had their Halloween parties last Friday afternoon. The high school held its special Thursday evening. The sound that came from these functions would indicate a most pleasant time. Mrs. A. C. Gable was a visitor in the primary room last Friday forenoon.

Robert Shannon returned to school Monday after a prolonged visit in Malvern, Ia. Earl T. Wolfelt was absent from the fifth grade last Monday. Chester Miskide is absent from the grammar room on account of ton-sillitis.

Mary Smith who was called to Keota, Ia., on account of serious illness of his father, returned home Sunday evening. His father was much improved. Mrs. John Loebsock and Mrs. Chris Lautenbaugh went to Sioux City Friday. Mrs. Loebsock returned Saturday and Mrs. Lautenbaugh returned Monday.

The dance in the open house Saturday evening drew a large crowd. Saturday distributing posters for the Wallace Jazz band of Wakefield, furnished the music. Red Cross committees were busy Saturday distributing posters for the coming drive for Red Cross membership which will begin November 11 and end November 26.

The B. C. club gave a Halloween party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Von Seggern Saturday evening. After playing a number of games, a five-course luncheon was served.

Louis Mittelstadt must have had a splendid time Halloween as he has been attending school on crutches since that time. While enjoying the usual street sports Saturday evening a sack of wire fell on his foot, causing a painful injury.

The box social last Friday night in district 58 was a success in every way. The teacher, Miss Mildred Bright, had prepared a most interesting Halloween program after which the boxes were sold and brought $21.25. This money will be used to buy a Victrola for the school.

The Country club met Wednesday with Mrs. Ralph Prince as hostess, at the home of Mrs. Lude Miller. Roll call, Queen Cousins' Queen Contest and 20 questions. The queen, Queen Cousins of Foreign Countries, Mrs. Walter Davis. The hostess served lunch.

William Anderson: Winside was greeted Friday morning to learn that one of the most executive vantage business men had passed away. William Anderson was born October 15, 1883, in Washington, Washington county, Neb. At the age of 27 years he moved to the town of Walsburg, Wayne county, near Carroll. Two years later they moved to a farm near Winside. Four years ago he moved to Winside and into the garage with his brother, C. A. Anderson. On February 7, 1911, he was united in marriage to Anna Peterson. To this union were born two children, Marian, aged 8 and Ray, aged 7. Mr. Anderson died from appendicitis Friday morning, October 29, 1920, at the age of 37 years and 14 days. He leaves to mourn his loss, besides a wife and two children, two brothers, C. A. Anderson, son of Winsler, Neb., and James Anderson of Pueblo, Colo.

Needless Anxiety: Marshaktown. Times-Republican: Again the average man of the streets wonders what the newspapers will "talk about" now that the campaign is over. Never worry. There will be something doing in this old world every day.

Bryan Achieves the Impossible: Sioux Falls Argus-Leader: No one thought he could do it, but it is a fact that William J. Bryan has been able to keep absolutely silent for four months. Thus the campaign has his compensations.

Lived Before His Time: Columbus Dispatch: If anyone had offered to William Shakespeare for the entire output of his life, dramatic and literary, as much as the ordinary movie actor gets now he would have dropped dead.

British Blundering: Kansas City Star: The British government may be thoroughly competent in many branches of endeavor, but it is easily seen it never was properly grand in the rudiments of funeral directing.

Nothing in It: Burlington-Hawkeye: The fanciful idea that inanimate objects have a language and can talk is disproved in one instance at least. When wheat fell, bread did not hear its cry for help.

No Collapsing Soaps: Boston Herald: A wretched correspondent who says he has not noticed outrage piddling on the bill of fare for some months inquires if the absence is due to the shortage of houses.

Springfield, Mass., Republican: A general strike in Mexico, said to be threatened, would be an improvement on armed revolution from the point of view of political economy. It might be even more troublesome.

Stock Feeders to Meet.
Lynch, Neb., Nov. 2.—Preliminary to the opening of the feeding season, Nebraska stock feeders will hold their sixth annual fall meeting at the university farm Friday, November 12. Problems of readjustment, made acute by the recent drop in prices, will come up for discussion, as well as other matters in general. In addition the visitors will inspect the cattle, hogs and sheep which the experiment station will have on feed this year, as well as the show stock prepared by the college of agriculture for the international live stock exposition.

Between 200 and 300 men usually attend the fall feeders' meeting. Efforts of the experiment station to supply supplementary feeds to cheapen the cost of meat production have attracted wide attention, especially in the last few years when corn and alfalfa were extremely high in price, and when many feeders lost money.

October Warm Month.
Sioux City Journal, October, 1920, came within one degree of attaining the highest average temperature for the month in Sioux City since the local weather bureau was established in 1899, according to the meteorological summary for October issued yesterday. The highest average temperature for October, 1920, was 58 degrees. The highest average ever recorded in the history of the weather bureau was 59 degrees in 1900. Midsummer heat and the cold of winter also were characteristic of October, 1920. The highest temperature of 83 degrees was recorded on October 10, and the lowest 24 degrees, on October 28. The greatest range in temperature, 59 degrees, was recorded on October 9, and the least daily range, 3 degrees, on October 19. The highest October average ever recorded in the history of the local weather bureau, 90 degrees, was October 1, 1892, and the lowest, 10 degrees, on October 19, 1918.

There were 17 clear days in October, 8 partly cloudy days, and 6 cloudy days. There were 247 hours of sunshine.

The first snowfall of the season this year came on the average date for the first snow, November 1.

Regular services and Sunday school will be held at the usual time next Sunday. Communion was held a week from next Sunday. It was postponed last Sunday because of the rainy weather.

Revival News.

The evangelistic campaign launched at Carroll two weeks ago has continued with increasing interest and momentum during the second week. Crowds came to the tabernacle every night last week in spite of the cold weather and the busy corn picking season.

One chilly evening at the service was the occasion of securing a large furnace for the tabernacle which proved successful in the way of conquering the cold and making the big auditorium comfortable.

There were delegations present from Wayne at different services last week and on Tuesday night the Rev. H. Pratt, pastor of the First Baptist church of Wayne, was present and assisted in the services. He was accompanied by a large delegation from his church.

The Carroll high school students and their superintendent, Gomer Jones, were present in abody and by giving their song a school rally gave evidence of their enthusiasm and interest.

This week is one of special nights at the tabernacle. Tuesday night a special wire was run to the tabernacle and election reports were received. Wednesday night was family night and a private report to the largest family and the one coming the longest distance. Thursday night will be mothers' night, and a special invitation for the W. C. T. U. to be present. Friday a street parade of all the Sunday schools and a special service for them. The largest day of the whole campaign will be next Sunday.

There were large crowds at the tabernacle Sunday considering the heavy rain. The evening service was one of the most powerful of this Nation of Nimrod. There are 3,000,000 hunters in the United States, according to the chief United States game warden in the biological survey, United States department of agriculture. This estimate was made from statistics on the number of game licenses issued by the various states.

In 1917, 3,000,000 state licenses were issued, and in addition it is estimated that 3,500,000 hunters are exempted under various state provisions. The returns to the states from licenses were approximately $4,000,000, all of which was expended by the states in administration of state laws for the protection of game. This sum permits the employment of approximately 2,000 salaried state game wardens and 600 fee wardens. The congressional appropriation for Federal game warden service for protection of migratory birds is $142,000, which permits the employment of only twenty-nine salaried wardens.

At its recent meeting in Ottawa the International association of fish, game, and conservation commissioners adopted a resolution calling for the issuance of federal licenses for hunting migratory birds. The recommendation called for licenses in the form of special stamps which would amount to between $1,000 and $2,000,000, which could be used for the protection of game.

Trade Slightly Better. Stour, July Journal: Trade conditions were slightly more stable last week than they were in the previous week and for several weeks past. The price of wool has advanced, suggesting a more generous buying of winter apparel and other seasonal commodities. The improvement in buying has been mostly in retail, the stock being those purchased several weeks ago, but which have not moved because of unseasonable weather.

In financial quarters interest centers about the rapidly changing relation of foreign debts and credits and the effect these are having on foreign exchange. During and after the war Europe produced little or nothing and the United States supplied her needs. Consequently, this country became the greatest credit nation in the world, and foreign exchange rates went to the lowest point in history because Europe had neither gold nor goods to send to this country to keep the trade balance more nearly even.

which are reflected in steel because of the use of coke in its manufacture is the first important indication of a vigorous business in steel goods. Structural steel mills are short of orders, though the demand for buildings was never as urgent as at present. Braddock's figures for the first nine months of the year show a falling off in actual building of 31 per cent.

when interviewed by his boss this morning. New York Herald: Certain eminent educators are exercised over the question "Can a pretty girl do 'rump' her way through college?" Sometimes it seems that every national election runs through a sewer. Men worry about money. Women worry about weight and complexion. Here lately patting a man on the back doesn't get as good results as it used to.

The new-fashioned youth does not wait for Halloween to do something naughty. Trying to imitate the rich is the cause of much woe and misery in this country—and all other countries. There was a sensation in an Atholston store yesterday a customer selected a clerk to show him something cheaper. New York landlords appear to be staging a real back-to-the-farm movement. Evicted tenants have nowhere else to go. The man who gets grouchy when his wife asks him for money probably never gave her half as much money as he imagines he did. This is what the emancipation of the gentler sex has done for an Atholston man: His wife carries a night key. He has none.
