RAILROAD COMPANY IS REDUCING ITS FORCE

Discontinued Traffic, Expedited Freight, Economy.

A policy of economy has been adopted by the railroad in Nebraska because of the exceedingly small amount of traffic which is being shipped.

With practically no grain and little livestock moving and no lumber being shipped, freight which used to come every day now make the trip every other day.

The Great Sale Has Just Started

(NEWS ITEM FROM SIOUX-CITY TRIBUNE OF NOVEMBER 16)

SIOUX CITY PRICES SURPRISE THE EAST

Sioux City is one of the few cities in America where merchants are cutting prices to the bone and pushing sales. Mr. Weinberg, who returned Tuesday from a purchasing trip in the east, said: "Manufacturers and jobbers in the east are amazed at the showing local merchants are making as compared to other and competing cities."

"Manufacturers of women's and men's clothes and financial leaders assert that basic prices are being stabilized rapidly and that the bottom has been reached in practically all lines. They insist their wares are low as it is possible to get it and that prices made to unload big lots of goods were the best any could be made. With the market flooded with low priced stuff prices are steady in all lines. Though no big upturn is predicted business men say that this is the time when buyers have a big advantage," said Mr. Weinberg. "Though I was able again to buy a fine stock of ready to wear merchandise at almost my own price, I was surprised to find how much stronger the market was in many respects. The tone is better, business is more optimistic."

"In several cities I also noticed that mercantile prices were nowhere near so low as in Sioux City," added Mr. Weinberg.

Read what The Tribune states—then you will be convinced of Weinberg's superior buying ability—always watching the market—to get lower prices so that the women of Sioux City and the great Northwest may enjoy the greatest savings to be had any place in the United States.

The Early Days in Two Counties

From the Wayne Herald, Dec. 15, 1880:
H. A. Bannister went to Malvern, Ia.
Mc and Mrs. C. O. Fisher visited Sioux City.
J. Horton of Stanton, is visiting Mayor Chace.
Mrs. F. J. Bennett went to Wyoming to visit a short time.
Several schools in Cedar county have been closed on account of diphtheria.
John Fisher, wife and sister went to Oak, Ia., for a visit of several weeks.
Little fire, doors open and a summer atmosphere is the record of Sunday, Dec. 15, 1880.
The Baptist church at Carroll will be dedicated next Sabbath morning.
Dr. H. C. Woods of Lincoln will preside the dedication sermon at 11 a. m.
Ron-Frazier, E. J. Nangle and F. J. Bennett shipped seven cars of cattle to Omaha and by the same train Wm. Frazier shipped five cars from Winfield.
John Cannon, A. O. Meyers, A. J. Ferguson, J. A. Lindly, W. T. Clayton, G. F. Sobald, W. A. Love and A. G. Howard went to Goshenbury to view real-estate.
W. S. Anderson returned from a trip to Texas and Indian territory. He was much pleased with part of the country he saw and expects to move to Texas in the spring.
An attempt was made to wreck the Harrington train by placing a large boulder on the track about five miles from Wakefield. The train happened to be running slowly when the engineer saw the rock, and he was able to turn the train so nearly to a stop that no damage was done beyond tearing a portion of the iron plating off the snow plow.

From Ponca Journal, Dec. 2, 1880:
Prof. Aughey announced to the county a new method of raising cattle, and that they had struck one of the large coal beds in the lower Carboniferous region, and he just confident that within the next few days they would find another vein. He therefore recommended to the company to sink the hole that distance farther. In accordance with his advice the company have this week commenced sinking the hole that distance farther. In accordance with his advice the company have this week commenced sinking the hole that distance farther. In accordance with his advice the company have this week commenced sinking the hole that distance farther.

Under the laws of Nebraska the party who discovers in this state a vein of coal no inches thick, is entitled to a lease of the land. An application has been made for this bounty and there is no question as to the result.
The coal company here during the past week were diligently at work getting more land. They now have several thousand acres, and within a week more will have ten or fifteen thousand acres of good coal lands in this vicinity.
The discovery of a bed of coal here, considered the similarity of the formations above it with those above the mines in Iowa and at Platteville, north, indicates that coal underlies western Iowa and the eastern part of Nebraska. The layers of rock and coal dip to the southeast. At Omaha they have an artesian well about 700 feet deep, yet the prospect hole at Ponca struck the formation found at the bottom of the Omaha well at a depth of about 500 feet. Hence, if the Omaha well had been put down about a hundred feet farther, it would have found the same vein our company has struck.

To the Penitentiary for Assault.
Madison, Neb., Nov. 26—Motion for new trial in the case of the state of Nebraska against Frank J. Strong, convicted of rape on the person of Bessie Wynn, 14-years of age, was denied by Judge Allen today. Before passing sentence Strong was requested to stand up and asked if he knew of any reason why the court should not pass sentence upon him, and Strong said that he felt that he had been dealt with unjustly, that the charge was trumped up with the purpose of extorting $10,000 from him. After making this statement the court told him to sit down and added that there was no doubt about his guilt. The court then sentenced Strong to not less than three years and not more than twenty years in the state penitentiary at Lincoln at hard labor, no part thereof to be solitary confinement. On application of the defendant the sentence was suspended until Jan. 19, 1921, pending appeal to supreme court. Strong was confined in the county jail.

Nebraska Here Working Overtime.
Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 23—The Nebraska lion is losing her grip on the eight-hour day. Information has reached Prof. F. E. Mussell, of the college of agriculture, that several Nebraska poultrymen are now using artificial light to stimulate egg production. No longer can the pullets sit on the roost until they will so appear over the eastern horizon. Instead of an alarm clock, electric lights blaze forth at 5 a. m. and the day is on. Likewise, instead of "knocking off" at 5 p. m., Miss Pullet finds plenty of light in the house for a couple of hours after darkness falls over the land. Nebraska poultrymen have now entered the highly specialized class, heretofore known only to a few sports on the west coast. Extensive experiments conducted in other states show pretty conclusively that a longer working day during the winter months result in more eggs. The hens have more time to eat and exercise, two things that make for increased egg production. Several methods have been used successfully in increasing the period of light and decreasing the period of darkness. Some turn on the electric light, awhile in the morning and then again for awhile in the evening. This would seem to be the ideal way, as it lengthens the day at both ends, thereby making it more like summer time. However, lighting up early in the morning, about 5 a. m., seems to produce better results. Some use the artificial light just in the evening. Others turn on the light from 8 to 9 p. m., after the hens have had a nap. A lunch is served at this hour of the evening, the light switched off and the layers sent back to bed with their full stomach, which works well they sleep.

Prof. Mussell is gathering statistics regarding the use of artificial light among poultry keepers in this state. The college is giving a special short course for poultrymen next January, and ways and means of stimulating egg production will be discussed at that time. There are now thousands of electric light plants on Nebraska farms, and it may be that the use of artificial light to increase profits will become quite popular, even on farms. Prof. Mussell says it costs only about 1 cent an hour per 100 hens to put the layers to work at 5 a. m.

Cattle Feeding Expenditures.
Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 23—Nebraska stock owners in their annual fall meeting, decided that it will cost about 11 cents a pound to produce beef at present feed prices. Corn was figured at 40 cents a bushel and alfalfa at $10 a ton. A good many men are feeding this year in the hope of obtaining a little more for their corn than they could by selling it for cash. Some are turning cattle and hogs into the fields to avoid the heavy cost of buying the corn and marketing it in the usual way. The drought grain prices, and the tendency of the fat-stock market to weaken are causing feeders to proceed with caution this year.

While the feeders did not set any specific price they should have for their fat stock, because of the varying prices at which the staff goes into the feed lot, as well as some variations in feed prices, under conditions existing to date the feeder that receives less than 12 cents for his finished product will not be making much money. The meeting brought out that stock men are now carefully figuring the cost of fattening cattle and hogs. The day of "hit and miss" business is gone among the progressive feeders.

I. W. W. Nerve-Emerson Enterprises: Some I. W. W.'s who have dropped into Emerson for the express purpose of husking corn and getting out because the farmer refused to pay ten cents per bushel, are the most selfish leaders that ever entered the corporate limits of Emerson.

They Were Right.
Ohio State Journal: "They always told us that giving her the ballot would tend to broaden a woman's intelligence, and already we see many more woeen stockings in use on cold days than we did last year."

Violent insanity is the only explanation for the brutal murder and suicide enacted by George Dinklage. No man in his right mind could possibly commit such an atrocity.

Christmas will be here in three weeks and the usual, regrettable Christmas spirit is now in order. We may lighten our own burdens by giving helpful attention to those who are less fortunate.

People who remember ten-cent corn and no market for it in 1893-1896, who remember that wages were as low as $1 a day with idleness on every hand, will be inspired with courage and confidence in accepting the present stress of readjustment.

To relieve the famine-stricken sufferers of China who are said to be starving, why not use the money raised to draw on the abundant American corn crop and ship supplies in the shape of corn-meal. This country would not only relieve the suffering Chinese, but would help stimulate a market for a big crop.

The land owner who leased out his farm on the former market basis, will be doing the right thing now to make liberal concessions to his tenant, making the latter to meet his obligations and continue his business. By such generous policy, the tenant will in the long run benefit himself besides making it possible for his tenant to survive the storm without wreck.

The football season closed on Thanksgiving day, and the entire season exacted a total of twelve deaths. The number killed is double that of 1919, but not so large as in some previous years. Defenders of the most sacred thing of the nation, football accidents is reduced by heavily padded uniforms and head-pieces. Enough padding to entirely prevent a death toll may in time be determined and supplied.

We usually meet a corn-picker at the railway station this week. He had been working near here, and was on his way to Norfolk. He said he had been receiving eight cents a bushel, making a record of one hundred or more bushels, and getting eight or more dollars a day, with hard and lodging thrown in. We asked him if the price were not too high in view of the corn market, and he shined absolutely no interest in what the farmer could realize from his crop. On the contrary, he seemed to glory over the idea of being able to turn an emergency to selfish advantage. We felt utmost contempt for his attitude. While a farmer may not be able to hire corn pickers for less than eight cents a bushel, the price is manifestly not warranted by the unfavorable market conditions.

People who maintain governmental balance and get behind sound and progressive public policies are not extremists—neither those who would create class distinctions through greed and monopoly nor those who would create class distinctions through socialism. Either extreme is dangerous and destructive. Either engenders hatred, destroys initiative and retards progress. We want neither a Russia as it was under the czar nor a Russia as it is under the bolshevik. The guarantee of the American constitution, if fairly Administered and observed, are good enough for all. Insuring equal rights and freedom of opportunity—freedom from the tyranny of individuals who would exercise undue power with excess wealth or the tyranny of a group whose members, with equal zeal and effort, would divide up the savings of the industrious and frugal, and gain equal material freedom without exercise of either energy or economy.

A person who suffers ill-luck or whose business is in a bad line, blaming another for it in the absence of evidence, a man may blame his wife or a woman may blame her husband. It is better to fasten responsibility on an outsider, even if it doesn't belong there, and then forget it. Life partners ought to be able to share disappointments as well as triumphs, griefs as well as joys, without feeling that the other one is wholly at fault.

CONFESSION OF WEAKNESS. Disappointment is never of great heartaches are never so poignant, the future is never so dark and forbidding that one is justified in seeking relief in a pitiable lack of self-destruction. Finding escape by means of suicide is a confession of weakness and failure, a shirking of responsibility, a pitiable lack of courage in the face of obstacle and adversity.

Hard knocks come, not to punish, but only to teach us. Pain is friendly and helpful. The man who never keenly suffered never keenly enjoyed. The ups and downs of life will be contemplated philosophically, and should be met with fortitude, not always and wholly with success. Man is so foolish that he would find a way to shove, with his heels spiked to the cellar floor of hell before he can enjoy the exquisite bliss of freedom in self-destruction through the golden empyrean.

Conditions have been worse. No man's lot is hopeless. We only need to be content to see that dollars and cents are not the only things worth while. We may lose wealth and still have a rich inheritance of good health and warm friendships. And what we lose today in material goods we may gain back tomorrow. It is always mainly—often heroic—to play the game out.

Life is so big that no set of persons who hurt us, and no caravan of disappointments, however long and black, need half destroy its attractiveness for any man, unless he be hopelessly diseased. "Do the best the buyer says the proverb. And walk in another direction awhile. The most miserable day you live, there's a money lender trying to do that—to thwart the wise schoolmaster. Experience, by self-slaughter. The man who slays has a chance to be master tomorrow. The man who quits, writes himself down a slave. Someone said: "Make the best of life you can, and smile and be contented."

Christmas Bazaar. Presbyterian Aid society will hold a bazaar at the millinery parlors of Miss Anna McCreary on Saturday, December 4, at 1 o'clock. A full line of fancy and useful articles, baked goods, canned fruit, pickles, jelly, and jams will be on sale. One of the attractions will be a fish pond for the children. Everybody is invited.

B. L. T. in the Chicago Tribune. Russ's finance commissioners have been directed to prepare a plan for the shipment of money. They haven't far to go.

Springfield, Mass., Republican. The sponsors of America's two largest cities, Hylan and Thompson are now on exhibition. Their function is to make democracy stew in its own grease.

We have a number of surplus stock items to which we have applied severe reductions although the wholesale price remains firm. Every farmer and every merchant must take a loss sooner or later. This store is taking its loss now, every day, and using its best efforts to return to normal conditions. If you are trading at this store you are receiving the benefit of every possible decline.

King-Nut The King of Margarines! When it comes to quality, there is no question as to the supremacy of King-Nut. There is just as much difference in grades of margarines as there is in country butter. The use of the very best materials, sanitary equipment, and made by experts, are responsible for the fact that King-Nut is best. The price has been reduced to 35c per pound. The margin is very small, but the demand is very active. Ask for King-Nut, not for oleomargarine. Why such an awful official term should be wished on such high grade article of food—I give it up.

10 Per Cent Reductions on all crackers and cookies. Fresh shipment due to arrive Friday. A complete line just from the ovens.

Your Correct Weight Free. This store has installed an automatic Toledo Person Weigher and every man, woman, and child in this community is invited to come and get their correct weight. Make a record of your weight, then make a practice of coming at frequent intervals to check your former weight. See if you are keeping fit, weighing yourself just as often as you wish. We Will Help You Weigh the Baby. If you think the baby is not thriving as he should, weigh him. Do this every week. The scale will tell you to a fraction of a pound the exact weight. This Scale Is Tested at every point of the dial indicating weight from 1 to 300 pounds and is absolutely correct. Simply step on the platform and watch the dial, the scale does the rest. Come and get weighed. Bring a friend with you.

There are no Hinges, Catches or Latches To Get in Your Way On a Copper-Clad Range

For many years women have been wasting their strength trying to clean fussy ranges. They have had to dig the dirt-out of cracks, corners and crevices, from around hinges, catches, latches and knobs.
When automobiles first came out they were covered with ornaments—hinges, catches knobs and handles. But man had to clean automobiles. He didn't like these dirt catchers. Automobile manufacturers recognizing this adopted the concealed hinge plan of the Copper-Clad.
The Copper-Clad cleans like a dish. Come and see it.

BECOMES VIOLENTLY INSANE

Frank H. Blair, 39, divorced, was committed to the insane asylum at Wayne, Neb., Nov. 28, after a violent attack on his wife. According to his wife the man had been melancholy for sometime and had refused to eat. At 1 or 2 o'clock Saturday morning he got up and went out of doors bareheaded. His wife immediately had some difficulty in persuading him to come back into the house, but finally succeeded in doing so. She then secured the assistance of a neighbor and her husband's brother. At 7 o'clock Saturday morning, Dr. E. S. Blair of Wayne, was called in, and as the man grew worse, the strength of the other men to overpower the patient and to handcuff and strap him so that he could be brought to Wayne.

After an examination by a board consisting of L. R. Ellis, clerk of the district court, Attorney F. S. Borer, Dr. E. S. Blair and Judge O. C. Lewis, Lass was adjudged insane and was taken by automobile to the Norfolk insane-asylum Saturday night. He was accompanied by Wayne by his wife and a cousin.

Marshall was called to Waterbury last Friday by the death of her nephew John Walsh, who died following an attack of tonsillitis. The young man was only 23. He is a graduate of Wayne Normal and had served in the army during the war. Burial was made in St. John's cemetery near the town, and he is the oldest burying ground in Dixon county."

Farmer Near Lynch Suicides. Lynch, Neb., Nov. 27.—Irwin Trovante, about 35 years old, a farmer living about fifteen miles north of Lynch, committed suicide Friday afternoon by shooting himself in the head with a shotgun. Financial trouble is alleged to have been the cause. Mr. Trovante had gone to the home of Henry Wade, a neighbor, after his wife, with whom it is said he had quarreled, over his financial troubles and ended his life. The shooting occurred in the yard of Mr. Wade's home in the afternoon. Trovante died later in the evening. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Trovante of Lynch, who survive him, besides the widow and one small child.

A Vicious Overlap. Lincoln Journal: Senator Harding's plan to get out of office together immediately after election to begin negotiations for changes in the league of nations had to be abandoned on the ground that it was unlawful for private citizens to discuss diplomatic matters with foreign governments. Dallas even if not the law, will keep a president-elect from mixing in such matters as, for instance, the Mexican situation, although he will not need advising so much as to begin his administration in March with plans all made for dealing with just such things.

NOT TAKING ANY CHANCES—HE SAYS

Iowan Declares He is Going to Safeguard the Fine Hain

Tanlac has made me feel all of twenty years younger and almost a boy again," said S. A. Byers, R. F. No. 4, Marion, Ia.

"Tanlac did my brother-in-law so much good he advised me to take it for my stomach trouble, and right from the start it helped me and in a short time all my troubles had left me."

"For more than twenty years I was been ailing—had that mean, account feeling—that keeps a man from enjoying life but not quite sick enough to go to bed. His pills got to coming often and staying long."

"I'd get so dizzy at times that I'd go blind. My nerves were on edge and my stomach never gave me any rest day nor night—At last it came home to me that I was really a sick man and my strength was fast leaving me."

"Then I began taking Tanlac and in no time I was feeling fine. I've seen the bottles and it has certainly built me right up and made me all most forget that I ever had stomach trouble."

"I'm not going to take any chances of getting back where I was before I began with Tanlac, so I mean to keep right on taking it to keep the good it has already done me."

"In the neighborhood where I live everybody is now strong for Tanlac, and I'm glad to recommend it."

Tanlac is sold in Wayne by H. J. Feiler, in Carroll by L. R. King, and in Winslow by B. C. McIntyre.

BLOOMFIELD TO PLAY CHESS

Town Should Have an Organization Like One in Wayne—Other News.

Speaking of the chess and checker club recently organized in Wayne The Bloomfield Monitor says: "Bloomfield has quite a number of chess and checker players and it occurs to us that an organization similar to that of Wayne should be organized here. Both these games are games of skill. The element of luck being conspicuous by its absence, and therefore a considerable help in developing clear thinking and ready reasoning. Come on our knights of the board—get busy."

—Sass County for $20,000.

O'Neill, Neb., Nov. 22.—Boyd county is made defendant in one of the largest damage actions ever filed in Nebraska. The suit is for $20,000 to maintain a safe railing along the approaches to one of the county bridges over Ponca creek. The plaintiff, Miss Jessie Woods of Spencer, suffered a fractured skull and other injuries when the sodan in which she was riding last October, side-slipped in the sand and slid off the approach to a creek bridge near Spencer. The approach, she contends, had no walk—the over-riding of the car would have been prevented. She asks for $20,000 damages. Her father, William J. Woods, also wants $1,400 damages to the car which he claims was destroyed when it crossed the bridge, and which, he declares now, is only worth about $200 as junk.

Nebraska Rank's Second.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 23.—Nebraska stands second in the number of stock raisers who are not breeding but pure-bred sheep. More than 300 farmers in this state have entered in the campaign to encourage breeding of better stock. Virginia leads all states, with 1,000 farmers using only pure-bred sires. South Carolina follows close to Nebraska. The campaign is being conducted cooperatively by the United States department of agriculture, state colleges of agriculture and local farm bureaus, in an effort to improve the quality of live stock. When a farmer has replaced all his scrub sires with purebreds he applies to his local farm bureau for official recognition as a breeder of better stock. When his application is accepted he is awarded the privilege to post on his farm, advertising the fact that he is a progressive farmer. It is believed that in five years the campaign will result in a material improvement in the quality of the livestock produced in the United States.

Crop Growers to Meet.

The premium list may be obtained of the secretary, P. H. Stewart, university farm, Lincoln.

This is the third time the Emerson school has been burned since the term started this year.

If They Only Could Know.

Detroit Journal: It has been said that our ancestors did not live long enough to realize how smart we are.

Trade Is Slack.

Sioux City Journals. Both wholesale and retail trade during the last week moved largely in response to price cutting. The elements which have influenced trade during the last few weeks are still in evidence. Among them are the decrease in the prices of farm commodities combined with the refusal of the farmers to sell at a loss, and the continued abstinance of consumers from buying. Retail trade is cautious and limited. Merchants are buying only in small quantities and are looking for price inducements even then. The general holiday business activity is not so good at this time. The inducements offered the buying public being cut in prices in anticipation of the annual invoice rather than attractive displays of seasonable goods and the appeal such goods have to the trade at this season, though the latter features are not neglected.

The announced reduction in steel prices, while increasing the public assumption of building on a larger scale next season, is not an element in present industrial conditions. Cutting wages and reduction of forces in many industrial lines are more significant because more effective. Either of the two courses reduces the buying power of the public and a reduction in trade conditions, not only where these changes have taken place, but in participations of them in other places.

Price declines are going on, but in most instances they are those which injure business without corresponding benefits to the consumer. What is at the lowest point in years, yet demand remains the same above a corresponding level with wheat. The farmer is ruined and his buying ability is diminished, though the consumer realizes but little advantage from the reduction. The decrease in prices of farm products during October, according to the United States bureau of statistics, was 17.13 per cent, while the decrease in foods manufactured entirely from farm products was only 8.12 per cent.

Coal dealers are openly charged with profiteering and prices of that commodity remain where they were months ago. Juggling figures to hide profiteering does not deceive the public.

"I Got Real Mad When I Lost My Setting Hen," Mrs. Hannan.

"I went into the hen house one morning and found my favorite setter dead. I got real mad. Went to the store, bought some RAT-SNAP and in a week I got six dead rats. Everybody who raises poultry should keep RAT-SNAP." Three sizes, 35c, 65c and $1.25. Sold and guaranteed by Wayne Drug Co. and Carhart Hardware Co.—519.

VACANT LAND IN NEBRASKA

Approximately 50,000 Acres will be Subject to Entry in State.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 27.—Approximately 50,000 Acres of vacant government land remain in Nebraska to be taken up by homesteaders.

Under a law enacted early last year, service men of the great war are entitled to have the term of their service, not to exceed two years, deducted from the three required under the homestead law.

Some soldiers, it is said, plan taking up government land in the hope that within a short time oil will be found, and they will retire.

According to Mr. Meier, no provision has been made to give government land to crippled soldiers who are unable to establish residences upon the land involved.

A law passed by congress in April, 1910, provides some special consideration for soldiers, sailors and marines of the recent war.

Soldiers who have so much credit for military service that there is required only one year's residence upon their claim must show only such cultivation as will give evidence of their good faith.

Cherry county, Nebraska, contains 20,420 acres of government public lands. It is officially described as being "wonder-praising, snail valleys."

Scatters its bounty o'er sea and land,
And none are left to grieve alone,
For love is heaven and claims its own.
—Sangster.

And wild and sweet
The words repeat
Of peace on earth, good-will to men.
—Longfellow.
